مصر وحركة عدم الانحياز

١٩٥٥ - ٢٠١٠

من باندونج إلى شرم الشيخ

تقديم

كانت حقا لحظة لا تنسى في صباح ١٥ يوليو ٢٠٠٩ سجلها تاريخ الكفاح المشترك والعمل الجماعى المتواصل لشعوب العالم النامي، حين تسلم زعيم مصر وقائدها الرئيس محمد حسنى مبارك رئاسة حركة عدم الانحياز من الرئاسة السابقة للحركة، الرئيس الكوبي راؤول كاسترو في مدينة السلام "شرم الشيخ". فنظرة فاحصة علي تاريخ هذه الحركة توضح أن رحلة التضامن والكفاح التى بدأت فى باندونج (اندونيسيا) فى ابريل ١٩٥٥ كانت طويلة وشاقة، ولكنها كانت أيضا رائدة ومثمرة. إذ أصبحت حركة عدم الانحياز اليوم التجمع الأكبر على مستوى العالم، تضم في عضويتها ١١٨ دولة هي جميع الدول الإفريقية والعربية، وغالبية دول آسيا وأمريكا اللاتينية، ودولة من شرق أوروبا، تتحدث جميعها بصوت واحد، وتتحرك كقوة واحدة، وتفكر بعقل مفتوح ووعي صادق، وإدراك تام بحقائق عالمنا المعاصر بتعقيداته وتشابك قضاياه.

علي مر العقود لقضايا عالمنا المعاصر السياسية والاقتصادية والتنموية، ورؤاهم النافذة لسبل إيجاد حلول واقعية لتلك القضايا. فهاهي بعض كلمات الرئيس محمد حسني مبارك في افتتاح قمة شرم الشيخ الخامسة عشر (يوليو ٢٠٠٩):

إن السلام والتنمية يظلان في قلب ما تسعى إليه الحركة من أهداف وغايات. والطريق إليهما يقتضي تعزيز التضامن الدولي والتعاون البناء بين كافة الأمم والشعوب من أجل التغلب على ما يواجهه السلم والأمن الدوليين من تحديات وتهديدات ومخاطر وما تواجهه جهود التنمية من عقبات ومشكلات وصعاب.

نعلم جميعا ما يتهدد السلم والأمن الدوليين من مخاطر الإرهاب، وأسلحة الدمار الشامل. وتراجع نظام منع الانتشار. فضلا عن العديد من النزاعات المسلحة وبؤر التوتر. وقضايا طال انتظارها لحل عادل في مقدمتها القضية الفلسطينية وقضية السلام الشامل في منطقة الشرق الأوسط.

ونعيش جميعا واقع مشكلات النمو والتنمية في بلادنا في مواجهة صعاب الداخل وتحدياته وأزمات عالمية ترد إلينا من الخارج في عالم يشهد تراجع الحواجز والحدود نتحمل الجانب الأكبر من تداعياتها وضغوطها ومعاناتها. وأشير في هذا السياق إلى أزمة ارتفاع أسعار السلع الغذائية الأساسية العام الماضي والأزمة الحالية للاقتصاد العالمي. فضلا عن تأثرنا بتبعات ظاهرة تغير المناخ، وما نواجهه من صعاب في تمويل التنمية. وتحديات في تعاملنا مع قضايا إمدادات الطاقة والأمن الغذائي.

إن على الحركة أن تتعامل مع الواقع الدولي الراهن على نحو يتسم بالفعالية والمبادرة. ولدينا من ثوابت الحركة ومبادئها ومرونتها ما يؤهلنا لذلك. إننا ندعو لنظام دولي سياسي واقتصادي وتجاري جديد. نظام أكثر عدلا وتوازنا ينأى عن الانتقائية وازدواج المعايير. يحقق مصالح الجميع. يراعي شواغل الدول النامية وأولوياتها. يرسي ديمقراطية التعامل بين الدول الغنية والفقيرة. نظام جديد يحقق التمثيل المتوازن للعالم النامي بأجهزة المنظمات الدولية. ومؤسسات التمويل القائمة. وآليات صنع القرار الاقتصادي العالمي. والتجمعات الدولية الرئيسية. إننا في حركة عدم الانحياز طلاب عدل وسلام نسعى للنمو والتنمية ولمستقبل أفضل لشعوبنا وللعالم.

إن التحولات الراهنة في مسار العلاقات الدولية تجعل حاجتنا إلى الوفاء بالمقاصد السامية التي ابتغاها مؤسسو الحركة أكثر من أي وقت مضى. فلا زال التدخل في الشئون الداخلية للدول أمرا قائما. ولا زالت المعايير المزدوجة في ممارسات مؤسسات دولية عديدة أمرا واقعا. ولازال الفقر والمرض يحصدان أرواح الألوف من البشر في كل يوم. ولايزال الجهل يقف سدا يحجب آفاق العلوم والتقدم أمام الملايين في بلادنا.

إن مصر التي ظلت أمداً طويلاً خاضعة للسيطرة الأجنبية تقف الآن وقفة المدافع عن الحرية والرفاهية للشعوب وتؤيد مبدأ تقرير المصير لكافة الشعوب، وهذا أظهر ما تتسم به سياستنا الخارجية، ولطالما أيدت مصر الجهود التي تبذل في سبيل نصرة الشعوب المتطلعة لتحقيق ما لها من حقوق ومصالح مشروعة طبقا لنصوص ميثاق هيئة الأمم المتحدة والسمة التي تتسم بها سياستنا الخارجية: إيماننا الراسخ وتأييدنا الدائم لهيئة الأمم المتحدة كمنظمة عالمية فعالة تعمل على صيانة الأمن والسلام العالمي، وتوفير الرفاهية لشعوب العالم. ففي فترة التوتر بين الدول الكبرى - الذي عاق تقدم هيئة الأمم المتحدة - كانت مصر من أنصار الميثاق وما نص عليه من مبادئ. ومع أن الدول العربية كانت من أكثر الدول خلوا من الأوهام بشأن عدم قيام هذه المنظمة بما يطابق حقوق الإنسان - ولاسيما فيما يتعلق بدول شمال أفريقيا وفلسطين - إلا أننا لم نفقد ثقتنا فيها، ولم يقل اهتمامنا بشأنها. وما كان موقفها ليعوقنا عن التعاون معها في نواحي نشاطها، أو ليضعف إيماننا بمبادئها الرفيعة وأهدافها العالية.

إنه لا توجد قوة قادرة على خدمة السلام مثل مجموعة الدول التي تتبع سياسة عدم الانحياز. فإن هذه الدول التي تعيش مشاكل عالمها، لا تنعزل عنها أو تنفصل. اقدر على أن تضع في خدمة السلام كل طاقاتها المادية والمعنوية. إننا نتحمل مسئولية خاصة تجاه السلام أمل شعوبنا وأمل شعوب الأرض كلها. إننا في جو السلام وحده نستطيع أن نطور الحياة في بلادنا، وان نزيد من خصوبتها الخلاقة. إننا في جو السلام نستطيع أن نساعد شعوبا غيرنا كثيرة.

ان الدول غير المنحازة دخلت طرفا في محادثات نزع السلاح وزادت نفسها معرفة بأبعاد المشكلة، ومن ثم زادت قدرةً على المساهمة في الوصول الى حل لها. ان نزع السلاح كان حلما طالما راود آمال البشرية التي اكتوت بمحن الحروب وويلاتها، ولكن تطور السلاح الآن لا يجعل منه مجرد حروب، أو ويلات. وانما يجعله بابا إلى الدمار.

أن مشكلة الشرق الأوسط هي قضية تحرير ومصير، وهي ليست قضية الشعب الفلسطيني وحده والذي يعاني احتلال إسرائيل لأرضه وتشريد أكثر من مليون ونصف يعيشون تحت الخيام منذ أكثر من عشرين عاما، وليست قضية الدول العربية التي احتلت أرضها وحدها، ولكنها قضية كل الدول والشعوب المحبة للسلام والمناصرة للحق والعدل.

أما الرئيس محمد أنور السادات فقد طالب بثقة ووضوح أمام القمة الرابعة لحركة عدم الانحياز بعالم أكثر عدالة سياسيا واقتصاديا واجتماعيا (الجزائر ١٩٧٣):

إن سباق التسلح لازال مستمرا وإن التدخل في الشئون الداخلية للدول بدأ يأخذ صورا جديدة في غاية الخطورة كما أن أساطيل الدول الكبرى المدججة بالأسلحة الفتاكة تجوب البحار بالقرب من سواحلنا في البحر المتوسط والمحيط الهندي مما نشعر معه بأن أمننا القومي ليس اعتبارا تتوقف عنده الدول الكبرى كثيرا.
إننا يجب أن نتكاتف جميعا بالوقوف بحزم ضد محاولات التدخل في الشئون الداخلية لأي من دول عدم الانحياز؛ لأن هذا التدخل الذي تصاعد في السنوات الأخيرة بدرجة خطيرة وأخذ صورا جديدة من القرصنة الدولية والإرهاب والتخريب واستخدام المرتزقة والحرب الإعلامية والنفسية هو في الواقع تهديد موجه لنا جميعا، إذا تسامحنا معه وتركناه يتفشى.

نحن نواجه مسئولية جسيمة واختبارا مصيريا لا نملك إزاءه سوى أن نعقد العزم على السير معا على طريق التحرير والسلام والتنمية والتقدم. نكون منحازين إلى العدل والمساواة وكرامة الإنسان الحر دون تفرقة أو تمييز على أساس الجنس أو اللون أو الدين. منحازين إلى الاستقلال التام وعدم التدخل في الشئون الداخلية للدول وحق الشعوب في استثمار مواردها الطبيعية. منحازين ضد الامبريالية وسيطرة رأس المال والشعارات الزائفة وإمبريالية الأيديولوجيات والاستغلال وانتهاك الحقوق الطبيعية للشعوب وسيادتها. ومصر من جانبها تتعاهد على أن يظل عدم الانحياز الدستور الذي لا تحيد عنه والالتزام الذي يسبق كل ما عداه والدرب الذي تسير عليه وهي تضع يدها في أيديكم لكي نقر معا أستراتيجية جديدة للسلام ومنهجا للتقدم الإنساني في عصر الفضاء ونبني صرحا نقدمه للأجيال المقبلة من أبنائنا يكون جذوة لا تنطفئ. وإلهاما لا يخبو نوره. وقوة لا تقهر. توحد ولا تفرق. تحمي ولا تهدد. تعدل فلا تبغي. وغدا تشرق فيه شمس الحرية في كل أنحاء العالم وترفرف رايات السلام في كل مكان.

واليوم، من منطلق دورها الوطني والإنساني المشهود له فإنه يسعد وزارة الخارجية، في إطار إسهامها المتواصل في نشر الوعي بأهمية الدور الذي تلعبه حركة عدم الانحياز على المسرح العالمي، أن تصدر هذا الكتاب الوثائقي ضمن سلسلة الكتب البيضاء التي تسهم في التأريخ للجهود الدبلوماسية المصرية المتصلة في خدمة قضايا الوطن. ونظرا للأهمية الخاصة لكلمات قادة مصر وزعماء دول الحركة التاريخيين وارتباطها بالواقع المعاصر، فقد حرصنا على تضمين الكتاب جميع بيانات رؤساء مصر أمام القمم المختلفة للحركة منذ مؤتمر باندونج عام ١٩٥٥ حتى قمة شرم الشيخ عام ٢٠٠٩، بالإضافة إلى بعض بيانات القادة التاريخيين لحركة عدم الانحياز الذين استضافت دولهم مؤتمرات القمة، وذلك تعميما للفائدة. كما حرصنا على تضمين هذه الموسوعة الوثائقية جميع الإعلانات والبيانات الصادرة عن قمم الحركة لتكون شاهدة على تطور نضال شعوب دول حركة عدم الانحياز، وحافزاً لأجيال شابة ومتعاقبة في عالمنا النامي والبازغ لاستكمال مسيرة وجهود الآباء المخلصة من أجل توفير حياة أفضل لشعوبنا.

وإذ يحدوني الأمل أن يكون هذا الإسهام من وزارة الخارجية المصرية قد أضاف أبعادًا جديدة للقارئ العزيز، أؤكد أن الدبلوماسية المصرية ستظل دوما مخلصة لدورها الوطني والقومي دفعاً لجهود تحقيق السلام والاستقرار، والتنمية والتقدم لشعب مصر العظيم وكافة شعوب دول حركة عدم الانحياز.

إنه ليسرنى أن أنتهز هذه الفرصة لتقديم خالص الشكر للدول الخمس الداعية على ما بذلته من جهود فى سبيل عقد هذا المؤتمر، وإنها حقا لمناسبة عظيمة وحدث جليل كنا جميعاً ننتظره بفارغ الصبر .

ويسرنى بصفة خاصة، بل يشرفنى أن قد أتيحت لى فرصة الوجود فى عاصمة هذه الدولة العظيمة التى ضربت بطول كفاحها حتى نالت استقلالها مثلاً يحتذى للشعوب المهضومة الحقوق فى أنحاء العالم .

ولطالما أعجبنا ببطولة الشعب الأندونيسى، وإنى أقدم لأندونيسيا - شعباً وحكومة - عظيم إجلالى وتقديرى إزاء ما لقيناه من حسن الاستقبال وكرم الوفادة فى هذا البلد الأمين .

إن إيماننا بعظيم إمكانيات بلادنا وهى تعمل متعاونة فى سبيل عزة البشرية وكرامتها ليقوى ويشتد إذا نظرنا إلى ما أصبح معروفاً باسم الكتلة الآسيوية - الإفريقية. وقد أثبتت الأحداث أن التعاون الوثيق بين أعضاء هذه الكتلة من أقوى العوامل على تقدم الشعوب المتخلفة وحماية حقوقها .

وإن مصر بوصفها إحدى دول الجامعة العربية ليسرها أن تسجل تقديرها لما تظهره الدول الأخرى من أعضاء الكتلة الآسيوية - الإفريقية من تأييد دائم لقضايا الدول العربية أمام هيئة الأمم المتحدة .

انا مقدرون كل التقدير أهمية الموضوعات التى عقد هذا المؤتمر لدراستها. والحق أنها ذات أهمية بالغة لبلادى فى هذا العهد الدقيق الذى تجتازه مصر عقب ثورة يوليه سنة ١٩٥٢ .

لقد كانت أهداف ثورتنا أن تحرر الشعب المصرى من حكم الفساد والطغيان، وتعيد إليه حقوقه وكرامته، وهى العزة والحرية كأفراد، والاستقلال والاتحاد كأمة .

ولم تكن الثورة حدثا له أهمية محلية فحسب، بل كانت أوسع مدى بحيث تهم دول الشرق الأوسط أو كل دول العالم أجمع؛ ولذا أرانى غير مثقل على سيادتكم إذا أنا تحدثت قليلا فى هذا الصدد .

إن ثورة يوليه سنة ١٩٥٢ لم تكن ثورة على العهد الماضى فحسب، بل إن أهدافها وأهميتها كانت أبعد أثرا وأعمق صدى؛ إذ كانت ثورة على السيطرة الأجنبية .

ويمكن تلخيص أهداف الثورة وما تنطوى عليه فلسفتها من مبادئ فيما يأتى :

١ -رفع مستوى معيشة الفرد العادى فى مصر، ماديا ومعنويا .

٢ -إقامة حياة ديمقراطية حقة على أساس سليم فى البلاد .

٤ -تخليص الاقتصاد القومى من قبضة الاحتكار، الذى يحرم الفرد من حريته والدولة من سيادتها .

٥ -تقوية الجيش للمحافظة على سيادتنا، وحماية مسئولياتنا الدولية .

ما كان انشغال مصر بإصلاحاتها الاجتماعية والاقتصادية ليعوقها عن القيام بالتزاماتها الدولية في مثل هذا الظرف العصيب الذي تجتازه البلاد. إن مصر التي ظلت أمداً طويلاً خاضعة للسيطرة الأجنبية تقف الآن وقفة المدافع عن الحرية والرفاهية للشعوب كلما سنحت الفرصة لذلك، وتأييد مبدأ تقرير المصير لكافة الشعوب، وهذا أظهر ما تتسم به سياستنا الخارجية، ولطالما أيدت مصر الجهود التي تبذل في سبيل نصرة الشعوب المتخلفة لتحقيق ما لها من حقوق ومصالح مشروعة طبقا لنصوص ميثاق هيئة الأمم .

والسمة الثانية التي تتسم بها سياستنا الخارجية: إيماننا الراسخ وتأييدنا الدائم لهيئة الأمم المتحدة كمنظمة عالمية فعالة تعمل على صيانة الأمن والسلام العالمي، وتوفير الرفاهية لشعوب العالم .

والسمة الثالثة لسياستنا الخارجية: توسيع نطاق التعاون بين دول الكتلة الآسيوية - الإفريقية، وإني لعلى يقين من أن التعاون بين الدول الآسيوية – الإفريقية من شأنه أن يقلل من حدة التوتر الدولي القائم حالياً، ويساعد على دعم السلم ونشر الرخاء والرفاهية في العالم .

ويسود العالم الآن إحساس بعدم الضمان يزداد نموا، ومما زاد شعور الخوف من الحرب زيادة إنتاج الأسلحة ذات التدمير الشامل والتى لا تبقى ولا تذر. ما أجسم الخطر الذى يتعرض له العالم من الحرب! وما أغلى الثمن الذى يدفع من أرواح البشر، حتى ليخيل إلى المرء أن قد دنت الساعة، وأذنت شمس العالم بمغيب !

ولست أعرف عصر أجمعت شعوب العالم فيه على هدف واحد بمثل ما أجمعت عليه الآن، بتضافرها فى بذل الجهود لتحقيق نظام دولى فعال، هلا حولنا الأمانى إلى يقين واقعى؟

عندى أن خير ما تعمله الدول هو العمل على تحقيق السلم العالمى، وللوصول إلى هذه الغاية لابد من توافر خمسة شروط :

الشرط الأول: نجاح الجهود التى كانت هيئة الأمم ولا زالت تبذلها بتنظيم وتحديد وتخفيض القوات المسلحة والتسليح، وكذا القضاء على الأسلحة ذات التدمير الشامل .

الشرط الثانى لتحقيق السلم العالمى: هو تمسك هيئة الأمم المتحدة بالميثاق ومبادئه، فيجب أن تكون كافة القرارات والإجراءات التى تتخذها هذه المنظمة العالمية أساسها الميثاق، ولو روعى هذا لما نزل بشعب فلسطين ذلك الظلم البين، ولما وقع عليه ذلك الاعتداء الذى لم يسبق له مثيل .

اسمحوا لى أن أبدى بعض ملاحظات على موضوع يثير فى نفسى أعمق الأسى؛ ذلك أن شعب فلسطين طرد من وطنه وشرد؛ ليحتل مكانه شعب دخيل فرض عليه فرضاً، وكل هذا حدث على مرأى من هيئة الأمم المتحدة، بل وبمساعدتها وموافقتها .

والله لا يستطيع إنسان أن يتصور أن ظلماً بيناً كهذا يمكن حدوثه فى القرن العشرين، عصر النظام والعدالة العالمية، وعلى مرأى من هيئة الأمم المتحدة، حامية القانون الدولى والعدالة الدولية !

هناك شرط آخر لقيام السلم العالمى، ولا يقل أهمية عن سابقه، ألا وهو احترام الدول لالتزاماتها الدولية. فبمقتضى ميثاق هيئة الأمم المتحدة وإعلان حقوق الإنسان لم تعد معاملة الدولة لبعض الأفراد أو لجماعة تعتنق مبدأ معيناً - سواء أكان هذا تفرقة عنصرية أم سمواً مستنداً على انتماء إلى أصل عريق - مسألة داخلية كما تذهب بعض الدول فى ادعائها، بل أصبحت مسألة دولية تهم العالم أجمع .

وهناك شرط آخر أحب أن أشير إليه، فكثيرا ما تغفله الدول ولا سيما الكبيرة منها، ألا وهى ألاعيب الضغط السياسى التى بها تعمل الدول الكبيرة على استخدام الدول الصغيرة كأداة لتحقيق أغراض الأولى، هذا يجب وقفه فورا إذا أردنا أن نضع حدا للتوتر الدولى الموجود حاليا .

إن فرض الدول الكبيرة سياسة معينة لتحقيق مصالحها الخاصة له أثره الضار على الدول الصغيرة، فهو يعزلها ويفرق فيما بينها، كما يضعف الروابط والتعاون الذى قد يكون قائما بينها، وبذا تقع تحت السيطرة الأجنبية. فإن على الدول الصغيرة أن تقوم بدورها الإنشائى فى سبيل تحسين العلاقات الدولية، وتخفيف حدة التوتر الدولى .

وثمة شىء آخر - وهو أخير ولكن ليس بأخر - ذلك هو موضوع تصفية الاستعمار الذى طالما كان سببا فى الاحتكاك بين الدول وما يستتبعه من قلق، ومنذ ان اتسعت رقعة الاستعمار اتسعت معه نظام الحكم الاستعمارى الأجنبى الذى كان دائما مثار الحروب .

ولقد شاهدنا منذ سنين - ومازلنا نشاهد - ارتفاع موجة القومية، لا فى بلادنا والمناطق المجاورة لها فحسب؛ بل فى عدة أقطار آسيوية وإفريقية. ولقد علمتنا تجارب الحياة أن القومية إذا أحبطت ترتب عليها عواقب وخيمة، ونشأت عنها مشاكل عويصة، وإن تناولتها الدول فى حكمة وهوادة وواقعية، أثمرت ثمرا طيبا من الصداقة والتفاهم والمحبة. وإنا لنرجو أن نضع ذلك دائما نصب أعيننا بشأن بقية بلاد العالم التى مازالت شعوبها متعطشة إلى إرضاء قوميتها، ولكنها لم ترتو بعد ولا هى أشبعت رغبتها فى هذا الصدد .

على أى أساس يستطيع إنسان أن يستسيغ أن أقطار شمال إفريقيا التى ظلت قرونا مستقلة ومقراً للعلم والعرفان والحضارة العريقة، تنحط مرتبتها إلى حد أن تصبح مناطق لا تتمتع بالحكم الذاتى؟! أتتفق مثل هذه السياسة مع السلم والتعاون بين الشعوب؟! إن أكثر الحروب وما جرته من ويلات للبشرية كانت تعزى فى الغالب إلى أن القرارات التى اتخذت - وإن كانت فى ذاتها صحيحة سليمة - إلا أنها لم يختر لها الوقت المناسب .

إن التعاون بين الشعوب الآسيوية والإفريقية ليس عاملاً على تخفيف حدة التوتر الدولى القائم فحسب؛ بل هو معاون لتلك الدول التى تمثل أكبر قارتين، وسكانهما أكثر من نصف سكان العالم، على التقدم وتحقيق مستوى معيشة أرفع. وتحقيق هذا الغرض - كما لا يخفى - لازم لهدف تال وهو السلم العالمى، فليس معنى السلم مجرد "لا حرب"، بل إنه يستوجب جهوداً متضافرة متواصلة لتهيئة جو من الاستقرار السياسى والنمو الاقتصادى والعدالة الاجتماعية، وكلها مقومات لا غنى عنها لإنشاء مجتمع عالمى سليم .

إن التعاون الذى اجتمعنا هنا من أجل تنميته فيما بيننا، إنما يأتى بالغرض المقصود منه إذا آمنا جميعاً بضرورة تحقيق المبادئ الأساسية الآتية :

أولا: يجب على كل دولة أن تحترم الاستقلال السياسى لكل دولة أخرى، وأن تراعى العدالة الإقليمية فيها، وألا تتدخل فى شئونها .

ثانيا: لكل دولة الحق فى أن تختار ما تراه صالحا لها من النظم السياسية والاقتصادية .

ويقينى أنه مادامت هذه الأغراض والمبادئ رائدنا؛ فلسوف يحقق لنا هذا المؤتمر الوصول إلى اتفاق على ما يعرض فيه من مقترحات وخطوات عملية؛ من شأنها إيجاد التعاون المنشود بين بلادنا ثقافيا واقتصادياً واجتماعيا .

إنى جد واثق من أنى أعبر عن رغبات شعوبنا جميعها عندما أعبر عن أحر تمنياتى أن مباحثات هذا المؤتمر ستكون بمثابة نقطة تحول نحو تحسين الموقف الدولى، وبداية تطور جديد فى سبيل تحقيق السلم والعدالة. ولئن كان هذا اليوم قد سبقته أيام لازمها الفشل. فسيتلوه أيام لا تخلو من صعاب سيحدوها الأمل، وبالتالى فلا يكون بها مجال للفشل.

بيان الرئيس سوكارنو رئيس جمهورية اندونيسيا أمام المؤتمر الاسيوى الإفريقي في باندونج

President Sukarno of Indonesia
Speech at the Opening of the Bandung Conference, April 18 1955

This twentieth century has been a period of terrific dynamism. Perhaps the last fifty years have seen more developments and more material progress than the previous five hundred years. Man has learned to control many of the scourges which once threatened him. He has learned to consume distance. He has learned to project his voice and his picture across oceans and continents. lie has probed deep into the secrets of nature and learned how to make the desert bloom and the plants of the earth increase their bounty. He has learned how to release the immense forces locked in the smallest particles of matter.

But has man's political skill marched hand-in-hand with his technical and scientific skill? Man can chain lightning to his command-can be control the society in which be lives? The answer is No! The political skill of man has been far outstripped by technical skill, and what lie has made he cannot be sure of controlling.

The result of this is fear. And man gasps for safety and morality.

Perhaps now more than at any other moment in the history of the world, society, government and statesmanship need to be based upon the highest code of morality and ethics. And in political terms, what is the highest code of morality? It is the subordination of everything to the well-being of mankind. But today we are faced with a situation where the well-being of mankind is not always the primary consideration. Many who are in places of high power think, rather, of controlling the world.

Yes, we are living in a world of fear. The life of man today is corroded and made bitter by fear. Fear of the future, fear of the hydrogen bomb, fear of ideologies. Perhaps this fear is a greater danger than the danger itself, because it is fear which drives men to act foolishly, to act thoughtlessly, to act dangerously.

All of us, I am certain, are united by more important things than those which superficially divide us. We are united, for instance, by a common detestation of colonialism in whatever form it appears. We are united by a common detestation of racialism. And we are united by a common determination to preserve and stabilize peace in the world.

We are often told "Colonialism is dead." Let us not be deceived or even soothed by that. I say to you, colonialism is not yet dead. How can we say it is dead, so long as vast areas of Asia and Africa are unfree.

And, I beg of you do not think of colonialism only in the classic form which we of Indonesia, and our brothers in different parts of Asia and Africa, knew. Colonialism has also its modern dress, in the form of economic control, intellectual control, actual physical control by a small but alien community within a nation. It is a skilful and determined enemy, and it appears in many guises. It does not give up its loot easily. Wherever, whenever and however it appears, colonialism is an evil thing, and one which must be eradicated from the earth.

Not so very long ago we argued that peace was necessary for us because an outbreak of fighting in our part of the world would imperil our precious independence, so recently won at such great cost.

Today, the picture is more black. War would riot only mean a threat to our independence, it may mean the end of civilization and even of human life. There is a force loose in the world whose potentiality for evil no man truly knows. Even in practice and rehearsal for war the effects may well be building up into something of unknown horror.

Not so long ago it was possible to take some little comfort from the idea that the clash, if it came, could perhaps be settled by what were called "conventional weapons "-bombs, tanks, cannon and men. Today that little grain of comfort is denied us for it has been made clear that the weapons of ultimate horror will certainly be used, and the military planning of nations is on that basis. The unconventional has become the conventional, and who knows what other examples of misguided and diabolical scientific skill have been discovered as a plague on humanity.

And do not think that the oceans and the seas will protect us. The food that we cat, the water that we drink, yes, even the very air that we breathe can be contaminated by poisons originating from thousands of miles away. And it could be that, even if we ourselves escaped lightly, the unborn generations of our children would bear on their distorted bodies the marks of our failure to control the forces which have been released on the world.

No task is more urgent than that of preserving peace. Without peace our independence means little. The rehabilitation and up building of our countries will have little meaning. Our revolutions will not be allowed to run their course.

What can we do? We can do much! We can inject the voice of reason into world affairs. We can mobilize all the spiritual, all the moral, all the political strength of Asia and Africa on the side of peace. Yes, we! We, the peoples of Asia and Africa, 1,400,000,000 strong, far more than half the human population of the world, we can mobilize what I have called the Moral Violence of Nations in favor of peace. We can demonstrate to the minority of the world which lives on the other continents that we, the majority are for peace, not for war, and that whatever strength we have will always be thrown on to the side of peace.

In this struggle, some success has already been scored. I think it is generally recognized that the activity of the Prime Ministers of the Sponsoring Countries which invited you here had a not unimportant role to play in ending the fighting in Indo-China.

Look, the peoples of Asia raised their voices, and the world listened. It was no small victory and no negligible precedent! The five Prime Ministers did not make threats. They issued no ultimatum, they mobilized no troops. Instead they consulted together, discussed the issues, pooled their ideas, added together their individual political skills and came forward with sound and reasoned suggestions which formed the basis for a settlement of the long struggle in Indo-China.

I have often since then asked myself why these five were successful when others, with long records of diplomacy, were unsuccessful, and, in fact, had allowed a bad situation to get worse, so that there was a danger of the conflict spreading, I think that the answer really lies in the fact that those five Prime Ministers brought a fresh approach to bear on the problem. They were not seeking advantage for their own countries. They had no axe of power-politics to grind. They had but one interest-how to end the fighting in such a way that the chances of continuing peace and stability were enhanced.

So, let this Asian-African Conference be a great success! Make the "Live and let live" principle and the "Unity in Diversity" motto the unifying force which brings us all together-to seek in friendly, uninhibited discussion, ways and means by which each of us can live his own life, and let others live their own lives, in their own way, in harmony, and in peace.

If we succeed in doing so, the effect of it for the freedom, independence and the welfare of man will be great on the world at large. The Light of Understanding has again been lit, the Pillar of Cooperation again erected. The likelihood of success of this Conference is proved already by the very presence of you all here today. It is for us to give it strength, to give it the power of inspiration-to spread its message all over the World.

بيان رئيس الوزراء نهرو رئيس وزراء جمهورية الهند أمام المؤتمر الآسيوى الإفريقى فى باندونج

Indian Prime Minister Nehru
Speech to Bandung Conference Political Committee, April 1955

Mr. Chairman, the turn this discussion has taken is a much wider one than that we had already expected. In fact, it has covered the whole major heading. We have just had the advantage of listening to the distinguished leader of the Turkish Delegation who told us what lie, as a responsible leader of the nation must do and must not do. He gave us an able statement of what I might call one side representing the views of one of the major blocs existing at the present time in the world. I have no doubt that an equally able disposition could be made on the part of the other bloc. I belong to neither and I propose to belong to neither whatever happens in the world. If we have to stand alone, we will stand by ourselves, whatever happens (and India has stood alone without any aid against a mighty Empire, the British Empire) and we propose to face all consequences.

We do not agree with the communist teachings, we do not agree with the anti-communist teachings, because they are both based on wrong principles. I never challenged the right of my country to defend itself; it has to. We will defend ourselves with whatever arms and strength we have, and if we have no arms we will defend ourselves without arms. I am dead certain that no country can conquer India. Even the two great power blocs together cannot conquer India; not even the atom or the hydrogen bomb. I know what my people are. But I know also that if we rely on others, whatever great powers they might be if we look to them for sustenance, then we are weak indeed.

My country has made mistakes. Every country makes mistakes. I have no doubt we will make mistakes; we will Stumble and fall and get up. The mistakes of my country and perhaps the mistakes of other countries here do not make a difference; but the mistakes the Great Powers make do make a difference to the world and may well bring about a terrible catastrophe. I speak with the greatest respect of these Great Powers because they are not only great in military might but in development, in culture, in civilization. But I do submit that greatness sometimes brings quite false values, false standards. When they begin to think in terms of military strength - whether it be the United Kingdom, the Soviet Union or the U.S.A. - then they are going away from the right track and the result of that will be that the overwhelming might of one country will conquer the world. Thus far the world has succeeded in preventing that; I cannot speak for the future.

So far as I am concerned, it does not matter what war takes place; we will not take part in it unless we have to defend ourselves. If I join any of these big groups I lose my identity. If all the world were to be divided up between these two big blocs what would be the result? The inevitable result would be war. Therefore every step that takes place in reducing that area in the world which may be called the unaligned area is a dangerous step and leads to war. It reduces that objective, that balance, that outlook which other countries without military might can perhaps exercise.

Honorable Members laid great stress on moral force. It is with military force that we are dealing now, but I submit that moral force counts and the moral force of Asia and Africa must, in spite of the atomic and hydrogen bombs of Russia, the U.S.A. or another country.

Many members present here do not obviously accept the communist ideology, while some of them do. For my part I do not. I am a positive person, not an 'anti' person. I want positive good for my country and the world. Therefore, are we, the countries of Asia and Africa, devoid of any positive position except being pro-communist or anti-communist? Has it come to this, that the leaders of thought who have given religions and all kinds of things to the world have to tag on to this kind of group or that and be hangers-on of this party or the other carrying out their wishes and occasionally giving an idea? It is most degrading and humiliating to any self-respecting people or nation. It is an intolerable thought to me that the great countries of Asia and Africa should come out of bondage into freedom only to degrade themselves or humiliate themselves in this way.

I submit to you, every pact has brought insecurity and not security to the countries which have entered into them. They have brought the danger of atomic bombs and the rest of it nearer to them than would have been the case otherwise. They have not added to the strength of any country, I submit, which it had singly. It may have produced some idea of security, but it is a false security. It is a bad thing for any country thus to be lulled into security.

Today in the world, I do submit, not only because of the presence of these two colossuses but also because of the coming of the atomic and hydrogen-bomb age, the whole concept of war, of peace, of politics, has changed. We are thinking and acting in terms of a past age. No matter what generals and soldiers learned in the past, it is useless in this atomic age. They do not understand its implications or its use. As an eminent military critic said: 'The whole conception of War is changed. There is no precedent.' It may be so. Now it does not matter if one country is more powerful than the other in the use of the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb. One is more powerful in its ruin than the other. That is what is meant by saying that the point of saturation has been reached. However powerful one country is, the other is also powerful. To hit the nail on the head, the world suffers; there can be no victory. It may be said perhaps rightly that owing to this very terrible danger, people refrain from going to war. I hope so The difficulty is that while Governments want to refrain from war, something suddenly happens and there is war and utter ruin. There is another thing: because of the present position in the world there can be aggression. If there is aggression anywhere in the world, it is bound to result in world war. It does not matter where the aggression is. If one commits the aggression there is world war.

I want the countries here to realize it and not to think in terms of any limitation. Today, a war however limited it may be is bound to lead to a big war. Even if tactical atomic weapons, as they are called, are used, the next step would be the use of the big atomic bomb. You cannot stop these things. In a country's life and death struggle, it is not going to stop short of this. It is not going to decide on our or anybody else's resolutions but it would engage in war, ruin and annihilation of others before it annihilates itself completely. Annihilation will result not only in the countries engaged in war, but owing to the radioactive waves which go thousands and thousands of miles it will destroy everything. That is the position. It is not an academic position; it is not a position of discussing ideologies; nor is it a position of discussing past history. It is looking at the world as it is today.

Final Communiqué of the Asian-African Conference

The Asian-African Conference, convened upon the invitation of the Prime Ministers of Burma, Ceylon, India, Indonesia and Pakistan, met in Bandung from the 18th to the 24th April, 1955. In addition to the sponsoring countries, the following 24 countries participated in the Conference:

1. Afghanistan	13. Liberia
2. Cambodia	14. Libya
3. People's Republic of China	15. Nepal
4. Egypt	16. Philippines
5. Ethiopia	17. Saudi Arabia
6. Gold Coast	18. Sudan
7. Iran	19. Syria
8. Iraq	20. Thailand
9. Japan	21. Turkey
10. Jordan	22. Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam
11. Laos	23. State of Viet-Nam
12. Lebanon	24. Yemen

The Asian-African Conference considered problems of common interest and concern to countries of Asia and Africa and discussed ways and means by which their people could achieve fuller economic, cultural and political co-operation.

A. Economic co-operation

1. The Asian-African Conference recognized the urgency of promoting economic development in the Asian-African region. There was general desire for economic co-operation among the participating countries on the basis of mutual interest and respect for national sovereignty. The proposals with regard to economic co-operation within the participating countries do not preclude either the desirability or the need for co-operation with countries outside the region, including the investment of foreign capital. It was further recognized that the assistance being received by certain participating countries from outside the region, through international or under bilateral arrangements, had made a valuable contribution to the implementation of their development programmes.

2. The participating countries agreed to provide technical assistance to one another, to the maximum extent practicable, in the form of: experts, trainees, pilot projects and equipment for demonstration purposes; exchange of know-how and establishment of national, and where possible, regional training and research institutes for imparting technical knowledge and skills in co-operation with the existing international agencies.

3. The Asian-African Conference recommended: the early establishment of the Special United Nations Fund for Economic Development; the allocation by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development of a greater part of its resources to Asian-African countries; the early establishment of the International Finance Corporation which should include in its activities the undertaking of equity investment; and encouragement to the promotion of joint ventures among Asian-African countries in so far as this will promote their common interest.

4. The Asian-African Conference recognized the vital need for stabilizing commodity trade in the region. The principle of enlarging the scope of multilateral trade and payments was accepted. However, it was recognized that some countries would have to take recourse to bilateral trade arrangements in view of their prevailing economic conditions.

5. The Asian-African Conference recommended that collective action be taken by participating countries for stabilizing the international prices of and demand for primary commodities through bilateral and multilateral arrangements and that as far as practicable and desirable they should adopt a unified approach on the subject in the United Nations Permanent Advisory Commission on International Commodity Trade and other international forums.

6. The Asian-African Conference further recommended that: Asian-African countries should diversify their export trade by processing their raw material, wherever economically feasible, before export; intra-regional trade fairs should be promoted and encouragement given to the exchange of trade delegations and groups of businessmen; exchange of information and of samples should be encouraged with a view to promoting intra-regional trade; and normal facilities should be provided for transit trade of land-locked countries.

7. The Asian-African Conference attached considerable importance to Shipping and expressed concern that shipping lines reviewed from time to time their freight rates, often to the detriment of participating countries. It recommended a study of this problem, and collective action thereafter, to induce the shipping lines to adopt a more reasonable attitude. It was suggested that a study of railway freight of transit trade may be made.

8. The Asian-African Conference agreed that encouragement should be given to the establishment of national and regional banks and insurance companies.

9. The Asian-African Conference felt that exchange of information on matters relating to oil, such as remittance of profits and taxation, might eventually lead to the formulation of common policies.

10. The Asian-African Conference emphasized the particular significance of the development of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes, for the Asian-African countries. The Conference welcomed the initiative of the Powers principally concerned in offering to make available information regarding the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes; urged the speedy establishment of the International Atomic Energy Agency which should provide for adequate representation of the Asian-African countries on the executive authority of the Agency; and recommended to the Asian and African Governments to take full advantage of the training and other facilities in the peaceful uses of atomic energy offered by the countries sponsoring such programmes.

11. The Asian-African Conference agreed to the appointment of Liaison Officers in participating countries, to be nominated by their respective national Governments, for the exchange of information and ideas on matters of mutual interest. It recommended that fuller use should be made of the existing international organizations, and participating countries who were not members of such international organizations, but were eligible, should secure membership.

12. The Asian-African Conference recommended that there should be prior consultation of participating countries in international forums with a view, as far as possible, to furthering their mutual economic interest. It is, however, not intended to form a regional bloc.

B. Cultural co-operation.

1. The Asian-African Conference was convinced that among the most powerful means of promoting understanding among nations is the development of cultural co-operation. Asia and Africa have been the cradle of great religions and civilizations which have enriched other cultures and civilizations while themselves being enriched in the process. Thus the cultures of Asia and Africa are based on spiritual and universal foundations. Unfortunately contacts among Asian and African countries were interrupted during the past centuries. The peoples of Asia and Africa are now animated by a keen and sincere desire to renew their old cultural contacts and develop new ones in the context of the modern world. All participating Governments at the Conference reiterated their determination to work for closer cultural co-operation.

2. The Asian-African Conference took note of the fact that the existence of colonialism in many parts of Asia and Africa, in whatever form it may be, not only prevents cultural co-operation but also suppresses the national cultures of the people. Some colonial powers have denied to their dependent peoples basic rights in the sphere of education and culture which hampers the development of their personality and also prevents cultural intercourse with other Asian and African peoples. This is particularly true in the case of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco, where the basic right of the people to study their own language and culture has been suppressed. Similar discrimination has been practiced against African and colored people in some parts of the Continent of Africa. The Conference felt that these policies amount to a denial of the fundamental rights of man, impede cultural advancement in this region and also hamper cultural co-operation on the wider international plane. The Conference condemned such a denial of fundamental rights in the sphere of education and culture in some parts of Asia and Africa by this and other forms of cultural suppression.

In particular, the Conference condemned racialism as a means of cultural suppression.

3. It was not from any sense of exclusiveness or rivalry with other groups of nations and other civilizations and cultures that the Conference viewed the development of cultural co-operation among Asian and African countries. True to the age-old tradition of tolerance and universality, the Conference believed that Asian and African cultural co-operation should be developed in the larger context of world co-operation.

Side by side with the development of Asian-African cultural co-operation the countries of Asia and Africa desire to develop cultural contacts with others. This would enrich their own culture and would also help in the promotion of world peace and understanding.

4. There are many countries in Asia and Africa which have not yet been able to develop their educational, scientific and technical institutions. The Conference recommended that countries in Asia and Africa which are more fortunately placed in this respect should give facilities for the admission of students and trainees from such countries to their institutions. Such facilities should also be made available to the Asian and African people in Africa to whom opportunities for acquiring higher education are at present denied.

5. The Asian-African Conference felt that the promotion of cultural co-operation among countries of Asia and Africa should be directed towards:

(I) The acquisition of knowledge of each other's country;
(II) mutual cultural exchange, and
(III) exchange of information.

6. The Asian-African Conference was of the opinion that at this stage the best results in cultural co-operation would be achieved by pursuing bilateral arrangements to implement its recommendations and by each country taking action on its own, wherever possible and feasible.

C. Human rights and self-determination.

1. The Asian-African Conference declared its full support of the fundamental principles of Human Rights as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations and took note of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations.

The Conference declared its full support of the principle of self-determination of peoples and nations as set forth in the Charter of the United Nations and took note of the United Nations resolutions on the rights of peoples and nations to self-determination, which is a pre-requisite of the full enjoyment of all fundamental Human Rights.

2. The Asian-African Conference deplored the policies and practices of racial segregation and discrimination which form the basis of government and human relations in large regions of Africa and in other parts of the world. Such conduct is not only a gross violation of human rights, but also a denial of the dignity of man.

The Conference extended its warm sympathy and support for the courageous stand taken by the victims of racial discrimination, especially by the peoples of African and Indian and Pakistani origin in South Africa; applauded all those who sustain their cause; re-affirmed the determination of Asian-African peoples to eradicate every trace of racialism that might exist in their own countries; and pledged to use its full moral influence to guard against the danger of falling victims to the same evil in their struggle to eradicate it.

D. Problems of dependent peoples.

1. The Asian-African Conference discussed the problems of dependent peoples and colonialism and the evils arising from the subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination and exploitation.

The Conference is agreed:

(a) in declaring that colonialism in all its manifestations is an evil which should speedily be brought to an end;

(b) in affirming that the subjection of peoples to alien subjugation, domination and exploitation constitutes a denial of fundamental human rights, is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations and is an impediment to the promotion of world peace and co-operation;

(c) in declaring its support of the cause of freedom and independence for all such peoples, and

(d) in calling upon the powers concerned to grant freedom and independence to such peoples.

2. In view of the unsettled situation in North Africa and of the persisting denial to the peoples of North Africa of their right to self-determination, the Asian-African Conference declared its support of the rights of the people of Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia to self-determination and independence and urged the French Government to bring about a peaceful settlement of the issue without delay.

E. Other problems.

1. In view of the existing tension in the Middle East, caused by the situation in Palestine and of the danger of that tension to world peace, the Asian-African Conference declared its support of the rights of the Arab people of Palestine and called for the implementation of the United Nations Resolutions on Palestine and the achievement of the peaceful settlement of the Palestine question.

2. The Asian-African Conference, in the context of its expressed attitude on the abolition of colonialism, supported the position of Indonesia in the case of West Irian based on the relevant agreements between Indonesia and the Netherlands.

The Asian-African Conference urged the Netherlands Government to reopen negotiations as soon as possible, to implement their obligations under the above-mentioned agreements and expressed the earnest hope that the United Nations would assist the parties concerned in finding a peaceful solution to the dispute.

3. The Asian-African Conference supported the position of Yemen in the case of Aden and the Southern parts of Yemen known as the Protectorates and urged the parties concerned to arrive at a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

F. Promotion of world peace and co-operation.

1. The Asian-African Conference, taking note of the fact that several States have still not been admitted to the United Nations, considered that for effective co-operation for world peace membership in the United Nations should be universal, called on the Security Council to support the admission of all those States which are qualified for membership in terms of the Charter. In the opinion of the Asian-African Conference, the following among participating countries, viz.: Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Libya, Nepal, a unified Vietnam were so qualified.

The Conference considered that the representation of the countries of the Asian-African region on the Security Council, in relation to the principle of equitable geographical distribution, was inadequate. It expressed the view that as regards the distribution of the non-permanent seats, the Asian-African countries which, under the arrangement arrived at in London in 1946, are precluded from being elected, should be enabled to serve on the Security Council, so that they might make a more effective contribution to the maintenance of international peace and security.

2. The Asian-African Conference having considered the dangerous situation of international tension existing and the risks confronting the whole human race from the outbreak of global war in which the destructive power of all types of armaments, including nuclear and thermo-nuclear weapons, would be employed, invited the attention of all nations to the terrible consequences that would follow if such a war were to break out.

The Conference considered that disarmament and the prohibition of the production, experimentation and use of nuclear and thermo-nuclear weapons of war are imperative to save mankind and civilisation from the fear and prospect of wholesale destruction. It considered that the nations of Asia and Africa assembled here have a duty towards humanity and civilisation to proclaim their support for disarmament and for the prohibition of these weapons and to appeal to nations principally concerned and to world opinion, to bring about such disarmament and prohibition.

The Conference considered that effective international control should be established and maintained to implement such disarmament and prohibition and that speedy and determined efforts should be made to this end.

Pending the total prohibition of the manufacture of nuclear and thermo-nuclear weapons, this Conference appealed to all the powers concerned to reach agreement to suspend experiments with such weapons.

The Conference declared that universal disarmament is an absolute necessity for the preservation of peace and requested the United Nations to continue its efforts and appealed to all concerned speedily to bring about the regulation, limitation, control and reduction of all armed forces and armaments, including the prohibition of the production, experimentation and use of all weapons of mass destruction, and to establish effective international control to this end.

G. Declaration on the promotion of world peace and co-operation.

The Asian-African Conference gave anxious thought to the question of world peace and co-operation. It viewed with deep concern the present state of international tension with its danger of an atomic world war. The problem of peace is correlative with the problem of international security. In this connection, all States should co-operate, especially through the United Nations, in bringing about the reduction of armaments and the elimination of nuclear weapons under effective international control. In this way, international peace can be promoted and nuclear energy may be used exclusively for peaceful purposes. This would help answer the needs particularly of Asia and Africa, for what they urgently require are social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom. Freedom and peace are interdependent. The right of self-determination must be enjoyed by all peoples, and freedom and independence must be granted, with the least possible delay, to those who are still dependent peoples. Indeed, all nations should have the right freely to choose their own political and economic systems and their own way of life, in conformity with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

Free from mistrust and fear, and with confidence and goodwill towards each other, nations should practice tolerance and live together in peace with one another as good neighbors and develop friendly co-operation on the basis of the following principles:

1. Respect for fundamental human rights and for the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations.

2. Respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all nations.

3. Recognition of the equality of all races and of the equality of all nations large and small.

4. Abstention from intervention or interference in the internal affairs of another country.

5. Respect for the right of each nation to defend itself singly or collectively, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.

6. (a) Abstention from the use of arrangements of collective defence to serve the particular interests of any of the big powers.

(b) Abstention by any country from exerting pressures on other countries.

7. Refraining from acts or threats of aggression or the use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any country.

8. Settlement of all international disputes by peaceful means, such as negotiation, conciliation, arbitration or judicial settlement as well as other peaceful means of the parties' own choice, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.

9. Promotion of mutual interests and co-operation.

10. Respect for justice and international obligations.

The Asian and African Conference declares its conviction that friendly co-operation in accordance with these principles would effectively contribute to the maintenance and promotion of international peace and security, while co-operation in the economic, social and cultural fields would help bring about the common prosperity and well-being of all.

The Asian-African Conference recommended that the Five Sponsoring Countries consider the convening of the next meeting of the Conference, in consultation with the participating countries.

خطـــاب

الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر

فى مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة

من هنا ، فان امتنانى سوف يظل أبديا للفرصة التى أتاحت لى أن أشارك فى وضع توقيعى على الدعوة لهذا المؤتمر ، ثم للفرصة التى اتيحت لعاصمة الجمهورية العربية المتحدة لتكون بيتا للاجتماع التحضيرى لهذا المؤتمر : ثم

للفرصة التى جاءت الى عاصمة هذا الشعب اليوغوسلافى الكريم نحمل معنا الآمال الكبرى لشعوبنا من أجل السلام ، الذى هو أمل هـــذا الشعب ، الذى فتح لنا اليوم بيته لنلتقى فيه ، ولندرس · ولتخرج عن أعمالنا ـ بعـد ذلك ارادة عمل متجردة ونزيهة ، تضع نفسها فى خدمة قضية السلام ·

ولقد كان مؤلما على نفوسنا ، أن نتبين ، أنه برغم كل الآمال التى حملناها معا الى نيويورك ، تعبيرا عن رغبات شعوبنا ، وكل الشعوب ، فان احتمالات السلام بعد اجتماعات الجمعية العامة ، لم تحصل على ما كنا نريده لها من تعزيز وتوكيد ·

مقتل لومومبا وغزو كوبا الفاشل :

وفى شهر سبتمبر الماضى ، فى نيويورك مثلا ، كنا نحاول أن نحرك الضمير العالمى ، من أجل ما حدث فى الكونجو ، لشعب الكونجو نفسه ، ومن بعـده للامم المتحدة ، التى علقنا عليها أمل انقاذه فاذا هى تتعرض معه لنفس الخطر

ولقد كان لومومبا الاسير ـ فى ذلك الوقت ـ رمزا حيا لأزمة الحرية فى

وفى شهر ابريل الاخير ، فى القاهرة ، كان هناك أمل فى احتمال قيـام

مفاوضات مباشرة ، بين الحكومة الفرنسية وبين حكومة الثورة الجزائرية، ممثلة الشعب الجزائرى ، وصورة ارادته الشرعية ٠٠

فى ذلك الوقت من شهر ابريل سنة ١٩٦١ ، عندما كان لى شرف الاجتماع بالرئيس تيتو ، فى القاهرة والاسكندرية ، كنا مقتنعين بأن السلام العالمى الذى نتحمل جميعا مسئوليته بقسط متكافىء يحتم على كل القادرين على خدمة السلام أن يتجمعوا للدفاع عنه ·

ولقد كان تقديرنا الذى التقينا فيه مع الاصدقاء الذين شاركوا فى الدعوة لهذا المؤتمر ، ومع الاصدقاء الذين شاركوا فى تحقيقه بالاستجابة لحضوره ، هو أن الدول غير المنحازة قادرة ، بحكم نظرتها النزيهة المتجردة ، الى المشاكل التى تواجه السلام العالمى ، أن تؤدى دورا ايجابيا فى خدمة هذا السلام ·

وليشارك فى نجاح هذا المؤتمر ، ذلك أنه من المحتم فى يقينى أن ينجح هذا المؤتمر لعدة أسباب :

أولا ــ لأنه لا توجد قوة قادرة على خدمة السلام مثـل مجموعة الدول التى تتبع سياسة عدم الانحياز ، فان هذه الدول التى تعيش مشاكل عالمها ، لا تنعزل عنها أو تنفصل ، والتى لا تخضع فى مواقفها من هذه المشاكل لضغط كتلة من الكتل تحدد لها مواقفها وترسم لها اتجاه خطاها والتى تصدر فى كل ما تراه بشأن هذه المشاكل عن دافع السلام القائم على العدل بصرف النظر عن أى اعتبار آخر ، هذه المجموعة من الدول أقدر على أن تضع فى خـدمة السلام ، بنزاهة وتجرد ، كل طاقاتها المادية والمعنوية ·

ثانيا ــ اننا على هذه الصورة ، أقدر على الحركة الطليقة النزيهـــة

المتجردة بين الكتلتين ، تقريبا لأسباب الخلاف بينهما ، وتدعيما لامكانات التفاهم ٠٠ خصوصا وأن سياسة عدم الانحياز أصبحت موضع احترام العالم كله ، بما فى ذلك الدول الداخلة فى نطاق الكتل الكبرى ٠

رابعا ــ اننا فى جو السلام وحده ، نستطيع أن نطور الحياة فى بلادنا، وأن نزيد من خصوبتها الخلاقة ٠

وبالاختصار ، فان علينا أن نكون قوة الضمير فى عالمنا الذى نعيش فيه٠

واذا كانت البشرية كلها ، الآن ، تحيى قوة العلم ، الذى استطاع أن يحلق فى الفضاء ويجاوز نطاق الجاذبية الأرضية ويرتاد الأفق الجديد فاننا هنا مطالبون بأن نجعل قوة الضمير تحقق ما حققته قوة العلم فى عصرنا ٠

اننا هنا مطالبون بأن نجعل قوة الضمير تنطلق من اغلال الانانية،وتجاوز نطاق جذبها ، وترتاد أفقا جديدا تحتاجه البشرية أكثر مما تحتاج آفاق الفضاء العالى ، وأعنى به أفق السلام القائم على العدل ٠

محاولة جديدة :

على انى أدرك تماما أن العمل الذى نتعرض اليه ليس هينا ولا سهلا ، اننى أدرك ان مثل هذا المؤتمر للدول غير المنحازة ، هو محاولة جديدة وجريئة فى عصر تحكمه التكتلات الكبرى المدعمة بالقوة المادية والعلمية والعسكرية ٠

كذلك أدرك أن مثل هذا المؤتمر للدول غير المنحازة ، هو محاولة لا تلقى الترحيب والقبول ، من جانب عدد كبير من القوى المعادية للسلام ،.وفى طليعتها قوى الاستعمار ، التى تريد أن تخنق كل صوت للضمير ، وأن تطفىء كل شعلة للحرية لو استطاعت ٠ ٠

كذلك أدرك أن مثل هذا المؤتمر للدول غير المنحازة ، هو محاولة تقابل

بالشك من جانب الذين اثروا السلبية ، اما عجزا واما يأسا ، على انه من بواعث الامل الاولى فى نجاح هذا المؤتمر للدول غير المنحازة هو أنه اجتمع فعلا ، وأن شمله قد انعقد فى هذه القاعة ، بكل ما تمثله ، وبكل ما يرمز اليه.

ولكن هذا الامل الذى تحقق ، هو فى ذاته مسئولية كبرى تضاف الى مسئوليات هذا المؤتمر وتحتم عليه أن يكون عمله تحقيقا لأمله .

واجتماعنا اليوم هنا ، هو محاولة لحشد الجهود المؤيدة للسلام ومحاولة للتنسيق بينها ، من أجل زيادة فاعليتها وتاثيرها .

نشعر بمزيد من الطاقة من أجل مزيد من الخدمة الدولية العامة ، ومبعث هذه الطاقة هو تحررنا من كل قيد الا قيد المبدأ ٠

ينبغى لنا أن نحرر فكرنا من الاثقال ، وأن نحرر الازمات نفسها من الأثقال ، وأن نرد الامور الى أصولها ، ولا ننظر اليها من حيث نجدها الآن والا فاننا بذلك نمشى على نفس الطريق الذى أوصل الازمات الى ذراها الخطيرة ٠

ان الأزمة العنيفة التى وصلت اليها المشكلة الالمانية ، هى فى حقيقة أمرها أزمة التعايش السلمى ، أزمة الاندفاع الى السلاح ، بعد الفشل فى الاتفاق على نزع السلاح ٠

رابعا ــ ان صورة هذا المؤتمر ، هى فى يقينى أقرب ما تكون الى صورة

تجمع من أجل السلام ، ومن هنا فانه من المهم فى تقديرى ، أن يكون هدف السلام ، السلام القائم على العدل هو الغاية الكبرى أمام هذا المؤتمر ، ومعنى ذلك اننا يجب أن نكرس الجزء الاكبر من جهدنا لمشاكل السلام الكبرى عموما، دون استنزاف للجهد أمام القضايا الفرعية ، ففى هذا التكريس ، ضمان لأمرين لهما من الاهمية الكبرى فى رأينا :

أولا – أن يستطيع عمل هذا المؤتمر تركيز أكبر قدر ممكن من التأثير على المسألة الرئيسية التى يجتمع من أجلها ·

ثانيا – أن يستطيع هذا المؤتمر بالتجاوز عن كل القضايا الفرعية ، أن يصل الى ارادة عمل موحدة ·

وأنتقل الآن بنفس التفكير ، أو محاولته بصوت عال الى الناحية الايجابية من عملنا ·

ويخيل الى – يا سيادة الرئيس – أنه من المفيد لنا أن نضع أولويات محددة للمشاكل الكبرى التى تواجه عالمنا ، فاذا ما فرغنا من ترتيب الاولويات ، جاز لنا بعد ذلك أن ننتقل الى البحث فى الوسائل والاساليب التى يمكن عن طريقها تنظيم الجهود العملية من أجل مواجهتها ومن ثم الوصول الى الحلول الصحيحة لها على هدى المبادىء وضوئها ·

وأبدأ بأولويات المشاكل ثم أنتقل الى المواجهة ووسائلها وأساليبها ·

أولا – ان التوتر الدولى الذى تعكسه الحرب الباردة بين الكتل ، هو نتيجة واضحة لعدم الايمان الكافى بضرورة التعايش السلمى ، « والتعايش السلمى لا يمكن أن يكون هدنة مسلحة ، وانما التعايش السلمى بمفهوم حقيقى ، هو التعاون الخلاق المثمر بين كافة الدول ، وبين كافة الانظمة الاجتماعية لتستطيع جميعا أن تثبت جدارتها فى خدمة الانسان الحر ، ثم ليكون بينها التفاعل القادر على دفع التطوير المستمر لشعوب العالم جميعا سياسيا واقتصاديا واجتماعيا » ·

ثالثا ــ فى هذا الجو الذى يتعلق السـلام فيه بالتوازن الذرى المخيف، تحاول قوى عديدة أن تستغل الموقف لصالحها ، وفى مقدمة هذه القوى دول الاستعمار والعناصر الرجعية المعادية للتقدم ، ولقد وجدنا فرنسا تحـــارب الشعب الجزائرى بأسلحـــة حلف الاطلنطى وروت البرقيـات منذ أيام أن القنابل التى ألقيت على بعض مواقع الوطنيين فى انجولا كانت من صنـــع الولايات المتحدة الامريكية ٠ والاخطر من أسلحة حلف الاطلنطى التى تحارب شعب الجزائر ومن القنابل الامريكية التى تلقى على شعب انجولا ، هو ذلك التغاضى الكامل عن كل مبادىء الامم المتحدة تحت ضغط سياسة الارتبـــاط بالاحلاف كما رأينا فى موقف الولايات المتحدة الامريكية من مشكلة العدوان على بنزرت أثناء عرضها على الجمعية العامة للامم المتحدة ٠

وقد أثبت مؤتمر دول الدار البيضـــاء هذه الحقيقة ، حين دمغ اسرائيل

كراس جسر للاستعمار الجديد فى افريقيا ، وكأداة تحركها مطامعه ، بل ولم يتورع الاستعمار عن استعمال الامم المتحدة ذاتها لتكون وسيلة يصل منهـــا الى اغراضه . كما رأينا جميعا فى الكونغو ·

وأخيرا تحت أعلام الاستقلال الملونة التى ارتفعت فوق عدد من البلدان حاول الاستعمـــار أن يسلب الحرية مضمونها الحقيقى ، وأن يجعـــل من الاستقـــلال الوليد مجرد مظهر وشكل خارجى لا يعكس أى حقيقـة أصيلة ·

أولا ــ انه من المحتم الآن ان تخفت قعقعة الســلاح ، وأن نترك فرصـــة للمفاوضات الهـــادئة على أعلى المستويات فانه لا خيار الآن بين أمرين · اما المفاوضات واما الحرب ، وانه يبدو لنا من الضرورى الآن أن يتم اجتماع للاقطاب فى أسرع وقت ولا ينبغى أن يؤثر فينا أن محاولتنـــا فى نيويورك لم تستطع تحقيق اجتماع على مستوى القمة فى ذلك الوقت بين الرئيس الامريكى والرئيس السوفييتى ·

وينبغى لنا فى ذلك الصدد أن نذكر أن اكثر من أربعين دولة أيدت هـــذا الاقتراح ·

كذلك ينبغى لنـــا أن نذكر أن الاجتماع الذى تم بين الرئيس نيكيتـــا خروشوف والرئيس جون كنيدى فى فيينا فى شهر مايو الماضى ، كان تحقيقا لهذا الاقتراح ·

كذلك لا ينبغى أن يؤثر فينا أن الاجتمـــاع الذى عقد فى عاصمة النمسا لم يحقق ما كان مرجوا منه · ففى الظروف التى يواجهها عالمنا اليوم لا يحق لأحـــد منا أن يستسلم لليأس وانما لا بد للمفاوضات أن تجرى واذا لم تنجح فلا بد أن نحاول من جديد · فان المفاوضات هى الطريق الوحيد المأمون فى مثل هذا الجو الملبد بالغيوم الآن ·

بل ان المفاوضات هى الطريق الوحيد للسلام القائم على العدل ولا يمكن أن يقوم السلام على قواعد الصواريخ ذات الرءوس الذرية ·

على أنه من واجبنا هنا أن نبحث فى توفير الجو الذى يمكن أن يجعل مثل هذا الاجتماع اكثر فائدة وجدوى ، وانه ليتحتم علينا قبل أن ننهى اجتماعاتنا أن تكون لدينا خطـة واضحة لدفع المفاوضات بين الكتلتين الى مجال التطبيق العملى ·

ولا يمكن أن نترك رغبتنا فى اجتمـــاعهم مجرد نداء نأمل أن يصل الى آذانهم ، بل أنه يتحتم علينا أن نمضى الى ما هو أبعد من ذلك ونتأكد من أننـا لم نجتمع هنا لمجرد توجيه نداء وانما اجتمعنا لندفع احتمالات السلام عمليـــا الى جو اكبر اطمئنانا وثقة ·

ثانيا ــ انه من المحتم الآن أن تبذل كل الجهود لتمكين الامم المتحدة من اداء رسالتها ·

وبعـد كل التغييرات التى طرأت على العالم منذ انشاء هـــذه المنظمة الدولية فى سنة ١٩٤٥ فانه لا بد لهذه المنظمة أن تلائم ما بين طبيعتها وما بين طبيعة العالم المتحرر · وفى هذا الصدد لا بد أن يمتد التغيير البناء الى الجهاز الادارى للامم المتحدة ذاتها باعتباره أداة تنفيذ ارادتها · كذلك لا بد أن يمتد التغيير الى توزيع القوة فى مراكزها المختلفة ولست أتصور أن تبقى مناطق فى العالم دون تمثيل فى مجلس الامن كما لا أتصور أن يبقى بلد كالصين الشعبية بعيدا عن نطاق الامم المتحدة فى حين أن ربع سكان الارض يعيشون داخـــل حدوده · ولابد للامم المتحدة بعد ذلك من أن تمارس دورها الذى كانت تحكم به الشعوب التى اقامتها وأن تكون مجالا للعمل من أجل السلام ومن أجـــل التقـــدم ·

ثالثا ــ أنه من المحتم الآن اتاحة أكبر فرصة للتقدم أمام الشعوب التى لم تستكمل نموها الاقتصادى والاجتماعى ٠

وينبغى لنا أن نذكر أنه لا يمكن أن يكون هناك استقرار فى عالم تتفاوت فيه مستويات الحياة بين الشعوب على هذا النحو الفاضح الذى نراه الآن ان العالم الذى نعيش فيه عالم واحد ومصيره فى السلام أو الحرب مصير واحد ، ولقد شاركنا جميعا فى صنع حضارات الانسان وانتقلت عناصر النور من قارة الى قارة الى مدى التاريخ ومن هنا فان لكل منا نصيبا فيما انتهت اليه الحضارة الانسانية كلها من التقدم كذلك ساهمنا جميعا فى صنع الرخاء لدى الذين تتاح لهم فرصته اليوم ٠ ومع أنى لا أريد أن أثير أحقادا قديمة فان التقدم الصناعى على سبيل المثال فى عدد كبير من بلدان أوروبا كان قائما على الثروات التى جرى نزحها بطريقة منظمة من آسيا وافريقيا وما من جدال أن احتمالات الامم فى التقدم سوف تزداد اذا ما توقف الاندفاع نحو التسلح خصوصا فى المجال الذرى منه واذا اتجهت الطاقات الهائلة فى هذا المجال الى خدمة مشاكل التطوير كذلك ما من جدال الى أن احتمالات هذه الامم تزداد اذا ما تحقق أن الجهود الرائعة فى أجواء الفضاء الآن سوف تصرف لخدمة السلام لتساعد بكل امكاناتها على توفير الرخاء ٠

وعلينا أن تبقى حركتنا من أجل السلام طليقة قادرة ، وعلينا أن نبقيها على أوسع الجبهات وفيما عدا الاتصال المستمر بيننا فان علينا أن نشجع دائما وأن نمنح تأييدنا القلبى لكل المحاولات الجماعية البناءة الرامية الى تدعيم السلام عن طريق حماية الحرية ودفع التطور ٠

خامسا ـ انه من المحتم علينا أن تكون جهودنا مباشرة ومركزة فيما يتعلق بكل الاهداف التى نستطيع فيها بقوانا الذاتية أن نتحرر ٠ وفى هذا المجال فانى أعنى بالذات تصفية الاستعمار باعتباره أصلا من أصول الشر وسببا من أسباب التوتر والقلق المخيف فى عصرنا ٠

واننا نستطيع بتوحيد جهودنا وتنظيمها أن نوجه الى هذا الخطر ضربات ساحقة تساعد الشعوب التى ما زالت تعانى من قبضته عليها ، أن تخلص نفسها وأن تخلص الانسانية كلها منه ومن آثاره ٠

وفى هذا الصدد فانه يخيل الى اننا نستطيع أن نقوم بما هو أكثر من المجهود الأدبى ، وكذلك الحال فيما يتعلق بالتفرقة العنصرية التى نملك أن نواجهها بما هو أكثر من الاحتجاج ٠

سادسا ـ انه من المحتم علينا فى حركتنا نحو أهدافنا أن نحرك معنا كل

القوى المستعدة للخير فى العالم وأن نذكر دائما أن الهدف الذى نسعى اليه يجمعنا مع كل ذوى النوايا الطيبة فى العالم على سعته .

لقد حاولت جهدى أن أبتعد عن أية اقتراحات محددة للمشاكل الكبرى التى تهدد أمن العالم اليوم وفى مقدمتها المشكلة الالمانية وعقدها المادية والنفسية والمشاكل السياسية والعسكرية والاجتماعية ، فليس فى مثل هذا الخطاب مجالها وانما يجىء دورها فيما يلى ذلك من أعمال هذا المؤتمر·

ان الذى حاولته هو أن أفتح قلبى أمامكم ، ونحن عى أبواب خطوة هامة فى مجال العمل الدولى ·

وكل الذى اتمناه أن ينتهى اجتماعنا هنا وشعوبنا تشعر ، وتشاركها فى هذا الشعور غيرها من الشعوب ، أن خطوتنا هنا كانت خطوة فى الطريق الصحيح ، خطوة صادقة أمينة نزيهة متجردة · تطلب السلام ، مؤمنة أن العدل لا بد أن يكون له أساسا وسندا ·

Statement by H.E President Tito, President of Yugoslavia before the First NAM Summit

Esteemed Heads and Representatives of States and Governments,

I am gratified to be able to extend to you, on behalf of the Government and peoples of Yugoslavia, our warmest greetings and wish you a pleasant stay in our country. Our peoples consider it a great honour to have such a distinguished gathering take place in Yugoslavia, particularly the citizens of Beograd, which has, throughout its long history, seen many wars of conquest, invasions and invaders and which has now, for the first time, the opportunity to welcome, in its midst, the highest representatives of twenty-seven countries — champions of peace.

I particularly wish to express to all of you our sincere gratitude for your personal efforts and your contribution which have made it possible to have this gathering organised and convened in such a brief period of time. Considering the tremendous responsibilities that every one of you, as a statesman, has in his own country, your presence here demonstrates most explicitly your concern and the concern of your peoples for the fate of mankind and your wish to exert concerted efforts in the existing grave international situation in order to find a way out of the crisis in which the world finds itself at present.

In a few days it will be exactly one year that a large number of Heads of State and Government of many countries assembled at the fifteenth session of the General Assembly of the United Nations for the purpose of helping to ease, by their participation, the grave international situation and contribute to the maintenance of peace. At the said session the non-aligned countries displayed for the first time their firm determination to exert resolute efforts towards the peaceful and correct solution of international disputes, as well as their resolution not to allow anyone to play with the fate of mankind in an irresponsible manner. No one can deny the fact that this first concerted action of non-aligned countries was successful. In the first place, a tremendous moral success was achieved. However, today, one year later, we must, unfortunately, note that the situation is much worse, as the cold war has assumed proportions liable to lead to the greatest tragedy at any moment. Precisely because of this, it is necessary for the representatives of non-aligned countries to examine on the highest level, in a more detailed manner and in greater numbers, the dangerous international situation and to take, in this connection, co-ordinated action, primarily through the United Nations, in order to find a way out of the present situation and to prevent the outbreak of a new military conflict. The fact that this danger has reached its climax is clearly shown by all the preparations which are now being undertaken. Overt preparations for war are being made, mobilisation is taking place, the manufacture of the most up-to-date weapons is being intensified, hydrogen and atomic weapons tests are again being contemplated, etc. Only recently we have witnessed an open military aggression against an independent state — Tunisia, where the unrestrained French soldatesque has not only shed much of the blood of the innocent civilian population of Bizerta, but is, at the same time, continuously threatening both the integrity and independence of Tunisia.

Never in the entire post-war period has it been so urgently necessary as today that states which are not aligned with any bloc should set forth with the greatest degree of unanimity, clearly and unequivocally, through their highest representatives, their views on problems which are leading the whole world to the brink of the greatest catastrophe in its history. The idea that non-aligned countries should participate, in one way or another, more effectively in international developments, particularly in those which are of direct and vital interest to them, stems from the realisation of the fact that, in our time, the responsibility for the future of mankind cannot be borne only by a few states, irrespective of how large and powerful they may be.

The Bandung Conference and the principles proclaimed there were, after the adoption of the Charter of the United Nations, the first powerful display of this contemporary view of international relations. It was no accident that these principles were proclaimed precisely in Asia, in the presence of the representatives of the peoples of Asia and Africa, the two continents inhabited by the largest number of people on our planet, who had been enslaved, deprived of rights and subject to discrimination through many centuries. The Casablanca Conference also reflected the determination of the peoples of Africa to decide themselves about their own fate and not to tolerate any longer the existence of any form of colonialism on African soil. In the same way as the Bandung Conference, and other similar conferences which followed, did not intend to establish any kind of bloc, the present Conference does not pursue any such aim either. On the contrary, this Conference should adopt a negative attitude towards bloc exclusiveness, which not only constitutes a threat to world peace, but also prevents other countries from participating as equal partners in the solving of outstanding international issues. The fact that discrimination of this kind against these countries is gradually diminishing is, to a large extent, the result of a greater measure of unity of action on the part of the non-aligned countries with regard to various problems which are endangering world peace.

As a result of the experience acquired in the postwar period, when groupings of individual states began to emerge, all the countries outside these groupings have become profoundly convinced that increasing tensions in the world have been, and are still, arising precisely from this division of the world. This conviction is also shared by the broadest masses of people, regardless of whether they are inside or outside the blocs, as they feel that the mechanism of the blocs is acquiring, to an increasing extent, its own pernicious logic. This division has demonstrated that outstanding international problems cannot be solved from a position of strength. Actually, constant efforts are being exerted for the purpose of achieving superiority, in order to attain specific goals from a position of strength, that is to say, to solve outstanding questions in one's own favour. In this precisely lies the greatest danger of an outbreak of armed conflict and of a new catastrophe of the entire world. The recent past has shown clearly that the grouping of states into blocs usually leads to a settling of accounts by the force of arms. The history of recent years has also demonstrated that there need not even be two blocs, but that it is sufficient to have only one bloc for war to break out.
I think that it is well known how, in what order and for what purpose the existing military blocs were established and I do not intend to analyse this matter in greater detail here at the present moment. However, it is obvious that such a course was most unfortunate and has led to the present abnormal and perilous situation in the world. I feel, therefore, that it is high time to have this division removed, at least gradually, and to embark upon a new and fresh road of understanding and cooperation in international relations by means of peaceful negotiations. However, the best way of proceeding would be to settle outstanding issues through the United Nations; and it is precisely for that purpose that the World Organisation was created.

Such a practice in international relations in keeping with our times has already been put into effect by countries non-aligned with any blocs. At this Conference also, attended by such a great number of Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries, new standards governing relations among states should fully prevail. On the agenda are problems of exceptional and major importance, problems that the great powers have failed to solve so far, precisely because they approached them in the old way. In this connection an obsolete and, in the present phase, extremely dangerous conception of prestige is still playing a crucial role. Furthermore, there still prevails, as in the past, the practice that only the biggest, the most advanced and militarily the most powerful countries attempt to make decisions involving the fate of the world, while a large number of small and medium-sized countries, which are not developed for well known reasons but constitute the majority of mankind, have been unable, until recently, to participate as equal partners in the taking of decisions on questions of general interest. These countries were looked upon, and are even today considered, as a kind of reserve and voting machine in international forums, such as the United Nations and others. This gathering of the highest representatives of non-aligned countries illustrates, however, that such outdated practices must be discarded, that non-aligned countries can no longer reconcile themselves with the status of observers and voters and that, in their opinion, they have the right to participate in the solving of problems, particularly of those which endanger the peace and the fate of the world at the present moment. This meeting, has been convened, inter alia, for the purpose of asserting this right. The non-aligned countries do not, of course, pretend to be able to solve alone the problems that the Great Powers have not been able to solve so far; however, they can contribute much both towards this end and towards the easing of dangerous international tensions in general. The adoption at this meeting of clear and inequivocal positions on current problems of vital importance will make it easier for the great powers to approach more realistically the task of reaching agreement on outstanding issues and to pay greater attention to the views of the representatives of countries which are not aligned with blocs and whose strivings are shared by the majority of mankind.
Fears that this meeting might mark the beginning of the formation of a third bloc are groundless. Would it be logical for us, who are fighting against the divisions of the world into blocs, to create a third bloc? Would this contribute towards the relaxation of tension in the world? Of course not. We cannot pursue such aims as they would run counter to the political concept of non-aligned countries. If we examine the actual substance of blocs, their characteristic features, we find that their first and most important feature is their military aspect, the creation of military power. An unrelenting arms race is being pursued in order to gain superiority. The economic arrangements within bloc frameworks have a discriminatory character in regard to other countries. Embargoes are imposed on various products with the aim of exercising pressure upon a given country or several countries. All this and many other characteristic features of blocs are in contradiction with the general interests and views of non-aligned countries and, above, all, with the fact that these countries preclude the use of military force for the solution of any dispute. This will suffice to demonstrate that it is absured to impute to this Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries the intention to set up a third bloc.

The purpose of this meeting is to make the great powers realize that the fate of the world cannot rest in their hands alone. It is to demonstrate to the protagonists of force that the majority of the world decisively rejects the use of force as a means for settling the various important problems we have inherited from the last war. I can state without exaggeration that the countries represented at this Conference, as well as many others which do not belong to any grouping, represent the great majority of world public opinion. They represent the conscience of mankind. Those who are contemplating war adventures must bear this in mind. Such an example was also provided by the Second World War. This war ended disastrously for the mightiest fascist states, which had made tyranny and force the guiding principle of their policy, and war a means for achieving their aims, that is, for imposing their domination upon the entire world — ignoring humane and other moral principles which are asserting themselves with increasing force in the present-day world. The political conceptions and aggressive ventures of the Axis powers aroused the entire peaceloving world, and this was bound to lead to the defeat of the powerful and, at that time, the mightiest military machine. The moral of this story is very instructive and it should be borne in mind by those who are indulging in sabre-rattling and are holding the world in a state of constant tension and fear.

May I now draw your attention to a fallacy which makes its appearance from time to time, in the press and in commentaries in general, regarding the course that the Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries will take: whether or not this course will be pro-western or pro-eastern. There is no ground for such speculations because we have not met here in order to support blocs, but to define clearly and coordinate our positions on the most important problems which are besetting the world today. And then it will become clear where our stands differ and where they coincide with those of one or the other side. On all the most important issues we shall adopt positions which will be not only in the interest of non-aligned countries but will be, generally speaking, in the interest of peace and of the entire mankind. They will, in our submission, contribute to the lessening of dangers to peace and will show to world public opinion that there is a better way towards understanding than the threats of war.

Similarly there is no ground for assuming that this or that country will be attacked here. It would be erroneous if we were to attack certain countries of voicing our resolute disagreement with the methods applied by some great powers towards other countries. Because, if we were to act in this way, we would not bring about a relaxation of tension in the world, but would, on the contrary, add to the tension. There is no doubt that we shall examine such problems as the question of colonialism in a consistent and serious manner; we shall pose this question in a clear form and insist on the final and early eradication of colonialism. The question of disarmament and use of atomic resources for military purposes, the problem of assistance to less developed countries and others should be examined here in the same manner.

I believe that we all agree that the success of the Conference depends precisely on our consensus of views regarding these major questions of paramount importance for the safeguarding of peace. There are also other issues of secondary importance. On some of them it is not easy to reach agreement and they could, if insisted upon, impair the success of the Conference. I am referring in particular to disputes between some of the non-aligned countries. In my view we should for the solution of such questions have recourse to the method of bilateral negotiations, on the basis of peaceful understanding, a method which should be proper to non-aligned countries and which is in harmony with our principles.

This meeting does not necessarily require us to reach unanimity on all questions. But it would be extremely useful to reach unanimity on those problems which are at this moment of vital importance for all mankind — and I am convinced that the world is expecting this from us.

Therefore, in the present extremely tense international situation this Conference is the most competent forum, outside the United Nations, where the representatives of non-aligned countries can state, as simply and as strongly as possible, their views regarding the question as to what the relations among peoples and states should be like and as to how the solution of outstanding issues by peaceful means could and should be brought about without thereby impairing but rather promoting world peace and constructive cooperation among peoples.

Assembled here at this Conference, we are conscious that we are taking upon ourselves a great responsibility before the peace-loving world, which rightly hopes that we shall do everything in our power here in order to remove the danger which is hovering over mankind. The peoples of all the world are expecting to hear a unanimous and resolute call against all that hampers the peaceful creative life of people on earth. People are already tired of the cold war, which is assuming ever sharper forms, and they fear the possible catastrophe which could be caused by a new world war. Therefore, I feel that we shall render a great service to the world, if we indicate clearly and resolutely the road towards a relaxation of world tensions and to the freedom, equality and peaceful cooperation of all nations.

Belgrade Declaration of Non-Aligned Countries 1961

The Conference of Heads of State or Government of the following non-aligned countries:

1. Afghanistan, 2. Algeria, 3. Burma, 4. Cambodia, 5. Ceylon, 6. Congo, 7. Cuba, 8. Cyprus, 9. Ethiopia, 10. Ghana, 11. Guinea, 12. India, 13. Indonesia, 14. Iraq, 15. Lebanon, 16. Mali, 17. Morocco, 18. Nepal, 19. Saudi Arabia, 20. Somalia, 21. Sudan, 22. Tunisia, 23. United Arab Republic, 24. Yemen, 25. Yugoslavia and of the following countries represented by observers:

1. Bolivia, 2. Brazil, 3. Ecuador was held in Belgrade from September 1 to 6, 1961, for the purpose of exchanging views on international problems with a view to contributing more effectively to world peace and security and peaceful co-operation among peoples.

The Heads of State or Government of the aforementioned countries have met at a moment when international events have taken a turn for the worst and when world peace is seriously threatened. Deeply concerned for the future of peace, voicing the aspirations of the vast majority of people of the world, aware that, in our time, no people and no government can or should abandon its responsibilities in regard to the safeguarding of world peace, the participating countries — having examined in detail, in an atmosphere of equality, sincerity and mutual confidence, the current state of international relations and trends prevailing in the present-day world — make the following declaration:

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries noting that there are crises that lead towards a world conflict in the transition from an old order based on domination to a new order based on cooperation between nations, founded on freedom, equality and social justice for the promotion of prosperity; considering that the dynamic processes and forms of social change often result in or represent a conflict between the old established and the new emerging nationalist forces; considering that a lasting peace can be achieved only if this confrontation leads to a world where the domination of colonialism-imperialism and neo-colonialism in all their manifestations is radically eliminated;

And recognizing the fact

That acute emergencies threatening world peace now exist in this period of conflict in Africa, Asia, Europe and Latin America and big power rivalry likely to result in world conflagration cannot be excluded; that to eradicate basically the source of conflict is to eradicate colonialism in all its manifestations and to accept and practice a policy of peaceful co-existence in the world; that guided by these principles the period of transition and conflict can lay a firm foundation of cooperation and brotherhood between nations, state the following:

I

War has never threatened mankind with graver consequences than today. On the other hand, never before has mankind had at its disposal stronger forces for eliminating war as an instrument of policy in international relations.

Imperialism is weakening. Colonial empires and other forms of foreign oppression of peoples in Asia, Africa and Latin America are gradually disappearing from the stage of history. Great successes have been achieved in the struggle of many peoples for national independence and equality. In the same way, the peoples of Latin America are continuing to make an increasingly effective contribution to the improvement of international relations. Great social changes in the world are further promoting such a development. All this not only accelerates the end of the epoch of foreign oppression of peoples, but also makes peaceful cooperation among peoples, based on the principles of independence and equal rights, an essential condition for their freedom and progress.

Tremendous progress has been achieved in the development of science, techniques and in the means of economic development.

Prompted by such developments in the world, the vast majority of people are becoming increasingly conscious of the fact that war between peoples constitutes not only an anachronism but also a crime against humanity. This awareness of peoples is becoming a great moral force, capable of exercising a vital influence on the development of international relations.

Relying on this and on the will of their peoples, the Governments of countries participating in the Conference resolutely reject the view that war, including the "cold war", is inevitable, as this view reflects a sense both of helplessness and hopelessness and is contrary to the progress of the world. They affirm their unwavering faith that the international community is able to organize its life without resorting to means which actually belong to a past epoch of human history.

However, the existing military blocs, which are growing into more and more powerful military, economic and political groupings, which, by the logic and nature of their mutual relations, necessarily provoke periodical aggravations of international relations.

The cold war and the constant and acute danger of its being transformed into actual war have become a part of the situation prevailing in international relations.

For all these reasons, the Heads of State and Representatives of Government of non-aligned countries wish, in this way, to draw the attention of the world community to the existing situation and to the necessity that all peoples should exert efforts to find a sure road towards the stabilization of peace.

II

The present-day world is characterized by the existence of different social systems. The participating countries do not consider that these differences constitute an insurmountable obstacle for the stabilization of peace, provided attempts at domination and interference in the internal development of other peoples and nations are ruled out.

All peoples and nations have to solve the problems of their own political, economic, social and cultural systems in accordance with their own conditions, needs and potentialities.

Furthermore, any attempt at imposing upon peoples one social or political system or another by force and from outside is a direct threat to world peace. The participating countries consider that under such conditions the principles of peaceful coexistence are the only alternative to the "cold war" and to a possible general nuclear catastrophe. Therefore, these principles — which include the right of peoples to self-determination, to independence and to the free determination of the forms and methods of economic, social and cultural development — must be the only basis of all international relations.

Active international cooperation in the fields of material and cultural exchanges among peoples is an essential means for the strengthening of confidence in the possibility of peaceful coexistence among States with different social systems.

The participants in the Conference emphasize, in this connexion, that the policy of coexistence amounts to an active effort towards the elimination of historical injustices and the liquidation of national oppression, guaranteeing, at the same time, to every people their independent development.

Aware that ideological differences are necessarily a part of the growth of the human society, the participating countries consider that peoples and Governments shall refrain from any use of ideologies for the purpose of waging cold war, exercising pressure, or imposing their will.

III

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries participating in the Conference are not making concrete proposals for the solution of all international disputes, and particularly disputes between the two blocs. They wish, above all, to draw attention to those acute problems of our time which must be solved rapidly, so that they should not lead to irreparable consequences.

In this respect, they particularly emphasize the need for a great sense of responsibility and realism when undertaking the solution of various problems resulting from differences in social systems.

The non-aligned countries represented at this Conference do not wish to form a new bloc and cannot be a bloc. They sincerely desire to cooperate with any Government which seeks to contribute to the strengthening of confidence and peace in the world. The non-aligned countries wish to proceed in this manner all the more so as they are aware that peace and stability in the world depend, to a considerable extent, on the mutual relations of the Great Powers; Aware of this, the participants in the Conference consider it a matter of principle that the Great Powers take more determined action for the solving of various problems by means of negotiations, displaying at the same time the necessary constructive approach and readiness for reaching solutions which will be mutually acceptable and useful for world peace.

The participants in the Conference consider that, under present conditions, the existence and the activities of non-aligned countries in the interests of peace are one of the more important factors for safeguarding world peace.

The participants in the Conference consider it essential that the non aligned countries should participate in solving outstanding international issues concerning peace and security in the world as none of them can remain unaffected by or indifferent to these issues.

They consider that the further extension of the non-committed area of the world constitutes the only possible and indispensable alternative to the policy of total division of the world into blocs, and intensification of cold war policies. The non-aligned countries provide encouragement and support to all peoples fighting for their independence and equality. The participants in the Conference are convinced that the emergence of newly-liberated countries will further assist in narrowing of the area of bloc antagonisms and thus encourage all tendencies aimed at strengthening peace and promoting peaceful cooperation among independent and equal nations.

1. The participants in the Conference solemnly reaffirm their support to the "Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples", adopted at the 15th Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations and recommend the immediate unconditional, total and final abolition of colonialism and resolved to make a concerted effort to put an end to all types of new colonialism and imperialist domination in all its forms and manifestations.

2. The participants in the Conference demand that an immediate stop be put to armed action and repressive measures of any kind directed against dependent peoples to enable them to exercise peacefully and freely their right to complete independence and that the integrity of their national territory should be respected. Any aid given by any country to a colonial power in such suppression is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations.

   The participating countries respecting scrupulously the territorial integrity of all states oppose by all means any aims of annexation by other nations.

3. The participating countries consider the struggle of the people of Algeria for freedom, self-determination and independence, and for the integrity of its national territory including the Sahara, to be just and necessary and are therefore, determined to extend to the people of Algeria all the possible support and aid. The Heads of State or Government are particularly gratified that Algeria is represented at this Conference by its rightful representative, the Prime Minister of the Provisional Government of Algeria.

4. The participating countries drew attention with great concern to the developments in Angola and to the intolerable measures of repression taken by the Portuguese colonial authorities against the people of Angola and demand that an immediate end should be put to any further shedding of blood of the Angolan people, and the people of Angola should be assisted by all peace-loving countries, particularly members states of the United Nations, to establish their free and independent state without delay.

5. The participants in the Conference demand the immediate termination of all colonial occupation and the restoration of the territorial integrity to the rightful people in countries in which it has been violated in Asia, Africa and Latin America as well as the withdrawal of foreign forces from their national soil.

6. The participating countries demand the immediate evacuation of French armed forces from the whole of the Tunisian territory in accordance with the legitimate right of Tunisia to the exercise of its full national sovereignty.

7. The participating countries demand that the tragic events in the Congo must not be repeated and they feel that it is the duty of the world community to continue to do everything in its power in order to erase the consequences and to prevent any further foreign intervention in this young African state, and to enable the Congo to embark freely upon the road of its independent development based on respect for its sovereignty, unity and its territorial integrity.

8. The participants in the Conference resolutely condemn the policy of apartheid practised by the Union of South Africa and demand the immediate abandonment of this policy. They further state that the policy of racial discrimination anywhere in the world constitutes a grave violation of the Charter of the United Nations and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

9. The participating countries declare solemnly the absolute respect of the rights of ethnic or religious minorities to be protected in particular against crimes of genocide or any other violation of their fundamental human rights.

10. The participants in the Conference condemn the imperialist policies pursued in the Middle East, and declare their support for the full restoration of all the rights of the Arab people of Palestine in conformity with the Charter and resolutions of the United Nations.

11. The participating countries consider the establishment and maintenance of foreign military bases in the territories of other countries, particularly against their express will, a gross violation of the sovereignty of such States. They declare their full support to countries who are endeavouring to secure the vacation of these bases. They call upon those countries maintaining foreign bases to consider seriously their abolition as a contribution to world peace.

12. They also acknowledge that the North American military base at Guantanamo, Cuba, to the permanence of which the Government and people of Cuba have expressed their opposition, affects the sovereignty and territorial integrity of that country.

13. The participants in the Conference reaffirm their conviction that:

(a) All nations have the right of unity, self-determination, and independence by virtue of which right they can determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social and cultural development without intimidation or hindrance.

(b) All peoples may, for their own ends, freely dispose of their natural wealth and resources without prejudice to any obligations arising out of international economic co-operation, based upon the principle of mutual benefit, and international law. In no case may a people be deprived of its own means of subsistence.

The participating countries believe that the right of Cuba as that of any other nation to freely choose their political and social systems in accordance with their own conditions, needs and possibilities should be respected

14. The participating countries express their determination that no intimidation, interference or intervention should be brought to bear in the exercise of the right of self-determination of peoples, including their right to pursue constructive and independent policies for the attainment and preservation of their sovereignty

15. The participants in the Conference consider that disarmament is an imperative need and the most urgent task of mankind. A radical solution of this problem, which has become an urgent necessity in the present state of armaments, in the unanimous view of participating countries, can be achieved only by means of a general, complete and strictly and internationally controlled disarmament

16. The Heads of State or Government point out that general and complete disarmament should include the elimination of armed forces, armaments, foreign bases, manufacture of arms as well as elimination of institutions and instalations for military training, except for purposes of internal security; and the total prohibition of the production, possession and utilization of nuclear and thermo-nuclear arms, bacteriological and chemical weapons as well as the elimination of equipment and installations for the delivery and placement and operational use of weapons of mass destruction on national territories.

17. The participating countries call upon all States in general, and States exploring outer space at present in particular, to undertake to use outer space exclusively for peaceful purposes. They expressed the hope that the international community will, through collective action, establish an international agency with a view to promote and coordinate the human actions in the field of international cooperation in the peaceful uses of outer space.

18. The participants in the Conference urge the Great Powers to sign without further delay a treaty for general and complete disarmament in order to save mankind from the scourge of war and to release energy and resources now being spent on armaments to be used for the peaceful economic and social development of all mankind. The participating countries also consider that:

(a) The non-aligned Nations should be represented at all future world conferences on disarmament;

(b) All discussions on disarmament should be held under the auspices of the United Nations;

(c) General and complete disarmament should be guaranteed by an effective system of inspection and control, the teams of which should include members of non-aligned Nations.

19. The participants in the Conference consider it essential that an agreement on the prohibition of all nuclear and thermo-nuclear tests should be urgently concluded. With this aim in view, it is necessary that negotiations be immediately resumed, separately or as part of the negotiations on general disarmament. Meanwhile, the moratorium on the testing of all nuclear weapons should be resumed and observed by all countries.

20. The participants in the Conference recommend that the General Assembly of the United Nations should, at its forthcoming session, adopt a decision on the convening either of a special session of the General Assembly of the United Nations devoted to discussion of disarmament or on the convening of a world disarmament conference under the auspices of the United Nations with a view to setting in motion the process of general disarmament.

21. The participants in the Conference consider that efforts should be made to remove economic inbalance inherited from colonialism and imperialism. They consider it necessary to close, through accelerated economic, industrial and agricultural development, the ever-widening gap in the standards of living between the few economically advanced countries and the many economically less-developed countries. The participants in the Conference recommend the immediate establishment and operation of a United Nations Capital Development Fund. They further agree to demand a just terms of trade for the economically less-developed countries and, in particular, constructive efforts to eliminate the excessive fluctuations in primary commodity trade and the restrictive measures and practices which adversely affect the trade and revenues of the newly-developing countries. In general to demand that the fruits of the scientific and technological revolution be applied in all fields of economic development to hasten the achievement of international social justice.

22. The participating countries invite all the countries in the course of development to co-operate effectively in the economic and commercial fields so as to face the policies of pressure in the economic sphere, as well as the harmful results which may be created by the economic blocs of the industrial countries. They invite all the countries concerned to consider to convene, as soon as possible an international conference to discuss their common problems and to reach an agreement on the ways and means of repelling all damage which may hinder their development; and to discuss and agree upon the most effective measures to ensure the realization of their economic and social development.

23. The countries participating in the Conference declare that the recipient countries must be free to determine the use of the economic and technical assistance which they receive, and to draw up their own plans and assign priorities in accordance with their needs.

24. The participating countries consider it essential that the General Assembly of the United Nations should, through the revision of the Charter, find a solution to the question of expanding the membership of the Security Council and of the Economic and Social Council in order to bring the composition and work of these two most important organs of the General Assembly into harmony with the needs of the Organisation and with the expanded membership of the United Nations.

25. The unity of the world Organisation and the assuring of the efficiency of its work make it absolutely necessary to evolve a more appropriate structure for the Secretariat of the United Nations, bearing in mind equitable regional distribution.

26. Those of the countries participating in the Conference who recognize the Government of the People's Republic of China recommend that the General Assembly in its forthcoming Session should accept the representatives of the Government of the People's Republic of China as the only legitimate representatives of that country in the United Nations.

27. The countries participating in the Conference consider that the German problem is not merely a regional problem but liable to exercise a decisive influence on the course of future developments in international relations.
Concerned at the developments which have led to the present acute aggravation of the situation in regard to Germany and Berlin, the participating countries call upon all parties concerned not to resort to or threaten the use of force to solve the German question or the problem of Berlin, in accordance with the appeal made by the Heads of State or Governments on 5 Septembr, 1961.

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries resolve that this Declaration should be forwarded to the United Nations and brought to the attention of all the Member States of the world Organisation. The present Declaration will be also forwarded to all the other States.

خطـــاب

الرئيس جمـــال عبد الناصر

فى مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة

ان شعب الجمهورية العربية المتحدة يسعده أن يتوج بهـذا المؤتمر على مستوى القمة للدول غير المنحازة ، عاما حافلا بالمؤتمرات الدولية العظيمة . شرفت أرضه بأن اتخذتها بيوتا لاجتماعاتها ، ومنحته بالتالى فرصا متتاليـة ليؤكد ايمانه بالعمل الجماعى من أجل السلام القائم على العدل .. مثـــل الانسانية الاعلى وأملها ومطلبها .

فى بداية هذا العام عقد فى القاهرة مؤتمر لرؤساء الدول العربية .

وفى بداية هذا العام عقد فى القاهرة مؤتمر لرؤساء الدول الافريقية .

وقبل شهر واحد عاد رؤساء الدول العربية الى الاجتماع فى الاسكندرية .

يسعد شعبنا ، أيها الاخوة والاصدقاء ، أن يكون هـذا المؤتمر تتويجا لعام حافل بالمؤتمرات فى أرضنا .

وامتدادا فى الوقت نفسه لمؤتمرات عظيمة ، احتضنتها شعوب صديقة ومنحتها أسماء أعز مدنها ، أذكر منها على سبيل المثال باندونج واديس أبابا وبلجراد وغيرها ·

اننى أعرف أن وقتكم عزيز ، كذلك فان المهام التى تنتظركم خلال الأيام القابلة المقبلة ، مهام ضخمة مثقلة بالمسئوليات التاريخية ، لذلك فاننى استأذنكم على الفور فى الحديث عن هذا المؤتمر وعن عملنا المشترك خلاله ، وانى لأعترف أمامكم أن هذه مهمة تحتاج الى الجهد الكبير ، واذا كنت آخذها على نفسى ، فان ما يطمئننى هو أننى لن أحاول أمامكم أن أتعدى مجرد شرح خواطرى ، لكى أضعها أمام فكركم وأمام تجاربكم العميقة ·

وفيما أراه ــ أيها الاخوة والاصدقاء ــ فاننا الآن نواجه موقفا تختلف ظروفه عما واجهناه من قبل فى اجتماعنا فى شهر سبتمبر ١٩٦١ فى مدينة بلجراد الجميلة وفى ضيافة صديقنا العزيز الرئيس جوزيف بروز تيتو ·

والذين كانوا معنا فى بلجراد من الاصدقاء الجالسين هنا الآن يذكرون أن مؤتمرنا الاول للدول غير المنحازة وجد نفسه فى مواجهة قضية تغطى على غيرها من القضايا فى ذلك الوقت وأعنى بها قضية الحرب والسلام ·

واغلب الظن أن كثيرين من الذين كانوا معنا هناك ما زالوا يذكرون ذلك النداء المؤثر الذى وجهه الينا فى ذلك الوقت صديق من أخلص أصدقائنا وهو جواهر لال نهرو ·

فى ذلك الوقت فى بلجراد ، وقف هذا الصديق الذى فقدنا جهوده الان معنا ·· وان بقيت على الدوام صحبته الفكرية ·· يوجه نداءه المؤثر عن قضية الحرية والســـلام ·

وكان نهرو مصيبا فى ذلك الى أبعد حد ، فلقد كانت صورة الموقف الدولى كما تراءت لنا فى بلجراد صورة قاتمة مليئة بنذر الخطر ·

كانت الحرب الباردة فى ذلك الوقت أشد ما تكون عنفا وقسوة ·

وكان انقسام العالم الى كتلتين متصارعتين تواجهنا باحتمال أن تتحول الحرب الباردة ــ ولو بخطأ فى الحساب ــ الى كارثة ذرية محققة .

وكان الاستعمار القـــديم ما زال يحارب بضراوة خصوصا فى افريقيا معارك دامية ·

وضاعف من قلقنا على السلام ، أن التجارب الذرية استؤنفت فى الجو فى نفس يوم وصولنا جميعا الى بلجراد · هكذا كان لقاؤنا وسط نذر الخطر ·

منذ ذلك الوقت ـ أيها الاخوة والاصدقاء ـ حدثت تغييرات هامة ·

لقد خفت حدة الحرب الباردة كثيرا عن ذى قبل ·

وتباعدت الكتل ، ولا أقول انها انفضت ·

وفى نفس الوقت كانت هناك اعلاما للحرية كثيرة ترتفع فى شرق القارة الافريقية وغربها ·

ثم تحققت تلك الخطوة الهامة والحاسمة ، باتفاقية موسكو للحظرالجزئى للتجارب الذرية التى أسعدنا أن نضع توقيعنا عليها وأن نؤيد قلبيا كل ماتلاها من خطوات تسعى الى انهاء التوتر والشكوك المتربصة باحتمالات السلام ·

تغييرات هائلة بغير جدال ، من حقنا أن نسعد بها ، وأن نسعد بعد ذلك بأننا فى بلجراد تمنيناها ووضعنا جهودنا فى خدمتها ، وشاركنا بنصيبنا مع كل الذين تفتحت عيونهم على الحقيقة الكبرى فى عصرنا ·

اما أن نعيش جميعا معا ·· واما أن نموت جميعا معا ·· ولا يقبل السلام فى عالمنا أن يتجزأ ·

نسمع الآن من انحاء كثيرة من يقولون لنا ان سياسة عدم الانحياز قد استنفدت دورها بالتغييرات التى طرأت على الموقف الدولى وخاصة فيما يتعلق بالحرب الباردة وبسياسة الكتل ·

ولا بد أن نسأل أنفسنا من هذا المكان ومن موضع المسئولية التاريخية والانسانية الذى نقف عليه · هل ذلك صحيح ؟ ·

من الضرورى بالنسبة لنا أولا أن نحدد بعض المفاهيم عن سياسة عدم الانحياز لنؤكد بذلك، مرة أخرى ما قاله كل منا من قبل فى مختلف المناسبات :

المفهوم الاول :

ان سياسة عدم الانحياز ليست تجارة فى الصراع بين الكتلتين تستهدف الحصول على اكبر قدر من المزايا من كلاهما بدليل اننا وجهنا اكبر جهودنا لازالة هذا الصراع والتنبيه الى مخاطره والعمل ايجابيا لتلافيه ·

المفهوم الثانى :

ان سياسة عدم الانحياز ليست سلبية تريد ان تنأى بنفسها عن مشاكل عالمها بدليل اننا حاولنا ارتياد جميع مشاكل عصرنا وخرجنا من ذلك بحلول طرحناها فى وجه سياسة الكتل ولقد كان كل ما ألزمنا أنفسنا به هو أن نصدر فى كل موقف نتخذه عن نظرة أمينة لا يقيدها التزام مسبق الا بالمبادىء التى ارتضتها الشعوب فى أغلى وثيقة توصلت اليها بتضحياتها وهى ميثاق الامم المتحدة ·· ميثاق السلام القائم على العدل واذن نخرج من هذين المفهومين بعدة حقائق :

١ ـ ان سياسة عدم الانحياز ليست تجارة حرب باردة ·

٢ ـ ان التغييرات فى أوضاع الكتل الدولية لا تؤثر فى سياسة عدم الانحياز ، وانما يبقى لهذه السياسة تعبيرها عن ضمير الانسانية الملتزم بميثاق الامم المتحدة سواء كانت هناك كتلتان او ثلاث أو أربع ·

٣ ـ ان موقف عدم الانحياز هو فى صورته النهائية تجمع من أجل السلام القائم على العدل ·

اذا وصلنا الى ذلك فانه من الطبيعى أن نسأل أنفسنا « هل يحقق السلام القائم على العدل مطلبنا وهدفنا ؟ » ·

اذا كان ذلك قد حدث ، فان عملنا هنا يكون قد بلغ نهايته السعيدة ، ولا يوجد امامنا الا ان نقصر جهودنا على حماية ما بلغناه هناك فى مقر الامم المتحدة وحدها ·

ولكننا مع الاسف لم نبلغ ذلك ، وان كان اغلى امنياتنا أن نبلغه ·

اغلى امنياتنا أن نصل الى اليوم الذى لا يكون فيه تجمع خارج مقر الامم المتحدة ·· حينئذ تكون الانسانية بقرب مثلها الاعلى ·

وذلك ـ كما قلت أيها الاخوة والاصدقاء ـ لم يتحقق بعد ·· واتساءل أمامكم :

واذن ما الذى تحقق ·· وما الذى تعنيه هذه التغييرات الكبيرة التى سلمنا معا بحدوثها ، بل ورحبنا بحدوثها ، وهنانا الذين عملوا على تحقيقها وهنانا انفسنا بينهم ·

لا بد أن نسلم أننا قطعنا مرحلة من الطريق ·· ولكن أى مرحلة هى على وجه التحديد ؟

ان عملية تقييم صحيحة للمعانى الكامنة وراء التغييرات الجديدة ، من غير جنوح الى المبالغة فى التشاؤم أو الى المبالغة فى التفاؤل ، تظهر امامنا أن أبرز ما حدث هو أن التقدم العلمى الباهر ، وبالذات فى مجال قوة التدمير النووى ووسائل حملها بواسطة الصواريخ البعيدة المدى ، قد فتح عيونا كثيرة على الحقيقة التى كانت شعوب العالم بأسره ، وضمنها شعوبنا ، وآمال السلام كلها تنادى بها ، وضمنها آمالنا ، وهى أنه يستحيل على الانسانية أن تواجه احتمال حرب نووية ·

ان التقدم العلمى الباهر ، والذى قد يكون مروعا فى نفس الوقت اذا افلت من أيدينا زمامه قد وصل ـ ولو بطريق غير مباشر ـ الى حيث أن يسند ويدعم حجة الذين تمسكوا بضرورة الابتعاد عن حافة الهاوية ·

لقد أدرك الجميع انه ليس هناك خيار ثالث أمام البشرية بوضوح .

اما أن تعيش كلها معا فى سلام ، واما أن ينتحر الجنس البشرى كله ، ويقتل نفسه بنفسه ·

ان هذا التقدم العلمى الباهر والمروع فى نفس الوقت ، حقق استحالة الحرب ·

لكن السؤال الذى ينبغى لنا ـ مرة أخرى ـ أن نلح فى طلب اجابة عليه هو هل ان استحالة الحرب ·· تعنى تلقائيا تحقيق السلام ·

اننا جميعا نسلم أن هناك خلافا كبيرا وخطيرا بين المسألتين ·

لقد استحالت الحرب لكن السلام أيضا ما زال بعيدا ·

ولقد كان التشديد على استحالة الحرب من بين ما كنـــا ننادى به من الحجج فى الدعوى الى السلام ·

كان التشديد على استحالة الحرب سندا من أسانيد المنطق الذى عرضنا به قضيتنا أمام الرأى العام العالمى ·

لكن مجرد الوصول الى وضع يكتشف فيه الجميع استحالة الحرب ، لم يكن هدفنا النهائى ··

هدفنا النهائى هو السلام القائم على العدل ·

وهذا ما لم نبلغه بعد ، وبالتالى فان هدفنا ما زال أمامنا ينتظر كـــل ما نستطيع أن نضعه فيه من الجهود ·· بل نحن نقول بأكثر من ذلك ·

نحن نقول أن العالم يستطيع أن يجد نفسه ذات صباح على حافة الحرب النووية مرة أخرى ، اذا استطاعت احدى القوى أن تصل الى ميزة علميـــة وعسكرية تؤثر تأثيرا واضحا فى موازين القوى التى تفرض الهدنة الحالية ·

من هنا نرى أن موقف الهدنة الحالية هو موقف مشجع ·

لكننا نرى فى نفس الوقت أن هذا الموقف يتطلب عملنا ، بل مزيدا من عملنا وعمل غيرنا لكى تتحول الهدنة القلقة الى سلام عالمى ، والا فاجأتنا على غير انتظار نكسة بغير حدود ·

من هنا تصورنا لدور هذا المؤتمر ، ولعمله ·

دوره هو أن يدرس الوسيلة التى يستطيع بها أن يحمل التغييرات الكبيرة التى طرأت على الموقف الدولى ، وفرضت عليه هذه الهدنة القائمة على التوازن الذرى والرعب الذرى معا الى سلام حقيقى ٠

وأما العمـــل فهو أن نرسم من هنا طريقنا الى السلام ، أو على الاقل نساهم بفكرنا وبجهودنا الجماعية فى اكتشاف هذا الطريق الوحيد للخلاص٠

هذا هو التحدى العظيم أمامنا ٠٠

* كيف يمكن أن تتحول هدنة التوازن والرعب ٠٠ الى سلام يبقى ؟٠

* ثم أين هو طريق السلام الحقيقى الذى يبقى ؟٠

ايها الاخوة والاصدقاء ٠٠

اذا جاز لى أن أواصل هذه المحاولة فى استعراض الامر معكم ، فانه من رايى ومن راى وفد الجمهورية العربية ان المعالم التى تلوح لنا على طريق السلام تبدو أمامنا على النحو التالى :

أولا ـ ان الاستعمار بجميع أشكاله وأنواعه ، القديم والحديث ، الظاهر والخفى ، يجب أن يزول ٠

وتحت عنوان الاستعمار ، فاننا نضع فروعا كثيرة :

نضع سياسات القمع المسلح ، كما نرى فى المستعمرات البرتغالية ، وفى الجنوب العربى المحتل ، وفى عدن ، وفى عمان ٠

نضع سياسات الاستيـــلاء على ارض الشعوب وطردها بالقوة وبتاييد الاستعمار كما نرى فى فلسطين ٠

تضع سياسات التمييز والتفرقة العنصرية . كما نرى فى جنوب افريقيا.

ان اكثر الوسائل وأحدثها امعانا فى التخفى والتستر لم تعد قادرة على ان ترغم الشعوب على الرضى بالسيطرة الاجنبية سياسية كانت او عسكرية او اقتصادية أو ثقافية .

ثانيا - ان الفوارق المؤلمة فى مستويات معيشة الشعوب لن يكون من شانها الا وضع العالم على فوهة بركان لا يهدأ ولا يستقر .. ولا ينام .

ان هناك فوارق مروعة بين الدول المتقدمة والدول المتخلفة ، ويضاعف من الاحساس بهذه الفوارق ان شعوب الدول المتخلفة ، ترى - وهى على حق فيما تراه - ان رخاء غيرها قد أخذ منها بوسائل النهب الاستعمارى المروعة .

نحن هنا فى الجمهورية العربية المتحدة ، وكثيرون منكم ، اذا لم نقل معظمكم نواجه هذه المأساة التى تعرضنا لها قرونا طويلة ، نزحت فيها ثرواتنا الوطنية المدخرة ، واستنزفت ببشاعة منظمة .

واذا كنا نرتفع بمشاعرنا وآمالنا عن الحقد ، فاننا نرى أن أبسط مقتضيات العدل تحتم أن يلقى الساعون الى التقدم تعاونا اصيلا من جانب السابقين الى هذا التقدم .

ان مطلب العدل الاجتماعى هو القوة المحركة للحوادث الآن فى كل وطن واحد .

ولا نريد أن ينتهى تقسيم العالم الى كتلة غربية وكتلة شرقية لتقوم تقسيمات أخرى اكبر واخطر .
كتلة من الفقراء ، وكتلة من الاغنياء ، كتلة من المتقدمين وكتلة من المتخلفين.

كتلة فى الشمال من الكرة الارضية من حقها الرخاء ، وكتلة فى الجنوب ليس لها غير الحرمان ، كتلة من البيض وكتلة من الملونين .

لا يستطيع الفقر والغنى أن يعيشا بسلام جنبا الى جنب .. ولا يستطيع التقدم والتخلف أن يعيشا بسلام جنبا الى جنب .. ولا يمكن للرخاء والحرمان أن يعيشا بسلام جنبا الى جنب .

نحن فى عالم واحد ٠٠ ونحن جنس بشرى واحد ، مهما اختلفت الالوان٠

وفى هذا الصدد ، فنحن نعرض النقاط التالية :

١ ـ لقد آن الوقت الذى يتعين فيه أن تراجع عقود الامتيازات القديمة التى تسلم ثروات بلاد كثيرة الى بلاد غيرها بدون ثمن عادل .

٣ ـ لقد آن الاوان لكى يدرك السابقون الى التقدم أن تعاونهم مع الذين يحاولون بلوغه ليست شروط تحكم ولا هى منة واحسان .

ثالثا ـ ان عمليات التعرض ، من جانب القوى الكبرى ، للتطور التاريخى والسياسى والاقتصادى والاجتماعى والثقافى للشعوب المتطلعة الى الحرية ، يجب أن تتوقف .

اننا نشهد ظواهر خطيرة من حولنا تتفاقم بغير علاج ٠

ان الحروب الصغيرة تشتعل فى أكثر من مكان فى آسيا وافريقيـــا وأمريكا اللاتينية ٠
وانقلابات الداخل الموجهة والمدبرة من جانب الاجهزة الخفية للقوى الكبرى تتكرر أمامنا كل يوم ٠

وتجارة الجنود المرتزقة الاجانب ، تمارس الآن بغير شرف وبغير خجل، وفى ظروف يمكن أن تنتج عنها أوخم العواقب ٠

ومحاولات التأثير النفسية على الشعوب ، تملأ أجواء قارات العـــالم بشكل سافر وعلنى ، ينثر بذور القلاقل فوق كل أرض ·

ان الامم المتحدة لا بد أن تتسع لآمال جميع الشعوب الطامحة الى الحرية والتقـــدم ·

ولا بد أن تتسع الامم المتحدة لوجود جميع الشعوب ، فلا يحال دون شعب كشعب الصين — يصل تعداده الى ثلث تعـــداد العالم — ومكانه الشرعى فى الامم المتحدة ·

ولا بد أن تتسع الامم المتحدة للعدل مع السلام ، فان السلام بغير عدل لا يعيش وتوهم امكان تجاهل العدل اكتفاء بالامر الواقع ، حتى وان قام على الظلم ، هو وهم خطير لا يزلزل معنى العدل وحده ، وانما يزلزل بعده معنى الســـلام ·

واذا كنت أقول ذلك مشيرا به مرة أخرى الى قضيـــة شعب فلسطين ، فانى لا أقحم عليكم بذلك مشكلة تتعلق بمنطقتنا وحدها من العالم ، وانمـــا أتحدث عن مشكلة تهم العالم كله اذا كانت تهمه مشكلة السلام فى كل بقعـة منـــه ·

خامسا — ان نزع السلاح كاملا ونهائيا ، يمكن بعد ذلك كله أن يتحقق وراء خطوات مكنت له ومهدت لأرضه .

ولقد كان من ابرز ما تحقق كنتيجة لمؤتمر بلجراد ، أن الدول غير المنحازة دخلت طرفا فى محادثات نزع السلاح ، وزادت نفسها معرفة بابعاد المشكلة ، ومن ثم زادت قدرة على المساهمة فى الوصول الى حل لها .

ان نزع السلاح كان حلما طالما راود آمال البشرية التى اكتوت بمحن الحروب وويلاتها ٠

لكن تطور السلاح الآن لا يجعل منه مجرد حروب أو ويلات ، وانما يجعله بابا للدمار والخراب على صورة لم تخطر من قبل على عقل بشر ، وفوق ذلك فان الاستثمارات الخيالية التى يستلزمها التسليح الحديث تستطيع أن تكون أكبر قوة دافعة لخطط التنمية ٠

لقد كان مؤتمر باندونج العظيم هو وقفة شعوب حرة كثيرة ضد شرور الاستعمار ٠

وكان مؤتمر بلجراد العظيم هو وقفة شعوب حرة كثيرة ضد أخطار الحرب ٠

واذا جاز لنا فى تلخيص أخير ان نحدد بعض الافكار التى يجب أن تكون لها الاولوية فى هذا الاعلان فاننا نقترح التاكيد على المبادىء الآتية :

٢ ـ ان تحقيق الشروط والاحوال اللازمة للسلام هو أمر يهم جميع الدول ويعززه اشتراكها جميعا فى المسئولية ٠

٣ ـ ان السعى الى تلافى استخدام القوة فى العلاقات الدولية لا يتحقق بمجرد الالتزام بايجاد حل لكل مشكلة من المشاكل على حدة وبمعزل عن غيرها ، وانما يتحقق بوجود مفهـوم حقيقى للاســلام يقوم بنيانه على العدل ٠

ان العدل وحده يصنع السلام الدائم ، وأما القوة فلقد تستطيع أن تفرض نفسها لبعض الوقت على موقف معين لكنها حتى فى الامر الواقع الذى تقيمه أبعد ما تكون عن معنى السلام واستمراره ٠

« اذا تعارضت الالتزامات التى يرتبط بها أعضاء الامم المتحدة وفقـا لاحكام هذا الميثاق مع أى التزام دولى آخر يرتبطون به فالعبرة بالتزاماتهم المترتبة على هذا الميثاق ٠

٥ ـ ان التعاون بين الدول والتفاهم بين الشعوب لا يمكن أن يتحققـا بصورة فعالة واكيدة الا اذا تلاشت الفوارق فى مستويات الحياة للشعوب المختلفة ، والا اذا تأكدت لها جميعا حقوقها المتساوية ٠

واذا كنا ندرك أن العمل من أجل التقدم هو أولا وأخيرا مسئولية الذين يطلبونه وعملهم الدائم لبلوغه فان من حقهم ألا توضع العراقيل فى طريقهـم بوسائل الضغط أو بوسائل المناورة ، ولا بد أن يدرك الجميع من ناحية أخرى ان السلام فى جوهره هو شركة فى الرخاء على اتسـاع العالم كله .

لقد وجدت من المناسب أن أعرض أمامكم بشكل عام صورة من فكرنا ، ونحن على وشك أن نبدأ هذا المؤتمر العظيم ، ونحدد له أهداف عمله ٠

Cairo Declaration: Programme for Peace and International Cooperation

CONFERENCE OF HEADS OF STATE OR GOVERNMENT OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

Cairo — October 1964

NAC-II/HEADS/5
10 October 1964
ORIGINAL: FRENCH/ENGLISH

PROGRAMME FOR PEACE AND INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION

Declaration as Adopted by the Conference

INTRODUCTION

The Second Conference of Heads of State or Government of the following non-aligned countries:

Afghanistan, Algeria, Angola, Burma, Burundi, Cambodia, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Ceylon, Chad, Congo (Brazzaville), Cuba, Cyprus, Dahomey, Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Islamic Republic of Mauritania, Jordan, Kenya, Kuwait, Laos, Lebanon, Liberia, Libya, Malawi, Mali, Morocco, Nepal, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, United Arab Republic, United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar, Yemen, Yugoslavia and Zambia was held in Cairo from 5 October to 10 October 1964.

The Following countries:

Argentine, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Finland, Jamaica, Mexico, Trinidad and Tobago, Uruguay and Venezuela were represented by observers.

The Secretary-General of the Organization of African Unity and the Secretary-General of the League of Arab States were present as observers.

The Conference undertook an analysis of the international situation with a view to making an effective contribution to the solution of the major problems which are of concern to mankind in view of their effects on peace and security in the world.

To this end, and on the basis of the principles embodied in the Belgrade Declaration of September 1961, the Heads of State or Government of the above-mentioned countries proceeded, in an amicable, frank and fraternal atmosphere, to hold detailed discussions and an exchange of views on the present state of international relations and the predominant trends in the modern world. The Heads of State or Government of the participating countries note with satisfaction that nearly half of the independent countries of the world have participated in this Second non-aligned conference.

The Conference also notes with satisfaction the growing interest and confidence displayed by peoples still under foreign domination, and by those whose rights and sovereignty are being violated by imperialism and neo-colonialism, in the highly positive rôle which the non-aligned countries are called upon to play in the settlement of international problems or disputes.

The Conference expresses satisfaction at the favourable reactions throughout the world to this second meeting of non-aligned countries. This emphasises the rightness, efficacy and vigour of the policy of non-alignment, and its constructive rôle in the maintenance and consolidation of international peace and security.

The principles of non-alignment, thanks to the confidence they inspire in the world, are becoming an increasingly dynamic and powerful force for the promotion of peace and the welfare of mankind.

The participating Heads of State or Government note with satisfaction that, thanks to the combined efforts of the forces of freedom peace and progress, this second Non-Aligned Conference is being held at a time when the international situation has improved as compared with that which existed between the two power blocs at the time of the historic Belgrade Conference. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries are well aware, however, that, despite the present improvement in international relations, and notwithstanding the conclusion and signature of the Treaty of Moscow, sources of tension still exist in many parts of the world.

This situation shows that the forces of imperialism are still powerful and that they do not hesitate to resort to the use of force to defend their interests and maintain their privileges.

This policy, if not firmly resisted by the forces of freedom and peace, is likely to jeopardise the improvement in the international situation and the lessening of tension which has occurred, and to constitute a threat to world peace.

The policy of active peaceful co-existence is an indivisible whole. It cannot be applied partially, in accordance with special interests and criteria.

Important changes have also taken place within the Eastern and Western blocs, and this new phenomenon should be taken into account in the objective assessment of the current international situation.

The Conference notes with satisfaction that the movements of national liberation are engaged in different regions of the world, in a heroic struggle against neo-colonialism, and the practices of apartheid and racial discrimination. This struggle forms part of the common striving towards freedom, justice and peace.

The Conference reaffirms that interference by economically developed foreign States in the internal affairs of newly independent, developing countries and the existence of territories which are still dependent constitute a standing threat to peace and security.

The Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries, while appreciative of the efforts which resulted in the holding of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, and mindful of the results of that Conference, nevertheless note that much ground still remains to be covered to eliminate existing inequalities in the relationships between industrialized and developing countries.

The Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries, while declaring their determination to contribute towards the establishment of just and lasting peace in the world, affirm that the preservation of peace and the promotion of the well-being of peoples are a collective responsibility deriving from the natural aspirations of mankind to live in a better world.

The Heads of State or Government have arrived in their deliberations at a common understanding of the various problems with which the world is now faced, and a common approach to them. Reaffirming the basic principles of the Declaration of Belgrade, they express their agreement upon the following points:

CONCERTED ACTION FOR THE LIBERATION OF THE COUNTRIES STILL DEPENDENT; ELIMINATION OF COLONIALISM, NEO-COLONIALISM AND IMPERIALISM.

The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries declare that lasting world peace cannot be realised so long as unjust conditions prevail and peoples under foreign domination continue to be deprived of their fundamental right to freedom, independence and self-determination.

Imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism constitute a basic source of international tension and conflict because they endanger world peace and security. The participants in the Conference deplore that the Declaration of the United Nations on the granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples has not been implemented everywhere and call for the unconditional, complete and final abolition of colonialism now.

At present a particular cause of concern is the military or other assistance extended to certain countries to enable them to perpetuate by force colonialist and neo-colonialist situations which are contrary to the spirit of the Charter of the United Nations.

The exploitation by colonialist forces of the difficulties and problems of recently liberated or developing countries, interference in the internal affairs of these States, and colonialist attempts to maintain unequal relationships, particularly in the economic field, constitute serious dangers to these young countries. Colonialism and neo-colonialism have many forms and manifestations.

Imperialism uses many devices to impose its will on independent nations. Economic pressure and domination, interference, racial discrimination, subversion, intervention and the threat of force are neo-colonialist devices against which the newly independent nations have to defend themselves. The Conference condemns all colonialist, neo-colonialist and imperialist policies applied in various parts of the world.

Deeply concerned at the rapidly deteriorating situation in the Congo, the participants:

(1) support all the efforts being made by the Organisation of African Unity to bring peace and harmony speedily to that country;

(2) urge the Ad Hoc Commission of the Organisation of African Unity to shirk no effort in the attempt to achieve national reconciliation in the Congo, and to eliminate the existing tension between that country and the Republic of Congo (Brazzaville) and the Kingdom of Burundi;

(3) appeal to the Congolese Government and to all combatants to cease hostilities immediately and to seek, with the help of the Organisation of African Unity, a solution permitting of national reconciliation and the restoration of order and peace.

(4) urgently appeal to all foreign powers at present interfering in the internal affairs of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, particularly those engaged in military intervention in that country, to cease such interference, which infringes the interests and sovereignty of the Congolese people and constitutes a threat to neighbouring countries;

(5) affirm their full support for the efforts being made to this end by the Organisation of African Unity's Ad Hoc Commission of good offices in the Congo;

(6) call upon the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo to discontinue the recruitment of mercenaries immediately and to expel all mercenaries, of whatever origin who are already in the Congo, in order to facilitate an African solution.

The newly independent countries have, like all other countries, the right of sovereign disposal in regard to their natural resources, and the right to utilise these resources as they deem appropriate in the interest of their peoples, without outside interference.

The process of liberation is irresistable and irreversible. Colonized peoples may legitimately resort to arms to secure the full exercise of their right to self-determination and independence if the colonial powers persist in opposing their natural aspirations.

The participants in the Conference undertake to work unremittingly to eradicate all vestiges of colonialism, and to combine all their efforts to render all necessary aid and support, whether moral, political or material, to the peoples struggling against colonialism and neo-colonialism. The participating countries recognize the nationalist movements of the peoples which are struggling to free themselves from colonial domination as being authentic representatives of the colonial peoples, and urgently call upon the colonial powers to negotiate with their leaders.

Portugal continues to hold in bondage by repression, persecution and force, in Angola, Mozambique, so-called Portuguese Guinea and the other Portuguese colonies in Africa and Asia, millions of people who have been suffering far too long under the foreign yoke. The Conference declares its determination to ensure that the peoples of these territories accede immediately to independence without any conditions or reservations.

The Conference condemns the government of Portugal for its obstinate refusal to recognize the inalienable right of the peoples of those territories to self-determination and independence in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and the Declaration on the granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples.

The Conference:

1) urges the participating countries to afford all necessary material support - financial and military - to the Freedom Fighters in the territories under Portuguese colonial rule;

2) takes the view that support should be given to the Revolutionary Government of Angola in exile and to the nationalist movements struggling for the independence of the Portuguese colonies and assistance to the Special Bureau set up by the OAU in regard to the application of sanctions against Portugal;

3) calls upon all participating States to break off diplomatic and consular relations with the government of Portugal and to take effective measures to suspend all trade and economic relations with Portugal;

4) calls upon the participating countries to take all measures to compel Portugal to carry out the decisions of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

5) Addresses an urgent appeal to the Powers which are extending military aid and assistance to Portugal to withdraw such aid and assistance.

The countries participating in the Conference condemn the policy of the racist minority regime in Southern Rhodesia, which continues to defy the Charter and the Resolutions of the United Nations in that it denies fundamental freedoms to the people by acts of repression and terror.

The participating countries urge all States not to recognize the independence of Southern Rhodesia if proclaimed under the rule of the racist minority, and instead to give favourable consideration to according recognition to an African nationalist government in exile, should such a government be set up. To this effect, the Conference states its opposition to the sham consultation through tribal chiefs envisaged by the present Minority Government of Southern Rhodesia.

The Conference deplores the British Government's failure to implement the various resolutions of the United Nations relating to Southern Rhodesia and calls upon the United Kingdom to convene immediately a Constitutional Conference, to which all political groups in Southern Rhodesia would be invited, for the purpose of preparing a new constitution based on the "one man, one vote" principle, instituting universal suffrage, and ensuring majority rule.

The Conference urges the Government of the United Kingdom to call for the immediate release of all political prisoners and detainees in Southern Rhodesia.

The Conference reaffirms the inalienable right of the people of South West Africa to self-determination and independence and condemns the Government of South Africa for its persistent refusal to co-operate with the United Nations in the implementation of the pertinent resolutions of the General Assembly.

It urges all States to refrain from supplying in any manner or form any arms or military equipment or petroleum products to South Africa, and to implement the Resolutions of the United Nations.

The Conference recommends that the United Nations should guarantee the territorial integrity of Swaziland, Basutoland and bechuanaland and should take measures for their speedy accession to independence and for the subsequent safeguarding of their sovereignty.

The participants in the Conference call upon the French Government to take the necessary steps to enable French Somaliland to become free and independent in accordance with paragraph 5 of Resolution 1514 (XV) of the United Nations.

The Conference appeals to all participating countries to lend support and assistance to the Liberation Committee of the Organization of African Unity.

The Conference condemns the imperialistic policy pursued in the Middle East and, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations, decides to:

(1) endorse the full restoration of all the rights of the Arab people of Palestine to their homeland, and their inalienable right to self-determination;
(2) declare their full support to the Arab people of Palestine in their struggle for liberation from colonialism and racism.

The Conference condemns the continued refusal of the United Kingdom Government to implement the United Nations Resolutions on Aden and the Protectorates, providing for the free exercise by the peoples of the territory of their right to self-determination and calling for the liquidation of the British military base in Aden and the withdrawal of British troops from the territory.

The Conference fully supports the struggle of the people of Aden and the Protectorates and urges the immediate implementation of the Resolutions of the United Nations which are based on the expressed wishes of the people of the territory.

The countries participating in the Conference condemn the continued armed action waged by British colonialism against the people of Oman who are fighting to attain their freedom.

The Conference recommends that all necessary political, moral and material assistance be rendered to the liberation movements of these territories in their struggle against colonial rule.

The Conference condemns the manifestations of colonialism and neo-colonialism in Latin America and declares itself in favour of the implementation in that region of the right of peoples to self-determination and independence.

Basing itself on this principle, the Conference deplores the delay in granting full independence to British Guiana and requests the United Kingdom to grant independence speedily to that country. It notes with regret that Martinique, Guadaloupe, and other Caribbean Islands are still not self-governing. It draws the attention of the Ad hoc Decolonization Commission of the United Nations to the case of Puerto Rico and calls upon that commission to consider the situation of these territories in the light of Resolution 1514 (XV) of the United Nations.

RESPECT FOR THE RIGHT OF PEOPLES TO SELF-DETERMINATION AND CONDEMNATION OF THE USE OF FORCE AGAINST THE EXERCISE OF THIS RIGHT

The Conference solemnly reaffirms the right of peoples to self-determination and to make their own destiny.

It stresses that this right constitutes one of the essential principles of the United Nations Charter, that if was laid down also in the Charter of the Organisation of African Unity, and that the Conferences of Bandung and Belgrade demanded that it should be respected, and in particular insisted that it should be effectively exercised.

The Conference notes that this right is still violated or its exercise denied in many regions of the world and results in a continued increase of tension and the extension of the areas of war.

The Conference denounces the attitude of those Powers which oppose the exercise of the right of peoples to self-determination.

It condemns the use of force, and all forms of intimidation, interference and intervention which are aimed at preventing the exercise of this right.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AND THE POLICY OF APARTHEID

The Heads of State or Government declare that racial discrimination - and particularly its most odious manifestation, apartheid - constitutes a violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Right and of the principle of the equality of peoples. Accordingly, all governments still persisting in the practice of racial discrimination should be completely ostracized until they have abandoned their unjust and inhuman policies. In particular the governments and peoples represented at this Conference have decided that they will not tolerate much longer the presence of the Republic of South Africa in the comity of Nations. The inhuman racial policies of South Africa constitute a threat to international peace and security. All countries interested in peace must therefore do everything in their power to ensure that liberty and fundamental freedoms are secured to the people of South Africa.

The Heads of State or Government solemnly affirm their absolute respect for the right of ethnic or religious minorities to protection in particular against the crimes of genocide or any other violation of a fundamental human right?

SANCTIONS AGAINST THE REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA

(1) The Conference regrets to note that the Pretoria Government's obstinacy in defying the conscience of mankind has been strengthened by the refusal of its friends and allies, particularly some major powers, to implement United Nations resolutions concerning sanctions against South Africa.

(2) The Conference therefore:

(a) calls upon all States to boycott all South African goods and to refrain from exporting goods, especially arms, ammunition, oil and minerals to South Africa;

(b) calls upon all States which have not yet done so to break off diplomatic, consular and other relations with South Africa;

(c) requests the Governments represented at this conference to deny airport and overflying facilities to aircraft and port facilities to ships proceeding to and from South Africa, and to discontinue all road or railway traffic with that country;

(d) demands the release of all persons imprisoned, interned or subjected to other restrictions on account of their opposition to the policy of apartheid;

(e) invites all countries to give their support to the special bureau set up by the Organisation of African Unity for the application of sanctions against South Africa.

IV.

PEACEFUL CO-EXISTENCE AND THE CODIFICATION OF ITS PRINCIPLES BY THE UNITED NATIONS

Considering the principles proclaimed at Bandung in 1955, Resolution 1514 (XV) adopted by the United Nations in 1960, the Declaration of the Belgrade Conference, the Charter of the Organization of African Unity, and numerous joint declarations by Heads of State or Government on peaceful co-existence;

Reaffirming their deep conviction that, in present circumstances, mankind must regard peaceful co-existence as the only way to strengthen world peace, which must be based on freedom, equality and justice between peoples within a new framework of peaceful and harmonious relations between the States and nations of the world;

Considering the fact that the principle of peaceful co-existence is based on the right of all peoples to be free and to choose their own political, economic and social systems according to their own national identity and their ideals, and is opposed to any form of foreign domination;

Convinced also that peaceful co-existence cannot be fully achieved throughout the world without the abolition of imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism;

Deeply convinced that the absolute prohibition of the threat or use of force, direct or disguised, the renunciation of all forms of coercion in international relations, the abolition of relations of inequality and the promotion of international cooperation with a view to accelerating economic, social and cultural development, are necessary conditions for safeguarding peace and achieving the general advancement of mankind,

The Heads of State or Government solemnly proclaim the following fundamental principles of peaceful co-existence:

1. The right to complete independence, which is an inalienable right, must be recognized immediately and unconditionally as pertaining to all peoples, in conformity with the Charter and resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly; it is incumbent upon all states to respect this right and facilitate its exercise.

2. The right to self-determination, which is an inalienable right, must be recognized as pertaining to all peoples, accordingly, all nations and peoples have the right to determine their political status and freely pursue their economic, social and cultural development without intimidation or hindrance.

3. Peaceful co-existence between States with differing social and political systems is both possible and necessary; it favours the creation of good-neighbourly relations between States with a view to the establishment of lasting peace and general well-being, free from domination and exploitation.

4. The sovereign equality of States must be recongised and respected. It includes the right of all peoples to the free exploitation of their natural resources.

5. States must abstain from all use of threat or force directed against the territorial integrity and political independence of other States; a situation brought about by the threat or use of force shall not be recognised, and in particular the established frontiers of States shall be inviolable. Accordingly, every State must abstain from interfering in the affairs of other States, whether openly, or insidiously, or by means of subversion and the various forms of political, economic and military pressure.

   Frontier disputes shall be settled by peaceful means.

6. All States shall respect the fundamental rights and freedoms of the human person and the equality of all nations and races.

7. All international conflicts must be settled by peaceful means, in a spirit of mutual understanding and on the basis of equality and sovereignty, in such a manner that justice and legitimate rights are not impaired, all States must apply themselves to promoting and strengthening measures designed to diminish international tension and achieve general and complete disarmament.

8. All States must co-operate with a view to accelerating economic development in the world, and particularly in the developing countries. This co-operation, which must be aimed at narrowing the gap, at present widening, between the levels of living in the developing and developed countries respectively, is essential to the maintenance of a lasting peace.

9. States shall meet their internationa obligations in good faith in conformity with the principles and purposes of the United Nations.

The Conference recommends to the General Assembly of the United Nations to adopt, on the occasion of its twentieth anniversary, a declaration on the principles of peaceful co-existence. This declaration will constitute an important step towards the codification of these principles.

RESPECT FOR THE SOVEREIGNTY OF STATES AND THEIR TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY: PROBLEMS OF DIVIDED NATIONS

(1) The Conference of Heads of State or Government proclaims its full adherence to the fundamental principle of international relations, in accordance with which the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all States, great and small, are inviolable and must be respected.

(2) The countries participating in the Conference, having for the most part achieved their national independence after years of struggle, reaffirm their determination to oppose by every means in their power any attempt to compromise their sovereignty or violate their territorial integrity. They pledge themselves to respect frontiers as they existed when the States gained independence; nevertheless, parts of territories taken away by occupying powers or converted into autonomous bases for their own benefit at the time of independence must be given back to the country concerned.

(3) The Conference solemnly reaffirms the right of all peoples to adopt the form of government they consider best suited to their development.

(4) The Conference considers that one of the causes of international tension lies in the problem of divided nations. It expresses its entire sympathy with the peoples of such countries and upholds their desire to achieve unity. It exhorts the countries concerned to seek a just and lasting solution in order to achieve the unification of their territories by peaceful methods without outside interference or pressure. It considers that the resort to threat or force can lead to no satisfactory settlement, cannot do otherwise than jeopardize international security.

Concerned by the situation existing with regard to Cyprus, the Conference calls upon all states in conformity with their obligations under the Charter of the United Nations, and in particular under Article 2, paragraph 4, to respect the sovereignty, unity, independence and territorial integrity of Cyprus and to refrain from any threat or use of force or intervention directed against Cyprus and from any efforts to impose upon Cyprus unjust solutions unacceptable to the people of Cyprus.

Cyrpus, as an equal member of the United Nations, is entitled to and should enjoy unrestricted and unfettered sovereignty and independence, and allowing its people to determine freely, and without any foreign intervention or interference, the political future of the country, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.

The Conference, considering that foreign pressure and intervention to impose changes in the political, economic and social system chosen by a country are contrary to the principles of international law and peaceful co-existence, requests the Government of United States of America to lift the commercial and economic blockade applied against Cuba.

The Conference takes note of the readiness of the Cuban Government to settle its difference with the United States on an equal footing, and invites these two Governments to enter into negotiations to this end and in conformity with the principles of peaceful co-existence and international co-operation.

Taking into account the principles set forth above and with a view to restoring peace and stability in the Indo-China Peninsula, the Conference appeals to the Powers which participated in the Geneva Conference of 1954 and 1962:

(1) to abstain from any action likely to aggravate the situation which is already tense in the Peninsula;

(2) to terminate all foreign interference in the internal affairs of the countries of that region;

(3) to convene urgently a new Geneva Conference on Indo-China with a view to seeking a satisfactory political solution for the peaceful settlement of the problems arising in that part of the world, namely:

a) ensuring the strict application of the 1962 agreements on Laos;

b) recognizing and guaranteeing the neutrality and territorial integrity of Cambodia;

c) ensuring the strict application of the 1954 Geneva Agreement on Vietnam, and finding a political solution to the problem in accordance with the legitimate aspirations of the Vietnamese people to freedom, peace and independence.

VI

SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES WITHOUT THREAT OR USE OF FORCE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PRINCIPLES OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER

(1) As the use of force may take a number of forms, military, political and economic, the participating countries deem it essential to reaffirm the principles that all States shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force against the territorial integrity or political independence of any State, or in any other manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Charter of the United Nations.

(2) They consider that disputes between States should be settled by peaceful means in accordance with the Charter on the bases of sovereign equality and justice.

(3) The participating countries are convinced of the necessity of exerting all international efforts to find solutions to all situations which threaten international peace or impair friendly relations among nations.

(4) The participating countries gave special attention to the problems of frontiers which may threaten international peace or disturb friendly relations among States, and are convinced that in order to settle such problems, all States should resort to negotiation, mediation or arbitration or other peaceful means set forth in the United Nation Charter in conformity with the legitimate rights of all peoples.

(5) The Conference considers that disputes between neighbouring States must be settled peacefully in a spirit of mutual understanding, without foreign intervention or interference.

GENERAL AND COMPLETE DISARMAMENT; PEACEFUL USE OF ATOMIC ENERGY, PROHIBITION OF ALL NUCLEAR WEAPON TESTS, ESTABLISHMENT OF NUCLEAR-FREE ZONES, PREVENTION OF DISSEMINATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS AND ABOLITION OF ALL NUCLEAR WEAPONS.

The Conference emphasises the paramount importance of disarmament as one of the basic problems of the contemporary world, and stresses the necessity of reaching immediate and pratical solutions which would free mankind from the danger of war and from a sense of insecurity.

The Conference notes with concern that the continuing arms race and the tremendous advances that have been made in the production of weapons of mass destruction and their stockpiling threaten the world with armed conflict and annihilation. The Conference urges the great Powers to take new and urgent steps towards achieving general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control.

The Conference, regrets that despite the efforts of the members of the 18-Nation Committee on Disarmament, and in particular those of the non-aligned countries, the results have not been satisfactory. It urges the great Powers, in collaboration with the other members of that Committee, to renew their efforts with determination with a view to the rapid conclusion of an agreement on general and complete disarmament.

The Conference calls upon all States to accede to the Moscow treaty partially banning the testing of nuclear weapons, and to abide by its provisions in the interests of peace and the welfare of humanity.

The Conference urges the extension of the Moscow Treaty so as to include underground tests, and the discontinuance of such tests pending the extension of the agreement.

The Conference urges the speedy conclusion of agreements on various other partial and collateral measures of disarmament proposed by the members of the 18-Nation Committee on Disarmament.

The Conference appeals to the Great Powers to take the lead in giving effect to decisive and immediate measures which would make possible substantial reductions in their military budgets.

The Conference requests the Great Powers to abstain from all policies conducive to the dissemination of nuclear weapons and their by-products among those States which do not at present possess them. It underlines the great danger in the dissemination of nuclear weapons and urges all States, particularly those possessing nuclear weapons, to conclude non-dissemination agreements and to agree on measures providing for the gradual liquidation of the existing stock-piles of nuclear weapons.

As part of these efforts, the Heads of State or Government declare their own readiness not to produce, acquire or test any nuclear weapons, and call on all countries including those who have not subscribed to the Moscow Treaty to enter into a similar undertaking and to take the necessary steps to prevent their territories, ports and airfields from being used by nuclear powers for the deployment or disposition of nuclear weapons. This undertaking should be the subject of a treaty to be concluded in an international Conference convened under the auspices of the United Nations and open to accession by all States. The Conference further calls upon all nuclear Powers to observe the spirit of this declaration.

The Conference welcomes the agreement of the Great Powers not to orbit in outer space nuclear or other weapons of mass destruction and expresses its conviction that it is necessary to conclude an international treaty prohibiting the utilisation of outer space for military purposes. The Conference urges full international co-operation in the peaceful uses of outer space.

The Conference requests those States which have succeeded in exploring outer space, to exchange and disseminate information related to the research they have carried out in this field, so that scientific progress for the peaceful utilization of outer space be of common benefit to all. The Conference is of the view that for this purpose an international conference should be convened at an appropriate time.

The Conference considers that the declaration by African States regarding the denuclearization of Africa, the aspirations of the Latin American countries to denuclearize their continent and the various proposals pertaining to the denuclearization of areas in Europe and Asia are steps in the right direction because they assist in consolidating international peace and security and lessening international tensions.

The Conference recommends the establishment of denuclearized zones covering these and other areas and the oceans of the world, particularly those which have been hitherto free from nuclear weapons, in accordance with the desires expressed by the States and peoples concerned.

The Conference also requests the nuclear Powers to respect these denuclearized zones.

The Conference is convinced that the convening of a world disarmament conference under the auspices of the United Nations to which all countries would be invited, would provide powerful support to the efforts which are being made to set in motion the process of disarmament and for securing the further and steady development of this process.

The Conference therefore urges the participating countries to take, at the forthcoming General Assembly of the United Nations, all the necessary steps for the holding of such a conference and of any other special conference for the conclusion of special agreements on certain measures of disarmament.

The Conference urges all nations to join in the cooperative development of the peaceful use of atomic energy for the benefit of all mankind; and in particular, to study the development of atomic power and other technical aspects in which international cooperation might be most effectively accomplished through the free flow of such scientific information.

VIII

MILITARY PACTS, FOREIGN TROOPS & BASES

The Conference reiterates its conviction that the existence of military blocs, Great Power alliances and pacts arising therefrom has accentuated the cold war and heightened international tensions. The Non-Aligned Countries are therefore opposed to taking part in such pacts and alliances.

The Conference considers the maintenance or future establishment of foreign military bases and the stationing of foreign troops on the territories of other countries, against the expressed will of those countries, as a gross violation of the sovereignty of States, and as a threat to freedom and international peace. It furthermore considers as particularly indefensible the existence or future establishment of bases in dependent territories which could be used for the maintenance of colonialism or for other purposes.

Noting with concern that foreign military bases are in practice a means of bringing pressure on nations and retarding their emancipation and development, based on their own ideological, political, economic and cultural ideas, the Conference declares its full support to the countries which are seeking to secure the evacuation of foreign bases on their territory and calls upon all States maintaining troops and bases in other countries to remove them forthwith.

The Conference considers that the maintenance at Guantanamo (Cuba) of a military base of the United States of America, in defiance of the will of the Government and people of Cuba and in defiance of the provisions embodied in the Declaration of the Belgrade Conference, constitutes a violation of Cuba's sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Noting that the Cuban Government expresses its readiness to settle its dispute over the base of Guantanamo with the United States on an equal footing, the Conference urges the United States Government to negotiate the evacuation of this base with the Cuban Government.

The Conference condemns the expressed intention of imperialist powers to establish bases in the Indian Ocean, as a calculated attempt to intimidate the emerging countries of Africa and Asia and an unwarranted extension of the policy of neo-colonialism and imperialism.

The Conference also recommends the elimination of the foreign bases in Cyprus and the withdrawal of foreign troops from this country, except for those stationed there by virtue of United Nations resolutions.

IX.

THE UNITED NATIONS: ITS ROLE IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS, IMPLEMENTATION OF ITS RESOLUTIONS AND AMENDMENT OF ITS CHARTER

The participating countries declare:

The United Nations Organisation was established to promote international peace and security, to develop international understanding and co-operation, to safeguard human rights and fundamental freedom and to achieve all the pruposes of the Charter. In order to be an effective instrument, the United Nations Organization must be open to all the States of the world. It is particularly necessary that countries still under colonial domination should attain independence without delay and take their rightful place in the community of nations.

It is essential for the effective functioning of the United Nations that all nations should observe its fundamental principles of peaceful co-existence, co-operation, renunciation of the threat or the use of force, freedom and equality without discrimination on grounds of race, sex, lanuage or religion.

Tho influence and effectiveness of the United Nations also depends upon equitable representation of different geographical regions in the various organs of the United Nations and in the service of the United Nations.

The Conference notes with satisfaction that with Resolution 1991 (XVIII), the General Assembly has taken the initial positive step towards transformation of the structure of the United Nations in keeping with its increased membership and the necessity to ensure a broader participation of States in the work of its Organs. It appeals to all Members of the United Nations to ratify as speedily as possible the amendments to the Charter adopted at the XVIIIth Session of the General Assembly.

The Conference recognises the paramount importance of the United Nations and the necessity of enabling it to carry out the functions entrusted to it to preserve international cooperation among States.

To this end, the Non-Aligned Countries should consult one another at the Foreign Minister or Head of Delegation level at each session of the United Nations.

The Conference stresses the need to adapt the Charter to the dynamic changes and evolution of international conditions.

The Conference expresses the hope that the Heads of State or Government of the States Members of the United Nations will attend the regular Session of the General Assembly on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the Organization.

Recalling the recommendation of the Belgrade Conference the Conference asks the General Assembly of the United Nations to restore the rights of the People's Republic of China and to recognize the representatives of its Government as the only legitimate representatives of China in the United Nations.

The Conference recommends to the States Members of the United Nations to respect the resolutions of the United Nations and to render all assistance necessary for the Organization to fulfil its rôle in maintaining international peace and security.

X

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND COOPERATION

The Heads of State or Government participating in this Conference,

CONVINCED that peace must rest on a sound and solid economic foundation, that the persistence of poverty poses a threat to world peace and prosperity, that economic emancipation is an essential element in the struggle for the elimination of political domination, that respect for the right of peoples and nations to control and dispose freely of their national wealth and resources is vital for their economic development;

CONSCIOUS that participating States have a special responsibility to do their utmost to break through the barrier of underdevelopment;

BELIEVING that economic development is an obligation of the whole international community, that it is the duty of all countries to contribute to the rapid evolution of a new and just economic order under which all nations can live without fear or want or despair and rise to their full stature in the Family of Nations, that the structure of world economy and the existing international institutions of international trade and development have failed either to reduce the disparity in the per capita income of the peoples in developing and developed countries or to promote international action to rectify serious and growing imbalances between developed and developing countries;

EMPHASIZING the imperative need to amplify and intensify international co-operation based on equality, and consistent with the needs of accelerated economic development;

NOTING that as a result of the proposals adopted at Belgrade in 1961 and elaborated in Cairo in 1962, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development met in Geneva in 1964;

CONSIDERING that while the Geneva Conference marks the first step in the evolution of a new international economic policy for development and offers a sound basis for progress in the future, the results achieved were neither adequate for, nor commensurate with, the essential requirements of developing countries.

SUPPORT the Joint Declaration of the "Seventy-Seven" developing countries made at the conclusion of that Conference, and PLEDGE the co-operation of the participating States to the strengthening of their solidarity;

URGE upon all States to implement on an urgent basis the recommendations contained in the Final Act of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and in particular to cooperate in bringing into existence as early as possible the new international institutions proposed therein, so that the problems of trade and economic development may be more effectively and speedily resolved;

CONSIDER that democractic procedures, which afford no position of privilege, are as essential in the economic as in the political sphere; that a new international division of labour is needed to hasten the industrialization of developing countries and the modernization of their agriculture, so as to enable them to strengthen their domestic economies and diversify their export trade, that discriminatory measures of any kind taken against developing countries on the grounds of different socio-economic systems are contrary to the spirit of the United Nations Charter and constitute a threat to the free flow of trade and to peace and should be eliminated;

Affirm that the practice of the inhuman policy of apartheid or racial discrimination in any part of the world should be eliminated by every possible means, including economic sanctions;

RECOMMEND that the target of economic growth set for the development Decade by the United Nations should be revised upwards, that the amount of capital transferred to developing countries and the terms and conditions governing the transfer should be extended and improved without political commitments, so as to reinforce the efforts of these countries to build self-reliant economics, that a programme of action should be developed to increase the income in foreign exchange of developing countries and, in particular, to provide access for primary products from developing countries to the markets of industrialized countries, on an equitable basis and for manufactured goods from developing countries on a preferential basis, that the establishment of a Specialized Agency for industrial development should be expedited, that members of regional economic groupings should do their utmost to ensure that economic integration helps to promote the increase of imports from the developing countries either individually or collectively, that the recommendation of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development to convene a conference of plenipotentiaries to adopt an International Convention to ensure the right of landlocked countries to free transit and access to the sea be implemented by the United Nations early next year, and that the principles of economic co-operation adopted by the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development in relation to the transit trade of landlocked countries be given consideration;

CALL upon participating countries to concert measures to bring about closer economic relations among the developing countries on a basis of equality, mutual benefit and mutual assistance, bearing in mind the obligations of all developing countries to accord favourable consideration to the expansion of their reciprocal trade, to unite against all forms of economic exploitation and to strengthen mutual consultation;

CALL upon the members of the "Seventy-Seven" developing countries, who worked closely together at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development of 1964 in Geneva to consult together during the next session of the General Assembly of the United Nations in order to consolidate their efforts and harmonize their policies in time for the next Conference on Trade and Development in 1966.

CONVINCED that progress towards disarmament increase the resources available for economic development; SUPPORT proposals for the diversion of resources now employed on armaments to the development of underdeveloped parts of the world and to the promotion of the prosperity of mankind.

XI

CULTURAL, SCIENTIFIC AND EDUCATIONAL COOPERATION AND CONSOLIDATION OF THE INTERNATIONAL AND REGIONAL ORGANIZATIONS WORKING FOR THIS PURPOSE

The Heads of State or Government participating in the Conference:

CONSIDERING that the political, economic, social and cultural problems of mankind are so interrelated as to demand concerted action;

CONSIDERING that co-operation in the fields of culture, education and science is necessary for the deepening of human understanding, for the consolidation of freedom, justice and peace, and for progress and development;

BEARING IN MIND that political liberation, social emancipation and scientific advancement have effected fundamental changes in the minds and lives of men.

RECOGNISING that culture helps to widen the mind and enrich life: that all human cultures have their special values and can contribute to the general progress; that many cultures were suppressed and cultural relations interrupted under colonial domination; that international understanding and progress require a revival and rehabilitation of these cultures, a free expression of their identify and national character, and a deeper mutual appreciation of their values so as to enrich the common cultural heritage of man;

CONSIDERING that education is a basic need for the advancement of humanity and that science not only adds to the wealth and welfare of nations but also adds new values to civilisation;

APPRECIATING the work of the international and regional organisations in the promotion of educational, scientific and cultural co-operation among nations;

BELIEVING that such cooperation among nations in the educational, scientific and cultural fields should be strengthened and explanded;

RECOMMEND that international co-operation in education should be promoted in order to secure a fair opportunity for education to every person in every part of the world, to extend educational assistance to develop mutual understanding and appreciation of the different cultures and ways of life through the proper teaching of civics, and to promote international understanding through the teaching of the principles of the United Nations at various levels of education;

PROPOSE that a free and more systematic exchange of scientific information be encouraged and intensified and, in particular, call on the advanced countries to share with developing countries their scientific knowledge and technical knowledge so that the advantages of scientific and technological advance can be applied to the promotion of economic development.

URGE all states to adopt in their legislation the principles embodied in the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights.

AGREE that participating countries should adopt measures to strengthen their ties with one another in the fields of education, science and culture.

EXPRESS their determination to help, consolidate and strengthen the international and regional organisations working in this direction.

قرار خاص بشأن تنسيق وتضافر الجهود مع منظمة الوحدة الأفريقية

Special Resolution on Coordinating and Concerting efforts with the Organization of African unity

SPECIAL RESOLUTION

I

The Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries meeting in Cairo from 5 to 10 October 1964;

Considering their common will to work for understanding between peoples and for international cooperation;

Reaffirming their solidarity with the African States fighting for the consolidation of their independence and the total emancipation of their continet, through concerted action and close cooperation;

Noting with satisfaction that in that historic document the Charter of Addis Ababa, adopted on 29 May 1963, and in subsequent decisions, the African States members of the Organisation of African Unity have unreservedly adhered to the positive policy of non-alignment in relation to all great blocs;

Firmly resolved to unite their efforts and actions to fight colonialism, neo-colonialism and imperialism by all appropriate means;

Considering the outstanding work for peace and harmony which the Organisation of African Unity has accomplished, since its recent creation, in the interest of both the African Continent and the international community as a whole;

(1) EXPRESS their conviction that the establishment of the Organisation of African Unity is an important contribution to the strengthening of world peace, the triumph of the policy of non-alignment, and the fundamental values laid down by this policy.

(2) DECIDE to coordinate and concert their efforts with those of the Organisation of African Unity, with a view to safeguarding their joint interests in economic, social and cultural development and in international cooperation.

الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر

في مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة

لوساكا – سبتمبر ١٩٧٠

القاه نيابة عن سيادته السيد محمود رياض وزير الخارجية

سيادة الرئيس

اصحاب الفخامة

ايها الاخوة

لقد كلفنى الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر ان احمل الى اخوانه رؤساء دول عدم الانحياز تحياته وتمنياته لهم بالتوفيق وأن تكلل جهودهم بالنجاح من أجل تحقيق السلام والرخاء لشعوبهم ·

ولقد كان الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر بود ان يشارك بشخصه فى اعمال هذا المؤتمر مثلما كانت مشاركته من قبل فى المؤتمر الاول لعدم الانحياز سنة ١٩٦١ فى بلغراد ، وفى المؤتمر الثانى حين استقبل الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر اخوانه رؤساء دول عدم الانحياز بالقاهرة سنة ١٩٦٤ ·

ان الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر كان حريصا على أن يلتقى بهذه المجموعة الكبيرة من الاصدقاء لا سيما وأن هذا اللقاء يتم على أرض البلد الشقيق زامبيا وفى ضيافة الرئيس العظيم « كينيث كاوندا » ، الا أن الظروف الدقيقة التى تجتازها الجمهورية العربية المتحدة فى هذه المرحلة بسبب العدوان الاسرائيلى ورفض اسرائيل تنفيذ قرار مجلس الامن رقم ٢٤٢ لسنة ١٩٦٧ وتهديداتها المستمرة بمواصلة اعتداءاتها علينا · كل ذلك قد حال بين الرئيس جمال عبد الناصر وبين مغادرته القاهرة للمشاركة فى هذا المؤتمر ·

انه ليسعدنى أن أتقدم لسيادة الرئيس كينيث كاوندا رئيس جمهورية زامبيا الشقيقة بالتحية والتقدير للجهد الكبير الذى اقتضاه الاعداد لاجتماعنا فى عاصمة هذا البلد المناضل .

ان ما لقيناه من حفاوة وتكريم منذ وصولنا الى لوزاكا وما شاهدناه من انجازات باهرة حققها شعب زامبيا الشقيق تحت قيـــادة المناضل العظيم كينيث كاوندا هى شاهد حى على ما يمكن للدول النامية أن تحققه من تقـــدم فى المجالات الاقتصادية والاجتماعية والسياسية ·

أن سعينا معا لتحقيق أهداف عدم الانحياز يستوجب أن نكون دائمـــا واعين للظروف التى تحيط بنا حتى تكون مواقفنا دائما على مستوى الاحداث والتحديات المتجددة التى تعترض طريقنا ·

لقد سعينا من خلال اعمالنا فى مؤتمرى عدم الانحياز الاول والثانى الى تحقيق السلام ورفاهية الشعوب وذلك عن طريق اقرار مبادىء التعايش السلمى والدعوة لها ، والعمل من اجل اقامة تعاون دولى بناء بين جميـــع أعضاء الاسرة الدولية . وقد سعينا لتحقيق هذه الاهداف تحت الظروف التى سادت العلاقات الدولية فى مرحلة تاريخية خيم على العالم أثناءها جوالحرب الباردة ومخاطر المواجهة المسلحة بين الدول الكبرى ولقد أسهمت دول عـــدم الانحياز بجهود كبيرة من اجل تجنيب العالم مخاطر حرب عالمية ثالثة ، كمـــا أثبتت فاعليتها وتأثيرها فى العلاقات الدولية باعلانها عن مواقفها الايجابيـــة وغير المنحازة فى قضايا الحرب والسلام والاستعمار فى شكله القدم والجديد·

ان اسرائيل قد رفضت كل المحاولات التى بذلت من أجل اقرار السلام المبنى على العدل ، ولا زالت تصر على محاولة فرض سياستها التوسعية على الدول العربية وارغامها على الاستسلام لارادتها .

والولايات المتحدة تعلن دائما عن ضرورة احترام سيادة ووحدة أراضى دول منطقة الشرق الاوسط ، وفى نفس الوقت تعمل بما يتناقض مع هذا الاعلان وذلك بتقديمها العون لاسرائيل لمواصلة اعتداءاتها على الدول العربية والاحتفاظ

واننى اود ان أؤكد مرة أخرى ياسيادة الرئيس انه حرصا منا على السلام العالمى فقد قبلنا قرار مجلس الامن ورحبنا بكافة الجهود الدولية الرامية الى تنفيذه واحلال السلام فى منطقة الشرق الاوسط ، وفى الوقت الذى نحرص فيه على تحقيق السلام فاننا نصر على تحرير جميع الاراضى العربية التى احتلتها اسرائيل واسترداد القدس العربية وعودة حقوق الشعب الفلسطينى اليه كاملة غير منقوصة •

كما أود أن اشير الى الموقف النبيل الذى وقفته الدول الافريقية خــلال

اجتماعات منظمة الوحدة الافريقية اذ أعلنت تأييدها لنا ووقوفها بجانبنـــا وطالبت بحزم بضرورة انسحاب القوات المعتدية من اراضينا ، وهذا يمثـل روح القارة العظيمة فى نضالها من أجل التحرر والاستقلال ·

ان الشعوب الافريقية لا زالت تعانى وطأة الاستعمار فى المناطق المختلفة من القارة فى أنجولا وموزمبيق وناميبيا وغينيا بيساو ، ولا زالت شعوب أخرى تتعرض للاضطهاد والقمع على يد حكومات الاقلية العنصرية فىروديسيا وجنوب افريقيا ، وتواجه دول افريقية أخرى مخاطر الفتن والانقسام التىتقف وراءها الدول الاستعمارية ، كما أن الاستعمار لا زال يمارس سياسته المنظمة لاستنزاف ثروات الشعوب الافريقية واستغلال مواردها لصالحه · ان ذلك كله يفرض على دول عدم الانحياز ان تبذل كل عون وتأييد لشعوب افريقيا المناضلة فى سبيل استقلالها وحريتها ، وأن تقدم مساعدتها المادية والمعنوية لحركات التحرر الافريقية التى تناضل فى بسالة فى سبيل تحقيق كرامة الانسان الافريقى على أرضه · كذلك فان على دول عدم الانحياز أن تؤيد القرارات التى أصدرتها منظمة الوحدة الافريقية وآخرها قرارات مؤتمر القمة الافريقى المنعقـــد فى أديس أبابا منذ أيام ، وأن تسعى بكل الوسائل فى علاقاتها الدولية لاضفاء الاحترام الواجب على هذه القرارات ·

والدعم لهذه القضايا أمام ازدياد شراسة قوى الامبريالية والاستعمار المتربصة بحرية الشعوب واستقلالها ومستقبلها ·

وأمام هذه الظروف التى بات فيها واضحا أن مصدر التهديدالاول للسلم والامن قد انتقل من دائرة المواجهة المباشرة بين الكتلتين الى مجال العـــدوان السافر من جانب قوى الامبريالية والاستعمـــار ، فانه يتعين على الدول غير المنحازة أن تواجه الخطر فى صورته الجديدة ، بل وأجد من الحق ـ يا سيادة الرئيس ـ أن أقول هنا أن المخاطر التى تعرضت لها بعض دولنا والضغوط التى تواجهها دول أخرى من مجموعة عدم الانحياز كان سببها الرئيسى تمسك هذه الدول بسياسة عدم الانحياز واصرارها على الالتزام بمبادئها ورفضهـا صراحة الخضوع لقوى الامبريالية والاستعمار الجديد ·

لذلك فان هذا التحدى الاستعمارى الذى نواجهه يقتضى منا جميعـا أن نوحد جهودنا فى سبيل الوصول الى التطبيق الكامل لمبادىء التنظيم الدولى ، واحترام قرارات الامم المتحدة ، الامر الذى يتطلب تنسيقـــا جادا لردع قوى العدوان والشر التى تهدد أمن الشعوب ومستقبلها ·

انه بغير تحقيق السلام والامن لا يمكننا أن نصل الى الهدف الكبير لدول عدم الانحياز وهو تحقيق الرفاهية والتقدم لشعوبنا ·

ودول عدم الانحياز مطالبة اليوم أيضا وأمام صراع القوى الاقتصادية الكبرى فى العالم بأن تنسق جهودها وتتعاون فيما بينها لتحقيق مستويات متزايدة من التنمية الاقتصادية على أسس علمية حديثة مستفيدة من امكانياتهـا البشرية والاقتصادية الوفيرة ومن خبرات الدول النامية التى سبقتها فى هذا المجال .

إعلان لوساكا بشأن السلام، والاستقلال، والتنمية، والتعاون، وإضفاء الطابع الديمقراطي على العلاقات الدولية

They exchanged views on the significance of non-alignment and the role of non-aligned countries in the present-day world with particular reference to safeguarding and strengthening world peace and security; ensuring national independence and full sovereignty of all nations on a basis of equality, the need to realise the right of all peoples to self-determination; the democratisation of international relations; the promotion of rapid economic growth in the developing countries and to considering possibilities for greater consultation and co-operation among the non-aligned countries and to the strengthening of the United Nations.

2. Two and a half decades ago, the peoples of the United Nations inscribed in the Charter their desire to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war; to reaffirm their belief in fundamental human rights, in the dignity of the human person and in the equal rights of nations, large and small, to establish conditions under which justice and respect for obligations arising from treaties and other sources of international law can be maintained and to promote social justice and progress for all. The intervening period has confirmed the historic merit of these ideals and aspirations but, it has likewise demonstrated that many expectations have not been fulfilled and many problems have not been solved, notwithstanding the efforts of the non-aligned countries.

3. The policy of non-alignment has emerged from the determination of independent countries to safeguard their national independence and the legitimate rights of their peoples. The growth of non-alignment into a broad international movement cutting across racial, regional and other barriers, is an integral part of significant changes in the structure of the entire international community. It is the result of the world anti-colonial revolution and of the emergence of a large number of newly liberated countries which, opting for an independent political orientation and development, have refused to accept the replacement of centuries-old forms of subordination by new ones. At the root of these changes lies the ever more clearly expressed aspiration of member-nations for freedom, independence and equality, and their determination to resist all forms of oppression and exploitation. This has been the substance and meaning of our strivings and actions; this is a confirmation of the validity of the Belgrade and Cairo Declarations. At a time when the polarisation of the international community on a bloc basis was believed to be a permanent feature of international relations, and the threat of a nuclear conflict between the big powers an ever-present spectre hovering over mankind, the non-aligned countries opened up new prospects for the contemporary world and paved the way for relaxation of international tension.

4. Our era is at the crossroads of history; with each passing day we are presented with fresh evidence of the exceptional power of the human mind and also of the dangerous paths down which its imperfections may lead us. The epoch-making scientific and technological revolution has opened up unlimited vistas of progress but at the same time, prosperity has not come to everybody, and as a result, a major section of mankind still lives under conditions unworthy of man. Scientific discoveries and their application to technology have the possibility of welding the world into an integral whole, reducing the distance between countries and continents to a measure making international co-operation increasingly indispensable and ever more possible. Yet the states and nations comprising the present international community are still separated by political, economic and racial barriers. These barriers divide countries into developed and the developing, oppressors and the oppressed, the aggressors and the victims of aggression, into those who act from positions of strength, either military or economic, and those who are forced to live in the shadow of permanent danger of covert and overt assaults on their independence and security. In spite of the great achievements and aspirations of our generation, neither peace, nor prosperity, nor the right to independence and equality, have yet become the integral and indivisible attributes of all mankind. Our age, however, raises the greatest hopes and also presents the greatest challenges.

5. The immediate danger of a conflict between the super powers has lessened because their tendency to negotiate for the improvement of their mutual relations is strengthening. However, it has not yet contributed to the security of the small, medium-sized and developing countries, or prevented the danger of local wars.

6. The practice of interfering in the internal affairs of other states, and the recourse to political and economic pressure, threats of force and subversion are acquiring alarming proportions and dangerous frequency. Wars of aggression are raging in the Middle East and in Indo-China and are being prolonged in South Vietnam and have been extended to Cambodia. The presence of foreign forces in Korea is posing a threat to national independence and to international peace and security. The continued oppression and subjugation of the African peoples in Southern Africa by the racist and colonial minority regimes, apart from being a blot on the conscience of mankind, poses a serious threat to international peace and security. This situation is becoming dangerously explosive as a result of the collusion between certain developed countries of the West and the racist minority regimes in that part of the world. The continuing arms race is causing alarm and concern; it is rendering the possibility of a nuclear detente extremely precarious and is serving as a spur to limited wars. The balance of terror between the superpowers has not brought peace and security to the rest of the world. There are, however, welcome signs of a growing detente between the power blocs but the abatement of the cold war has not yet resulted in the disintegration of the military blocs formed in the context of great power conflicts.

7. International relations are entering a phase characterised by increasing interdependence and also by the desire of States to pursue independent policies. The democratisation of international relations is therefore an imperative necessity of our times. But there is an unfortunate tendency on the part of some of the big powers to monopolise decision-making on world issues which are of vital concern to all countries.

8. The forces of racism, apartheid, colonialism and imperialism continue to bedevil world peace. At the same time classical colonialism is trying to perpetuate itself in the garb of neo-colonialism--a less obvious, but in no way less dangerous, means of economic and political domination over the developing countries. These phenomena of the present-day world tend not only to perpetuate the evils of the past but also to undermine the future. They retard the liberation of many countries still under colonial domination and jeopardise the independence and territorial integrity of many countries, especially those of the non-aligned and developing countries, thereby hampering their advancement, intensifying tension and giving rise to conflicts.

9. The economic gap between the developed and the developing countries is increasingly widening--the rich growing richer and the poor remaining poor. The developing countries are being denied their right to equality and to effective participation in international progress. The technological revolution, which is now the monopoly of the rich, should constitute one of the main opportunities for the progress of developing countries. World solidarity is not only a just appeal but an overriding necessity; it is intolerable today for some to enjoy an untroubled and comfortable existence in exchange for the poverty and misfortune of others.

10. Concerned by this state of affairs in the world, the participants in this Conference have agreed to take joint action, and to unite their efforts towards the eradication of these ills.

11. The participants in the Conference of Non-Aligned Countries reaffirm, and attach special importance to, the following principles; the right of the peoples who are not yet free to freedom, self-determination and independence; respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all States; the right of all States to equality and active participation in international affairs; the right of all sovereign nations to determine, in full freedom, the paths of their internal political, economic, social and cultural development; the right of all peoples to the benefit of economic development and the fruits of the scientific and technological revolution; refraining from the threat or use of force, and the principle of peaceful settlement of disputes.

12. The Conference declares that the following continue to be the aims of non-alignment:

the pursuit of world peace and peaceful co-existence by strengthening the role of non-aligned countries within the United Nations so that it will be a more effective instrument against all forms of aggressive action and the threat or use of force against the freedom, independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of any country; the fight against colonialism and racialism which are a negation of human equality and dignity; the settlement of disputes by peaceful means; the ending of the arms race followed by universal disarmament; opposition to great power military alliances and pacts; opposition to the establishment of foreign military bases and foreign troops on the soil of other nations in the context of great power conflicts and colonial and racist suppression; the universality of, and the strengthening of the efficacy of the United Nations; and the struggle for economic independence and mutual co-operation on a basis of equality and mutual benefit.

What is needed is not redefinition of non-alignment but a rededication by all non-aligned nations to its central aims and objectives.

13. The participants in the Conference solemnly declare that they shall consistently adhere to these principles in their mutual relations and in their relations with other States. They have accordingly agreed to take the following measures:

(a) to achieve full solidarity and to initiate effective and concrete measures against all forces that jeopardise and violate the independence and territorial integrity of the non-aligned countries; and for this purpose to co-operate with and consult each other as and when necessary;

(b) to continue their efforts to bring about the dissolution of great power military alliances in the interest of promoting peace and relaxing international tensions, under circumstances ensuring the security of all states and peoples; to safeguard international peace and security through the development of social, economic, political and military strength of each country;

(c) to assert the right of all countries to participate in international relations on an equal footing which is imperative for the democratisation of international relations;

(d) to offer determined support to the intensification of the work of all international bodies concerned with problems of disarmament, particularly in the preparations for and implementation of the programme of the Disarmament Decade as an integral part of general and complete disarmament;

(e) to intensify and unite efforts among the developing countries and between them and the developed countries for the carrying out of urgent structural changes in the world economy and for the establishment of such international co-operation as will reduce the gap between developed and developing countries;

(f) to intensify joint efforts for the liquidation of colonialism and racial discrimination; to this end to pledge their utmost possible moral, political and material support to national liberation movements and to ensure the implementation of international decisions, including measures by the Security Council in accordance with the relevant provisions of the United Nations Charter;

(g) to continue their efforts toward strengthening the role and efficacy of the United Nations, to promote the achievement of the universality of the United Nations and to realise the urgent need for giving the People's Republic of China her rightful place in the organisation and the admission of other countries. While at the same time examining the modalities of enabling countries outside the United Nations, including those which are divided, to participate in the activities of the Organisation and its Agencies;

(h) to strengthen steadily, and expand the domain of mutual co-operation within international, regional and bilateral frameworks;

(i) to ensure the continuity of action by holding periodic consultations of representatives of non-aligned countries at different levels and by convening summit conferences more frequently depending on the prevailing international situation;

14. The Heads of State or Government and leaders of participating countries resolve that this Declaration as well as the statements and resolutions issued by this Conference shall be forwarded to the United Nations and brought to the attention of all the member States of the World Organisation. The present Declaration shall also be forwarded to all other States.

15. The participants in the Conference appeal to all nations and governments, all peace and freedom-loving forces and to all people the world over for co-operation and joint efforts for the implementation of these objectives. At the same time, they declare that they shall support all international actions that are initiated in the interests of the progress of mankind.

Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic progress

NAC/CONF. 3/RES. 14
DECLARATION ON NON-ALIGNMENT AND ECONOMIC PROGRESS

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries, united by common political and economic aspirations,

EXPRESSING the determination of the non-aligned countries to achieve economic emancipation, to strengthen their independence and to make their contribution to world peace and to economic and social progress for the benefit of all mankind;

REVIEWING the lack of progress in the implementation by the international community of the policies and objectives declared by them at Belgrade and Cairo and those enshrined in the Charter of Algiers;

DISTURBED by the rapidly widening gap between the economies of the rich and the poor nations, which constitutes a threat to the independence of developing countries and to international peace and security;

NOTING with concern the negative trends which exclude developing countries, in particular the decline in the share of developing countries, from the mainstream of world economic life despite their endeavour to participate in contemporary progress;

NOTING in particular the decline in the share of developing countries in world export trade from one-third in 1950 to one-sixth in 1969;

NOTING further with regret the decline in financial flows in terms of percentage of Gross National Product (GNP) from developed to developing countries and the increase in financial flows from developing to developed countries by way of payments on account of debts, dividends, and royalties, and financial and commercial services;

BELIEVING that the poverty of developing nations and their economic dependence on those in affluent circumstances constitute a structural weakness in the present world economic order;

CONVINCED that the persistence of an inequitable world economic system inherited from the colonial past and continued through present neo-colonialism poses insurmountable difficulties in breaking the bondage of poverty and shackles of economic dependence;

REALISING that the occupation of parts of territories of non-aligned developing countries and dependent nations by aggressors or minority governments deprives these groups of their natural resources and constitutes a hindrance to their development;

CONSIDERING that the gap in science and technology between the developing and developed countries is widening and the need for preventing the emergence of technological colonialism is pressing;

RECOGNISING that the massive investments in the economic and social progress of mankind can be made if agreements are reached to reduce expenditure on armaments;

CONSCIOUS of the increase since the meeting in Belgrade, in the capability of non-aligned countries to plan, organise, and manage their own economic development, both individually and within a multi-national co-operative framework, and the progress made by them during the sixties;

CONVINCED that the second United Nations Development Decade provides an opportunity to bring about structural changes in the world economic system so as to meet the pressing needs of poor nations, to strengthen their independence, and to provide for a more rapid and better balanced expansion of the world economy;

HEREBY

A. PLEDGE THEMSELVES

(i) to cultivate the spirit of self-reliance and to this end to adopt a firm policy of organising their own socio-economic progress and to raise it to the level of a priority action programme;

(ii) to exercise fully their right and fulfil their duty so as to secure optimal utilisation of the natural resources in their territories and in adjacent seas for the development and welfare of their Peoples;

(iii) to develop their technology and scientific capability to maximise production and improve productivity;

(iv) to promote social changes to provide increasing opportunity to each individual for developing his worth, maintaining his dignity, making his contribution to the process of growth and for sharing fully in its fruits;

(v) to promote social justice and efficiency of production, to raise the level of employment and to expand and improve facilities for education, health, nutrition, housing and social welfare;

(vi) to ensure that external components of the Developmental process further national objectives and conform to national needs; and in particular to adopt so far as practicable a common approach to problems and possibilities of investment of private capital in developing countries;

(vii) to broaden and diversify economic relationships with other nations so as to promote true inter-dependence;

B. DECIDE

(i) to foster mutual co-operation among developing countries so as to impart strength to their national endeavour to fortify their independence;

(ii) to contribute to each other's economic and social progress by an effective utilisation of the complimentarities between their respective resources and requirements;

(iii) to intensify and broaden to the maximum extent practicable, the movement for co-operation and integration among developing countries at sub-regonal, and inter-regional levels for accelerating their economic growth and social development and take into account the necessary measures required to guarantee that the peoples of developing countries concerned receive the benefit of the integration and not the foreign companies operating within the integrated area;

(iv) and to this end, to adopt the following Programme of Action in the field of:

I. Planning and Projection

(a) to identify products and countries in which production can be stimulated and expanded with a view to increasing existing income and trade exchange;

(b) to identify projects and programmes for which import requirements capable of being met from developing countries are likely to arise; and

(c) to define as closely as possible financing and technological requirements to secure increases in production and to support expansion of trade flows amongst developing countries.

II. Trade, Co-operation and Development

(a) to organise exchange of information in regard to products of export interest to developing countries;

(b) to provide adequate access to products of export interest to other developing countries, especially by preferential reduction of import duties;

(c) to negotiate long-term purchases and sales agreements in respect of industrial raw materials and to orient policies of official procurement organisations in favour of developing countries;

(d) to evolve payment arrangements to support expansion of trade exchanges amongst developing countries:

(e) to facilitate transit traffic for the diversification and the expansion of the external trade of landlocked countries;

(f) to facilitate international borders amongst developing countries; and

(g) to encourage travel and tourism amongst developing countries

III. Industrial, Mineral, Agricultural and Marine Production

(a) to exchange information on needs and resources of different developing countries in respect of technical know-how, research, consultancy services, experts and training facilities;

(b) to institute and intensify programmes of co-operation at bilateral, regional and inter-regional levels to combine needs and resources of developing countries for furthering one another's production programmes and projects; and

(c) to co-ordinate through policies and measures for the utilisation in their national interest their mineral and marine resources and for the protection of the maritime environment.

IV. Development of Infrastructure

(a) to facilitate mutual co-operation in preparing preinvestment surveys and in executing projects for the development of one another's infrastructure in the field of road and rail communications, irrigation and power; and

(b) to take concerted measures for transforming the prevailing systems of communications, transport and commercial services previously designed to link metropolitan countries to their dependent territories so as to promote direct commerce, contact and co-operation amongst developing countries.

V. Application of Science and Technology

(a) to organise means and measures to share one another's experience in the application of science and technology to processes of economic and social development;

(b) to institute schemes of co-operation for the acquisition of skills relevant to their situation and in particular to promote exchange of trainees and experts and thus provide for optimum use and efficiency of their specialised technological and scientific institutions; and

(c) to devise programmes for adoption of technology to the special needs of countries in different stages of development, and to provide for its widest possible diffusion to developing countries and for the conservation of their technical skills and personnel in consonance with their needs and conditions.

VI. Mechanism

To facilitate contact, exchange of information co-ordination and consultations among Governments, and among competent organisations and institutions, in order to further mutual co-operation and integration for implementing programmes of action

URGE THE UNITED NATIONS

(i) to fulfil the objectives enshrined in the Charter to promote social progress and better standards of life in larger freedom;

(ii) to employ international machinery to bring about a rapid transformation of the world economic system, particularly in the field of trade, finance and technology so that economic domination yields to economic co-operation and economic strength is used for the benefit of the world community;

(iii) to view the developmental process in a global context and to adopt a programme of international action for utilisation of world resources in men and materials, science and technology, benefiting developed and developing countries alike;

(iv) to adopt at the forthcoming Commemorative Session a Declaration on an international strategy providing for the following:

I. Goals and Objectives

(a) International co-operation for economic development is not a one sided process of donor-donee relationship, the development of developing countries is a benefit to the whole world, including the more advanced nations;

(b) The aim of international economic co-operation should be to provide a dynamic combination of the world's production, market and technological factors to promote a rational division of labour and a humane sharing of its fruits; international co-operation should strengthen the capability of developing countries to exercise fully their sovereignty over their natural resources;

(c) A rapid transformation of the world economic system should be achieved through the adoption of convergent and concomitant policies and measures so that the developing and developed countries become partners, on a basis of equality and mutual benefit, in a common endeavour for peace, progress and prosperity;

(d) The essential purpose of development is to provide equal opportunity for a better life to everyone; the aim should, therefore, be to accelerate significantly the growth of gross product per head so that it is possible to secure for everyone a minimum standard of life consistent with human dignity;

II Policies and Measures

(a) Since primary commodities constitute a preponderant source of foreign income for most developing countries, provision should be made for maximising their consumption, diversifying their utilisation, securing for producers a fair and equitable return, organising their production on the basis of endowment factors, and securing for developing countries an increasing share of the growth in consumption; unfinished action to conclude commodity agreement should be completed by 1972;

(b) International action should be taken to promote processing of primary products in areas of production and to provide access to consuming markets of processed products, free from all tariff and non-tariff barriers;

(c) The scheme of non-discriminatory, non-reciprocal preferences in favour of products of developing countries is implemented without further delay;

(d) Other measures should be undertaken to secure for developing countries an increasing share of international trade in manufactured and semi-manufactured goods, especially through adjustment of production structures in developed countries;

(e) A distinction should be made between transfer of resources intended to promote development of developing countries and commercially motivated investments;

(f) The net flow of financial transfers from developed to developing countries should correspond, by 1972, to a minimum of 1 per cent of the GNP of each developed country, three-quarters of which should be from official sources.

(g) Financial transfers for development should be untied and provided on terms and conditions compatible with the efficiency of the developmental process;

(h) Appropriate measures should be adopted to alleviate the burden of debts on developing countries;

(i) A link between Special Drawing Rights and development finance should be established by 1972;

(j) Steps should be taken to enable developing countries to extend their merchant marines, to develop their shipbuilding industries, and to improve and modernise their ports. Urgent action is needed to restrain the alarming increase in freight rates and to eliminate discriminatory and restrictive elements from it. Consultation machinery for the soultion of difficulties of shippers from developing countries needs to be improved to increase its efficiency;

(k) Concerted measures should be undertaken to bridge the widening gap in the technological skills between developing and developed countries, to facilitate diffusion of technology, patented and non-patented, on reasonable terms and conditions, and to ensure that transfers of technology are free from illegitimate restraints. An appropriate international mechanism should be devised to implement these measures;

(l) Provision should be made to expand research and development on materials with which developing countries are endowed. Arrangements should also be made for their nationals and institutions to build up scientific capabilities;

(m) Within the framework of international development strategy, special measures should be taken to improve the productive capacities and develop the infrastructure of least developed, including land-locked countries, so as to enable them to derive full benefit from convergent and concommitant measures; and

(n) Mutual contact and co-operation amongst developing countries is an indispensable element in the global strategy. The developed countries should support the initiatives of developing countries in this regard and pay special attention to concrete proposals that may be put forward by them to this end.

D. DECLARE THEIR DETERMINATION

(a) to undertake sustained and continuous endeavours within the United Nations system to secure faithful implementation of international development policies and programmes;

(b) to further the unity and solidarity of the Group of seventy-seven at all levels including the convening of a ministerial meeting to prepare for the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) III;

(c) to review and appraise periodically, the progress of mutual co-operation in the field of development in pursuance of the programme of action;

(d) to seek ways and means for strengthening the capabilities of the United Nations system, to fulfil its commitments to social and economic progress.

خطـــاب

الرئيس محمـــد انور السادات

فى مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة

الجزائر ١٩٧٣

بسم الله ..

سيادة الرئيس -- اخوانى رؤساء الدول والحكومات ..

فاسمح لى يا اخى الرئيس ان احيى من هذه المنصة الاخوة رؤساء الدول والحكومات الحاضرين الذين يكونون اليوم اسرة عالم عدم الانحياز ويمثلون غالبية سكان العالم ، يجاهدون ليحققوا العدل والسلام .

الوزراء السيدة انديرا غاندى التى تحملت عبء الحكم وجهاده · ونذكر وتذكرون الزعيم والاخ الراحل جمال عبد الناصر .

نحيى هؤلاء الزعماء الثلاثة وكل الزعماء الذين سلكوا الطريق معهم وبعدهم نحو أهداف وآمال شعوبهم وشعوب العالم أجمع ·

نحن اليوم نستهدف أن تكون حريتنا السياسية أساسا لتحررنا الاقتصادى والاجتماعى · وأن تكون سيطرتنا على مواردنا أساسا لبعثتنا وتقدمنا الحضارى ·

لا يتحقق اذن ضد ارادة الدول المنحازة او على رغم منها ، بل انه يتحقق فى الواقع تجاوبا مع ارادتها وسعيها ٠

واليوم ينعقد مؤتمرنا الرابع فى ظل متغيرات دولية لا بد من تقييمها لتحديد موقف دول عدم الانحياز منها · وفى هذا الصدد يرتكز الموقف فى رأيى على دعامتين ·

أولا : انه لا يصح لدول عدم الانحياز أن تكتفى بمجرد المطالبة بالعدل فى العلاقات الدولية ولكن علينا ان ننسق فكرنا وأن نعمــل متكاتفين ٠ ٠ مبادئين الى اتخاذ المواقف التى من شانها خدمة مبادىء العدالة الدولية ازاء كل حدث دولى مدركين أهمية مواقفنا المشتركة واثقين بأن لها وزنها فى المجتمع الدولى ٠

ان هدفنا هو تحقيق السلام العادل فى منطقتنا وتحقيق التقدم والرخاء لها حتى نستطيع ان نسهم فى سلام ورخاء العالم غير المنحاز والعالم اجمع .

من تطور فى الحياة العالمية عامة وحياة دول عدم الانحياز خاصـة من نتائج نسجلها بالاعتزاز .

السيد الرئيس .. الاخوة الرؤساء ..

وفقنا الله ودعم على طريق الخير والحق خطانا .. واشـكركم .

POLITICAL DECLARATION OF THE FOURTH CONFERENCE OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

(Algiers, 5-9 September 1973)

1. The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries was held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973.

The following countries were present:

Afghanistan, Algeria, Argentina, Bangladesh, Bahrain, Bhutan, Botswana, Burma, Burundi, Cambodia, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Chile, Congo, Cuba, Cyprus, Dahomey, Egypt, Equatorial Guinea, Ethiopia, Gabon, Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Guyana, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Ivory Coast, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Kuwait, Laos, Lebanon, Lesotho, Liberia, Libya (Arab Republic of), Madagascar, Malaysia, Mali, Malta, Mauritania, Mauritius, Morocco, Nepal, Niger, Nigeria, Oman, Peru, Qatar, Rwanda, Saudi Arabia, Senegal, Sierra-Leone, Singapore, Somalia, South Viet-Nam (P.R.G), Sri-Lanka, Sudan, Swaziland, Syria (Arab Republic of), Tanzania, Togo, Trinidad and Tobago, Tunisia, Uganda, United Arab Emirates, Upper Volta, Yemen (A.R), Yemen (P.D.R), Yugoslavia, Zaire, Zambia.

The following countries and organizations attended the Conference as Observers:

Barbados, Bolivia, Brazil, Ecuador, Mexico, Panama, Uruguay, Venezuela, Angola (M.P.L.A. and F.L.N.A.), Guinea-Bissao (P.A.I.G.C.), Mozambique (F.R.E.L.I.M.O.), Principe and Sao Tome (C.L.P. Sao Tome), Zimbabwe (Z.A.P.U. and Z.A.N.U.), South Africa (A.N.C. and P.A.C.), Namibia (S.W.A.P.O.), Seychelles Islands (S.P.U.P.), Comores Islands (M.O.L.I.N.A.C.O.), Somalia (F.L.C.S. and M.L.D.), Palestine (O.L.P.), Puerto Rico (Socialist Party of).

The following attended the Conference as Guests:

Austria, Finland, Sweden, United Nations Organization,

Organization of African Unity (O.A.U.), Arab League, Solidarity Organization of Afro-Asian Peoples (O.S.P.A.A.)

2. The participants observed that more than half of the Member States of the international community representing the majority of the world's population took part in the Conference. The number and the level of the participants, as well as the general quality of the work, are indicative of the vitality and dynamism of non-alignment.

3. The participants exchanged views on the world situation and the role of non-alignment.

4. Mankind has always aspired to freedom, well-being and peace. Such ideals are no longer unattainable or solely within the reach of a minority. All the peoples of the world can now aspire to them. The creative potentials of our age make this possible; the pressing necessities of peoples make it an historical necessity.

5. The force of national and social emancipation movements which are constantly shaking the worn-out structures of a world undergoing complete change, combined with the uninterrupted progress of the scientific and technical revolution, open up ways towards the total liberation of the whole of mankind.

6. But the past decades have shown that unless this scientific progress is used in the service of peace, it can lead mankind to enslavement and even destruction. It was the dawning of a keen awareness of such realities which inspired the ever expanding movement of non-aligned countries. The Conferences held successively in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka and Georgetown forcefully expressed the aspirations of peoples for peace in a new world order based on independence, progress and justice.

7. The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries noted with satisfaction that the evolution of international relations had confirmed the vitality and lasting validity of the aims, principles and practice of the policy of non-alignment. They were unanimous in the appraisal that the policy of non-alignment, together with other peace loving, democratic and progressive forces, constitutes an important and irreplaceable factor in the struggle for freedom and independence of peoples and countries, for general peace and equal security for all States, for universal application of principles of active and peaceful co-existence, for democratization of international relations, for all-round equitable co-operation, for economic development and social progress.

I

8. Examining the contemporary international developments, the Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries consider that there have emerged profound changes in the general balance of forces in the world, as a result of the growing forces of peace, independence and progress.

9. Since the Lusaka Conference, the evolution of the international situation has been marked by the strengthening of trends towards peace in the developed world, whereas in other areas centres of tension and war still exist and are aggravated by the increasing deterioration in economic conditions of developing countries.

10. The present strengthening of détente between East and West and the progress towards the settlement in Europe of problems inherited from the Second World War represent important achievements by the forces of peace in the world. The fears created by the nuclear threat as well as the determination of peoples increasingly tend to give primacy to dialogue rather than confrontation.

11. This trend has also been reflected in the intensification of contacts between the Soviet Union and the United States and the United States and the People's Republic of China.

12. The essential aim of the East-West rapprochement, of the negotiations of all kinds currently in progress and of the agreements recently concluded or about to be concluded is to establish co-operation within the framework of a system of collective security based on principles which, surmounting ideological differences, aim to regulate international relations. It was within this context that the proposal for a European Conference on Security and Co-operation was translated into reality.

13. The non-aligned countries, which have worked unceasingly to establish peace and eliminate tension through negotiation and recourse to international bodies, welcome all these efforts and initiatives and regard them as a positive step towards the establishment of peace.

14. While considerable progress has been made towards East-West détente, the fact that peoples are in direct confrontation with colonialism, racial discrimination and apartheid, alien domination and foreign occupation, neo-colonialism, imperialism and zionism, remains an indisputable reality of our age.

15. Peace is far from being assured in all parts of the world, as evidenced by the situation prevailing in Indochina despite the Paris Agreements, and the cessation of American bombardments in Cambodia, in the Middle East where the situation continues to deteriorate, in Africa where there is a renewed outbreak of colonial wars of extermination and of aggression of all kinds against the independent States, and in Latin America, where colonial situations still remain and where there is an increase in imperialist plots against the sovereignty and security of States.

16. As long as colonial wars, apartheid, imperialist aggression, alien domination and foreign occupation and power politics, economic exploitation and plunder prevail, peace will prove limited in principle and scope. In a world where, besides a minority of rich countries there exists a majority of poor countries, it would be dangerous to increase such division by restricting peace to the prosperous areas of the world while the rest of mankind remained condemned to insecurity and domination by the most powerful. Peace is indivisible: it could not be reduced to a mere shifting of confrontation from one area to another, nor should it condone the continued existence of tension in some areas while endeavouring to eliminate it elsewhere. Détente would remain precarious if it did not take into consideration the interests of the other countries.

17. In this respect, the non-aligned countries are simply expressing the aspirations of the majority of peoples, as illustrated by the Bandung, Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka and Georgetown Declarations. What these peoples want is to get rid of the colonial yoke where it still exists, eradicate apartheid, zionism and all forms of racial discrimination and segregation, and put an end to the regimes which are inspired by them and find in them their raison d'être.

18. It is also a question of establishing a genuine independence by eliminating foreign monopolies and assuming control over their national resources and exploiting them for the benefit of their peoples. The peoples of the non-aligned countries wish to safeguard their own personality, to revive and enrich their cultural heritage, and to promote in all fields their authenticity which had been seriously alienated by colonialism. They finally strive to consolidate their independence through effective exercise of their national sovereignty against any hegemony, in other words to reject any form of subordination or dependence and any interference or pressure, whether political, economic or military.

19. In this respect, international security cannot be achieved if it does not include an economic dimension which guarantees to all countries the right to implement their development programmes free from economic aggression and any other form of pressure.

20. The non-aligned countries pledge to reinforce their common action in order to promote the principles of economic security in international relations.

21. Furthermore, the rejection of military alliances which are part of the pattern of great power rivalry and the dismantling of bases on which such alliances rely, constitutes a fundamental principle of national independence and the policy of non-alignment. It is also necessary to create conditions for promoting the accelerated development of developing countries.

22. The Conference reaffirms the determination of the non-aligned countries to observe strictly the principles of respect for sovereign equality and territorial integrity of all States, to refrain from the threat or use of force and to settle their disputes by peaceful means, in conformity with the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter, and calls upon all States to act likewise.

23. The evolution of the international situation fully confirms the validity of the principles and motivations of the policy of non-alignment and necessitates its reinforcement.

24. In Asia, Africa and Latin America more and more countries are demonstrating their desire for emancipation and their readiness to face up to the trial of force imposed by neo-colonial tutelage and imperialist monopoly.

25. Accordingly, non-alignment has continued to grow in scope and acquire a wider acceptance by expressing, at the international level, the aspirations of an increasing number of States, of national liberation movements and of all the forces for emancipation and progress throughout the world.

26. In order to assume fully their international responsibilities and contribute to the solution of the problems of our times which involve the fate of all the peoples of the world, the non-aligned countries must continue to work, together with all forces striving for peace, liberty and progress, with a view to bringing about a change in international relations towards democracy and equality of all States, and to ensure that decisions which could affect big and small countries are not taken without their full participation on an equal basis.

II

27. In this context, the Conference emphasizes the need for more resolute action by non-aligned countries in order to find an urgent solution to the conflicts of which the Third World is the arena and where the policy of force of imperialism and colonialism clashes with the legitimate aspirations of the peoples.

28. In the Middle East, the situation continues to give rise to deep concern. Israel's obstinate persistence in its policy of aggression, expansion and annexation, as well as its policy of oppression directed against the inhabitants of the territories occupied by force, is a challenge to the international community, the United Nations and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and a threat to international peace and security.

29. Drawing renewed attention to the inadmissibility of the acquisition of territories by force, the Conference calls for immediate and unconditional withdrawal by Israel from all the occupied territories, and pledges itself to assist Egypt, Syria and Jordan in liberating their occupied territories, by every means.

30. In this connection, the restoration of the national rights of the Palestinian people is a basic prerequisite for the establishment of an equitable and lasting peace in the area. The struggle of the Palestinian people to recover their usurped homeland is an integral part of the struggle of all peoples against colonialism and racial discrimination and for self-determination. Member countries of the Conference call upon all States, and in particular the United States of America, to abstain from providing Israel with arms, or any political, economic or financial support which may enable it to continue its aggressive and expansionist policy.

31. Israel's persistence in its defiant attitude towards the international community and the United Nations will lead non-aligned countries between them and, within the framework of the United Nations, in conjunction with the member States of that organization, to take individual and collective measures against it in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter.

32. The Conference gives its firm support to and expresses its solidarity with the Palestinian people in their sore trial and the heavy sacrifices they are making to recover their national dignity and entity.

33. The Conference expresses its satisfaction at the signing of the Paris Agreements on Vietnam, and considers them as a common victory for the Vietnamese people and the peoples of non-aligned countries, as well as all peace and freedom-loving peoples throughout the world. The Conference expresses its concern at the refusal of the United States of America and the Saigon Administration to observe strictly the Paris Agreements.

34. The Conference calls for the immediate cessation of any commitment and interference by the United States of America in the domestic affairs of the peoples of Indochina, and respect for the free exercise of the right of the Indochinese peoples to self-determination, which is a prerequisite for the establishment of real peace in the area.

35. The Conference of Heads of State or Government invites member countries to give their diplomatic support to the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Viet-Nam, which is the sole authentic representative of the population of South Viet-Nam, and to contribute to the reconstruction of war-devastated Viet-Nam.

36. The Conference hails the victory of the Cambodian people in stopping the US bombing of Cambodia, and condemns the stubborn US policy of aggression as at present evidenced by widely based US support for the Phnom-Penh regime.

37. It condemns the military intervention of the USA and its allies in Cambodia and its interference in Cambodian domestic affairs.

38. It declares the only legal and rightful government of Cambodia to be the GRUNK, under Prince NORODOM SIHANOUK, Head of State, and urges all non-aligned countries to recognize it immediately.

39. The Conference welcomes the signature of the Vientiane Agreement and hopes that the parties will sign protocols to set up a national coalition government in Laos.

40. Strict implementation of the Vientiane Agreement is essential for an effective and lasting restoration of peace and national harmony corresponding to the legitimate aspirations of the people of Laos.

41. In particular, the Conference welcomes the determination of the countries of this region to continue to follow a policy of non-alignment.

42. The Conference supports the action of independent and peaceful reunification undertaken by the Korean people, requests the withdrawal of foreign troops from South Korea and considers that the Korean problem must be solved without foreign interference.

43. The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries have studied very carefully the situation of the peoples of South Africa, Namibia, Zimbabwe, Angola, Mozambique, Guinea-Bissau and Cape Verde, which are experiencing the most serious forms of exploitation, oppression and destruction at the hands of the forces of colonialism, neo-colonialism and racism with the political, economic and military support of some Western Governments and international capital. The colonial and racist regimes in this region are in addition a direct threat to the free development of all African countries, and more particularly Guinea, the People's Republic of the Congo, Senegal, the United Republic of Tanzania, Zaire, Zambia, Botswana, Swaziland and Lesotho.

44. The collusion of the colonialist, segregationist and illegal minority regimes respectively of Portugal, South Africa and Rhodesia, and the many forms of aid which such regimes receive from certain NATO countries, reflect the strategic aims of imperialism in the region.

45. The Heads of State or Government note that colonial, neo-colonial and racist powers have continued their policy of aggression, domination and apartheid since the Lusaka Manifesto on Southern Africa was approved. The Conference reiterates that armed struggle is the only way of ending colonial and racial domination in this region.

46. In this connexion the Conference hails the heroic struggle of the peoples of Angola, Mozambique, Guinea-Bissau and Cape Verde and that of all peoples fighting for their freedom. It pays tribute to the courageous struggle waged under particularly difficult conditions, by the peoples of South Africa, Zimbabwe and Namibia.

47. The Conference considers it urgent to put an end to the colonial presence in the so-called Spanish Sahara, so-called French Somaliland (Djibouti), the Comoro Islands and the Seychelles.

48. The Conference supports the programme of action adopted at the Oslo International Conference of Experts for the Support of Victims of Colonialism and Apartheid and calls for its effective implementation.

49. The Conference invites the Governments of the countries participating in the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe to condemn Portuguese colonialism and all other forms of colonialism and racism, to reaffirm the United Nations declarations and resolutions on decolonization and not to allow Portugal, which is waging colonial wars in Africa, to obtain protection on account of the strengthening of security and co-operation in Europe.

50. The Conference stresses the need for co-operation on the part of the non-aligned countries with all countries and forces opposed to colonialism and neo-colonialism, so as to provide active and material support to the armed struggle of African liberation movements.

51. The Conference stresses the necessity of putting an end to colonial domination where it still survives in Latin America. It reaffirms the complete solidarity of the non-aligned countries with the peoples of the region still subjected to colonialism and demands that their inalienable right to national independence be recognized. It supports the struggle of the people of Puerto Rico for their national independence and supports the resolutions on Puerto Rico adopted by the United Nations Special Committee on Decolonization.

52. It requests that the United States Government refrain from doing anything likely to affect directly or indirectly the exercise by the people of Puerto Rico of their right to independence.

53. The Conference demands that the military bases of the U.S.A. on Cuban, Panamanian and Puerto Rican territories be restored to the countries which are their rightful owners.

54. It supports the struggle of the peoples of Latin America for the affirmation of their sovereignty, the restoration of their natural resources and implementation of the structural changes essential for their development, and condemns the imperialistic aggressions and pressures to which these countries are subjected.

55. The Conference considers that the struggle for the liberation of Latin America is an important factor in the struggle of its peoples against colonialism, neo-colonialism and imperialism and is a contribution towards achieving and strengthening peace and international security.

56. The Conference hails the Government and people of Chile, who in their struggle to consolidate their independence and build a new society are facing the combined aggression of reaction and imperialism. It expresses its solidarity with Chile in its efforts to achieve the economic and social transformations already started, to avoid civil war and preserve its national unity.

57. It hails the Government and people of Peru in their struggle to safeguard their national sovereignty, win back the wealth of their country and change its economic, social and political structures.

58. It hails the victory of the Argentine people in their struggle for true independence and social progress.

59. It supports the Government and people of Panama in their efforts to recover their sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

III

60. The non-aligned countries stress the need for the détente initiated between great powers, already hailed by the Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, to lead to the effective breaking up of the military alliances stemming from the cold war.

61. It reaffirms the objective set in the Declaration of the Third Summit of non-aligned countries regarding the dismantling of all military bases and the withdrawal of foreign troops from all parts of the world.

62. It gives its support to countries struggling for the removal of military bases established on their soil under unequal treaties and maintained against the wishes of their peoples.

63. The Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries emphasize that the strengthening of international security forms an integral part of the programme and actions for achieving peace and progress for all peoples and all countries. This aim can be reached only by constructing an international security which would cover all parts of the world and which would be equal for all peoples and all countries.

64. It considers that the creation of zones of peace and co-operation in the various regions of the world, on the basis of the principles of the United Nations Charter, is calculated to reduce tension, eliminate foreign military presence and to promote peaceful co-operation among the countries concerned.

65. The Heads of State or Government welcome the adoption by the twenty-sixth session of the United Nations General Assembly of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace and the setting up by the United Nations of an ad hoc committee to consider the measures aimed at implementing the Declaration. They consider that action designed to promote the objectives of the Declaration will contribute to the strengthening of international peace and security. They urge all powers to co-operate in order to achieve the objectives of the implementation of this resolution.

66. The Conference expressed its concern at the growing tension in the Mediterranean resulting from Israel's aggression and characterized by the strengthening of existing military bases and the deployment of foreign naval forces.

67. The Conference supports the efforts exerted by the Arab States and peoples in the Arabian Gulf to safeguard the stability, security and well-being of the region and to preserve its independence as well as resist any foreign interference in its affairs, whatever the sources.

68. Drawing attention to the link between European security and security in the Mediterranean, the Conference supports the lawful rights of non-aligned countries in this area to participate in decisions relating to their security. Furthermore, the Conference upholds those countries' endeavours to establish an area of peace and co-operation on the basis of respect for the interests of the countries concerned and of non-interference in the internal affairs of States.

69. The Heads of State or Government welcome the Kuala Lumpur Declaration aimed at the creation of an area of peace, freedom and neutrality free from any form of interference by Powers from outside the region, and notes with satisfaction the progress made in the implementation and in the attainment of the objectives of the Declaration. They consider it to be a positive contribution to the establishment of international peace and security, and appeal to all States to respect its principles and objectives. They express the hope that military presence in this region, including foreign bases, will be eliminated.

70. The participants devoted particular attention to the strengthening of the security and to the defence of the non-aligned countries against all dangers from outside. They expressed their coutries' determination to increase their mutual solidarity and assistance in the case of threats to their independence and territorial integrity.

71. The Conference noted with concern that the flow of conventional arms to non-nuclear states, which is a threat to the security of the non-aligned countries and which gives rise to tension in some regions, is continuing. It demands that an end be put to the flow of such armaments.

72. The Conference declares itself in favour of general and complete disarmament, and especially a ban on the use of nuclear weapons and the manufacture of atomic weapons and warheads and the total destruction of existing stocks, as well as the total cessation of all nuclear tests in all environments and all regions of the world.

73. In this connexion, the Conference demands the suspension of the French nuclear tests being programmed and carried out at Mururoa in the South Pacific.

74. The Conference also declares itself in favour of the banning of all existing chemical and bacteriological weapons.

75. The Conference demands that a world conference on disarmament, with the participation of all States, shall be convened as soon as possible.

76. The Conference further emphasizes the enormous benefit to the well-being of all peoples and to the social and economic development of developing countries which could ensue from the peaceful use of nuclear technology and the releasing of resources resulting from disarmament.

77. The Conference recalls the Declaration on the United Nations adopted by the Third Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries and reaffirms its devotion to the principles and objectives of the Charter. It considers that the United Nations could be an effective instrument for fostering international peace and security, increasing co-operation and safeguarding fundamental rights and freedoms.

78. The Conference reaffirms that the achievement of universality of membership in the United Nations is an essential ingredient for its effectiveness. In this connexion, it welcomes the restoration of the People's Republic of China to its rightful place in the Organization, so long advocated by non-aligned countries, and the recommendation of the Security Council on the admission of both German States.

79. The Conference supports the admission into the United Nations of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, a full and sovereign member of the family of non-aligned countries. It took note in this connexion that the conclusion of the recent agreement in New Delhi on 28 August 1973 has opened the way for the solution of the outstanding humanitarian problems for the establishment of durable peace in the South Asian continent.

80. However, current operational conditions in the Organization are not always in line with the new realities of international life and do not fully permit it to perform its mission of peace and development.

81. Disregard for United Nations decisions and the tendency of great Powers to monopolize the Organization's activities, to render it inactive or to divert it to their own private interests, contradict the universal nature of the Organization and reduce its standing and prestige.

82. With a view to ensuring the effectiveness and authority of the United Nations, the non-aligned countries stress the need to improve the Organization. To this end, the Security Council, the organ primarily responsible for the maintenance of international peace and security, should not be prevented from exercising all the responsibilities conferred on it by the Charter. In this connexion, the Heads of State or Government invite all those upon whom the Charter has conferred a special responsibility to show wisdom and moral integrity in the exercise of their functions.

83. They consider it necessary that adequate, unequivocal decisions and resolutions, anchored in the principles of the Charter, should be adopted by the United Nations bodies concerned and the respect for them assured.

84. The Conference expresses its concern at the constant deterioration of economic conditions in developing countries, with an ever-widening gap between them and the industrialized countries. The efforts made in the context of the First United Nations Development Decade and the first years of the Second Decade have failed to achieve any substantial results.

85. The increase in cases of infringement of the sovereignty of States, the neo-colonial exploitation of developing countries, particularly by transnational companies, the continued inadequacy of the internal structure of the United Nations and the fact that some industrialized countries have expressed reservations and imposed limitations regarding the implementation of the International Development Strategy, are the reasons for the constant deterioration of the situation in developing countries. Furthermore, the non-aligned countries consider that improved economic relations and increased trade between developed countries should in no instance impair the fundamental interests of developing countries, especially by reducing those countries' participation in world trade and international co-operation.

86. Finally, with regard to the monetary situation and in the light of current negotiations, the Conference notes the lack of sufficient political will on the part of the industrialized countries to consider, within the envisaged system, the specific needs of the developing countries as regards their foreign trade and the financing of their development.

87. With a view to establishing conditions for real development, the Conference reaffirms the need to put an end to all forms of foreign domination and exploitation. It proclaims the right of states to recover their natural resources and develop them for the benefit of their peoples, within the framework of a freely chosen development programme.

88. The Conference considers that sub-regional, regional and international co-operation, on the basis of mutual respect and reciprocal benefit, is an appreciable contribution to development policy.

89. The Conference invites non-aligned countries to intensify concerted action among themselves in all fields in order to participate actively in the solution of international economic problems, especially in view of the forthcoming monetary and trade negotiations and the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea.

90. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries recalled the Statement on the Sea-bed and the Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic Progress adopted at Lusaka, and reviewed the progress made since then. They noted with satisfaction that the Declaration of Principles adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in 1970 was in harmony with the principles set forth in the Lusaka Statement on the Sea-bed, and that those principles had continued to guide the work of the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of the Sea-bed. They also noted with satisfaction that the suggestion made at Lusaka for the convening of a conference on the Law of the Sea to deal with all the questions relating to the marine environment in a comprehensive manner had been accepted by the international community.

91. The Heads of State or Government agree to support the adoption of zones of national jurisdiction not exceeding 200 miles, measured from base lines, within which the riparian State would exercise its rights to exploit natural resources and to protect the other related interests of its peoples, bearing in mind the special rights and interests of developing countries, whether coastal, land-locked or geographically handicapped, without prejudice either to freedom of navigation and overflight, where applicable, or to the regime concerning the continental shelf.

92. The Heads of State or Government reaffirm the vital importance of a rational exploitation of the resources of the seas and oceans, in the interests of economic development and the promotion of the well-being of peoples.

93. The participants reaffirm their adherence to the basic principle that the area and resources of the sea-bed beyond the limits of national jurisdiction are the common heritage of mankind and recommend the setting up of an international authority, possessing wide powers which would be responsible for administering this area for the benefit of the international community as a whole, and especially the developing countries.

94. The participants urge all interested parties to abide by the moratorium banning the exploitation of the resources of the international zone until such time as a regime is established.

95. They stress that the new rules of the Law of the Sea must effectively contribute to the elimination of threats to the security of States and ensure respect for their sovereignty and territorial integrity.

96. The participants recommend that the legislation on utilization and exploitation of ocean space include appropriate measures for ensuring the preservation of the sea environment.

97. The Heads of State or Government proclaim the urgency of holding the Conference on the Law of the Sea at Santiago, Chile, in 1974, as well as the need to ensure its success by proper preparation, and consider that prior consultation among non-aligned countries is essential in order to co-ordinate their positions and actions concerning problems of substance and procedure with a view to arriving rapidly at satisfactory results.

VI

98. In closing the Fourth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, the Heads of State or Government, in order to ensure the continuity and effectiveness of the policy of non-alignment, the justice and rightness of which have been confirmed by recent developments in the international situation, decide to reinforce their action and co-ordinate their efforts.

99. This is a necessity which is rendered all the more imperative by the fact that the principles of non-alignment have been adopted as a basis for action by many organs of regional and international co-operation.

100. The major changes now taking place at the political, economic and technological levels in a world that is becoming even more highly organized, the urgency and acuteness of the problems of liberation and development, as well as the necessity for true peace, are factors which today induce the non-aligned countries to intensify their activities and organize mutual co-operation in order to give a new content to their solidarity, and to guarantee their participation in the settlement of major international problems.

101. It decides that the next Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries shall be held at Colombo, Sri Lanka, in 1976.

Declaration on the Struggle for National Liberation

DECLARATION ON THE STRUGGLE FOR NATIONAL LIBERATION

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers, from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Having made a thorough study of the problems of decolonization, apartheid and racial discrimination still affecting the peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America, has adopted the following declaration:

The confrontation of peoples with colonialism, neo-colonialism, zionism and imperialism, remains a fundamental reality of our era, continually emphasizing the common destiny and the indivisible nature of the struggle of the peoples of the Third World.

The policy of non-alignment, one of the main aims of which is the struggle for independence and the safeguarding of national sovereignty, fully identifies with the liberation struggle of oppressed peoples against all forms of domination and exploitation.

The close ties between the national liberation movements and the non-aligned countries are not purely historical in origin, but draw their strength from their association with the common ideals of freedom, justice and peace; they are the expression of the solidarity of the non-aligned countries in the face of the continuous threats and attempts of systems of domination to subject the newly independent countries to other forms of political and economic domination.

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government emphasises that the Third World continues to be the favourite battlefield for colonial wars and imperialist plots. The situation in this part of the world is characterised by armed resistance to colonial systems and imperialist aggression and by the struggle for the safeguarding and consolidation of national independence and the economic and social advancement of peoples.

The process of détente and co-operation taking place in certain parts of the world will continue to be limited in effect and incapable of meeting the aspirations of peoples to freedom, security and peace as long as it tolerates with the continued existence of colonialism and racism, and foreign exploitation and aggression in other areas of the world.

The national liberation movement is confronting the increasingly accentuated action and political, economic and military mechanisms that tend to freeze the existing situation and to introduce new forms of oppression and exploitation aimed at checking the process of Third World emancipation.

In fact, colonialism continues to flourish in various forms all rooted in political subjection and economic exploitation.

The situation in countries still under foreign domination and the threats that this situation pose to neighbouring countries are a clear indication of the designs of imperialism and of the vulnerability of young independent States.

The aims of imperialism are to exploit the immense riches of these regions and to hinder the evolution of independent neighbouring countries by resorting to armed aggression and economic pressure with a view to gaining complete control of the area as part of its global strategy.

It is a fact that the coalition of systems of domination is being continually strengthened, with the encouragement of monopolies and foreign economic and financial interests which are expanding their activities in the colonized territories and whose ventures are supported by capital supplied by most of the western countries.

In Southern Africa, the oppressors are intensifying their settlement policy. They are strengthening their military alliance, as is shown by the frequent intervention of South African troops in Rhodesia, Mozambique and Angola. They are making intensive efforts, in close collaboration with the large monopolies, to achieve co-ordinated economic exploitation of the whole of Southern Africa, thus further aggravating the dangers which threaten the future of the African continent.

Apartheid in South Africa is not just a system of racial discrimination; it is above all a form of colonialism based on fascist oppression of the people by a minority of alien settlers who exploit the people and deprive them of their fundamental rights, denying the most elementary human values. In Zimbabwe, Namibia, and the countries under Portuguese domination, the racist minories are pursuing a systematic policy of settlement and are bent on changing the ethnic composition of the peoples of these countries, destroying their cultural heritage and exploiting the wealth of these countries for their exclusive benefit.

In this connexion, the case of Palestine, where zionist settler-colonialism has taken the form of a systematic uprooting of the Palestinian people from their homeland and represents a very serious threat to their survival as a nation, is exactly the same as the situation in Southern Africa, where racist segregationist minorities use the same method of colonial domination and exploitation pursuant to the requirements of a single imperialist strategy. In Latin America the peoples of Puerto Rico and Panama are confronted with an anachronistic colonial system and are struggling for complete recovery of their independence and the safeguarding of the integrity of their territories against the same American imperialists who, in those countries, practice open racial discrimination against the black population. Their struggle, like that of the Indochinese and Arab peoples to free their occupied territories, are an integral part of the liberation movement of the peoples of the Third World and deserve the support and active solidarity of all peoples of the world.

Having exhausted all peaceful means, and faced with the obstinacy of the colonial powers and the complicity of their protectors, in particular some member States of NATO, namely the United States of America, France, the United Kingdom and the Federal Republic of Germany, the oppressed peoples have no alternative but the legitimate recourse to armed struggle in order to impose respect for their right to self-determination and independence.

Since the Lusaka Conference, the liberation movements have achieved significant successes.

Vast areas, where a new way of life is being established, have been liberated in Angola, Guinea (Bissau) and Mozambique. In other parts of Africa, namely in Namibia and Zimbabwe as well as in South Africa, political and military struggles are being intensified and strengthened.

Despite the manoeuvres of French and British colonialism, the peoples of the Comores, the so-called French Somalia (Djibouti) and the Seychelles continue their march towards freedom, overcoming all obstacles and attempts at territorial dismemberment and confounding the strategic designs of the colonialist Powers in the Indian Ocean, as evidenced by the transfer of the French base from Diego Suarez (Madagascar) to Djibouti. Despite the repeated attempts to exterminate the Palestinian people, the Palestine Liberation Movement is steadfastly continuing its fight for the liberation of its country.

The people of the Sahara still under Spanish domination have registered a great success with the recognition of their right to self-determination and independence by the relevant resolution of the United Nations General Assembly.

The people of Puerto Rico have also recorded a great success with the recognition by the United Nations Committee on Decolonization of its right to self-determination and independence. The historic victories achieved by the peoples of Viet-Nam, Cambodia and Laos are a major contribution to the liberation of the peoples of the world.

In the international arena, the affirmation of the legitimacy of the armed struggle waged by peoples striving for national liberation and the growing recognition of the liberation movements as the sole legitimate representatives of their peoples, constitute a significant achievement.

In this connexion, the decision of the United Nations and some specialized agencies to accord observer status to the liberation movements is particularly welcome.

Colonialism has reacted to these successes with renewed savagery and brutality, even going so far as the large-scale use of methods of genocide as they did at Wilyamu in Mozambique and making terrorism and political assassination State institutions. The cowardly assassination of the great African leader, Amilcar Cabral, like that of Eduardo Mondlane, the founder President of FRELIMO and the murder of the three Palestinian leaders, Kamel Adwan, Abu Youssef and Kamal Nassir, bear witness to the desperate situation and dilemma in which colonialism finds itself.

The increased military assistance which the regimes of oppression and exploitation continue to receive from some western Powers, in defiance of world public opinion, and massive capital investments contribute to the strengthening of their power and their capacity for internal repression as well as the increase in their potential for aggression. The patent reinforcement of the Pretoria-Salisbury-Lisbon axis, now increasingly being extended to Tel Aviv, highlights the identical objectives pursued by these regimes and calls for coherent and appropriate action on the part of the non-aligned countries, the national liberation movements and all the other forces which defend liberty, justice, progress and peace in the world.

In the face of the renewed aggressivity of imperialism and colonialism, concrete material aid to the liberation movements should be greatly increased in all fields in order to enable them to face up to the requirements of the situation with which they are confronted.

The non-aligned countries are increasingly conscious of the importance of the stake which the Third World represents for the forces of hegemony. The many difficulties they encounter in their desire to consolidate their sovereignty and ensure their development strengthens their conviction that the safeguarding of their independence is inseparable from the attainment of the aspirations of all oppressed peoples to freedom and independence.

The sustained struggle and solidarity of the peoples of the Third World is a deciding factor in the establishment of new international relationships capable of guaranteeing international peace and security.

In this connexion, the encouragement of a policy of detente and peace in Europe must not be interpreted or used as a factor designed to encourage or give respectability to Portuguese facism and colonialism.

Detente cannot mean either acceptance of situations of oppression in Africa, Asia, the Middle East and Latin America, or the transfer of zones of tension from the European continent to the countries of the Third World. Such developments heighten the challenge to the non-aligned countries and the national liberation movements. So long as colonialism in any of its forms continues to exist, the non-aligned countries should join forces with the liberation movements in a common struggle to end it. No independent country will remain free while imperialist bases and institutions remain in even one colony. Consequently, the assistance and support that the non-aligned countries provide to the peoples fighting for their freedom are based on the unity of the fight which they are waging and on their common aspirations.

Fully aware of the need to assume, in all circumstances, their duty of solidarity with struggling peoples, the non-aligned countries, in the face of the coalition of the systems of domination and exploitation,

- Undertake to increase their military, material, political and moral assistance to the liberation movements and to take all necessary steps to enable them successfully to pursue their fight, especially by:

(1) the creation of a support and solidarity fund to increase the effectiveness of the struggles of national liberation movements. They appeal to all peace and justice-loving States, as well as to all political, social and humanitarian institutions to assist them;

(2) the opening of offices in the capitals of the non-aligned countries;

(3) the granting of means to facilitate travel by representatives of the liberation movements.

- Undertake to pursue sustained action to mobilize public opinion in favour of the just cause of the peoples fighting for their freedom and independence and to strengthen their solidarity with them,

- Decide to do everything in their power to isolate the colonialist, racist and apartheid regimes, inter alia by:

(1) the severance or suspension or freezing of all relations with Portugal, South Africa, Rhodesia and Israel;

(2) the denunciation of these regimes in all international political, economic, cultural and social forums;

(3) the organization of campaigns to inform world public opinion, especially in the western countries, and to denounce the support that some of the Governments of these countries provide to Portuguese colonialism and to the regimes in South Africa, Rhodesia and Israel. These western powers must choose between the friendship of the non-aligned countries and the support they give to colonialist and racist regimes.

- The implementation of effective measures in the economic and trade fields against countries which blatantly violate every decision of all major international organizations in order to isolate colonial and racist regimes.

- Endorse the recommendations of the Oslo Conference and decide to support their adoption by the United Nations General Assembly, while at the same time stressing the need to take concrete action on those recommendations. In particular, they support the proposal for the convening of a conference of representatives of Governments, non-governmental organizations and liberation movements against colonialism.

- Call for the immediate implementation of the relevant United Nations resolutions.

RESOLUTION ON APARTHEID AND RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN SOUTH AFRICA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973

Seriously disturbed by the intensification of repressive measures by the racist minority regime in South Africa against the South African people,

Deeply concerned at the large-scale deployment of military power by South Africa throughout the territory, constituting a threat to peace and security in Africa and throughout the world,

Alarmed at the increasing interventions by the South African authorities for the purpose of supporting the other racist colonialist regimes in Southern Africa,

Noting with abhorrence the adoption and implementation of the fraudulent Bantustan policy by the racist regime as an alternative to full and unfettered political and economic rights for the people,

Deploring the economic, financial and military assistance that certain NATO powers continue to allocate to the racist regime in South Africa,

Noting with satisfaction the increase in popular resistance in the face of savage repression,

Viewing with deep concern the continued incarceration, for over ten years, of leaders of the liberation movement such as Nelson Mandela, Walter Sisulu and others,

Disturbed by continued investment in South Africa by many Western countries, especially the United States, the United Kingdom, France and the Federal Republic of Germany in defiance of resolutions to the contrary by the United Nations, Welcoming the programme of action relating to South Africa, adopted by the International Conference in Support of the Victims of Colonialism and Apartheid held in Oslo from 9 to 14 April 1973.

1. Reaffirms its full support for the South African people in their legitimate national liberation struggle against apartheid and racial discrimination to recover their sovereignty;

2. Commends the determination of the South African people in their just struggle to achieve their national liberation;

3. Pledges itself to increase its financial, material and political assistance to the South African liberation movement;

4. Pledges constant economic, diplomatic and moral support to the independent States in the areas which are subjected to economic threats and subversive acts by the white racist minority regimes in Southern Africa;

5. Condemns the Bantustan policy aimed at balkanising the territory and dividing the people along ethnic lines as being abhorrent to the concept of true Africanism;

6. Further condemns the continued economic, financial and military assistance given to South Africa by certain NATO powers, in particular the United States of America, France, the Federal Republic of Germany and the United Kingdom, thereby enabling the Government in Pretoria to maintain and reinforce its policy of repression and apartheid;

7. Invites all States and especially the major Western Powers and Japan to suspend all scientific collaboration with South Africa, in particular with regard to arms and atomic power, and to refrain from granting patents and licences to that country.

8. Calls on all non-aligned countries to take all steps, including diplomatic and, where possible, economic steps, both through the United Nations and unilaterally, to bring countries which encourage investments in South Africa to withdraw their investments;

9. Urges all non-aligned governments to take every opportunity to demand the release of all South African political prisoners.

RESOLUTION ON THE MIDDLE-EAST SITUATION AND THE PALESTINE ISSUE

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting at Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the previous resolutions adopted by the non-aligned countries concerning the serious situation in the Middle East resulting from Israel's persistence in occupying the territories of three non-aligned countries, which constitutes a threat to the security of the non-aligned countries and to international peace and security,

Reaffirming the legitimacy of the struggle of the Palestinian people against colonialism, zionism and racism to recover in their entirety their national rights, a struggle which forms an integral part of the liberation movement throughout the world,

Reaffirming the inadmissability of the acquisition of territories by force, which is in flagrant contradiction of the principles of the United Nations Charter and constitutes a grave danger to world peace,

Deeply concerned by Israel's policy of aggression and expansion which constitutes a serious infringement of the sovereignty of the Arab peoples of the Middle East as well as a threat to their security and territorial integrity,

Considering that Israel's continued policy of aggression against and occupation of Arab territories deprives the countries of the region of their right to exercise their sovereignty over their natural resources, which is in contradiction of the objectives of the non-aligned countries and of the United Nations Development Strategy, as well as United Nations resolutions affirming the right of States to exercise sovereignty over the natural resources contained in their territories

Denouncing Israel's persistent recourse, since its creation, to methods of violence and terrorism,

Recalling the 1949 Geneva Convention Relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War and demanding its strict application by the Israeli occupation forces,

Convinced that the military, economic, political and moral support given by certain Western countries, particularly the United States of America, enables Israel to continue to implement its policy of aggression and to consolidate its occupation of Arab territories;

1. Demands the immediate and unconditional evacuation by the Israeli forces of all Arab territories occupied since June 1967,

2. Reaffirms its total and effective support to Egypt, Syria and Jordan in their lawful struggle to regain, by all means, all their occupied territories,

3. Calls upon the non-aligned countries to pledge their support for the Arab people of Palestine in their struggle against zionist racist and colonialist settlements for the recovery of their full national rights, emphasizes that the recovery of these rights is a fundamental prerequisite for a just and lasting peace, and declares its recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization as the legitimate representative of the Palestinian people and of their just struggle;

4. Demands that all States forbid emigration to Palestine and the occupied Arab territories;

5. Denounces all those powers and in particular the United States of America, which afford military, economic, political and moral support to Israel, and calls upon them to desist forthwith from such aid;

6. Affirms the necessity for strict application of the Geneva Convention, and considers that all the illegal measures taken by Israel in the occupied territories to change the geographical and demographical aspects of those territories and the consequences of such measures are null and void, and should under no circumstances be recognized,

7. Condemns Israel's violation of human rights in the occupied Arab territories and its refusal to apply the 1949 Geneva Convention Relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War, further condemns the Israeli policy of changing the nature of the occupied territories, and considers that such actions constitute war crimes and a challenge to humanity as stated in the resolution adopted by the Committee on Human Rights at its twenty-eighth session;

8. Welcomes the decision of certain member countries to break off relations with Israel, and requests the other member countries to take steps to boycott Israel diplomatically, economically, militarily and culturally, as well as in the field of sea and air transport, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter;

9. Invites the Foreign Ministers of member States to present the views of the non-aligned countries on this question to the forthcoming session of the United Nations General Assembly in accordance with the terms of this resolution.

RESOLUTION

ANGOLA, GUINEA BISSAU, THE CAPE VERDE ISLANDS MOZAMBIQUE AND SAO TOME E PRINCIPE

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the resolutions adopted at the Summit Conferences of Belgrade, Cairo and Lusaka, and at the Georgetown Conference;

Recalling the resolutions, recommendations and declarations adopted by the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council, in particular General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960 regarding the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples, and the Security Council resolution of 22 November 1972;

Reaffirming the inalienable right to self-determination and independence of the peoples of Angola, Guinea Bissau, the Cape Verde Islands, Mozambique and Sao Tome e Principe, and the legitimacy of their struggle;

Noting the great successes achieved by the peoples of Angola, Guinea Bissau and Mozambique in their heroic armed struggle for national liberation, as evidenced by the continued development of that armed struggle and by the liberation of vast areas of their countries;

Noting with satisfaction that PAIGC is about to proclaim the State of Guinea Bissau;

Noting Portugal's obstinate refusal to apply the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples;

Noting that NATO is continuing to supply Portugal with arms, thus enabling it to pursue the war of colonial repression;

Noting once again with deep concern that foreign economic and financial interests in these territories continue to increase, hindering the realization of the legitimate aspirations of the African countries under Portuguese colonial domination.

1. Strongly condemns the colonialist policy of the Portuguese Government and its obstinate refusal to apply the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples;

2. Condemns the member countries of NATO, such as the United States, France, the United Kingdom, and the Federal Republic of Germany as well as Japan, which continue to provide assistance to Portugal in its colonialist war, and invites them to put an end to such assistance;

3. Condemns the foreign financial interests which operate in the countries under Portuguese colonial domination and exploit the human and material resources of those countries;

4. Condemns the plans to build the Cabora-Bassa dam in Mozambique and the Cunene dam in Angola, which are colonialist and imperialist ventures intended to strengthen the fascist and racist colonial regimes of Portugal, South Africa and Rhodesia, and to perpetuate the supremacy of a white minority in Southern Africa;

5. Reaffirms its unqualified support for and complete solidarity with the peoples struggling against Portuguese colonialism, and undertakes to step up its political, military, financial and material support to this just cause;

6. Welcomes the successes achieved by the national liberation movements of Angola, Guinea Bissau and the Cape Verde Islands, Mozambique and Sao Tome e Principe;

7. Requests members of the Non-Aligned Movement to give political and diplomatic support to the State of Guinea Bissau as soon as it is proclaimed by the Popular National Assembly of that country;

8. Pledges itself to take political, diplomatic, economic and trade measures against those Western countries and Japan which continue to give their political, military and economic support to the fascist colonial regime of Portugal;

9. Urges members to secure through diplomatic channels the expulsion or suspension of Portugal from membership of NATO until it:

(a) Terminates its colonial war in Africa;

(b) Withdraws all its troops from African soil; and

(c) Grants independance immediately to the people of Angola, Mozambique, Guinea Bissau, the Cape Verde Islands, and Sao Tome e Principe.

10. Invites the United Nations specialized agencies which have not yet done so to give assistance to liberation movements for the achievement of their programmes of rehabilitation in the liberated regions, in accordance with United Nations General Assembly resolutions;

11. Invites the Security Council to impose on Portugal the economic sanctions provided for in Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter;

12. Pledges itself to give constant support to all States, particularly Tanzania, Zambia, Congo, Zaire, Guinea and Senegal, which are the victims of repeated acts of aggression by Portuguese colonialism.

RESOLUTION ON ZIMBABWE

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the resolutions adopted by the Belgrade, Cairo and Lusaka Summit Conferences and the Georgetown Conference as well as the resolutions adopted by the General Assembly and the Security Council of the United Nations,

Reaffirming the inalienable right of the people of Zimbabwe to self-determination and independence in accordance with the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples,

Reaffirming further the legitimacy of the struggle of the people of Zimbabwe to exercise effectively their right to self-determination and independence,

Recalling that the Government of the United Kingdom is responsible, as the administering power, for bringing down the illegal racist minority regime and for ensuring the effective transfer of power to the people of Zimbabwe on the basis of universal suffrage,

Considering past and present appeals by anti-imperialist, national and international organizations to the British Government to convene a truly representative constitutional conference on Zimbabwe,

Considering the adamant refusal of the British Government to convene such a conference and that instead the British Government has opted for concluding settlements with the racist minority regime to the total exclusion of the Zimbabwe people,

Considering the clandestine negotiations currently taking place between the envoys of the British Government and the Smith regime,

Noting the rejection by the people of Zimbabwe of the "settlement proposals" agreed between the Government of the United Kingdom and the illegal racist minority regime,

Reaffirming that all attempts to negotiate the future of Zimbabwe with the illegal regime are contrary to the provisions of the United Nations' Charter and General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV),

Strongly deploring the arbitrary and illegal detention of Zimbabwe political leaders and patriots by the illegal racist minority regime,

Deeply concerned at the presence of and intervention by South African armed forces in the territory to assist the illegal regime in maintaining its domination,

Deploring the fact that the measures adopted by the Security Council have not succeeded in bringing down the illegal regime because of the constant collaboration of the Western Powers with it, thus preventing the application of economic sanctions,

Deeply concerned at the fact that the Government of the United States of America continues to import chromium and nickel from Zimbabwe in violation of Security Council decisions,

Reaffirming its conviction that sanctions will be effective only if they are wide-ranging, mandatory and effectively supervised and enforced,

Further reaffirming that such sanctions should be extended to Portugal and the South African regime because of their support for the illegal Salisbury regime,

Convinced that appeals to the United Kingdom to settle the Zimbabwe question are a sterile exercise in view of its vetos in the Security Council of the United Nations,

1. Reaffirms its full support for and complete solidarity with the people of Zimbabwe in their legitimate struggle for national independence and the exercise of their right to self-determination on the basis of universal suffrage;

2. Appeals to all its member states and their national organizations to provide and increase all-round material and other assistance to the liberation movement of Zimbabwe;

3. Undertakes to increase its material, financial and moral support for the Zimbabwe liberation movement;

4. Strongly condemns the refusal of the administering power to employ all means, including force, to bring down the illegal racist minority regime;

5. Condemns the continued presence of and intervention by South African armed forces in the territory and calls upon the administering power to secure the immediate removal of all such forces from the territory,

6. Condemns non-application of the economic sanctions against the illegal regime decided on by the Security Council, such as the United States Government's continued importation of chromium and nickel from Zimbabwe,

7. Urges the Government of the United Kingdom not to transfer or grant any of the powers or attributes of sovereignty, in any circumstances, to the illegal racist minority regime and to ensure Zimbabwe's progress towards independence in accordance with the true aspirations of its people,

8. Invites the Security Council to extend the scope of the economic sanctions to include the full force of Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter, against the illegal regime and to impose similar sanctions on Portugal and South Africa.

9. Urges all governments and the United Nations and its specialized agencies to give their full moral and material support to the people of Zimbabwe.

10. Pledges its constant support to all States, especially Zambia, which are subjected to economic and military threats and provocative acts of aggression by the racist minority regimes in Southern Africa.

11. Calls upon the United Kingdom, as the administering power in Southern Rhodesia to ensure the immediate release of all political prisoners, detainees and restricted persons and the resumption of political activity in the territory.

RESOLUTION ON NAMIBIA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Noting with satisfaction the intensification of the armed struggle waged by the people of Namibia under the leadership of SWAPO,

Noting with encouragement and appreciation the effective political mobilization of the Namibian people by SWAPO that resulted in the overwhelming rejection of the machinations and intrigues of South Africa's illegal administration attempting to fragment the territorial unity of Namibia,

In view of the constant attempts by the imperialist powers, especially the United Kingdom and France, two of the permanent members of the Security Council, to undermine the effectiveness of the United Nations Council for Namibia,

Considering the inalienable right of the Namibian People to self-determination and independence and the continued illegal presence of the South African regime in Namibia,

Noting with alarm the presence of the Consulate of the Federal Republic of Germany in Namibia in violation of United Nations General Assembly and Security Council resolutions and the decision of the International Court of Justice which terminated South Africa's mandate over Namibia and demanded that all countries sever all relations entered into by South Africa concerning Namibia;

Vehemently condemns the alarming increase in killings, arrests, torture and imprisonment of SWAPO members and leaders by the illegal racist administration of South Africa in Namibia;

Pledges itself to increase concrete material, moral and diplomatic support to thefighting people of Namibia through SWAPO;

Further pledges itself to live up to Resolution NAC/CONF.3/Res.15 on Namibia adopted at the Third Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries at Lusaka (Zambia);

Recognizes SWAPO as the legitimate representative and spokesman of the Namibian People in conformity with the decisions and resolutions of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), the International Conference on Namibia (Brussels) and the Conference in Support of the Victims of Colonialism and Apartheid (Oslo);

Supports the termination of the dialogue between the UN Secretary-General and the illegal South African regime in Namibia, in accordance with the wishes of the people of Namibia expressed through SWAPO, the recommendations of the United Nations Council for Namibia and the resolution adopted at the last OAU Summit Conference;

Pledges itself to render effective support to the United Nations Council for Namibia so as to ensure a smooth and effective hastening of freedom and independence for Namibia;

Unreservedly condemns the presence of South African military bases, troops and police on Namibian soil;

Demands the immediate withdrawal of South Africa from the territory;

Demands a clear position on the part of the Federal Republic of Germany before its entry into the United Nations Organization;

Further demands the immediate and unconditional release of all Namibian prisoners, both in Namibia and Robben Island in South Africa;

Also demands that captured Namibian freedom fighters should be treated as prisoners of war;

Expresses alarm at the continued exploitation of the natural resources of the sea, sea-bed and sub-soil thereof in the waters off the coast of Namibia;

Calls upon the international community to recognize the sole right of the Namibian people, as represented by SWAPO acting through the Council for Namibia, to exclusive possession of the rights and benefits from such activity.

RESOLUTION ON THE SO-CALLED SPANISH SAHARA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Deeply concerned at the attitude and intentions of the Spanish Government as regards the decolonization of the Sahara under its domination,

Recalling resolution 1514 (XV) adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on 14 December 1960 concerning the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples;

Recalling the resolutions of the United Nations, of the Organization of African United and of the Non-Aligned Countries concerning the question of the Sahara under Spanish domination;

1. Denounces the dilatory manoeuvres whereby the Spanish Government seeks to evade its obligations and the decisions of international bodies, in order to prolong a situation the maintenance of which involves serious risks of tension in the area;

2. Expresses its complete solidarity with the populations of the Sahara under Spanish domination;

3. Reaffirms its unshakeable attachment to the principle of self-determination and its concern to see it applied under conditions that would ensure to the people of the Sahara under Spanish domination the free and authentic expression of their will, in accordance with the relevant United Nations resolutions regarding this territory.

RESOLUTION ON THE SO-CALLED FRENCH SOMALI COAST (DJIBOUTI)

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Deeply concerned at the very serious situation in the so-called French Somali Coast;

Reaffirms the right of the people of the so-called French Somali Coast (Djibouti) to self-determination and independence in accordance with Resolution 1514(XV) of the United Nations General Assembly;

Condemns the transfer of French troops previously stationed in Madagascar to the so-called French Somali Coast (Djibouti);

Requests the French Government to end repression in the so-called French Somali Coast (Djibouti) (deportations, electrified barrier systems and anti-personnel mines) and to grant the territory independence without further delay.

RESOLUTION ON THE COMORES

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Having considered the persistence of colonialism, especially in the African continent,

Recalling the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples contained in General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960,

Taking account of the unanimous desire of the people of the Comores archipelago to obtain their independence as soon as possible, as they clearly declared on 3 December 1972 at the legislative elections in the Comores,

Condemning any dilatory action aimed at retarding the Comores' accession to independence and infringing their political and territorial integrity,

1. Reaffirms the inalienable right of the people of the Comores archipelago to self-determination and independence in accordance with General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960;

2. Calls upon the French Government to take the necessary steps to ensure the accession of the territory of the Comores to complete and immediate independence in accordance with the objectives set forth in the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples and with the relevant provisions of the United Nations Charter;

3. Strongly reaffirms the national unity and territorial integrity of the Comores archipelago and condemns any attempt to partly or completely destroy them or to delay its full independance;

4. Deplores the French Government's refusal to heed the appeals from international organizations such as the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity (OAU) and the Non-Aligned Group and co-operate with them in order to expedite the complete independence of the Comores archipelago;

5. Requests all member States of the Non-Aligned Group to provide the moral and material aid necessary to the National Liberation Movement of the Comores (MOLINACO) in its efforts to achieve the immediate freedom of the Comores.

RESOLUTION ON VIET-NAM

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the resolutions adopted at the Lusaka Summit Conference and at the Georgetown Conference,

Noting with satisfaction the cease-fire agreement and the restoration of peace in Viet-Nam, as well as the Act of the International Conference on Viet-Nam and the Joint Communique of 13 June 1973,

Deeply concerned at the violations of the capital clauses of the Agreement and the Act of the International Conference on Viet-Nam which have been committed by the United States of America and the Saigon administration and which have seriously aggravated the situation in that part of the world since the Agreement came into force,

1. Expresses satisfaction at the signing of the cease-fire agreement and the restoration of peace in Viet-Nam and the Act of the International Conference on Viet-Nam and regards the victory of the Vietnamese people as a common victory for the great family of non-aligned countries and for all peoples struggling against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism for peace, national independence, democracy and social progress;

2. Expresses further satisfaction at the extensive efforts made by the Government of the Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam and the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Viet-Nam - the only genuine representative of the South Vietnamese people - to implement the Paris Agreement on Viet-Nam and the Act of the International Conference on Viet-Nam;

3. Demands that the United States of America and the Saigon administration immediately and definitively cease to violate the Paris Agreement on Viet-Nam, and genuinely implement the said Agreement, particularly the clauses relating to the cease-fire, the freeing of hundreds of thousands of political detainees and the guaranteeing of democratic freedom for the people;

4. Calls on non-aligned countries to intensify their support for the Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Republic of South Viet-Nam at all political, moral and diplomatic levels in its just struggle to build a peaceful, independent, neutral and democratic South Viet-Nam as a step towards the peaceful reunification of the Fatherland, and to provide all material assistance for the rehabilitation of Viet-Nam.

RESOLUTION ON CAMBODIA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9, September 1973,

Recalling the resolution on Cambodia adopted at the Georgetown Conference and its full support for the Five-Point Declaration of 23 March 1970 by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Head of State of Cambodia, on the settlement of the Cambodian problem;

Recalling that independent and non-aligned Cambodia, formerly an oasis of peace, has been dragged into the United States war of aggression in Indochina, since March 1970, as a result of the anti-national coup d'etat,

Recalling the legality and legitimacy of the Royal Government headed by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, victim of the coup d'etat against Cambodian neutrality, Considering that by its collective recognition of the Royal Government of the National Union of Cambodia it has provided the Cambodian people with the most valuable support in their rightful struggle for independence, sovereignty and neutrality.

1. Demands that the United States Government desist from all acts of aggression against Cambodia and interference in its internal affairs, and in particular stop all aid to the Phnom Penh regime, and that its military personnel and the foreign armed forces it has engaged in Cambodia be withdrawn;

2. Calls upon all peace and justice-loving countries to give official recognition to the Royal Government of the National Union of Cambodia as the sole legal Government of Cambodia;

3. Reaffirms its solidarity with the Royal Government of the National Union of Cambodia in its struggle at the international level and its unwavering support within the United Nations and other international organizations.

RESOLUTION ON THE PROBLEM OF KOREA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Considering that Korea has remained divided for almost 30 years,

Noting that tangible progress was achieved in 1972 towards the peaceful reunification of Korea, but that since that time obstacles have arisen,

Mindful of the fact that the continuation of this division constitutes a permanent threat to peace and security in Asia and in the world,

Demanding that foreign interference in Korea be brought to an end and that the right of the Korean people to self-determination be guaranteed in order to allow them to manage their own affairs themselves and to settle the question of the reunification of Korea by peaceful means,

Bearing in mind the desire of the Korean people for the reunification of their country and their unanimous opposition to the proposal for membership of Korea in the United Nations in the form of simultaneous membership by two Koreas which would make it possible to perpetuate the division of the country,

1. Calls for the withdrawal of all foreign troops stationed in South Korea and an end to foreign interference in all its forms in the domestic affairs of Korea;

2. Further calls on the United Nations General Assembly, at its Twenty-Eighth Session, to consider the question of Korea and to decide on the withdrawl of foreign troops stationed in South Korea under the United Nations flag and on the dissolution of the United Nations Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea with a view to facilitating the peaceful and independent reunification of Korea;

3. Declares that Korean membership in the United Nations can only be achieved in the name of a single State, after the complete reunification of the country or after the establishment of a confederation of North and South.

RESOLUTION ON PUERTO RICO

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the statements and resolutions approved by the Summit Conference in Cairo in October 1964 and the Georgetown (Guyana) Conference in August 1972 concerning Puerto Rico,

Considering that Puerto Rico is a Latin American country which has never been able to exercise its right to self-determination or to enjoy independence, because it has been stifled by foreign intervention, and that at the present time it is one of the main enclaves of colonialism in Latin America,

Apprised of the resolution adopted by the United Nations Committee on Decolonization on 30 August 1973 reaffirming the inalienable right of the Puerto Rican people to self-determination and independence in accordance with General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV), calling on the United States of America to refrain from taking any measures which might obstruct the exercise by the Puerto Rican people of their right to self-determination and independence and their economic, social and other rights, and in particular to prevent any violation of these rights by corporations under its jurisdiction, and deciding to keep the matter under permanent review.

Conscious of the fact that new forms of colonialist economic exploitation are being conducted in Puerto Rico by the oil and petrochemical industry, and that plans are currently being made to escalate such measures to a degree that would convert the territory of Puerto Rico into a gigantic oil depot of the United States,

1. Expresses full support for the resolutions adopted by the United Nations Committee on Decolonization and requests the United Nations General Assembly to endorse those resolutions;

2. Demands that the Government of the United States of America refrain from carrying out, directly or through transnational companies, any investment project that would involve an irreversible change in the physionomy, structure or ecology of Puerto Rico, or which would affect the territorial integrity and/or the national unity of that territory.

3. Requests the United Nations Committee on Decolonization and other appropriate bodies to expedite and extend measures to help the Puerto Rican people to achieve full sovereignty and independence and the recovery of their national heritage.

RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE LAW OF THE SEA

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Considering that the Non-Aligned Countries, at the Lusaka and Georgetown Conferences, formulated important principles concerning the Law of the Sea which have influenced the position of the United Nations General Assembly as well as the preparations for the next Conference on the Law of the Sea,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 2749 (XXV) which contains a statement of the principles relating to the sea-bed and ocean floor based on the declaration adopted in September 1970 at Lusaka,

Recalling also General Assembly resolution 3016 (XXVII) which reaffirms the right of States to permanent sovereignty over all their natural resources, both in territories included within their international frontiers and in the sea-bed and ocean floor and the sub-soil thereof within the limits of their national jurisdiction and in the superjacent waters,

Recalling further the principles, recommendations and declarations adopted at the meetings of the Asian-African Legal Advisory Committee (Colombo 1971, Lagos 1972 and New Delhi 1973), at the second Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 (Lima 1971), at the Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Caribbean Countries (Santo Domingo 1972), at the regional seminar of African States on the Law of the Sea (Yaounde 1972), at UNCTAD III (Santiago de Chile 1972) and at the Conference of the Organization of African Unity (Addis Ababa 1973),

Reaffirming the vital importance of the rational exploitation of marine and ocean resources for the economic development and promotion of the well-being of peoples,

Considering, finally, the need for further co-ordination between the Non-Aligned Countries to ensure international recognition of these principles at the Conference on the Law of the Sea to be held in Santiago de Chile in 1974 and which, according to resolution 2750 C (XXV), is to [illegible] consider the various subjects and questions of the juridical regime governing oceanic space, having regard to the political and economic realities as well as to scientific and technological progress in the last decade,

1. Welcomes the adoption by the United Nations General Assembly of resolutions 2750 (XXV) and 3016 (XXVII);

2. Supports the recognition of the rights of coastal States in seas adjacent to their coasts and in the soil and sub-soil thereof, within zones of national jurisdiction not exceeding 200 miles measured from the baselines, for the purposes of exploiting natural resources and protecting the other connected interests of their peoples, without prejudice either to the freedom of navigation and overflight, where applicable, or to the regime relating to the continental shelf;

3. Stresses the need to establish a preferential system for geographically handicapped developing countries, including land-locked countries, in respect both of access to the sea and of the exploitation of living resources in zones of national jurisdiction;

4. Recommends that the new Law of the Sea take into account the particular conditions in each region;

5. Reaffirms the principle that the zone and resources of the sea-bed and ocean floor and the subsoil thereof beyond the limits of national jurisdiction are the common heritage of mankind;

- the need to take the Declaration of Principles adopted by the United Nations General Assembly as a basis for establishing a system for administering that zone;

- the need to set up an international authority to undertake, under its effective control either directly or by any other means on which it might decide, all activities related to exploration of the zone and exploitation of its resources, having due regard to the economic and ecological repercussions of such activities on the special needs and interests of developing countries whether coastal or land-locked and distributing equitably the benefits and other advantages resulting from such activities;

6. Recommends also that the new rules governing the use and exploitation of ocean space should take into consideration the conservation of the marine environment;

7. Considers that the new rules should effectively help to remove threats to the security of States and ensure respect for their sovereignty and territorial integrity;

8. Stresses the urgency of the Conference on the Law of the Sea to be held in Santiago de Chile in 1974, and the need to ensure its success through adequate preparation and the adoption of rules of procedure permitting the rapid achievement of positive results and ensuring the maximum possible degree of agreement;

9. Reiterates that, in accordance with the Declaration of Principles Governing the Sea-Bed and the Ocean Floor and the Subsoil thereof Outside the Limits of National Jurisdiction, as adopted under resolution 2749 (XXV), and with the provisions of resolution 2574 (XXIV), no State or persons, physical or juridical, may exploit the resources of the area pending the establishment of the international regime agreed on;

10. Recommends that the representatives of the non-aligned countries at the next session of the General Assembly of the United Nations and at the Conference on the Law of the Sea, should hold prior meetings to co-ordinate their positions and actions on matters of organization and substance relating to that Conference with a view to ensuring the establishment of a new regime governing ocean space which is based on the principles of justice, security, peaceful co-existence, development and well-being for all peoples.

RESOLUTION ON DRUGS

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Deeply concerned at the constant increase in the ravages caused by drugs and narcotics which particularly affect the youth and which, in the medium-term, represent a definite threat to the health and economy of Third World countries,

Solemnly appeals to all member countries and recommends that they undertake to carry out emergency measures in their own territories to combat that scourge;

Urges them to co-ordinate their efforts by co-operating closely in the adoption and implementation of legislation designed to stamp out trafficking in drugs, narcotics and other harmful products or substances.

RESOLUTION ON THE MANDATE ENTRUSTED TO THE CHAIRMAN OF THE CONFERENCE

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling that non-aligned countries have made constant efforts towards progress, justice and peace as well as for the eradication of tension factors in the world, through negociation and recourse to international forums in order to promote universal detente, and peaceful co-existence,

Considering the concern expressed in the statements of Heads of State or Government in the course of the debates of the Fourth Conference held in Algiers, to reinforce and ensure the continuity of the role of non-aligned countries in international relations and particularly in international organizations, Entrusts the current Chairman with the task of presenting the deliberations and decisions of the present Conference to the General Assembly of the United Nations at its Twenty-Eighth Session.

FOURTH CONFERENCE OF HEADS OF STATE OR GOVERNMENT

OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

ECONOMIC DECLARATION

(Algiers, 5 - 9 September 1973)

ECONOMIC DECLARATION

Introduction

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries made a detailed review of the development of economic and social conditions in developing countries in the context of the prevailing world situation since the Lusaka Conference, particularly in the light of the International Development Strategy of the United Nations, and of the third session of UNCTAD, the United Nations Conference on the Human Environment, preparation for multilateral trade negociations and the reform of the monetary system and the important Conference of Foreign Ministers of non-aligned countries held at Georgetown.

They noted that the trend in the international situation towards detente, which has always been the aim of the non-aligned countries and which is a positive factor for the strengthening of peace in some parts of the world has had little appreciable effect on the development of the developing countries and on international co-operation. The Heads of State or Government therefore considered that the increasing trend towards closer economic relations between developed countries should in no way adversely affect the basic interests of developing countries.

I. The struggle against imperialism

The Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries noted that imperialism is still the greatest obstacle to the emancipation and progress of the developing countries which are struggling to achieve standards of living compatible with the most basic standards of well-being and human dignity. Imperialism not only hampers the economic and social progress of developing countries but also adopts an aggressive attitude towards those who oppose its plans, trying to impose upon them political, social and economic structures which encourage alien domination, dependence and neo-colonialism.

This situation derives from a systematic policy pursued by imperialism everywhere which remains unchanged even though is implementation may assume different forms according to time and place. In particular, it must be pointed out that, in addition to being an infringement of the principles of sovereignty and independance imperialist policy sometimes has recourse to open aggression against the economies of countries which reject alien domination. This policy even resorts to the use of force and the unleashing of criminal wars such as those affecting the peoples of Indochina and the Arab peoples of the Middle East.

Many countries are still subject to imperialist domination and neo-colonialist exploitation, which constitue a threat to the sovereinghty of State and hamper the development of the peoples concerned. This situation accounts for the considerable and ever-increasing disparity between the industrialised countries and the under-developed world.

Moreover, some peoples are still victims of direct colonization and apartheid which deprive them of their fundamental rights to sovereignty and independance and prevent any possibility of development.

Thus the developing countries, in general, are still subject directly or indirectly to imperialist exploitation. Colonialism and imperialism have been unable to withstand the vast political liberation movement marked by the historical turning point of Bandung, but they have adapted themselves in order to perpetuate, in different forms, their stranglehold on the ressources of the developing countries to ensure all kinds of priveleges and reliable outlets for their manufactured products and services.

Policies have been implemented which are based on the use of overt and covert economic aggression, as illustrated by the manifold and increasingly pervasive activities of transnational and monopolistic commercial financial industrial companies.

In their struggle to achieve independence, economic development and full equality in international relations, the non-aligned countries, individually and collectively, with the of progressive forces are effectively resisting imperialist aggression, and have thus emerged as a major force in the struggle against imperialism throughout the world.

II - Economic Situation of the Developing World

In view of this increasingly alarming situation, numerous compelling factors, the most significant of which is the determination of peoples to free themselves from any form of alien domination by taking their destiny into their own hands have led the internationl community to elaborate various policies aimed at establishing a new type of international economic relations.

The determination of the vast majority of the developed countries to perpetuate the existing economic order for their sole benefit, wilk little regard for the whishes of the developing countries, has virtually thwarted all attempts at progress. The failures of the first Development Decade and the unsatisfactory implementation of the recommendations of UNCTAD III together with the disappointing results of the first three years of the current Decade have already jeapordized the achievment of the objectives of the International Development Strategy.

III - Review of the International Development Strategy

The developing world which accounts for 70 per cent of world population, subsists on only 30 per cent of world income.

Of the 2,600 million inhabitants of the developing world, 800 million are illiterate, almost 1,000 million suffer from malnutrition or hunger, and 900 million have a daily income of less than 0,3 U.S. dollar.

In the light of all these considerations, estimates up to 1980 cannot be but extremely pessimistic.

Assuming that the objectives set for the Second Development Decade can be achieved and this is in no way certain, gross national income in the developing countries would increase by only $ 85 as against $ 1,200 in the industrialized States.

By the end of the present decade, average annual per capita income will be $ 3,600 in the developed countries, but only $ 265 in the developing countries.

The acknowledged failure of the International Development Strategy can be explained both by the lack of political will in developed countries to take urgent action and by the failure to make the growth target actually respond to the expectations of the developing countries.

Indeed, the necessary international co-operation has been lacking. The attitudes of the Governments of some developed countries and the behaviour of transnational firms and other monopolies benefiting from the plundering of developing countries have not contributed to the creation of an external economic situation in line with special dra wing rights (SDR) targets.

Other factors are the inflationary rise in the cost of imports, and the pressures on the balance of payments due to transfers deriving from private foreign investments, repayment of the principal and the heavy cost of external debt servicing and the aggravating effects of the international monetary crisis.

The arms race and the competition for space conquest continue to absorb large sums of money, whereas assistance through international multilateral co-operation is becoming increasingly reduced in relation to the growing needs of developing countries.

The numerous projects intended to enable the developing countries to benefit in an organized way from the results of scientific research and technological progress have not even begun to be seriously implemented, whereas there is a continuous drain of a large number of highly qualified personnel especially scientists and technicians, from the developing countries continues unchecked.

Clearly, however, only a proper conception of development based on the requisite changes to internal structure particular to each country, and which encompasses growth in all the key sectors will enable our countries to achieve their development targets. This process is inseparable from the social process which calls for full employment, income redistribution and the over-all solution of problems such as health, nutrition, housing and education. It is equally obvious that these aims can only be achieved through conscious and democratic participation of the masses which one the determing factors in any national endeavour to achieve dynamic, effective and independent development.

IV - Trade and Monetary Problems

The Heads of State or Government noted that the already modest share of developing countries in world trade is continually decreasing, while the terms of trade are constantly deteriorating.

The share of developing countries in world trade declined from 21.3 per cent in 1960 to 17,6 per cent in 1970.

The Generalized System of Preferences automatically excludes the main agricultural products and imposes strict controls on the import of all products considered as sensitive by the developing countries ; in addition, it is not applied by all countries.

...../...

. The recent increase in the price of certain raw materials has not benefited the developing countries as a group, since import prices have increased even more, and the profits resulting from the rise in the price of raw materials have been made by the trensnational companies.

The trade situation of the developing countries has worsened as a result of the international monetary crisis for which they are in no way responsible, although they are bearing the brunt of it.

The transfer of resources from the developed to the developing countries has continued to decrease, while the volume of the latter's external debt has quadrupled during the last decade and is now over 80 thousand million dollars.

Furthermore, there has been no improvement in the terms of development financing.

The Heads of State or Government noted that economic power has hitherto been used in trade negotiations to frustrate the aspirations of developing countries. They therefore regard the forthcoming multilateral trade negotiations as of great importance for reversing the adverse trends in the trade of developing countries. They agreed that non-aligned countries and other developing countries and other developing countries should take a united stand in the negotiations and aim at universal acceptance of the principle of equity in international relations. They Strongly believe that the multilateral trade negotiations will pave the way for a new and just international division of labour. To this end, the negotiations should aim at :

- ensuring for, developing countries net additional benefits, an increased share in world trade and diversification of their exports ;

.../...

- Placing emphasis in other bodies on complementary objectives and measures to enable developing countries to obtain maximum benefits from the negotiations ;

- Winning acceptance of the principles of non-reciprocity, non-discrimination and preferential treatment in respect of developing countries ;

- Extending the Generalized System of Preferences ;

- Ensuring that any erosion resulting from the negotiations is compensated ;

- Ensuring that the co-ordinated approach to trade and monetary problems takes the fullest account of the special interests of developing countries ;

- Ensuring that preferential treatment in respect of developing countries is included in any reform of the framework of international trade and the rules of GATT.

The reform of the international monetary system concerns the developing countries in all its aspects and to the highest degree.

Because of the basic principles governing it and the way in which it works, the monetary and financial system devised at Bretton Woods has served only the interests of some developed countries. The efforts made by the developing countries to bring about a progressive adjustment of the Bretton Woods system in order to take account of their specific needs have failed. This clearly illustrates the lack of political will on the part of certain industrialized countries to establish and promote true co-operation between developed and developing countries within the framework of the international financial and monetary system.

The new international monetary system in the establishment and working of which the developing countries should participate on an equal footing, should be universal guarantee the stability of flows and conditions of financing international of trade and take into account the specific situation and needs of developing countries on the basis of preferential treatment.

V - Special Measures in favour of the least Developed Countries, including land-locked Countries

The Heads of State or Government viewing with concern the persisting stagnation in the economy of the least developed countries, consider that the international community should intensify the special assistance given them in the bodies belonging to the United Nations system by increasing the volume of aid and providing them with financial and technical assistance in all fields of development, including communications and diversification of exports.

They further consider that special international assistance should also be provided to the land-locked developing countries to enable them to overcome their geo-structural handicap and to derive full benefit from the resolutions adopted by the United Nations bodies in this regard.

In this connexion, the problems of land-locked countries surrounded by countries against whom economic sanctions have been applied by the United Nations deserve special attention.

VI - Food Problems

In wiew of the catastrophic scale of the food crisis in vast areas of the world , especially in the Sudano-Sahelian region of Africa, which aggravates the food shortage which has continued for fifteen years without improvement, it is imperative that the international community adopt as a matter of extreme urgency the measures dictated by this situation, which is now coupled with the unchecked rise in the price of staple products.

The Heads of State or Government consider it necessary to adopt more effective solutions than those at present proposed in the field of international co-operation concerning staple products.

To rescind the restrictive measures relating to production and stocks, which have a highly detrimental effect on the volume and substantially increase the price, of certain agricultural products of the developed countries which are essential to the developing countries.

VII - Sovereignty and Natural Resources

In view of the seriousness of the problems with which thay are faced developing countries realize more than ever before the vital necessity of making every possible effort to consolidate their national independence and reinforce their fighting front by challenging imperialist and neo-colonial exploitation structures and by organizing co-operation and solidarity with one another in intercontinental and regional organizations. The action taken in non-aligned countries after the Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka and Georgetown Conferences, the decline of colonial and neo-colonial groupings, the strengthening of the unity of action of the "Group of 77", particularly on the basis of the Charter of Algiers and the Lima Declaration, and régional co-operation and integration activities, are all steps marking the transition from passive submission of claims to the affirmation of the developing countries' determination to rely first and foremost on their own resources, individually and collectively, to take over the defence of their fundamental interests and to organize their development by and for themselves.

The Heads of State or Government, while recalling the inviolable principle that every country has the right to adopt the economic and social system which it deems most favourable to its development, reaffirm each country's inalienable right to the full exercise of national sovereignty over its natural resources and all domestic economic activities.

Any infringement of the right of effective control by any State over its natural resources and their exploitation by means suited to its own situation, having respect for the ecological balance, including nationalization and the transfer of property to its nationals, is countrary to the aims and principles of the United Nations Charter and hampers the development of international co-operation as well as the maintenance of international peace and security.

The Conference gives its unreserved support to the application of the principle that nationalization carried out by States as an expression of their sovereignty, in order to safeguard their natural ressources, implies that each State is entitled to determine the amount of possible compensation and its mode of payment and that any disputes which might arise should be settled in accordance with the national legislation of each State.

The non-aligned countries give their ready and unreserved support to the developing countries and to the territories under colonial domination which are subject to boycott, economic aggression or political pressure and are struggling to recover effective control over their natural resources and the economic activities which are still under foreign domination.

In this connection, the Heads of State or Government recommend the establishment of effective solidarity bodies for the defence of the interests of raw material producing countries such as OPEC and CIPEC, which are capable of undertaking wide-ranging activities in order to recover natural resources and ensure increasingly substantial export earnings and income in real terms, and to use these resources for development purposes and to raise the living standards of their peoples.

The results obtained in the hydrocarbons sector, which was previously exploited for the sole benefit of the transnational oil companies, demonstrate the power and effectiveness of organized and concerted action by producing and exporting countries.

Similarly, the determination of an increasing number of developing countries to terminate treaties, agreements and conventions imposed on them by force andevidence, is producing increasingly positive results. This process should be extended, accelerated and co-ordinated in Latin America, Asia, Africa, the Middle East, and in other developing countries, in order to strengthen solidarity among the developing countries, reverse the trend towards a deterioration of their situation and secure the establishment of a new international economic order which would meet the requirements of genuine democracy.

The non-aligned countries decide to use all possible means so that the global approach for the achievement of the aforementioned objectives is accepted by the international community, which would take the fullest possible account of the provisions contained inter alia, in the Charter of Algiers, the Lusaka Declaration, the Lima Declaration and the Georgetown Action Programme.

VIII. Transnational Companies

The Heads of State or Government denounce before world public opinion the unacceptable practices of transnational companies which infringe the sovereignty of developing countries and violate the principles of non-interference and the right of peoples to self-determination, which are prerequisites for their political, economic and social progress.

The Conference also recommends that steps be taken by non-aligned countries for joint action on transnational companies, within the framework of a global strategy designed to modify qualitatively and quantitatively the system of economic and financial relations which subordinates developing countries to industrialized countries.

IX - Transfer of Technology

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries recognize the need for developing countries to bridge the gap between them and the industrialised world in the field of technology.

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries stress that environmental measures adopted by one State should not adversely affect the environment of other States, or zones outside their jurisdiction.

The non-aligned countries consider it necessary to ensure effective co-operation between countries through the establishment of adequate international standards for the conservation and harmonious exploitation of natural resources common to two or more States in the context of the normal and habitual relations existing between them.

They also believe that cooperation between countries interested in the exploitation of such resources should be developed on the basis of a system of information and prior consultations within the frame work of the normal relations existing between them.

Co-operation between developed and developing countries in the environmental field requires that the former de-mine the territories which they had mined during previous wars and acts of aggression, since these mines are a source of pollution in a number of developing countries.

XIII. Charter of economic rights and duties of States

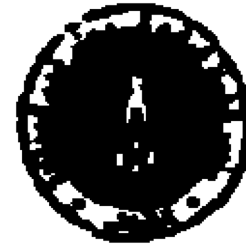
The non-aligned countries deem it necessary that the United Nations General Assembly should give priority, at its twenty-eight session to the elaboration of the Charter of economic rights and duties of States.

This document should give expression to the economic aspirations of countries struggling to achieve over-all development as well as those of the international community as a whole.

XIV. Preservation and Development of National Cultures



It is recognized that the activities of imperialism are not confined solely to political and economic fields but also cover the cultural and social fields, thus imposing an alien ideological domination over the peoples of the developing world.

The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries accordingly stress the need to reassert indigenous cultural identity and eliminate the harmful consequences of the colonial era and call for the preservation of their national culture and traditions.

They consider that cultural alienation and the imported civilization imposed by imperialism and colonialism should be countered by repersonalization and by constant and determined recourse to the country's own social and cultural values which define it as a sovereign people, master of its own resources so that all peoples shall exercice effective control over all their natural wealth and strive for their economic development under conditions ensuring respect for their sovereignty and authenticity, and peace and genuine international co-operation.

RESOLUTION ON THE DROUGHT SITUATION

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Considering that the non-aligned countries will have to rely first and foremost on their own efforts, both individually by national endeavour, and collectively by more intense co-operation among themselves;

Considering that the problem of world food shortage is aggravated by the phenomenon of cyclical droughts, affecting in particular the countries of the Sahel region of Africa and other countries situated near that region, and also countries of the Indian sub-continent and South-East Asia;

Deeply concerned at the inadequacy of the measures taken by FAO and WFP resulting from the failure of the developed countries and the international financial institutions to make the necessary resources available to those organizations;

Urgently appeals to the developed countries and the international financial institutions to make available to FAO and WFP the resources necessary for launching a rapid and effective operational field programme to alleviate the effects of drought in those countries that have been affected by it;

Decides in principle to create, within the framework of the Economic and Social Development Fund for non-aligned countries, a specific aid programme for member countries of the Conference that have suffered from the effects of drought;

Instructs the co-ordinating body set up by the Conference of non-aligned countries to study practical ways and means of implementing this programme.

RESOLUTION ON SPECIAL MEASURES RELATED TO THE PARTICULAR NEEDS OF THE LAND-LOCKED COUNTRIES

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the Lusaka Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic Progress and the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at Georgetown, Conscious of the urgent needs of the land-locked countries and the special measures that should be considered and implemented in their favour,

Recalling the relevant provisions of the decisions of the United Nations and its related agencies recommending financial and technical assistance for these countries particularly with respect to infrastructure of all kinds,

Recommends

1. A set of special provisions to be urgently considered and implemented in order to ensure their right of free access to and from the sea and to provide for necessary international assistance to meet their special needs,

2. Invites the appropriate international bodies of the UN system to provide for the establishment of a special fund for subsidizing the additional transport costs of the land-locked developing countries.

3. Urgently requests the speedy implementation of the various resolutions adopted in this respect by the United Nations and its related bodies.

RESOLUTION ON ECONOMIC SECURITY AND COLLECTIVE ACTION

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

CONSIDERING:

That imperialist threats and the application of measures of pressure and coercion of an economic nature among States are just as harmful as military aggression and create a state of imbalance which endangers international peace and security,

That the United Nations Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security, and the Declaration on Principles of International Law Concerning Friendly Relations and Co-operation among States, have imposed on States the duty of abstaining in their relations from applying measures of economic pressure and coercion designed to limit the sovereignty of States,

That resolution 3016 (XXVII) of the United Nations General Assembly declared coercive actions, measures or legislative regulations by States to be in violation of the Charter, and that resolution 330 of the Security Council called for the cessation of the application of any type of coercive economic measure against States in Latin America and specified that the latter should adopt appropriate measures to prevent their encouragement and use by transnational companies inasmuch as they endanger international peace and security,

That international security should be based not only on renunciation of the use of armed force but also on the renunciation of resort to any kind of aggression in economic relations by means of pressure, coercion, economic blockades, the freezing of credits or any other direct or indirect measures aimed at limiting the sovereignty of States and at obstructing the country's right to developmental self-determination,

That there are other emergency situations which do not result from economic aggression and which cannot be solved by a developing country's internal efforts, which means that collective economic security measures should be designed to give joint aid to the State affected,

That operational procedures should be worked out for co-ordinated and concerted action to apply the solutions in question,

DECIDES as follows:

1. Any non-aligned country which deems itself the victim of measures of pressure and coercion as aforementioned may request the convening of a high-level consultative meeting of such non-aligned countries as it considers appropriate in order to determine the strategy for collective action designed to limit the effect and duration of such measures.

2. The non-aligned countries should take joint action to meet internal economic emergencies which arise in a country and cannot be overcome by the latter's own efforts.

3. The non-aligned countries should take joint action at the United Nations with a view to extending the Organization's security system to include economic security, as a prerequisite for promoting the all-round development of those countries and the well-being of the peoples of the developing world.

RESOLUTION ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF AN ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT FUND FOR NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the Lusaka Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic Progress and the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at Georgetown;

Conscious of the importance of economic development, and of its role in the consolidation of independence and of the effectiveness of economic co-operation in strengthening relations among the non-aligned countries;

Aware of the pressing need for investment and the part it plays in the field of economic and social progress, together with the importance of co-operation among member countries for this purpose;

Decides:

1. To establish an Economic and Social Development Fund for Non-Aligned Countries, open to the participation of all interested non-aligned countries with the following objectives:

(a) Financing economic and social development projects and participating in development activities in non-aligned countries;

(b) Promoting investment in non-aligned countries in co-operation with similar organizations;

(c) Providing technical assistance and services in various economic development fields.

2. To create a committee of experts to work out the rules and regulations of the Fund and determine its capital. Such a committee would also be entrusted with promoting co-operation among developing countries in monetary and financial matters, including closer co-operation between their Central Banks; it should report to the non-aligned Governments at least six months before the next meeting of Foreign Ministers, or if necessary convene a special prior meeting of Ministers of Finance and Economy.

RESOLUTION ON SPECIAL MEASURES IN FAVOUR OF THE LEAST DEVELOPED
AMONG THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling the Lusaka Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic Progress and the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at Georgetown, Conscious that the production capacity and trade flows of the least developed among the developing countries have been and continue to be extremely low, and that there is an urgent need for the commercial polich measures which are applied to all developing countries to be supplemented by a liberal and considerably larger contribution of financial and technical assistance for the least developed countries, in order to eliminate the existing bottle-necks in their economy at the production level,

Recognizing that the relevant provisions of the various decisions taken by the United Nations and its related organizations should be implemented as soon as possible,

Recommends

1. That in international economic action top priority should be given to the urgent implementation of the programme adopted by UNCTAD III and other specialized international institutions of special measures in favour of the least developed countries, especially in the area of trade, and efforts exerted towards formulating and implementing new measures in all fields, above all in trade and financing, so as to enable the least developed countries to derive equitable benefits from general measures undertaken in favour of all the developing countries.

2. Urgently requests the speedy implementation of the various resolutions adopted by the United Nations and its related organizations, and a permanent review of the implementation of the measures taken in their favour.

ECONOMIC EFFECTS ARISING OUT OF ISRAELI AGGRESSION AGAINST ARAB STATES

The Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973:

In the light of the provisions of the Lusaka Declaration on Non-Alignment and Economic Progress and the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at Georgetown stressing the necessity of mobilizing efforts and resources in order to ensure maximum economic growth in non-aligned countries as well as the need for co-operation with a view to removing all obstacles, whether internal or external, which hamper economic development,

Having considered the harmful national and international repercussions of the deterioration of the situation in the Middle East in the economic field,

States that the only means of counteracting these effects is prompt action aimed at putting an end to the Israeli occupation of the Arab territories and a just solution of the Middle East problem which would safeguard the rights and freedom of the peoples of that area, remove the threat of renewed military clashes, and hence eliminate the causes of tension and economic deterioration.

In this way the countries of the Middle East could join the other countries of the world in the pursuit of peaceful productive objectives, in the development of their resources and in raising the standard of living of their peoples.

Such development can only improve the overall international economic situation and consequently make it possible to re-open the Suez Canal as a vital artery of international navigation.

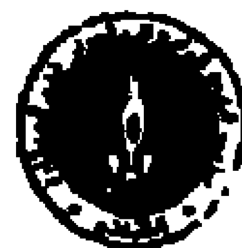
Denounces any implicit or explicit threat, either at present or in the future, against the oil-producing countries of the region with the view to exerting pressure on those countries and reducing their legitimate right to safeguard and exploit their natural resources.

Demands that the people of Palestine be allowed to exercise their natural and lawful right to return to their homeland and thus be in a position to make the best possible use of their creative abilities and participate with other peoples in the struggle for construction and progress;

Denounces Israel's attempts to alter the demographic and geographic nature of the areas it is still illegally occupying by force since 1967 as well as the statements of Israeli leaders who have voiced their determination to annex those areas definitively.

Also denounces the establishment of settlements by Israel in these areas peopling them with an increasingly large number of inhabitants not native to them. This policy is carried out through various pressures exerted on the Arab population with a view to forcing them to relinquish their land for the benefit of Israel, or to leave their country for ever. Israel has also imposed a blockade and stifled Arab economy in the occupied territories in order to maintain this economy in continuous underdevelopment and subservience to Israel.

Further denounces Israel's exploitation of the natural resources of the occupied territories and declares all such dealings null and void inasmuch as that they violate the principles currently prevailing in international law, the Geneva Agreement, the Charter of the United Nations and subsequent resolutions of that organization and threaten international peace and security.



Requests that such measures as would immediately prevent Israel from carrying out such dealings be taken and declare null and void all past or future dealings.

FOURTH CONFERENCE OF HEADS OF STATE OR GOVERNMENT
OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

ACTION PROGRAMME FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

(Algiers - 5-9 September 1973)

ACTION PROGRAMME FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

The Heads of State or Government reaffirm their belief that the primary responsability for ensuring the rapid develoment of their countries rests with themselves. They declare their resolve to work towards attainment of individual and collective self-reliance. To that end they agree that continuous and co-ordinated efforts will be exerted at the national level to reduce unemployment, mass poverty, inequality of income distribution and economic dependence on the developed countries, and to mobilize all national resources for integrated and balanced development of all sectors of the economy.

They have also decided that co-operation between developing countries should be expanded in the following specific directions :

i) - In the interest of promoting trade among developing countries, each developing country should work towards the target of doubling the rate of growth of its imports from other developing countries.

ii) - No developing country should accord to imports from developed countries more favourable treatment than that accorded to imports from developing countries.

iii) - Within the framework of the multilateral trade negotiations in GATT, developing countries should engage in a round of negotiations among themselves to promote intra-developing-country trade.

iv) - To facilitate inter-regional trade, serious thought should be given to the possibility of establishing clearing and/or payments arrangements embracing the developing countries.

v) - Developing countries should endeavour to deploy untied aid funds to the maximum possible extent for procurement from other developing countries.

vi) - Close co-operation and consultations should be established between the central banks of developing countries in order to promote greater monetary and financial co-operation between them and to study the possibility of creating a joint financial institution for that purpose.

vii) - Institutional arrangements should be explored for employing surplus funds available in developing countries for financing projects with specific export orientation . These arrangements should be supported by supported by developed countries and international financial institutions.

viii) - Projects in developing countries requi rng foreign technical know-how should be supported to the maximum possible extent through the sharing and exchange of the technical know-how available within the developing countries themselves.

ix) - Effective co-operation among the various existing organizations including those of the United Nations system, at the sub-regional, regional and inter-regional level should be ensured with a view to intensifying the organizations' future relations in all fileds.

x) - Co-operation should be established in the monetary field through the creation or adaptation at the regional or sub-regional level of agencies for co-operation therein.

xi) - Credit relations should be developed on a preferential basis between developing countries.

xii) - Developing countries should establish and strengthen producers' associations in respect of major commodities of importance to the world economy in order to halt the deterioration in their terms of trade, eliminate unhealthy competition, prevent harmful activities on the part of multinational corporations and strengthen their bargaining power.

xiii) - Developing countries should take concerted action in the field of mass communications on the following lines in order to promote a greater inter-change of ideas among themselves, a) - Reorganization of existing communication channels which are the legacy of the colonial past and which have hampered free, direct and fast communication between them.

b) - Initiate joint action for the revision of existing multilateral agreements with a view to reviewing press cable rates and facilitating faster and cheaper intercommunication.

c) - Take urgent steps to expedite the process of collective ownership of communication satellite and evolve a code of conduct for directing their use.

d) - Promote increased contact between the mass media, universities, libraries planning and research bodies and other institutions so as to enable developing countries to exchange experience and expertise and share ideas.

e) - Urge the Secretary-General of the United Nations to establish a special Chair of Non-alignment at the proposed United Nations university so as to facilitate research on the historical evolution and the present and future role of non-alignment in the changing world order. Developing countries should themselves promote similar studies in their universities and research institutions.

f) - Likewise establish at regional and inter-regional levels scientific and technical research institutes to study projects of national, regional and inter-regional interest among developing countries, and facilitate training of scientific and technical staff, inter alia through the granting of scholarships for training and advanced training.

xiv) - Non-aligned countries should exchange and disseminate information concerning their mutual achievements in all fields through newspapers and periodicals, radio, television and the news media of their respective countries. They should formulate plans for sharing experience in this field, inter alia through reciprocal visits of delegations from information media, and through exchange of radio and television programmes, films, books, photographs, and through cultural events and art festivals.

RELATIONS BETWEEN DEVELOPING AND DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

The Heads of States or Government solemnly reaffirm their determination to continue to worktowards securing all the necessary conditions both in their respective countries and in international relations for their accelerated economic and social development and a higher standard of living for their peoples.

They call upon the international community to restore the development objective to its rightful place in the functioning of the United Nations system and to establish a new system of world economic relations based on equality and common interest of all countries. To this end the developed and developing countries should co-operate to solve each other's problems, particularly by setting the following objectives :

1) - The developing countries should secure the withdrawal of the reservations expressed by some developed countries at the time of the adoption of the International Development Strategy, and the fulfilment of the commitments assumed by them. Efforts should also be directed towards seeking new areas of agreement and widening the existing ones within a time-bound programme to meet the increasing needs of the developing countries.

2) - Those developed countries which have not so far implemented the Generalized System of Preferences should do so without further delay. Furthermore, the Generalized System of Preferences should be widened to include agricultural and other sensitive products of the developing countries, and the margin of preferences itself should be increased to improve the trade opportunities available to developing countries. The trend towards intensification and multiplication of non-tariff barriers, safeguards and other restrictive practices should be eliminated so that the developing countries obtain full benefit from the Generalized System of Preferences.

3) - The liberalization of trade and the progressive removal of tariff barriers among developed countries should be accompanied by corresponding measures to safeguard the advantages enjoyed by developing countries under the Generalized System of Preferences.

4) - Considering the importance of multilateral trade negotiations and the farreaching repercussions they will inevitably have on world trade, the developing countries should strive, at the preparatory and negotiating stages, for recognition of the principles of non-reciprocity, non-discrimination and preferential treatment in relations between developed and developing countries. Since the results of the multilateral trade negotiations will only begin to take effect after those negotiations have been concluded, it is of paramount importance that during this period no freeze is imposed on action in favour of the developing countries' trade and of its targets such as those fixed in the International Development Strategy.

5) - Efforts should be made to build up export potential of developing countries, particularly by the adoption of essential structural adjustments in the economies of developed countries conducive to a more rational international division of labour.

INTERNATIONAL MONETARY AND FINANCIAL SYSTEMS

1) - Developing countries should participate fully and on an equal footing in the formulation and application of an equitable and durable international monetary system.

2) - The new international monetary system should take into account the interest of the international community as a whole on the basis of a new agreement taking into consideration the profound upheavals which have taken place since Bretton Woods.

The principle of preferential treatment for developing countries should be applied in the new monetary arrangements.

3) - The new monetary system should ensure the effective participation by developing countries in the decision-making process through adoption of a voting quota system. It should ensure stable but flexible exchange rates so as to provide an environment conducive to the growth of the developing countries' trade.

There should be adequate and orderly creation of liquidity to meet the global needs of trade through the additional allocation of special drawing rights (SDRs).

A link should be established between special drawing rights (SDRs) and development financing in the interests of developing countries.

4) - The international financial institutions should effectively play their role as development financing banks without resorting to political discrimination against countries. In addition, the resources released by disarmament should be yield considerable funds for promoting the development of developing countries.

5) - The developed countries should accept a time-bound programme for the implementation of targets of net flow of financial resources to developing countries. The official components of the net transfer of financial resources to the developing countries should be increased.

6) - The adverse consequences for the current and future development of developing countries arising from the burden of external debt contracted on hard terms should be neutralized by appropriate international action. The World Bank should play an efficient role where it can do so in the settlement of the debt problems within the context of a policy of general measures taking acount of the economic situation of the debtor countries and the origin of the foreign debt.

7) - Appropriate measures should be taken to alleviate the heavy burden of debt-servicing, including the method of re-scheduling.

8) - The international financial institutions should increasingly orient their lending policies to suit the emerging needs of developing countries.

9) - The regional and subregional development banks will need to be provided with considerably greater resources in order strengthen their operations and establish closer co-operation among themselves.

TRANSFER OF TECHNOLOGY

1) - The provisions as regards the transfer of technology in the International Development Strategy will need to be implemented without delay, and the developing countries should take a joint stand on this question in international bodies.

2) - Monopolistic practices, applied by transnational corporations through market-sharing and price-fixing should be ended and the costs of transferring technology to developing countries reduced.

3) - New international legislation for the transfer of technology to the developing countries on a preferential basis should be formulated and an international code of conduct should be adopted and implemented without delay.

4) - Urgent measures should be taken at both national and international levels to stop the brain-drain from developing to developed countries.

COMMODITIES

The progress made towards the formulation of international commodity agreements has so far been extremely slow. The competent international bodies should give priority to this work. The problem of commodities like tea, which have suffered a continuous decline in price , should be dealt with expeditiously on the basis of global agreements.

SHIPPING

1) - Developing countries should obtain the means for enabling their ever-wider participation in freight and insurance operations in shipping so as to increase the volume and profitability of their trade and improve their balance of payments on a permanent basis.

2) - The participation of the Governments of developing countries concerned in consultations between liner conferences and shippers is essential, particularly in the matter of rate-fixing, surcharges and frequencies, and of the quality of services which have a direct impact on the cost of foreign trade operations.

3) - It is essential to formulate and apply a binding code of conduct for liner conferences, which should be prepared by the forthcoming United Nations Conference of plenipotentiaries and take fully into account the developing countries' special needs and problems.

ENVIRONMENT

Additional cost of environmental programmes should not be allowed to come in the way of more basic development needs of developing countries. Any assistance in the environmental field provided to developing countries by the developed countries should be additional to whatever is already being channelled as development assistance. The preoccupation of developed countries with environmental control ought not to lead to adverse effects on the flow of development assistance or on the trade of developing countries.

CO-OPERATION WITH SOCIALIST COUNTRIES

1) - The socialist countries should consider incorporating in their development plans the export needs and possibilities of the non-aligned countries in order to facilitate increasing the proportion of imports of manufactured and semi-manufactured goods from the latter on a preferential basis.

2) - Socialist countries should accord the most favourable terms for intensifying trade, economy, scientific and technical co-operation with non-aligned countries. Special action should be considered in the fields of transfer of technology and training of national personnel of developing countries.

The non-aligned countries shall intensify information activities on opportunities for expanding trade and co-operation with the Socialist countries through the establishment of joint committees, the exchange of delegations, the organization of fairs and exhibitions and the increased collaboration between chambers of commerce and industry and other appropriate institutions.

The non-aligned countries shallencourage the development of scientific and technical co-operation with the Socialist countries, inter alia, through the conclusion of intergovernmental conventions, the establishment of the necessary joint bodies and the stimulation of relations between the organizations and institutions concerned.

COORDINATION

The Heads of State or Government reviewed the work carried out by the co-ordinators in pursuance of the Georgetown Action Programme, in the following fields :

1) - Trade industry and transport,
2) - Financial and monetary co-operation,
3) - Technology, know-how and technical assistance,
4) - International co-operation for economic development

They directed that the mandate of the co-ordinators should be extended until the next Conference of Heads of State or Government.

The Heads of State or Government welcomed the concrete work carried out by the co-erdinators, particularly in the field of trade, industry and transport and recommended that :

a) - A practical action rogramme based on the studies so far made should be under taken.

b) - Further studies should continue for the final formulation of the project for inter-regional co-operation.

c) - Active involvement of relevant organizations of the United Nations system should be sought for financial and technical s upport.

They agreed in principle to the proposal to set up a Development and Solidarity Fund to pool their excess resources in order to finance emergency projects and render long-term technical assistance to member countries of the Movement.

They have decided that a working party be established to urgently draw up a project and submit it to the next Ministerial Conference of non-aligned countries or, if necessary to a special meeting of Ministers of Finance and Economy which could take place earlier.

The Heads of State or Government endorsed the following conclusions reached by a Committee of experts from non-aligned countries appointed in pursuance of the Georgetown Programme of Action in regard to guidelines for foreign private investment.

i) - That all foreign private investment should be subject to prior authorization and to a system of centralized government control.

ii) - To ensure that foreign investment supplements the domestic effort and is consistent with national development plans, incorporates appropriate technology, leads to the further development of technology, generates employment, represents a net saving in foreign exchange, involves management that is decentralized from the parent company etc...

iii) - That any reinvestment of profits made by foreign companies should be considered as new investment and subject to authorization by the recipient State.

iv) - To prohibit the purchase of existing national assets by foreign investors, except in very special and justified cases.

v) - To set specific provisions for all matters relating to remittances of profits.

vi) - To exclude the possibility of receiving foreign investment in those sectors of the economy which can be considered strategic according to the conditions of each country, such as the extractive industries, commodity industries, public utilities.

mass communications media, banking, insurance and marketing.

They further approved the following recommendations made by the Group of Experts for purposes of regulating and controlling the operations and activities of multinational corporations.

i) - The adoption of common rules in respect of multinational/transnational companies.

ii) - To extend and support the unrestricted application of the principle that any State effecting a nationalization in order to regain its natural resources is exercising a sovereign right.

iii) - To integrate such joint action within an overall strategy designed to bring about quantitative and qualitative changes in the system of economic and financial relations that subordinate the underdeveloped countries to the developed capitalist countries.

iv) - To maintain close links with the group of 20 eminent persons convened by the United Nations to analyse this matter, in order to ensure that all economic, political and cultural variables, as well as variables having to do with international relations, are suitably treated, and also to ensure that the results of the group's work remain in line with the initial objectives set when it was established.

v) - To establish an information centre on transnational compagnies with the aim of ensuring a free exchange of experience and information between non-aligned countries in order to facilitate the full and effective utilization of experience available in many non-aligned countries.

Such a centre would be responsible for training personnel, providing services and carrying out research.

The Heads of State or Government decided that a group of experts should be nominated and entrusted with the task of preparing a specific study on this matter within a period of three months.

FOOD CRISIS

The Heads of State or Government urged that in the context of the serious food crisis confronting vast areas and populations of the world an emergency joint conference of FAO and UNCTAD should be convened at Ministerial level in order to formulate a programme of international co-operation to overcome the increasing shortage of food and other commodities and maintain stable prices.

They also considered advisable that a conference of developing countries be convened on commodities with a view to developing an effective strategy for restructuring world trade and improving their bargaining power.

The Heads of State or Government recommend that non-aligned countries should act as a catalytic force in the Group of 77 in order to increase the effectiveness and solidarity of the developing countries.

They invite the Secretary-General of the United Nations to convene a special session of the General Assembly at a high political level devoted exclusively to the problems of development including the revitalization of structures and the implementation of the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy well before the mid-term review due in 1975.

In that respect they instructed the Chairman of the Conference to communicate that decision and also urged that a Ministerial leval meeting of the Group of 77 be convened on the eve of that review.

خطـــاب

الرئيس محمـــد انور السادات

فى مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة

كولومبو ١٩٧٦

بسم الله

الاخوة رؤساء الدول والحكومات ،

يسرنى أن استهل كلمتى بتقديم اصدق التهنئة للسيدة باندرانيكا بمناسبة اختيارها بالاجماع رئيسة لهذا المؤتمر الهام الذى ينعقد فى عاصمة بلد صديق كان فى طليعة الدول التى سلكت طريق عدم الانحياز وظلت وفية لها ولمبادئها على مر السنين ، وأود أن انوه بالجهد العظيم الذى بذلته فى الاعداد لمؤتمرنا هذا بما يوفر له كل اسباب النجاح واسمحوا لى أن اوجـــه لشعب سرى لانكا الصديق وحكومته تحية قلبية من شعب مصر الذى يكن لسرى لانكا وقيادتها أعمق مشاعر المودة والاحترام كما تربطه بها أوثق علاقات التعاون وتجمعـه معها مسيرة عدم الانحياز التى هى أعظم ما تحرص عليه مصر ، فلسفة ٠٠ وسياسة ٠٠ وحركة وما زلنا نذكر بالتقدير الدور التاريخى الذى قام به الزعيم الراحل باندرانيكا الذى كان فى مقدمة الرواد الاوائل للحركة الذين أرسوا قواعدها ووضعوا حجر الاساس فى البنيان وأرجو أن تتفقوا جميعا بالاشادة بالجهد الممتاز الذى بذله الأخ الرئيس هوارى بومدين حين تحمل عبء هـــذا التجمع طوال الاعوام الماضية فلم يترك فرصة الا واغتنمها لرفع شأن عـــدم الانحياز ، ولم يمر حدث دولى الا وكان دور عدم الانحياز بارزا فيه وعنصرا هاما فى رسم مداره وتوجيه مساره ، وجدير بنا فى هذه اللحظات أن نتذكر فضل الزعيمين الراحلين جواهر لال نهرو وجمال عبد الناصر اللذين تفانيـا بالدعوة لعدم الانحياز وتثبيت دعائمها وكان لهما حظ الاشتراك فى كل هذا ، مع الرئيس تيتو الذى هو أعظم رمز لحركة عدم الانحياز فى حكمته وشجاعته واصالة التزامه ومن دواعى الفخر والاعتزاز أيضا أن أحيى الدول الصديقة التى تحضر مؤتمرنا لاول مرة بعد أن اختارت طريق عدم الانحياز بمجرد حصولهـــا على استقلالها وتحرير ارادتها والواقع أنها ظاهرة لا يمكن لاحد أن يتجاهلهـــا أو يغيب عنه عن مغزاها ٠

ليس من المبالغة أن نقرر أن مؤتمرنا هذا يعد من أخطر المؤتمرات التى شهدها تاريخ الحركة سواء بالنظر الى المرحلة التى يمر بها عالمنـــا المعاصر والمتغيرات الجديدة التى تحكم العلاقات الدولية أو بالنظر الى التحديات التى نواجهها فرادى وجماعات والتغييرات العميقة النوعية والكمية التى مرت بها أسرة عدم الانحياز فى السنوات الاخيرة وقبل أن ننتقل الى عملية التوصل الى رؤية مشتركة بما يجب أن تكون عليه الامور وللمدار الذى يجب أن تأخـــذه مسيرتنا الواحدة يتعين علينا حتى لا نتحرك من فراغ أن نلقى نظرة فاحصة على سجل انجازاتنا فى الحقبة الماضية لكى نتصرف بأسلوب علمى موضوعى على نواحى القوة والضعف فى حركتنا وأوجه القصور فى أدائنا وكيفية اعطاء الحركة دفعة جديدة تكون تجديدا لشبابنا وعلاجا لما أسفرت عنه الممارســة والتجربة من سلبيات ومعوقات وليس من المقصود بهذا أن نظل أسرى الماضى أو أن نكف عن التطور بل ان قوانين الحـــركة تحتم أن نتعرف على الواقع دائمـا لنغيره ونطوره بما يتفق مع الحقائق والاوضاع والمفـــاهيم الجديدة التى تطفو الى الســـطح كل يوم اذن فنحن نستعرض الماضى ليس كقيـــد على حريتنا وسياج لا يمكن أن نجتازه وانما كمصدر للدرس والعبرة ونقطـة ننطلق منها الى المستقبل على اقدام اكثر ثباتا ورسوخا •• وليس من المعقول

سابعا : ان حركة عدم الانحياز التزمت فى تصديها للقضايااللتى تهمهابالاسلوب التقليدى المتبع فى المحافل والمنظمات الدولية القائمة وهو اسلوب اصدار القرارات دون ايجاد القنوات والاطارات التى تضمن وضع هذه القرارات موضع التنفيذ وتحويلها الى سياسة تلتزم كل دولة بالدعوة لها وفرضها على العالم الخارجى ٠٠ كل هذا لا ينال من

الجهد الذى قمنا به والانجازات التى حققناها وانما يتعين علينا أن نقيم بالتجربة بصفة مستمرة حتى نضمن لها الحيوية والقدرة على النمو المستمر وملاحقة التطورات السريعة التى يمر بها العالم كل يوم · واسمحوا لى ايها الاخوة ، أن أشرككم معى فى التوصل الى تصور عام ننطلق فيه جميعا من ايماننا الذى لا يتزعزع بمبادىء عدم الانحياز ·

خامسا : اننا يجب الا نقنع باتخاذ القرارات واصدار البيانات التى لا يترتب عليها أى تحريك فعلى للمواقف وانما تكون على أحسن الفروض مقدرا يعطينا انطباعا زائفا باننا قد واجهنا مشكلة أو حسمنا موقفا وهو ما يعنى اننا نستبدل القول بالفعل والتحرك · تاركين المجال لغيرنا للتصرف وحسم المواقف ويتطلب هذا أن نبحث بكل جدية مسألة ايجاد الصيغ التنفيذية الجديدة بوضع قراراتنا موضع التنفيذ بحيث لا تكون هذه القرارات غير واضحة بل تكون واضحة للجميع ·· اننا نعنى ما نقول وأن الكلمة منا ليست بديلا للفعل بل هى مجرد تعبير عن التزام حقيقى بالفعل والحركة وقد يقتضى هذامنا أن نتخذ خطوات سياسية أو عسكرية أو اقتصادية محددة نحو عمل جماعى نضمن به الا يستخف بنا أحد او أن يظن اننا اذا اتخذنا قرارا معينا فسرعان ما يختفى فى زوايا النسيان بعد أن ينفض جمعنا وأن ينفرط بنفسه · وأمام مؤتمرنا هذا فرصة تاريخية لاتخاذ خطوة رائدة على هذا الطريق · اقترح أن اركز فيها على قضيتين تخوض فيهما شعوبنا كفاحا مجيدا ضد قوى الاستعمار والعنصرية وهما :التصدى لاستمرار الاحتلال الاسرائيلى للاراضى العربية بالرغم من القرارات المتعاقبة الصادرة فى المؤتمرات بصفة مختلفة ومن الامم المتحدة وتنص على انسحاب اسرائيل من جميع تلك الاراضى العربية ·· اما القضية الثانية فهى قضية كفاح الشعوب الافريقية ضد انظمة الاقلية العنصرية فى زيمبابوى وجنوب افريقيا وناميبيا · فلا شك

لقد استعرضنا فى آخر مؤتمر لنا فى الجزائر تطور العلاقات الاقتصادية خلال الثلاثين عاما التى مضت منذ نهاية الحرب العالمية الثانية وقيام منظمة الامم المتحدة وكانت محصلة تقييمنا هى أن النظام الاقتصادى التقليدى لم ولن يقوم بتنفيذ ميثاق الامم المتحدة أو القرارات الهامة التى اتخذتها المنظمة لتحديد مركز الدول النامية وتضييق الهوة للدخل للفرد وفى التقدم التكنولوجى بينها وبين الدول المتقدمة وكفالة حد المبادرة باقامة نظام اقتصادى دولى جديد على اساس من العدالة والمساواة وزيادة تكافؤ الفرص بما فى ذلك التوزيع العادل لمنافع التجارة الدولية وثمار التقدم التكنولوجى طبقا لما يقتضيه مبدأ المنفعة المتبادلة والتكافؤ الدولى • وقد شهدت السنوات الثلاث التى انقضت منذ عقد مؤتمر الجزائر أولى الخطوات نحو تحقيق هذا التحول التاريخى فى العلاقات بين الدول الصناعية والدول النامية • فعقدت أول دورة اقتصادية خاصة فى

الاخوة الاعزاء ،

لست بحاجة لأن أكرر أن قوة بلدان عدم الانحياز تكمن بالدرجة الاولى فى تضامنها ووحدتها ومصر ترحب بالطابع المميز لمؤتمر القمة الخامس وهو اعطاء هذا التضامن وتلك الوحدة دفعة عملية على الطريق نحو تحقيق الاكتفاء الذاتى الجماعى وهو ما يقتضى منا أمرين :

الأول : على أساس مبدأ الاعتماد على النفس باعتباره أضمن الوسائل لاستمرار الجهد القومى وابطال مفعول أى ضغوط أجنبية ·

والمساواة فى النظام الاقتصادى الدولى هو شرط اساسى لتحقيق النمو المطرد ليس فى الدول النامية وحدها بل فى الدول الصناعية ذاتهـــا وبذلك يكون احترام هذا المبدأ شرطا لا غنى عنه لاستقرار السـلم والامن الدوليين وبعبـــارة أخرى فلا يمكن أن يكون الفقر والفاقة والحاجة هنا والرخاء والازدهار والرفاهية هناك ٠

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries was held in the context of an international situation characterised by an intensification of the struggle of the peoples of the world for their political and economic independence and for peace and progress, and for an international political and economic order based on the principles of self-determination, justice, equality and peaceful co-existence between peoples and nations of the world. The Conference noted with gratification that since the policy of Non-Alignment was first advanced more than two decades ago it had demonstrated its growing impact on the developing international situation and that the Non-Aligned have played a constructive and progressively effective role in world affairs. Non-Alignment had proved to be one of the most dynamic factors in promoting the genuine independence of States and peoples and the democratization of international relations and in creating conditions more conducive to peace, justice, equality and international co-operation in the world.

2. The Non-Aligned countries have at their Summit Conferences in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka and Algiers and by their concerted action made a major contribution towards the positive transformation of international relations and the promotion of world peace. The Conference considered that the Fourth Summit constituted an important landmark in the development of the Non-Aligned Movement, reinforcing its unity and solidarity in its efforts to promote international peace and security giving a new impulse to the struggle of peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America and other forces against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, Apartheid, racism, Zionism and all forms of alien domination.

3. Examining the international scene during the period since the Fourth Summit Conference, the Heads of State or Government acknowledged that the principles reaffirmed and the programmes adopted at that time have been vindicated by facts.

4. The Conference welcomed the triumph of the struggle of the peoples of Democratic Kampuchea, Lao People's Democratic Republic and the Socialist Republic of Viet-Nam against United States imperialist aggression, the success of the liberation struggle of Guinea-Bissau, Cape Verde, Mozambique, Angola and Sao Tome and Principe which has led to the final extinction of Portuguese colonialism and the emergence of these independent states.

The Conference particularly welcomed the humiliating defeat of the invading forces of imperialism and Apartheid by the Angolan people. It welcomed with equal satisfaction the successful struggle against Zionism and the striking demonstration of the capacity for struggle of the Arab people in their liberation war of October 1973, against Israeli forces of aggression. The Conference further welcomed the growing international recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organization as well as the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people.

It considered that these developments were the most momentous achievements since the Fourth Summit Conference.

II. INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP

5. From 25 at the First Summit Conference in Belgrade in 1961, the membership of the Movement increased to 47 at the Second Summit in Cairo, 53 in Lusaka and 75 in Algiers. At this Fifth Summit held in Colombo the number has increased to 86 and its membership represents not only all continents but a diversity of economic, social and political systems. The increasing adherence to the Non-Aligned Movement is due undoubtedly to a growing appreciation of its efficacy.

III. POLICY AND ROLE OF NON-ALIGNMENT

6. The Conference examined the profound changes that have occurred during the last fifteen years since the First Summit Conference in 1961 and considered the present time opportune for an assessment of the role of Non-Alignment. The Conference considered that the growing role and importance of Non-Alignment made it imperative that its members exercise unceasing vigilance to preserve intact the essential character of Non-Alignment, maintain unswerving fidelity to its principles and policies and show full respect for its decisions as the best safeguard against any threat to the integrity and solidarity of the Movement.

7. Non-Alignment symbolises mankind's search for peace and security among nations and the determination to establish a new and equitable international economic, social and political order. It is a vital force in the struggle against imperialism in all its forms and manifestations, and all other forms of foreign domination. Non-Alignment upholds the right of all peoples to freedom and self-determination and of all nations to pursue their own independent strategy for development and for participation in the resolution of international problems. It strengthens resistance to the politics of pressure and domination from whatever quarter.

8. The Non-Aligned have always considered that world conflict is not inevitable. They affirm that newly-independent countries have an important role to play in easing tensions and safeguarding international peace. They have rejected the view that international peace can be based on a balance of power or that security can be ensured by countries joining power blocs and military alliances with great Powers. The Non-Aligned have consistently upheld the principle of international co-operation as the basis for a secure world order and have opposed the notion that confrontation can be the only course for the comity of nations.

9. The Non-Aligned Movement's unfaltering support for the principles of true independence and of international co-operation transcending the divisions imposed by power blocs has resulted in the acceptance of these principles by an overwhelming majority of nations. These principles have begun to command increasing respect from the rest of the world.

10. The solidarity of the Non-Aligned and the growing co-operation among them constitute an essential contribution to the evolution of a new international order founded on national independence and international co-operation based on equality, mutual trust and justice.

11. The Conference emphasized the role the Movement has played in the struggle for national liberation which has led to the attainment of independence and freedom by millions of people and the emergence of a great number of new sovereign States. It hailed the victories of these peoples over colonialism, imperialism, neo-colonialism and all other forms of foreign domination.

12. The Conference welcomed the fact that Non-Alignment continues to spread to all parts of the world. It had contributed significantly to the relaxation of tensions and the solution of international problems through peaceful means. It noted the contribution that the Non-Aligned Movement had made towards preventing the division of the world into antagonistic blocs and spheres of influence.

13. The Conference noted with satisfaction that the principles of peaceful co-existence advocated by the Non-Aligned Movement as the basis for international relations had won widespread recognition from the world community. The timely initiative taken by Non-Aligned countries had led to the decision of the world community to create a New International Economic Order based on equity and justice.

14. The Conference affirmed that the policy of Non-Alignment had established itself as an independent and vital force for the creation of a new and just system of political and economic relations providing for the solution of major international problems. The participation of Non-Aligned countries had become a determining element in the solution of most international problems.

15. As a result of recent developments, the importance of ensuring the genuine and complete independence of States as distinct from merely formal sovereignty, had been enhanced. The problem of unequal relations between States, often amounting to domination, continues to be a disturbing phenomenon even negating the hard won freedom of some States. Today, one of the principal tasks of the Non-Aligned remains the combating of unequal relations and domination arising from neo-colonialism and similar forms of domination.

III. (a) ASIA

16. The Conference noted that the Fifth Summit of Non-Aligned Countries was the first to be held in the Continent of Asia. The occasion was therefore one of historic importance having regard to Asia's experiences and her rich cultural heritage. The history of Asia had been marked by successive periods of foreign conquest and colonial domination, which had created in the peoples of Asia a determination to preserve and defend their freedom by eschewing involvement in military blocs and alliances. Asian commitment to Non-Alignment first found expression in the Asian Relations Conference held in New Delhi in 1947. The concept of Non-Alignment itself was given concrete expression at the Bandung Conference in 1955. In the last three decades Asian nationalism and the desire of Asian peoples for sovereignty and independence had been repeatedly challenged and frustrated by the intervention of foreign powers.

17. The struggles of the Asian peoples for freedom, justice and equality have been victorious. A resurgent Asia enters the last quarter of the twentieth century with its peoples united in their determination to overcome the problems of under-development and the adverse consequences, economic, technological and cultural, resulting from long subjugation to colonial rule.

18. The Conference paid tribute to the impressive contributions made by Asian, African, Latin American and some European countries to the development of Non-Alignment with its positive impact on the international scene. It expressed the hope that increasing adherence to Non-Alignment will help consolidate peaceful relations in all continents and thereby vastly enhance the prospect of international peace and security. The Non-Aligned countries participating in the Conference pledged themselves to act in unison to strengthen the Non-Aligned Movement and, faithful to its principles to extend their fullest co-operation towards the establishment of a new International Political and Economic Order based on equity and justice throughout the world.

III (b). AFRICA

19. The Conference noted that the identification of the African continent as a whole with Non-Alignment was a development of major significance in the history of Non-Alignment. Africa gave numerical strength to the Movement which contributed to making it a powerful force in the U.N. Africa gave a firm anti-colonial and anti-racist content to the Movement. As a continent which has suffered from big Power deals, and from the worst ravages of slavery and colonialism, it brought out most sharply the prerequisites of a new international order. As the continent with the largest number of least developed countries, and one which suffered the enormous Sahel famine, it gave impetus to the demands for a new international economic order.

20. In Africa, in short, is the acid test of the success of international efforts towards a new order based on human dignity and human well-being the world over. Africa must, therefore, remain a special concern of the Non-Aligned Movement.

21. The emancipation of Africa, the ending of racial discrimination against people of African origin all over the world, the protection of Africa from the rivalries of external Powers, the de-nuclearization of Africa, and international co-operation for the economic and social development of Africa should not be merely regional or continental concerns but the priorities of the Non-Aligned Movement and of the United Nations.

IV. RELAXATION OF INTERNATIONAL TENSIONS

22. The Conference considered the international situation and took note of the positive changes which have taken place in international relations thereby creating more favourable conditions for the resolution of major international problems. At the same time, the Conference expressed its deep concern that many crises remained unresolved and have even been aggravated resulting in serious threats to international peace and security.

23. The underlying cause of international tensions, which imperilled world peace and security was attributable mainly to the forces of imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, Zionism, racism and other forms of alien domination which endeavour by pressure or threat or use of force to hinder the political and economic emancipation of nations and maintain the existing pattern of unjust and unequal relationships in the international community, thereby denying peoples their inalienable right to freedom and self-determination.

In this context, the Conference noted that several Non-Aligned countries have been subjected to various forms of pressure and have been exposed to threats or acts of aggression and that the countries of the Non-Aligned Movement as a whole have been the target of organized campaigns of vilification and intimidation designed to deter them from pursuing a united and independent role in international relations.

The Conference stressed that there was now, more than ever before, a vital need for the Non-Aligned countries to maintain the closest unity among themselves. In addition, they should continue to endeavour to co-operate with all peace-loving and progressive forces throughout the world and thus strengthen their capacity successfully to combat imperialism in its desperate efforts to recover the ground it has lost in recent years.

24. The Conference welcomed the progress so far achieved in the relaxation of tension between the great Powers. It took note of the decisions of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe and expressed the hope that it would lead to further relaxation of international tensions and to progress in the field of disarmament.

Detente, as proclaimed in official declarations, does not seem however to have reduced the struggle for influence which is going on in all continents or to have extinguished the hotbeds of tension.

The persistence of the struggle for influence makes it necessary that Non-Aligned countries should redouble their efforts and be on their guard to resist the political, economic and ideological pressures of the great Powers. The Non-Aligned should derive the strength they need for the consolidation of their national independence and sovereignty from active solidarity and friendship, co-operation and mutual respect among the Non-Aligned States.

25. The Conference emphasized that detente was still limited both in scope and geographical extent, that tensions and conflicts exist in other areas and that aggression, foreign occupation, intervention and interference and racial discrimination, Zionism and Apartheid, as well as economic exploitation continued unabated in various parts of the developing world. They also stressed that relaxation of international tension could not be secured through the policy of balance of power, spheres of influence, rivalry between Power blocs, military alliances and the arms race.

The Conference called for the global relaxation of international tension and for the participation of all countries on an equal basis in the solution of international problems.

26. The Conference, convinced that a relaxation of international tension cannot be secured without the active participation of the Non-Aligned countries, re-affirmed its determination to play a more direct and effective part in the search for just and equitable solutions to outstanding world problems.

26 (a) The Conference expressed its concern at the growing tension in the Mediterranean resulting from Israel's aggression and characterized by the strengthening of existing military bases and, despite the undertakings contained in the Mediterranean Document of the Helsinki Final Act, the increasing deployment of foreign naval power.

26 (b) The Conference also pointed out that the security of Europe, the Mediterranean and the Middle East is closely inter-related and that it is imperative that renewed efforts be made to remove the causes of tension and to reach just solutions to the existing conflicts in order to ensure peace and security in the region. Accordingly, the Conference urged the States Parties to the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe to proceed without delay to the full implementation of the Mediterranean Document of the Helsinki Final Act. The Conference also called upon the Non-Aligned countries of the Mediterranean to act in concert in accordance with the decisions and resolutions of Non-Aligned Conferences, in order to remove all obstacles that prevent the conversion of the Mediterranean into a zone of peace and co-operation for the benefit of the countries concerned and in the interest of international peace and security. With this in mind the Conference invited the Non-Aligned countries of the Mediterranean to consult among themselves with a view to arriving at a common position, reflecting the aspirations of the Non-Aligned Movement as a whole to be presented to the CSCE Review Conference in Belgrade in 1977.

V. IMPERIALISM, COLONIALISM, NEO-COLONIALISM & DECOLONIZATION

27. The Conference reviewed the success achieved in the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, Apartheid, Zionism and other forms of alien domination and hailed the victories against imperialism in Viet-Nam, Kampuchea and Laos, and the attainment of their independence by Guinea-Bissau, Mozambique, Angola, Cape Verde, Sao Tome and Principe, the Comoros and Seychelles.

28. The Conference noted that the process of decolonization had reached its final and decisive phase. Imperialists, however, continued in their attempts to devise new methods designed to perpetuate their domination and exploitation of peoples. Imperialists are reacting to the reverses they have suffered from the success of struggles for liberation by a deliberate policy of vicious repression in those countries over which they still maintain direct control in a desperate effort to regain their lost positions and maintain their domination.

29. The Conference welcomed with satisfaction the intensification of the struggle of peoples still under the direct domination of imperialism and colonialism, racism, Apartheid and Zionism, especially in Zimbabwe, Namibia, South Africa, Palestine, the so-called French Somaliland (Djibouti) and other territories. In many cases a relentless armed struggle was being waged by the oppressed masses against the most vicious manifestations of imperialism, Apartheid and Zionism. The Conference noted, however, that in some instances new problems had been created. A case in point was the dismemberment of the Comoros by the former colonial power in flagrant disregard of the wishes of the people to secure independence for the former colonial territory as a single entity. The Conference condemned French agression against an independent State recognised by the international community. The Conference took the view that the continued French presence in Mayotte, which is an integral part of the Comoros constitutes a dangerous precedent and demands the withdrawal of France from Mayotte. The Conference asserted that as long as the slightest vestige of colonialism remained there should be unremitting vigilance against similar machinations of colonial powers.

30. The racist regimes in Israel, South Africa and Rhodesia established by alien colonial settlers combine the ugly features of colonialism and racism as they all practise racism and subject the indigenous population to every form of discrimination, oppression, occupation and alien domination. These regimes form a racist axis aimed at the elimination of the liberation movements in Southern Africa and Palestine and the domination of Africa and the Arab world.

31. The tactics of the imperialists are being practised with unabated intensity in Southern Africa where under the pretext of the "outward looking policy" the imperialists are endeavouring to create divisions in the anti colonialist fronts and liberation movement, with the evil intention of establishing spurious independence in Namibia, Zimbabwe and in some parts of South Africa through Bantustans. The Conference resolved that these tactics of the imperialists should be met by an intensification of efforts for the consolidation of the newly acquired independence of countries in all continents through a concerted strategy for the economic emancipation of every country of the Non-Aligned Movement and unwavering support, political, material and moral, for all liberation movements in their struggle for independence from colonial rule. The Conference reiterated its call for greater solidarity within the Non-Aligned Movement and for more effective action against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism.

32. Although colonialism, as traditionally understood is coming to an end, the problem of imperialism continues and can be expected to continue for the foreseeable future under the guise of neo-colonialism and hegemonic relations. The Non-Aligned have to be alert against all forms of unequal relations and domination that constitute imperialism.

33. The Conference noted also that the international trend is against power blocs and notions of international order based on balance of power and spheres of influence, all of which imply unequal relations between nations which could amount to domination. The Non-Aligned will continue to oppose the principle of polarization around power centres as it is inconsistent with true independence and the democratization of international relations, without which a satisfactory international order cannot be realised.

34. The Non-Aligned identify themselves with national liberation movements in their struggle for independence from colonial rule, all attempts to destroy unequal relations and domination of any sort, and will pursue action towards these ends through every means in accordance with the UN Charter.

35. The Conference taking note of the decision of the Organization of African Unity to hold an Extraordinary Summit on the Question of Western Sahara and the Situation which has resulted in the region, expressed its hope that this meeting would lead to a just and durable solution to this question.

36. The Conference affirmed the right of the people of East Timor to sel.`-.termination in accordance with United Nations General Assembly and security Council Resolutions.

37. The Conference expressed its deep concern over the critical situation prevailing in the so-called French Somaliland (Djibouti).

It reaffirmed the inalienable and sacred right of the people of the territory to self-determination and the immediate accession to genuine and unconditional independence.

The Conference endorsed Resolution 480 of the 27th Session of the O.A.U. Council of Ministers as approved by the Summit on the so-called French Somaliland (Djibouti) and called on all parties concerned to urgently undertake steps for the implementation of the above Resolution as well as Resolution I of the Non-Aligned Foreign Ministers' Conference at Lima.

The Conference demanded that France urgently take the necessary measures for the creation of a conducive atmosphere for ensuring a peaceful, just and democratic process leading to immediate and unconditional independence and to that end to allow the return of the National Liberation Movements recognised by the O.A.U. in accordance with the U.N.General Assembly Resolution 3480 (XXX) before a referendum; in order to freely participate in the political life inside the territory.

38. The Conference demanded the restoration of the sovereignty over Guantanamo, the Panama Canal Zone and the Malvinas respectively to Cuba, Panama and Argentina who are the rightful owners of these territories.

VI SOUTHERN AFRICA

39. The Conference welcomed the historic and far-reaching changes that have taken place in Southern Africa since the Algiers Summit. The decisive victories of the liberation movements in Guinea-Bissau, Mozambique, Angola, Cape Verde, and Sao Tome and Principe over Portuguese colonialism and the crushing defeat of the South African aggression against Angola have provided new horizons for the liberation struggle in Southern Africa. The Conference took note with satisfaction that the liberation of Mozambique and Angola in particular have provided for the freedom fighters invaluable additional rear bases.

40. This changed geopolitical situation has given a new impetus to the struggle for freedom, justice and human dignity in Africa as evidenced by the escalation of the armed struggle in both Zimbabwe and Namibia. It has also further inspired and steeled the determination and resistance of the oppressed black masses of South Africa against the inhuman and criminal system of Apartheid and racial discrimination. The degree of resistance by the oppressed black people has escalated to the new level of a national uprising.

41. The Conference considered the struggles in Zimbabwe and Namibia as well as the uprising in South Africa as being developments of great significance., They constitute the final and decisive phase in the liquidation of the tyrannical racist minority regimes.

42. The Conference considered the desperate and ruthless measures being adopted by these regimes as an attempt to maintain the status quo. Massacres of civilian populations in Zimbabwe; cold blooded and indiscriminate murders of school children, women and innocent by-standers in Soweto, Langa and other South African townships by the ruthless South African armed forces; massive repression including arbitrary arrests and detentions in Namibia, Zimbabwe and South Africa as well as constant acts of aggression against the front line African States of Zambia, Angola, Mozambique and Botswana have all become part of the arsenal of the racist minority regimes.

43. The Conference particularly recalls with indignation the unprovoked and criminal invasion of Angola, on the eve of its independence, by the Apartheid regime of South Africa in an effort to reverse the tide of liberation, and extend racist oppression beyond the borders of South Africa and Namibia. It condemns the Defence Amendment Act of 1976 enabling the racist regime to despatch troops beyond the borders of South Africa.

44. The Conference congratulated the Government and people of Angola for their heroic and victorious struggle against the South African racist invaders and their allies, and commended the Republic of Cuba and other States which assisted the people of Angola in frustrating the expansionist and colonialist strategy of South Africa's racist regime and of its allies.

45. In the same context, the Conference requested that the Resolution of the United Nations Security Council calling on the racist regime of South Africa to pay compensation for the material and human losses caused by the war or agression conducted by its regular armed forces against the People's Republic of Angola (No.S 387 of 31 March 1976) should be respected and implemented. It recommended further that economic and technical aid should be provided to meet the problems of the national reconstruction of Angola and appealed to its members to support this request in all the international organizations.

46. It denounced the continuing campaign of defamation and hostile acts against the People's Republic of Angola and requested all States which have not yet done so to prevent the recruitment of mercenaries and to put a stop to any aid or assistance to individuals or groups of individuals whose activities are directed against the peace and internal and external security of the People's Republic of Angola, thereby impeding the liberation struggle in Southern Africa.

47. Taking into account these developments, the Conference expressed its deep concern that the situation in Southern Africa continues to constitute a serious threat to international peace and security notwithstanding the favourable conditions that now exist for the complete elimination of colonialism, racial discrimination and Apartheid in the region. The Conference vehemently condemned the repeated and wantonly criminal acts of aggression committed by the illegal minority regime of Southern Rhodesia against Mozambique and by the racist regime of South Africa against Zambia and Angola. It drew the attention of the international community and in particular the United Nations Security Council to the urgent need to take effective measures to put an end to these constant acts of provocation and aggression, recalling in this regard Security Council resolution 387 (1976) condemning South Africa's aggression against Angola and recalling resolution 393 (1976) condemning South Africa's aggression against Zambia.

48. The Conference declared its firm commitment to the complete elimination of colonialism, Apartheid and racial discrimination in Southern Africa. The Conference noting that the racist minority regimes have rejected the offer for peaceful change contained in the Lusaka Manifesto on Southern Africa reaffirmed its support for an intensification of the armed struggle against the forces of colonialism, Apartheid and racial discrimination in Southern Africa, in order to obtain early compliance with the Dar-es-Salaam Declaration on Southern Africa, adopted by the Council of Ministers of the Organization of African Unity in April 1975, and the relevant United Nations resolutions on the liberation of Namibia, Zimbabwe and South Africa.

49. The Conference reaffirmed the inalienable right of the people of Zimbabwe to self-determination and independence and the legitimacy of their struggle to secure the enjoyment of that right by all means at their disposal. The Conference further reaffirmed the principle that there should be no independence before majority rule in Zimbabwe and that any settlement relating to the future of the territory must be worked out with the full participation of the African National Council of Zimbabwe. In expressing firm support for the people of Zimbabwe in their struggle, using all means at their disposal including armed struggle to achieve majority rule, the Conference called for the consolidation of their unity under the leadership of the African National Council of Zimbabwe. The Conference called upon all Non-Aligned countries and other peace and freedom-loving countries to give political, moral, material and diplomatic assistance in order to enable the people of Zimbabwe to achieve their right to self-determination and independence.

50. The Conference recognizing the importance of concerted international action against the Smith regime, calls for the total isolation of that regime in all fields. It particularly stressed the significance of scrupulously enforcing existing mandatory sanctions as well as expanding them to include such areas as communications.

51. To this end, the Conference expressed its support for the decision taken in March 1976 by the Government of Mozambique to close its border with Southern Rhodesia and to apply in full the sanctions as required by the United Nations against the illegal regime there. The Conference called on the international community to provide financial, technical and material assistance to Mozambique to enable it meet the economic needs arising out of its actions against the illegal regime in Southern Rhodesia.

52. The Conference reaffirmed the inalienable right of the people of Namibia to self-determination and independence and called for renewed efforts to ensure that the racist regime of South Africa is made to comply with the resolutions and decisions of the United Nations in Namibia, particularly Security Council resolution 385 of 1976. The Conference strongly condemned the racist regime of South Africa for its persistent refusal to withdraw from Namibia and for its manoeuvres to consolidate its illegal occupation by its policy of Bantustans or the so-called Homelands aimed at violating the national unity and the territorial integrity of Namibia. The Conference strongly condemned the so-called Windhoek constitutional talks as calculated to frustrate the legitimate aspirations of the Namibian people, defy the international community and perpetuate South Africa's domination of the territory.

53. The Conference declared that any so-called constitutional talks undertaken by the South African regime with unrepresentative chiefs and individuals of their own choice and which failed to take into account the legitimate interest of the Namibian people as represented by SWAPO could only be calculated to prolong the struggle in Namibia.

54. The Conference took the view that if the South African regime was really interested in a just solution it should meet immediately under the auspices of the United Nations, with the legitimate representatives of the Namibian people, SWAPO, for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements for the transfer of power. Alternatively, South Africa should scrupulously and unequivocally comply with the decisions of the Security Council as contained in its resolution 385 of 30 January 1976. The Conference underscored that this resolution, inter alia, stipulated that free elections under the supervision and control of the United Nations be held for the whole of Namibia as one political entity. The Conference categorically rejected any attempt to circumvent those decisions of the Security Council. It declared that any such manoeuvres calculated to sidetrack the legitimate struggle of the Namibians to self-determination and independence could only lead to the escalation of violence with all its attendant consequences. The Conference declared its total opposition to any spurious independence for Namibia and called upon all States to refrain from according recognition to any puppet regime which may be created by the South African regime.

55. The Conference in reiterating its firm support for the legitimate struggle of the Namibian people under the leadership of SWAPO, their national liberation movement, called upon the world community to render every form of assistance to them in their just struggle for independence. Furthermore, the Conference called upon the Security Council to live up to the terms of its own resolution 385 by taking all effective measures, including those provided under Chapter VII of the Charter if South Africa failed to comply with the provisions of that resolution.

56. The Conference reaffirmed that the minority racist regime of South Africa was not only unrepresentative of the people, but had been declared by the United Nations General Assembly, in resolution 3411G (XXX), to be illegitimate. The policy of Apartheid practised by it is an international crime. It is the bastion of racism and colonialism in Southern Africa and a grave menace to peace in the region. In this respect the Conference hailed the timely and valid decision taken by the General Assembly at the 29th Regular Session excluding the South African delegation from participating in the Assembly proceedings.

57. The Conference recognised that the total eradication of Apartheid and the exercise by the people of South Africa of their inalienable right of self-determination is an urgent and imperative need at the present time. The Conference categorically demanded the immediate release of the 1,000 African school children, students, journalists and other opponents of the South African racist regime who have been detained under the notorious Terrorism and State Security Acts since 16 June 1976 and further demanded that all political prisoners held by the Apartheid authorities be unconditionally released forthwith.

58. The Conference therefore reaffirmed the legitimacy of the struggle and called upon all States which have relations with the Pretoria regime and which have economic interests operating in South Africa to desist from supporting South Africa and instead to co-operate with the United Nations in its efforts to eradicate Apartheid.

59. In this respect, the Conference was particularly concerned at the growing nuclear and military collaboration of certain Governments with the Apartheid regime. It condemned the deal recently concluded by the French Government to provide nuclear reactors to South Africa . It denounced with equal force any form of agreement providing military equipment to that regime, and in this connexion noted, in particular, the recent decision by France to sell submarines and by Israel to sell missile-equipped corvettes to South Africa. The Conference called upon the United Nations Security Council to impose a mandatory arms embargo against South Africa. Further the Conference called upon member states to seprately and collectively impose such sanctions including an oil embargo against France and Israel for persistently violating United Nations General Assembly Resolutions against the supply of arms to the South African Apartheid regime.

60. The Conference considered that at this critical period in the struggle of the oppressed people in South Africa, all efforts be made to effectively support their liberation struggle. At the same time, a campaign should be conducted for the total isolation of the Apartheid regime.

The Conference recognized the important role played by the United Nations, especially the Special Committee on Decolonization, the Special Committee against Apartheid and the Council for Namibia, in support of the cause of liberation in Southern Africa. However, the effectiveness of the United Nations has been limited because of the attitudes of a few Western Powers which continue to collaborate with the minority racist regimes. While continuing by all available means to persuade these Powers to cease such collaboration, the Non-Aligned Movement must, at this stage of the people's struggle, assume its full responsibility by increasing practical support to the liberation movements, since any delay in effective action is bound to encourage the minority racist regimes to precipitate wider conflicts and resort to massive violence.

61. The Conference endorsed the Resolution of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU which categorically rejected the so-called Bantustans including the Transkei whose sham independence is scheduled for 26 October 1976. It called upon all Non-Aligned States to with-hold recognition from the puppet state. It further called upon all Non-Aligned States to intensify their vigilance against those manoeuvres aimed at consolidating the obnoxious system of Apartheid.

62. The Conference recognised that the current situation in Southern Africa provided for the Non-Aligned Movement both a challenge and an opportunity. It recalled the Movement's contribution to the victory so far scored in the liberation struggle in Southern Africa and considered it imperative that decisive practical assistance, material and financial, be given in support of the liberation struggle in order to accelerate the liquidation of colonialism and Apartheid in Southern Africa. To this end, the Conference bearing in mind the decision of the Fourth Summit Conference in Algiers to establish a Support and Solidarity Fund for Liberation in Southern Africa in order to increase the effectiveness of the struggle, called upon all Members of the Movement to provide practical assistance for the liberation movements. It also called upon them to provide active and effective support for the Frontline and enclave States, namely, Zambia, Mozambique, Angola, Botswana, Lesotho and Swaziland who are victims of constant harassment, provocation and in some cases repeated acts of aggression by the racist minority regimes.

63. The Conference noted with satisfaction the growing support for the cause of liberation in Southern Africa by the Non-Aligned and Socialist States, as well as a number of Western States, particularly the Nordic countries and Netherlands which have made generous contributions to humanitarian and other assistance to the oppressed people and their liberation movements. It deplored the fact that a few major Western Powers, especially France, the Federal Republic of Germany, the United Kingdom and the United States of America continue to give moral support and encouragement to the racist regimes by their economic, military and other types of collaboration with those regimes and by the continued refusal to support the Liberation Movements in their legitimate struggle.

VII COMBATING RACISM AND RACIAL DISCRIMINATION

64. The Conference recalled and fully endorsed the United Nations Declaration on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination of November 1963, affirming that any doctrine of racial differentiation or superiority is scientifically false, morally condemnable, socially unjust and dangerous.

65. The Conference expressed its total support for the "Programme for the Decade of Struggle Against Racism and Racial Discrimination" and called on all States for the fullest co-operation with United Nations in the achievement of its objectives and in particular for the implementation of the pertinent United Nations Resolutions concerning Racism and the elimination of Racism, Racial Discrimination, Apartheid and the Liberation of peoples subjected to colonial and foreign domination.

66. The Conference endorsed the UN General Assembly Resolution 3379 (XXXth Session) which determined that Zionism is a form of racism and racial discrimination.

67. The Conference recommended that all States that have not already done so take prompt measures to subscribe to the International Convention for the Elimination of all Forms of Racial Discrimination and the International Convention on Repression and Punishment for the Crime of Apartheid as a means of reinforcing international action against racism, Zionism, racial discrimination and Apartheid.

68. The Conference expressed its satisfaction with the results of the International Seminar Against Apartheid held in Havana in May 1976, which denounced the growing military, political and economic collaboration between the South African racist regime and Israel. The Conference condemned the practice of racism and racial discrimination by the regimes of South Africa, Rhodesia and Israel and drew the attention of the international community to the sinister and dangerous implications of the collusive actions of the three regimes in this regard.

69. The Conference welcomed the decision to hold a World Conference to combat Racism and Racial Discrimination, in Ghana in 1977, and urged co-ordinated action by the Non-Aligned to ensure the total success of this forthcoming World Conference.

VIII. SITUATION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

70. The Middle East situation continues to pose a grave threat to international peace and security. About nine years following its 1967 aggression, Israel continues to occupy Arab territories and violate the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people. The Israeli aggressors persist in their policy of expansion, annexation, mass expulsion and repression of the Arab population, in violation of the United Nations Charter and resolutions, and the principles of humanitarian and international law, particularly the Fourth Geneva Convention. Moreover, Israel continues to establish settlements in the occupied Arab territories and take measures aiming at the alteration of the political, demographic and cultural features, and religious character of Jerusalem and other occupied Arab territories.

71. Dependent on the United States political, economic and military support, Israel persists in its dilatory tactics and efforts to prolong its occupation in a bid to obstruct the establishment of a just and lasting peace in the region.

72. In view of the above, the Conference deemed it necessary that all Non-Aligned countries play an effective role and make positive contribution to the maintenance of world peace by exerting sustained and stronger pressure and adopting a clear stand in order to establish a just and lasting peace in the Middle East.

73. The international community is fully convinced that a just and lasting peace can only be established through an over-all settlement based on Israel's total withdrawal from all the occupied Arab territories and the Palestinian people's recovery and exercise of their inalienable national rights. Such an over-all settlement can only be reached through the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization, the representative of the Palestinian people on the basis of General Assembly Resolution 3375(xxx).

74. The Conference called upon all countries:

(a) To give all-out support and military, moral and material assistance to the Arab States and the Palestinian people under the leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization, in the struggle to end the Israeli aggression.

(b) To desist forthwith from any action which could contribute to Israel's financial, military or human potential or give moral support to its policy.

(c) Not to recognize any alterations made by Israel in the geographic, demographic, economic, cultural or historical characteristics of the occupied territories, and hold it responsible for the exploitation of these territories' wealth and resources.

(d) To stress the Non-Aligned countries' support for the preservation of the national, religious and spiritual values of Jerusalem and regard all annexation measures taken by Israel as null and void.

(e) To condemn the racist and hostile collusion between South Africa and Israel which aims at creating a racist and expansionist axis to wage war against peoples and deprive them of their national rights.

75. The Conference expressed deep satisfaction at the United Nations resolutions which stress the importance of the establishment of a just and lasting peace in consonance with the aims and principles of the United Nations Charter.

76. The Conference, gravely concerned over the stagnation of efforts to establish a just peace, is confident that Non-Aligned countries will bring stronger pressure to bear in order to create the impetus necessary for overcoming the obstacles which Israel attempts to force on the international community.

IX. QUESTION OF PALESTINE

77. The Palestine and Middle East situation continues to pose a grave threat to international peace and security.

78. Israel's continued usurpation of Palestine, its flagrant denial of the national rights of the Palestinian people as recognised by the United Nations, its persistence in its hostile, expansionist and racist policy and its repressive practices against the Palestinian people in the occupied territories constitute a defiance of the international community and a violation of the Principles of the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration on Human Rights.

79. The Conference believed that a just and lasting peace in the Middle East can only be established through the solution of the Palestine question, the root cause of the conflict in the region, in accordance with the United Nations resolutions which recognised the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people.

80. The Conference after considering the Report of the United Nations Committee on the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People established in accordance with General Assembly Resolution 3376 (XXX) endorsed the Report and requests the respective representatives of the Non-Aligned countries at the United Nations to support the Report in the 31st Session of the United Nations General Assembly and urges the competent bodies of the United Nations to take immediate action in accordance with the programme of implementation recommended by the Committee.

81. Israel's refusal to co-operate with the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestine People set up by the Thirtieth Session of the United Nations General Assembly in accordance with United Nations Resolution 3236 (XXIX) is a new indication of Israel's persistent defiance of the will of the international community and attempts to prevent the Palestinian People from exercising their inalienable national rights. This only serves to escalate the conflict and tension in the Middle East and creates an explosive situation which poses a grave threat to international peace and security.

82. In view of the obstacle laid by the United States to block any condemnation of or sanctions against Israel by using the veto in the Security Council against relevant draft resolutions, the Conference urged the need to take the most adequate measures in order to strengthen their pressure on Israel in the United Nations and specialised agencies, including the possibility of eventually depriving it of its membership in these institutions.

83. The Conference noted with deep satisfaction the United Nations resolutions which invite the Palestine Liberation Organisation, as the representative of the Palestinian people, to participate in all international efforts, deliberations and conferences on the Middle East which are held under United Nations auspices, on an equal footing with other parties, on the basis of Resolution 3236 (XXIX).

84. The Conference also noted with satisfaction the United Nations resolutions which condemns Zionism as a form of racism and racial discrimination.

X CYPRUS

85. The Conference reaffirmed its solidarity with the Government and people of Cyprus and recalled General Assembly Resolution 3212 (XXIX) - endorsed by Security Council resolution 365 (1974) - which continues to provide the principles and the valid framework for the solution of the problem. It also recalled Security Council Resolution 367 (1975) and General Assembly Resolution 3395 (XXX) as well as the Lima Declaration, which embody principles and conditions advocated by the Non-Aligned Countries through the Contact Group of Five. The Conference noted with satisfaction that the United Nations Resolutions called upon all States to respect the Non-Aligned status of Cyprus.

86. In urging the immediate implementation of United Nations resolutions, the Conference called upon all States to respect the sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity and Non-Alignment of Cyprus; demanded the immedicte and unconditional withdrawal of foreign armed forces and other foreign military presence from Cyprus; and, called for the initiation of urgent measures to ensure the safe return of all refugees to their homes. The Conference supported the continuation of meaningful and constructive negotiations between the representatives of the Greek-Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities freely conducted on an equal footing, which should lead to a mutually satisfactory and freely acceptable agreement and emphasised the need for the parties concerned to adhere to the agreements reached at all previous rounds of the talks held under the auspices of the Secretary-General of the United Nations.

87. The Conference further emphasized that all parties should refrain from taking unilateral action in the situation and deplored such action already taken, more particularly arbitrary actions to enforce a change in the demographic structure of the island in whatever way. The situation brought about by such actions should not be allowed to influence the settlement of the Cyprus issue.

88. The Conference considered that the United Nations should take effective measures to ensure the implementation of its resolutions with regard to Cyprus.

XI. DEMOCRATIC KAMPUCHEA

89. The Conference warmly saluted the glorious and historic victory gained by the People of Kampuchea on 17 April 1975 over the war of aggression of the American imperialists. It welcomed this great and unprecedented victory of a small country, sparsely populated and poor, independent and non-aligned, over the world's largest imperialistic power.

90. The Conference reaffirmed its unfailing support for the struggle of the people and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea to restore the economy, to build up a new truly democratic and prosperous society, and to defend what has been acquired by victory, independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, against any foreign interference. It warmly acclaimed the considerable and rapid results achieved by the people and the Government of Kampuchea in these fields.

91. All these victories and successes are the results of immense sacrifices on the part of the People of Kampuchea and of its determination to maintain, in independence and sovereignty, its self-reliance and its right to control its own destiny. They are also the results of the practical solidarity of all Non-Aligned and Third World peoples, of all those countries which love peace and justice in the world. They make a vast contribution to the spread and reinforcement of the principles of non-alignment and to the struggle of the world's peoples against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism and any act of aggression and foreign interference.

92. The Conference congratulated Democratic Kampuchea on having remained faithful to the principles of Non-Alignment and paid tribute to its constant determination to defend them.

XII. LAO - PEOPLES DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC

93. The Conference warmly acclaimed the total victory of the Lao people in their struggle for liberation under the leadership of the Lao People's Revolutionary Party. The defeat of neo-colonialism in Laos and the foundation of the Lao People's Democratic Republic are not only a victory which ushers in a new era of progress for the Lao people but also a common victory of the national liberation movement and of all progressive and peace-loving forces over imperialism; they help to safeguard peace in South-East Asia, to give fresh impetus to the struggles for national independence and to strengthen the Non-Aligned Movement.

94. Nevertheless, the acts of sabotage perpetrated by aggressive imperialism against the young Lao People's Democratic Republic are still continuing.

95. The Conference therefore appealed to all the Non-Aligned countries to unite their efforts in order to put an end to these activities forthwith, and to the United States to help to heal the war wounds in this country.

96. The Conference also appealed to all the non-aligned countries to come to the aid of the Government and people of the Lao People's Democratic Republic in their efforts to achieve post-war economic recovery.

XIII THE SOCIALIST REPUBLIC OF VIETNAM

97. The Conference acclaimed the historic and total victory achieved by the people of Viet-Nam in their struggle against aggressive United States imperialism. This great victory has ushered in a new era for Viet-Nam, one of building up a peaceful, independent, united and socialist Viet-Nam.

98. This Victory is also a victory of militant solidarity and effective co-operation between the peoples struggling for independence and freedom and the non-aligned countries and other progressive forces in the world.

99. The victorious struggle of the people of Viet-Nam constitutes a great contribution to the common struggle of the peoples of the Non-Aligned countries and other progressive peoples in the world against the common enemy, namely imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, and racism, and for peace, national independence, democracy and social progress.

100. The Summit Conference acclaimed the birth of the Socialist Republic of Viet-Nam and called upon the international community to co-operate actively in the reconstruction of the Viet-Namese economy, wrecked by the war, pursuant to the resolution adopted by the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) at its fifty-eighth session.

101. The Conference further declared that the commitment entered into by the United States under article 21, Chapter VIII, of the "Agreement on ending the War and Restoring Peace in Viet-Nam", signed on 27 January 1973, should be honoured and called upon the United Nations Security Council to give prompt and positive consideration to the application of the Socialist Republic of Viet-Nam for admission to membership of the United Nations, in accordance with resolution 3366 adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its thirtieth session.

XIV. KOREA

102. The Conference expressed deep concern over the grave situation in Korea created by the imperialists, a situation in which a war may break out at any moment. The Conference strongly demanded that the imperialists immediately stop their manoeuvres to provoke war and remove nuclear weapons, military installations and all other means of war they have introduced in the area.

103. The Conference called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Korea, for the closure of foreign Military bases, for the termination of the "United Nations Command" and for the replacement of the Korean Military Armistice Agreement by a durable peace agreement.

104. The Conference supported the struggle of the people in the North and the South of Korea to reunify their country peacefully and without outside interference on the basis of the three principles of reunification stipulated in the North-South Joint Statement of July 4, 1972.

XV. LATIN AMERICAN ISSUES

105. The Conference noted with satisfaction the increasing participation of Latin America in the anti-colonialist, anti-imperialist struggle for full independence and sovereignty within the Non-Aligned Movement. Tangible proof of this reality is that new countries in the region have incorporated themselves into the Non-Aligned Movement in recent years and the important Ministerial Conferences of Georgetown and Lima and the Third Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau in Havana were held in the continent. The convening of the Sixth Summit Conference of Heads of State and Government of the Non-Aligned Countries in Havana (Cuba) in 1979, for the first time in Latin America, is a true reflection of the increasing role this region is playing.

106. Latin America is one of the areas of the world that has suffered most intensely from the aggression of colonialism and United States imperialism. The Conference has examined, in particular, the situation of certain Non-Aligned countries in the area that are the target of pressure, coercion and intimidation. The Conference especially took note of the statements by the Prime Ministers of Guyana, Jamaica and Barbados concerning attempts to "destabilize" their governments.

The so-called "techniques of destabilization" that are used include, among others, deliberate and well-orchestrated attacks through the mass media, selective sales of arms and alleged defense services, intensification of inter-regional conflicts, fanning of internal problems and manipulation of servile support. The Conference reaffirmed its full solidarity and active commitment among the Governments and Peoples of Guyana, Jamaica, Barbados and other countries in the region subjected to these or similar pressures, and in particular condemned and denounced energetically all threats against the territorial integrity of Guyana.

107. The Conference denounced threats and new aggressions against Cuba made by United States imperialism and also reiterated its condemnation of the blockade imposed by United States imperialism in an effort to isolate and destroy the Cuban Revolution and demands that it be immediately and unconditionally lifted. It also recognized that the people of Cuba have suffered extensive economic losses due to the blockade and that these must be rectified.

108. The Conference called on the members of the Non-Aligned Movement to make every effort to speed up the Puerto Rican people's decolonization process and to offer them their solidarity and support in achieving self-determination and independence. In this respect, it reaffirmed previous decisions taken by the Non-Aligned Movement on this issue, and also asked the United Nations Special Committee on Decolonization to recommend to the General Assembly effective measures for the implementation in respect of Puerto Rico of its resolution 1514 (XV) and demanded that the Government of the United States of America halt all political or repressive manoeuvres that tend to perpetuate Puerto Rico's colonial status.

109. The Conference welcomed the participation of Belize whose aspirations for independence continue to be frustrated by territorial claims. It expressed its unconditional support for the inalienable right of the people of Belize to self-determination, independence and territorial integrity. In urging the strict implementation of United Nations General Assembly Resolution 3432 (XXX), the Conference called upon the parties concerned to pursue the negotiations in conformity with the principles laid down therein.

110. The Conference noted with satisfaction the unanimous Latin American support for the legitimate aspirations of the Republic of Panama, and associated itself with the desires expressed by the countries of the Western Hemisphere that a settlement of this question be achieved during this year of the celebration of the Sesquicentennial of the Amphictyonic Congress of Panama convened by the Liberator Simon Bolivar.

111. The Conference reiterated its firm support and solidarity with the Government and people of Panama in their fair struggle for their effective sovereignty and total jurisdiction over the so-called Panama Canal Zone.

112. The Conference reaffirmed the support of the Non-Aligned countries for the Panamanian control of the Panama Canal and reiterated their firm support for all efforts that the Republic of Panama will make before international forums, in particular the United Nations bodies.

113. The Conference praised the progress made by the Panamanian people under the Revolutionary Government headed by General Omar Torrijos Herrera, offering any support that they may require when facing any action which may cause its destabilization.

114. The Conference reaffirmed its solidarity with the Peruvian people and with the Government of the Armed Forces of Peru in their valiant and just effort to consolidate and deepen the gains of the Peruvian revolution, to affirm their sovereignty and promote economic, political and social transformation for the benefit of their people.

115. The Conference expressed its conviction that the Lima Ministerial Conference has been a landmark in the history of the Movement and that the "programme of Solidarity and Mutual Aid" approved at that meeting contains many basic elements of special significance to the Non-Aligned Movement.

116. The Conference paid homage to the Latin-American leader, Salvador Allende, and expressed its deep concern over the aggression and presence of imperialism in Chile, which is reflected in the reversal of the process of recuperating natural resources and making economic and social transformations in the country; in the flagrant violations of human rights there and the fact that the Military Junta has not allowed the United Nations Human Rights Commission to visit Chile. They expressed their solidarity with the resolutions to this effect passed during the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth United Nations General Assembly Sessions, with the pertinent decisions of various United Nations specialized organizations, particularly the ILO and UNESCO, as well as those passed at the Dakar Conference on Raw Materials, the World Conference for International Women's Year, the Human Rights Commission in February 1976, and reiterated the decisions previously passed by the Non-Aligned Countries on this matter, reaffirming their solidarity with the Chilean people.

117. The Conference also ratified the decision to keep the situation in Chile under its permanent observation and to promote solidarity with its people.

118. The Conference stated that the presence of United States military bases in Latin America, such as those existing in Cuba and Panama, represents a threat to the peace and security of the region and renewed its demand that the Government of the United States of America immediately restore to these countries the inalienable parts of their territories occupied against the will of their governments and peoples and also demands dismantling of the military bases that exist in Puerto Rico.

119. In the special and particular case of the Malvinas (Falkland Islands), the Conference firmly supported the just claim of the Argentine Republic and urged the United Kingdom to actively pursue the negotiations recommended by the United Nations for the purpose of restoring that territory to Argentine sovereignty, thus ending that illegal situation that still prevails in the extreme southern part of the American continent.

120. The Conference expressed its support for the peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean in their efforts to develop and strengthen exclusively Latin-American mechanisms for regional and subregional co-operation or integration, and affirmed that these efforts contribute to the solidarity, independent development and strengthening of the sovereignty of the countries in the region.

It expressed its unrestricted backing of the initiation of the efforts of the Latin-American Economic System (SELA) aimed at achieving these ends and, at the same time, condemned every kind of manoeuvre or pressure that seeks to block their development.

121. The Conference backed and encouraged the nationalist and independent measures adopted during the period since the Fourth Summit Conference by Ecuador, Venezuela, Columbia, Panama, Mexico and other countries towards recuperating their natural resources and condemns every attempt at coercion or aggression such as the United States Trade Law passed by the United States Congress which particularly affects the Latin-American countries, among others.

XVI. INDIAN OCEAN PEACE ZONE PROPOSAL

122. The Conference recalled that at the Lusaka Summit, Non-Aligned nations gave special attention to the situation in the Indian Ocean and called upon all States to consider and respect the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace from which great Power rivalries and competition as well as bases conceived in the context of such rivalries and competition be excluded.

123. The Conference noted that the cardinal principles of Non-Alignment are invoked in the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace adopted by the UNGA Resolution 2832 (XXVI) which seeks to protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of States of the region and calls for the elimination from the Indian Ocean of foreign bases, military installations and logistical supply facilities, the disposition of nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction and any manifestation of great Power military presence in the Indian Ocean conceived in the context of great Power rivalries.

124. The Conference assured all nations that the proposal for the establishment of a Zone of Peace in the Indian Ocean does not limit the right to free and unimpeded use of the Indian Ocean by their vessels in conformity with international law as long as such vessels pose no military or strategic threat to the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of the littoral and hinterland States.

125. The Conference condemned the establishment, maintenance and expansion of foreign and imperialist military bases and installations, such as Diego Garcia, by the great Powers in the pursuit of their strategic interests as well as the continuing escalation of great Power military rivalry and tension in the Indian Ocean as they constitute a direct threat to the Independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of States of the region.

126. The Conference recalling UNGA 2832 (XXVI) invites the littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean to refuse to grant facilities to warships and military aircraft which may be used for any purpose liable to prejudice the sovereignty, territorial integrity and security of States in the region in contravention of the Charter of the United Nations.

127. The Conference called on them to dismantle existing foreign bases and military installations which are or may be endangering the territorial integrity and the peaceful and progressive development of other States in the region; or are being used to hamper self-determination for the peoples of the area.

128. The Conference expressed its concern that as a result of recent developments, the Indian Ocean area could become the main focus of great Power rivalry in Asia. Such a development would lead to tension and conflict in the Indian Ocean through growing great Power competition for naval superiority in the area. In these circumstances, it is imperative that the Indian Ocean Peace Zone Proposal be implemented with the least possible delay as a contribution to international peace and security.

129. The Conference condemned the existence of South African military bases in the area and the close military cooperation between the Pretoria regime, Israel and certain Western Powers in the region. The Conference condemned in particular the existence of the Simonstown and Silvermine bases as well as Project Advokaat whose objectives included surveillance over African national liberation movements.

130. The Conference recalled UNGA Resolution 2832 (XXVI) and called upon the littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean, the permanent members of the Security Council and the major maritime users of the Indian Ocean to promote the objectives of establishing a system of universal collective security without military alliances and to strengthen international security through regional and international cooperation.

131. The Conference further called upon littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean to desist from membership in military alliances or pacts conceived in the context of great Power rivalry or which are detrimental to the interests of the peoples of the region.

132. The Conference deplored the un-cooperative attitude adopted by the big Powers and maritime nations, with notable exceptions, towards the Ad Hoc Committee on the Indian Ocean and urged them to enter into consultations with the Committee with a view to early implementation of the United Nations resolutions on this subject.

133. The Conference called upon Non-Aligned States in the region to take concerted action in consultation with other littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean with a view to convening a Conference on the Indian Ocean, as soon as possible, in accordance with United Nations General Assembly resolution 3259 (XXIX) and 3468 (XXX) to adopt measures for the implementation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

134. In the context of the foregoing paragraphs, the concept of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace includes its natural extensions and the littoral and hinterland States.

XVII DISARMAMENT A[illegible]ITY.

135. The Conference expressed [illegible] onviction that universal peace and security can be assured only by general and complete isarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament, under effective iternational control and that essential measures to that end should clude the complete cessation of all nuclear weapon tests pending conclusion of a test ban treaty, an unequivocal renunciation of or threat of use of nuclear weapons as well as chemical, ic[illegible] and other weapons of mass destruction and the eli- ls of all such weapons.

136. [illegible]rence declared that the arms race is inconsistent with efforts aimed at achieving the New International Economic Order in view of the urgent need to divert the resources utilised for the acceleration of the arms race towards socio-economic development, particularly of the developing countries.

137. The Conference urged all states to accelerate negotiations, with a view to securing, as rapidly as possible and within the context of the Diplomatic Conference which will hold a meeting in Geneva next year, the prohibition of certain conventional weapons of an indiscriminate or cruel nature, particularly the prohibition of the use of napalm and other incendiary weapons.

138. The Conference reiterated the urgent need to adopt effective measures leading to the convening of a World Disarmament Conference.

139. The Conference also recommended in the meantime, that Members of the Non-Aligned movement request the holding of a Special Session of the General Assembly as early as possible and not later than 1978. The Agenda of the Special Session should include:-

a. a review of the problem of disarmament,

b. the promotion and elaboration of a programme, of priorities and recommendations in the field of disarmament,

c. the question of convening a World Disarmament Conference.

140. The Conference emphasized the necessity to strengthen international peace and security and ratified their firm decision to reinforce solidarity and mutual assistance among the Non-Aligned Countries in order to confront more effectively threats, pressures, aggressions and other political or economic actions directed against them by imperialism.

141. In this sense, the Conference recalled that Resolution No. 3 concerning economic security and collective action adopted at the 4th Summit Conference in Algiers remains fully in force, as do the measures indicated in the strategy of the Lima Programme, whose aim is to guarantee full exercise of their sovereignty and independent development processes particularly in the case of aggressions, pressures or coercion.

XVIII. INTERFERENCE IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF STATES

142. The Non-Aligned commitment to the principle of the true independence of States, as distinct from merely formal sovereignty, means that the Non-Aligned are opposed to any form of interference in the internal affairs of States. The Bandung Declaration of 1955, and the principles affirmed by the Non-Aligned Summit Conferences in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka and Algiers, have been emphatic that interference in the internal affairs of States is totally unacceptable.

143. Such interference is inconsistent with the obligations assumed by Members of the United Nations under the Charter of the United Nations. This principle has been re-affirmed in the "Declaration of Principles of International Law Concerning Friendly Relations and Co-operation Among States in Accordance with the Charter of the United Nations".

144. The Conference expressed alarm at the increasing evidence of the resort to forms of aggression by foreign Powers and other political and economic agencies or institutions, official as well as private, such as transnational corporations, aimed at preserving and protecting their special interests and dominant influence in order to obstruct and thwart the processes of political, economic and social transformation. These policies of aggression are for the most part being implemented by a wide range of indirect and highly subtle and sophisticated techniques such as economic aggression, subversion and defamation of Governments directed at destabilization of States and their institutions.

The Conference recognized that for Non-Aligned [illegible] ced by such interference in the internal [illegible] of States was a matter of grave concern. Although the process of decolonization had made significant headway, there were several cases where the true independence of States had not been safeguarded. Politics of pressure and domination were continuing to seriously threaten the independence of States. Measures calculated to cause disruption and destabilization were threatening internal security and creating political confusion and economic chaos. Non-Aligned countries should act more resolutely against threats of foreign pressure and domination, subversion and interference in their internal affairs. Resistance to pressure and infiltration was indispensable for the preservation of independence of the Non-Aligned countries of the world.

145. The Conference resolutely rejected any attempts to justify foreign interference under any pretext whatsoever, from any source.

146. The Conference recognized that interference could assume multifarious forms, political, economic and military, as well as through the information media. One of the most recent manifestations of such interference is the use of mercenaries to undermine the independence of sovereign States and obstruct the struggle of national liberation movements against colonial rule. The Conference denounced all such forms of interference and emphasized the need for unremitting vigilance on the part of the Non-Aligned in this regard.

147. The Conference noted with serious disappointment the failure of the United Nations Security Council to condemn the Israeli military aggression against Uganda on 4 July 1976. The Conference expressed grave concern at the tragic loss of human life, damage and destruction of the Ugandan property caused by the Israeli aggression.

148. The Conference strongly condemned Israel's flagrant violation of the Republic of Uganda's sovereignty and territorial integrity and the deliberate and wanton destruction of life and property at Entebbe Airport and further condemned Israel for thwarting the humanitarian efforts by the President of Uganda to have all the hostages released.

149. The Conference demanded that Israel meet the just claims of the Government of Uganda for full compensation for the damage and destruction caused during the invasion.

XIX. THE UNITED NATIONS

150. The Conference recognized the importance of the United Nations as an effective instrument for promoting international peace and security, developing co-operation and establishing equitable economic relations between States, and promoting fundamental rights and freedoms. The Conference therefore reaffirmed the adherence of Non-Aligned countries to the purposes and principles of the Charter.

151. The Non-Aligned countries welcomed the progress made towards the principle of universality of membership of the United Nations through the admission to the Organization, since the Algiers Summit, of a number of countries most of which are members of the Non-Aligned Movement. The Conference noted that the responsibilities and obligations that accompany the veto power in the Security Council continue to be ignored by certain permanent Member States. In this context, it deplored the abuse of the veto power by a permanent Member of the Security Council on the question of recommending the admission to the United Nations of countries such as Angola and Vietnam which are fully qualified for such status.

152. The Conference noted with satisfaction that the strength of the Non-Aligned and of the developing countries as a whole at the United Nations has increased appreciably in recent years, and expressed the determination of the Non-Aligned Movement to employ this strength for the promotion of the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter. More particularly the Conference urged the full application of the Charter provisions relating to the maintenance of international peace and security and also the effective discharge of the functions of the Security Council through the implementation of its decisions.

153. The Conference noted with satisfaction that the General Assembly at its thirtieth session decided by resolution 3499 (XXX) to reconvene an enlarged Special Committee on the United Nations Charter and on the strengthening of the role of the Organization. The Conference requested all Non-Aligned States to co-ordinate their views and to make proposals to the Committee with the objectives of promoting action to enhance the ability of the United Nations to achieve its purpose.

154. The Conference expressed the conviction that the progress made towards the attainment of the goal of universality of membership in the United Nations has enabled Non-Aligned countries, in pursuit of the objectives of the democratization of international relations, to play a greater role in the decision-making process and justified the adjustment of the United Nations system, including specifically the revision of the Charter, to the new realities on the basis of full respect for the sovereignty and equality of States. Such adjustment would further require the orientation of the United Nations system in all decision-making processes to accomplish the objectives of the New International Economic Order.

XX. POLITICS AND ECONOMICS

155. The Conference noted with satisfaction that Non-Aligned meetings are giving increased importance to economic affairs. This is a reflection of the fact that the great majority of the Non-Aligned States are poor or under-developed. Economic affairs must, therefore, be their primary concern if political independence is to have real meaning.

156. It is incontestable that there is an integral connection between politics and economics, and it is erroneous to approach economic affairs in isolation from politics. A complete change of political attitude and the demonstration of a new political will is an indispensable pre-requisite for the realisation of The New International Economic Order.

157. The increased importance given to economic affairs at Non-Aligned meetings does not imply acceptance of the view that the political aspects of international affairs should be left to the rich and powerful States, while the poor and weak should mainly concern themselves with economic affairs. That view has to be regarded as part of an imperialist strategy aimed at preserving an international order favourable to the rich and powerful. It is appropriate for the Non-Aligned to be concerned with the political as well as economic aspects of international affairs. The importance given to economic affairs does not diminish the importance given to political affairs at Non-Aligned meetings.

158. It is of supreme importance that the Non-Aligned, along with other developing nations, strive vigorously for the establishment of the New International Economic Order which would end the exploitation of the weak and poor by the powerful and rich. The Non-Aligned realise that the efforts of the developing nations to ensure co-operation in establishing the New International Economic Order have so far failed to secure a satisfactory response from the developed countries. It is significant that the oil producers in securing better prices for their oil were prepared to resort to a confrontation as their appeals for co-operation were rejected. The Non-Aligned pledged themselves to make every effort in association with other developing countries, to strive for international co-operation in the establishment of The New International Economic Order. Should they fail in their efforts, the responsibility for creating a situation of confrontation between the developed and the developing countries would fall squarely on the developed world.

159. The Conference recognised the vast potential for economic co-operation amongst the Non-Aligned and the developing countries of the world. The appreciable surplus of capital at the disposal of the Non-Aligned, the considerable technological expertise as well as the rich reservoir of human resources available to them enable the non-aligned and other developing countries to engage in effective co-operation to their mutual advancement and benefit. The Non-Aligned pledged themselves to co-operate more actively amongst themselves and with other developing nations to improve their economic status and increase their bargaining power as they could thereby enhance the political effectiveness of the Third World.

XXI PRESS AGENCIES POOL

160. A new International order in the fields of information and mass communications is as vital as a new international economic order.

161. Non-Aligned countries noted with concern the vast and ever growing gap between communication capacities in non-aligned countries and in the advanced countries which is a legacy of their colonial ast. This has created a situation of dependence and domination in hich the majority of countries are reduced to being passive recipients of biased, inadequate and distorted information. The fuller identification and affirmation of their national and cultural identity thus required them to rectify this serious imbalance and to take urgent steps to provide greater momentum in this new area of mutual co-operation.

162. The emancipation and development of national information media is an integral part of the over-all struggle for political, economic and social independence for a large majority of the peoples of the world who should not be denied the right to inform and to be informed objectively and correctly. Self-reliance in sources of information is as important as technological self-reliance since dependence in the field of information in turn retards the very achievement of political and economic growth.

163. Non-Aligned countries must achieve these objectives through their own efforts as well as by more active co-operation on a bilateral, regional as well as inter-regional basis and by co-ordinating their activities in the United Nations and other international forums. It is particularly necessary for non-aligned countries to strengthen their existing infra-structure and to take full advantage of the scientific and technological breakthrough already made in this field. This would facilitate more complete dissemination of objective information amongst their own public as well as the world at large about developments in non-aligned countries in the social, economic, cultural and other fields and their growing role in the international community.

164. The Conference welcomed the Declaration adopted and the important decisions taken in this field at the Conference held in New Delhi from 8 - 13 July 1976 at the high political level of Ministers of Information of non-aligned countries and urged their earliest possible implementation.

XXII. CONCLUSION

165. The Conference noted that international trends are distinctly favourable to Non-Alignment. In this connection it is particularly important to take account of developments consistent with the leading objectives of Non-Alignment, the true independence of States and peaceful co-existence.

166. The process of decolonization is nearing completion, and resistance to unequal relations which could amount to domination is becoming stronger. The bi-polar world, in which there were only two important centres of power, disappeared over a decade ago and since then attempts to establish a multipolar world have proved futile as the majority in the international community are against polarization around power centres. The majority also reject the notions of international order based on power blocs, balance of power, and spheres of influence, as all such notions are inconsistent with aspirations towards the true independence of States and democratization of international relations. The international trend is therefore distinctly favourable to the Non-Aligned principle of the true independence of States, and all that it implies.

167. The international trend is also favourable to peaceful co-existence, as shown by the resistance to power blocs and other developments such as the greater earnestness on the part of the great powers in trying to achieve detente. It is furthermore a fact of great importance that the world is becoming increasingly interdependent, a factor of crucial significance in shaping the world of the future. In an interdependent world the only alternative to international co-operation is international rivalry, tension and conflict, and the human aspiration towards a better world has inevitably to manifest itself through international co-operation. Consequently the trend is favourable to international co-operation in accordance with the Non-Aligned principle of peaceful co-existence.

168. The Conference emphasised that the joint activities of Non-Aligned countries constitute an essential requirement for their successful participation in world affairs as well as for promoting their mutual cooperation. Noting that important results have been achieved, the Conference deemed it necessary that for the realisation of the principles of non-alignment and the implementation of programmes adopted by the non-aligned countries, further improvements in the system of co-ordination for their concerted action are called for. The Conference in that context also underlined the need for the development of various forms of co-operation, continuous consultation and co-ordination, and decided to adopt appropriate measures to this end, giving due regard to the democratic character of the non-aligned movement.

169. The fact that the international situation is evolving in a direction increasingly favourable to Non-Alignment suggests that it represents an ineluctable historic force that has to be taken into account if a satisfactory international order is to be realised.

170. The Conference decided that the next Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries shall be held in Havana, Cuba, in 1979.

Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries
Colombo, 1976

NAC/CONF.5/S/RES.1

RESOLUTION ON SOUTH AFRICA

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Deeply concerned over the explosive situation in South Africa resulting from the imposition by the white minority regime of racist oppression over the great majority of people under the policy of apartheid,

Indignant at the recent massacres of African schoolchildren in Soweto and other African townships in South Africa, the continuing acts of genocide against South African patriots and innocent black population, and the massive and brutal repression against all opponents of apartheid,

Noting the growth of popular resistance by the black people of South Africa and their uprising in defiance of repression,

Noting with deep concern the enormous increase in the military budget of South Africa and the continued supply to it by several Western Powers of military equipment and technical and other assistance for production of arms,

Condemning the racist regime of South Africa for its acts of aggression against the People's Republic of Angola and the Republic of Zambia,

Considering that the policies and actions of the racist regime of South Africa have caused the grave threat to the peace in Southern Africa, and may lead to a wider conflagration,

Further considering that the political, military, economic and other collaboration by a number of Western Powers - especially France, the Federal Republic of Germany, the United Kingdom and the United States of America - has encouraged and enabled the racist regime of South Africa to persist in its crimes,

Convinced of the urgent need for a comprehensive programme of international action to concert efforts by governments and organisations for the speedy and total eradication of apartheid, and to enable the South African people to exercise their inalienable right to self-determination,

Welcoming the declaration and programme of action adopted by the International Seminar for the Eradication of Apartheid and in Support of the Struggle for Liberation in South Africa, organized by the United Nations Special Committee against Apartheid in Havana, Republic of Cuba, from 24 to 28 May 1976,

Welcoming the coming into force of the International Convention for the Suppression and Punishment of Apartheid,

1. Strongly condemns the racist regime of South Africa for its oppression of the great majority of the people of South Africa, its continued illegal occupation of the Territory of Namibia, its support to the illegal racist minority regime in Southern Rhodesia, and its repeated acts of aggression against neighbouring independent African States,

2. Declares that the racist regime in South Africa is illegitimate and constitutes a grave menace to international peace and security in Southern Africa,

3. Reaffirms its full support to the oppressed people of South Africa and their liberation movements in their legitimate struggle, by all necessary means including armed struggle, to eradicate apartheid and exercise their inalienable right to self-determination,

4. Extends its greetings to the South African liberation movements and to all those struggling against apartheid, particularly the Black consciousness movement in South Africa, and to all those imprisoned, restricted or exiled for their struggle against apartheid,

5. Declares that any aggression by the racist regime of South Africa against independent African States is an act of aggression against all non-aligned countries and against the international community as a whole,

6. Strongly deplores the continued political, economic, military and other collaboration by a number of Western Powers, as well as some other States, particularly Israel, with the South African regime,

7. Specially condemns all collaboration with South Africa in the nuclear field, and in particular the proposed sale of nuclear reactors by France, the supply of enriched uranium by the United States of America to South Africa, and technical and other assistance by the Federal Republic of Germany and the United Kingdom,

8. Condemns the activities of transnational corporations which assist and collaborate with the racist regime of South Africa and profit from racism in South Africa,

9. Condemns any assistance to, or co-operation with, the South African racist regime in its naval build-up in the Indian ocean and the South Atlantic zone,

10. Calls on non-aligned countries, separately and jointly, to take diplomatic, economic and other measures to secure the cessation of all collaboration with the South African regime by States and transnational corporations,

11. Calls on the United Nations Security Council to impose a mandatory embargo, under Chapter VII of the Charter, against the supply of military equipment to, or any form of military co-operation with the racist regime of South Africa,

12. Urges all countries concerned to take steps to prevent the supply of petroleum and petroleum products to South Africa, and to deny facilities to airlines and ships proceeding to or returning from South Africa,

13. Commends all governments and sports bodies which have boycotted exchanges with South African sporting teams selected on the basis of apartheid,

14. Endorses the proposal by the Prime Minister of Jamaica for an international convention against apartheid in sports,

15. Denounces the bantustan policy of the South African racist regime and calls on all countries to refrain from any form of recognition to, or co-operation with, any authorities set up under that policy,

16. Calls on all States and organizations to increase assistance to the oppressed people of South Africa and their liberation movements until they attain liberation from racist oppression,

17. Urges all countries to co-operate with the United Nations Special Committee against apartheid in its efforts to mobilize world public opinion in support of the struggle for liberation in South Africa, and make contributions to the United Nations Trust Fund for Publicity against apartheid,

18. Endorses the relevant resolutions adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity at their thirteenth ordinary session in Port-Louis, Mauritius, from 2 to 6 July 1976,

19. Declares that support for the liberation of South Africa and emancipation of the African continent as a whole, will remain a matter of priority for the non-aligned movement.

SUPPORT AND SOLIDARITY FUND FOR THE LIBERATION OF SOUTHERN AFRICA

The Fifth Conference of the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka, from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Considering the growth of the struggle of the oppressed people of South Africa, Namibia and Zimbabwe for national liberation in defiance of savage repression and wanton killings by the racist minority regimes,

Reaffirming the firm commitment of the Non-Aligned Movement to the total emancipation of Africa,

Recognizing the urgent need for increased financial and material assistance to the oppressed people of South Africa, Namibia and Zimbabwe, and their liberation movements, in the present stage of their heroic struggle for the liquidation of colonialism and racism, and the exercise of their inalienable right to self-determination and independence,

Recalling that the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Algiers in 1973, had decided to establish a Support and Solidarity Fund for Southern Africa,

Considering that this Fund should be urgently reactivated and promoted as a concrete manifestation of the solidarity of the Non-Aligned Movement with the oppressed peoples of Southern Africa and their legitimate struggle,

1. Invites all Non-Aligned countries to contribute generously to the Support and Solidarity Fund for Southern Africa and to inform all Member States through the Chairman of their contributions;

2. Authorizes and requests the Chairman of the Non-Aligned Group a United Nations to further convene a pledging conference, during the Thirty-fi .. session of the General Assembly, to receive pledges of contributions to the Fund by the Non-Aligned countries from those delegations not in a position to do so at this Conference.

NAMIBIA

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo (Sri Lanka) from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Recalling resolution number 5 on Namibia adopted at the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries held in Algiers from 5 to 9 September 1973,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 2145 (XXI) of 27 October 1966 which terminated South Africa's mandate over the territory of Namibia and resolution 2248 (S-V) of 19 May 1967, and subsequent resolutions on Namibia including resolution 3399 (XXX) of 26 November 1975,

Recalling all relevant Security Council resolutions, in particular resolution 385 of 30 January 1976 which demands that South Africa urgently makes a solemn declaration for the holding of free elections in Namibia under the United Nations supervision and control,

Recalling the Advisory Opinion of the International Court of Justice of June 1971 which put South Africa under obligation to withdraw from Namibia, Gravely concerned at South Africa's militarization of Namibia, and the use of that territory as a base for attacking neighbouring African countries as evidenced by the condemnation of South Africa by the Security Council for her aggression against the Peoples Republic of Angola and the Republic of Zambia.

1. Strongly condemns the continued illegal occupation of Namibia by the South African régime which has militarized the international territory in order to repress the indigenous people of Namibia and has used Namibia as a base for launching military attacks against neighbouring African States, especially Zambia and Angola, thus constituting a threat to international peace and security

2. Commends the advance of the heroic . of the Namibian people under the leadership of their authentic national lit n movement, SWAPO, for their inalienable right to self-determination and nat.onal independence, and pledges to increase political and diplomatic support, material and financial assistance to SWAPO to enable it to effectively prosecute the struggle for national liberation;

3. Denounces the so-called constitutional talks arranged by the racist régime in order to perpetuate its domination of the territory with the regimented collaboration of tribal chiefs, and calls upon the international community to refrain from according any recognition to any puppet régime which the racists may install in Namibia; and declares that any meaningful talks for the transference of power only be with the genuine representatives of the Namibian people, SWAPO, auspices of the United Nations;

4. Calls upon the Security Council to live up to its resolution 3 30 January 1976 which calls, inter alia, for the holding of free ele the supervision and control of the United Nations and that in the even. on-compliance by South Africa of the provisions of resolution 385, the Security Council will meet again to consider appropriate measures including recourse to Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter;

5. Mandates the current Chairman of the Non-Aligned Conference to bring this resolution to the attention of the Security Council when it meets again to consider the question of Namibia on or before 31 August 1976.

RESOLUTION ON NON-RECOGNITION OF SOUTH AFRICAN BANTUSTANS

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo from 16-19 August, 1976,

Considering that the Pretoria regime is accelerating its policy of Bantustanisation, the cornerstone of apartheid designed to ensure the balkanisation, tribal fragmentation and fratricidal conflict in South Africa to the benefit of white supremacy;

Reaffirming the sacred commitment of the Non-Aligned Movement to the principles of territorial and national integrity of all territories under foreign domination and fighting for liberation and self-determination,

Recalling relevant resolutions of the Non-Aligned Movement, the O.A.U. and the United Nations against the Bantustan policy,

1. Reaffirms the Movement's condemnation and rejection of the Bantustan policy and urges all Member States to refrain from establishing contact with the emissaries of the so-called Bantu Homelands;

2. Urges all States and commits Member States of the Movement not to accord recognition to any Bantustan, in particular, the Transkei whose so-called independence is scheduled for 26 October, 1976;

3. Declares that violation of this collective commitment by any Member State will be seen as a betrayal of not only the fighting people of South Africa but the entire Movement;

4. Commits the diplomatic representatives of Non-Aligned Countries throughout the world to wage a concerted campaign to dissuade all United Nations Member States from recognizing this fraudulent pseudo-independence.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AND APARTHEID
ON THE AFRICAN CONTINENT:

The Summit Conference of the Non-Aligned States Convened in Colombo over the period 16-19 August 1976.

Recalling the resolutions of the Summit Conference of the Non-Aligned States and Conferences of their Ministers for Foreign Affairs,

Recalling further the United Nations resolutions condemning racism, racial discrimination and apartheid,

Lauding the heroic deeds of the African Peoples to complement their freedom and independence, and hailing the struggle of the Organization of African Unity and its leadership of the African struggle,

Having examined the aggravation of the situation in parts of the African continent and the continuation of the colonialist settlers aggression, and the racist practices perpetrated by the racist regimes in Namibia, Zimbabwe and South Africa,

Being of the opinion that such state constitutes an international violation of the United Nations Charter, the United Nations resolutions and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and that its continuance threatens international security and peace,

Noting in particular the resolutions of the General Assembly No. 2106 A adopted at its twentieth session and Nos. 3057 and 3068 taken at its twenty-eighth session relating to the decade for action to Combat Racism and Racial Discrimination and to the Convention on the elimination of all forms of Racial Discrimination and the Convention considering apartheid as a crime.

Decides:

1. To redouble providing support and solidarity to the peoples of the African continent in their struggle against colonialism, imperialism and the settlement of foreign colonists.

ress the rights of Zimbabwe, Namibia and South Africa in their ...nd to provide th... ...sistance to those peoples in order to continue ...le, and to support the endeavours of the Organization of African Unity, ...rly the African States adjoining those regimes, towards the attainment of that

3. That it is necessary to enforce fully all the binding resolutions of the Security Council relating to the imposition of sanctions on the racist regime in Rhodesia, by all the Member States of the United Nations, particularly the industrial States, in compliance with their obligations under the charter.

4. To urge all the Member States of the United Nations, particularly the western industrial States which maintain economic, diplomatic, consular, cultural and military relations with the ruling racist regime in South Africa, to sever these relations in compliance with the United Nations resolutions calling for such severance, and to refrain from providing any economic, diplomatic, or military support to the said regime.

5. To provide the utmost possible economic, political and mass media support to the States adjoining Rhodesia and South Africa, particularly to Mozambique, Zambia and Angola, and assist them in surmounting the consequences of their enforcement of the binding sanctions resolutions adopted by the Security Council, and enabling them to face up to the racist regimes in Rhodesia and South Africa and to hold up against them.

6. To continue the struggle of the non-aligned States against racial discrimination and apartheid and support the efforts of the United Nations to make a success of the Decade to Combat Racism and Racial Discrimination.

7. To urge the Member States of the United Nations to sign and ratify the convention of the elimination of all forms of racial discrimination and the convention considering apartheid as a punishable crime.

APARTHEID IN SPORTS

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo from I6-I9 August I976, Recalling the Resolurions of the United Nations General Assembly on Apartheid in sports,

Fully endorsing the Olympic principle of non-discrimination in sports,

Recognizing the importance of the boycott of South African sports teams, selected on the basis of Apartheid, in the international campaign against Apartheid,

Commending all governements, sports bodies and individual sportsmen who have boycotted South African sports teams,

Welcoming the proposal made by Prime Minister Michael Manley of Jamaica for an International Convention against Apartheid in Sports, Noting that this proposal has been endorsed by the United Nations Special Committee against Apartheid, and the Organisation of African Unity, as well as the International Seminar for the Eradication of Apartheid and in Support of the Struggle for Liberation in South Africa, held in Havana in May I976.

Considering that effective measures must be taken, as matter of priority during the Decade for Action against Racism and Racial Discrimination, to abolish Apartheid in all fields,

I. Calls on all governements, sports bodies and individual sportsmen to boycott all sports exchanges with South Africa;

2. Endorses the proposal by the Prime Minister of Jamaica as a declaration of this Conference;

3. Requests the Non-Aligned Group at the United Nations to give urgent consideration to the formulation of an International Convention against Apartheid in Sports for approval by the General Assembly.

ANNEX

Extract from Programme of Action adopted by the International Seminar on the Eradication of Apartheid and in support of the Struggle for Liberation in South Africa, held at Havana, from 24 to 28 May 1976

V. Apartheid and Sports

39. The Seminar salutes the gallant and courageous stand by sportsmen inside South Africa who are campaigning for non-racialism in sport.

40. The Seminar commends the activities and actions of the Supreme Council for Sport in Africa, the South Africa Non-Racial Olympics Committee and other bodies which have tried to isolate South Africa from all sporting competitions so long as South Africa practises the policy of apartheid in breach of the principles enshrined in the Olympic Charter.

41. The Seminar commends the proposal of the Prime Minister of Jamaica, the Right Honourable Michael Manley, that the General Assembly of the United Nations prepare an international convention on apartheid in sport. Such a convention would include an obligation by States to impose sanctions against sporting teams and organizations whose members collectively or individually participate in sports activities in South Africa or against teams from South Africa. Sanctions would include:

(a) Refusal to provide financial assistance or donations in kind to such teams or individuals;

(b) Withdrawal of access to national sporting facilities to such teams or individuals;

(c) Denial and withdrawal of national sporting honours or awards to such teams or individuals;

(d) Action to render automatically null and void all professional sporting contracts which do not specifically exclude competitions in South Africa;

(e) Non-recognition by States parties to this convention of national sporting bodies which do not adopt the convention as part of their constitution.

Until the adoption of the convention, these principles are recommended by the Seminar to States and Governments as a Declaration from the Seminar.

42. The Seminar notes the call of the Supreme Council for Sport in Africa for action against New Zealand which is intending to permit its national rugby team to go to South Africa later this year. The Seminar urgently calls upon the New Zealand Government to act immediately to stop all sport exchanges with South Africa and urges all Governments and organizations to support this call. If New Zealand fails to act along these lines such failure will result in appropriate international action from all those opposed to collaboration with apartheid sport.

43. The Seminar condemns States and sportsmen who participate in the so-called multinational games in South Africa or tour South Africa under all-expenses-paid trips financed by the South African régime. Any attempt by the "bantustans" to establish sporting links with the outside world must be opposed.

44. The Seminar applauds those sporting codes where the membership of racist South Africa has been terminated or suspended. Any attempt to obtain an international foothold must be opposed. South Africa's plans to establish a "hospitality centre" in Montreal during the 1976 Olympic Games could have serious consequences for the Games themselves, as such a centre would be a vehicle for propaganda for white South Africa.

45. Sportsmen and others are invited to support the decision of the non-racial sporting bodies inside South Africa for recognition as authentic sporting bodies and the South Africa Council of Sport as the representative body for South Africa. Strong support should be provided for the people of Namibia and Zimbabwe to assist them in founding independent sports bodies for those countries, so that they may take their rightful place in the international sporting community.

Comorian Island of Mayotte

The Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in ordinary session at Colombo (Sri Lanka) from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Recalling that in the referendum on 22 December 1974 the people of the Republic of the Comoros as a whole expressed the wish, by an overwhelming majority, to accede to independence in political unity and with territorial integrity;

Noting with satisfaction the admission of the Republic of the Comoros to membership of the United Nations on 12 November 1975;

Recalling that in the admission of that State due respect was paid to the political unity and the integrity of the national Comorian territory of the independent Republic of the Comoros;

Welcoming with satisfaction the admission, at this fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Contries, of the State of the Comoros to the Non-Aligned Group;

Considering that the self-styled referendums imposed upon the inhabitants of the Comorian island of Mayotte constitute an aggression against the Comorian people as a whole and a violation of the respect of the sovereignty of the independent State of the Comoros;

Considering that the setting up of military bases in the Indian Ocean by France and by all the other imperialist Powers, particularly on the Comorian soil of Mayotte, amounts to flagrant aggression against the independent States of Africa and Asia;

1. Condemns the self-styled referendums of 8 February and 11 April 1976, which it considers null and void, and rejects in advance:

(1) any other kind of referendum or consultation which may be subsequently organized in the Comorian territory of Mayotte;

(2) any law or regulation passed by a French legislative or governmental authority aimed at legalizing any sort of French colonial presence in the Comorian territory of Mayotte;

2. Demands that France should respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of the young State of the Comoros and immediately withdraw its military occupation troops from the Comorian island of Mayotte;

3. Invites the President in office of the non-aligned countries to approach the French Government immediately through its Embassy at Colombo, with a view to stopping the process it has embarked upon to give the Comorian island of Mayotte a special status, in order to create conditions favourable to the re-establishment of the dialogue between the parties concerned;

4. Appeals urgently to all the members of the Non-Aligned Group to approach the French Government jointly and severally with a view to inducing it to abandon once and for all its plan to separate the Comorian island of Mayotte from the Republic of the Comoros;

5. Fully supports the action of OAU with regard to the setting up of a Sub-Committee of seven States responsible for studying and preparing any strategies and measures calculated to encourage a quick settlement of the problem of the Comorian island of Mayotte;

6. Decides to pursue this question and to include it permanently on the agenda of its meetings at all levels;

7. Appeals urgently to all the members of the Non-Aligned Group individually to provide technical and material assistance to the State of the Comoros to enable it to cope with its serious difficulties.

RESOLUTION ON THE MIDDLE EAST

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka from 15-19 August 1976,

In keeping with the principles and objectives of non-alignment and the principles and objectives of the United Nations,

Reaffirming the indissoluble bonds of the Non-Aligned countries and their commitment to the objectives of their common struggle for peace, justice and progress,

Convinced of the role of non-alignment in directing the evolution of the world, away from the path of polarization and free of the evils of aggression, racism, neo-colonialism and all attempts at domination and exploitation,

Recalling the Declaration of the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries meeting in Algiers in 1973 and the resolutions of the Summit and Ministerial Conferences of the Non-Aligned countries on the Israeli occupation of the Arab territories in June 1967, the last being resolution 8 adopted by the Foreign Ministers' Conference in Lima (Peru) in August 1975,

Deeply concerned with the increasing deterioration of the situation in the Middle East following Israel's expansionist policy of aggression and its refusal to implement the resolutions of the United Nations,

Denouncing all attempts to maintain a state of "no war no peace" in the Middle East which is a serious threat to any possibility of establishing a just and lasting peace in the area thereby endangering world peace, security and stability,

Denouncing all attempts to force a fait accompli and all the policies of aggression, exploitation, domination, repression and terrorism on which the Zionist policy is founded,

Condemning all measures taken by Israel in the occupied Arab territories to change the demographic and geographical aspects of those territories, to establish colonies of settlements thereon and to despoil their cultural aspects, in particular those measures and plans of a racist nature.

Reaffirming that a just and lasting peace in the Middle East cannot be attained without Israel's withdrawal from all the Arab territories occupied since 1967 and the Palestinian people's exercise of all their legitimate rights, particularly the right to return to their homeland and to recover their properties in accordance with the resolutions of the United Nations as well as their right to self-determination and their right to set up their independent State,

1. Reaffirms the Non-Aligned countries' pledge to support the right of the Arab people and to give material and moral assistance to the front line countries and to the Palestinian people in their just struggle to recover all their occupied territories and national rights.

2. Sets up a Committee (composed of Non-Aligned countries) to find practical means of assisting the Arab countries and peoples under the yoke of Israeli occupation.

3. Reaffirms that a just and lasting peace in the Middle East must be based on the following:

(a) the total and unconditional withdrawal of Israel from all the Arab territories occupied since June 1967;

(b) the Palestinian people's recovery of their national rights and the exercise of these rights, particularly that of establishing their independent State.

4. Reaffirms international resolutions stipulating that the only proper means of satisfying the basic demands mentioned in operative paragraph (3) calls for the use of all effective means to achieve a just and lasting peace in the Middle East,

5. Calls upon the Non-Aligned countries and peoples to adopt a firm stand against Israel's obstinacy and its endeavours to maintain the state of "no war no peace" and notes that these attempts constitute a threat to the establishment of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East and a grave danger to world peace, security and stability,

6. Calls upon all States and peoples to give their full support to the Arab countries facing Israeli aggression, in their struggle to put an immediate end to this aggression,

7. Denounces the countries which are providing Israel with assistance, weapons and means of slaughter and destruction and considers that the real objective behind overflowing Israel with such massive quantities of arms is to consolidate it as a colonialist and racist base in Africa, Asia and the Third World in general,

8. Calls upon all States to stop all the military, human and material assistance which encourage Israel to pursue its occupation of the Arab territories, and declares that continued support to Israel from those States would force the Non-Aligned countries into adopting a new stand in respect of them.

9. Condemns the collusion between Israel and South Africa confirmed by the similarity of their policies of aggression and racism as well as their collaboration in all fields with a view to threatening African and Arab security and independence,

10. Reaffirms that the Geneva Convention on the Protection of Civilian Persons in Times of War applies to the situation prevailing in the occupied Arab territories and calls upon the parties to the Convention to implement it by forcing Israel to put it into effect and stop all Acts that are a violation to the Convention,

11. Condemns the expansionist policy of Israel and its measures aiming at the annexation of territories by force, the alteration of their geographical, demographic and economic features and the destruction of their cultural aspects; declares that all these measures are null and void; and demands that Israel puts an end to them forthwith,

12. Condemns Israel for persisting in its policy of forcing a fait accompli and for establishing colonies of settlements on Palestinian and all occupied Arab territories which is inconsistent with the principles of International Law, particularly that of the inadmissibility of the acquisition of territories by force and which constitutes an obstacle to a just settlement of the Middle East question,

13. Condemns Israel's measures to exploit and despoil the natural resources of the occupied Arab territories, and calls upon all States to refrain forthwith from assisting Israel in its exploitation of Arab resources,

14. Holds Israel responsible for all its measures designed to alter, exploit and despoil the occupied Arab territories,

15. Calls upon the non-aligned countries which have not yet severed diplomatic, economic and other relations with Israel to do so in view of Israel's continued refusal to comply with the resolutions of the United Nations and its persistence in pursuing its settlers and expansionist policy of aggression as well as its defiance of world public opinion,

16. Calls upon non-aligned countries to take up all effective measures at the widest possible international scale in the United Nations and its Agencies as well as in the various international Organizations and Conferences with a view to increasing pressures on Israel, including the possibility of depriving it from its membership to these bodies should the need arise.

The Question of Palestine

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka, from 16 to 19 August 1976:

Recalling the previous resolutions of the Non-Aligned Conferences on the question of Palestine, and the explosive situation resulting from Israel's persistence in usurping Palestine and its continuous denial of the national rights of the Palestinian people recognized by the world community as represented by the United Nations, which constitute a threat to the security and territorial integrity of the Non-Aligned countries and to international peace and security,

Reaffirming the legitimacy of the Palestinian people's struggle against colonialism, Zionism and racism by all possible means, in accordance with the principles of the United Nations, with a view to recovering their inalienable national rights, a struggle which is considered an integral part of the international liberation movement,

Reiterating further that the Palestine issue is the essence of the conflict with Zionism,

Asserting that Israel's persistence in occupying Palestine and its continuous denial of the Palestinian people's inalienable national rights, as well as its rejection of the United Nations' relevant resolutions, in particular United Nations General Assembly resolution 3236 adopted in its Twenty-Ninth Session, is inadmissible and constitutes a flagrant violation of the principles of the United Nations and the Universal Declaration on Human Rights as well as a serious threat to world peace,

Considering that Israel's refusal to co-operate with the Committee of Twenty set up by the United Nations General Assembly resolution 3376(XXX) to ensure that the Palestinian people exercise their inalienable national rights as provided for by United Nations General Assembly resolution 3236 confirms Israel's persistence in its flagrant defiance of the will of the international community and its refusal to abide by United Nations resolutions,

Considering that Israel's continued membership in the United Nations is in contradiction with its Charter and encourages Israel to ignore its resolutions and to act in collusion with the various aggressive, racist and expansionist regimes,

Reaffirming the United Nations General Assembly resolution 3379 dated 10 November 1975, which views Zionism as a form of racism and racial discrimination,

Condemning Israel's racist, expansionist, terrorist policy and its attempts to Judaize Arab territories, particularly in the cities of Jerusalem and Hebron, and the sacred shrines therein,

Reaffirming that the racist rule in occupied Palestine, in Zimbabwe, Namibia and Azania (South Africa) proceeds from the same imperialist source and is organically linked to that policy which aims at the repression of man's freedom and is an affront to his dignity,

Considering that by maintaining political, economic, technical and other relations with Israel helps it to continue its usurpation of Palestine, to persist in ignoring international will as well as United Nations resolutions, and encourages it to pursue its expansionist racist policy which is essentially founded on aggression,

Expressing its conviction that the military, economic, political and moral support that Israel receives from some States and particularly the United States of America, encourages it to persist in its aggressive policy and its usurpation of Palestine,

Recalling the 1949 Geneva Conventions on the Protection of Civilian Persons in Times of War, and stressing the fact that it should be applied by the Zionist Israeli occupation authorities,

Deploring the non-implementation of the resolution adopted by the Fourth Summit Conference of the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries held in Algiers which, in its operative paragraph 8, calls on the Member States that still maintained relations with Israel to sever them at diplomatic, economic, military and cultural levels, as well as in the fields of sea and air communication, in accordance with Chapter Seven of the United Nations Charter,

Decides:

1. To reaffirm its total and effective support to the Palestinian people in their legitimate struggle to recover their inalienable national rights in Palestine, which comprise

(a) their right to return to their homeland and to recover their property as guaranteed by United Nations resolutions,

(b) their right to self-determination without any outside interference, in keeping with the principles of the United Nations and the Universal Declaration on Human Rights,

(c) their right to freely exercise their sovereignty over their territory,

(d) to establish their national independent Palestinian authority as an expression of their own will and a confirmation of their national identity;

2. To strive in all fields, at the widest international level, for the recognition and respect of the national rights of the Palestinian people, the Non-Aligned countries undertake to carry out all necessary measures to realize that objective,

3. To call upon all the Non-aligned countries to pledge support for the Palestinian people by all possible means in their continued struggle against the Zionist racist occupation of Palestine until they fully recover their inalienable national rights, and to reaffirm that the recovery of these rights is a prerequisite to the establishment of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East,

4. To intensify co-ordination between the Non-Aligned Movement and the Palestine Liberation Organization, as the only legitimate representative of the Palestinian people, at both bilateral and international levels, to ensure the liberation of Palestine, and that its people exercise their national rights, and to view the question of Palestine as one of the leading issues of Non-Alignment,

5. To call upon all Non-Aligned countries to adhere to all the resolutions adopted by the Summit and Ministerial Conferences of Non-aligned countries on the question of Palestine, and to implement them as soon as possible, particularly as regards severing political, economic, cultural and technical relations with racist and Zionist Israel.

6. To call upon all Member States that have not yet taken the necessary measures to accept the representation of the Palestine Liberation Organization in their capitals to do so forthwith as a step on the path towards developing bilateral relations between Non-Aligned countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

7. To condemn Israel for its constant refusal to apply United Nations resolutions and specifically those of the General Assembly's Twenty-Ninth and Thirtieth Sessions concerning the question of Palestine especially resolution 3236, which implies an explicit recognition of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people by the international community,

8. To condemn Israel's violation of human rights in occupied Palestine and its refusal to apply the 1949 Geneva Conventions, in particular the Fourth Convention on the Protection of Civilian Persons in Times of War, and its policy of Judaizing the natural and cultural features in occupied Palestine,

9. To condemn all countries that afford political, military or economic or human assistance to Israel and request them to put an immediate end to it,

10. To consider the measures taken by Israel in the Arab territories to alter the demographic, geographical, social, cultural and economic features, including steps to Judaize the cities of Jerusalem, Nazareth and the region of Galilee, as null and void, and which therefore should under no circumstances be recognized as to their substance and effects,

11. To invite the United Nations General Assembly to initiate practical measures to put an end to the non-compliance with its resolutions, with a view to safeguarding that international organization and ensuring its continued existence, and in order to avert any threat to international peace and security,

12. To call on the Non-Aligned countries to take all necessary measures to increase pressure on Israel in the United Nations and its specialized agencies, including the possibility of depriving it of its membership, if necessary,

13. To urge all Non-Aligned countries to implement operative paragraph 12 by mandating their Foreign Ministers to fully co-ordinate their action with the Palestine Liberation Organization during the examination of the question of Palestine at the Thirty-First Session of the United Nations General Assembly,

14. To put the question of Palestine on the agenda of the forthcoming Sixth Summit Conference of Non-aligned countries.

REPORT OF THE UNITED NATIONS COMMITTEE ON THE EXERCISE OF THE INALIENABLE RIGHTS OF THE PALESTINIAN PEOPLE

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries:

Having considered the Report of the "United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People", established in accordance with United Nations resolution 3376 (XXX) - document S/12090,

1. Affirms the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people to self-determination, including the right of return and the right to national independence and the establishment of its independent, sovereign State in Palestine, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations:

2. Endorses the Report of the Committee;

3. Requests the representatives of the Non-Aligned countries in the United Nations to support the Report in the Thirty First Session of the General Assembly;

4. Appeals to the General Assembly to endorse the Report and urges the competent bodies of the United Nations to take immediate action in accordance with the programme of implementation recommended by the Committee;

5. Requests the Co-ordinating Bureau to take the necessary steps for the implementation of the present Resolution.

INDIAN OCEAN PEACE ZONE PROPOSAL.

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo from 16th August 1976 to 19th August, 1976,

Recalling that the proposal to establish a Zone of Peace in the Indian Ocean, initiated at the Third Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries in Lusaka and further developed at the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries in Algiers and by the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries in Lima, invokes and upholds the cardinal principles of Non-Alignment including true independence and peaceful co-existence and is fully consistent with the Charter of the United Nations,

Reaffirming United Nations General Assembly Resolution 2932 (XXVI) declaring the Indian Ocean for all time a Zone of Peace, as well as Resolutions 2992 (XXVII), 3080 (XXVIII), 3259 (XXIX) and 3468 (XXX),

Recalling UNGA Resolution 2832 (XXVI) which inter alia calls upon the littoral and hinterland states of the Indian Ocean, the permanent members of the Security Council and other major maritime users of the Indian Ocean to promote the objectives of establishing a system of universal collective security without military alliances and to strengthen international security through regional and international co-operation,

Noting that the implementation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace is intended to preserve unaffected the right to free and unimpeded use of the zone by the vessels of all nations in conformity with international law subject only to certain limitations on the use of the zone by warships and military aircraft for any threat or use of force against the sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence of any littoral or hinterland State of the Indian Ocean is a contravention of the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations,

Convinced that the escalation and expansion of great Power military and naval presence in the Indian Ocean and its natural extension in the form of bases, military installations and logistical supply facilities and the disposition of nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction, constitute a real threat not only to the peace, freedom, security and territorial integrity of the littoral and hinterland States but also to world peace in general,

Deeply concerned that with the historic victory of the liberation struggle in Indo-China, South Asia could replace South East Asia as the Centre of great Power confrontation in Asia and that, consequently, tension and conflicts in the Indian Ocean could be intensified through an increased struggle for naval supremacy between the great Powers,

1. Notes that agreement in principle has emerged among the littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean and among Non-Aligned Countries on the convening of a Conference on the Indian Ocean in terms of United Nations General Assembly Resolution 3259 (XXIX) and Resolution 3468 (XXX), with a view to implementing the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace,

2. Regrets that despite repeated invitations, certain great Powers as well as certain major maritime Powers have not co-operated with the littoral and hinterland States and the Ad Hoc Committee in order to realize the objectives of the Declaration,

3. Strongly condemns the establishment, maintenance and expansion of foreign military bases, such as Diego Garcia, and the escalation of great Power rivalry in the Indian Ocean to the detriment of the political and economic well-being of the littoral and hinterland States, and calls for the dismantling of all such military bases,

4. Urges the littoral and hinterland states of the Indian Ocean to make sure that their facilities are not used by warships and military aircraft, especially those of the great Powers, for purposes incompatible with the sovereignty and the territorial integrity of the States of the zone or for purposes which might endanger the peace and security of the region,

5. Calls on the great Powers to desist from any activity that would obstruct the implementation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace; to halt the senseless escalation of their military rivalry to remove their military and naval bases, facilities and installations from the Indian Ocean and its natural extension and to cease deploying nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction in the area;

6. Decides to pursue concerted action in co-operation with the Ad Hoc Committee and the littoral and hinterland States at the Thirty-first Session of the United Nations General Assembly for the implementation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace and specifically, as a first step, the convening of a Conference on the Indian Ocean.

DISARMAMENT

Heads of state or Government of Non-Aligned Countries,

Having considered the problems of disarmament and in particular the adverse effects of the continuing and intensifying arms race to international peace and security and economic development,

Convinced that non-aligned countries should reinforce their activities in promoting the urgent solution of disarmament problems,

Determined to reinforce their activity towards strengthening the role and influence of the United Nations in the negotiations and in reaching the solution of disarmament issues,

Convinced that the elaboration of a comprehensive programme of agreed measures is an essential prerequisite for the opening of a process of genuine disarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament, and accomplishment of general and complete disarmament under international control,

Recalling that the non-aligned countries at their First Summit Conference had proposed the convening of a special session of the General Assembly of the United Nations on a World Disarmament Conference,

1. Call for urgent banning of the use, production and stockpiling of nuclear weapons and pending the achievement of this goal, request the nuclear powers to undertake: (a) not to use or threaten with the use of nuclear weapons against non-nuclear weapon states, (b) cessation of all nuclear weapon tests, (c) measures for gradual withdrawal of nuclear weapons from the territories of non-nuclear weapon States (d) support the creation of nuclear free zones and zones of peace and cooperation and that nuclear powers undertake to respect such zones;

2. Demand the immediate prohibition of the production and stockpiling of chemical weapons and of all other weapons of mass destruction, as well as the production and stockpiling of new weapons of mass destruction;

3. Request the discontinuation of the arms race, banning of the use of napalm and other incendiary weapons as well as means of warfare which are inflicting great suffering upon the civilian population;

4. Call for immediate initiation of negotiations for gradual dismantling of foreign military bases and withdrawal of military forces from foreign territories, particularly from those countries in which they are stationed against their will;

5. Call on the United Nations to convene a special session of the General Assembly with the aim to review the problem of disarmament and to promote the elaboration of a programme of priorities and measures in this field;

6. Report their call for an early agreement on the convening of the World Disarmament Conference in order to promote the solving of basic issues of general and complete disarmament under strict international control.

UNITED NATIONS.

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries,

Reaffirming the dedication of their countries to the principles and objectives of the United Nations and its Charter,

Stressing that the United Nations has - in spite of tremendous difficulties, problems and pressure brought to bear against it - accomplished numerous positive results in the maintenance of international peace and security, in eliminating colonialism, in the process of solving burning international issues and developing peaceful and equitable co-operation in many areas of international relations and in promoting fundamental rights and freedoms,

Expressing their satisfaction that the United Nations having withstood the test of time and achieved almost complete universality, has turned its attention to the most urgent needs of mankind such as changing the present unequal political and economic international relations and creating a new system of world relations based on peace, justice and equality of all countries,

Recalling that the United Nations has greatly contributed to the adoption of progressive principles, in particular, those contained in the Declaration which should govern relations among all States and the definition of aggression, and others,

Emphasizing that the Non-Aligned countries have greatly contributed to such a development and orientation of the United Nations, and that they have been particularly active in opposing imperialism, colonialism, neocolonialism, racism and other forms of foreign domination,

Considering that it is the paramount duty of Governments of all Member States to actively promote the realization of principles and goals of the United Nations and to protect its standing in the world community,

1. Express their readiness to continue with their efforts to further the role and strength and effectiveness of the United Nations in world affairs. They are convinced that the United Nations should be universally supported as the principal democratic instrument of equitable and peaceful co-operation among States and call on all States to contribute to that end;

2. Resolutely oppose the organized campaigns and various forms of pressure and threats aimed at discrediting the whole system of the United Nations as well as tendencies and attempts to bypass or limit the participation of the United Nations in solving international problems of concern to all countries;

3. Deeply concerned over the non-implementation of numerous decisions of the U ited Nations due, in particular, to the refusal of some Member States to abide by them and even at their persistent violation of both the basic principles and decisions of the United Nations, and call on all Member States to fully co-operate in implementing those decisions;

4. Stressing the importance of the further strengthening of the role of the General Assembly, they believe that the General Assembly should become even more a forum for the determination of the basic principles and methods of settling vital international problems;

5. Call on the Security Council to undertake appropriate and effective measures, in conformity with the responsibilities assigned to it under the United Nations Charter, to strengthen international peace and security and in particular to act against aggression, foreign occupation, intervention and interference, racism and apartheid and for a just settlement of international crises in conformity with the principles and objectives of the United Nations, taking into due account the relevant resolutions adopted by the General Assembly. In this context they firmly believe that the veto should not be used for the purpose of blocking and preventing indispensable actions, including sanctions against flagrant violations of United Nations principles and decisions;

6. Considering that the United Nations should without delay achieve universality, they extend their full support to the immediate admission of Angola and Viet-Nam to United Nations membership;

7. Note with satisfaction that the General Assembly at its thirtieth session decided by Resolution 3499 (XXX) to reconvene an enlarged Special Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and on the strengthening of the role of the Organization. They request all Non-aligned countries to co-ordinate their views and to make proposals to the Committee with the objective of promoting action to enhance the ability of the United Nations to achieve its purposes.

THE USE OF VETO

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka, from 16 August to 19 August 1976

Bearing in mind the resolution adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State or Government of the Organization of African Unity held in Port Louis, Mauritius, from 24 June to 3 July 1976,

Reaffirming its support for the United Nations Charter, for the Declaration of Human Rights and for the principle of the right to self-determination,

Recognizing that there are peoples still suffering under the yoke of colonialism and foreign domination whose right to self-determination and independence are impeded by the use of veto by some permanent members of the Security Council,

Recognizing that the current international situation requires the reconsideration of the United Nations Charter,

Convinced that the safeguarding of international peace and security should be the responsibility of all United Nations Member States, in accordance with the universality of the Organization, and in order to apply the principle of equality among States,

1. Reaffirms that the safeguarding of peace and security is a crucial international responsibility which requires the effective participation of all the countries and peoples of the world within the context of the United Nations resolutions on the reinforcing of international peace and security,
2. Considers that the hegemony of the Big Powers within the Security Council and their use of the veto have diminished the prestige of the United Nations and the importance of its resolutions vis-a-vis the international community.
3. Calls upon all United Nations Member States to direct all their efforts towards the reconsideration of the United Nations Charter, particularly as regards the right of veto, enjoyed by the permanent members of the Security Council,

4. Requests all Non-Aligned Member Countries to strive for the amendment of the United Nations Charter with a view to safeguarding their interests and attaining their aspirations, and in order to implement the principle of equality among all United Nations Member States.

RESOLUTION ON ANGOLA'S APPLICATION FOR UNITED NATIONS MEMBERSHIP

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo from 16 to 19 August, 1976.

Having noted with indignation the stand taken by the United States of America at the United Nations Security Council on the application submitted by the People's Republic of Angola for admission to the United Nations;

Recalling the spirit of the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as well as the inalienable Principle of Self-Determination, equality and sovereignty of States,

Considering the right of all peoples to safeguard and consolidate their hardwon independence and sovereignty as well as their territorial integrity;

Considering that the People's Republic of Angola is a full member of the OAU and of the Non-Aligned Movement, and has been accorded de jure recognition by more than two-thirds of United Nations Member States;

Considering further that the veto of the United States of America against the admission of the People's Republic of Angola to the United Nations constitutes a violation of the spirit of the United Nations Charter and complete disregard for the principle of universality, thus constituting a challenge to all member States of the Non-Aligned Movement;

1. Strongly condemns the anachronistic stand taken by the United States of America which flouts the fundamental principles of international law as reflected by the inadmissibility of interference in the internal affairs of the People's Republic of Angola;

2. Calls on all member States of the Non-Aligned Movement to support collectively Angola's application for membership to the United Nations;

3. Urgently appeals to all member States of the United Nations to support the application for membership submitted by the People's Republic of Angola to the United Nations.

PRESS AGENCIES POOL

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries

Recalling the relevant provisions of the action programme for economic co-operation adopted by the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries at Algiers in September, 1973,

Taking note of Resolution VI of the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries in Lima in 1975 in which the results achieved in promoting co-operation among Non-Aligned countries in the field of mass communications including commencement of a pool of News agencies of Non-Aligned countries starting operation in January 1975 were noted with satisfaction, and Tunisia was appointed as co-ordinating country in this area to further stimulate the encouraging results already obtained,

Recalling with appreciation the report and recommendations of the International Symposium on the ways to develop information between Non-Aligned countries held in Tunis in March, 1976,

Noting with appreciation the important decisions taken at the meeting of the Information Ministers of the Non-Aligned countries held at New Delhi from 8 to 13 July 1976 which constitute a significant step forward in co-operation among Non-Aligned countries in the field of information and mass media,

Strongly convinced of the need to set up a Co-ordination Council of Non-Aligned countries at governmental level for devising measures for co-operation and co-ordination in this area,

Affirming the determination of the Non-Aligned countries to intensify mutual co-operation in this field,

1. Welcomes and endorses the Declaration and the decisions of the New Delhi Ministerial Conference of Non-Aligned countries as an important step towards further co-operation among Non-Aligned countries in establishing a balanced and equitable distribution of news and information to the peoples of the world,

2. Approves the constitution of the Press Agencies Pool of the Non-Aligned countries and the formation of its 15-member Co-ordination Committee as decided. The Co-ordination Committee may co-opt further members to increase its effectiveness as considered necessary,

3. Adopts the Action Plan for Co-operation in the field of information and mass media as contained in the resolution in Document A/12 adopted by the Ministerial Conference of Non-Aligned Countries at New Delhi after having reviewed the recommendations of the Tunis Symposium,

4. Endorses the setting up of a co-ordination council composed of representatives at governmental level to review implementation of the decisions taken so far in the field of news dissemination and to take decisions regarding the convening of further meetings and consultations at political, official and expert levels for promoting co-operation in different fields of information and mass media,

5. Decides that the inter-governmental co-ordination council would be a 15-member body on the basis of geographic representation, continuity and rotation and would be composed of the following members for its first term of three years until the next Summit Conference. The meetings of the co-ordination council should be open to any other Non-Aligned country wishing to attend,

6. Endorses the setting up of a 12-member committee of experts which will hold its first meeting in Baghdad for consideration of cable tariffs and improvement of mutual communication facilities with the terms of reference as contained in Document A/5 of the Ministerial Conference of Non-Aligned Countries held at New Delhi,

7. Urges the earliest possible implementation of the foregoing decisions.

RESTITUTION OF ART TREASURES AND ANCIENT MANUSCRIPTS TO THE COUNTRIES FROM WHICH THEY HAVE BEEN LOOTED

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka, from 16 to 19 August 1976

Reaffirming the principles of the Universal Declaration on Human Rights and the African Cultural Convention on the rights of States to recover the art treasures and manuscripts looted from them,

Referring to the UNESCO Convention (by UNESCO) on 14 November 1970 at its Sixteenth Session,

Convinced of the right of States to recover their art treasures and manuscripts which are part of their cultural heritage,

1. Recalls the terms of the resolution adopted by the VIIth Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers, held in Istanbul (Turkey),

2. Reaffirms the terms of the United Nations General Assembly resolution 3187 (XXVIII) and General Assembly resolution 3391 (XXX) concerning the restitution of works of art and manuscripts to the countries from which they have been looted,

3. Requests urgently all States in possession of works of art and manuscripts to restore them promptly to their countries of origin,

4. Requests the Panel of Experts appointed by UNESCO which is entrusted with the task of restoring those works of art and manuscripts to their original owners, to take the necessary measures to that effect.

REMEMBRANCE OF MARTYRS

The Fifth Conference of the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries held in Colombo,

Recalling the acts of repression and the savage massacre perpetrated by the racist regime in South Africa against the citizens of Soweto and the suburbs of Johannesburg during June 1976, Lauding the Security Council resolution No. 392 (1976) which condemned that massacre and denounced the racist regime in South Africa for that crime.

Vigorously condemns the racist regime in South Africa, denounces its barbaric acts, demands the implementation of all United Nations resolutions taken against it and the imposition of sanctions against that regime, calls for support of the solidarity of non-aligned States against that malicious regime, and calls upon the Member States of the United Nations which still maintain diplomatic, economic, consular and cultural relations with that regime to sever those relations and put an end to all forms of co-operation therewith.

Pays tribute to the heroic deeds of all the freedom-loving martyrs who fell victims to the wanton criminality and the wilful murder in that massacre.

Pays tribute also to all the freedom-loving martyrs in Palestine, Chile, Angola, Mozambique, Viet-nam, Laos, Cambodia and the world at large. and solemnly calls for perpetuating the memory of S.W.R.D. Bandaranaike, Patrice Lumumba, Eduardo Mondlane, Amlicar Cabral and Salvador Allende, hails their sacrifice for justice and human dignity, and glorifies their heroic deeds and revolt against tyranny. They are the trailblazers of freedom, the symbol of sacrifice, and an illuminating light for the oppressed peoples which follow in their steps to rid the coming generations of oppression and darkness.

THE QUESTION OF KOREA

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries held in Colombo from 16-19 August, 1976 paid deep attention to the fact that Korea remains divided for a long time, where tension is aggravated every day and a critical situation in which a new war may break out any moment has been created.

Today the imperialists have turned South Korea into a military base for aggression and a base for nuclear attack, by extensively introducing into South Korea more and more armed forces and mass destruction weapons, including nuclear weapons, and have created a threat of aggression against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, by stepping up war preparations and incessantly committing dangerous military provocations, saying that they will not hesitate to use even nuclear weapons.

If the imperialist manoeuvres for aggression against Korea are not foiled, war will break out in Korea, which will expand to Asia and the world.

The imperialists make unwarranted allegation that, to keep "balance of forces" among the great Powers in the Far East, it is necessary to maintain the foreign troops and foreign military bases in South Korea, and Korea should remain divided as today.

The Non-Aligned countries can not allow the imperialists to play with the destiny of small countries at their will to sacrifice them, nor can they allow any State to install military bases and interfere in the internal affairs of other States.

In South Korea which is under the foreign troops' occupation, fascist oppression prevails and the elementary democratic rights and freedom of people are ruthlessly trampled underfoot.

The Conference regards that to eliminate the tension in Korea which has reached its extreme, remove the danger of a new war and achieve the independent and peaceful reunification of Korea is an urgent task whose fulfilment brooks no further delay either in view of the interest of world peace or in the light of the principle of national self-determination and the trend of the present time advancing toward independence and resolves:

1. The Conference holds that the imperialist manoeuvres to provoke a war in Korea should be stopped immediately; all the war equipment and weapons, including nuclear weapons, introduced in South Korea be removed; all the foreign troops be withdrawn from South Korea; the foreign military bases be dismantled and the Korean Military Armistice Agreement be replaced by a peace agreement.

2. Regarding that the reunification of Korea should be realised by the Korean people themselves through negotiations and dialogue in such modus as Great National Congress which will widely reflect all nation's will, free from any interference of outside forces, in accordance with the three principles of independence, peaceful reunification and great national unity clarified in the North-South Joint Statement of July 4, 1972, the Conference expresses its firm solidarity with the Government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and the entire Korean people in their struggle for the realization of the independent and peaceful reunification of the country.

3. In order to oppose the imperialist machination to provoke a new war in Korea, prevent any State from encouraging Korea's division hampering its reunification and help the independent and peaceful reunification of Korea, the Non-Aligned Countries shall take concerted action in the international organizations and international conferences.

Resolution on the mandate given to the Chairman of the Conference

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting at Colombo, Sri Lanka from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Noting with deep appreciation the excellent arrangements and the facilities provided by the Host Government, as well as the warm hospitality and friendliness of the Government and people of Sri Lanka which contributed in large measure to the success of the Conference;

Inspired by the eloquent inaugural address of the Prime Minister of Sri Lanka Her Excellency Mrs. Sirimave R.D. Bandaranaike in which she reiterated her deep commitment and dedication to the principles of Non-Alignment directed towards the achievement of progress, justice and peace in the world and to the cause of the developing countries in pursuing the attainment of their goals and objectives to secure for their peoples improved conditions of living;

Conscious of her standing in and contributions to the Non-Aligned Movement, having participated in all five Summit Meetings of the Non-Aligned Countries, co-sponsored the Second Summit and hosted the present Summit Meetings and her many successful peace initiatives including the proposal to make the Indian Ocean a Zone of Peace and her devotion to the cause of the developing countries as evidenced by her many proposals such as the establishment of a Fund for Agricultural Development, a World Fertilizer Fund, a skilled manpower pool for the developing countries, a Secretariat for the Group of 77;

Recalling that Non-Aligned Countries have made constant efforts towards peace and social justice such as the eradication of the factors of tension in the world and the creation of a new International Economic Order, through negotiations and recourse to international forums in order to promote universal détente and peaceful co-existence.

Considering the wish expressed in the Statements of the Heads of State or Government in the course of the debates of the Fifth Conference held at Colombo, Sri Lanka that these efforts should be continued with renewed strength and vigour in all international forums.

Expresses its gratitude and admiration to the Chairman of the Summit Conference Her Excellency Mrs. Sirimavo R.D. Bandaranaike, Prime Minister and Minister of Defence, and of Foreign Affairs and Planning of Sri Lanka for the excellent manner in which she guided the deliberations of the Conference.

Entrusts its President in office with the task of presenting the deliberations and decisions of the present Conference to the 31st session of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

ECONOMIC DECLARATION

1. INTRODUCTION

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries consider that economic problems have emerged as the most acute problems in international relations today. The crisis of the world economic system continues to assume ever-growing proportions. Developing countries are the victims of this world-wide crisis which severely affects political and economic relations. The widening of the gap between developed and developing countries is one of the most threatening sources of tensions and conflicts. It is increasingly evident that the existing system cannot ensure the promotion of the development of the developing countries and hasten the eradication of poverty, hunger, sickness, illiteracy and also the social scourges engendered by centuries of domination and exploitation. Thus the establishment of the New International Economic Order is of the utmost political importance. The struggle for political and economic independence, for the full sovereignty over natural resources and domestic activities and for the greater participation of developing countries in the production and distribution of goods, and the rendering of services and basic changes in the international division of labour assumes the highest priority. Breaking up of the resistance to the struggle for the new order represents the primary task of the Non-Aligned and other developing countries. The elimination of foreign aggression, foreign occupation, racial discrimination, apartheid, imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism and all other forms of dependence and subjugation, interference in internal affairs, domination and exploitation are crucial to the economics of Non-Alignment.

II. THE STRUGGLE FOR LIBERATION AND INDEPENDENCE

1. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries noted the successes of developing countries in mobilizing their natural resources as an effective weapon to defend their national security, sovereignty and existence, and in promoting their collective struggle against foreign aggression and occupation, racial discrimination, alien domination, apartheid, Zionism and colonialism which are the greatest threat to world peace and security. This has been amply demonstrated by the triumphs of this struggle in Africa, the Middle East and Asia and in the effective measures taken by the oil exporting countries and other developing countries producers of raw materials to safeguard and control their natural resources.

2. It is the duty of all States and peoples to work individually and collectively to eliminate those practices and to extend effective support and assistance to the peoples, countries and territories subjected to them, so as to put an immediate end to those major obstacles to their freedom and legitimate aspirations, and in order to promote development and international co-operation, peace and security.

Furthermore, these peoples, countries and territories have the right to restitution and full compensation for the exploitation, depletion of and damages to their natural and all other resources in accordance with the principles of the Declaration on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order, the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States and the Dakar Declaration. No State may promote investments that may obstruct or affect the right to political and economic sovereignty and independence of peoples, countries and territories subjected to foreign occupation or domination.

III. THE PRESENT INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC SITUATION AND THE PROSPECTS FOR THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

1. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries are deeply perturbed by the glaring inequalities and imbalances in the international economic structure and the ever widening gap between the developed and developing countries. Numerous resolutions were adopted at various international fora concerning the establishment of the New International Economic Order. However, no indication of their implementation is apparent. Despite the growing acceptance of the principles of the New International Economic Order, there has been minimal progress towards their implementation.

2. The developing countries, and particularly the Least Developed, Land-Locked, Island Developing and other geographically disadvantaged countries, and the Most Seriously Affected countries, are facing an acute crisis both with regard to the attainment or maintenance of minimal living standards of their peoples and their prospects of development. Over the years the economic situation of most developing countries, specially the Least Developed, and the Most Seriously Affected countries has continued to deteriorate and the resultant debt burdens on these countries have reached intolerable levels.

3. The foreign exchange earnings of the developing countries depend basically on their exports of raw materials and primary commodities. The relative improvement of the level of prices of some of these commodities in 1973/1974, which was short-lived, did not at all compensate for the deterioration in their terms of trade which characterized the post-war period. The decline in their real value is continuing and is today assuming disquieting proportions as a result of the staggering rise in the prices of manufactured goods, foodstuffs, capital goods and services imported by the developing countries. This situation is seriously affecting the efficacy of their efforts and puts a brake on their development.

4. Despite the continuing assurances given by the developed countries to relax and eliminate barriers to trade for the products of developing countries, progress so far has not been satisfactory. However it should be noted that the agreements concluded between some developed countries and developing countries constitute a sign of hope in this field. The Generalized Scheme of Preferences though a useful scheme of trade liberalization needs substantial improvement. Its limited coverage, particularly in respect of products of export interest to developing countries and especially the Least Developed countries and its temporary nature are a matter of major concern. Progress in the Multilateral Trade Negotiations has been slow and their [illegible]. Furthermore, with the exceptions of a few forward looking developed countries there has been no genuine attempt on the part of the developed countries to re-organize and reform the existing inequitable and unbalanced world trade systems to conform to the urgent development requirements and priorities of the developing countries.

5. There has been a phenomenal rise in the deficit in the balance of payments of developing countries which had increased from about $12.2 billion in 1973 to $ 33.5 billion in 1974 and to over $ 40 billion in 1975. Some estimates indicate that this figure could reach $ 112 billion by 1980 given the present trends. This unprecedented situation is not the product of conjunctural factors, but the reflection of the structural crisis that characterizes the present economic relations which originates in the colonial and neo-colonial policy of imperialism. As a result most developing countries have over the years run down their reserves, accumulated large external debts, a good portion of which carries heavy interest and amortization obligations. It has been estimated that the external indebtedness of these countries which was over $ 100 billion in 1973 will double itself by the end of 1976.

6. The continuing diversion of human and material resources from peaceful economic and social pursuits to an unproductive and wasteful arms race, particularly in the field of nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction, not only heightens the current grave crisis in world economy but also frustrates the purposes and objectives of both the Disarmament Decade and the Second United Nations Development Decade which envisaged a transfer of substantial resources from the developed countries to the developing countries through disarmament. The flow of financial resources to the developing countries amounted to only about $ 20 billion in 1975 in contrast to the expenditure on armaments that has been increasing at a phenomenal rate and has now reached the staggering figure of $ 300 billion per annum. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries reaffirm that much of the development requirements of developing countries would be met if a substantial part of the resources freed by measures in the field of disarmament by the main world military Powers could be used to promote the economic development of developing countries. Such measures would certainly contribute towards a bridging of the gap between developed and developing countries within the foreseeable future.

7. Industrialization is a dynamic instrument of development for the social and economic progress of the developing countries. It is also linked to the promotion and expansion of trade not only amongst the developing countries but also with the developed countries. It is necessary to ensure that this expansion is not thwarted. The redeployment of appropriate industries and the provision of the necessary support for building up a sound technological base in the developing countries should be expedited. The monopoly of technology processes by developed countries has led to several unsatisfactory features which call for immediate substantive and institutional remedial action if transfer of technology is to be effected in order to achieve the targets set for the developing countries by the Lima and Manila Declarations. In taking the above measures the special needs of the Least Developed, Land-Locked and Island Developing countries and other geographically disadvantaged countries should be borne in mind.

8. The inadequate implementation of policy measures embodied in the International Development Strategy due to the lack of political will in most developed countries, compounded with a continuing economic crisis which seriously affects the developing countries because of their greater vulnerability to external economic impulses, produced the most discouraging results. Thus the crisis of poverty, hunger, malnutrition, deprivation and illiteracy has been perpetuating in the developing world and affecting a greater number of countries and peoples.

9. The developing countries and mainly the Least Developed, Land-Locked and Island Developing countries and other geographically disadvantaged countries have been most seriously affected, inter alia, as a result of shortages in food supplies and the rise in the prices of imported food. The existing deficiency of food grains of 20 million tons annually in the developing countries would increase to 100 million tons in the year 2000 if present trends of production continue as a result of insufficient investment in food production in developing countries. In view of this situation increased investment in food production in developing countries becomes imperative. Loans and other sources of financing investment in food production should therefore be provided to developing countries as grants or on concessionary terms, particularly for the least developed countries. The Conference noted with satisfaction the creation of the International Fund for Agricultural Development. It expresses the hope in the speedy and effective operation of the Fund and calls upon the developed countries to increase their contributions to the Fund. It also urges the early implementation of the other recommendations of the World Food Conference especially the establishment of an international emergency grain reserve.

10. The lack of an equitable international monetary system is of deep concern, and has aggravated the economic problems of the developing countries. Attempts at reform within the framework of existing monetary relations which is under the control of a few developed capitalist countries have ended in failure. These countries have exerted undue influence in decision making in matters relating to monetary systems and the solutions of the problems of developing countries are sought on the basis of temporary and inefficient arrangements. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries reaffirm that the solution of the economic problems of developing countries requires the establishment of a new, universal and equitable monetary order.

11. The efficiency and equitability of the system to be established will depend largely on the influence which the international community will be able to exert collectively on the conditions of creation and utilization of additional liquidity, taking due account of the interests of the developing countries. It is therefore a matter of urgency that liquidity should be created which is automatically tied to the financing needs of development and that the developing countries should be guaranteed their rightful and equitable share in the monetary decision-making process.

12. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries noted with deep concern that there is still a strong resistance from certain developed countries to the implementation of the Declaration and Programme of Action and Resolutions adopted at the Sixth and Seventh Special Sessions of the United Nations General Assembly regarding the establishment of the New International Economic Order, and the resolution adopted at the Twenty-ninth Session of the United Nations General Assembly regarding the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States and a continued insistence on solutions aimed at preserving the existing relations of inequality, dependence and exploitation. The resistance to the New International Economic Order by some developed countries has been even intensified.

13. The Conference notes with anxiety that no headway has been made at the Conference on International Economic Co-operation in Paris. The Heads of State or Government express their full support for the positions taken by the developing countries in the Paris Conference. They observe that the developed countries have not reacted positively to concrete proposals of the developing countries. The failure to agree upon even a work programme at the July Sessions reflects the lack of a political will on the part of the developed countries to effect substantial changes in their economic relations with developing countries. The developed countries will be held responsible for a failure of the Paris Conference which would result from their persistent refusal to accept the proposals concerning a wide range of questions of importance for the developing countries. Such a failure would prompt the developing countries to reconsider their attitudes.

14. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned countries in their assessment of the results of the UNCTAD IV noted with satisfaction the exemplary unity maintained by the developing countries throughout the negotiations. At the same time they do not fail to note that UNCTAD IV has fallen far short of the aspirations of the Non-Aligned and other developing countries as expressed in the Sixth and Seventh Special Sessions of the United Nations General Assembly and spelt out in the Manila Declaration. Of particular concern is the stand taken by some developed countries in opposing the proposals for the establishment of the Common Fund, measures for the protection of the purchasing power of the developing countries, the urgent and critical external indebtedness of the developing countries, the alleviation of specific and longstanding problems and the implementation of proposals and resolutions including the activation of the fund for the Least Developed Land-Locked and Island Developing countries. It is therefore of paramount importance that a consensus on the timetable and procedure of all forms of negotiations for the implementation of the integrated programme for commodities including the Common Fund, is acted upon. The continued support given by certain developed countries to the cause of development of the developing countries is a matter for satisfaction.

15. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries are firmly convinced that nothing short of a complete re-structuring of international economic relations through the establishment of the New International Economic Order will place developing countries in a position to achieve an acceptable level of development. They reaffirm their determination to pursue their common efforts to achieve these objectives in particular through the formation of Producer/Exporters' Associations and other means despite threats and repressive economic sanctions.

16. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries express the wish that the negotiations on international economic co-operation and development pursued in various international fora will be integral parts of a mutually reinforcing and convergent process to accelerate the universal implementation of the New International Economic Order. The implementation of agreed decisions is a major responsibility of the international community.

IV. NON-ALIGNMENT AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

1. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries reaffirm that the struggle for political independence and the exercise of their sovereignty cannot be disassociated from the struggle for the attainment of economic emancipation. It is important that the developing countries should use their sovereignty and their independence at the political level as a lever for the attainment of their sovereignty and independence at the economic level. It is the economic issues in international negotiations that will now be the major concern of international politics. No lasting peace and security is possible internationally without the establishment of a just and fair society which provides its citizens the economic and social security which is an inalienable right of every citizen of this planet. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries are determined that such a society should be established in the shortest possible time thus ushering in an era of prosperity and dignity for all mankind.

2. The achievement of the full economic potential rests on the developing countries and entails the following factors:

(a) individual self-reliance in order that developing countries may utilize their economic potential to co-operate among themselves to set up the New International Economic Order;

(b) intensification of economic co-operation between developing countries;

(c) strengthening of their solidarity and the co-ordination of the activities of the developing countries in a common front against all attempts of imperialists to sow division and to apply pressure.

3. At the Summit Conferences held in Belgrade, Cairo and Lusaka, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries recognized the close interaction that exists between political and economic relationships. They emphasized the need to accelerate economic development so that world peace and prosperity could be ensured for mankind. At the Georgetown meeting in 1972 the general principles of Non-Alignment were translated into concrete programmes of action to promote economic co-operation among non-aligned countries.

4. The Fourth Summit Conference in Algiers held in 1973 marked the turning point both with regard to the mutual co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in as much as its decisions and recommendations served as the basis for intensive international negotiations aimed at the establishment of the New International Economic Order. The Algiers Summit affirmed the solidarity of the non-aligned and other developing countries in the struggle for a better life for their peoples and placed its entire weight and influence behind the actions to be taken by producer countries of raw materials to obtain a remunerative price for their products.

5. The Declaration and the Programme of Action for the Establishment of the New International Economic Order adopted at the Sixth Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly and the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States adopted at the Twenty-ninth Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations on the initiative of the developing countries constitute a clear exposition of the orientation and the economic programme of Non-Alignment. The adoption of the Declaration and Programme of Action for the establishment of the New International Economic Order and the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States also signify the rejection of the systems of exploitation, which have existed up to now. The international recognition of the principles laid down in these fundamental documents give them universal validity and constitutes a powerful contribution to the efforts for introducing equality in the international economic relations.

6. The Dakar Conference on Raw Materials first proposed at the Algiers Summit is a prominent landmark in the evolution of international economic relations and solidarity among developing countries. This Conference has embarked on a range of new initiatives which are at the very core of the establishment of the New International Economic Order. The Dakar Declaration has the most important implications for the economic development of developing countries.

7. The Lima Conference in 1975 set up new guidelines for the non-aligned countries in its Programme for Mutual Assistance and Solidarity. The programme of economic co-operation of the developing countries has been given concrete shape and form in the Manila Declaration due to the solidarity of the Non-aligned countries and of the other developing countries within the Group of 77.

8. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries recognize with appreciation that the economic content of the Non-Aligned Movement have influenced and in turn has been influenced by the articulate and dynamic organization of the Group of 77. The Non-Aligned Movement shall continue to maintain and strengthen its solidarity with the Group of 77 which has today emerged as a real force of countervailing authority. The non-aligned countries emphasize the highly constructive role of the Group of 77 in the negotiations for advancing the cause of the developing countries and particularly in the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

V. THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER

1. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries are firmly of the view that nothing short of a complete re-structuring of the existing international economic relations will provide an enduring solution to the world economic problems, particularly those of the developing countries. The inadequacy and the recurring failure of the prevailing economic order have been demonstrated in the recent series of crises in the developed market economy countries including inter alia the collapse of the post-war monetary system, emergence of restrictive and protectionist policies in world market trade, spiralling inflation, recession, mounting unemployment and steadily deteriorating levels of real income from exports of primary produce of developing countries and food crisis. These crises have also dramatized the basically dependent character of the constituent elements of the world economy and provided the necessary impetus for the world community to conceive of the New International Economic Order based on equity, sovereign equality, interdependence, common interest and co-operation among all States. Faced with this chaotic situation the world has witnessed an unprecedented solidarity among the developing countries and successful assertion of their basic, economic and political rights in the international scene.

2. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries view the adoption of the Declaration and the Programme of Action on the Establishment of the New International Economic Order at the Sixth Special Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations as signifying the growing determination of the international community to bring about a fundamental change in the system of international economic relations. The Establishment of the New International Economic Order calls for bold initiatives, demands new, concrete and global solutions, and is contrary to piecemeal reforms and improvisations intended to resolve the present economic difficulties. The fundamental objective of the New Economic Order is to bring about in the international economic relations an equilibrium based on justice through co-operation and human dignity.

3. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries once again denounce the unacceptable policies and practices of transnational corporations which, motivated by exploitative profits, exhaust the resources, distort the economies and infringe the sovereignty of developing countries; violate the principles of non-interference in the affairs of States; infringe the right of peoples to self-determination; and frequently resort to bribery, corruption and other undesirable practices and subordinate the developing countries to the industrialized countries.

4. The Non-Aligned Countries once more reaffirmed the inalienable right of all countries to exercise full permanent sovereignty over their natural and human resources and their economic activities including possession, use and disposal of such resources and their right to nationalization. They further reaffirm the inalienable right of developing countries to exercise supervision, authority, regulation and nationalization of transnational corporations within their national jurisdiction in accordance with their laws and regulations, as well as in conformity with their national objectives and principles. They further ratify their willingness to lend rapid, efficient and unreserved support to all other developing countries in their struggle for political and economic independence, exercising effective and concrete solidarity in the face of such economic aggression as blockade, discrimination, boycott, pressure and threats or any other form of aggression that may be adopted by imperialist countries.

5. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries reaffirm their view that nothing short of a complete restructuring of existing international economic relations will provide an enduring solution to world economic problems. They reaffirm their determination to secure through collective action the establishment and implementation of the New International Economic Order as it has been manifested and envisaged in various resolutions. Such an order should consist, inter alia, of the following essential elements:

(a) Fundamental restructuring of the entire apparatus of international trade with a view to indexation, improving the terms of trade of developing countries and ensuring fair and remunerative prices in real terms to primary export products and an appropriate share of world trade for developing countries through the expansion of processing, diversification and full participation in transport, marketing and distribution of their products. Urgent and full implementation of the integrated programme of commodities including the measures to ensure that the interest of developing countries particularly the Least Developed and the Most Seriously Affected among them, and those lacking in natural resources, adversely affected by measures under the integrated programme are protected by means of appropriate differential and remedial measures within the programme;

(b) Basic restructuring of world production on the basis of a new international division of labour through improved access to the markets of the developed countries for the manufactured products of developing countries, transfer of appropriate technology on favourable terms and conditions, re-development of suitable industries from developed countries to developing countries, harmonization of production of synthetics and substitutes in developed countries with the supply of natural products from developing countries, the elimination of restrictive business practices and effective control of the activities of transnational corporations in conformity with the development objectives of developing countries;

(c) Radical overhauling of the present international monetary arrangements which are characterized by the absence of a rational, equitable and universal system, chaotic currency fluctuations, haphazard growth of international liquidity, widespread inflation, lack of responsiveness to the needs of developing countries and the domination of decision making by a few developed countries. The new system should remove the dominant role of international currencies in international reserves, ensure parity in decision making as between developed and developing countries, prevent the domination of any single country over decision making and forge a link between creation of liquidity and development finance.

(d) Ensuring adequate transfer of resources for development on an assured, continuous and predictable basis with respect to the criteria of independence and in a non-discriminatory manner not likely to create division among developing countries;

(e) Finding urgent and adequate solutions to the problem of official debts particularly for the Least Developed and the Most Seriously Affected countries ;

(f) Providing adequate resources and appropriate technologies on favourable terms for investment to ensure increased production of food and agricultural inputs in developing countries ;

(g) The right of developing land-locked countries to free access to and from the sea in accordance with resolution No. 2 of the Fourth Conference of the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries and the Dakar Declaration of February 1975. (Some developing countries expressed their reservation on this).

VI COLLECTIVE SELF-RELIANCE

1. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries are of the firm belief that only a confident spirit of collective self-reliance on the part of the developing countries can guarantee the emergence of the New International Economic Order. Self-reliance implies a firm determination on the part of developing nations to secure their legitimate economic rights in international dealings through the use of their collective bargaining strength. It also involves preparedness on their part to follow internally the discipline required of them by the process of economic development with justice. And, most importantly, it means willingness to explore and pursue the immense possibilities of co-operation among themselves in financial, technical, trade, industrial and other fields.

2. The focal point of this process of growth with social justice will be eradication of unemployment and poverty. It calls for the formulation and implementation of a policy for satisfying the basic minimum needs of the population of the developing world. It is recognised that structural changes where and when necessary will be required to achieve these objectives. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries are determined to use all their energies and resources to achieve this goal in the shortest possible time.

3. Recent events have generated new complementaries and opened up tremendous opportunities for co-operation among the developing world. The idea that the developing world constitutes only parallel economies is no longer valid, since the developing world reflects a wide variety of resource endowments and stages of development. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries believe that the need of the hour is to develop a common will and evolve suitable mechanisms to fully utilize the complementaries, resources and capabilities within the developing world for mutual benefit and for collective economic advancement. To this end, the Mexico Conference on Economic Co-operation among Developing Countries should examine the various alternative mechanisms and arrangements to achieve that purpose.

4. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, in reaffirming their solidarity based on the Principles of collective self-reliance recognise the necessity to give particular consideration to the special problems of the Least Developed, Land-Locked, Island Developing countries and other geographically disadvantaged countries.

5. The principle of self-reliance, thus seen in its individual and collective aspects, is not only compatible with the aims of the New International Economic Order but is a highly important factor in the strengthening of the solidarity of Non-Aligned and other developing countries in their struggle to achieve economic emancipation.

VII. INTERDEPENDENCE WITHIN THE GLOBAL ECONOMY

1. The Heads of State of Government of Non-Aligned Countries consider that collective self-reliance within the New International Economic Order is an important and necessary step in the wider process aiming at the establishment of international co-operation which would be a concrete and genuine expression of interdependence within the global economy. International co-operation is nowadays an imperative necessity. It requires the effective participation of all in decision making and demands that those processes and relationships which lead to increasing inequality and greater imbalance are put to an end. In their strategy of international economic co-operation, concurrently with the intensification of the relations between themselves, it is desirable that the non-aligned countries diversify their economic relations with the other countries, developed capitalist as well as socialist, on the basis of the principles of respect for national sovereignty, of equality and of mutual benefit.

2. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries recognize that the responsibility for ushering in a new era of just and equitable relationship belongs to all but specially to the developed countries. However, such responsibility lies more heavily on those who wield economic power. Moreover, the establishment of the New International Economic Order requires determined and effective action on the part of the developed countries in all the major areas of international economic relations. The developed world as a whole can no longer shy away from its share of responsibility under any pretext, nor can it afford to ignore the fundamentally indivisible nature of the global prosperity.

3. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, therefore, call upon the developed world to give convincing expression to their faith in the principle of Global Interdependence by adopting a range of measures which alone will lead to true international co-operation and emergence of the New Economic Order.

VIII. CONCLUSION

1. The Heads of State or Government note that previous Summits have in the economic field been marked by numerous innovative forward steps. The Belgrade Summit paved the way for the establishment of UNCTAD. The Cairo Summit called upon the international community to restructure the world economy in a manner conducive to the urgent economic development of developing countries. At the Lusaka Summit, non-aligned countries pledged themselves to actively cultivate the spirit of self-reliance; the initiatives stemming from the Algiers Summit launched non-aligned countries on a path of asserting that spirit of self-reliance through their collective bargaining strength, based upon the right of permanent sovereignty over natural resources and economic activities, the development of producers' associations and the proclamation in the United Nations of the New International Economic Order.

2. The Colombo Summit in the view of Heads of State or Government heralds a new phase in which the growing economic potential of non-aligned and other developing countries, creates a momentum for the establishment of the New International Economic Order with a particular emphasis upon the new international monetary and financial system that is an essential element of that order. In the words of the Chairman of the Conference, Hon. Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, 'If we really and truly want to blunt the weapons of imperialism and colonialism we must surely fashion countervailing weapons in the areas of international money and finance'.

3. The Heads of State or Government declare their commitment to work towards the restructuring of existing systems while inviting the co-operation of the entire international community in the endeavour to develop a democratic, equitable and universal monetary and financial system and to establish the New International Economic Order.

RESOLUTION ON THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A BANK OF THE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

The Conference of Heads of State and Government of Non-Aligned nations,

Recalling the decisions of the Fourth Non-Aligned Conference of Heads of State or Government and of the Non-Aligned Conferences of Foreign Ministers held in Georgetown and Lima that financial and monetary co-operation among Non-Aligned and other developing countries should be strengthened and developed,

Recognizing that financial and monetary co-operation among Non-Aligned and other developing countries is a necessary aspect of economic co-operation and a practical expression of the concept of collective self-reliance,

Conscious that the present international monetary and financial system is controlled by and directed to serve the exclusive interests of the developed countries to the detriment of Non-Aligned and other developing countries, and that this system is the product of a colonial era and imperialist exploitation of the developing countries,

Aware that monetary and financial activity in many Non-Aligned and other developing countries is still controlled by the transnational financial corporations of developed countries which generate and export excessive profits and control and distort the pattern of trade and economic activity of developing countries,

Noting that Non-Aligned and other developing countries lacking the strong bargaining mechanism of a joint banking institution have been completely denied reciprocal access to banking and other financial business in developed countries,

Aware that the Non-Aligned and other developing cou:tries have the capacity and the political will to mobilise their collective strength to increase their control over the international monetary and financial system,

Taking note that there are growing elements of financial and monetary co-operation sub-regionally, regionally and intra-regionally among Non-Aligned and developing countries, through the mechanisms of clearing and payments arrangements, co-operation among Central Banks and the links among national commercial banks,

Recognizing that economic co-operation among Non-Aligned and other developing countries must now move into the phase of implementing concrete proposals and that the national commercial banking systems of Non-Aligned and other developing countries provide a framework for the establishment of a multinational banking enterprise among developing countries,

Mindful of the economic viability of the opportunities available in the developing world which such a multinational banking enterprise could help to realise in a wide range of co-operative economic activities such as the finance of direct trade among developing countries, the building up of merchant shipping fleets, industrial and agricultural projects, deposit banking in developing and developed countries, merchant banking, stocking of commodities, short-term balance of payments facilities, and in other areas,

Mindful too of the role which such a multinational banking enterprise could play in the strengthening of developing countries' capacity to control the international monetary system and eventually in the evolution of new systems of international liquidity and reserve creation for the developing world,

Recognizing the need for the developing countries to train their own cadres in international banking, and to have an institution with the capacity to establish a strong research and development arm oriented towards promoting greater economic co-operation among developing countries,

Noting that there exists the opportunity for a multinational banking enterprise of developing countries to open up new links in trade and finance by the establishment of branch banking facilities in developing countries in competition particularly with developed cou try institutions and thereby providing the experience in international banking to developing countries through an institution controlled by them.

Decides that the feasibility of establishing a Bank of the Developing Countries should be studied and that a group of experts from Non-Aligned and other developing countries should be convened to examine and make recommendations on the measures and the modalities required for its establishment and operation, including the proposed statutes for such a multinational banking enterprise, and its legal status within individual countries.

RESOLUTION ON A NEW INTERNATIONAL MONETARY ORDER

The fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries,

Recognizing that the indiscriminate participation of developing countries in an international economic system shaped to suit the interests of developed countries constitutes a threat to the political sovereignty and economic independence of non-aligned and other developing countries,

Recognizing also that nothing symbolizes this threat more than the general acceptance of national currencies of key developed countries as international reserves, thereby conferring unwarranted economic power upon the countries issuing these currencies, freeing them from the economic and adjustment disciplines that bind all other countries, and ensuring a haphazard growth of global liquidity on a basis unrelated to need,

Noting that the attempt to control global liquidity through the SDR has been frustrated by the liquidity explosion of recent years in the form of reserve currencies, of which only a modest fraction accrued to developing countries, and whose unrestrained expansion, as permitted by the present international monetary non system, effectively rules out the SDR from becoming the principal reserve asset as desired by the international community,

Accepting that the evolution towards a New International Monetary Order consistent with the New International Economic Order requires a judicious exercise of countervailing power by Non-Aligned and other developing countries,

1. Resolves to work towards a countervailing currency backed by the economic potential of Non-Aligned and other developing countries;

2. Resolves also that the technical studies necessary to implement this decision be undertaken under the direction of a Conference of Finance Ministers of Non-Aligned and other developing countries.

RESOLUTION ON ECONOMIC RELATIONS BETWEEN THE DEVELOPING STATES AND THE DEVELOPED STATES

The Summit Conference of the Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo from 16 - 19 August 1976,

Having due regard to the principles of justice and equality in relations among all nations, and recalling that the Declaration on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order constitutes the basis for economic relations among all nations and peoples,

Being guided by the objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement, and stressing its resolve to pursue its efforts with a view to achieving the economic independence of its peoples and the liberation of their natural resources from foreign domination,

Calling once again for the pursuance of efforts towards the promotion of all favourable conditions aimed at raising the economic standard of its peoples in the light of the economic resolutions and programmes of action adopted at the Fourth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, held at Algiers, the resolutions of the two Special Sessions of the United Nations General Assembly, and the resolution of the Lima Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries.

Recalling the evils of foreign domination and the attempts to impose hegemony on the economics of the developing countries;

Decides:

1. To express concern over the non-implementation of all the provisions of the economic resolutions and the programmes of action adopted by the Algiers Fourth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, the resolutions of the Sixth and Seventh Special Sessions of the United Nations General Assembly, and the resolutions of the Lima Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries, and consequently urges Member States to focus their efforts on;

(a) The full implementation of the above resolutions in order to ensure the ending of the state of inequality between developing and developed countries, and the elimination of all the factors hindering the implementation of the development programmes;

(b) Increasing action for supporting the struggle of their countries and strengthening solidarity among themselves at the United Nations and other international fora, particularly in economic conferences, to meet the challenge of imperialist pressures and the domination of multinational corporations which aim at controlling the economies of the developing peoples;

2. To take such steps as are necessary for the regulation and expansion of trade relations among the developing countries in order to alleviate the damage resulting from the current international economic situation, and, to that end, to focus attention on the importance of concluding bilateral and multilateral agreements among the Non-Aligned Countries, in order to diversify their exports, particularly of processed and semi-processed goods, and consequently increase their share in industrial production and in world trade;

3. To endeavour to protect the purchasing power of the export earnings of the developing countries through regulating trade relations between them and the developed countries and improving their terms of trade vis-a-vis the developed States through the establishment of a link between the prices of goods exported to developed countries and the prices of goods imported therefrom, having due regard to the need to increase solidarity among the Non-Aligned countries and to strengthen their position vis-a-vis the developed countries by lowering or removing the barriers which the latter have persistently imposed on their imports from developing countries;

4. To call on the economically developed States Members of the United Nations to implement resolution 2626 adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its twenty-fifth session, and the resolution adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its Seventh Special Session on the responsibility of those States to provide official development assistance fixed at 0.7 per cent of their gross national product and to endeavour to reach the minimum amounting to 1 per cent of the gross national product in the form of official and unofficial assistance as agreed upon in the international development strategy of the United Nations Second Development Decade;

5. To urge the Non-Aligned countries producing raw materials and commodities to enter, as soon as possible, into negotiations with a view to establishing qualitative organizations for producers, i.e. producers' associations, which would enable them to safeguard their rights and exercise full and permanent sovereignty over their natural resources and the national utilization of such resources for their economic development, unhampered by the hegemonistic and arbitrary means still imposed by the multinational corporations;

6. To provide all factors and conditions for ensuring the strengthening of the qualitative organizations for producers and the consolidation of their role in the development of the economic system and the acceleration of the rate of growth in the developing countries;

7. To support the efforts and positions of the nineteen developing States at the Paris Conference for International Economic Co-operation, aiming at the establishment of a new international economic order based on equity and equality among all countries of the world, and stressing the right of each State without discrimination to pursue the economic and social systems which it deems fit and which serve its development.

RESOLUTION AND EXPLANATORY NOTE ON RESTITUTION OF WORKS OF ART TO THE COUNTRIES FROM WHICH THEY HAVE BEEN EXPROPRIATED

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka, from 16 August 1976 to 19 August, 1976,

Recalling the objectives of the United Nations, in particular those concerning the humanitarian aspect of mankind and reaffirming human rights and dignity,

Referring to the Convention ratified by UNESCO on 14 November 1970 at its Sixteenth Session on ways and means of preventing the practice of importing and exporting cultural property as well as the transfer of such property by legitimate means,

Convinced of the fact that the recovery of art treasures has a great bearing on the constitution of the cultural heritage which is in turn the reflexion of a country's civilization throughout its history,

1. Reaffirms the terms of United Nations General Assembly resolution 3187 (XXVIII) of 18 December 1973 and General Assembly resolution 3391 (XXX) of 19 November 1975 on the restitution of works of art to the countries from which they have been expropriated, as well as the terms of the Convention adopted by the UNESCO General Assembly, calling on all member States to ratify it;

2. Requests all States in possession of works of art to endeavour to safeguard and preserve them and to restore them promptly to their countries of origin, and thus contribute to the strengthening of international relations;

3. Requests the Panel of Experts appointed by UNESCO to deal with the restitution of works of art to the countries from which they have been expropriated to take promptly all concerted measures with a view to restoring those treasures to their rightful owners.

Explanatory note

Libya has witnessed several brands of colonialism which deprived it of a considerable part of its natural wealth and resources. The matter did not end there, for colonialism stole its human cultural heritage which could be regarded as evidence of the standard of civilization attained by Libya throughout the centuries.

Libya has passed through the greatest civilization and the best evidence of this fact can be found in the historical remains still available, such as manuscripts, drawings, museum pieces, works of art, etc. Moreover, colonialism, before leaving Libya's shores forever, strove to plunder these remains and to keep them for itself in its archeological museums, forgetting that these objects constitute one of the aspects of Libya's renaissance, that they have been created on Libyan soil and should of necessity be restored to Libya. This should help us to assess Libya's contribution throughout history and to draw from it a culture with which we need to be familiar and of which our present culture is but the continuation. The Libyan Arab Republic, after carrying out an exhaustive survey of the art treasures still in its possession, discovered that a number of them had been stolen from it. It therefore urges the world community to stand up to colonialism and to help the States which are the rightful owners to recover their cultural heritage which has been looted from them and which is an indivisible part of their civilization.

Therefore, the Libyan Arab Republic in introducing this draft resolution seeks to stress the following:

1. To confirm its paramount right to the works of art which have been looted from it.

2. To endeavour to recover unconditionally and as promptly as possible its stolen works of art.

3. To impress upon the Panel of Experts appointed by UNESCO to deal with this matter the need to take prompt measures with a view to restoring those works of art to their country of origin.

RESOLUTION ON CO-OPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE PRODUCTION, PROCUREMENT AND DISTRIBUTION OF PHARMACEUTICALS

The Conference

Recalling the Non-Aligned Action Programme for Economic Co-operation among developing countries adopted at the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries in Georgetown in August 1972, and approved at the Fourth Summit held in Algiers in September, 1973,

Recalling also the Economic Declaration of that Summit calling for the further strengthening of economic co-operation among developing countries,

Noting the inclusion of the production and distribution of medicine and medical substances in the Lima Programme for Mutual Assistance and solidarity as an additional area of co-operation among developing countries,

Bearing in mind the possibilities for joint action by developing countries, identified in the study commissioned by UNCTAD on major issues in the transfer of technology to the developing countries in the pharmaceutical industry,

1. Endorses the recommendations of the Group of Experts on Pharmaceuticals which met in Georgetown in July 1976 and which proposes among other things;

(a) the preparation of a list of priority pharmaceutical need of each developing country and the formulation of a basic model list of such needs as a general guideline for action by the developing countries;

(b) the establishment of a national buying agency to undertake the purchase and supply of pharmaceuticals;

(c) that in the context of the revision of the industrial property systems, consideration be given to excluding pharmaceutical products from the grant of patent rights or alternatively the curtailment of the duration of patents for pharmaceuticals;

(d) the elimination, wherever possible, of brand names and the adoption of the generic names for pharmaceuticals; and provision of information only from official sources;

(e) the establishment by each developing country of its own pharmaceutical industry as appropriate, beginning with formulation and packaging and building up to more complex production activities;

(f) the creation of Regional Co-operative Pharmaceutical Production and Technology Centre (COPPTECS), as proposed by UNCTAD and UNIDO, in order to draw up drug lists, to co-ordinate research and development, facilitate the transfer of technology, collect and disseminate information on pharmaceutical uses and prices and on the technological capabilities among member countries and also to co-ordinate the production and exchange of drugs between different member countries as well as between different regional centres;

2. Invites the relevant international organizations such as UNCTAD, UNIDO, WHO and UNDP to assist in the achievement of the objectives outlined in operative paragraph 1 above with particular regard to the establishment of appropriate National Pharmaceutical Centres in developing countries and Regional Co-operative Pharmaceutical Production and Technology Centres (COPPTECS) among them;

3. Decides further that the Co-ordinator of the Trade, Transport and Industry sector of the Non-Aligned Action Programme for Economic Co-operation among developing countries should take the necessary follow-up action to ensure early implementation of the provisions of this resolution.

RESOLUTION ON FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka,

Recalling

(a) the conclusions of the World Food Conference of 1974 and more particularly those relating to the measures required to expand food and agricultural production in the developing countries; and

(b) the Economic Declaration and Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted by the Fourth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries at Algiers in September 1973;

Conscious that over 500 million people in the developing countries suffer from hunger and malnutrition, of whom at least 40 per cent are children, and of the danger that the capacity of those countries for achieving sustained development will be permanently impaired unless this condition is removed,

Recognizing that while food aid is a valuable temporary expedient, the solution to the problem of food deficiency in the developing countries is the expansion of production and the improved conservation of food in these countries,

Noting that food production in the developing countries is increasing at a rate below the estimated growth in demand and that, on the basis of existing trends, developing countries will increase their net imports of cereals from 16 million tons per year in 1969/72 to 85 million tons by 1985, with its attendant serious consequences on their already critical foreign exchange position,

Distressed by the unwillingness of the developed countries, as exemplified at UNCTAD IV, to agree to effective solutions to the serious problems of unstable and deteriorating prices in real terms of the primary and other agricultural commodities exported by the developing countries as a result of which developing countries continue to face major obstacles in their efforts to expand their food and agricultural production and promote self-reliant growth among their peoples,

Concerned over the unsatisfactory progress made in implementing the decisions of the World Food Conference relating, inter alia, to food stocks, food aid and fertilizer aid, and the dangers which an inadequate level of world food stocks presents especially to the least developed and most seriously affected countries which experience repeated crop failure and natural disasters,

Conscious of the strength which closer co-operation and co-ordination of action among non-aligned and other developing countries at the sub-regional, regional and international level will give to efforts designed to expand food and agricultural production, to provide greater food security and to secure acceptable prices for agricultural exports, and

Adopts the Plan of Action for Food and Agricultural Production hereto annexed, Designates the Governments of Ethiopia, Korea, Sri Lanka, Morocco, Sudan, Tanzania and Somalia to co-ordinate action in the implementation of the Plan of Action for Food and Agricultural Production.

PLAN OF ACTION

Target and Strategy

The target will be to achieve a rate of growth in food and agricultural production in developing countries of 4 per cent per annum over the next 10 years.

1. The programme for increasing food and agricultural production will be set within the framework of national development plans, and regional intra-regional programmes of co-operation which will emphasize the provision of additional employment and the satisfaction of basic needs, with particular emphasis on the small-scale farmers, the landless labourers and workers in the informal sector. Non-aligned countries will continue to make use of international support and assistance in their development efforts, but will give priority to promoting self-reliance through national efforts and through regional and inter-regional co-operation among themselves and with other developing countries.

2. At the national level, greater attention will be paid to removing the constraints and disabilities which reduce production and to providing incentives to the agricultural community to ensure a sustained improvement in production over the long term.

3. At the inter-regional levels, special attention will be given to devising measures which will increase food security and to identify and implementing multinational programmes, especially among geographically contiguous areas, which will increase total production.

4. Non-Aligned countries agree that the existing international economic order is unfavourable to their efforts and places serious obstacles in their way to achieving their growth targets. They will, therefore, continue to co-operate to bring about necessary changes in the existing order; in particular, they will strive for improved international commodity arrangements, an enlarged and sustained flow of financial resources on acceptable terms and an international trading regime which does not frustrate the growth of manufacturing activity in these countries based in part on the processing of primary commodities.

Co-operation Among Non-Aligned Countries

5. It will be the endeavour of non-aligned countries to promote closer co-operation among themselves and with other developing countries at the sub-regional, regional and inter-regional level, and to provide mutual support and assistance in order to achieve the growth target, in particular, it will be their endeavour to:

(a) promote preferential trading arrangements sub-regionally, regionally and on the widest feasible basis among non-aligned and other developing countries;

(b) establish machinery to identify areas where agricultural output can be increased through rationalizing production on a sub-regional, regional or wider basis;

(c) promote consultative groups to identify possibilities of co-operative ventures between food exporting and potential food exporting developing countries on the one hand and oil exporting countries on the other;

(d) co-operate in multinational projects in food production and processing in the manufacture of fertilizers and other agricultural inputs, counteracting desertification and elimination of pests, diseases and other physical disabilities which reduce the land available for cultivation;

(e) re-orient, nationally, regionally and globally, to the extent feasible, from export agriculture primarily dependent on developed country markets, to food production for developing country consumption so as to attain a more balanced and self-reliant agriculture;

(f) examine the feasibility of bulk purchase of agriculture inputs on a multinational basis, utilizing such bulk purchasing both to obtain better prices for participating countries as well as to encourage the development of new production and trade in and among non-aligned and other developing countries;

(g) in the field of research and development to promote co-operative measures that would lead to an unrestricted flow of agricultural technology among developing countries and the promotion of measures for the improvement and expansion of national, regional and international research institutions in developing countries;

(h) co-operate and share experience, knowledge and facilities in:

(i) undertaking research;

(ii) the planning and management of large-scale agricultural and development projects;

(iii) the design and management of small, medium and large-scale irrigation systems;

(iv) methods, equipment, processing, harvesting, handling, storing, preserving of food, particularly grains and perishable food items;

(v) promoting the consumption of nationally produced food; and

(vi) training extension workers and farmers;

(i) the creation of food security stocks by non-aligned countries in co-operation with other developing countries, individually or collectively, to stabilize supplies and prices of import requirements of developing countries.

Concerted International Action

6. Non-aligned countries will participate to the fullest practical extent in all international programmes and other activities which are designed to implement the conclusions of the World Food Conference of 1974, particularly programmes and activities aimed at expanding the production of food in developing countries and the immediate establishment of the International Fund for Agricultural Development.

7. They will keep watch upon the progress of the implementation, and will endeavour to stimulate the process where and whenever it appears that a more effective effort is required.

8. To achieve this aim non-aligned countries will act in all international and regional agencies, programmes and activities.

RESOLUTION ON COMMODITIES

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries,

Noting with deep concern that UNCTAD IV fell short of the expectations of non-aligned and other developing countries with regard to action on a number of major issues relating to international economic relations because of the resistance of major industrial countries to translate into concrete measures generally agreed principles and objectives to establish a New International Economic Order,

Recognizing however that the resolution on the Integrated Programme on Commodities adopted at UNCTAD IV provided a framework and machinery for negotiations on the setting up of a Common Fund which would promote and support the restructuring of world commodity markets and for negotiations on individual commodities,

Recognizing also that the negotiations on the Integrated Programme on Commodities are of crucial importance to the realization of a New International Economic Order. They provide an opportunity for non-aligned and other developing countries through collective action, mutual support and negotiating skill to obtain significant changes in prevailing structures and economic relationships which have acted up to now as a constraint to their growth and development,

1. Stresses that the negotiations are a priority area of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and that active preparations for the negotiations are vital and should begin immediately in order to obtain the maximum results beneficial to developing countries;

2. Calls upon non-aligned and other developing countries to make the necessary arrangements for co-ordinated and inter-related negotiating positions to be taken prior to and during the negotiations on individual products and the Common Fund;

3. _Declares_ that in regard to the Common Fund, decisions to set up the Common Fund should be taken at the negotiations scheduled to take place not later than March 1977 and their intention that an operational Common Fund as envisaged in the Manila Declaration and Programme of Action be established whether or not there is support from all developed countries;

4. _Urges_ that effective organizational machinery be established by Non-Aligned and other developing countries to take collective decisions at the highest level and to provide the necessary technical support during the crucial period of negotiations on the entire Integrated Programme;

5. _Entrusts_ the Intergovernmental Group on Raw Materials in co-operation with the Group of 77 to organize the follow-up action referred to above.

RESOLUTION OF THE ECONOMIC COMMITTEE

The Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting at Colombo from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Bearing in mind the decision of the Lima Conference with regard to the establishment of a Solidarity Fund for the Reconstruction of Kampuchea, Lao and Viet-Nam,

Bearing in mind the position taken by Democratic Kampuchea with regard to the establishment of this Fund,

1. Decides to convene the Group of Experts responsible for drawing up the relevant plan of operations in January 1977 at the latest (Solidarity Fund for Lao and Viet-Nam);

2. Instructs the Co-ordinating Bureau of Non-Aligned Countries to implement this decision within the time fixed;

3. Calls upon all the non-aligned countries to contribute to the establishment of this Fund for Lao and Viet-Nam.

RESOLUTION ON PERMANENT SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATIONAL RESOURCES IN THE OCCUPIED ARAB TERRITORIES

The Fifth Non-Aligned Summit Conference:

Recalling resolution 6 of the Fourth Non-Aligned Summit Conference, Algiers, 1973, entitled "Economic Effects of the Israeli aggression against Arab States",

Recalling also the General Assembly resolution 3336 (XXIX) of 17 December 1974, entitled "Permanent sovereignty over national resources in the occupied Arab territories", in paragraph 5 of which the General Assembly requested the Secretary-General, with the assistance of relevant specialized agencies and United Nations organs, including the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, to prepare a report on the adverse economic effects on the Arab States and peoples resulting from repeated Israeli aggression and continued occupation of their territories,

Recalling further General Assembly resolution 3516 (XXX) of 15 December 1975 which requested the Heads of the relevant specialized agencies and United Nations organs, particularly the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and the Economic Commission for Western Asia to co-operate actively and adequately with the Secretary-General in the preparation of a final and comprehensive report on this subject,

Confirms that the Secretary-General of the United Nations in pursuance of the above-mentioned resolutions submits to the Thirty-first Regular Session of the General Assembly the final and comprehensive report referred to in resolution 3516(XXX), Recommends that Member States should take joint action in the United Nations in order to ensure that the Arab States and peoples, particularly the Palestine peoples, be fully compensated for the adverse economic effects of the repeated Israeli aggression and continued occupation and exploitation of Arab population and territories.

RESOLUTION ON ASSISTANCE IN CASES OF NATURAL DISASTERS AND OTHER DISASTER SITUATIONS

The Fifth Summit Conference of the Non-Aligned States meeting in Colombo from 16-19 August 1976,

Recalling United Nations General Assembly resolution 3440 (XXX) of 9 December 1975,

Recognizing the value of the Non-Aligned Conference as a forum in which to consult and concert broad strategies for action in the Sahelian Zone of Africa and in other natural disaster areas particularly disaster-prone countries, Recommends the convening of a Meeting of Experts with a view to strengthening existing international programmes to meet and prevent the impact of natural disasters including, in particular, UNDRO as also to direct attention to the urgent need for launching of an integrated international strategy for mitigating the effects of natural disasters.

RESOLUTION ON SPECIAL MEASURES IN FAVOUR OF THE LAND-LOCKED COUNTRIES*/

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State and Government of Non-Aligned Countries held in Colombo from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Reaffirming the right of free access of the land-locked countries as stated in resolution NAC/ ALG/CONF.4/No.2 on Special Measures Related to the Particular Needs of the Land-Locked Countries,

Recalling Lima Declaration and Plan of Action on Industrial Development and Co-operation, Conscious that the operating principle of the Solidarity Fund emphasizes, inter alia, the interests and needs of land-locked countries,

Noting with concern that the problems of the land-locked countries have not yet found adequate solution,

Noting further that the difficulties faced by land-locked developing countries prevent their active and full participation in the world economic life and hamper their development,

Conscious of the necessity that in the New International Economic Order special consideration should be given to the problems and particular needs of land-locked countries,

Calls upon member countries and the entire international community:

(a) To alleviate the transit difficulties of land-locked countries by procuring transport facilities, minimum and simple customs formalities, reasonable transport charges and transit by overland and air route;

(b) To generously contribute to the Special Fund for Land-Locked countries by General Assembly resolution 3504(XXX) in order that it becomes operational as soon as possible;

(c) To give special attention to trade requirements of land-locked countries, including the possible provision of preferential treatment to goods of least developed land-locked countries;

(d) To assist the land-locked countries in the structural transformation of their economies, with special emphasis on their transportation infrastructure;

(e) To facilitate the access of land-locked countries to world markets, including the markets of non-aligned and other developing countries;

(f) To provide assistance and co-operation for speedy implementation of resolutions and measures adopted in favour of the land-locked countries by the Non-Aligned Conferences, the United Nations, its specialized agencies and other international conferences.

RESOLUTION ON COMPENSATION FOR THE EFFECTS OF WAR

The Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in Colombo, Sri Lanka from 16 to 19 August 1976.

Considering that the majority of developing countries were victims of foreign occupation, which inflicted heavy losses in life and property;

Recalling Resolutions 2995 (XXVII), 2996 (XXVII) and 2997 (XXVII) of 15 December 1972 on Co-operation between States in the Field of the Environment, International Responsibility of States in regard to the Environment, and the Establishment of a governing body for the United Nations Environment Programme;

Recalling General Assembly resolution 3336 (XXIX) and in particular operative paragraph 4;

Recalling Resolution IV adopted by the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries held in Lima, Peru, from 25 to 30 August 1975, which condemned colonialist and imperialist Powers and their neocolonialist, racist and zionist allies for their failure to remove the material remnants of war such as mines, etc., and called on them to do so and to provide the information and technical aid necessary for their removal;

Recalling General Assembly resolution 3435(XXX), particularly operative paragraph 5;

Convinced that an effective solution to the mines problems could only be reached through an undertaking by the colonialist and imperialist aggressive powers and their neocolonialist, racist and zionist allies involved to make reparations for the losses inflicted, and clear the mines from the developing countries, recognizing this being one of the human rights of developing countries in view of the inhuman practices of colonialist and imperialist Powers and their neocolonialist, racist and zionist allies in some of them;

NAC/CONF.5/S/RES/32.

1. Acknowledges that development plans in certain developing countries were obstructed and menaced by the devices left over from those wars, particularly the mines left in their territories;

2. Condemns the colonial and imperialist Powers and their neocolonialist, racist and zionist allies which have not removed the remnants of war, particularly mines, and holds them fully responsible for the material and moral losses suffered by the countries in which mines were laid;

3. Reaffirms that colonialist and imperialist powers and their neocolonialist, racist and zionist allies should bear the material and human losses which developing countries have suffered and continue to suffer, and should not be allowed to shirk their responsibility regarding the heavy losses they caused, since they are fully responsible and should make reparations to the countries affected;

4. Calls upon all the aggressive countries involved in these wars to undertake to provide the affected countries with the necessary assistance and information on the areas where mines were laid, including topographical maps of these areas and the type of mines used in order to help the efforts exerted by the affected countries to remove these destructive devices that have been left.

5. Welcomes the efforts currently exerted within the Conference on Humanitarian Law and the Conference of the Committee on Disarmament and urges that all talks currently under way in the various competent organizations seek to provide maximum protection for the environment against war damages;

6. Affirms that in order to ensure the solution of the problem of the effects of war with particular regard to mines, participation by all countries on an equal footing is necessary through the convening of an international conference on this problem. All countries should therefore call upon the United Nations Secretariat to convene an international conference for this purpose.

Colombo, 1976

Distr.
GENERAL
NAC/CONF.5/S/4
19 August 1976

ACTION PROGRAMME FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries reaffirm their belief in the concept of collective self-reliance as expressed in the Georgetown Action Programme which was approved together with the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation at the Fourth Summit in Algiers and reiterate the determination of Non-Aligned countries to implement these decisions as well as the Lima programme on solidarity and mutual assistance and the declaration adopted by the Ministerial Conference of the Group of 77 developing countries in Manila. The realization of this objective is necessary for establishing the New International Economic Order. In this connexion, it shall continue to be the endeavour of Non-Aligned countries in co-operation with other developing countries to institute a comprehensive programme of economic co-operation among developing countries, having regard to the particular needs of least developed, land-locked, island, geographically disadvantaged and most seriously affected countries. They direct that the following action shall be taken as constituting the Colombo Action Programme:

I. ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AMONG NON-ALIGNED AND OTHER DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

A. RAW MATERIALS

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries noted with satisfaction the efforts and progress made in the implementation of the strategy on raw materials adopted at the Fourth Summit Conference and further elaborated at the Dakar Conference for the restructuring of international trade in this field of economic activity. In this respect, they endorsed the conclusions of the Lima Conference of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Non-Aligned Countries with regard to the establishment of the Council of Producers' Associations of raw materials and on the creation of a Special Fund for the financing of buffer stocks. They also welcomed the work carried out by the Inter-Governmental Group of Non-Aligned Countries on raw materials and the activities undertaken in respect of the promotion of producers' associations by the co-ordinator country of this sector of the Non-Aligned Action Programme. In pursuance of this strategy the Heads of State or Government agreed that the following action be taken:

(a) The promotion of the establishment of additional producers' associations for primary commodities of export interest to developing countries.

(b) The adherence, to the fullest extent possible, of non-participating producer developing countries to existing producers' associations and other arrangements.

(c) The strengthening and supporting of existing producers' associations and the application by them of effective methods of operation in order to secure just and remunerative prices for their export products and to protect and improve in real terms the purchasing power of their export earnings. In the process the interests of all developing countries should be safeguarded by means of appropriate measures. The investigations being conducted by the co-ordinator for the sector dealing with producers' associations should serve as a basis for identifying appropriate policies and measures in these areas.

(d) The completion and approval of the statutes establishing a Council of Producers' Associations, on the basis of the draft prepared by the Group of Experts, with the purpose of achieving mutual support, co-ordination and the strengthening and promotion of producers' associations. To this effect another meeting of the group of experts should take place before September 1976 in order to prepare for a Plenipotentiary Conference. All producers' associations established at the initiative of developing countries are invited to join the Council.

(e) The establishment of a Special Fund for the financing of buffer stocks of raw materials on the basis of the draft statutes prepared after the Expert Group meeting by a Preparatory Committee for the Plenipotentiary Conference. The Preparatory Committee should meet not later than October 1976 in order to prepare concrete recommendations for solving pending issues. The Plenipotentiary Conference shall take place to finalize and sign the agreement establishing the Fund in the work on the UNCTAD Common Fund fails to yield satisfactory results by March 1977.

(f) Total commitment to the integrated programme for commodities, in particular, their determination to:

(i) work in close concert with one another and undertake co-ordinated and inter-related negotiating positions in the forthcoming preparatory meetings and negotiations to be convened by UNCTAD within the framework of the Integrated Programme for Commodities, for the establishment of the Common Fund and for early conclusion of international commodity arrangements; and

(ii) give expression to their commitment to the Integrated Programme for Commodities and to that end by ensuring that all member countries are invited to make specific pledges for contribution to the Common Fund before the commencement of the negotiations in UNCTAD.

The Inter-governmental Group on Raw Materials should continue its work as an open ended group of Non-Aligned and other developing countries, and should in co-operation with the Group of 77 monitor the negotiations that will be carried out under the integrated programme for commodities and work out collective strategies for developing countries in the light of progress made in these negotiations.

The interests of developing importing countries, particularly the least developed and the most seriously affected among them and those lacking in natural resources, adversely affected by measures under the Integrated Programme, should be protected by means of appropriate differential and remedial measures within the programme.

B. TRADE

(a) The development of joint import procurement policies, methods and arrangements for the purchase of goods, technology and services from developed countries and the adoption of standardized specifications and procedures. In this connexion investigations should continue on the ways, means and machinery of implementing co-operative policies with regard to imports and the strengthening of the developing countries' import capacity and their collective bargaining power, including possible arrangements for joint public sector purchasing, joint invitations to tender, commodity bulk purchases, joint operations by state trading organizations where appropriate and other trading enterprises, and establishment of mutual preferences in public procurement policies of developing countries.

(b) The initiation of action for the implementation of a global system of trade preferences among developing countries based on arrangements which best suit their interests having regard to their differing levels of development and differences in their trade regimes.

(c) The creation of new and expanded trade flows among developing countries based on the selection of specific products which have immediate potential for trade among developing countries, taking account of the reciprocity of benefits, and of the measures and machinery needed for creating these new trade flows, including, in particular, long-term purchase and supply commitments as appropriate and other contractual arrangements for direct trade among developing countries, and operations by State Trading Organizations where appropriate.

(d) The establishment of multination marketing enterprises among developing countries as a means of participating in the benefits of the marketing, transport and distribution of developing countries' products.

(e) Consultation among developing producer and consumer countries to ensure mutually satisfactory supply and purchase terms and conditions among developing countries themselves and collectively strengthening the means of control over their resources and the exercise of full sovereignty over their resources and the means of production, transport and distribution.

(f) Taking account of the Havana Report a study should be made to determine the viability of extending the functions of the proposed Central Commercial Information Unit within the Georgetown Project, to inter alia co-ordinate the collection and exchange of information among existing national, sub-regional or regional market research and information organizations and marketing enterprises and generally to promote the exchange of business and other information among developing countries.

(g) Adoption of common strategies to ensure greater participation of developing countries in the processing, transport, marketing and distribution of their exports and increase in their share in earnings therefrom.

(h) Elaboration of measures and mechanisms to ensure fullest use of the complementarities in resource endowment, industrial and technological capacity, financial resources and the development needs of the developing countries.

(i) The co-ordinating country of this sector should take the necessary action, including the convening of a meeting of representatives of governmental organizations responsible for foreign trade to identify specific actions in this field, and should submit appropriate recommendations aimed at achieving the objectives outlined in this section.

C. MONETARY AND FINANCIAL CO-OPERATION

1. Invitation to member-countries to accede to and ratify the convention of the Solidarity Fund for Economic and Social Development by the number of countries needed to enable it to be operative before the end of 1976.

2. Strengthening and further development of institutions and mechanisms for financial co-operation among developing countries so as to increase, rationalize, diversify and co-ordinate financial flows among these countries and to strengthen their negotiating capacity with a view to achieving the restructuring of the International Monetary System. Measures to achieve these objectives include:

(i) Convening of groups of experts to study the feasibility and ways of

(a) working towards a countervailing currency backed by the economic potential of the non-aligned and other developing countries, bearing in mind the consideration that the evolution towards a new International Monetary Order consistent with the New International Economic Order, requires a judicious exercise of countervailing power by non-aligned and other developing countries;

(b) establishing and operating a Bank of the Developing Countries which would undertake the general activities of commercial and merchant banking. The study should include the proposed statutes for such a multi-nation banking enterprise and its legal status within individual countries.

(ii) The convening of meetings of representatives of Finance Ministries and Central Banks which should consider the following:

(a) the establishment of a joint financial institution for the promotion of financial and monetary co-operation among developing countries with a view to creating conditions for the accelerated development of developing countries;

(b) the establishment of a Developing Countries Payment Union taking into account the articles of agreement to be submitted by Egypt and other relevant proposals;

(c) the forms and mechanisms of co-operation and association of Commercial Banks of developing countries to include the exchange of information experience in banking policies and practices, training of personnel and the use of each other's currencies in their commercial exchange.

(iii) Co-ordinating countries responsible for this subject will investigate and subsequently report as appropriate to the representatives of Ministries of Finance and Central Banks the appropriate mechanism to facilitate:

(a) arrangements for recording and co-ordinating information on financial flows and financial co-operation policies among developing countries at the bilateral and multilateral levels;

(b) the operation of interest subsidy schemes along the lines presently operating among developing countries for financing selected projects and programmes;

(c) the creation of links among financial institutions of developing countries for the purpose of financing large-scale bilateral, regional or sub-regional projects;

(d) additional arrangements for export credit and export credit guarantee schemes among developing countries to help foster the financing of their mutual trade.

3. Consider the establishment of monetary arrangements among developing countries to include:

(a) Strengthening existing clearing arrangements and the creation of new ones at the sub-regional, inter-regional and regional levels;

(b) Establishing links among existing payments schemes and the creation of sub-regional, inter-regional and regional payments arrangements open to all developing countries;

(c) Harmonization of exchange rate policies of non-aligned and other developing countries as appropriate so that they promote and do not hinder the mutual trade.

4. In addition to the above monetary arrangements to be pursued, investigations will be undertaken to determine the type of mechanisms necessary for the possible creation of a liquidity unit exclusively for the use among developing countries.

D. INDUSTRIALIZATION

(a) The encouragement of multination industrial co-operation policies as a complement to national policies and plans in the achievement of the industrialization targets including the goal of 25 per cent of total world industrial production as the share of the developing countries by the year 2000 as stated in the Declaration of Lima of the Second General Conference of UNIDO.

(b) The elaboration of sub-regional, inter-regional and regional project proposals and the development of industry inventories for the establishment of multi-national enterprises among non-aligned and other developing countries based on the complementarity of natural resources, appropriate technologies, long-term finance and market sharing in industries including the following categories:

(i) Basic needs.

(ii) Resource-based industries, including raw material processing in which particular countries or regions have a comparative advantage.

(iii) Capital requirements for the production of bulk demand goods.

(iv) Multi-product industries amenable to co-production arrangements.

(c) Sharing of experience in industrialization by those who have already acquired this know-how together with experience in the application of legislation in the economic field, in order that it may be widely known among developing countries. This knowledge may be of greater relevance than that which is acquired from highly developed areas. While a start has been made in co-operative arrangements, more intensive and innovative programmes are required for transmitting relevant technology and technical and managerial skills, particularly to the least industrialized countries within the region through establishment of sub-regional, regional and institutional machinery. The experience shared should include expertise in dealing with foreign investment and transnational corporations with a view to co-ordinating policies in this respect.

(d) Preferential treatment by the more industrialized developing countries, as far as possible, to imports of manufactures produced by the less industrialized countries. Positive policies are needed to increase intra-regional and inter-regional trade in manufactures.

(e) Conclusion of long-term agreements on product specialization, as deemed appropriate by the respective countries or regional economic associations, and a corresponding allocation of production or product-sharing through industrial complementary agreements.

(f) Harmonization of economic policies and co-operation particularly in the industrial field and the greater utilization of industrial complementarities taking into account the economies of scale and specialization. These complementarities must be based on the particular requirements of each country through establishment and strengthening of consultation machinery at the sub-regional, regional and inter-regional levels in order that it may result in a harmonious, balanced and more rapid industrial development in the community of developing countries.

E. FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

(a) The plan of action in the resolution on Food and Agricultural Production shall be noted.

(b) The convening of a symposium of non-aligned and other developing countries for exchanging experiences in developing independent national industry and agriculture, strengthening the independence of their national economies and realizing more effective economic co-operation among them, to be held in Pyongyang, Democratic People's Republic of Korea, at an appropriate date.

F. FISHERIES

(a) Active encouragement and promotion of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the development of the fisheries industry which may include the establishment of multination enterprises, the exchange of information, expertise, training and research, and the supply of fishing vessels and other equipment.

G. TRANSPORT

(a) The creation of a global strategy and arrangements for the improvement and expansion of maritime, air, road and rail transport among developing countries, sub-regionally, regionally and inter-regionally including:

(i) the early accession to, ratification of and the implementation of the Convention on the Code of Conduct for Liner Conferences;

(ii) the establishment of exclusive Liner Conferences and joint shipping services for developing countries;

(iii) the creation of national, sub-regional and inter-regional enterprises in the field of maritime and air transport capable of competing with the merchant fleets and airlines of the developed countries and of transnational corporations;

(iv) united action to secure financing, through international and regional financial institutions, for multination projects for shipping and for road and railway linkages among developing countries;

(v) improvement and strengthening of existing transport facilities and arrangements among developing countries including, inter alia: the rationalization of routes and transport units, sailings and flights, and cargo pooling; joint action for the establishment of preferential and promotional freight rates for developing countries' imports and exports, particularly for non-traditional goods; joint action to solve the problem of port congestion; joint action to develop containerization on the basis of developing countries' needs; simplification of border documentation; the universal acceptance and implementation of the Transport International Routiers(TIR) Convention for facilitating transit between developing countries; the development of international legislation suitable for the expansion of air services among developing countries;

(vi) the elaboration of multination project proposals for the production of ships, aircraft, railway equipment and road-building equipment;

(vii) the establishment or strengthening of appropriate machinery for the aggregation and allocation of national cargoes;

(viii) the promotion of the increasing and equitable participation of developing countries in world shipping tonnage and trade;

(ix) the provision of fair and reasonable freight rates for the expansion of trade of the developing countries.

(b) United action within UNCTAD, IMCO and other relevant international agencies to establish and expand their advisory services to developing countries on all aspects of maritime transport.

H. TELECOMMUNICATIONS

(a) Expansion and integration of existing telecommunication channels so as to create and strengthen an effective network of sub-regional, regional and inter-regional telecommunications.

I. INSURANCE

(a) The establishment of joint insurance and re-insurance arrangements among developing countries to save foreign exchange, spread risks, reduce dependence on developed countries' transnational corporations and increase bargaining power vis-a-vis the insurance markets of developed countries.

J. PUBLIC ENTERPRISES

Early ratification of and accession by the countries participating at the founding meeting to the statutes of the International Centre on Public Enterprises in Developing Countries in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, and the early elaboration by the Centre, which is a joint institution of developing countries, of programmes for training, education, consultation, exchange of information and documentation for Non-Aligned and other developing countries in the field of public enterprise. Until the statute comes into effect the Centre should be supported in the implementation of its present work programme.

K. HEALTH

(a) United action within the WHO on the development of international health policies and practices.

(b) The creation of Regional Co-operative Pharmaceutical Production and Technology Centres (COPPTECS) to perform the functions identified by the Group of Experts on Pharmaceuticals which met in Georgetown in July 1976, and to promote inter-regional co-operation. The Co-ordinator of the Trade Transport and Industry sector of the Non-Aligned Action Programme should take the necessary follow-up action to implement, with the assistance of relevant international organizations such as UNCTAD, UNIDO, WHO and UNDP, the proposals of the Group of Experts on Pharmaceuticals.

(c) The creation of arrangements and mechanisms for co-operation in the field of health and medicine, particularly the planning of health protection services, correction of adverse effects on health environment arising from war damage and natural disasters, prevention of the spread of communicable diseases, rehabilitation and the application of traditional indigenous medical practices. The methods of co-operation should include exchange of professional literature and scientific achievements, joint construction of health institutions, hospitals, medical schools, faculties and rehabilitation centres and the training of staff for work in these institutions.

L. TECHNICAL CO-OPERATION AND CONSULTANCY SERVICES

(a) Unified support within the framework of UNDP and other international organizations for full implementation of the decisions on "New Dimensions" including substantial increase in the engagement of experts and consultancy firms for developing countries, and for further technical co-operation among developing countries as proposed in the report of the Working Group on Technical Co-operation among Developing Countries.

(b) Unified positions regarding policies and proposals to be made by developing countries at the forthcoming United Nations Conference on Technical Co-operation among Developing Countries to be held in Argentina in 1977.

(c) Concerted action within the United Nations system , the IBRD-IDA and other international organizations in order to secure increased participation by developing countries' consultancy services in programmes sponsored by these institutions.

(d) The development of arrangements for technical co-operation among Non-Aligned and other developing countries including the strengthening of existing,or establishment of new technical institutions in developing countries which could serve their common interests; the exchange of experience through meetings, on-the-job training, joint action in the publishing of technical teaching material relative to the needs of developing countries; and the implementation of joint research projects and the establishment of joint institutions for research.

(e) Full utilization of existing and potential technical capabilities of developing countries including those in the field of feasibility and pre-investment analysis and the establishment of focal points, for co-operation on specialized technical activities.

(f) Preference to technical experts and consultancy services of developing countries in the execution of development programmes on the basis of non-discrimination and mutually satisfactory arrangements.

(g) Collaboration among consultancy organizations of developing countries with a view to implementing joint activities relating to the exchange of information on available consultancy services, the development of new forms and types of consultancy services, strengthening of existing consultancy services and training. Attention should also be given to the procurement of equipment and supply of training facilities and expertise.

(h) The convening of a meeting of experts of Non-Aligned and developing countries to study the feasibility of setting up a Project Development Facility to promote the use of technical skills and know-how available among those countries by the preparation of feasibility studies and project reports and for encouraging the use of equipment available in these countries for executing projects and programmes.

M. SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT

1. Unified positions regarding policies and proposals to be made by developing countries for the forthcoming United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for Development.

2. Implementation of the Common Strategy for co-operation in the field of Science and Technology among Non-Aligned and other developing countries along the lines of the report of the Non-Aligned Experts' Meeting held in New York in April 1976.

3. The establishment of a Centre for Science and Technology at Lima, Peru and accession to its statutes by Non-Aligned and other developing countries. The Heads of State or Government take note of the draft statutes prepared by the Group of Experts and invite the host country to arrange for a plenipotentiary conference at which the statutes in their definitive form will be adopted and signed, together with the programme of work of the Centre.

4. Collaboration in the establishment and creation of linkages of national and regional centres for the transfer and development of technology.

5. Fullest possible collaboration of scientists and technologists of the developing countries who are already working in developing countries outside their own countries for enhancing institutional linkages and the exchange of information.

6. National and regional centres and the Lima Centre for Science and Technology should promote on a continuing and regular basis gatherings of scientists and technologists of the Non-Aligned and other developing countries so as to contribute to the strengthening of the Common Strategy for co-operation in the field of science and technology

Reverse Transfer of Technology

7. Institution of collaborative measures to remedy the out-flow of skilled personnel from developing countries. This should include measures which would expand and diversify on a multinational basis the technical work possibilities open to specialized personnel.

Appropriate Technology

8. Collaboration in the establishment within the on-going activities of the United Nations system, of a Consultative Group on Appropriate Technology, especially directed to research on the choice of alternative use of resources allowing a greater utilization of labour per unit of investment.

9. Collaboration in setting up a Working Group with the assistance of competent international agencies to examine the applications of appropriate technology for employment, vocational training and income distribution.

II. EMPLOYMENT AND HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

Basic Needs

1. Collaboration in joint approaches to implementing the decisions and recommendations of the World Employment Conference and proposals made by the developing countries at that Conference.

2. Exchanging of information on comparative experience in the implementation of basic needs strategies envisaged in the Declaration and Programme of Action of the above Conference relating particularly to macro-economic policies, employment and wage policies, rural and land policies and policies relating to education, population, participation of organized groups and increased welfare of women, youth and the aged.

3. Co-operation mutually and with the United Nations agencies and the International Labour Organisation in particular, for the promotion of short-term and quick, but lasting and adequate productive employment programmes in the traditional rural and urban sectors and their informal sectors.

4. Preparation within the next four years with the assistance of the appropriate United Nations agencies a world-wide programme of household surveys to map the nature, extent and causes of poverty, to set up the necessary statistical and monitoring services and measure progress towards the fulfilment of basic needs.

Education and Training

1. Organization of special programmes of co-operation for the training of technical personnel at all levels in plants, technical colleges and universities.

2. Expansion of the system of fellowships for the training and specialization of personnel in various fields of development.

3. Expansion of programmes of exchange of university teachers and researchers and other specialists.

4. Exchanging of information and expertise relating to educational systems and co-operate in the development of national education policies to serve the needs of development including joint education strategies containing new elements of particular reference to the objectives of developing societies.

5. Establishment of joint projects in education, training of personnel and the publishing of teaching materials.

6. Collaborate in the establishment and operation of national, regional and inter-regional vocational training institutions where these do not exist and gear training in specific skills to available job opportunities at national, regional and inter-regional levels.

Manpower Movements

Provision for periodic exchange of information between the countries concerned on the occupational categories and the number of workers to whom contracts could be offered and who would be ready to emigrate or return to their country of origin; for this purpose skilled manpower pools or data banks to be established to provide reliable information on the supply of and demand for skilled professional and technical manpower and thus provide immediate employment opportunities within Non-Aligned and other developing countries.

O. ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries recommend that the Non-Aligned countries actively promote the implementation of the decisions adopted by the Conference on International Women's Year in Mexico. They reiterate their strong conviction that the full development of the developing countries requires the maximum participation of women, together with men, in all spheres of activity and that for this reason necessary conditions and national strategies should be established in order that women may attain equal rights with men and exercise these as well as equal opportunities and responsibilities.

P. RESEARCH AND INFORMATION SYSTEM

The establishment of a research and information system in accordance with the recommendations of the Co-ordinating Bureau meeting in Algiers including the one which relates to the method of financing of its activities. The system is open to the participation of other developing countries.

Q. TOURISM

The development of a programme of exchange of information and the creation of special facilities needed to encourage increased tourist flows among developing countries.

R. TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS.

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries take note of the draft statute of the Information Centre on Transnational Corporations in Cuba proposed by the group of experts and invite the host country to convene a Plenipotentiary Conference of Non-Aligned countries not later than 31 December 1976 to adopt and sign the final statute of the centre to be followed immediately by a meeting to elaborate its first working programme.

S. PRIVATE FOREIGN INVESTMENT

1. The continuation of the efforts by Non-Aligned countries in co-operation with other developing countries to reach within the framework of their national policies, possible co-ordinated approaches for the treatment of private foreign investment in order to strengthen their bargaining position in this field.

2. The identification and implementation of the measures to promote and encourage investment among interested developing countries taking into account, inter alia, the particular nature of those investments as well as the need to increase the flow of resources among Non-Aligned and other developing countries.

T. NUCLEAR ENERGY

Mutual co-operation in the production and use of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes, taking into account the Report of the Co-ordinating Countries meeting in Havana.

U. SPORTS

Active promotion of co-operation in the field of sports, taking into account the proposals by the Group of Experts including action in the democratisation of international spprts organisations and the abolition of apartheid in sport with a view to transforming the relations in the field of sports and promoting the philosophy of non-alignment among the peoples.

II. INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT.

1. The non-aligned and other developing countries should pursue joint action in all international economic negotiations, both within and outside the United Nations system, for the implementation of resolutions, decisions and recommendations contained in the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order, the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, resolution 3362(S-VII) of the Seventh Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly, as well as those adopted by the Dakar Conference on Raw Materials, the Third Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 at Manila, UNCTAD IV, and other relevant United Nations conferences, so as to ensure the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

2. In order to assess the results of the implementation of those decisions, having in mind that they complement and revise the International Development Strategy for the Second United Nations Development Decade, the non-aligned and other developing countries should insist that during the forthcoming biennial review and appraisal of the implementation of the Strategy a detailed assessment of the progress in the establishment of the New International Economic Order be made and adequate decisions in this regard taken. Non-Aligned and other developing countries may consider the convening of a Special Session of the General Assembly in order to secure co-operation of the international community in the solution of the world economic problems.

3. The established procedure for consultation and co-ordination among the non-aligned and other developing countries should be maintained and strengthened among the representatives of those countries to future international meetings and conferences. As a general procedure for all important future international economic conferences and meetings, preliminary meetings for non-aligned and other developing countries attending these fora should be arranged, so that they may have the opportunity to co-ordinate their positions on the issues to be discussed during the respective conference or meeting, with the aim of consolidating a harmonised stand.

4. The Non-Aligned and other developing countries should insist on the implementation of the resolution of the General Assembly on the Conference on International Economic Co-operation and in particular of the provision of inviting the Conference to submit the report on its work in time for consideration and decision by the General Assembly. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries express their satisfaction with the unity and solidarity of the Group of 77 as well as with the co-operation established within the Group of 19 in the CIEC as well as with the co-operation established between the Group of 77 and the Group of 19, securing thereby the interest of all developing countries at the Paris Conference.

5. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries consider that timely preparation for the elaboration of the Third United Nations Development Decade should start and that this strategy should be devoted in its entirety to the establishment of the New International Economic Order. It should include action-oriented policy matters as well as quantified targets within the timebound frame for the implementation as means for the establishment of the New International Economic Order based on the interests of all countries. The strategy for the Third Decade should be conceptually broader so as to reflect those objectives.

6. The Non-Aligned and other developing countries should continue their action for the implementation of all decisions contained in the Manila Declaration and Programme of Action.

7. The reform of the international monetary system should incorporate a built-in mechanism to promote the flow of real resources from developed to developing countries and necessary measures to maintain the real value of currency reserves of the developing countries. These objectives involve concerted action by the developing countries within the IMF, IBRD and the United Nations system and elsewhere to restructure the present system of Monetary and Financial arrangements which will inter alia provide for a process of balance of payments adjustment and financing that will remove the inequities involved in the present system, re-allocate and create international liquidity in ways which will mobilise resources for development, stabilise exchange rates, remove the dominant role of national currencies in international reserves, ensure parity in decision-making as between developed and developing countries and prevent the domination of any single country over decision-making so that the system becomes more responsive to the needs of the developing countries.

8. Developed countries should implement fully their international commitment to transfer 0.7% of their GNP for official assistance to developing countries. The particular problems of the least-developed and land-locked developing countries as well as the other most seriously affected countries should be borne in mind and adequately responded to.

9. The developed countries should improve access to the products of developing countries through elimination of trade barriers, secure for developing countries as MTNs additional benefits in the international trade in accordance with the commitments made in the Tokyo Declaration and eliminate restrictive business practices.

10. Agreement must be reached by the Conference on International Economic Co-operation (CIEC) on solutions to the overwhelming debt problems of the developing countries through measures such as, conversion of existing loans into grants, moratoria and rescheduling, as well as to the problem of the protection of the purchasing power of export earnings of developing countries. Should the CIEC fail to reach a satisfactory conclusion on those subjects, non-aligned countries will convene a conference with other interested developing countries at Ministerial level in the first half of 1977 to decide on the appropriate and united action to be pursued.

11. Developed countries should be urged to take action on the debt problems of developing countries, in particular those of least-developed, most seriously affected and land-locked developing countries, in accordance with Manila Declaration and Programme of Action.

12. Developed countries should be also urged to cancel debts of the least-developed and other most seriously affected developing countries and in particular those that have suffered from foreign occupation and aggression.

13. Developed countries and international organizations should support the implementation of decisions on economic and technical co-operation among developing countries as contained in resolutions 3202(S VI), 3362 (S VII), 3442 (XXX), 3461(XXX) as well as to ensure successful outcome of the global Conference on Technical Co-operation among developing countries.

14. The international community is urged to facilitate the effective exercise of the right to restitution and full compensation for the exploitation and depletion of and damages to the natural and all other resources of all States, territories and peoples subjected to foreign aggression and occupation, alien and colonial domination, racial discrimination and apartheid. It is in addition , the duty of all States to extend assistance to these countries, territories and peoples.

III. CO-ORDINATION OF ACTION PROGRAMME.

1. The co-ordinating countries will keep the Co-ordinating Bureau and all other non-aligned countries informed of the progress made in their respective fields of activities. The implementation of the Action Programme shall be reviewed annually at a meeting of the co-ordinating countries. The report of this meeting will be considered by the Conference of Foreign Ministers which would give appropriate direction taking into account the recommendations made on it by the Co-ordinating Bureau. In the field of economic co-operation covered by the Action Programme of the Non-Aligned Countries it is understood that other developing countries desirous of being associated with it may participate as appropriate and contribute to its successful implementation. Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries invite non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate with the co-ordinating countries, and in consultation undertake action for the implementation of measures agreed upon.

2. They consider that measures and actions proposed by the co-ordinating countries at their meetings held in Belgrade, Georgetown and Havana is of utmost importance for the carrying out of decisions contained in this Action Programme.

3. Bearing in mind the need to avoid duplication and the pursuit of contributory initiatives in the promotion of economic co-operation among developing countries, the Heads of State or Government emphasize the need to ensure proper co-ordination in the implementation of the measures being undertaken under the Non-Aligned Action Programme and those envisaged in the resolution for Economic Co-operation among Developing Countries adopted by the Group of 77 at its Ministerial Meeting held in Manila. In this connexion the forthcoming conference on Economic Co-operation among Developing Countries to be held in Mexico should provide an opportunity to contribute to the above-mentioned purpose.

4. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries having reviewed the work carried out by the co-ordinators of the Action Programme, decide to extend the mandate of the existing co-ordinators until the next Summit when the list will be reviewed. They also decide that additional co-ordinators should be appointed for the same period. The full list of co-ordinators is as follows:

خطاب
الرئيس محمد أنور السادات
في مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات البلاد غير المنحازة
هافانا – أكتوبر ١٩٧٩
القاه نيابة عن سيادته الدكتور بطرس بطرس غالي
وزير الدولة للشئون الخارجية

سيدى الرئيس ،

اننى لسعيد ايضا بان ابلغ لرؤساء الدول الصديقة الحاضرين هنـــا ، بتمثيله فى هذا المؤتمر الذى ينعقد فى هافانا والذى يضم رؤساءالدولوحكومات البلدان غير المنحازة ٠

فباسمه وباسم جمهورية مصر العربية ، اوجه الى فخامة الرئيس فيدال كاسترو والى حكومته والى شعب كوبا الكبير النبيل ، شكرنا الخالص على ما خصوا به الوفد المصرى وخصونى به شخصيا من كرم الضيافة ، الشيء الذى يعكس صورة العلاقات بين ثورتين تتطلعان بطرق قد تكون مختلفة ، الى الحرية والعدالة وتحرير جميع المضطهدين ، وبالاضافة الى هذا الشكر أعرب لشعب كوبا عن أصدق تمنياتنا بالنجاح والرفاهية والسعادة ٠

ان مصر لا تالوا جهدا فى هذا السبيل ، ولن تبخل باى تضحية لتناصر الى جنبكم القضايا العادلة النبيلة التى اجتمعنا اليوم فى هافانا من اجـــل الدفاع عنها ، ولتحقيق الاهداف التى سيحددها هذا المؤتمر ٠

ان كوبا ومصر ترتبطان بعلاقات معينة خاصة ، فقد تعـــاون بلدنا فى للقاهرة ما بين ٥ و ١٢ يونيو ١٩٦١ مع الاعضاء المؤسسين الآخرين للحركة،

لاقامة المؤسسات السياسية القانونية لعدم الانحياز ، وقد حددنا العناصر الاساسية الخمسة لحركة عدم الانحياز وانى اذكرها واؤكدها بهذه المناسبة وهى :

١ ـ انتهاج سياسة مستقلة مبنية على التعايش السلمى ٠

٢ ـ تأييد حركات التحرير الوطنى ٠

٣ ـ الامتناع عن ابرام احلاف عسكرية جماعية تشارك فيها دولة كبرى ٠

٤ ـ الامتناع عن ابرام احلاف عسكرية ثنائية ، تشارك فيها دولة كبرى ٠

٥ ـ الامتناع عن اعطاء قواعد عسكرية لدولة كبيرة ٠

هذه المبادىء الخمسة يجب أن تكون أسمى قواعد حركتنا ، وهى التى يجب أن تقود خطانا كما قادتها من بلغراد الى القاهرة ، ومن لوزاكا الى الجزائر ومن كولومبو الى هافانا ، ومن الواجب علينا أن نتمثلها دائما أمام أنظارنا ٠

ومن الواضح انه لا يمكن للدول الاعضاء فى هذا المؤتمر ان تبقى حرة من كل التزام ازاء الكتلتين الكبيرتين ، وأن تستطيع بالتالى أن تحدد غايتها من غير اهتمام اخر غير حماية السلام ودعم التعاون السلمى المثمر بين شعوبنا الا باحترام هذه المبادىء الاساسية الخمسة ٠

أريد أن أعرض الآن باختصار الى القضايا الكبيرة التى تنطوى عليها مادة جدول اعمالنا .

وأولها قضية الايديولوجية فى هذا العالم الذى يسوده التنافس بين الكتلتين والدولتين الكبيرتين تنافسا تختلف أشكاله تبعا للظروف بالرغم من اتفاق (سالت ٢ الاخير) نعتقد بأن الوسيلة الوحيدة للسعى فى سبيل سلام حقيقى ، انما هى رفض الانخراط فى أى معسكر من المعسكرين٠ وبناء على هذا فان حركتنا كانت طيلة تاريخها تتنازعها الانحرافية اليمينية ، التى تنحنى على كتلة الراسمالية مع الارتباط معها بعلاقات متينة مستخفية ،

والانحرافية اليسارية التى تصرح بعلاقاتها الممتازة مع البلدان الاشتراكيــة بدعوى أن هذه البلدان الاخيرة من الحلفاء الموضوعيين الطبيعيين المخلصين للبلدان غير المنحازة ·

فقد كانت وجهة عدم الانحياز دائما فى نظر مصر الاطار الاساسى الذى أتاح لنا الدفاع عن استقلالنا أمام مصالح ومطامع الدولتين الكبيرتين ·

وبناء على ما اكتسبناه من نضج من هذه التجربة المثرية ، طلبنا من الدول غير المنحازة التى تشجع الاتجاهات الهامشية اليسارية واليمينية ضمن الحركة ان تتجنب كل دعاية ايديولوجية للحفاظ على الانسجام ووحدة حــركة عدم الانحياز وذلك بقبول مبدأ التعايش الســلمى فى صفوفها ، والامتنـــاع عن النزاعات الايديولوجية ، وضمان تمثيل واسع لجميع الاتجاهات فى مختلف الهيئات المسيرة للحركة ·

وباختصار ينبغى لحركة عدم الانحياز لكى تستمد حياتها وتنمو وتتعزز، الا تنقلب هى نفسها هدفا لحرب باردة جديدة تجرى بين الاخوة فى صفوف البلدان غير المنحازة ·

فلا يمكن أن ننقد حركتنا ، ولا أن نبعث فيها حركية جديدة ولا روحهــا السالفة لاحياء العهد التاريخى الذى افتتح من باندونج الى اجتماع القاهرة، ومن اجتماع بلغراد الى لوزاكا ، فالجزائر ، والذى قررت فيه الشعوب التى تحررت اذ ذاك من الاضطهاد الاستعمارى أن تلعب دورا حاسما لصون السلم فى العالم ، الا اذا صممنا على عدم النيل من حريتنا بالتزامات ليس من شأنها الا أن تجسد شقاقاتنا الداخلية ·

يمكن أن احدثكم حديثا طويلا بهذا الصدد ، ولكن التحليل الصارم الذى قدمه الرئيس نيريرى ، احد حكماء افريقيا ، واف كاف ليقنعنا بأن نرفض بشدة كل انحياز ضمن الحركة · وكما قال حكيمنا الافريقى الكبير الرئيس سيكوتورى: « لا يجوز أن تكون منظمتنا امتداد لأى كتلة » ·

ثانيا : قضايا الانظمة التاسيسية ، أريد الآن أن أتعرض لموضوع آخر هو الهيئات التنظيمية التاسيسبة لحركتنا وخاصة مكتب التنسيق من المناقشات الكبيرة التى كانت ذات صدى فى المؤتمر الاول الذى عقدته الحركة فى بلغراد سنة ١٩٦١ ، المناقشة حول تاسيس جهاز دبلوماسى دائم لحركة عدم الانحياز. واذكركم بأن الاغلبية الساحقة من الدول التى حضرت اجتمــاع بلغراد سنة ١٩٦١ رفضت هذه الفكرة رفضا باتا · واثيرت الفكرة من جديد اثنتى عشرة سنة بعد ذلك فى الجزائر ، فى صورة تكوين مكتب تنسيق ، كجهاز دائم مكلف بتنسيق النشاطات المشتركة بين بلدان عدم الانحياز ·

ومن المؤسف ان التخوفات التى ابديت فى بلغــراد فى سنة ١٩٦١ قد بررها الواقع اذ أن مكتب التنسيق قد اتجه الى أن يتحول الى اداة سيطـــرة تتحكم فيها عدد من الدول ، أولا ، بما أن المصادقة على قرارات المكتب تتم عن طريق التوافق بين الاعضاء ، فمن الممكن لاغلبية مصطنعة أن تفرض وجهـات نظرها ، وذلك لأن المعارضين مهما كان عددهم — الكبير غالبا — ليس لهم الا ان يعربوا عن تحفظاتهم بعد الاعلان عن المصادقة على القرار ، بحيث يبدو من التحليل الاخير أن أقلية من الاصوات الحازمة ، هى التى تتخذ القرارات غالبا والاخطر من ذلك ، ان هذه الاقلية تدعى انها تتحدث باسم جميع الحركة ·

ومثل هذه السياسة ليست مخالفة للديمقراطية فقط ، اذ أن من أهداف حركتنا أن نجعل العلاقات الدولية ذات صــبغة ديمقراطية ، ولكنها تضعف حركتنا وقد تفقدها كل سمعة ، فى نظر الدول الاعضاء وحتى فى نظر جميع العالم الذى يرقبنا ·

فمكتب التنسيق ، بالصورة التى يتالف عليها وبالصورة التى يعمل عليها يمثل كتلة صغيرة جديدة ، ضمن حركتنا · وكما قال وزير خارجية غينيا فى كلمة تنبؤ ، القاها فى بلغراد سنة ١٩٦١ ، « لنقل من البداية أن عدم الانحياز لا يجوز أن يكون بدوره حلفا أو كتلة ، اذ تكون النتيجة اذ ذاك انما هى توسيع وتعميق استبداد الحرب الباردة » ·

سيدى الرئيس ،

ان بلادكم ستراس المكتب خلال السنوات المقبلة ، فلا يجوز أن يتحول الى اداة تخلق المشاكل والنزاعات الاضافية . ولهذا يجب أن يؤلف بصورة تمثل الجوهر الحقيقى لعدم الانحياز ، وبحيث يمثل محفلا للتفاوض والتوفيق بين مختلف وجهات النظر وبين مختلف الاتجاهات لا كتلة جديدة ضمن الحركة التى ترفض فلسفتها الاساسية تكوين الكتل ·

ثالثا : القضايا الافريقية ٠

أريد أن أعرض للقضايا الافريقية التى نحرص على الدفاع عنها كافريقيين اولا ، وكغير منحازين ثانيا ، وكمصريين أخيرا يعتزون بمصريتهم وبافريقيتهم وعدم انحيازهم ٠

فهذه القرارات هى التى يجب أن تكون اطارا لحركة عدم الانحياز عندما تعرض للقضايا التم تهم قارتنا ٠

هناك قضايا خطيرة تهدد افريقيا ، ومنها قبل كل شىء الاستعمار والتمييز العنصرى اللذان لا يزالان سائدين فى افريقيا الجنوبية ، وقد تحدثنا كثيرا فى منروفيا عن الكفاح الاستبسالى المقدس الذى يقوم به اخواننا فى زيمبابوى وناميبيا وجنوب افريقيا ، ليحرروا أوطانهم ٠

ومن واجبى اليوم أن أحيى منظمـــة سوابو ، والجبهة الوطنية اللتين تتمتعان منذ الآن ، بالعضوية الكاملة فى حركتنا ٠

وبهذه المناسبة ، أعرب عن كامل تأييد الشعب المصرى لكفاحهما المسلح ضد الاستعمار والاستعمار الجديد والتمييز العنصرى وانى أؤكد لهما اننا سنواصل امدادهما بتأييدنا العسكرى ومســـاعدتنا المالية ومســـاندتنا الدبلوماسية ٠

والمشكلة الثانية التى تهدد افريقيا واستقلالها ، انما هى تخلفها الذى تتأكد خطورته باستمرار ٠ فلا يكفى لتكون افريقيا مستقلة ، أن تكون حـــرة سياسيا ، اذ أن هذه الحرية ستبقى مهددة باستمرار ان لم تدعمهـــا حرية اقتصادية واجتماعية ٠ ان البلدان الافريقية تعيش منذ عشرين عاما أشدمعركة جرت ضد التخلف ٠ ولكن من المؤسف أن النتائج التى حصلت عليها حتى الآن

ضئيلة غير مشجعة ، بالرغم من حماس شعوبنا فى الكفاح وشجاعة اطاراتنا السياسية والاقتصادية ٠

وقد درسنا بكل عناية فى منروفيا ، بفضل مبادرة جريئة من الامين العام لمنظمة الوحدة الافريقية وبتأييد نيجيريا ، هذه الظاهرة المقلقة التى ستنسينا خلال السنوات المقبلة جميع الاسباب الاخرى للتوتر الدولى فى افريقيـــا ٠ وسيحدد مؤتمر القمة الاقتصادى الذى ستعقده بلدان منظمة الوحدة الافريقية فى الشهور المقبلة فى لاجوس احدى العواصم الكبرى فى افريقيا ، استراتيجية جديدة لتمكين قارتنـــا من الانتصار فى هذه الحرب ضـــد الجوع والفقر والتخلف ٠

ومن الواجب أن يكون الخطاب الحافل بالحكمة ، الذى ألقاه الرئيس كاوندا الذى أبرز أنانية البلدان المنتجة للبترول ، من أهم المواضـــيع التى يدرسها هذا المؤتمر ، كما أنه من واجب حركة عدم الانحياز أن تشجع وتؤيد المساعى التى اقترحها الرئيس كينيث كاوندا ٠

والمشكلة الكبيرة الثالثة التى تهدد افريقيا تتمثل فى التدخلات الاجنبية وما تستثيره من ردود فعل ٠ فمن الجائز أن تتسبب هذه التدخلات ومعاكساتها فى قيام حرب باردة فى قارتنا التى بقيت الى السنوات الاخيرة القارة الوحيدة البعيدة عن الحرب الباردة ، بينما كانت أوروبا مفصولة بستار حديدى بين الكتلتين ، وانقلبت آسيا ميدان معركة تتحارب فيه الدولتان الكبيرتانعنطريق دول تقوم مقامها ، وقد تلاقى أفريقيا اليوم المصير نفسه ان لم تتحكم فى أمورها ٠

اسمحوا لى لكى أتعرض لهذه القضايا . بأن كون مصر البلد الوحيد الافريقى الآسيوى فى الكرة الارضية ، يفسر هذه النزعة المزدوجة التى تتضافر مع سائر المسئوليات الاخرى .

لقد أخذت مصر والهند منــذ نهاية الحرب العالمية الثانية ، فى تنسيق كفاحهما ضد الاستعمار البريطانى ، وشاركت مصر فى مارس ١٩٤٧ قبــل استقلال الهند فى مؤتمر بدلهى عنى بالمشاكل الآسيوية فيما بعد الحرب · وفى يناير ١٩٤٩ شاركت مصر فى دلهى دائما ، فى مؤتمر لتأييد تحرير اندونيسيا · وانى اذكر بهذه الذكريات البعيدة لأبين أن بلادى كانت تعتبر دائما حتى قبل عهد الاستقلال ، ان مساهمة آسيا عنصر أساسى للوصــــول الى تغيير توازن القوى لفائدة السلام · لهذا أيدنا باستمرار كفاح الشعوب الآسيوية فى سبيل تحررها من نير الاستعمار . وعلى ذلك ، أيدنا جمهورية فيتنام الديمقراطية فى كفاحها البطولى ، وساندنا قبولها فى حركة عدم الانحياز قبل قمة لوزاكا، وقد راقبنا بعد ذلك بكل قلق النزاع الذى قام بينها وبين الصين ، وعلى هــذا فاننا سيدى الرئيس نرجو بكل حزم الوصول الى حل عادل لقضيـــة كمبوديا الديمقراطية ، التى دارت حولها مناقشات طويلة شاقة لتسوية القضية تسوية مرضية حفاظا على وحدة حركتنا وتضامن أعضائها ·

ونريد أخيرا توجيه تحيتنا الى باكستـــان التى انضمت الى الحركة ، ونقول لها ان دورها سيكون كبيرا فى دعم عدم الانـ ـاز ·

ان الدفاع عن موقف آسيا فى العـــالم الراهن ، وتحقيق ما يمكن أن تساهم به فى حركة عدم الانحياز حفظ السلام ، هى المبادىء الكبرى التى تقوم عليها سياسة مصر غير المنحازة ·

خامسا : قضايا أمريكا الجنوبية ·

اذا كانت آسيا تلعب دورا من المقام الاول فى حركة عدم الانحياز ، فمن المنتظر ان تلعب أمريكا اللاتينية دورا ليس اقل اهمية · فاسمحـــوا لى أذن سيدى الرئيس لكى أتعرض لهذه القضايا ·

عندما اسست حركة عدم الانحياز كانت اســـاسا حركة افريقية آسيوية تنتمى الى قارتين وتستمد قوتها الروحية والسياسية الضاربة من مبـــادىء

بانشا شيلا الخمسة فى ابريل ١٩٥٤ ، التى صادقت عليها الصين والهند ، ومن مبادىء باندونج العشرة وكانت مشاركة كوبا فى مؤتمر القاهرة فى يونيو ١٩٦١ ، هى التى منحت حركة عدم الانحياز بعدا ، يربطها بأربع قارات .

ومنذ ذلك العهد لم تزل مشاركة أمريكا اللاتينية تتسع ونحن سعـــداء اليوم بتحية بوليفيا وسورينام ونيكاراجوا جرينادا التى انخرطت كاعضاء جدد فى الحركة . وإننا نأمل بصدق أن يكون مؤتمر القمة السادس الذى انعقد فى أمريكا اللاتينية ، نقطة انطلاق لمشاركة واسعة من مختلف بلدان أمريكـــا اللاتينية فى دعم حركتنا ، وتعزيز مبادئها الاساسية تجاه محاولات القضاء على هذه المبادىء باسم انحياز ما ، لايفصح عن كنهه ، ولكنه لايخفى غاياته وأهـــدافه .

ان حركتنا لا يجوز أن تكون هيئة منطوية على نفسها لكن ناديا مفتوحا لجميع البلدان التى تخلصت من سيطرة الكتل ، وقبلت أن تكافح معنـــا فى سبيل السلام فى العالم ومن أجل كرامة الامم والانسان .

ومن اجل هذا الغرض ستبذل مصر كل ما فى امكانها لتعزيز الروابط الاخوية التى تربطها ببلدان امريكا الجنوبية وامريكا الوسطى ومنطقة الكاريبى فى اطار العلاقات الثنائية او فى اطار الحركة . اننا متأكدون من أن اتســاع منظمتنا ودعمها سيمثلان مرحلة جديدة من النشاط والنضال الثورى لحركتنا .

سادسا : القضايا العربية .

اريد الآن أن أتعرض باختصار للتطورات الاخيرة للجهود التى قام بهــا الرئيس السادات لاقامة سلام عادل وشامل .

ان المبادرة التى قام بها الرئيس السادات فى نوفمبر ١٩٧٧ ليقترح السلم والعدالة على العدو عمل ثورى حقيقى يطابق أعرق التقاليد النضالية التقدمية فى بلدان العالم الثالث التابعة لحركة عدم الانحياز ، رغم المزاعم والاتهامات وتلفيقات البعض .

وقد كان وسيكون دائما هدف هذه المبادرة التاريخية التى نواصلهـــا وسنواصلها بحزم وقوة هو فى اقرار السلم فى بلادنا ، والوصول الى حــل سلمى للقضية الفلسطينية ، طبقا لرغبة الشعب الفلسطينى ، الذى كان ضحية للاضطهاد لا من أعدائه فقط ، لكن من طرف بعض الاخوان العرب ايضا ، كما يجب أن نقول ذلك . وبابرام معاهدة سلام مع اسرائيل ، استطاعت مصر أن تستعيد اراضيها التى احتلها العدو وتسترجع وحدتها الترابية من جديد .

ففى ذلك من غير شك انتصار للعرب ، وانتصار لافريقيا وانتصار للبلدان غير المنحازة يجب أن نسر منه جميعا ·

وبابرام معاهدة اخرى فى الوقت نفسه حصلت مصر على موافقة مبدئية لانسحاب القوات الاسرائيلية من الضفة الغربية وقطاع غزة ، وعلى حق الفلسطينيين فى انشاء حكومة مؤقتة لهم تتفاوض مع الاسرائيليين لتحدد الوضعية النهائية لوطنهم . فالفلسطينيون هم الذين يقررون وحدهم مصيرهم فلا يمكن لا لمصر ولا لأى دولة عربية اخرى أن تدعى حق الكلام باسم الفلسطينيين ·

وانى فى هذا المكان بمناسبة قمة هافانا السادسة وأما هذا المحفل الموقر ، وأمامكم جميعا أمد اليد لمنظمة تحرير فلسطين ·

واؤكد من جديد أمام هذه الجمعية وامامكم سيدى الرئيس بصفة علنية عهد مصر المناضلة بمواصلة الكفاح من اجل اخواننا الفلسطينيين حتى يتم تاسيس دولة فلسطينية ·

اننا سنتمكن مجموعين من الوقوف فى وجه المطامع التوسعية الاستعمارية لدولة اسرائيل .

اننا سنتمكن مجموعين من اجبار اسرائيل على العدول عن اعتداءاتها التى يدينها العالم ·

واننا سنتمكن مجموعين فى نطاق هذه الحركة من الانتصار .

لقد ثبت فى الليلة البارحة او بالاحرى فى فجر صباح اليوم بعد عشر ساعات من المناقشات ، ضمن اللجنة السياسية على مستوى وزراء الخارجية، بالرغم من محاولة بعض الدول لاستخدام حركتنا لاهداف غير صريحة ، شبيهة بانتقام شخص ولحرب أخوية اكثر مما تشبه مناقشة بين دول غير منحاوزة (ثبت) ·

١ ـ أن الحركة قادرة على صون صفائها وأصالتها ·

٢ ـ ان دور مصر النضالى معترف به ومقدرا ·

٣ ـ ان الحركة تستنكر كل ادانة لمصر وكل محاولة لعزلها ·

وكما قلت صباح اليوم عند الفجر ، أوجه النداء الى للدول العربية والى

منظمة تحرير فلسطين لتقتدى بالاسرة الافريقية الكبيرة التى عرفت كيفتحافظ دائما على تماسكها ووحدتها بالرغم من النزاعات الداخلية الافريقية ·

انى اوجه النداء الى الدول العربية لتتمثل الحكمة الافريقية التى تدعونا الى التعايش السلمى لا الى التناحر الاخوى ، وتدعونا الى التوفيق لا الى التنافر ، والى الحوار لا الى التقاطع ، والى النضال لا الى السلبية ، والى التقدمية لا الى التقهقر ·

ان مصر كريمة كبيرة ، وهى على استعداد لتمد يدها الى اية دولة عربية، ترغب فى فتح حوار أخوى على قدم المساواة للوصول الى حل شامل عادل لأزمة الشرق الاوسط ·

وكما قال الرئيس سيكوتورى فى خطابه القيم ينبغى لحركتنا أن تكون لها أنظمة خاصة تسمح بتسوية النزاعات بين الدول غير المنحازة ·

هذه هى الحالة كما هى فى الواقع يا سيدى الرئيس · وهذا هو موقفنا. الدائم الحازم للوصول الى حل عادل، حازم لأزمة الشرق الاوسط ·

سادبعا : المشاكل الاقتصادية ·

سيدى الرئيس ،

لقد كانت حركتنا دائما فى طليعة الكفاح من اجل كرامة الامم والانسان وفى مقدمة الجهود المبذولة لاقرار نظام اقتصادى عالمى جـديد ، قادر على تحرير شعوبنا من التخلف ·

وكما اذنت كفاحات التحرير الوطنى العربية والافريقية واللاتينيةالامريكية بنهاية رواسب الاستعمار والتمييز العنصرى التى لا تزال تتشبث ببعضالجهات من العالم الثالث ، فقد ساعدت هذه الكفاحات ايضا على اقناع البلدانالمصنعة

بأن اقتصاداتها لا يمكن أن تستغنى عن تعاون صريح صـــادق ، مطلوب مع البلدان النامية التى تنتج المواد الاولية الضرورية لازدهارها .

ومن المتضح على مر الايام أن مصلحة الجميـع ، انما تقوم على حوار يجرى على قدم المساواة بين العالم المتقدم والعالم النامى .

ويقصى كل فكرة سيطرة أو تمييز لافتتـاح عهد تعاون لا تنـــازع بين الشعوب .

ومن الواجب علينا من جهتنا ، لضمان سائر فرص النجاح لهذا الحوار المطلوب ، لمصلحة الجميع ، أن نؤكد من جديد وحدتنا وننتهج سبيلا للتعاون المالى والاقتصادى والتجارى الواسع الشامل بيننا ، وقد سعت مصر فى سبيل هذا التعاون ، والاتفاق المصرى الهندى اليوغوســـلافى المؤرخ فى ١٩٦٧ ، والمجدد فى السنة الماضية لمدة خمس سنوات ، مثال صالح للتعاون الاقليمى بين الدول غير المنحازة .

وكان مؤتمر القمة الافريقى العربى الذى اجتمع فى القـــاهرة فى مارس ١٩٧٧ مثالا آخر ، وكان أول مظهر ايجابى للتعاون بين قارتين ، بين العالم العربى والعالم الافريقى .

فى اختتـــام كلمتى هذه أريد أن أؤكد مرة أخرى بشدة أن مصر تنتمى بالاصالة الى عدم الانحياز ، وأن عدم الانحياز هو بالنسبة الينا عقيدة ،ونزعة صوفية وحقيقية حية فى الوقت نفسه .

ان العالم الثالث الذى يعانى من تخلفه ، والمهموم بشعور التأخر الذى أصابه بسبب الاستعمار ، والمدرك لضعفه ، لكن المقدر لطاقاته الكبيرة ، فى حاجة الى عقيدة دافعة يمكن أن تستثير الجماهير ، وتبعث الحيوية فى النخبة، وتخلص الاطارات من ركودها ، وهذه العقيدة الدافعة متوفرة لدينا ، وهى عدم الانحيـــاز .

ولكى تكون التنمية الوطنية والتعاون الاقليمى أو القارى بين البلدان غير

المنحازة ،ايجابيين مثمرين ، يجب أن يقوما على نظرة صوفية وعلى الواقع الموضوعى فى آن واحد ، وبامكان حركتنا أن تستجيب لهذه الحاجة المزدوجة، وان تحول النظرة الصوفية الى قوة محركة هى التى تستطيع وحدها أن تكافح التخلف والسيطرة الاجنبية فى القارات الثلاث الفقيرة فى المعمورة ، وأغنى القارات فى الوقت نفسه ٠

فهذه المهمة التى تعنى القارات الثلاث كما تعنى العالم اجمع ، والتى تعنى المحرومين فى الارض كما تعنى الاثرياء ، هى التى يجب أن تعبر عنها وتشجعها ايدولوجيه البلدان غير المنحازة ، وكل ماتبذله من مساع .

ففى مستوى القارات الثلاث يجب أن تعين حركة عدم الانحياز البلدان النامية لتتغلب على تخلفها ولتكافح الاستعمار الجديد ٠

اما فى مستوى العالم ، فالحركة يجب أن تعين البلدان المتقدمة الغنية لتتحكم فى المرحلة الحرجة من نموها ، وتتغلب على أخطار قوتها المتفوقة التى انقلبت الى عامل اختلال وتوترات ٠

وعلى حركة عدم الانحياز أن تقضى على الروابط العفنة التى نشأت فى القرن التاسع عشر بين نصفى البشرية للقضاء على الفوارق الاجتماعية والاقتصادية التى تمثل حواجز بين الشعوب التى تعيش فى النصف الجنوبى من الكرة الارضية والشعوب التى تعيش فى نصفها الشمالى .

سيدى الرئيس ،

اسمحوا لى فى الختام بتوجيه شكرى لكم مرة أخرى على ما لقيناه من حفاوة وكرم ضيافة من شعبكم ، والاعراب عن أصدق تمنياتنا بنجاحكم فى المهمة الجديدة التى اسندت اليكم لمدة السنوات الثلاث المقبلة ، ونحن مقتنعون بأنكم ستكونون الناطق باسم حركة يجب أن يكون ما يوحدنا فيها أقوى مما يفرق بيننا .

شكرا سيدى الرئيس ؟

I. POLITICAL DECLARATION

INTRODUCTION

1. The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries was held in Havana, the Republic of Cuba, 3 - 9 September 1979. The following countries, which are full members of the Movement, took part in it: Afghanistan, Algeria, Angola, Argentina, Bahrain, Bangladesh, Benin, Bhutan, Bolivia, Botswana, Burma, Burundi, Cape Verde, the Central African Empire, the Comoros, the Congo, Cuba, Cyprus, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Democratic Yemen, Djibouti, Egypt, Equatorial Guinea, Ethiopia, Gabon, the Gambia, Ghana, Grenada, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Guyana, India, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, the Ivory Coast, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Kuwait, the Lao People's Democratic Republic, Lebanon, Lesotho, Liberia, Madagascar, Malawi, Malaysia, Maldives, Mali, Malta, Mauritania, Mauritius, Morocco, Mozambique, Nepal, Nicaragua, the Niger, Nigeria, Oman, Pakistan, the Palestine Liberation Organization, Panama, the Patriotic Front of Zimbabwe, Peru, Qatar, Rwanda, Sao Tomé and Principe, Senegal, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, Singapore, the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Somalia, South West Africa People's Organization, Sri Lanka, the Sudan, Suriname, Swaziland, the Syrian Arab Republic, Togo, Trinidad and Tobago, Tunisia, Uganda, the United Arab Emirates, the United Republic of Cameroon, the United Republic of Tanzania, the Upper Volta, Viet Nam, the Yemen Arab Republic, Yugoslavia, Zaire and Zambia.

The Conference granted Belize special status, including the right to speak.

The following countries and organizations and national liberation movements attended as observers: Barbados, Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Mexico, the Philippines, St. Lucia, Uruguay, Venezuela, the African National Congress (South Africa), the Afro-Asian People's Solidarity Organization, the Arab League, the Islamic Conference, the Organization of African Unity, the Pan-Africanist Congress of Azania, the Socialist Party of Puerto Rico and the United Nations Organization.

The following countries and organizations were also present as guests: Austria, Finland, Portugal, Romania, San Marino, Spain,

Sweden, Switzerland, ECLA, FAO, OLADE, SELA, UNCTAD, UNDP, UNESCO, UNIDO, the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People, the Special Committee Against Apartheid and the United Nations Council for Namibia.

2. In its inaugural session the Conference heard an important and wide-ranging address delivered by His Excellency the President of the Council of State and the Council of Ministers, of the Republic of Cuba Fidel Castro Ruz, the text of which was included by acclamation in the records of the Conference.

The speech was an historic contribution to the definition of the objectives of the Movement and of invaluable assistance to the deliberations and final success of the Conference.

3. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the admission of Bolivia, Grenada, Iran, Nicaragua, Pakistan, Suriname and the Patriotic Front of Zimbabwe to the membership of the Movement and of Dominica, the Philippines, Costa Rica and St. Lucia as observers, and the attendance of Spain as a guest. They considered that these developments were of outstanding historical importance for the strengthening of the policy of non-alignment as the authentic, independent and non-bloc factor. They expressed their particular satisfaction at the expansion of non-alignment in Latin America and the Caribbean.

4. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries noted with particular satisfaction the steady and irreversible growth in the number of non-aligned countries and participants in their gatherings and an ever greater presence and spreading of the policy of non-alignment to all parts of the world. From 25 countries at the First Summit Conference in Belgrade in 1961, the membership of the movement had grown to 95 at the Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government in Havana, representing peoples from Africa, Asia, Latin America and Europe and the diversity of economic, social and political systems, thereby confirming the universality of the policy of non-alignment.

5. It has been confirmed that the spread of non-alignment constitutes, for an ever-increasing number of countries, an indispensable alternative to the policy of total division of the world into blocs. The growth of non-alignment into a broad international movement cutting across racial, regional and other barriers constitutes an integral part of profound changes in the structure of the international community. The fundamental principles of non-alignment, their universal value and the persistent struggle of non-aligned countries for equitable relations among countries and peoples provide, due to their permanent nature, inspiration to peoples and countries in their struggle for a world of independence, equality and justice. This is telling proof of the fact that the policy of non-alignment constitutes a true expression of the interests and aspirations of an ever-larger number of countries and peoples of the world, as well as of the appreciation of the significance and effectiveness of the policy and movement of non-alignment in the entire sphere of international relations.

6. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries expressed their profound satisfaction at meeting in Latin America for the first time and their appreciation of the special significance of this singular occasion. They recalled that, at the First Summit Conference, held in Belgrade in 1961, when the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries was founded, Cuba was the only Latin American and Caribbean country among its members, while Bolivia, Brazil and Ecuador were observer. Latin America has been the scene of constant strife as its peoples have sought to win full independence, eliminate colonialism in the region, affirm their sovereignty, recover their natural resources, promote economic and social development, defend their cultural heritage and play an active independent role in international life. That battle has deep roots in the history of Latin America, which initiated its efforts to obtain independence at the beginning of the nineteenth century. Marked by victories and setbacks, it has followed an ascending course. In the last few years, Caribbean countries have obtained their independence and have joined the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. The history-making victory of the people of Nicaragua constitutes an encouraging event for the whole region. This has allowed the peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean to play an increasingly dynamic role alongside their African and Asian brothers and sisters and with all the peoples of the world in the common struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, expansionism, racism including Zionism, apartheid, exploitation, power politics and all forms and manifestations of foreign occupation, domination and hegemony. Eleven Latin American and Caribbean countries are now full members of the Movement, and 10 participate as observers; the Movement's activities evoke attention and respect throughout the area.

7. Meeting in Havana eighteen years after its founding, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries is aware of its responsibilities and has confirmed its perspectives set forth in its Summit Conferences in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka, Algiers and Columbo. The Non-Aligned Movement represents countries determined to defend interdependence, free national and social development, sovereignty, security, equality and self-determination and to change the existing system of international relations based on injustice, inequality and exploitation. The Movement represents an overwhelming majority of mankind which is struggling to eliminate the inequalities between the developed and developing countries; to eradicate poverty, hunger, sickness and illiteracy; and to establish a new world order based on justice, equity and peace instead of the present order in which wealth is still concentrated in the hands of a few powers whose wasteful economies are maintained by the exploitation of the labour as well as the transfer and plunder of the natural and other resources of the peoples of Africa, Asia, Latin America and other regions of the world.

8. This contrast means in practice the perpetuation of the old colonial relations in their original form or under various disguises or attempts at the imposition of new relations of dependence and subjugation. The people's freedom and independence will not be truly consolidated until the state of domination, dependency and exploitation is ended. Freedom will not be complete until effective control of resources and natural wealth is assured and independent economic development is ensured; and until the peoples are guaranteed suitable and decent living conditions. Security will not be permanent until principles of non-interference in the internal affairs of States, sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence are respected and until the full independence of all countries and peoples is ensured.

9. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries represents the hopes, aspirations and will of millions of human beings who have been deprived of freedom and the right to decide their own destiny, who have suffered from a long and painful colonial experience and foreign domination and who for centuries have endured servitude and humiliation, tyranny and poverty, hunger and ignorance. Our peoples have struggled generation after generation, with growing success, to emancipate themselves and open the way to a new, free, worthy and prosperous life. They have advanced along the path towards their total aspirations, but there is still a long way to go. The non-aligned countries renew their pledge to continue struggling until they attain a world based on justice and freedom and establish an international political and economic order governed by peace, independence, equality and co-operation against all obstacles and forces which aim at maintaining old or imposing new forms of unequal relationships and domination and which have hindered the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

10. This strong desire reflects the interests of all the peoples and is in accord with the principles and purposes of the United Nations. The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government appealed to all peoples of the world to participate in efforts to free the world from war, the policy of force, blocs and bloc politics, military bases, pacts and interlocking alliances, the policy of domination and hegemony, inequalities and oppression, injustice and poverty and to create a new order based on peaceful coexistence, mutual co-operation and friendship, an order in which each people may determine its own future, attain its political sovereignty and promote its own free economic and social development, without interference, pressures or threats of any kind.

THE POLICY OF NON-ALIGNMENT AND THE STRENGTHENING OF ITS INDEPENDENT ROLE

11. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, which emerged in the midst of the breakdown of the colonial system and during the emancipation struggle of the peoples of Africa, Asia, Latin America and other regions of the world and at the height of the Cold War, has been an essential factor in the decolonization process that has led to the achievement of freedom and independence by many countries and peoples and the emergence of dozens of sovereign States, and in the preservation of world peace. This struggle for total emancipation received a historic impetus from the emergence of newly liberated countries which have opted for an independent political development and have resolutely rejected polarization on bloc bases, bloc policies, military pacts or military alliances, as well as policies tending to divide the world into spheres of influence or impose any other form of domination. Ever since its inception, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has waged a constant battle to guarantee that the peoples oppressed by alien occupation and domination may exercise their inalienable right to self-determination and independence; it has joined forces to seek the establishment of a new international economic order that will permit the peoples to enjoy their wealth and natural resources and achieve a higher standard of living, offering a comprehensive platform for a basic change in international economic relations and for full economic emancipation; and it has played a decisive role in the efforts to maintain peace, promote international détente and eliminate focal points of aggression and tension everywhere in the world and in promoting just solutions for international problems. However, there are still dangerous situations and serious obstacles that oblige them to strengthen their unity, cohesion and co-operation to face these common dangers and overcome these obstacles.

12. Taking into consideration the principles on which non-alignment has been based and the elaboration of those principles through the successive Summit Conferences held in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka, Algiers and Colombo, the Sixth Conference reaffirmed that the quintessence of the policy of non-alignment, in accordance with its original principles and essential character, involved the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, racism including Zionism and all forms of foreign aggression, occupation, domination, interference or hegemony, as well as against great-Power and bloc policies. In other words, the rejection of all forms of subjugation, dependency, interference or intervention, direct or indirect, and of all pressures, whether political, economic, military or cultural, in international relations.

13. Recalling these fundamental goals and purposes of the Movement which have guided it since its inception in 1961, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their adherence in particular to the following principles:

National independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, sovereign equality, and the free social development of all countries; independence of non-aligned countries from great-Power or bloc rivalries and influences and opposition to participation in military pacts and alliances arising therefrom; the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism including Zionism,and all forms of expansionism, foreign occupation and domination and hegemony; active peaceful coexistence among all States; indivisibility of peace and security; non-interference and non-intervention in the internal and external affairs of other countries; freedom of all States to determine their political systems and pursue economic, social and cultural development without intimidation, hindrance and pressure; establishment of a new international economic order and development of international co-operation on the basis of equality; the right to self-determination and independence of all peoples under colonial and alien domination and constant support to the struggle of national liberation movements; respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms; opposition to the division of the world into antagonistic military-political alliances and blocs and rejection of outmoded doctrines such as spheres of influence and balance of terror; permanent sovereignty over natural resources; inviolability of legally established international boundaries; non-use of force or threat of use of force and non-recognition of situations brought about by the threat or use of force; and peaceful settlement of disputes.

Basing themselves on the above-mentioned principles, the Heads of State or Government considered the following to be the essential objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement.

Preservation of the national independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and security of non-aligned countries; elimination of foreign interference and intervention in the internal and external affairs of States and the use of the threat of force; strengthening of non-alignment as an independent non-bloc factor and the further spread of non-alignment in the world; elimination of imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, racism including Zionism, and all forms of expansionism, foreign occupation and domination and hegemony; support to national liberation movements struggling against colonial and alien domination and foreign occupation; safeguarding international peace and security and the universalization of the relaxation of international tensions; promotion of unity, solidarity and co-operation among non-aligned countries with a view to the achievement of the objectives of non-alignment, thus preserving its essential character; ending the arms race, particularly the nuclear arms race, and the achievement of general and complete disarmament under effective international control; the early establishment of the New International Economic Order with a view to accelerating the development of developing countries, eliminating the inequality between developed and developing countries and eradicating poverty, hunger, sickness and illiteracy in the developing countries; participation on the basis of equality in solving international issues; establishment of a democratic system of international relations based on the equality of States and respect for and the preservation of human rights and fundamental freedoms; the strengthening of the United Nations as an effective instrument for promoting international peace and security, resolving international problems and struggling against colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism, Zionism, racial discrimination and apartheid and as an important factor in the development of international co-operation and the establishment of equitable economic relations between States; dissolution of great-Power pacts and military alliances and interlocking arrangements arising therefrom, withdrawal of foreign military forces and dismantling of foreign military bases; promotion of economic co-operation among the non-aligned and other developing countries with a view to the achievement of collective self-reliance; establishment of a new international order in the field of information and mass media for the purpose of forging new international relations in general; and revival, preservation and enrichment of the cultural heritage of the peoples of non-aligned countries and promotion of cultural co-operation among them.

14. The Heads of State of Government of Non-Aligned Countries believed that events over the past three decades had demonstrated the validity of the principles of non-alignment. They therefore stressed emphatically that adherence to all these principles required action that was consistent with the objectives underlying the philosophy of the Movement.

15. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, accordingly, rededicated themselves to translating these principles into action. They solemnly pledged to undertake all the necessary steps for the realization of the above objectives. They are convinced that only through concerted action can these objectives be attained.

16. They stressed that the commitment to non-alignment entailed respect for and the observance of the above principles as well as the undertaking of concrete measures in order to further reinforce these well-founded principles.

17. In the context of the above principles and objectives, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries reaffirmed the following criteria for participation in the Movement as members agreed upon in 1961:

(i) The country should have adopted an independent policy based on the coexistence of States with different political and social systems and on non-alignment or should be showing a trend in favour of such a policy.

(ii) The country concerned should be consistently supporting the movements for national independence.

(iii) The country should not be a member of a multilateral military alliance concluded in the context of great-Power conflicts.

(iv) If a country has a bilateral military agreement with a great Power or is a member of a regional defence pact, the agreement or pact should not be one deliberately concluded in the context of great-Power conflicts.

(v) If it has conceded military basis to a foreign Power, the concession should not have been made in the context of great-Power conflicts.

18. The policy of non-alignment, by acting as an independent global factor, represents an important step in mankind's search for freely established, peaceful and equitable relations among nations, irrespective of their size, geographic location, power or social systems.

19. The Conference considered that unity and mutual solidarity among the non-aligned countries were indispensable for maintaining the independence and strength of the Movement and for the realization of its objectives. Over a period of nearly two decades the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has brought together a growing number of States and liberation movements which, despite their ideological, political, economic, social and cultural diversity, have accepted these fundamental principles and have shown their readiness to translate them into reality.

20. The non-aligned countries have demonstrated their ability, through democratic dialogue, to overcome their differences and to find a common denominator for action leading to mutual co-operation.

21. Meeting in Havana, the Conference confirmed that the policy of non-alignment constituted an important and indispensable factor in the struggle for freedom and independence of all peoples and countries, for world peace and security for all States, for the universal application of active peaceful co-existence, for the democratization of international relations, for the establishment for the New International Economic Order and for economic development and social progress. The Conference acknowledged the co-operation received by non-aligned countries from other peace-, freedom- and justice-loving, democratic and progressive States and forces in the achievement of their goals and objectives and expressed its readiness to continue to co-operate with them on the basis of equality.

THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

22. As the Sixth Summit Conference met in Havana, the world faced a complex situation fraught with dangers but also filled with encouraging possibilities. The assessment of the state of international relations and the situation in the world in general made at the Fifth Summit Conference, as well as the main courses of action charted, has been fully borne out by events. The aspirations of peoples and countries for full emancipation and real equality in international relations continued to grow and have remained the main feature of our times. There has been a further mounting resistance against all forms and tendencies of foreign domination, occupation and oppression. The efforts towards the attainment of genuine peace, equal security for all, universal application of the principles of active and peaceful coexistence, democratization of international relations and equal co-operation are intensifying.

23. Significant results have been achieved in the resolute struggle of national liberation movements, particularly in southern Africa, as well as in other dependent and occupied territories; strengthening of the solidarity of non-aligned countries with the just struggle of the Palestinian people to exercise their inalienable national rights to repatriation, self-determination and independence, including their right to a State of their own, and of Arab countries to recover all the occupied territories; firm support for the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and non-alignment of the Republic of Cyprus; the victory of the people of Panama in the struggle for the restoration of their sovereignty over the Panama Canal Zone; the welcome development of the dismantling of the SEATO and CENTO military alliances as an inevitable outcome of the positive trend in international relations; the fruitful efforts of countries of the South Asian sub-region which are all now members of the Non-Aligned Movement, towards increasing co-operation among themselves and contributing positively to peace and stability in the area; the successes achieved on the road to the full national emancipation of Iran and Nicaragua; the new victories in the struggle for the emancipation of the countries and peoples of Latin America in the Caribbean and Central America; the common resolve of non-aligned and other developing countries to take concrete measures for the establishment of the New International Economic Order; the ever-stronger demand of the international community, particularly after the tenth special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament, that the great Powers take effective steps in order to reverse the arms race, particularly the nuclear arms race, and to participate, together with all other countries, in undertaking effective measures towards general and complete disarmament.

24. However, these positive trends are meeting with the growing resistance of the forces of imperialism, colonialism, racism including Zionism, expansionism, hegemony and all forces that seek to perpetuate unequal relations and privileges acquired by force. Policies of pressure and the threat or use of force, direct or indirect aggression, occupation and the growing practice of interference and intervention, overt and covert in internal affairs are continuing seriously to threaten the independence of States, particularly of non-aligned and developing countries, obstructing their political and economic emancipation. Serious threats to the process of international détente have appeared, and the arms race, particularly the nuclear arms race, has continued unabated; the threat to human survival has never been more acute than it is today. There have been more and more plots to try to hold back the process of decolonization and to disregard the principle of self-determination of peoples under alien and colonial domination in various regions. The imperialists, colonialists and racists constantly employ policies and manoeuvres to prolong oppression, aggression and foreign occupation in southern Africa, the Middle East and other regions. To accomplish their ends, they instigate collusion between reactionary, expansionist and occupation forces in order to divide the non-aligned countries and to isolate and destroy the national liberation movements of Namibia, Zimbabwe, Palestine, South Africa and other peoples subjected to foreign domination and occupation; they seek new military alliances linked to the racist regimes of South Africa and Israel. The causes of tension and instability still exist; hotbeds of war and conflicts have not been removed; new crises are being instigated. The new hotbed of conflict in South-East Asia threatens peace and security in the world. In the economic sphere, efforts are still being made to continue the exploitation of other peoples and to increase the privileges of the transnational corporations. The attempts to thwart the establishment of the New International Economic Order persist.

25. The treaties that include the results of SALT II are an important step in the negotiations between the two main nuclear Powers and could open prospects for more comprehensive negotiations that should lead to general disarmament and a relaxation of international tensions. However, the negotiations for nuclear arms control and the process of détente between the big Powers are only a part - no matter how important - of the advance toward a peace that extends to all parts of the world and benefits all countries equally.

The endeavour to consolidate détente; to extend it to all parts of the world; and to avert the nuclear threat, the arms build-up and war is a task in which all the peoples should participate and exercise their responsibility and to which the influence and action of the Non-Aligned Movement should be pledged. However, such détente, to be meaningful and effective, must lead to the elimination of all hotbeds of tension and to the termination of aggression, foreign occupation, intervention and interference as well as of political and economic exploitation of the weaker countries.

26. To achieve these objectives, the Conference stressed the need for all non-aligned countries to strengthen their unity and solidarity and to adhere strictly in their foreign policy to the principles that have always inspired the Movement: the right of peoples under alien and colonial domination to freedom, self-determination and independence; respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all States; the right of all States to equality and to active participation in international affairs.

27. The search for world peace and peaceful coexistence among all States is intrinsically linked to our struggle against imperialism; colonialism; neo-colonialism; apartheid; racism, including Zionism; and all forms of foreign occupation, domination, interference and hegemony. It implies political, moral and material support for the national liberation movements and joint efforts to eliminate colonial domination and racial discrimination. To this end, it has been increasingly necessary to strengthen the United Nations as an instrument of the international community in its efforts to end the arms race and to achieve general and complete disarmament and the dismantling of military pacts and alliances.

IMPERIALISM, COLONIALISM, NEO-COLONIALISM, RACISM, ZIONISM AND OTHER FORMS OF DOMINATION

28. The Conference reviewed the gains made in the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, Zionism and all forms of foreign domination and oppresion and hailed the important victories attained by the non-aligned countries since the last Summit Conference.

29. The incorporation of seven States and liberation movements in the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries since the las Summit Conference is evidence of the advance in this struggle, especially in the case of States that have won their independence and put an end to colonial and alien domination and those whose Governments were, until recently, closely linked to the imperialist Powers and their allies or great-Power military pacts. These peoples' victories represent an important step toward the dissolution of ties of dependency and domination.

30. The Conference noted that the imperialists have continued to react to the victories of the liberation struggle by a policy designed to maintain their interests in areas that have not yet attained independence, especially in Zimbabwe, South Africa and Namibia, where racist domination prevails. It also warned that the imperialists were using new tactics to divide the Arab countries and support Israel's continued occupation of Palestine and other Arab lands. Finally, the Conference warned that the administering powers in the various colonial territories of Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean ignored the peoples' desires for independence.

31. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their conclusion, expressed during the Fifth Summit Conference, that the imperialists were stepping up their policy of creating division within the anti-colonialist fronts and liberation movements, with a view to frustrating the will for independence that predominates among the peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America. The Conference ratified the decision adopted at the Fifth Summit Conference concerning the need to confront these new imperialist practices by increasing unity with support for the national liberation movements and consolidating recently-won independence through a concerted strategy aimed at economically emancipating and consolidating the sovereignty of every country that belongs to the Non-Aligned Movement.

32. The Conference reiterated its call for greater solidarity within the Non-Aligned Movement for safeguarding its independence of judgment and action, in order to be able to take more effective measures against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism and expansionism in all their forms and manifestations.

AFRICA

33. The Heads of State or Government analysed in depth the current situation in Africa, reviewing the events that have taken place since the last Summit Conference and recognizing the advance that has been made in the African peoples' struggle for their emancipation. They stressed the urgency of eliminating colonialism, racism, racial discrimination and apartheid from the continent, especially from southern Africa.

34. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the colonial and imperialist Powers were continuing their aggressive policies with the aim of perpetuating, regaining or extending their domination and exploitation of the African nations, thus giving rise to the conflicts that afflict the continent.

35. The Conference expressed its deep concern over the scheme of destabilization and aggression applied against States whose positions adversely affect imperialist interests and policies. It therefore strongly condemned those schemes and urged all States to support the nations that are victims of these manoeuvres and to resolutely condemn these actions.

36. The Conference considered that the struggle of the peoples of the African continent, and especially the peoples of Southern Africa, for their self-determination and independence was closely linked to the battle of the peoples under colonial and neo-colonial domination in other parts of the world, and it emphasized the inseparable tie that links the anti-imperialist and anti-colonialist revolution with the development of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and its policy.

37. The Conference also stressed the determination of the peoples in this part of the world to resolutely and bravely combat such imperialist designs. The Conference commended the unswerving struggle these peoples are waging for their full and complete independence and recognized the role that the non-aligned countries, the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity, the socialist countries, the Scandinavian countries and other democratic and progressive forces play in supporting this struggle, especially in terms of the aid given to the peoples of Zimbabwe, Namibia and South Africa.

38. The Conference welcomed the Co-ordinating Bureau's important, timely initiative of meeting in Maputo at the ministerial level in a special session to analyse the situation in southern Africa, and it endorsed the recommendations arrived at in that meeting that were aimed at increasing solidarity with the peoples of Namibia, Zimbabwe, South Africa and the front-line States.

39. As a result, the Conference called on all the member countries of the Movement to give special attention to the application of the Action Plan approved in the extraordinary meeting of the Bureau in Maputo and ratified and extended on this occasion, and entrusted the Co-ordinating Bureau at the United Nations with the responsibility of ensuring that Plan was applied in the international agencies.

40. The Heads of State or Government expressed their understanding of and full agreement with the idea that the noble and laudable aims of the OAU could only be attained when the minority racist and colonialist régimes were eliminated. They also voiced their opinion that Africa's total emancipation, the end of imperialist exploitation and the denuclearization of Africa constituted matters of priority that the OAU, non-aligned countries and the United Nations must tackle with all the force necessary.

41. The Conference congratuled the OAU for its accomplishments in the sixteen years of its existence and recognized the importance of the Organization of African Unity as an effective instrument for promoting peace, security and good relations among its members States. It stressed the importance of the Charter of that regional body and the practical application of its principles as well as the resolutions and decisions of the Assembly of Heads of State or Government of the OAU.

SOUTHERN AFICA

42. The Conference reviewed the situation in southern Africa and expressed the opinion that the main reasons for the survival of colonialism and racism - in open defiance of the decisions of the international community, the Security Council and the General Assembly of the United Nations - was the military, technological, economic, political, diplomatic and other forms of aid that imperialism gives the racist régimes.

43. The Conference welcomed the resolution adopted at the Meeting of Heads of State or Government of the OAU which reads: "CONDEMNS the alliance between the Zionist regime and the racist regimes in southern Africa and calls upon all member States to increase their efforts to counter this danger and to strengthen the armed struggle against zionism, racism and imperialism."

44. The Conference also reiterated that the consolidation of the victory of the peoples of Angola, Mozambique, Guinea-Bissau, Cape Verde and Sao Tomé and Principe - which decisively changed the correlation of forces in the area - was an important stimulus for the colonized peoples and that the liberation of Angola and Mozambique, their attainment of national independence and the establishment in those countries of political governments and systems freely chosen by their peoples strengthened the independence of the African States and the secure rearguard for the national liberation movements.

45. The Conference reiterated its firmest support for the struggle of the peoples of Zimbabwe, Namibia and South Africa to achieve full independence and the total elimination of racism and apartheid.

46. The Conference welcomed the Iranian Government's decision to suspend its oil sales to South Africa. It also noted with great appreciation the recent action taken by Nigeria against British Petroleum, whose oil concessions in Nigeria were nationalized for Great Britain's violation of the oil embargo against the racist regime in Rhodesia and its pledge to divert oil shipments to apartheid South Africa from the North Sea oil fields. The Conference called upon all non-aligned oil-exporting countries to prohibit the sale of their oil to South Africa and to institute and/or intensify efforts to monitor the final destination of their oil. The Conference further requested the oil-exporting countries of the Non-Aligned Movement to penalize the oil companies guilty of supplying oil to the racist apartheid regimes.

47. The Conference endorsed the request of the XVI Summit Conference of the Organization of African Unity, held in Monrovia, to the Secretary-General of the OAU and the United Nations Special Committee against Apartheid to organize an international conference in 1980 under the joint auspices of the OAU and the United Nations to mobilize world public opinion in support of effective application of economic and other sanctions against South Africa.

48. The Heads of State or Government also welcomed the decision of the Governments of Iran, Grenada and Nicaragua to sever relations with the racist, apartheid regime.

49. Recalling the decision adopted at the Fifth Summit Conference, the Heads of State or Government decided to take the appropriate measures to immediately strengthen and activate the fund of solidarity and support for southern Africa. In this regard, they urged all the non-aligned countries to contribute generously so that this fund could effectively serve the liberation of the peoples of that region, and they requested the Chairman of the non-aligned countries to take the necessary steps to ensure that the fund become operative as soon as possible.

50. The Conference concluded that southern Africa is one of the focal points of tension in international relations and the centre of confrontation between the imperialist forces of aggression and the forces of liberation, progress and peace. The so-called Defence Act recently promulgated by the Pretoria regime, under which it arrogates to itself the right to intervene in any African country south of the Equator, is part of this imperialist global strategy which constitutes a serious threat to the entire African continent and world peace.

ZIMBABWE

51. The Conference examined the development of events in Zimbabwe since the Fifth Summit Conference, held in Colombo, Sri Lanka, and observed with concern how imperialism and its local allies were persisting in consolidating their manoeuvres aimed at prolonging the existence of the racist minority regime. In this regard, it recalled that the so-called internal settlement and the subsequent bogus election of April, 1979, were a mockery of the legitimate aspirations of the people of Zimbabwe and in no way constituted the solution to the Rhodesian problem.

52. The Heads of State or Government meeting in Havana reviewed the situation in the British colony of Southern Rhodesia and reached the conclusion that it was vital to strengthen the multifaceted support of the international community, especially the non-aligned countries, for the heroic armed struggle of the people of Zimbabwe, led by the Patriotic Front, against the ignominious and illegal minority racist regime of Salisbury, which still exists in spite of attempts to deceive international public opinion and the Zimbabwean people themselves by setting up an alleged majority government.

53. The Conference noted that the armed struggle by the Patriotic Front of Zimbabwe was gaining in intensity and spreading throughout the country, even to the capital. The Conference also stressed that this battle was being waged with equal intensity on the political and diplomatic levels and that the Patriotic Front was receiving ever greater support in the international arena.

The Conference observed that, in spite of the efforts that the racist regime of Rhodesia was making to reduce the unconditional support that the popular masses were giving the fighters, the people of Zimbabwe were reinforcing that support and were resolutely joining the ranks of the liberation army.

54. The Conference reiterated that Rhodesia was still a British colony, illegally governed by a clique of racists and traitors. It requested all States to continue to refrain from any kind of recognition of the racist and illegal Muzorewa puppet regime, in accordance with the United Nations Security Council decision and the relevant resolutions of the OAU.

The Conference expressed great concern over the steps taken by the British Government and by certain elements in the United States Government and Congress with a view to recognizing the illegal regime of Southern Rhodesia and unilaterally lifting the sanctions imposed on Rhodesia by the Security Council of the United Nations. It repeated its conclusions that the installation of the puppet Muzorewa regime in Zimbabwe represented a challenge and an affront to the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and requested all its members to adopt all the individual and collective economic and diplomatic measures necessary to discourage any attempt to legitimize that regime and unilaterally lift economic sanctions.

55. The Conference noted that the Heads of Government of the Commonwealth, at their meeting in Lusaka in August 1979, rejected the so-called internal settlement in Zimbabwe and reaffirmed their total commitment to genuine majority rule and independence. It also noted that, arising from the Lusaka meeting, the British Government, as the colonial authority in Southern Rhodesia, was convening a conference on Zimbabwe in London. The Non-Aligned Conference stressed that international acceptance and recognition of the results of such a conference would be forthcoming only if it established genuine majority rule and independence to the satisfaction of the struggling people of Zimbabwe and was in conformity with OAU, non-aligned and United Nations resolutions.

56. The Conference emphasized its complete support for the Patriotic Front, that has been acclaimed by the Organization of African Unity as the sole legitimate, authentic representative of the people of Zimbabwe, in its heroic struggle for the true liberation and independence of Zimbabwe. It supported and backed the efforts of the Patriotic Front to achieve greater cohesion and unity within its ranks, as well as the decision to intensify armed struggle against the racist and illegal Muzorewa regime.

57. The Conference made an appeal to all States and peoples to increase their political, diplomatic, military and financial support for the liberation of the people of Zimbabwe and to give total support to the armed struggle under the leadership of the Patriotic Front, the sole, legitimate, authentic representative of the people of Zimbabwe.

58. In this connexion, the Conference insisted that urgent measures be taken:

(a) To support the armed struggle waged by the Patriotic Front - the only liberation movement of Zimbabwe - and co-ordinated action designed to strengthen its unity;

(b) To deny recognition or any legitimacy whatsoever to the racist minority puppet regime that massacres the people of Zimbabwe and carries out repeated attacks on States that are sovereign members of the Non-Aligned Movement. The puppets who associate with it are an integral part of the racist, illegal regime of the British colony of Southern Rhodesia, a regime that should be completely dismantled;

(c) To reject and denounce the "internal settlement" sponsored by the illegal racist minority regime of Salisbury and concluded on 3 March 1978 and the so-called government that emerged from that bogus election;

(d) To immediately prevent and condemn the recruitment, training, transportation and financing of foreign mercenaries in the service of the illegal Rhodesian regimen and to insist on their immediate withdrawal from Zimbabwean territory;

(e) To halt the direct or indirect supplying of oil and its by-products to Southern Rhodesia by certain oil companies and their subsidiaries (often with State participation) in deliberate violation of the mandatory sanctions imposed by the Security Council of the United Nations;

(f) To condemn the illegal and bogus election held by the racist regime;

(g) To promote concerted action by the non-aligned countries, especially those that are members of the Security Council, in support of the resolution adopted at the Fifteenth Summit Conference of African Heads of State, held in Khartoum in July 1978, recommending the adoption of the measures contained in Article 41 of the Charter of the United Nations;

(h) To reaffirm the relevant United Nations resolutions on Zimbabwe, especially General Assembly resolution 33/38, which condemns the continued support provided by South Africa, certain Western governments and Israel to the minority regime of Salisbury;

(i) To refuse to extend any form of recognition to the illegal regime of Rhodesia and not to allow any functionary of that regime in their territory or anybody to carry out activities to recognize the regime; and

(j) To condemn the lifting of the economic sanctions imposed by the Security Council of the United Nations against the illegal racist Rhodesian regime as an act of complicity with that regime, to which the non-aligned countries will respond appropriately.

69. The Conference urged that military and financial support for the Patriotic Front be expressed in:

(a) The supplying of equipment, financial aid and training to advance the national liberation armed struggle;

/...

(b) Support of other Patriotic Front training programmes;

(c) Support for reconstruction programmes in Zimbabwean territory under the direct control of the Patriotic Front; and

(d) Support for Zimbabwean refugees driven from their homes to neighbouring countries by the brutal barbarity of the oppressive racist regime.

60. The Conference warmly congratulated the Patriotic Front on its admission as a full member in the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, which is a clear recognition of the heroic struggle the people of Zimbabwe are waging for their independence. It voiced the belief that this unconditional support of the freedom fighters would be translated into increased political, moral and material support so they could achieve the total liberation of their country.

NAMIBIA

61. The Conference reiterated the numerous resolutions and decisions approved by the United Nations, the OAU, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and other international agencies and organizations demanding South Africa's unconditional withdrawal from Namibian territory. It reaffirmed its total support for the Namibian people's inalienable right to freedom, independence and territorial integrity and reaffirmed its unconditional support for the struggle of SWAPO, the sole legitimate representative of the Namibian people - that, using all possible means, is bound to put an end to South African domination of Namibia.

62. South Africa has scorned United Nations Security Council resolutions 385 and 435, using delaying tactics aimed at achieving its objective of imposing a puppet regime in Namibia. The Conference strongly condemned the South African racist regime for its stubborn refusal to withdraw from Namibia and for the manoeuvres that it has been carrying out with the complicity and encouragement of the imperialist Powers to continue the illegal occupation of Namibia, violate its territorial integrity, break its national unity and perpetuate the oppression and exploitatio of its people.

63. Within this framework, the Heads of State or Government, meeting in Havana, stated once again that the continued illegal occupation of Namibia by the racist regime of South Africa constitutes an aggression not only against the people of Namibia but also against all the independent and sovereign peoples and States of Africa and the world and represents a threat to international peace and security and open defiance of the decisions and resolutions of the United Nations on Namibia.

64. The Conference reiterated its support of SWAPO as the sole legitimate representative of the people of Namibia and warmly congratulated its top leadership on the occasion of its participation for the first time, as a full member, in a Summit Conference of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

It denounced South Africa for the arrest, detention and torture of SWAPO leaders and members and for other acts of violence against the people of Namibia, as a part of the actions aimed at frustrating the Namibian people's aspirations for true national liberation. It demanded that the racist regime of South Africa immediately and unconditionally free the SWAPO members and leaders.

65. The Conference resolutely backed the decisions on Namibia adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations at its thirty-first session, which denounced the South African Government's conduct in the negotiations to hold a United Nations-controlled and - supervised election in Namibia and stated that South Africa was thus attempting to exclude SWAPO and impose a puppet regime in Namibia, in violation of United Nations Security Council resolutions 385 (1976), 435 (1978) and 439 (1978)

66. The establishment by the apartheid regime of an illegal and arbitrary "National Assembly" in Namibia, with the aim of advancing toward a so-called internal solution, was vigorously denounced by the Heads of State or Government meeting in Havana. The Conference categorically declared that the non-aligned countries would not recognize or co-operate with the illegal "National Assembly," nor would they recognize any puppet regime that South Africa might set up in Namibia against the resolutions of the United Nations, the OAU and the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

67. The Conference firmly rejected and strongly denounced the manoeuvres of the South African racist regime - with the consent, accommodation and approval of international reaction and imperialism - aimed at breaking up the territorial integrity of the country by annexing Walvis Bay; legitimizing the 4 December 1978 electoral farce; and setting up in Namibia a neo-colonial regime controlled by Pretoria. These manoeuvres violate the decisions of the United Nations and should be repudiated.

68. The Conference commended the Namibian people under the leadership of SWAPO, their sole, authentic and legitimate representative, for the intensification and advancement of the armed struggle and reiterated its conviction that this form of the struggle be completely and effectively supported in order to hasten the total liberation of Namibia.

69. In view of South Africa's obstinate and illegal occupation of Namibia - with imperialist support - and its schemes to evade and hamper the decisions of the international community demanding the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of the South African colonial administration and its occupation troops, the Conference called on all countries, and especially on all the progressive and peace-loving forces, to immediately increase their material, military and financial support to SWAPO so that it could intensify the armed struggle for liberation and frustrate the imperialists' designs; remain alert to the South African racist regime's manoeuvres; and reject any new attempt by Pretoria to extend its illegal occupation, delay the attainment of real independence and undermine the efforts for achieving a just and lasting solution to the Namibian problem.

This assistance should be concentrated chiefly on political and material aid to SWAPO, especially through:

- Supplies of equipment, financial aid and training for the development of the national armed liberation struggle;

- Support for other SWAPO training programmes; and

- Support for Namibian refugees driven from their homes into neighbouring countries as a result of the criminal repression by the racist occupation forces.

70. In the light of the South African regime's defiant attitude, the Conference urged the Security Council to impose all the economic sanctions against South Africa contained in Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations and appealed to the international community to demand that the United Nations resolutions on Namibia, especially General Assembly resolutions 2145 (1966) and 2248 (SV) (1967) and Security Council resolutions 385, 431, 432, 435 and 439 be speedily and strictly implemented.

71. The Conference condemned the Western Powers allied with South Africa that supply the racist regime with war materials and support in various fields, enabling it to persist in its illegal occupation of Namibia, in open defiance of the authority of the United Nations.

72. The Heads of State or Government expressed their support for the Namibian humanitarian aid programme developed by the United Nations, the Organization of African Unity and other international organizations and condemned the wave of violent repression that the racist forces of occupation have launched against the Namibian population in reprisal for the people's increasing support of the liberation war. In this way, South Africa seeks to stifle internal opposition and force thousands of Namibians to abandon their country and find refuge in neighbouring States.

The Conference expressed its support for the United Nations Council on Namibia, the only legal administrative authority of the territory.

73. In the light of the Extraordinary Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau held in Maputo, the Conference endorsed the decision that the Non-Aligned Movement established a Special Fund for Namibia. It urged all the non-aligned countries to contribute generously to this fund so that it could effectively serve the liberation of that country.

SOUTH AFRICA

74. The Heads of State or Government, meeting in Havana, declared that the liberation struggle in South Africa has now reached a decisive stage characterized by the intensification of the political and armed struggle within South Africa and international mobilisation for the isolation of the apartheid regime and in support of South African liberation. Faced with this mounting struggle waged by the heroic South African patriots determined to put an end to the hateful apartheid system, the Pretoria regime is resorting to the most brutal repression, using criminal, fascist methods to try to undermine and destroy the unity of the struggling people of South Africa and accelerating its plans for tribal fragmentation of the country through the bantustanization programme.

75.. The Conference also declared that the imperialist Powers particularly the United States, Great Britain, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Japan, Belgium, Italy, Canada, Australia and Israel, cannot escape blame for the existence and maintenance of racist oppression and the criminal policy of apartheid, because of their political, diplomatic, economic, military, nuclear and other forms of collaboration with the Pretoria regime to deny the South African people their legitimate aspirations.

76. The Conference expressed its serious concern over and resolutely condemned the continuing economic, military and nuclear collaboration of the imperialist Powers, particularly the United States, Great Britain, France, the Federal Republic of Germany and Israel, with the racist regime of South Africa. It stressed that this co-operation had not only facilitated the establishment and consolidation of the apartheid regime's repressive and oppresive apparatus but also increased Pretoria's war potential, including its plans for nuclear development, which constitute a threat to the South African people, independent neighbouring states and international peace and security.

77. The Heads of State or Government considered that the complicity of these Powers with the apartheid regime had allowed Pretoria to defy world public opinion, contributed to its increasing intransigence and strengthened the racist regime's pretensions of being the defender of "white, Christian Western civilization" and gendarme of the "free world" in the area, with the right to intervene militarily in any African country south of the Equator.

78. The Conference declared that southern Africa as a whole constituted one single theatre of operations, in which apartheid South Africa was the central strategic issue. Freedom, peace, security and progress cannot be achieved in southern Africa unless the apartheid system of institutionalized racial discrimination, exploitation and oppression is crushed and is replaced by a democratic state whose policy will conform to the principles of the OAU, the Non-Aligned Movement and the United Nations. The Conference stressed that the problems of southern Africa could not be dealt with piecemeal, because they are inextricably interlinked politically, economically and militarily and therefore have to be tackled together.

79. The Conference condemned and resolutely rejected the racist authorities' programme of bantustanization and all other attempts at dividing the United Front of black patriots in which the Africans, the so-called Coloureds and Asians are fighting side by side. It recalled the United Nations resolutions that recognize the legitimacy of the confrontation with apartheid by all means necessary, including armed struggle, and reaffirmed its total support for the struggle the South African people, led by their national liberation movement, are waging to end the hateful system of apartheid, seize power and create a democratic state that will guarantee respect for the inalienable rights of the South African people.

80. The Conference denounced the South African authorities for intensifying the repression, especially the waves of arrests, summary trials, political murders, massacres and genocide that have been used against the people's increasing struggle. The Conference also repudiated the systematic aggression against the independent States of Angola, Botswana, Lesotho, Mozambique, Swaziland and Zambia in retaliation for the support those countries have given the freedom fighters.

81. The Conference declared that the apartheid regime's plan to set up what it calls the fortress of southern African States designed to ensure the perpetuation of plunder of the sub-continent and the exploitation of its peoples, as well as serving as a base of aggression against the entire continent, is parte of South Africa's global imperialist strategy.

82. The Conference reiterated the importance of the mandatory arms embargo imposed on South Africa by United Nations Security Council resolution 418 and called for an improved formulation of this resolution so as to close the loopholes as well as for improved Security Council machinery and procedures that will ensure strict compliance with the arms embargo.

83. The Heads of State or Government called on all the Western countries to halt all forms of collaboration with the Pretoria regime. They declared that, should such collaboration continue, it would inevitably lead to a response by the non-aligned countries in the form of appropriate individual and collective measures.

84. The Conference called on the people of those Western and other countries that collaborate with South Africa in the political, economic, military and nuclear fields to actively mobilise their resources and efforts so as to confront the apartheid system as a matter of priority.

85. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern the plans to defend imperialist interests in the South Atlantic and the Cape route and condemned those designs, in which the South African regime, together with some Latin American countries, would play an important role.

86. The Conference stressed that the apartheid regime has increased its repressive, aggressive and expansionist tendencies since the defeat of Portuguese colonialism. Not only did it continue its illegal occupation of Namibia, but it also invaded and systematically attacked the People's Republic of Angola, in an effort to prevent its consolidation as an independent State.

87. As a result of this continued aggression against the neighbouring States, the continued illegal occupation of Namibia and particularly the continued criminal policies of apartheid, the Conference urged the United Nations Security Council to impose comprehensive mandatory sanctions against the South African regime in accordance with Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations.

88. The Conference endorsed and demanded the full implementation of the appeal made to all progressive States and forces at the Extraordinary Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau in Maputo and demanded that it be fully implemented. In particular, it stressed the need:

(a) To provide political, economic, financial and military assistance to the South African national liberation movement;

(b) To support training programmes of the South African liberation movement;

(c) To contribute generously with aid programmes for South African refugees;

(d) To strongly condemn in the United Nations and all other international forums the apartheid regime's criminal policy and its programme of tribal fragmentation;

(e) To implement the OAU, non-aligned and United Nations resolutions stipulating that there be no diplomatic or other ties with the bantustans;

(f) To denounce, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 32/35, the economic, material, financial and military collaboration and the political, diplomatic and moral support that the imperialist Powers provide to South Africa.

(g) To urge all States to strictly enforce and effectively control the arms embargo against South Africa, in accordance with Security Council resolution 418;

(h) To demand strict implementation of all United Nations resolutions on South Africa;

(i) To demand a halt to all oil and fuel shipments to South Africa;

(j) To extend maximum pressures on the South African authorities to ensure that full political status is granted to all political prisoners in South Africa and those imprisoned, banned or restricted for their opposition to apartheid;

(k) To demand the immediate and unconditional release of all political prisoners; and

(l) To call for the signing and the ratification of the International Convention on the Suppression and Punishment of the Crime of Apartheid by all States which have not yet done so.

89. The Conference expressed its sympathy with the independent African States in southern Africa which could be adversely affected by the imposition of sanctions against South Africa and appealed to all non-aligned countries to assist these countries. The Conference also appealed to the non-aligned oil-producing countries to supply oil to such independent African countries as required it.

90. The Heads of State or Government approved the decision contained in the Maputo Declaration that all the non-aligned countries members of the United Nations co-ordinate and consult with all other member States so that, at its forthcoming thirty-fourth session of the General Assembly will adopt a declaration of solidarity with the South African peoples's liberation struggle which will commit all States to refrain from participating in direct or indirect military intervention in support or defence of the apartheid regime.

91. The Heads of State or Government paid homage to the heroism of the South African people and their liberation movement. Under extremely difficult conditions of the most brutal repression, these people have consistently made the necessary sacrifices to end the hateful regime of apartheid and establish a new society based on freedom, equality and full respect for human dignity.

THE FRONT-LINE STATES

92. The Conference fully considered all forms of support and assistance to the front-line States that, in spite of all kinds of difficulties, give their militant solidarity to and serve as the safe rearguard for the liberation struggle of the peoples of southern Africa. It condemned all acts of armed aggression and destabilization carried out by South Africa, Southern Rhodesia and their imperialist allies against Angola, Botswana, Mozambique, Tanzania and Zambia and reaffirmed that such actions represent an attempt by the enemy to block the support given by the front-line States to the liberation struggle. The Conference reaffirmed that the front-line States are not and will not be alone in their courageous determination to resist the racist enemy and resolutely contribute to its total defeat.

93. The Conference, therefore, called on all States to intensify their aid to these countries and implement the provisions of Security Council resolution 445 (1979), which condemned the acts of aggression of Southern Rhodesia and urged that sanctions against the illegal regime be strengthened.

94. The Heads of State or Government, meeting in Havana, agreed that political and diplomatic aid to the front-line States should be forthcoming at the United Nations and in all other international forums by openly denouncing the acts of aggression committed against them and the complicity of imperialism in those attacks, as well as its attempts to divide them and put an end to their firm support of the liberation struggle. They also agreed that financial and material support for the front-line States should be aimed at strengthening and increasing their capabilities to withstand aggression against them by the racist regimes, allowing them to implement, to the best of their ability, United Nations sanctions against those regimes and to assist the hundreds of thousands of refugees who live in these countries. This aid will also make it possible for the front-line States to promote effective measures for preserving their independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity and for ending the international support received by the racist regimes.

95. The Heads of State or Government also agreed that military aid to the front-line States should be aimed at increasing their defensive capacity, thus permitting them to confront the racist regimes' armed aggression and attempts to destabilize their economies and to promote social and economic development in an atmosphere of peace and stability.

WESTERN SAHARA

96. The Conference expressed its deep concern at the serious situation prevailing in Western Sahara because the decolonization process in this territory has not been carried to its conclusion in accordance with United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) concerning the granting of independence to colonial countries and peoples.

For this reason, it has recalled the decisions of the non-aligned countries and the United Nations and OAU resolutions on the question of Western Sahara, especially United Nations General Assembly resolution 3331 (XXXIII), which reaffirms the inalienable right of the people of Western Sahara to self-determination and independence.

97. The Conference viewed with satisfaction the recommendations of the OAU Ad Hoc Committee on Western Sahara, adopted by the Sixteenth OAU Conference of Heads of State or Government, held in Monrovia (July 1979).

Bearing in mind that these recommendations have not led to the exercise by the people of Western Sahara of their right to self-determination or to any transfer of the sovereignty of this territory, the Conference considered that the creation of the Special OAU Committee established at the Sixteenth OAU Summit Conference should provide a guarantee that the Saharawi people can exercise their right to self-determination and independence as soon as possible.

98. The Conference welcomes the agreement between the Islamic Republic of Mauritania and the POLISARIO Front, and the Islamic Republic of Mauritania's decision to withdraw its forces from Western Saharan territory. The Conference deplored the extension of the armed occupation by Morocco of the southern part of Western Sahara previously administered by Mauritania. It expressed the hope that all the parties involved will co-operate in implementing the recommendations of the OAU Ad Hoc Committee adopted in Monrovia by the Sixteenth Summit in order to arrive at a just solution to the question of Western Sahara.

MAYOTTE

99. With regard to the Comorian island of Mayotte, which continues to be illegally occupied by France, the Conference expressed its active solidarity with the people of the Comoros in their legitimate struggle to free that island and safeguard its independence, unity and territorial integrity. In this connexion, it welcomed the action taken by the Federal Islamic Republic of the Comoros to create a favourable climate for dialogue and for the opening of negotiations between the parties concerned with this question.

MALAGASY ISLANDS IN THE INDIAN OCEAN

100. In relation to the situation of the Glorieuses, Juan de Nova, Europa and Bassa de India Islands, which geographically and historically belong to Madagascar, the Conference called for the reintegration of these islands in the Democratic Republic of Madagascar, from which they were arbitrarily separated in 1960 by decree of the former metropolis.

THE SITUATION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

101. The Conference reaffirmed that the situation in the Middle East continues to pose a serious threat to world peace and security due to the increasing possibility of a new war as a result of Israel's determination to pursue its policy of aggression, expansionism and colonial settlement in the occupied territories with the support of the United States of America. This support encourages Israel, in violation of all the relevant resolutions adopted by the United Nations and the Non-Aligned Movement, in its refusal to recognize the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and to withdraw from all the occupied Arab territories.

102. The Conference therefore considered it essential to reaffirm all the principles and resolutions already adopted by the Non-Aligned Movement on the question of Palestine and the situation in the Middle East since its inception, particularly since the Israeli aggression of 1967. It reaffirmed that no just solution to the problem could be found or peace restored in the region until the following basic principles were simultaneously applied in their entirety:

(a) The Palestinian question is the crux of the problem of the Middle East and the fundamental cause of the Arab-Israeli conflict;

(b) The question of Palestine and the problem of the Middle East are an integral whole; neither can be settled in isolation from the other. In consequence, there can be no partial solution or a settlement that involves only some of the parties to the conflict, just as there can be no separate peace. Peace must be all-embracing, include all the parties, eliminate all the causes of the conflict and be just;

(c) No just peace can be established in the region unless it is based on total and unconditional withdrawal by Israel from all the occupied Palestinian and other Arab occupied territories, and the recovery by the Palestinian people of all its inalienable national rights, including its right to return to its homeland, to self-determination and to the establishment of an independent State in Palestine, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 3236 (XXIX);

(d) The city of Jerusalem is an integral part of occupied Palestine. It must be evacuated in its entirety and restored unconditionally to Arab sovereignty;

(e) The Palestine Liberation Organization is the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people. It alone possesses the right to represent the Palestinian people and is entitled to exercise the full and sovereign right to participate on an equal footing in all international conferences, activities and forums dealing with the Palestinian problem and the Arab-Israeli conflict with a view to recovering the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and to achieving a settlement of the Middle East problem. No settlement to the problem can be comprehensive, just and acceptable without the Palestine Liberation Organization participating in it as a sovereign party and on an equal footing with the other parties concerned;

(f) All measures taken by Israel in the Palestinian and Arab territories since their occupation, including all arrangements, constructions, modifications and alterations designed to transform the political, cultural, religious, physical, geographic and demographic features, are illegal and null and void; and

(g) The establishment of colonies (settlements) in the Palestinian and other Arab territories, occupied by Israel constitutes an illegal act which is null and void and is an obstacle to peace. For this reason, such colonies must be dismantled immediately and no new ones allowed to be established.

103. The Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries noted that the United States' policy in aligning itself with Israel and in supporting it in all areas, particularly in its continued occupation of the Arab territories, at the very time when the United States has opted against the Palestinian people and their inalienable rights, plays a major role in preventing the establishment of a just and comprehensive peace in the region. Far from working for peace, the United States is trying instead to obtain partial solutions that are favourable to Zionist aims and underwrite the gains of Israeli aggression at the expense of the Palestinian Arab people and the entire Arab nation. For this reason, the Conference condemned United States' policies and manoevres in the region.

104. The Conference affirmed that any departure from the resolutions of the conferences of the non-aligned countries on the Middle East problem and the question of Palestine undermines the struggle for the liberation of the occupied Arab territories and the realization of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and is prejudicial to the unity of the Non-Aligned Movement in its fight against colonialism, occupation, racism and Zionism. Such departure also runs counter to the determination of the non-aligned countries to put an end to the occupation of the Palestinian and Arab territories and to assist the Palestinian people to achieve its inalienable national rights.

105. The Conference reaffirmed that the Non-Aligned Movement considers the cause of Palestine and of the Arab territories occupied since 1967 as the cause of all the non-aligned countries.

106. The Conference endorsed the right of the Palestine Liberation Organization and of the Arab States to reject and oppose any solution or settlement detrimental to the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and the liberation of all the occupied Arab territories and to foil them through all possible means.

107. The Conference condemned energetically all the partial agreements and separate treaties which constitute a flagrant violation of the rights of the Arab nation and of the Palestinian people, of the principles of the Charters of the OAU and the United Nations and of forums the resolutions adopted in different international on the question of Palestine, which impede the aspirations of the Palestinian people to return to their homeland, to achieve self-determination and to exercise full sovereignty over their territories.

108. Bearing in mind that the Camp David Agreements and the Egypt-Israel Treaty of 26 March, 1979 constitute a partial agreement and a separate treaty that mean total abandonment of the cause of the Arab countries and an act of complicity with the continued occupation of the Arab territories and violate the inalienable rights of the people of Palestine, the Conference condemned the Camp David Agreements and the Treaty between Egypt and Israel.

109. Within this context, the Heads of State or Government considered the proposal that the Government of Egypt be suspended as a member of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries for having violated its principles and resolutions. The Conference decided to entrust the Co-ordinating Bureau, acting as an ad hoc committee, with the examination of the damage caused to the Arab countries, particularly the Palestinian Arab people, by the conduct of the Egyptian Government in signing the Camp David Agreements and the Egyptian-Israeli Separate Peace Treaty. The ad hoc committee will report on this matter to the Ministerial Conference to be held in New Delhi, which will take a decision regarding the status of Egypt in the Movement.

110. The Conference vigorously denounced Israel's exploitation of the natural resources of Palestine and the occupied Arab territories and its violation of the Hague and Geneva Conventions and called upon all States to take the necessary measures to prevent any co-operation with Israel which might enable it to continue its illegal exploitation of those resources or obtain illicit profits from such exploitation.

111. The Conference condemned Israel's persistent violation of the fundamental rights and freedoms of the inhabitants of the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories. It likewise condemned Israel's persistent policy of colonization and expulsion of the indigenous Arab population; its alteration of the physical, cultural, religious and demographic features of the occupied territories; the destruction of Arab homes; and the confiscation of Arab property in violation of the Fourth Geneva Convention (1949). The Conference also condemned Israel's refusal to receive or co-operate with the commission established by Security Council resolution 446 (1979) to investigate the situation relating to settlements in the occupied Arab territories, including Jerusalem, and its rejection of Security Council resolution 452 (1979).

112. The Conference recalled the resolutions adopted by the United Nations and reaffirmed the resolutions of the non-aligned conferences which determined that Zionism is a form of racism and racial discrimination.

113. The Conference denounced the position adopted by certain States, notably the United States of America, which continue to supply Israel with advanced weaponry and various forms of aid for the development of an arms industry in Israel.

The Conference expressed its deep concern at the escalation of Israeli military strength in both conventional and nuclear weapons, with the aim of establishing Israel as a colonialist and racist base in the third world in general and Asia and Africa in particular, thus posing a threat to world peace and security.

114. The Conference called for the implementation of resolution 33/33 adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its thirty-third session concerning military co-operation with Israel.

115. The Conference condemned the co-operation existing between Israel and the racist regime of South Africa for the development of Israel's arms industry so that it can supply advanced weapons to repressive and racist regimes and to be used by the United States of America to use Israel as an intermediary for that purpose.

116. For the sake of safeguarding international peace and security, and in particular to put an end to Israeli aggression against Lebanon, the Conference appealed to all member countries to call upon the United Nations Security Council to take the necessary enforcement measures against Israel, in accordance with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations, especially those set forth in Chapter VII.

117. The Conference affirmed its support for the unity of Lebanon, its land and its people and its independence and sovereignty and strongly condemned Israel's raids and continued aggression in southern Lebanon, its failure to withdraw from parts of Lebanese territory; and its continued and repeatedted attacks against Lebanon, particularly against peaceful towns and villages in the south, using the most advanced aircraft and weapons supplied by the United States of America; killing thousands of innocent people, including women, children and the elderly; and destroying towns, villages and the economic structure of the area; and causing the exodus of hundres of thousands of innocent civilians from their homes in the area.

118. The Conference condemned Israel's attempt to consolidate its occupation of parts of southern Lebanon through its agents, thus disrupting the unity of Lebanon and its people and undermining its sovereignty over all its territory. The Conference further condemned all acts which constitute a violation of the Charter of the United Nations as well as the resolutions adopted by the Security Council.

119. The Conference called upon all States to support the people of Lebanon, who are being subjected to savage Zionist attacks, and appealed to them to exert efforts by all means to put an end to those attacks and to ensure respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of Lebanon.

120. The Conference called upon the Security Council to implement all resolutions relating to this question, particularly resolutions 425, 426 and 450, and to take the measures against Israel prescribed in Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations.

The Conference further called on all member States of the Non-Aligned Movement to support the Lebanese position in all international organizations, particularly at the United Nations.

121. The Conference strongly condemned the action taken by the imperialist States, in particular the United States of America, to increase and consolidate their military presence in the region. It further condemned threats made by the United States of America to use force against the Arab countries, in particular the oil-producing countries.

The Conference also denounced threats and pressures against other countries which support the just Palestinian and Arab cause.

122. The Conference commended the active solidarity shown by other peace-, freedom-, and justice-loving, democratic and progressive States, forces and organizations which support the struggle of the Palestinian people and the Arab nation. It invited those States, forces and organizations to intensify their political, diplomatic and material support for the Palestinian people and the Arab countries in their efforts to recover all their national rights and all the occupied Arab territories.

THE QUESTION OF PALESTINE

123. The Conference reaffirmed that the Zionist occupation, and the usurpation of Palestine and of the rights of its people are the core of the Middle East conflict and consequently rendered any solution to that conflict impossible without the exercise by the Palestinian people of its inalienable national rights, including the right to return, to attain self-determination and to establish an independent Palestinian State in Palestine.

124. The Conference recalled that the United Nations General Assembly in its resolution 33/28 declared that the validity of agreements purporting to solve the problem of Palestine required that they be within the framework of the United Nations and its Charter and resolutions on the basis of the full attainment and exercise of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, including the right of return and the right to national independence and sovereignty in Palestine, and with the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization. The Conference declared all agreements which did not meet the said requirements as null and void; invited all member States to continue to support the Palestinian people's right to pursue its struggle by all means, including armed struggle, against the Zionist occupation of Palestine, until the recovery by the Palestinian people of its inalienable national rights; and invited all members to intensify their efforts within the United Nations and its specialized agencies in compliance with General Assembly resolutions, in particular resolution 3236 (XXIX).

125. The Conference noted with deep concern that, since the Camp David Agreements among Egypt, Israel and the United States, Israel has intensified the implementation of its policy by confiscating Palestinian lands in occupied territory, establishing Zionist settlements and installing new military posts, in addition to annexing Jerusalem and turning it into a Jewish city; it condemned Israel and demanded the halting of that policy, the immediate dismantling of existing settlements and the restoration of the Arab character of Jerusalem, in compliance with Security Council resolution 452 (1979).

126. The Conference affirmed that the restoration of Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty is an indispensable condition for a durable peace. Israel should be compelled to adhere to the relevant resolutions of the United Nations Security Council regarding Jerusalem and the Holy Places. The Conference appealed to members of the Non-Aligned Movement to take firm measures, including severance of diplomatic and economic relations, with countries which formally or by implication recognized the city of Jerusalem as the capital of Israel.

127. The Conference expressed its concern at the escalation of the barbaric attacks on Southern Lebanon and the Palestinian refugee camps in Lebanon, which have been increasing in scope since the Camp David Agreements and the Egyptian-Israeli treaty. This aggression, carried out by land, sea and air, is tantamount to genocide of the Palestinian and Lebanese peoples, with Israel using the most sophisticated weapons supplied by the United States of America, thereby sowing death and destruction, and causing the flight of hundreds of thousands of Lebanese and Palestinian civilians, including large numbers of women and children.

128. The Conference denounced the Zionist and racist policy pursued by Israel, which is stubbornly continuing to ignore the decisions of the international community and maintaining its military occupation, engaging in terror and brutal oppression against the Palestinian people, thereby demonstrating its racist, expansionist, aggressive and discriminatory nature. That policy is a challenge to world opinion and a flagrant violation of the principles of the United Nations and its resolutions and of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

129. The Conference stressed the need for concrete solidarity in every form - political, cultural and informational and in respect of programmes for military aid to the Palestinian people, led by the Palestine Liberation Organization - so as to develop the struggle for the liberation of its homeland and also called for the adoption of all measures to ensure further international recognition of the Palestine Liberation Organisation as the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people.

130. The Conference invited the Security Council to meet its responsabilities by imposing on Israel the sanctions provided for in Chapter VII of the Charter. The Heads of State or Government participating in the Conference affirmed their commitment, in concert with all peace-loving States and forces, to the adoption of all measures, within the United Nations and in particular in the Security Council, to confront the continuing challenge by Israel. These measures should include the application of all necessary sanctions against Israel, as well as a mandatory and total embargo and its exclusion from the international community. It is essential, also, to study the political, diplomatic and economic measures to be taken against countries that support the Zionist racist regime.

131. The Conference expressed its appreciation for the work of the United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People and its positive contribution to the search for a just solution to the Palestinian problem. The Conference also reaffirmed its support for the decisions and proposals of the Committee and called upon it to consider the situation as it developed and to make further appropriate recommendations.

132. The Conference expressed its regret that the Security Council has not yet taken any decision concerning the General Assembly recommendations providing for the free exercise by the Palestinian people of its inalienable rights. It reiterated its request to the Security Council to study these recommendations and adopt them.

133. The Conference condemned the threat by the United States to use the veto in the Security Council against any resolution concerning the implementation of the Palestinian people's inalienable national rights. In the face of that threat, which was calculated to obstruct Security Council action, the Conference decided that an emergency special session of the United Nations General Assembly should be convened, should the Security Council fail to act because of lack of unanimity among the permanent members of the Council. It entrusted the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York, acting in co-ordination with the United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People, to call for such an emergency special session at the appropriate time. With that in mind, the Conference again stressed the threat to world peace and security should the Security Council fail to meet its obligations under the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations.

THE SITUATION IN SOUTH-EAST ASIA

134. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern the rising tensions and conflicts that have occurred recently in South-East Asia which jeopardize peace and stability in the region.

135. The Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the earnest aspirations of the countries of the region for peace and stability would be realized on the basis of the non-aligned principles of respect for sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity, non-interference in internal affairs, non-use of force and non-aggression.

136. The Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the countries in South-East Asia would continue the consultations on the establishment of a zone of peace, freedom and neutrality in South-East Asia.

137. The Heads of State or Government noted the results of the recent General Meeting on Refugees and Displaced Persons in South-East Asia and the undertaking by all parties concerned to co-operate in implementing the understanding reached at that meeting.

138. They also noted the understanding reached between the Government of Viet Nam and UNHCR for the orderly departure of refugees from Viet Nam. They expressed satisfaction that there has been a marked decrease in the number of illegal departures and hoped that every effort will be made to stop illegal departures in the future.

IRAN

139. The Conference warmly saluted the Iranian people's historic victory, which, following long years of heroic struggle against one of the most merciless and repressive regimes mankind has ever known - imperialism's bastion in the Middle East - is of great encouragement to all the peoples of the world.

140. The Conference welcomed the suspension of oil shipments to and the ending of all ties - including diplomatic relations - with the Israeli and South African regimes and recognition of the Palestinian people's struggle and of the Palestine Liberation Organization as their sole legitimate representative.

141. The Conference welcomed with satisfaction the participation of Iran in the Movement and declared its firm support for the Iranian people in their confrontation of the conspiracies that have been mounted against the Iranian revolution.

It also welcomed the withdrawal of Iran and Pakistan from CENTO and the announcement that bilateral military treaties would be reviewed.

THE INDIAN OCEAN AS A ZONE OF PEACE

142. The Conference recalled that the non-aligned nations, which at their Lusaka Summit Conference first called upon all States to consider and respect the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace, have since then consistently extended their unanimous support to the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, as contained in its resolution 2832 (XXVI) of 16 December 1971, which sought to protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of the States of the region and to bring about the elimination from the Indian Ocean of foreign bases, military installations, logistical supply facilities, the disposition of nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction and to free the region from rivalries and competition for influence among the great Powers - which have led to an increase in their military presence and threatened the peace and stability of the area.

143. The Conference reaffirmed the determination of the non-aligned States to continue to endeavour towards the attainment of the objectives embodied in the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace and reiterated its conviction that the presence in the Indian Ocean and its natural extensions of foreign bases, military installations and logistical supply facilities, nuclear weapons, weapons of mass destruction and any manifestation of great Power military presence, conceived in the context of great Power rivalries, constitutes a flagrant violation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

144. The Conference reviewed the evolution of the situation in the Indian Ocean since the Colombo Conference and expressed its deep concern at recent developments that have resulted in further intensification of great Power military presence and rivalry, thereby leading to the deterioration of peace and security in the Indian Ocean area, hindering the struggle to free the region from foreign domination and seriously threatening the inalienable right of the littoral and hinterland States to freely dispose of their natural wealth and resources. Despite the expressed wishes of the littoral and hinterland States, there are indications that, instead of decreasing their military presence, the great Powers intend to escalate their competition in the area and are stationing military and naval forces there on a permanent basis. These developments hinder the struggle of the liberation movements to eliminate colonialism, racism, and apartheid. These unfortunate developments constitute a distinct setback to the relaxation of international tensions and contribute to the intensification of the arms race between the great Powers. Consequently, contrary to the principles of peaceful co-existence, the great Powers continue to seek and enlarge their respective spheres of influence.

145. The Conference, convinced of the desirability of strengthening the concept of the zone of peace in the Indian Ocean through a system of universal collective security without military alliances, called upon the littoral and hinterland States to refrain from participating in military alliances or pacts and, in that connexion, expressed satisfaction that certain littoral and hinterland States have withdrawn from membership in military alliances and pacts conceived in the context of great Power rivalries, thus contributing to the peace and security of the region.

146. The Conference denounced the existence of the Simonstown and Silvermine military bases in South Africa, the Advokaat project and South Africa's stepped up military activity in the area, one of whose aims is surveillance of the African national liberation movements, and condemned also the close military co-operation between Pretoria, Israel and certain Western Powers in the region.

147. The Conference urged the dismantling of foreign military bases and installations which are or may be endangering the sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of the States in the area or which are being used to block the exercise of the inalienable right to self-determination of the peoples under colonial and alien domination in this part of the world.

148. The Conference reaffirmed the right of all States to use the Indian Ocean for navigation and other peaceful uses, freely and without hindrance, in conformity with international law and custom, provided no threats are posed to the independence, sovereignty or territorial integrity of the littoral and hinterland States.

149. The Conference noted that talks were initiated between the Soviet Union and the United States regarding their military presence in the Indian Ocean and that the two countries have kept the United Nations Ad Hoc Committee on the Indian Ocean informed of the current situation concerning their talks. The Conference further noted that these bilateral talks were limited in scope and were not primarily designed to and did not fully meet the objectives of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace. In this regard, the Conference expressed its regret over the suspension of these bilateral talks and the failure to resume them despite the recent agreement between the two parties to meet promptly to discuss the resumption of the talks. The Conference urged that the talks be resumed at the earliest possible date and expressed the hope that these talks would fully meet the objectives of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

150. The Conference welcomed the recent holding of the meeting of the littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean as a significant step forward in the process of implementing the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace, noted that it was instrumental in providing an opportunity for the further harmonizing of the common position to be taken by the littoral and hinterland States and endorsed the results of the meeting. It welcomed the meeting's recommendation to the General Assembly to fix the date and venue of the conference on the Indian Ocean as called for in United Nations General Assembly resolution 33/68 and to entrust the Ad Hoc Committee on the Indian Ocean, which should be expanded for this purpose, to undertake the preparatory work for the conference, including consideration of appropriate arrangements for any international agreement that may be ultimately reached for the maintenance of the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace as referred to in resolution 2832 (XXVI). The Conference also commended the meeting's request to the General Assembly to invite the Permanent Members of the Security Council and major maritime users of the Indian Ocean who have not yet done so to serve on the expanded Ad Hoc Committee in order to facilitate preparations for the Conference.

151. The Conference invited all States concerned, and in particular the great Powers and the other major maritime users of the Indian Ocean, to extend their full co-operation in the context of those and other recommendations of the meeting, with a view to effectively implementing the objectives of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

KOREA

152. The Conference noted with concern that, in spite of the Korean people's desire for the peaceful reunification of their homeland, Korea remains divided and the tense situation there represents a potential threat to peace. The Heads of State or Government expressed their rejection of all attempts to divide Korea in two as being contrary to the desires of the Korean people.

153. The Heads of State or Government greeted with satisfaction the Korean people's efforts to achieve independence and the peaceful reunification of their country, free of all foreign interference, on the basis of the three principles of independence, peaceful unification and great national unity, established in the Joint North-South Declaration of 4 July 1972.

154. The Conference invited all countries to respect the Korean people's right to peaceful reunification and expressed the hope that the fulfillment of that desire would be advanced by the withdrawal of all foreign troops from South Korea, the dissolving of the United Nations Command, the dismantling of all foreign military bases and other foreign military installations and the replacement of the armistice with a lasting peace agreement that takes into account the interests of all the Korean people and the free expression of their will.

EAST TIMOR

155.The Conference affirmed the right of the people of East Timor to self-determination, in accord with the resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council.

LATIN AMERICAN ISSUES

156. The Heads of State or Government recalled the already long struggle of the peoples of Latin American for their independence and sovereignty and noted with satisfaction their determination to pursue a non-aligned policy and to struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism and all forms of foreign domination, hegemony and interference in the internal affairs of States.

In this regard, the Heads of State or Government urged all States to show the strictest respect for the principles of self-determination, non-intervention and territorial integrity in Latin-America and reiterated their unconditional support for the right of the peoples of this region to effect changes in the political, economic and social structures of their countries, to regain the control and free use of their natural resources and to work for the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

157. The Heads of State or Government noted that Latin America is one of the regions of the world that historically has greatly suffered from the aggression of United States' and European imperialism colonialism and neo-colonialism. Accordingly, the holding of the Sixth Summit Conference of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries for the first time in Latin America constitutes recognition of the growing influence of the Movement in this region and confirms the Latin American peoples' anti-colonialist, anti-neo-colonialist and anti-imperialist struggle for the sovereignty and full independence of States and against the policies of hegemony and domination.

158. The Heads of State or Government also expressed their conviction that the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries would continue to grow stronger in this part of the world and, in this connexion, pointed with satisfaction to the fact that four Latin American and Caribbean countries - Bolivia, Grenada, Nicaragua and Suriname - had joined the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries as full members undconsidered that this step was an important contribution to the efforts the countries of the region were making to strengthen an independent course free from all pressure and interference in their foreign policies, and expressed their hope that more Latin American members would soon join the Movement. They also recognized the importance of the incorporation of three more Latin American States - Costa Rica, Dominica and Saint Lucia - into the Movement as observers, bringing the number of Latin American members and observers in he Non-Aligned Movement up to twenty one.

159. The Conference condemned the presence of foreign military bases in Latin America and the Caribbean, such as those in Cuba and Puerto Rico, as a threat to the peace and security of the region, and again demanded that the Government of the United States of America and the other colonial Powers restore to those countries the inalienable part of their territories occupied against the will of their peoples and eliminate those bases.

160. The Conference expressed the conviction that colonialism in all its forms and manifestations must be eradicated from the Caribbean area and to that end called on all States, especially the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, on the basis of the principle of the inalienable right of all peoples to self-determination and independence, to support the just demands of the peoples of the Caribbean that still remain under colonial domination and dependence for freedom and independence. In that connexion, the Conference, cognizant of its adherence to the principles of independence and sovereignty of States, expressed its support for the anti-colonial struggle of the peoples of Puerto Rico and Belize. It noted with regret that Guadeloupe, Martinique and French Guiana were still not self-governing. If drew the attention of the Special Committee on Decolonization of the United Nations to those territories and called upon it to consider their situation in the light of United Nations General Assembly Resolution 1514 (XV).

161. The Heads of State or Government condemned the manoeuvres to establish neo-colonial mechanisms in the Caribbean and rejected any attempt to create a so-called "security force" in the region which would perpetuate the presence of the colonial Powers, thereby endangering its peace and security.

162. The Heads of State or Government there reiterated their solidarity with the struggle of the Puerto Rican people and with their inalienable right to self-determination, independence and territorial integrity; they requested that the implementation of resolution 1514 (XV) of the United Nations General Assembly be stepped up and urged the members of the Movement to make all appropriate efforts to speed up the process of decolonization of the Puerto Rican people.

163. The Conference called on the United States Government to refrain from any political or repressive manoeuvres that tend to perpetuate the colonial status of Puerto Rico, insisted on full compliance with the resolution on Puerto Rico adopted by the United Nations Committee on Decolonization at its meeting on 12 September 1978 and reiterated by it on 15 August 1979, and demanded the transfer of powers to the people of the territory so they can freely determine their future political status.

164. The Conference expressed its satisfaction at the unconditioned liberation of the four Puerto Rican political personalities, Lolita Lebrón, Rafael Cancel, Oscar Collazo and Irving Flores who were imprisoned in United States territory for more than 25 years.

It also expressed its support for the Puerto Ricans who face prison sentences because of their resistance to the United States Navy's occupation of the island municipality of Vieques and demanded that the Government of the United States cease this repressive action.

165. The Conference reiterated its unconditional support for the Belizean people's inalienable right to self-determination, independence and territorial integrity; condemned all pressure or threats to prevent full exercise of that right; and supported the Belizean Government and people's right to make the agreements they consider necessary to effectively counteract this threat.

166. The Heads of State or Government demanded full implementation of the resolutions on this question adopted at the thirty-second and thirty-third sessions of the United Nations General Assembly.

167. The Conference also exhorted all States, and especially the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, to support Belize's speedy progress towards immediate and secure independence, with strict respect for its sovereignty and territorial integrity.

168. In the special and particular case of the Malvinas Islands, the Heads of State or Government firmly reiterated their support for the Argentine Republic's right to the restitution of that territory and sovereignty over it and requested that the negotiations in this regard be speeded up.

169. The Heads of State or Government recalled that, ever since its First Summit Conference, in each of its conferences, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has supported the Cuban people's right to choose their political and social system and their claim to the territory occupied by the naval base at Guantánamo and has condemned the unjust blockade that the United States has imposed on the Cuban Revolution. In view of the continued existence of that situation, the Conference ratified the Movement's denunciation of the hostile acts, pressures and threats against Cuba by the United States, in flagrant violation of the United Nations Charter and the principles of international law and which threaten world peace.

170. The Heads of State or Government also reaffirmed their strong denunciation of the blockade by which the United States Government continues its efforts to isolate and destroy the Cuban Revolution and demanded that it be immediately and unconditionally lifted. They also recognized that the Cuban people have suffered considerable material losses due to the blockade and all types of imperialist aggression and that due compensation must be made.

171. The Conference renewed its total solidarity with Cuba's just demand that the United States return the naval base and territory that it illegally occupies in Guantánamo against the will of the Cuban people and insisted on compliance with that demand.

172. The Conference welcomed the fact that the Panama Canal Treaties of 1977, known as the Torrijos-Carter Treaties, concluded between the Republic of Panama and the United States of America, which must ensure Panama's effective sovereignty through out its national territory, will enter into force on 1 October 1979.

On that date the port of Balboa in the Pacific Ocean and the port of Cristobal in the Atlantic Ocean, at both entrances of the Canal, will be returned to Panamanian control and the Transisthmian Railroad will be transferred to Panama, thus starting the process of restoration to the Panamanian State of its jurisdiction over its entire national territory.

The Heads of State or Government also showed concern over the implementation of the Torrijos-Carter Treaties by the United States, and therefore expressed their wish that these treaties be respected both in the letter and the spirit by the United States Government. The Conference decided further to call upon all States of the international community to adhere to the Protocol of the Treaty Concerning the Permanent Neutrality of the Panama Canal bearing in mind the sovereignty of Panama and the universal principle of non-intervention in the internal affairs of States.

173. The Conference welcomed the decision by Grenada under its new Government to join the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, which represents a benefit for the interests of that people, and stressed its positive effect within the regional political context and the framework of the peoples' liberation struggle in other parts of the world.

174. The Heads of State or Government denounced the attempts to destabilize Grenada, directly or indirectly promoted by the forces of imperialism and colonialism, and urged the member countries of the Movement and all other States to actively and firmly help the Government of Grenada to defend its natinal sovereignty and independence and counteract any hostile acts against it.

175. After reviewing the decision adopted at the Fifth Summit Conference in Colombo urging that attention be given to the situation in Chile and that solidarity with the Chilean people be stepped up, the Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that the democratic forces in Chile have intensified their struggle, and they emphasized firm solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries with the cause of the Chilean people.

They call for strict implementation of the resolutions on the situation in Chile adopted at the thirty-second and thirty-third sessions of the United Nations General Assembly; at the thirty-fifth session of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights; and by ILO, UNESCO and other United Nations bodies and specialized agencies.

176. The Heads of State or Government also stressed the importance of all States - especially the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries - adopting measures to ensure the speedy restoration of democratic rights in Chile. On the eve of another anniersary of the death of Salvador Allende, Chile's constitutional President, the Conference paid homage to his noble and praiseworthy efforts to guide his country toward a new destiny by defending its national sovereignty, recovering control over its natural resources, improving the people's general well-being, following an independent foreign policy and joining the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries as a full member - efforts that were frustrated by the United States Government's intervention in the internal affairs of that country.

177. The Heads of State or Government greeted with satisfaction the victory of the Nicaraguan people and their vanguard, the Sandinist National Liberation Front (FSLN), over the Somoza dictatorship, the product of imperialist intervention and imposition, and emphasized the enormous historic significance of this event for the peoples of the Americas and the rest of the world that are struggling to obtain their true and definitive independence. The participants in the Conference welcomed Nicaragua's entry in the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

178. The Conference acknowledged the outstanding contribution of the Governments of Panama, Costa Rica and Mexico, as well as the member countries of the subregional Andean Pact - Bolivia, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Venezuela - which acted in solidarity and unity in achieving a just solution to the Nicaraguan problem and which in the same way are contributing to the process of Nicaragua's reconstruction.

179. It also acknowledged Cuba's traditional solidarity with the cause of the Nicaraguan people and the support which, to the same end, has been given by other countries of the Caribbean, Latin America and other parts of the world.

180 The Conference urged all members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and other States throughout the world to offer political and economic support to the Nicaraguan Government of National Reconstruction in its task of rebuilding the country, affirming its independence and sovereignty and constructing its future in line with the interests of the Nicaraguan people.

181. The Conference also commended the international agencies - mainly those of the United Nations system - on carrying out emergency projects of aid to Nicaragua and urged that such projects be intensified and increased. The Conference welcomed the decision of the Latin American Economic System (SELA) to promote international co-operation for the reconstruction of Nicaragua. The Conference expressed its profound concern over the manoeuvres that are going on abroad against the Nicaraguan revolutionary process and are directed by the most reactionary and aggressive of the deposed Somoza's supporters, promoted by imperialism, and it warned of the need to maintain close international vigilance over machinations directed against the long-suffering and heroic Nicaraguan people.

182. The Heads of State or Government, meeting in Havana, gave their backing to the Republic of Bolivia's just and legitimate claim to recover its outlet to the Pacific Ocean with full sovereignty and invited the member States of the international community to declare their solidarity with this inalienable right of the Bolivian people. They also reaffirmed that constructive and fruitful security and peace in America demand a solution to the problem and accordingly supported all efforts to achieve that noble aim and the peaceful procedures set forth in the Charter of the United Nations.

183. The Heads of State or Government expressed their satisfaction at the admission of the Republic of Bolivia to membership in the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, noting that that country had been an observer since the foundation of the Movement in 1961. They also welcomed the fact that this coincided with the reintroduction of the democratic and constitutional process whereby the Bolivian people regained their rights and freedoms. The Conference stressed the importance in the regional context of Bolivian measures for strengthening the cause of democracy and called on the members of the Movement to maintain their support and solidarity for the consolidation of the democratic process in Bolivia.

184. In spite of the fact that, ever since the Second Summit Conference, held in Cairo in 1964, the Heads of State or Government have called on all countries to break all their ties with the racist regime of South Africa, the Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government confirmed with great concern and energetically denounced the existence of growing political, economic and military links between South Africa and some Latin American Governments, especially Paraguay and Chile, in contradiction to the non-aligned countries' policy, one of whose main objectives has been and is the total boycott of the fascist clique of Pretoria.

The Conference denounced the imperialist manoeuvres and attempts to link southern Africa and some Latin American States in order to protect imperialist interests in the South Atlantic.

185. The Conference attested to the fact that the ties between Israel and some Latin American countries, including Guatemala and El Salvador, have been extended and stepped up; denounced this situation - which, in practice, constitutes support for the Zionist State's expansionist and aggressive policy - and expressed its solidarity with those Central American peoples that are subjected to repression and violence. It also condemned the interventionist manoeuvres of imperialism and its neocolonial agents in the area.

186. The Heads of State or Government recalled that the Latin American countries have played an important part in the multilateral negotiations on the establishment of more equitable international economic relations, encouraged important initiatives concerning disarmament and control of armaments and adopted or strengthened measures to use their territorial and maritime wealth for the benefit of their peoples.

They also recalled the long battle of the people of the region for independence and sovereignty and for more effective participation in more democratic international relations.

On the occasion of the Sixth Summit Conference, taking place for the first time in Latin America, the Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that an even greater number of countries of the region would participate in the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and that the people of the area would advance and develop through continued co-operation in peace, independence and justice.

187. The Conference of Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the statement made in Havana, on the occasion of the Sixth Summit Conference, by the countries of the Andean Group, expressing full support for the essential principles on which the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries is based; proclaiming their conviction that strengthening and developing those principles constitutes an effective contribution to the maintenance of peace, security and international social justice;and affirming that non-alignment is an independent and distinct contribution to the political and economic democratization of the international system.

CONFERENCE ON SECURITY AND CO-OPERATION IN EUROPE

188. The Conference welcomed the efforts of the European countries to strengthen their relations and to establish equitable co-operation that will contribute to transcend divisions between blocs and military pacts, thus reducing international tension, in accordance with the principles of the Final Act of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe, held in Helsinki, and the conclusions of the Belgrade meeting.

189. The Conference expressed the hope that the lasting orientation of all the participating States to ensure the follow-up to the process of strengthening security and co-operation in Europe will be fully expressed at the forthcoming meeting in Madrid. The Conference noted with satisfaction the fruitful and useful co-operation achieved between the non-aligned and neutral countries of Europe, which have exerted joint efforts towards the promotion of these ends.

190. The Conference stressed the need for intensification of current efforts to be continued most energetically in order to achieve positive results in the negotiations on the Mutual Balanced Force Reduction and create a more stable situation in Europe at the lower level of military potential and undiminished security and independence of all States, particularly those outside military alliances.

191. The consolidation of détente and security in Europe can only be lasting if it is extended to other regions, thus contributing to solving such world problems as disarmament, the eradication of colonialism, the development of all countries, the elimination of conflicts and hotbeds of crisis and other factors to help end military blocs and pacts.

THE MEDITERRANEAN

192. The Conference, after recalling the interrelationship between security in Europe and in the Mediterranean, welcomed the positive contribution made by the non-aligned countries of the region at the different stages of the Conference on European Security and Co-operation and stressed the need for full account to be taken of the Mediterranean aspect of the Conference, particularly at the meeting to be held in Madrid in 1980, through the effective participation of all the non-aligned countries concerned and the full implementation of the declaration on the Mediterranean. It pointed to the need to exert renewed efforts towards the elimination of the causes of tension and finding of just and lasting solutions to the conflicts and crises in that area.

193. The Conference ratified the decisions of the Fifth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries on making the Mediterranean a zone of peace and co-operation and urged all States to co-operate in applying this decision, on the basis of the principles of respect for each State's sovereignty and territorial integrity, the peoples' right to make their own decisions, non-intervention and non-interference in internal affairs and equal rights.

194. The Conference requested all States to co-operate in implementing these decisions and the relevant resolutions of the United Nations to eliminate the causes of tension in the Mediterranean and, above all, to achieve a just solution to the Palestinian question, the Middle East crisis and the Cyprus question.

195. The Conference expressed its concern over the increase in tensions in the Mediterranean region as a result of Israel's constant policy of aggression and the support the imperialist Powers give that country, which fortifies military bases and increases tensions in the area.

196. The Conference stressed the need to strengthen co-operation among Mediterranean countries already initiated through the meeting held in Valletta in February 1979. In this connexion the Conference recommended that a meeting be called during 1980 between the Mediterranean States of the Non-Aligned Movement and the Mediterranean States participating in the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe to launch projects of co-operation and to prepare for the Madrid meeting of the Conference.

CYPRUS

197. The Conference reaffirmed its solidarity with and full support for the people and the Government of the Republic of Cyprus, a founding member of the Non-Aligned Movement, and demanded the immediate implementation of the United Nations resolutions on the question of Cyprus, especially resolution 3212 (XXIX), unanimously adopted by the General Assembly and endorsed by the Security Council in resolution 365 (1974).

198. The Conference expressed its support for the ten-point agreement reached in Nicosia on 19 May 1979 between the President of the Republic of Cyprus, Mr. Kyprianou, and the leader of the Turkish Cypriot community, Mr. Denktas, under the auspices of the United Nations Secretary-General and called for the immediate resumption of the talks between the representatives of the two Cypriot communities, in a meaningful, result-oriented and constructive manner, to be conducted without any foreign interference and on an equal footing, on the basis of the above-mentioned agreement and in accordance with the principles and resolutions of the United Nations and the Non-Aligned Movement, with a view to reaching a mutually acceptable agreement.

199. The Heads of State or Government deplored the fact that part of Cyprus still remains under foreign occupation; called on all States to strictly respect the sovereignty, independence, territorial integrity, unity and non-alignment of the Republic of Cyprus; and demanded the cessation of all foreign interference in its internal affairs as well as the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of all foreign armed forces and every other military presence from the Republic of Cyprus.

200. The Conference deplored the arbitrary and unilateral measures and actions taken in the occupied part of Cyprus designed to change the centuries-old demographic character of Cyprus. At the same time, it indicated that the de facto situation brought about by such actions and the force of arms should not be allowed to influence the solution of the problem. In this regard, the Conference urged that effective and immediate measures be taken to guarantee respect for the human rights of all Cypriots and the safe return of all refugees to their homes, as well as tracing and accounting for those who are missing.

201. The Conference reaffirmed the right of the Republic of Cyprus and its people to full and effective sovereignty and control over the occupied area of Cyprus and its natural and other resources and called upon all States to support and help the Government of Cyprus to exercise the above-mentioned rights.

202. The Conference reaffirmed its support for the United Nations resolutions on the question of Cyprus and felt that the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council should consider taking all appropriate and practical measures provided for under the Charter of the United Nations to ensure speedy and effective implementation on their resolutions on Cyprus.

203. The Conference reaffirmed the declarations adopted so far by the non-aligned gatherings on the question of Cyprus and in particular the Belgrade Declaration of 1978.

204. The proposal of the President of the Republic of Cyprus for the total demilitarization and disarmament of Cyprus was welcomed as a significant contribution to the search for a solution to the Cyprus problem, and the Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the necessary steps will be taken for the realization of this proposal.

205. The Conference noted the constructive role that the Contact Group of the non-aligned countries continues to play, particularly at the United Nations, and the renewal of the invitation from the Government of the Republic of Cyprus to the Contact Group to visit the Republic for an on-the-spot assessment of the situation, should developments warrant it.

MALTA

206. The Conference saluted Malta's worthy action in eliminating foreign military bases from its territory, effective as of 31 March 1979, in full exercise of its sovereignty, and pledged the support of the non-aligned countries to Malta.

The withdrawal of military bases from Malta is a victory for the Non-Aligned Movement as a whole and a long-range contribution to the establishment of a zone of security, peace and co-operation in the Mediterranean.

Therefore, the Conference recommended to member States from whom Malta has requested economic, financial and political guarantees, in order to preserve its sovereignty and non-aligned status after 31 March 1979, to take the necessary decisions without further delay and to provide such guarantees as are being requested so that Malta's political independence and its continued commitment to peace and stability in the Mediterranean will be assured.

ACTIVE PEACEFUL COEXISTENCE, DETENTE AND INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

207. The principles of peaceful coexistence should be the cornerstone of international relations. These principles of peaceful coexistence that have been staunchly upheld by the non-aligned countries since the First Summit Conference constitute the basis for the strengthening of international peace and security, the relaxation of tensions and the extension of that process to all regions of the world and to all aspects of international relations, with the participation of all countries on the basis of equality in the solution of all international problems. Active peaceful coexistence remains the sole option of mankind faced with the danger of general military confrontation and the policy of force. The principles of active peaceful coexistence should be universally applied in relations among all States, irrespective of their size or socio-economic system. In this regard the Conference called on all Governments to implement them strictly and to adhere to them in their mutual relations and in their international activity in general.

208. The Conference considered that the application of these principles, which inter alia include the rights of peoples under alien and colonial domination to self-determination and independence, the sovereignty and territorial integrity of States and the right of each country to ensure the termination of foreign occupation and of the acquisition of territory by force and to choose its own socio-economic and political system, must be the basis for all international relations. The policy of active peaceful coexistence is an indivisible whole, and it must not be implemented subject to particular, narrow interests or criteria of an ideological or any other nature. The principles of active peaceful coexistence and the principles of non-alignment constitute the basis of global détente, establishment of the New International Economic Order, peace, independence and equal security for all peoples and countries. The non-aligned countries should consistently exert joint efforts and take concerted action, within the United Nations and outside, towards the realization of these principles and the implementation of decisions based on them.

209. The Heads of State or Government stated their conviction that the strengthening of the struggle for the peoples' liberation from imperialism; colonialism; neo-colonialism; racism including Zionism; apartheid; exploitation; and all forms of foreign occupation, interference, intervention, domination and hegemony was a contribution to strengthening world peace and security. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the legitimate right of peoples to use armed struggle in their fight for national liberation.

210. The Conference expressed the need to strive to find ways to establish equal, real and lasting security for all States without exception and once more stressed the fact that the struggle for this security forms part of the effort to modify unequal international political and economic relations and presupposes the solution of the world's basic problems.

211. The Conference insisted that peace and security could not be achieved as long as the arms race continue and military alliances are strengthened, and it stressed the importance of dismantling foreign military bases and dissolving military blocs. It reaffirmed the positions of the Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries that the easing of international tensions cannot be based on the policy of balance of force, spheres of influence, rivalry between power blocs, military alliances and the accumulation of armaments, particularly nuclear weapons, and that the relaxation of tension cannot be fully ensured without the active participation of non-aligned countries in vital decisions affecting world peace and security on the basis of equality.

212. Welcoming and supporting the positive results achieved in the process of relaxation of tensions in the world, the Conference pointed with great concern to the fact that in the period after the Fifth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries there was a certain stagnation in the process of détente which continues to be limited both in scope and geographically. The Conference issued an appeal for a global reduction of international tension, the benefits of which should be extended to all regions of the world.

213. The Conference considered that, in order to strengthen détente and make it an irreversible process in favour of a just, lasting and universal peace, it must entail, inter alia, the halting and reversing of the arms race, particularly the nuclear arms race, and the adoption of concrete measures leading to general and complete disarmament.

214. The Conference stressed the need to consolidate international peace and security and reaffirmed its resolute determination to strengthen solidarity and mutual assistance among the non-aligned countries in order to confront imperialism; colonialism; alien domination and foreign occupation; racism including Zionism; and the threats, pressure, aggression and all other economic or political measures directed against them.

215. The Conference issued an appeal to all States to fully apply the principle of refraining from the use of force in international relations, in order to create a climate favourable to world peace and security. In this regard, it welcomed the creation within the United Nations of a committee for negotiating a draft treaty on refraining from the use of force in international relations and expressed its hope that this work would be successfully concluded in the shortest possible time.

The Conference noted that the proposed treaty should reaffirm the right of States to defend themselves and to use force for the purpose of liberating their occupied territories, and the right of peoples under alien and colonial domination to struggle for self-determination and against colonialism and apartheid. The Conference stressed that the non-recognition of situations created by the use of force in contravention of the Charter of the United Nations is central to frustrating the designs of the aggressor.

216. The Conference deplored the fact that the policy of dividing the world into spheres of influence - which has been used for centuries by the colonial powers and has caused so much damage to mankind - was still being pursued by some powers to try to frustrate the true independence of countries, particularly of the recently emancipated countries, and to foster relations of subordination and dependency; to exploit the natural resources of the peoples of Africa, Asia and Latin America; and to frustrate final victory of the national liberation movements. The Conference rejected the international order based on spheres of influence as being inconsistent with the aspirations towards true independence of peoples and sovereignty of States and the democratization of international relations. The Conference reiterated the readiness of the non-aligned countries to act persistently for the implementation of the provisions of the "Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security" and decided that they will undertake an appropriate initiative during the thirty-fifth regular session of the United Nations General Assembly to this end.

DISARMAMENT

217. The Conference reaffirmed the adherence of non-aligned countries to the objective of general and complete disarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament, under effective international control and their determination to act within the United Nations and other bodies to achieve this objective. It drew attention once again to the fact that the Final Document of the tenth special session of the United Nations General Assembly on disarmament, convened at the initiative of the non-aligned countries, represents a solid basis for setting in motion the process of real disarmament, relieving mankind from the horrors of war and eliminating the increasing threats to human survival.

218. In this context, the Conference called for the urgent implementation, within a specific time frame, of the Programme of Action, particularly of the nuclear disarmament measures, contained in the Final Document of the special session. The Conference called for the immediate cessation of the qualitative improvement of nuclear weapons and their means of delivery, a halt in the production of fissionable material for weapons purposes and of all nuclear weapons, and the reduction of nuclear weapons stockpiles leading to their elimination. Pending the elimination of nuclear weapons, the nuclear-weapon States are called upon to renounce the threat or use of nuclear weapons and to cease the testing of nuclear weapons.

219. The Conference noted with concern the continuation of the arms race, mainly by the nuclear-weapon States, in particular the nuclear arms race and the development, manufacture and increased stockpiling of weapons of mass destruction. The Conference recognized, as was noted at the First Summit Conference in Belgrade, the special role and responsibility of the great Powers in halting and reversing the arms race and expressed its confidence that peace and security on a lasting basis could only be ensured by halting this process and through immediate and resolute implementation of disarmament measures with a view to achieving general and complete disarmament.

The Conference declared that the most effective assurance of security against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons is nuclear disarmament and prohibition of the use of nuclear weapons. The nuclear-weapon States must refrain from any activity in the nuclear field which would jeopardize the security and well-being of the peoples of non-nuclear-weapon States. The Conference noted with satisfaction that proposals on this subject have been submitted in the Committee on Disarmament and that there is no objection in principle in the Committee to an international convention to assure non-nuclear-weapon States against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons. The Conference welcomed the establishment of a Working Group to negotiate such a convention. The Conference recommended that negotiations should be continued at the next session of the Committee on Disarmament to elaborate a convention on this subject.

220. The Conference reaffirmed the central role and the increased importance of the United Nations in the realization of the objectives of general and complete disarmament. The Conference noted with satisfaction that non-aligned countries have played an increasingly active role in the machinery created at the tenth special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament. In this connexion, the Conference attributed a particular importance to the work of the United Nations Disarmament Commission for the preparation of a comprehensive programme on disarmament. It also attached great importance to and underlined the responsibility of the Committee on Disarmament, which has been reconstituted at the initiative of non-aligned countries on a more democratic basis, to facilitate the successful conclusion of the negotiations on disarmament. While reviewing the work of the Committee on Disarmament, the Conference expressed its regret over the fact that the trilateral negotiations between the Soviet Union, the United States of America and the United Kingdom have not so far led to a treaty on the comprehensive ban of nuclear weapons testing. The Conference called for the urgent conclusion of such a treaty, along with a treaty on the prohibition of the development, production and stockpiling of all chemical weapons and their destruction, and of other weapons of mass destruction.

The Conference called upon all non-aligned countries to take an active part and contribute to the work of the United Nations Disarmament Commission and the Committee on Disarmament and to co-ordinate their efforts in these bodies.

221. The Conference affirmed that the establishment of nuclear-weapon-free zones on the basis of arrangements freely arrived at among the States of the region concerned constitutes an important disarmament measure.

The progress of establishing such zones in different parts of the world should be encouraged with the ultimate objective of achieving a world entirely free of nuclear weapons. In the process of establishing such zones, the characteristics of each region should be taken into account. The States participating in such zones should undertake to comply fully with all the objectives, purposes and principles of the agreements or arrangements establishing the zones, thus ensuring that they are genuinely free from nuclear weapons.

With respect to such zones, the nuclear-weapon States in turn are called upon to give undertakings:

(a) To respect strictly the status of the nuclear-weapon-free zone and

(b) To refrain from the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons against the States of the zone.

The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern that certain nuclear-weapon States have deployed or intend to deploy nuclear weapons in various regions of the world.

222. The Conference welcomed the signing of the agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States of America on the limitation of strategic nuclear weapons. The Conference noted with regret, however, that the agreement fell short of the expectations of the international community. It expressed the hope that the Soviet Union and the United States of America would urgently conclude a new agreement which would lead to genuine disarmament measures, particularly in the field of nuclear disarmament.

223. The Conference welcomed the decision to hold a second special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament in 1982 and called upon the non-aligned countries to take an active part in the preparation of that session in order to ensure the best results. It supported the proposal to call for a world disarmament conference at the appropriate time with universal participation and adequate preparation.

224. The Conference called upon all States, particularly the big military Powers, participants in the United Nations conference on the prohibition or restriction of the use of certain conventional weapons which may be deemed excessively injurious or to have indiscriminate effects, to be held in Geneva this year, to conclude agreements on the prohibition or restriction of the use of certain conventional weapons as well as an agreement on the appropriate mechanism for periodical revision of such agreements and consideration of new agreements of this type.

225. The Conference noted that the arms race is incompatible with and contrary to the efforts directed to the establishment of the New International Economic Order. It underscored again that increasing material and human potentials were being wasted through investment in armaments, which considerably diminishes the availability of resources indispensable for development. The Conference again urged the immediate reduction of expenditures for armaments, especially by the nuclear-weapon States and their allies, and called for concrete measures of disarmament the implementation of which would progressively enable a significant portion of the resources so diverted to be used for social and economic needs, particularly those of developing countries.

226. The Conference also examined and welcomed the proposal, submitted to the United Nations General Assembly at its thirty-third session, that the 1980s be proclaimed the Second Disarmament Decade. It appealed to the members of the Non-Aligned Movement to support this initiative and to spare no efforts in order to ensure the maximum possible success in the implementation of the programme within the framework of the Second D sarmament Decade.

THE USE OF NUCLEAR ENERGY FOR PEACEFUL PURPOSES

227. Recalling the resolution of the Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, the decisions taken at subsequent ministerial meetings and the pertinent resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly, the Conference stressed the exceptional importance of international co-operation among the non-aligned and other developing countries in the field of peaceful use of nuclear energy. This co-operation is of special significance in fields where these countries can achieve a greater degree of self-sufficiency.

228. The Conference affirmed the inalienable right of all States to apply and develop their programmes for the peaceful uses of nuclear energy for economic and social development in conformity with their priorities, interests and needs. It deplored the pressures and threats against developing countries aimed at preventing them from pursuing their programmes for the development of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

229. All States should have unhindered access to and be free to acquire technology, equipment and materials on a non-discriminatory basis for peaceful uses of nuclear energy, taking into account the particular needs of the developing countries.

230. It expressed its concern in this respect, regarding the obstacles which the developed countries place in the way of transfers of technologies related to the peaceful uses of atomic energy by fixing financial and other conditions which are incompatible with the national sovereignty of developing countries and with the criteria of financial viability.

231. Each country's choices and decisions in the field of the peaceful uses of nuclear energy should be respected without jeopardizing the respective fuel cycle policies or international co-operation, agreements and contracts for the peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

232. The Conference stressed the need for observance of the principles of non-discrimination and free access to nuclear technology and reaffirmed the right of each country to develop programmes for the use of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes in conformity with their own freely determined priorities and needs.

Noting that concern for non-proliferation should not be used as a pretext to prevent States from exercising the right to acquire and develop peaceful nuclear technology, the Conference expressed its concern at the monopolistic policies of nuclear supplier countries restricting and limiting the transfer of technology and imposing conditions which are incompatible with the sovereignty and independence of the developing countries. It called for full observance of the principles above mentioned, for the utilization of nuclear technology for peaceful purposes, which have been endorsed unanimously by the United Nations General Assembly.

233. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the efforts of non-aligned and other developing countries in drawing up and adopting programmes for joint action within the United Nations and other international bodies to co-ordinate their action in them and to promote nuclear co-operation. Consequently, they supported the idea of convening an international conference on the use of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes in accordance with resolution 32/50 of the United Nations General Assembly.

THE UNITED NATIONS

234. The Conference recognized the importance of the United Nations as an effective instrument for promoting international peace and security and for the solution of all important international problems. It also stressed the great importance of the United Nations in the implementation of the principles and objectives of the policy of non-alignment and action programmes of the non-aligned countries, in achieving general and complete disarmament; in developing co-operation and establishing equitable economic relations among States; in struggling against colonialism, racism including Zionism, racial discrimination and apartheid; and in promoting human rights and basic freedoms. It stressed the increased importance of the United Nations in the efforts to achieve international economic development and establish equitable economic relations among countries. It reaffirmed the non-aligned countries' adherence to the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations.

235. The non-aligned countries noted with satisfaction the progress the United Nations had made toward achieving universality by admitting such countries as Angola, Viet Nam, Seychelles, Djibouti, Grenada, Saint Lucia, Dominica, Mozambique, Cape Verde, Sao Tomé and Principe and Guinea-Bissau since the Colombo Summit Conference.

236. The Conference emphasized that the United Nations, as a vital forum of the international community, should be utilized to the fullest extent possible in finding solutions to controversial issues, as well as kept regularly informed about negotiations conducted among States on issues affecting the interests of other States and the international community at large and it should not be bypassed in the conduct of negotiations affecting the world as a whole.

237. The Conference noted with satisfaction the growing strength and decisive role the non-aligned countries were playing in the United Nations and reiterated the Non-Aligned Movement's decision to continue working to promote and achieve the principles and purposes set forth in the Charter. The Conference also urged that the provisions of the Charter concerning the maintenance of international peace and security should be fully implemented and that the functions of the General Assembly and the Security Council should be effectively discharged and their decisions implemented.

238. The Conference supported the work of the Special Enlarged Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and the strengthening of the role of the organization and called on the non-aligned countries to co-ordinate their viewpoints and positions in order to continue to play an active role in the decision-making process and to make significant progress within that Committee toward democratizing international relations and rapidly finalizing the amendments related to the Charter, particularly those referring to the right of veto, in order to safeguard the interests and aspirations of the peoples of the world and thus contribute to a better adaptation of the United Nations system to new realities on the basis of respect for the sovereignty and equality of States. It emphasized the need to adjust the structures and reorient the policies of the economic and social bodies of the United Nations in order to speed the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

To this effect it called upon the Security Council to fulfill its duties more effectively, to review its method of work and to consider appropriate steps for its more active involvement in direct negotiations aimed at solving the most acute international crisis. At the same time, the Conference called upon the permanent members of the Security Council to refrain from misusing their right of veto.

239. The Conference recommended to the member countries that, in order to strengthen the representation of the non-aligned countries in the main bodies of the United Nations, especially in the Security Council and the International Court of Justice, and also keeping the principle of geographic rotation in mind, they give preference to the candidacies of the non-aligned countries and thus strengthen the unity of the Movement and increase its ability to act.

240. The Conference reaffirmed the primary role of the United Nations in the maintenance of international peace and security, emphasized the need for constant action on the part of non-aligned countries to make efforts for increasing the United Nations' role and effectiveness, and accordingly decided that the non-aligned countries should make every effort to ensure that they act in a united, consistent and dynamic manner within the United Nations.

241. The Conference welcomed the celebration in 1979 of the International Year of the Child, proclaimed by the United Nations in view of the growing poverty, hunger, squalor, illiteracy and mortality suffered by millions of children under 10 in the developing countries, and it expressed its hope that this proclamation would serve to promote improvement and increase the life expectancy for this important sector of the population.

242. The Conference supported the agreements adopted by the Conference of Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries on Women's Integration, held in Baghdad in May 1979, within the framework of the United Nations Decade for Women. It also welcomed the convening of the United Nations World Conference in 1980 on the Decade for Women: Equality, Development and Peace, with the sub-theme of employment, health and education.

243. The Conference reaffirmed its support for the International Year for Disabled Persons in 1981. It expressed the hope that the non-aligned countries would participate in an effective and suitable manner in celebrating that International Year so as to achieve the set objectives.

244. The Conference supported the candidacy of His Excellency Salim A. Salim, Permanent Representative of the United Republic of Tanzania in the United Nations, as President of the thirty-fourth session of the General Assembly and called on all member countries of the Movement to give him their support in successfully carrying out his task.

INTERFERENCE AND INTERVENTION IN THE INTERNAL AFFAIRS OF STATES

245. The Conference reaffirmed the adherence of non-aligned countries to the principle of non-intervention and non-interference in the internal and external affairs of States, which has been one of the basic principles of non-alignment.

It insisted that violation of this principle was totally unacceptable, unjustifiable under any circumstances and incompatible with the obligations assumed by the United Nations members under the Charter of the United Nations.

246. The Conference recognized that political, economic, military, mass media and other means of foreign interference, deliberately designed to cause disturbances and destabilization, threatened the stability, territorial integrity, independence and sovereignty of the non-aligned countries and of the peoples fighting for their self-determination and independence and constituted a serious threat to international peace and security.

In this regard, it pointed out that such actions of interference and intervention were promoted by imperialism and other forms of subjugation and exploitation, not only through their official mechanisms but also through their political, economic and financial institutions, including transnational corporations and mass media used on a world scale to preserve and protect their interests and influence.

247. The Conference considered the ever more numerous violations of the principle of non-interference registered in recent years in the form of infiltrations, subversion, flagrant acts of aggression, foreign military intervention and open provocation, to which should be added the more subtle forms of destabilization. These include the subtle manipulation, instigation and exploitation, by foreign pressure groups and lobbies for their own ends, of local and expatriate groups from non-aligned countries whose actions affect the unity and territorial integrity of these countries.

In the most recent period, Angola, Zambia, Mozambique and Botswana have been victims of direct aggression and infiltrations. Recalling that it had expressed solidarity with Guyana and Jamaica during attempts to destabilize those Governments, the Conference denounced recent attempts at destabilization organized abroad and directed against Grenada. In this regard, the Conference reaffirmed the sovereign and inalienable right of all States to determine the political, economic and social systems they wished to adopt; to administer their internal affairs; to develop their relations with other States freely; and to be assured of the means of defense they may require in case of aggression or of serious foreign intervention.

248. The Conference noted that considerable progress has been made in the decolonization process, although the colonialist and expansionist Powers have never ceased their efforts to undermine the true independence of the new States and to impose new forms of subordination and dependency.

249. The Heads of State or Government viewed with concern the fact that interference in the internal affairs of States is becoming one of the chief forms of aggression against the non-aligned countries. It is of paramount importance that the non-aligned countries, most of which acquired independence from colonial rule in recent years, should not be hindered by any form of outside intervention or interference from pursuing policies aimed at national integration and reconstruction. They solemnly proclaimed their determination to energetically reject any attempt to weaken the Movement's unity and independence of judgment or to threaten its solidarity.

250. The Conference expressed the view that the non-aligned countries should act even more resolutely against threats; attacks; and acts of pressure, domination, subversion and interference in their internal affairs and reaffirmed the need for the non-aligned countries to respond to these problems with courage and solidarity.

251. The Conference strongly condemned all attempts to prevent or restrict the exercise of the sovereign rights of States over their territorial waters.

252. The Conference denounced the revival of the practice of hiring mercenaries to undermine the independence of sovereign States; counteract the process of national liberation; and perpetuate oppression and colonial neo-colonial and racist exploitation.

In this regard, it urged all States to enact effective legislation making the recruitment, financing and training of mercenaries in their territory punishable by law, prohibiting mercenaries from traveling through their territory, forbidding their own citizens from serving as mercenaries and punishing their own citizens when they participate in or collaborate with such activities in any way.

253. The Conference took note of the conclusions of the Week of Solidarity with Peoples in Struggle and the International Conference on Mercenary Soldiers, held in Cotonou, the People's Republic of Benin, from 9 to 16 January 1978. The Conference considered the action so far taken on this matter by the United Nations General Assembly and, in the conviction that the observance of the principle of non-interference would be significantly advanced by a declaration on non-intervention and non-interference in the internal affairs of States, called on all States, in particular the non-aligned States, to work for the early adoption of such a declaration by the General Assembly. It expressed the hope that the non-aligned countries would give their immediate attention to the pursuit of this objective.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AND RACISM

254. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that racism including Zionism, racial discrimination and especially apartheid constitute crimes against humanity and represent violations of the Charter of the United Nations and of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

255. The Conference reiterated its support for the November 1973 United Nations Declaration on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination, which states that all doctrines concerning racial differentiation or superiority are scientifically false, morally censurable and socially unjust.

256. The Heads of State or Government called on the States that had not yet subscribed to the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination and the Convention on the Repression and Punishment of the Crime of Apartheid to subscribe to them, for this would tend to strengthen the struggle against racism, Zionism, racial discrimination and apartheid.

257. The Conference expressed its support for the Declaration and Action Programme adopted by the World Conference against Racism and Racial Discrimination, held in Geneva in 1978, which reaffirmed that Zionism was one of the manifestations of racism and racial discrimination.

It also recalled that that Conference had denounced the discrimination to which migrant workers and national minorities were subjected.

258. The Heads of State or Government called on all States to co-operate in order to implement the objectives proclaimed for the Decade of Struggle against Racism and Racial Discrimination and to contribute to its success, in line with the programme established by the United Nations to eliminate racism, racial discrimination and apartheid.

259. The Conference reiterated its condemnation of the practice of racism and racial discrimination by the racist regimes of South Africa, Rhodesia and Israel and denounced the increase in the military, political and economic collaboration among them, which constitutes a grave danger for the international community.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE RIGHTS OF PEOPLES

260. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their pledge to respect and advance individual human rights as well as the rights of peoples in accordance with the principles of the Charter of the United Nations and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

The Conference condemned the massive and systematic violation of the most elementary rights of millions upon millions of human beings who live under colonial or racist domination or who are suffering from the consequences of underdevelopment and economic and social exploitation.

261. The Conference declared that the question of human rights could not be isolated from its national, economic and social context; that personal freedom was inseparable from the peoples' rights; that human rights and the basic freedoms of individuals and peoples were inalienable; and that, to fully guarantee human rights and complete personal dignity, it was necessary to guarantee the right to work, education, health, proper nourishment and the satisfaction in general of basic needs. These aims form part of the struggle for a change in unjust, unequal international relations.

262. The Conference called on the United Nations to continue working towards ensuring human rights in a comprehensive manner to ensure the dignity of human beings. In this regard it reaffirmed its willingness to work actively for the implementation of the steps outlined in United Nations resolution 32/130 in the form which it prescribes, through the existing structures of the United Nations system. The Conference cautioned against the exploitation of human rights issues by the great Powers as a political instrument in the confrontation of social systems and for purposes of interference in the internal affairs of sovereign States.

263. The Conference deeply deplored the exploitation for political purposes of the right of individuals to leave their country, such as the implementation of the Zionist programme of uprooting Jewish communities from the countries of their origin in order to resettle them in Israel and in the Jewish colonies being illegally established in the occupied Palestinian and other Arab territories. The Conference affirmed that the right to return, stated in the very same paragraph as the right to leave in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, is equally basic and important, especially when a whole nation of refugees, such as the Palestinians, is denied the right to return to its land.

264. The Heads of State or Government demanded the strictest respect for the rights of national, ethnic and religious minorities, which should be especially protected against the crimes of genocide and other violations of basic human rights. They also demanded that the protection of such rights be applied without any discrimination and, in this regard, recalled those who, for economic or social reasons, have emigrated from their countries in search of work.

265. The Conference demounced colonialism, Zionism, apartheid, racial discrimination, foreign occupation and state terrorism as the most extensive forms of violations of human rights and emphasized the inseparability of economic, social, cultural, civic and political rights.

It emphasized the need to create conditions at the national and international levels for the full development and protection of the human rights of persons and peoples.

266. The Conference considered that the following steps were essential for the full realization of human rights:

(a) All human rights and fundamental freedoms are inalienable, indivisible and interdependent; equal and urgent consideration should be given both to civil rights and to political, economic, social and cultural rights;

(b) The right to development and to equal opportunity to obtain it, which is a prerogative both of nations and of individuals who constitute them;

(c) The absolute necessity under all circumstances to eliminate massive and flagrant violations of human rights and of the rights of peoples and individuals;

(d) The establishment of the New International Economic Order for effective promotion of human rights and fundamental freedoms; and

(e) The necessity to examine the questions of human rights as a whole, keeping in mind the general context of various societies in which they exist and the need to promote the full dignity of human beings and the development and well-being of society.

267. The Heads of State or Government emphasized once again the need to create conditions on the national and international level for the full promotion and protection of the human rights of individuals and peoples.

CULTURAL HERITAGE

268. The Conference reiterated its denunciation and total rejection of the policy of the former metropolises, which, in spite of repeated decisions adopted by such specialized international agencies as UNESCO, use the ties established during the colonial period to continue their systematic looting and plunder of works of art and items which are part of the cultural heritage of the countries of Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean. The Conference demanded that all States that have pursued such a policy of plunder return to their countries of origin the works of art and other cultural items they have appropriated.

269. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their determination to ensure that their co-ordinated efforts toward forging new international relations among countries would serve to promote the preservation of the cultural values and identities of the respective member countries. They underlined the urgency of the matter, bearing in mind the importance of cultural development, which, along with the progress in the economic and social fields, should contribute to the improvement of living conditions and the well-being of nations and people in the process of establishing a new international economic order, as envisaged in the Declaration and the Programme of Action on the establishment of a new international economic order, adopted during the sixth special session of the United Nations General Assembly, in the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States and in the Declaration on Social Progress and Development. They noted with concern that, in this age of ultra-modern technology, the penetration of deleterious cultural values which accompany the vastly increasing flow of communication from outside the non-aligned countries, if not properly checked and sorted out, could in the long run jeopardize the cultural values and cultural identities of the non-aligned countries as the recipient countries in this context. Mindful of the significance of the concept that, in the final analysis, the ultimate objective of the Non-Aligned Movement is to bring about the improvement of the quality of the lives of the peoples in each and every member country in the sense of what is described above, the Heads of State or Government welcomed with appreciation the work of UNESCO in promoting the cause of the preservation and further development of cultural values and in assisting the -operation between States in this respect.

270. They further called upon the non-aligned countries to assist, in whatever way possible, UNESCO to continue its activities in this field, and, in particular, with reference to resolution 33/49 of the United Nations General Assembly, to:

(a) Collect information relevant to the preservation and further development of cultural values and carry out interdisciplinary research on the role and place of cultural values in contemporary society;

(b). Encourage the international exchange of information on modern methods used in the preservation and development of cultural values;

(c) Promote and assist international co-operation among States and relevant international organizations, aiming at the preservation and further development of cultural values; and

(d) Include, on a continuing basis, the problem of the preservation and further development of cultural values in its medium-term and long-term plans.

271. The Conference welcomed the convention adopted by UNESCO at its sixteenth meeting on 14 November 1970; recalled the provisions of the resolution adopted at the seventh Islamic Foreign Ministers Conference in Istanbul; and reaffirmed its support of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 3187 (XXVIII) and 3391 (XXX) concerning the restitution of works of art and manuscripts to their countries of origin.

272. The Conference also considered that, in line with the principle of the territoriality of archives, the public documents and archives of colonial or former colonial countries are an integral part of the national heritage of those countries and must therefore revert to them by right.

CO-OPERATION IN THE FIELD OF CULTURE, SCIENCE AND EDUCATION

273. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries accentuated the great importance of co-operation in the field of culture, science and education; better cultural acquaintance; and the exchange and enrichment of national cultures for the benefit of over-all social development and progress, for full national emancipation and independence, for greater understanding among the peoples and for peace in the world. In order to be successful and produce results, methods and forms of co-operation in the field of science and culture should emanate from the cultural policy of each country and its plans for social and economic development; reflect national needs and capabilities; and, in order to serve as a medium for mutual acquaintance, enrichment and dissemination of knowledge, enhance the unity of forces and material and intellectual potentials essential to a more rapid development.

274. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries expressed full support for the intensification of all forms of bilateral and multilateral cultural co-operation among non-aligned and developing countries in keeping with the outlined premise, stressing the need for the elaboration and formulation of concrete proposals and action programmes in this field.

275. To this end, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries entrusted the Group of Non-Aligned Countries in New York with the task of studying actual requirements, exploring all possibilities for co-operation and informing the Conference of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of Non-Aligned Countries, to be held in New Delhi in 1981, thereon.

THE PEACEFUL SOLUTION OF DISPUTES BETWEEN MEMBER COUNTRIES OF THE NON-ALIGNED MOVEMENT

276. The Conference reiterated the non-aligned countries' adhesion to the principles of the use of peaceful means to solve such conflicts as may arise among them - and, as a result, of refraining in their international relations from resorting to the threat or use of force against the national sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence of any of the countries, so as to avoid having their conduct endanger international peace and security.

277. The Conference called upon all non-aligned countries to abide by the obligation to solve such conflicts as may arise among them exclusively by peaceful means; through negotiations, mediation, good offices and other measures provided for in the Charter of the United Nations and the recommendations of non-aligned conferences. In this connexion, the Conference noted the working paper circulated by Sri Lanka regarding a commission for the settlement of border disputes within the Non-Aligned Movement and commended it to members for serious and careful consideration as a possible contribution to the peaceful settlement of disputes among members.

278. The Conference expressed the advantage and need of having the Movement contribute to prevent and avoid military confrontations between member countries and especially urged the non-aligned countries to co-operate effectively, either individually or collectively, to find peaceful solutions to the conflicts which all parties may submit to it.

279. The Conference took note of the valuable resolution submitted by the delegations of Bangladesh, Iraq and Yugoslavia and invited those countries and other interested delegations to carry out further consultations on that matter.

CO-OPERATION IN THE FIELD OF INFORMATION AND MASS COMMUNICATION MEDIA

280. The Conference noted with satisfaction the significant results achieved in the development of co-operation in the field of information and mass communication media among non-aligned countries and the successful implementation of the recommendations and decisions adopted at the Fourth and Fifth Summit Conferences.

281. The Conference noted with gratification the fact that non-aligned and other developing countries have made notable progress along the path of emancipation and development of national information media and stressed that the co-operation in the field of information is an integral part of the struggle of non-aligned and other developing countries for the creation of new international relations in general and a new international information order in particular. Relying upon their own forces, and on the basis of solidarity and mutual assistance, non-aligned countries have been undertaking significant steps towards the development of national information media and mass communication systems with the aim of greater emancipation and affirmation of national information sources, as well as the realization of active participation in mutual communication and co-operation on a broader international plane.

282. The Conference considered that the building up of national information media and mass communication systems; affirmation of national information sources concerning issues of relevance for social, economic and cultural development of each country and each people and their joint action on the international levels; training of domestic personnel, independently and with the help of other non-aligned countries and the international community through the United Nations and its specialized agencies; and the development of technical and technological bases were essential preconditions for the establishment of a new international order in the field of information and for setting up a multi-dimensional flow of information.

283. The Conference adopted with gratification the resolution on the co-operation and activities of the non-aligned countries in the field of information which was adopted by the Inter-Governmental Co-ordinating Council for Information at its third meeting in Lome, Togo (April 1979). As a document of the Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, this resolution defines the principles of co-operation among the non-aligned and other developing countries in the field of information as well as the perspectives and the programme of action for this co-operation.

284. The Conference also noted with satisfaction the reports submitted by:

(a) Tunisia in its capacity as Chairman of the International Co-ordinating Council in the Field of Information;

(b) India in its capacity as Chairman of the Co-ordinating Committee of the Pool of News Agencies of Non-Aligned Countries; and

(c) Yugoslavia in its capacity as Chairman of the Committee for Co-operation of Radio Broadcasting Organizations of Non-Aligned Countries.

285. The Conference adopted the recommendations contained in the above-mentioned reports and observed with satisfaction that an ever-increasing number of non-aligned countries are taking part in the successful application of action programmes of co-operation and undertaking specific activities and new actions. Concerning planned activities, the Conference called upon all member States to take active part in their realization and, within their possibilities, to work in a concrete manner towards the achievement of their common objectives. The Conference also called upon the Governments of non-aligned countries to accept and implement, as soon as possible, the recommendations contained in these reports, particularly those related to the improvement of infrastructure of communications, lowering of rates for the transmission of information and personnel training.

286. The Conference noted with satisfaction that important results have been achieved in the development and activities of the Pool of News Agencies of Non-Aligned Countries, which, as the broadest form of free exchange of information through new agencies, has contributed to improving the flow of information among non-aligned and other developing countries and to a more rapid development of national information media.

Taking note of the important recommendations of the Co-ordinating Committee of the Pool of News Agencies adopted at the meetings in Cairo (1977), Jakarta (1978) and Kinshasa (1979), the Conference welcomed the holding of the Second Conference of the Pool of News Agencies and Representatives of Governments of Non-Aligned Countries, to be held in Yugoslavia in November 1979.

287. The Conference stressed in particular the decisions of the Co-ordinating Committee of the Pool of News Agencies and the Committee on Co-operation of Radio Broadcasting Organizations of Non-Aligned Countries concerning the following: creating favourable conditions for the provision of technical facilities and the transfer of technology in accordance with national development policies and the granting of facilities when determining national and international rates, broadcasts and loans, and co-operation with international organizations; reducing the high rates for telecommunications at the national and international levels as part of the struggle against the unfair privileges enjoyed by the news institutions of most industrialized countries; and stimulating news flows among non-aligned and developing countries. The Conference recommended that the member countries of the Non-Aligned Movement endorse those decisions the implementation of which is significant from the development point of view and constitutes a basic condition for the elimination of the imbalance in the exchange of information.

288. The Conference noted with satisfaction the results achieved in the development of co-operation in the field of radio broadcasting and the efforts which have been invested in the implementation of the Action Programme of Co-operation adopted at the First Conference of Radio Broadcasting Organizations of Non-Aligned Countries in Sarajevo in 1977. The Conference took note of the recommendations of the Committee on Co-operation of Radio Broadcasting Organizations of Non-Aligned Countries adopted at the meetings in Baghdad (1978), Arusha (1979) and Algiers (1979), which are particularly related to the need for the development and strengthening of infrastructure in the field of radio broadcasting at the national level and the rendering of assistance to less developed countries' personnel training, as well as a more comprehensive exchange of radio and television programmes. The results obtained in this area of co-operation are contributing in a most comprehensive manner to the spreading and assertion of the national cultural heritage, the development of systems of education, scientific research, the preservation of national identity and further emancipation and constitute a part of the overall activities of non-aligned countries aimed at the establishment of a new and more just and equitable international information order.

289. The Conference called upon the broadcasting organizations of non-aligned countries to take the necessary joint and co-ordinated action in international forums concerning issues of common concern, so as to improve the situation in this sphere in favour of non-aligned and other developing countries.

290. The Conference particularly welcomed the preparations and agreements of the radio-broadcasting organizations of non-aligned countries aimed at harmonizing their positions to achieve common action at the World Administrative Conference on Radio-Communication, to be held in Geneva in 1979, and called upon the governments of all non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate at that Conference. In view of the great importance attached by the non-aligned countries to the subject matter of this Conference, the Heads of State or Government decided that it was essential that its Chairman should come from a non-aligned country.

291. The Conference endorsed the recommendations adopted at the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries held in Belgrade in 1978, concerning Sri Lanka's proposal to set up a documentation centre of non-aligned countries in Colombo. The Conference welcomed this project, considering that it constitutes and important contribution to the development of the Non-Aligned Movement and an appropriate means for facilitating the research into and study of non-alignment in international politics. The Conference called upon all member countries of the Movement to co-operate with Sri Lanka in establishing the documentation centre of non-aligned countries and to render the centre all possible assistance by making available the documents adopted at the conferences and meetings of non-aligned countries held in their territory.

292. The Conference acknowledged with satisfaction the positive results achieved in the field of information at the thirty-third session of the General Assembly of the United Nations and underlined the contribution of non-aligned and other developing countries in the adoption of the resolution on the establishment of a new international information order.

293. The Conference noted the positive outcome of the twentieth session of the UNESCO General Conference, at which the Declaration on the Fundamental Principles and Contribution of Mass Media to the Strengthening of Peace, International Undestanding, the Promotion of Human Rights and the Struggle against Racism, Apartheid and the Incitement to War was adopted.

294. The Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries recognized the positive role played by UNESCO in studying the problem of communication and in working towards a more balanced flow of information between the developing and the developed countries.

295. The Conference requested UNESCO to continue assisting non-aligned and developing countries in setting up appropriate national and regional structures in the field of communication and in training technical personnel in accordance with General Assembly resolution 33/135 A, B and C.

296. The Conference considered that the results achieved by non-aligned countries in the field of information within the United Nations and UNESCO constitute a remarkable success and called upon the member countries to redouble their efforts in order to achieve their common objectives in the United Nations committee concerned with the study of the policies and activities of the United Nations in the field of information, as well as to facilitate the endorsement of their common objectives at the forthcoming UNESCO Inter-Governmental Conference.

297. The Conference, fully supporting the recommendations of the Inter-Governmental Co-ordinating Council in the field of information of non-aligned countries, requested the member countries of the Movement to support, through their information media, the liberation movements, particularly those in South Africa, with a view to putting an end to the negative and biased information about them, and to support the initiative to organize the year of information about their struggle.

298. The Conference noted with satisfaction the creation of a pan-African news agency which will contribute to the promotion of information in Africa and the development of the exchange of news between African and other non-aligned countries and ensure a better knowledge of the just cause of the African liberation struggle, thus contributing to the establishment of a new international information order.

299. The Conference requested the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York, in co-operation with the Chairman of the Inter-Governmental Council of Information, to proceed to the reconstruction of this Council in accordance with the established criteria, namely balanced geographical distribution, continuity and rotation. The Conference recommended the consideration of the possibility of enlargement of the Council to increase its efficacy and greater participation in its work by the non-aligned countries.

DECISION REGARDING METHODS OF STRENGTHENING UNITY, SOLIDARITY AND CO-OPERATION AMONG NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

300. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the report and recommendations of the Political Committee on Methods of Strengthening Unity, Solidarity and Co-operation among Non-Aligned Countries on the Basis of the Principles of Non-Alignment and with a View to Improving the Functioning and Decision-Making Procedures of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and expressed their satisfaction that this process had culminated in the presentation of recommendations adopted by consensus, in line with the mandate of the Belgrade Ministerial Conference.

301. The Heads of State or Government approved the recommendations contained in the annex to the report of the Political Committee and regarded them as a reaffirmation and evolution of the practices followed by the Movement since its founding. These practices continue to be based on democratic principles and on the need to arrive at consensus decisions.

302. The Heads of State or Government believed that, in order to strengthen unity, solidarity and co-operation among non-aligned countries, the decisions specifically designed to this end and adopted by this Conference should be translated into practical and concrete measures of implementation.

303. The Heads of State or Government recognized the effectiveness of the Co-ordinating Bureau, whose mandate has been renewed appropriately in the following list of recommendations as a necessary vehicle for co-ordinating the activities of non-aligned countries, with the object of ensuring genuine unity and co-operation within the framework of decisions adopted by summit conferences and ministerial meetings of the Movement.

304. The Heads of State or Government decided that the decision regarding methods of strengthening unity, solidarity and co-operation among non-aligned countries should be included as an annex to the Final Declaration.

CONCLUSION

305. As they completed their work at the Sixth Summit Conference of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, the Heads of State or Government expressed confidence that the policy of non-alignment represents a historical force that must necessarily be taken into account in establishing an international order based on justice and equity that will satisfy the interests of all peoples.

In order to achieve those objectives, they stressed the need to develop solidarity and co-operation among all the member countries and, through continuous consultation and resolute co-ordination, to carry out the agreed measures for implementing the decisions of this Conference, with due regard for the democratic character of the Movement.

306. The Conference urged the closest and most effective co-ordination among the non-aligned countries, especially in the United Nations and other international organizations, in order to implement the programmes it has adopted.

307. The Conference decided that the next Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Non-Aligned Countries would be held in New Delhi, India, in 1981.

308. The Heads of State or Government noted that the year 1981 would be the twentieth anniversary of the first Summit Conference of the Non-Aligned Countries, held in 1961 in Belgrade. They agreed that this historic anniversary of the inception of the Movement should be appropriately celebrated. The holding of the ministerial conference of all non-aligned countries offers a suitable opportunity for making the anniversary, and they expressed the hope that the Government of India would take steps in its capacity as host country of the Conference so that this anniversary could be fittingly observed. The Conference also recommended that all the Governments of the non-aligned countries consider instituting programmes for making this historic anniversary nationally, so that this historic anniversary may be appropriately celebrated.

309. Responding with appreciation to the invitation of the Government of Iraq, the Conference decided that the next Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries would be held in Baghdad, Iraq, in 1982.

310. The Conference entrusted Cuba, as current Chairman of the Non-Aligned Movement and host country, with the task of submitting to the thirty-fourth session of the General Assembly of the United Nations the declarations and resolutions of the Sixth Summit Conference, held at Havana.

Political Resolutions

RESOLUTION NO. 1 ON THE AGGRESSION AGAINST MOZAMBIQUE

The Sixth Conference of Heads of States or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979, Seriously concerned by the attacks made by the Smith-Muzorewa regime against the People's Republic of Mozambique on 5, 6 and 7 September 1979 in the region of the valley of the Limpopo River with the participation of Mirage fighter bomber planes and troops brought in by helicopter,

Deeply angered by the killings of Mozambican men, women and children and Zimbabwean refugees in Mozambican territory,

Convinced that these actions constitute open defiance of this Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries,

Awared that these attacks occur at a time when the OAU and the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries are reaffirming their unconditional support for the Patriotic Front as the sole legitimate representative of the people of Zimbabwe, and

Convinced that these attacks are a direct consequence of the internationalist positions of the People's Republic of Mozambique and of its firm support for the patriots of Zimbabwe, in accordance with the principles of this Movement of Non-Aligned Countries,

1. Declares that solidary support for the People's Republic of Mozambique and the people of Zimbabwe for their freedom and independence will continue to be a priority matter for the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries;

2. Reaffirms that any attack by the illegal regime of Rhodesia on the independent African States constitutes an act of aggression against all the non-aligned countries and against the international community as a whole;

3. Denounces the aggressive policy of the Smith-Muzorewa regime and calls on all the States and organizations to intensify their rejection of the Rhodesian regime and of the countries that support, arm or recognize it;

/...

4. Condemns the regime of Rhodesia for its criminal attacks on the People's Republics of Mozambique and the Zimbabwean refugee camps established in its territory and on other front-line States; and

5. Energetically condemns the constant political, economic, military and other collaboration given the Rhodesian racist regime by several Western Powers and by other countries, especially South Africa and Israel.

RESOLUTION NO. 2 ON THE QUESTION OF PALESTINE

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Recalling the relevant decisions and resolutions of the non-aligned conferences on the question of Palestine,

Reaffirming its recognition of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, including:

(a) The right of Palestinians to return to their homes and property from which they were expelled,

(b) The right of self-determination without external interference and

(c) The right to establish an independent sovereign State in Palestine.

Affirming that the Palestinian people, represented by the Palestine Liberation Organization, has the final right and say regarding any solution of the Palestinian problem,

Reaffirming also that the Palestine Liberation Organization, the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people, should be invited, on an equal footing with other parties, to participate in all efforts, deliberations and conferences on the question of Palestine and the situation in the Middle East,

Recognizing that the question of Palestine is the core of the Arab-Zionist conflict in the Middle East,

Recognizing also the necessity to achieve a just peace in the Middle East through a comprehensive settlement,

Reaffirming that a just peace in the Middle East cannot be established without the achievement, _inter alia_, of a just solution of the problem of Palestine on the basis of the attainment of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people and with the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization, the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people,

/...

Taking full cognizance of the fact that the Palestinian people in its entirety, under the leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization, has rejected the Agreements and the Treaty and has announced its determination to oppose and foil them by all possible means,

Expressing deep concern that Israel has intensified and escalated its persistent policy of aggression, expansion, annexation and establishment of settlements thereon and repression and oppression against the Palestinian people and territory,

Noting with grave concern that the Security Council has so far failed to consider and take action on the recommendations of the General Assembly to enable the Palestinian people to exercise its inalienable rights (33/28),

Recalling its reaffirmation of the United Nations General Assembly resolution 3379 (XXX), dated 10 November 1975, which determines that Zionism is a form of racism and racial discrimination,

Denouncing the decision of the Government of the United States of America to use the veto on any draft resolution relating to the rights of the Palestinian people to return, national independence, self-determination and statehood,

Noting that the racist regimes in South Africa, Southern Rhodesia and Israel have consolidated and intensified their relations in all fields, and

Noting also identity of cause and the struggle of the national liberation movements in southern Africa and Palestine,

Decides:

1. To reaffirm all the decisions and resolutions of the conferences of non-aligned countries on the question of Palestine and the situation in the Middle East;

2. To condemn Israel for its continuous and persistent policy of aggression, expansion, annexation and establishment of settlements, oppression and repression against the Palestinian people and land;

3. To condemn Zionism as an ideology and a practice and movement acting against national liberation movements and to request all members of the Non-Aligned Movement to endeavour to establish a permanent United Nations committee against Zionism as an organ of the United United Nations, with the task of uncovering the crimes and conspiracies of Zionism against humanity and national liberation movements;

4. To declare that all measures taken by Israel in the occupied Palestinian territory, including Jerusalem, are null and void;

5. To reaffirm its full support of the struggle of the Palestinian people, under the leadership of its sole legitimate representative, the Palestine Liberation Organization, to attain fully its inalienable national rights, by all means, including armed struggle;

6. To condemn energetically all the partial agreements and separate treaties which constitute a flagrant violation of the rights of the Arab nation and of the Palestinian people, the principles of the Charters of the OAU and the United Nations and the resolutions adopted in different international forums on the question of Palestine, which impede the aspirations of the Palestinian people to return to their homeland, to achieve self-determination and to exercise full sovereignty over their territories;

7. Bearing in mind that the Camp David Agreements and the Egypt-Israel Treaty of 26 March 1979 constitute a partial agreement and a separate treaty that mean total abandonment of the cause of the Arab countries and an act of complicity with the sustained occupation of the Arab territories and violate the inalienable rights of the people of Palestine, to condemn the Camp David Agreements and the Treaty between Egypt and Israel;

8. Within this context, the Heads of State or Government having considered the proposal that the Government of Egypt be suspended as a member of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries for having violated its principles and resolutions, to entrust the Co-ordinating Bureau, acting as an ad hoc committee, with the examination of the damage caused to the Arab countries, particularly the Palestinian Arab people, by the conduct of the Egyptian Government in signing the Camp David Agreements and the Egyptian-Israeli Separate Peace Treaty. The ad hoc committee will report on this matter to the Ministerial Conference to be held in New Delhi, which will take a decision regarding the status of Egypt in the Movement;

9. To call upon the Security Council to consider and take action on the recommendations of the General Assembly to enable the Palestinian people to exercise its inalienable rights;

10. To request members of the Non-Aligned Movement sitting in the Security Council to sponsor and support draft resolutions on the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people;

11. To call for the convening of an emergency special session on the basis of resolution 377 (V), in case the Security Council fails to exercise its primary responsibility as a result of lack of unanimity of the permanent members. The Conference authorizes the Co-ordinating Bureau sitting in New York, in consultation with the United Nations Special Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People to call for such an emergency special session at the appropriate time;

12. To condemn the racist regimes in southern Africa and Israel and their growing and intensified relations in all fields; and

13. To commend and fully support, by all available means, the co-operation and solidarity among the national liberation movements in Namibia, Palestine, South Africa and Zimbabwe.

RESOLUTION NO. 3 ON THE SITUATION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

The Sixth Summit Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, 3 to 9 September 1979,

Considering the principles and purposes of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, as well as the principles and purposes of the United Nations,

Bearing in mind the resolutions adopted by the summit conferences of heads of state or government of non-aligned countries with regard to the situation in the Middle East,

Emphasizing that the shared destiny which binds the non-aligned countries commits them to support the objectives of the common struggle for peace, justice and progress against colonialism, racial discrimination, foreign occupation, Zionism and racism,

Deeply disturbed by the growing deterioration in the situation in the Middle East, which constitutes a major threat that may lead to a new war as a result of Israel's pursuit of its aggressive policy and its refusal to implement the United Nations resolutions concerning withdrawal from the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories and the recovery by the Palestinian people of their inalienable national rights,

Denouncing all attempts to impose accomplished facts, as well as the policy of expansion, establishment of settlements, occupation, domination, oppression and terror, on which the Zionist policy in Palestine and the Middle East is based,

Deeply disturbed by recent developments in the region with regard to the situation in the Middle East and the Palestinian problem,

Considering that the non-aligned countries' support for the efforts of the Arab countries to liberate their occupied territories and for the endeavours of the Palestinian people to recover their inalienable national rights constitutes a responsibility and duty inherent in the principles and purposes of non-alignment and that such support should be expressed in an active and effective manner,

Convinced that the time has come to take the coercive steps provided for in Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations and to apply them against Israel, which is persisting in its violation of the principles of the Charter, is refusing to implement the decisions adopted by the United Nations and is continuing its aggression against the Arab countries and the Palestinian people, and

Convinced of the need for the non-aligned countries to take practical and effective measures to deal with the Zionist enemy, which is stubbornly continuing its aggression and unlawful activity,

1. Reaffirms that there can be no solution to the Middle East and Palestinian problems without the integral and simultaneous application of the following basic principles, in consideration of the fact that:

(a) The Palestinian question is the crux of the Middle East problem and the essential cause of the Arab-Israeli conflict;

(b) The Palestinian problem and the Middle East question constitute an indivisible whole in the efforts to find a solution which could in no way be partial or concern only certain parties to the conflict to the exclusion of the others or be limited to certain aspects of the conflict. Similarly, no partial peace can be instituted, since peace has to be just and must embrace all the parties concerned and eliminate the causes of the conflict;

(c) The establishment of a just peace in the region can be achieved only on the basis of Israel's complete and unconditional withdrawal from all the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories and the recovery by the Palestinian people of all their inalienable national rights, including the right to return to their homeland, to self-determination and to the establishment of an independent State in Palestine;

(d) The Arab city of Jerusalem forms part of the occupied Palestinian territory. It must be fully and unconditionally evacuated by Israel and restored to Arab sovereignty;

(e) The Palestine Liberation Organization is the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people. It alone has the right to represent that people and to participate as a full and sovereign member in all international conferences, activities and forums dealing with the Palestinian problem and the Arab-Zionist conflict with a view to the recovery by the Palestinian people of their inalienable national rights. There can be no general, just and acceptable solution to the problem unless the PLO participates as a sovereign party, on a footing of full equality with the other interested parties, in drawing it up;

(f) All measures and actions by Israel in the Palestinian and Arab territories since their occupation, such as construction work; modification; and changes designed to alter the political, cultural, religious, natural, geographical, social and demographic characteristics thereof, are illegal and invalid; and

(g) The establishment of all existing or future settlements in the Palestinian and Arab territories occupied by Israel is unlawful, null and void and constitutes an obstacle to peace. Accordingly, such settlements must be removed immediately, in conformity with the relevant resolutions of the United Nations and in particular with Security Council resolution 452 (1979):

2. Affirms that no solution which is not based on these basic principles can lead to a just peace but will give added force to the explosive factors in the region, open the way for the United States policy of eliminating the Palestinian cause, assisting Israel to achieve its political, expansionist, colonialist and racist aims and encouraging bilateral and partial solutions, disregarding the crux of the problem;

3. Affirms that any violation of the resolutions of the conferences of the non-aligned countries concerning the Middle East problem and the Palestinian cause leads to a weakening of the struggle for the liberation of the occupied Arab territories and the realization of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and jeopardizes the struggle of the Non-Aligned Movement against colonialism, occupation, racism and Zionism and considers that any such violations run counter to the non-aligned countries' determination to put an end to the Israeli occupation of Palestinian and Arab territories and assist the Palestinian people in realizing their inalienable national rights;

4. Condemns energetically all the partial agreements and separate treaties which constitute a flagrant violation of the rights of the Arab nation and of the Palestinian people, the principles of the Charters of the OAU and the United Nations and the resolutions adopted in different international forums on the question of Palestine and which impede the aspirations of the Palestinian people to return to their homeland, to self-determination and to exercise full sovereignty over their territories;

5. Bearing in mind that the Camp David Agreements and the Egypt-Israel Treaty of 26 March 1979 constitute a partial agreement and a separate treaty that mean total abandonment of the cause of the Arab countries and an act of complicity with the continued occupation of the Arab territories and violate the inalienable rights of the people of Palestine, condemns the Camp David Agreements and the Treaty between Egypt and Israel;

6. Within this context, considering the proposal that the Government of Egypt be suspended as a member of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries for having violated its principles and resolutions, decides to entrust the Co-ordinating Bureau, acting as an ad hoc committee, with the examination of the damage caused to the Arab countries, particularly the Palestinian Arab people, by the conduct of the Egyptian Government in signing the Camp David Agreements and the Egyptian-Israeli Separate Peace Treaty. The ad hoc committee will report on this matter to the Ministerial Conference to be held in New Delhi, which will take a decision regarding the status of Egypt in the Movement;

7. Invites the States and peoples of the world to take a firm stand in the face of Israel's intransigence, persistence in pursuing a policy of aggression and expansion and steady refusal to implement the United Nations resolutions concerning the Palestinian cause and the Middle East;

8. Stresses the fact that the persistently hostile attitude maintained by the United States of America as regards the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and to the question of total withdrawal from all the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories is inconsistent with the resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly concerning the Palestinian cause and is an obstacle to the establishment of a just peace in the region and condemns the policy which the United States is attempting to impose in the region to the detriment of the liberation of all the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories and the realization of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people;

9. Invites all the States and peoples of the world to refrain from providing Israel with any military, human, material or moral support which would encourage it to continue its occupation of Palestinian and Arab territories and proclaims that if those States persist in supporting Israel, the non-aligned countries would be forced to take steps in this regard;

10. Denounces the attitude of the States which provide aid and arms to Israel, believing that the true purpose of supplying Israel with enormous quantities of arms which spread death and destruction is to strengthen Israel as a base for colonialism and racism in the Third World in general and in Africa and Asia in particular;

11. Condemns the collusion between Israel and South Africa and their identical aggressive and racist policy and also condemns their co-operation in all areas in view of the threat which it entails to the security and independence of the African and Arab countries;

12. Strongly condemns Israel for continuing to carry out its policy and practices in occupied Palestinian and Arab territories, particularly the annexation of certain parts of those territories such as Jerusalem and other areas, the establishment of Israeli settlements and the installation therein of foreigners, the destruction of homes, expropriation, expulsion, deportation, uprooting, forced exile, mass arrests and the torture of the Arab peoples, whose right of return is contested, and also strongly denounces the destruction of national monuments and cultural relics; the obstruction of freedoms, beliefs and the performance of religious rites; the denial of individual rights; and the illegal exploitation of the natural wealth and resources of the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories and of their populations;

13. Condemns Israel for its rejection of Security Council resolution 446 (1979) concerning the establishment of settlements in the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories, including the city of Jerusalem. Similarly, it condemns Israel's refusal to receive the commission consisting of three Security Council members to examine the situation relating to those settlements;

14. Declares that the Israeli policy and those Israeli practices are a serious violation of the Charter of the United Nations, and specifically of the principle of sovereignty and territorial integrity and the rules of international law, United Nations resolutions, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the Fourth Geneva Convention relative to the protection of civilian persons in time of war. That policy and those practices are also a primary obstacle to bringing about a just peace in the Middle East;

15. Reaffirms that all the measures adopted by Israel to transform political, human, geographical, social, and cultural and religious characteristics in the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories are invalid and illegal and demands that Israel annul them forthwith and cease to implement them. It invites the countries of the world to abstain from any act which Israel could exploit or use as a pretext in applying its policy;

16. Considers that Israel bears the responsibility for all the actions designed to transform, exploit, destroy or expropriate land in the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories;

17. Affirms the right of the Arab States and peoples whose territories are under Israeli occupation to exercise permanent, total and effective sovereignty over their natural and other resources and over the control of their economic assets and activities and likewise affirms their right to recover those resources and to obtain full indemnification for the exploitation and exhaustion of those resources and for the damage suffered;

18. Reaffirms the necessity of breaking off relations of all kinds with Israel - diplomatic, consular, cultural, sports, tourist, communications and the rest - and of doing so at all official and non-official levels and invites non-aligned countries which have not yet done so to take action accordingly;

19. Invites all the non-aligned countries to join in the Arab boycott against Israel and to co-ordinate their efforts in that direction with those of the rest of the Third World countries with a view to the application of that boycott against all racist regimes, and especially those in Palestine and South Africa;

20. Affirms the right of the Arab countries and the PLO to wage the struggle in all its forms, military and political, and to use all means at their disposal to achieve the liberation of their occupied territories and the realization of the Palestinian people's inalienable national rights and take all steps to oppose all compromise solutions which ignore those rights;

21. Affirms that the support given by the non-aligned countries to the Arab countries for the liberation of their territories and to the Palestinian people for the recovery of their inalienable national rights is a responsibility and duty inherent in the principles of the Movement and in its objectives. It likewise affirms that that support should be expressed in an active and effective manner by the non-aligned countries in their entirety;

22. Proclaims its support for the territorial integrity of Lebanon, for the unity of its people and for its independence and sovereignty and vigorously condemns Israel for its continued aggression in Lebanon and its refusal to withdraw from certain positions which it continues to occupy. It also condemns its attempts to legitimize its occupation in southern Lebanon through the medium of its agents, with the aim of impairing the territorial integrity of Lebanon and the unity of its people, calls on all member States of the Non-Aligned Movement to support the Lebanese position in the United Nations and in all international organizations and invites the Security Council to carry into effect the resolutions it has adopted on the question of Lebanon, specifically resolutions 425 (1978), 426 (1978) and 450 (1979), and to apply against Israel the measures set forth in Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations in order to dissuade it from continuing its aggression against Lebanon and to halt the worsening of the situation in the region;

23. Expresses its deep concern at the statements made by certain imperialist and colonial circles which had threatened recourse to the use of force against the oil-producing countries, and especially the Arab countries. It condemns those statements, which it regards as a factor generating disquiet and disturbance in international relations;

24. Invites the non-aligned countries to act in a more effective manner in the broader international context at the United Nations and its agencies and at the various international organizations and international conferences, so as to intensify the pressure on Israel, threatening it if necessary with deprivation of its membership in those bodies;

25. Invites the non-aligned countries to take action, leading to the convening of an extraordinary or special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to the study of the Palestinian problem, with a view to the adoption of measures guranteeing the achievement of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and the withdrawal of Israel from the occupied Palestinian and Arab territories;

26. Invites the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the non-aligned countries to express at the thirty-fourth session of the United Nations General Assembly, in line with the provisions of the present resolution, the Conference's standpoint on the Middle East problem and the Palestinian issue; and

27. Decides to include the item "Middle East Situation" in the agendas of the conferences * the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the non-aligned countries and of the meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau.

RESOLUTION NO..4 ON JERUSALEM

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Recalling all the resolutions of the Security Council, the General Assembly, the OAU, the Organization of the Islamic Conference and the Conference of Non-Aligned Countrie relating to Jerusalem;

Considering that international conferences are in principle opposed to the transfer of the capital of the Zionist entity to Jerusalem,

Considering that the Palestinian cause, including Jerusalem, is the crux of the Middle East problem,

Considering that Israel is persisting in its policy of aggression, expansionism, annexation, Zionist colonization and deformation of the cultural characteristics of Jerusalem, and

Considering that Israel has broadened and increased the measures taken to Judaize Jerusalem and to eliminate its Arab character,

1. Reaffirms the need to liberate Jerusalem and to preserve its historical character and appearance. It also reaffirms that the city of Jerusalem is an integral part of the occupied Arab territories;

2. Denounces the measures of annexation, continued Judaization and forceful spoliation of property in Jerusalem and insists on the need to liberate that city from Zionist colonialism and to restore it to Arab sovereignty;

3. Demands that Israel should be compelled to comply with the General Assembly and Security Council resolutions concerning Jerusalem and declares null and void all the illegal measures taken by Israel in that city and demands their abrogation; and

4. Rejects and denounces any attempt by any State to recognize Jerusalem as the capital of the racist entity of Israel and declares that no party has the right to adopt a unilateral position or measure with regard to that city.

RESOLUTION NO. 5 ON THE COMORIAN ISLAND OF MAYOTTE

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Reaffirming that the island of Mayotte is an integral part of the Comoros,

Recalling the resolution adopted at the Fifth Summit Conference at Colombo (Sri Lanka) from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Having noted the steps taken by the Government of the Federal and Islamic Republic of the Comoros to create a favourable climate for dialogue and for opening negotiations between the parties concerned in this question,

1. Reaffirms its solidarity with the Comorian people in their determination to defend their political unity and their country's national sovereignty and territorial integrity;

2. Welcomes the decision taken by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity at its sixteenth regular session at Monrovia (Liberia) from 6 to 15 July 1979 to invite the Government of the Federal and Islamic Republic of the Comoros, in co-operation with the Organization of African Unity Committee of Seven, to speed up the negotiation process with a view to reaching a settlement of the problem of the Comorian island of Mayotte;

3. Calls upon the Government of France to comply with the resolutions of the United Nations and the Organization of African Unity on the island of Mayotte.

RESOLUTION NO. 6 ON THE WORLD ADMINISTRATIVE CONFERENCE ON RADIO COMMUNICATIONS

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Taking into account the recommendations of the Foreign Ministers Conference of the Non-Aligned Countries (Belgrade, July 1978), the resolutions of the Committee for Co-operation of the Non-Aligned Broadcasting Organizations (Algiers, June 1979), and the Non-Aligned Co-ordinating Meeting on Telecommunications (Yaoundé, May 1979),

Emphasizing the fact that the conferences on radio communications held so far were unable to settle the problems raised by the non-aligned and other developing countries concerning the use of the spectrum of radio electric frequences and the geostationary satellite orbit, precious but limited resource of the whole of mankind,

Considering that the World Administrative Radio Conference to be held this year (Geneva, 1979), which will deal with all telecommunication services and bring decisions of paramount importance for the development of radio communications in the world, will provide an appropriate opportunity for the non-aligned and other developing countries to accomplish their claims to a more equitable and just use of the frequency spectrum and the geostationary satellite orbit, and

Underlining the importance attributed by the non-aligned and other developing countries to the sound and television broadcasting, the impact of which will be growing in the social, political, economic and cultural development of the non-aligned and other developing countries,

Recommends:

1. The adoption by the non-aligned and other developing countries of the common stands as they were defined at the various co-ordinating meetings on this issue and

2. That the Governments of these countries instruct their delegations representing them in Geneva to act jointly so as to ensure that the World Administrative Radio Conference produce results which would be in conformity with the interests of the Non-Aligned Movement, aspiring to establish the new international information order.

RESOLUTION NO. 7 ON THE USE OF THE VETO

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havane, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Recalling the resolution on the use of the veto adopted by the Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Colombo from 16 to 19 August 1976,

Bearing in mind the resolution adopted by the Summit Conference of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) held in Port-Louis, Mauritius, from 24 June to 3 July 1976,

Reaffirming its firm support for the Charter of the United Nations, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the right to self-determination,

Noting that some countries are still suffering under the yoke of colonialism, foreign domination and racism and that the use of the veto by some permament members of the Security Council prevents and will continue to prevent thone peoples from exercising their right to self-determination and independence,

Convinced that the safeguarding of international peace and security is the highly important collective international responsibility of all States Members of the United Nations, in accordance with the universality of the organization and in conformity with the principle of equality among States, and

Recognizing that the current international situation requires reconsideration of the Charter of the United Nations,

1. Reaffirms that the safeguarding of international peace and security is a crucial international responsibility which requires the effective participation of all the countries and peoples of the world within the context of the United Nations resolutions on the strengthening of international peace and security; and

2. Decides that non-aligned countries should continue to participate actively in the efforts to amend the Charter of the United Nations, particularly its provisions relating to the right of veto exercized by the permanent members of the Security Council, so as to attain their aspirations and give effect to the principle of equality among States members of international organizations.

RESOLUTION NO. 8 ON THE INTERNATIONAL YEAR FOR DISABLED PERSONS

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Noting United Nations General Assembly resolution 30/3447 of 9 December 1975 concerning the Declaration on the Rights of Disabled Persons,

Noting United Nations General Assembly resolution 31/123 of 16 December 1976 proclaiming 1981 as the International Year for Disabled Persons,

Recalling United Nations General Assembly resolutions Nos. 32/133 of 16 December 1977 and 33/170 of 20 December 1978 relating to the International Year for Disabled Persons,

Noting resolution 594 adopted by the Council of Ministers of the Organization of African Unity at its thirtieth ordinary session held in Tripoli from 20 to 28 January 1978 and the resolution of the Council of Ministers of the Organization of African Unity meeting in Monrovia from 6 to 15 July 1979, and Deeply convinced of the need for the non-aligned countries to make an effective contribution to the International Year for Disabled Persons,

Decides:

1. To give aid and support to the International Year for Disabled Persons and to work within the United Nations to ensure its success;

2. To urge Member States to concern themselves with the problem of disabled persons and to take the necessary measures to contribute effectively and appropriately to the International Year; and

3. To study the possibility of arranging meetings at the level of the non-aligned countries to discuss the best ways of attaining the objectives of the International Year for Disabled Persons and of giving effect to the principles contained in the declaration on their rights.

RESOLUTION NO. 9: TRIBUTE TO HIS EXCELLENCY
PRESIDENT JOSIP BROZ TITO

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Warmly welcomes the presence of His Excellency Josip Broz Tito, President of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, one of the founding fathers of our movement and its first chairman, Expresses its deep gratitude to President Tito for his contributions towards the formulation of the principles and objectives of non-alignment, for his unremitting efforts to preserve and enhance the unity and solidarity of the non-aligned countries, and for his personal contribution towards the establishment of a more equitable, just and peaceful world order.

In recognition of the above, the Conference pays special tribute to President Tito.

RESOLUTION NO. 10: EXPRESSION OF THANKS TO THE GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE OF CUBA

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 9 September 1979,

Expresses its sincere thanks and deep gratitude to the heroic people of Cuba and their Government, as well as to His Excellency Commander in Chief Fidel Castro, President of the Council of State and of the Council of Ministers of the Republic of Cuba, for their warm and friendly welcome, that contributed extensively to the great success of this Conference,

Wishes to express its total satisfaction with the atmosphere of militant fraternity that prevailed throughout the debates and with the democratic frankness and open-mindedness with which Chairman Fidel Castro guided the work of the Conference,

Is grateful, in particular, for all the facilities placed at the disposal of the participants in the Conference and the efficiency of the organization and quality of the services that the Secretariat, under the orientation of the Communist Party of Cuba, the Government of Cuba and the mass organizations, facilitated for the International Convention Center.

Expresses its thanks to the people and Government of the Republic of Cuba, that, under the excellent leadership of His Excellency President Fidel Castro, spared no efforts to welcome this important meeting with all the required dignity and to defeat the divisionist manoeuvres and attempts to discredit it fomented by the imperialist forces, enemies of the struggling peoples, and Emphasizes, finally, its optimism and confidence in the new perspectives that were outlined throughout the Conference, tending to strengthen the unity of the Movement and the militant solidarity of the non-aligned countries, thus showing the ever more important role that the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries is destined to play in the solution of the main international problems.

Decision on the question of Kampuchea قرار بشأن مسألة كمبوديا

DECISION OF THE CONFERENCE ON THE QUESTION OF THE REPRESENTATION OF KAMPUCHEA

The Conference, after discussions held in the Co-ordinating Bureau in its capacity as Preparatory Committee and at the Ministerial Conference, and after consultations, has studied the problem of the representation of Kampuchea in the organs of the Movement.

The Conference recognized the existence within the Movement of three positions with respect to this problem:

1. That of those who uphold the view that this representation devolves on the People's Republic of Kampuchea,

2. That of those who hold that this representation devolves on the Democratic Republic of Kampuchea and

3. That of those who propose that the seat should not be occupied by either of the parties.

The Conference decided to refer the question of the representation of Kampuchea to the Co-ordinating Bureau, which would act as an ad hoc committee; to continue analysing this question; and to submit a report to a subsequent Ministerial Conference.

As long as there is no decision on which of the parties has the right to the vacant seat, neither of the parties shall claim its alleged rights in any organ of the Movement.

COMPOSITION OF THE CO-ORDINATING BUREAU

The Conference decided that the membership of the Co-ordinating Bureau should be increased to 36 to permit the following regional distribution:

Africa	17 seats
Asia	12 seats
Latin America	5 seats
Europe	1 seat

The thirty-sixth seat would be shared between Africa and Europe and would be occupied for one and a half years by each of the members chosen.

The following thirty-one members had already been elected:

Cuba, Afghanistan/Bangladesh, Benin, Korea, Cyprus/, Ethiopia, Guyana, Ghana, Iraq, Iran/Bhutan, India, Jamaica, Jordan, Lesotho, Madagascar, Mauritania, Mozambique, Nigeria, Palestine Liberation Organization, Panama, Peru/Grenada, Syria, Singapore/Indonesia, Somalia, Sri Lanka, Togo, Uganda/, Viet Nam/Lao, Democratic Yemen, Yugoslavia and Zambia.

The countries that will occupy the five remaining seats for Africa have not yet been elected. The two members for Africa that will share their seats with Uganda and Cyprus must also be designated and the relevant information transmitted to the President of the Movement by the end of September 1979.

In the meantime, the Co-ordinating Bureau will be constituted in New York on a provisional basis with the existing members.

IV. ECONOMIC DECLARATION

1. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the evolution of the world economic situation and noted with grave concern that since the Fifth Summit Conference, the economic problems facing the developing countries have become more acute, characterized by a continuing widening of the gap that separates the developed from the developing countries, and by the stalemate in negotiations to restructure internacional economic relations.

2. They recognized that the crisis of the internacional economic system was a sympton of underlying structural maladjustments, and basic imbalance, aggravated by the unwillingness of developed market economy countries to control their external imbalances, high levels of inflation and unemployment, thus resulting in the creation of new imbalances within the international economic system and in the transfer of their adverse effects to developing countries through international trade and monetary financial relations. They stressed that this crisis also results from the persisting inequity in international economic relations, characterized by dependency, exploitation and inequality.

3. The Heads of State or Government once more stressed that the struggle to eliminate the injustice of the existing internacional economic system and to establish the New International Economic Order is an integral part of the people's struggle for political, economic, cultural and social liberation. The economic and social progress of developing countries has been adversely affected, directly or indirectly, by different forms of threat, including the threats of military intervention or the use of force, pressure, coercion and discriminatory practices, and often result in the adoption of aggressive attitudes towards those who oppose their plans, to impose upon those countries political, social and economic structures which foster domination, dependence and exploitation of developing countries.

The Heads of State or Government condemned such practices and reaffirmed their commitment, individually and collectively, to resist these threats. At the same time, they solemnly reconfirmed their determination to strengthen their own struggle for national independence and economic emancipation, free development and the economic and social progress of the non-aligned and other developing countries as a natural continuation of the historic process which had led to the national liberation of their own countries, and which prompted them to endeavour to bring about new forms of internacional economic relations based on justice, sovereign equality and genuine international co-operation.

4. The Heads of State or Government once again solemnly emphasized the paramount importance of consolidating political independence by economic emancipation. They therefore reiterated that the existing international economic system runs against the basic interests of developing countries, is profoundly unjust and incompatible with the development of the non-aligned and other developing countries, nor does it contribute to the elimination of the economic and social evils that afflict these countries, these evils having been engendered by imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, expansionism, racism, including Zionism, apartheid, exploitation, power politics and all forms and manifestations of foreign occupation, domination and hegemony. These practices have been repeatedly condemned by the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and they constitute major obstacles to the economic and social progress of the developing countries and the main threat to world peace and security. Elimination of such practices is, therefore, a necessary condition for the achievement of development and international economic co-operation.

The Conference reiterated the historic mission that the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries should play in the struggle to attain the economic and political independence of all developing nations and peoples, to exercise their full and permanent sovereignty and control over their natural and all other resources and economic activities, and to promote a fundamental restructuring of the world economy through the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

5. The Heads of State or Government were convinced that international economic relations are still characterized by the fundamental contradiction between the upholders of the status quo based on domination, dependency and exploitation, and the common struggle of the non-aligned and other developing countries for their liberation and economic development.

6. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that the persistent channelling of human and material resources into an arms race was unproductive, wasteful, dangerous to humanity and incompatible with efforts to implement the New International Economic Order, and they reaffirmed the necessity and importance of adopting and applying measures for general and complete disarmament with all due speed and of using a substantial part of the resources thus released, particularly by the major powers, for the economic and social development of developing countries, which in turn will propel the growth of the developed countries, thus contributing to balanced growth in the world economy and to the creation of a climate of international peace and security.

7. The Conference reiterated its grave concern over the negligible progress that has been made in the negotiations for the implementation of the Declaration and Programme of Action on the establishment of the New International Economic Order adopted at the sixth special session of the United Nations General Assembly owing to the lack of political will on the part of most of the developed countries and specifically condemned the dilatory, diversionary and divisive tactics adopted by these countries aimed at retaining their privileges in their relations with the developing countries.

This attitude was evidenced by the recent failure to achieve substantive results at the Fifth UNCTAD. The Conference warned that, in order to achieve concrete results in the negotiations, those developed countries must demonstrate their political will to adopt policies of real and effective co-operation with the developing countries in order to pave the way for the emergence of relations based on justice and equity.

For this reason, the Heads of State or Government expressed their conviction that it was imperative to strengthen the unity and joint negotiating capacity of the non-aligned and other developing countries, to find ways and means of further enhancing their struggle to obtain their legitimate rights, oppose aggressive policies by improving their cohesion, achieve a true restructuring of international economic relations and implement international programmes that put them on the path of true economic development.

In this respect, they emphasized that they should seek effective forms of negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order within the framework of a comprehensive and integrated approach which will take due account of the fundamental rights and interests of all developing countries and of the global dimension of the New Order repeatedly stressed by the non-aligned countries.

The Conference emphasized the determination of the non-aligned and other developing countries to continue to harmonize their diversity of interests and evolve a unified position on issues under negotiation with the developed countries.

8. The Heads of State or Government reiterated, moreover, that the establishment of the New International Economic Order requires determined and effective action on the part of the developed countries in all the major areas of international economic relations. The developed world as a whole can no longer shy away from its share of responsability under any pretext, nor can it afford to ignore the fundamentally indivisible nature of the global prosperity.

9. Bearing in mind the present situation of the world economy and the state of international economic relations, particularly the intransigent position of most of the developed countries opposed to the need to carry out structural changes aimed at speeding up the establishment of a new international economic order, opposition which became evident especially in the recent UNCTAD session, the Conference reaffirmed that economic co-operation for development among the non-aligned and other developing countries had come to be an imperative for all of them as an important part of a long process of struggle.

The Heads of State or Government reiterated their conviction that a key element in the success of the non-aligned and other developing countries in their struggle for the New International Economic Order is intensified co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries on the basis of unity, complementarity, mutual interest, solidarity and mutual assistance in the context of the principle of collective self-reliance, with a view to accelerating their development, strengthening their unity and bargaining strength and countervailing power in the negotiations with the developed countries in order to achieve desired changes in the international economic system.

10. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern that the existing international economic system is not only inequitable but is functioning inefficiently; it is not supportive of the process of development in the developing countries. They emphasized that the establishment of the New International Economic Order implied a basic restructuring of the world economy and in the light of past experience rejected the view that this restructuring could be achieved merely through the free play of market forces. It was imperative for the developed countries to recognize the inter-relationship between structural changes in their economies and measures designed to generate growth in aggregate demand and production capacities in the developing countries. These structural changes cover shifts in the pattern of production, consumption and trade in the world economy; of effective national control over the use of national resources; and restructuring of the international institutional framework; including the creation of new institutional arrangements, if necessary, through which the developing countries would have full and effective participation in the international decision-making process in order to promote the accelerated development of the developing countries.

The Conference emphasized the close inter-relationship between problems and issues in the areas of trade, development, money and finance and stressed the need to set up within the framework of UNCTAD, a global consultative mechanism which would ensure that policies of the developed countries in these areas are mutually consistent and supportive of the development process in developing countries and also that their short term policies promote and do not obstruct or distort the restructuring of the international economy conducive to the establishment of the New International Economic Order. The Conference urged the developed countries to reconsider their attitude on these matters which have been submitted to the forthcoming session of the Trade and Development Board and thus facilitate international agreement on these crucial issues.

11. The Conference underscored that the establishment of the New International Economic Order is one of the most important and most urgent tasks facing the Non-Aligned Movement and that democratization of international economic relations constitutes its political substance and that all countries, irrespective of their size, socio-economic systems and level of economic development should participate in its establishment.

The New International Economic Order, as a global concept, by ensuring conditions for the progress of the developing countries, is beneficial to all countries.

The Conference stressed that the negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order must take place within the United Nations system and in this context it reaffirmed the central role of the General Assembly.

ASSESSMENT OF THE WORLD ECONOMIC SITUATION

12. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their deep concern over the present international economic situation, which is mainly characterized by the escalation of the world economic crisis. They noted with grave concern that the international economy in 1978 did not provide substantial impulses to growth in the developing countries. They expressed grave disquiet over the forecast that the situation was unlikely to improve in the near future in view of the short-sighted and inward approach of most of the developed countries to the problems besetting their internal economies and the world economy.

They agreed that the crisis in the international economic system is not merely a phenomenon of a cyclical nature but a symptom of underlying structural maladjustment characterized inter alia by increasing imbalances and inequities that operate inexorably to the detriment of the developing countries. At the same time the situation is aggravated by the fact that due to structural and management deficiencies of developed market economies which, for the first time in an economic crisis, is accompanied by the continuing trend of inflation and monetary disorder as permanent features of the world economy as well as by the sharpening of contradictions throughout the system of international economic relations.

The Conference noted the failure of some developed countries to take the measures necessary to achieve structural changes in the international economy has had repercussions on the economies of the developing countries. The inability of developed market economy countries to control their chronic balance of payments imbalances, high level inflation and unemployment, have been used as a pretext for postponing the adoption of measures in favour of the developing countries. This has given rise to new concern for developing countries and has thrown a disproportionate share of the burden of adjustments in the world economy on the economies of the developing countries. The Heads of State or Government called upon these developed countries to exercise the political will and courage and take steps to seek a solution to the problem of recession in their economies through restructuring the international economy based on the generation and growth of aggregate demand and productive capacity in the developing countries. Any other approach based on short-term considerations would in the long run operate to the long-term political and economic detriment of the developed countries themselves.

13. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that the gap between developed and developing countries had substantially increased, since the relative share of the latter in the world output had considerably decreased during the last two decades, with a corresponding adverse effect on the serious problems suffered by them as a consequence of underdevelopment, such as, inter alia, malnutrition, illiteracy and poor sanitation.

14. The Conference expressed profound concern over the secular deterioration in the conditions of developing countries' foreign trade. The continued escalation in the prices of manufactures, capital goods, food products and services imported by the developing countries and the stagnation and fluctuations in the prices of primary products exported by them have continued to exacerbate the trade gap between the developed and developing countries and resulted in a sharp decline in the terms of trade of developing countries.

15. The Heads of State or Government expressed their determination to oppose attempts by many economic and financial institutions controlled by certain developed market economy countries to impose measures designed to limit national sovereignty and block the fundamental rights of peoples to develop along economic and political lines freely chosen by themselves.

16. The Heads of State or Government considered it important to find appropriate and effective measures to deal with the worsening problem of inflation generated in the economies of industrialized countries and exported at very high rates to developing countries, and the responsibility for which lay with the industrialized countries.

In this regard the Conference highly appreciated the initiative of the Government of Iraq in submitting the proposal to establish an international fund in order to help developing countries alleviate the adverse effects of imported inflation. After reviewing the report of the Intergovernmental Co-ordinating Group, which met in Baghdad from 11 to 13 August, 1979 to study the Iraqi proposal, the Conference decided that this pertinent proposal deserved further consultations and studies with a view to taking a final decision on it at the earliest possible date.

17. The Conference expressed its deep discontent with the protectionist measures introduced by certain developed countries in recent years especially in sectors where the comparative advantages have altered in favour of the developing countries, with possibilities for the growth of their industries, and it reiterated its conviction that an adequate solution would be a worldwide restructuring of industry, which should be linked inter alia with the target of a 25 per cent share in world production of manufactures for developing countries by the year 2000, avoiding the concentration in the developing countries of marginal, obsolete or polluting industries that serve the interests of transnational corporations, tying in, among other things, with the goal of participation by the developing countries in the world production of manufactured products, in accordance with the Lima Declaration and Plan of Action on Industrial Development and Co-operation established at the Second General Conference of UNIDO in 1975.

The Conference reiterated that the developed countries should eliminate existing protectionist and other barriers and refrain from creating new ones, formulate policies and introduce the readjustments and modifications necessary to achieve the goal proclaimed by the said Lima Conference. To this end, no sectoral agreements should be imposed on the developing countries in an attempt to restrict their trade. Existing agreements of this type should be dismantled in order to ensure free access of products from developing countries to the markets of the developed countries.

18. The Conference deplored the fact that the developed countries that belong to GATT did not take into account in the multilateral trade negotiations the interests and concerns of the developing countries, especially the least developed countries. Many topics of importance for developing countries were not raised in the negotiations, and items of great interest for their exports were included in the lists of proposed exceptions.

Contrary to the commitments made by the developed countries in the Tokyo Declaration, no real attempt to extend special and differential treatment to the developing countries was made in the negotiations. Therefore the Conference reiterated the need for the negotiations to be continued with a view to realizing the commitments undertaken by the developed countries in the Tokyo Declaration including inter alia the need for preferential and special treatment in favour of the developing countries and explicit recognition of the principle of non-reciprocity. Agreements, arrangements or rules multilaterally negotiated in the MTNs could be considered final only when such essential concerns of developing countries had been fully incorporated in the final outcome of the negotiations.

19. The Conference expressed its concern over the constant deterioration of the international monetary situation. It noted that the high instability of the exchange rates of the main reserve currencies together with inflation in the developed countries had been among the main causes of the growing imbalance in the world economic situation and of the economic difficulties of the developing countries inter alia through their negative impact on the real value of the export earnings and foreign currency reserves of these countries. The Conference stressed the urgent need for the creation of a new international monetary system which should take into account fully the interests of the developing countries.

20. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their concern over the tremendous increase in the foreign debt accumulated by the developing countries, which was estimated at close to $300 billion at the end of 1977, with over a third of that amount in high-interest private loans or loans with less than a year's maturity.

21. On the other hand, there has also been a tendency toward higher interest rates and shorter terms of loan amortization, with the unfavourable result of limiting the developing countries' import capacity. In 1977, the United Nations estimated that a total of some $25 billion was due for debt servicing in these countries, which represented more than 21 per cent of their total exports for that year. This situation, which is a clear expression of financial deterioration, as another of the characteristics of the present international economic situation, is an important element of coercion aimed at the developing countries in any negotiation, calling for immediate and effective actions to relieve the debt burden of developing countries, particularly the least developed and most seriously affected developing countries.

The continued deterioration of the balance of trade and the terms of exchange has led to an increased deficit in current accounts in the face of the decreasing trend in the flow of official aid for development, the insufficient increase in loans by multilateral agencies, and the fact that the net use of International Monetary Fund credits by the developing countries has been negative due to this institution's loan policy.

22. The Conference reaffirmed the inalienable right of the developing countries producers of raw materials to exercise their full permanent and effective sovereignty over these natural resources, particularly on matters such as their mode of exploitation, production, pricing and marketing.

23. In this regard, the Conference supported the efforts of raw materials producing non-aligned and other developing countries in seeking just and remunerative prices for their exports and to improve in real terms their export earnings. The Conference condemned the attempts of certain developed countries to use the issue of energy to divide the developing countries. The wasteful consumption patterns of some of the developed countries and the role played by transnational oil corporations had led to the squandering of hydro-carbon and depletable sources of energy. These developed countries and their transnational corporations had so far benefited from cheap energy supplies which they had used irresponsibly. The developing countries exporters of oil had thus been always subsidizing the economic growth of the oil importing developed countries.

24. The Conference noted that persistent inflation exported by some developed countries and other international factors have resulted in a substantial reduction in the purchasing power of the developing countries exporters of oil which prompted these countries to adjust oil prices in an effort to correct this situation. In this connexion, the Conference further noted that the transnational oil compainies of major developed countries had been exploiting both the producers and consumers and reaping unjustified windfall profits, while at the same time falsifying facts by shifting the blame for the present situation onto the developing countries exporters of oil.

25. The developing countries, especially the least developed and most seriously affected developing countries particularly vulnerable to sharp rises in the prices of their imports, for their part, found themselves in an extremely unfavourable position to cope with the problems arising out of the present world economic situation primarily due to world inflation and its adverse consequences on their economies, taking, inter alia, the form of grave and disruptive deficits in their balance of payment positions and sharp increases in their external debt.

26. The Conference noted with appreciation the efforts which non-aligned and other developing countries were making to deal with these problems, both at the national level and within the framework of their mutual co-operation and solidarity, and emphasized the need to further pursue and intensify these efforts.

27. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the international energy issue should be discussed in the context of global negotiations within the United Nations with the participation of all countries and in relation with such other issues as the problems of development of developing countries, financial and monetary reforms, world trade and raw materials, all of which have an important bearing on the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

28. The Conference welcomed the decision of the United Nations General Assembly to convene an International Conference on New and Renewable Resources of Energy in 1981. It recommended that, in view of the urgency of this matter, pending the convening of this Conference, immediate steps be taken in the United Nations system to accelerate and increase assistance to the developing countries for undertaking research in the development of new and renewable sources of energy, for ensuring access of the developing countries to latest technologies and developments in this area which are suited to their needs and for mobilizing resources for these purposes.

29. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the positive step taken by the new Government of Iran to cut the oil supplies to the racist and aggressive regimes of Pretoria and Tel Aviv.

In this connexion, the Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the decisions of some governments to supply oil to South Africa and Israel. These decisions, which are in overt opposition to several appeals made by the non-aligned countries in order to implement an oil embargo against the aggressors, increase the capacity of South Africa and Israel to repress the African, Palestinian and other Arab peoples and enable them to intensify their aggression against neighbour States Members of the Non-Aligned Movement.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER

30. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their deep conviction that a lasting solution to the problems of the developing countries can only be achieved by a consistent and fundamental restructuring of international economic relations through the establishment of the New International Economic Order. However, five years after the adoption of resolution 3201 (S-VI) and 3202 (S-VI) of the United Nations, General Assembly, and of the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, the economic situation faced by the developing countries continues its pervasive deterioration, aggravated and accelerated by the effects of the world economic crisis.

The Heads of State or Government deeply deplore the intransigency of most of the developed countries and their refusal to engage in serious negotiation to implement the above-mentioned resolutions which have prevented the fundamental restructuring of international economic relations included in the basic objectives of the New International Economic Order.

The Heads of State or Government stressed the necessity for taking urgent measures for achieving progress towards establishing the New International Economic Order. They considered that, in order to achieve these measures, the developed countries should demonstrate a real commitment to the achievement of accepted international goals and that the developing countries should demonstrate their capacity to reinforce the collective bargaining power.

31. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their firm resolve to resist most resolutely all attempts to divide and break the unity of the non-aligned and other developing countries, all endeavours to seek solutions to world economic problems outside United Nations framework. They denounced all attempts to oppose the just demands of non-aligned and other developing countries for restructuring the existing international economic system. All these attempts are geared to postponing equitable solutions by granting marginal concessions while essentially preserving their privileges.

32. The Conference strongly reiterated that non-aligned countries were historically committed to the need for intensive co-operation at an international level in the search for collective and mutual benefits, but it flatly rejected any interpretation that would lead them to absorb the consequences of a crisis that the developing countries did not cause. It also emphasized the need to ensure that the expansion of international economic relations, to which increased international trade and the technical-scientific revolution inevitably lead, does not result in an ever greater dependency of the developing countries.

33. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the point of view expressed by the Conference of Labour Ministers of the Non-Aligned Countries and other Developing Countries (Tunis, April 1978) that the objective of satisfying basic human needs and eradicating mass poverty could only be durably achieved through a fundamental change in the world economic system, in accordance with the decisions of the sixth and seventh special sessions of the United Nations General Assembly. They also rejected attempts to introduce concepts, norms and principles such as access to supplies, graduation, selectivity, the utilization of the so-called "strategy of basic needs" and the concept of differentiation in order to shift the focus of the international community away from the negotiations on the New International Economic Order, to distort national development priorities or to attempt to breach the unity of the developing countries.

34. The Heads of State or Government expressed their serious concern at the lack of results of the negotiations aimed at the establishment of equitable relations between developed and developing countries, despite the numerous international conferences which have taken place since the adoption of the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of the New International Economic Order. Thus the aspirations of the developing countries have been frustrated by the intransigent attitudes of the majority of developed countries. Recent examples of this include the insignificant results of the General Assembly Committee and those derived by the developing countries from the multilateral trade negotiations within GATT.

35. Within this context, the Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the inflexible positions of most of the developed courtries at the Fifth UNCTAD and noted that this situation contributed to a further aggravation of the already deteriorated situation of international economic relations, thus hindering the implementation of the aims of the New International Economic Order. They urged the developed countries to demonstrate their political will to resume negotiations on subjects of importance to international trade and development, which have been remitted to the Trade and Development Board with a view to speedily arriving at satisfactory solutions.

The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that action for the establishment of the New International Economic Order is included in the framework of the general struggle of the peoples for their political, economic, cultural and social liberation against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism including apartheid and Zionism and all forms of foreign domination and oppression.

The Conference recognized therefore that it is urgent for the non-aligned countries to unite more closely and to fight with determination to establish the New International Economic Order based on equity, sovereignty, equality, interdependence, common interest and co-operation among all States.

36. The Heads of State or Government emphatically stated that the time had come for the non-aligned and other developing countries to learn from the multiple and repeated failures of the negotiations and to act accordingly. The Conference considered it is imperative that these countries counter this strategy with increased cohesion and their willingness to struggle to obtain a real and basic restructuring of international economic relations. It is essential for them to adopt new, more efficient measures and strong responses to the dilatory tactics and manoeuvres used to divide them and to support those countries in their struggle to obtain their legitimate rights to economic development.

37. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the need to preserve and promote the integrity of the concept, objectives and priorities of the New International Economic Order. They stressed that the exercise of full and effective permanent sovereignty and control over natural and all other resources and economic activities, remunerative prices for commodities and raw materials as a way to eliminate unequal exchange, the exercise of control over foreign capital and over the actions of the transnational corporations and the right to be considered equal parties to any international economic process are all essential principles which should be accepted by the developed countries, and whose attainment is decisive to the developing world.

38. In order for the developing countries to exercise these inalienable rights and to attain the potential that will permit them to successfully confront their difficulties, the Heads of State or Government agreed that necessary economic and social structural changes were required. They considered that this was the only way to transform the present vulnerability of the developing countries' economies into creative forces, and for statistical growth to turn into true development, for which the peoples will be willing to pay the price required for them to be the main protagonists in the process.

39. The Conference examined the difficult situation facing the least developed countries and reaffirmed the need to give special attention to the pressing problems of these countries and to take special additional measures to eliminate the fundamental obstacles which these countries have to face.

The Conference also stressed the need to take specific measures and initiatives aimed at solving the special problems facing the land-locked and island developing countries and the most seriously affected developing countries.

It recognized in both cases the need to support vigorously the legitimate demands of those countries in the organs, organizations and programmes of the United Nations system.

40. Rebognizing the evolving role of UNCTAD, the non-aligned countries reaffirmed their clear recognition of UNCTAD as the principal instrument of the General Assembly for international economic negotiations on international trade and related problems of economic development, particularly in the context of negotiations on the establishment of the New International Economic Order and its role as one of the major instruments for review and follow-up of international economic developments, with due regard to the relevant provisions of General Assembly resolution 1995 (XIX) and Conference resolution 90 (IV). They also reiterated that the strengthening of UNCTAD should be seen as one of the key elements in the ongoing process of the restructuring of the social and economic sectors of the United Nations. In this connexion, they urged all countries to provide full support to the implementation of the resolution adopted at the Fifth UNCTAD on institutional issues with respect to the work of UNCTAD.

41. The Conference once again emphasized that the prices of commodities exported by the developing countries to developed countries had continued to drop or to remain at unsatisfactory levels and that prices of the manufactured goods, capital goods, food-stuffs and services which these countries import from developed countries had risen, which had an increasingly negative effect on their deteriorated terms of trade, seriously affecting their foreign exchange earnings and, therefore, their efforts to attain economic development.

The Conference finds it necessary that effective measures be devised to endeavour to protect the purchasing power of the export earnings of the developing countries through regulating trade relations between them and the developed countries and improving their terms of trade vis-à-vis the developed States through the establishment of a link between the prices of goods exported to developed countries and the prices of goods imported therefrom, having due regard for the need to increase solidarity among the non-aligned countries and other developing countries and to strengthen their position vis-à-vis the developed countries by lowering or removing the barriers which the latter have persistently imposed on their imports from developing countries.

42. The I.P.C. and the Common Fund as set forth in resolution 93(IV) of the Fourth UNCTAD constitute mechanisms that would facilitate the regulation and restructuring of the international market for commodities and raw materials; however, to guarantee their effectiveness, the Heads of State or Government agreed that it would be necessary to implement effectively appropriate measures that would permit dynamic stabilization in real terms of the prices of these products, taking account of world inflation, changes in the world economic and monetary situation including exchange rates, terms of trade, production costs and other relevant factors.

43. The Heads of State or Government recognized the importance of the Integrated Programme for Commodities as a means to assist in the real increase of the developing countries' export income, but they expressed concern over the way in which the negotiations had developed and over the slow pace of their advance and condemned the inflexible positions of certain developed countries that have hindered the advance of the negotiations.

44. The Conference regretted the extremely slow pace of the negotiations on individual commodity agreements within the Integrated Programme for Commodities and urged the Governments concerned to move from the stage of statements of intent to that of action and implementation.

The Conference also asked the participating countries to conclude those negotiating conferences in which the technical stage of problem identification had progressed sufficiently, within the extended period of the Integrated Programme for Commodities and urged that the preparatory meetings on the remaining commodities be held as soon as possible.

45. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the importance of the establishment of the Common Fund and reaffirmed the paramount need for the finalization and adoption of the articles of agreement on the Common Fund before the end of 1979.

The progress achieved in the negotiations to create the Common Fund has fallen short of the original objectives.

The announcements of voluntary contributions to the Second Window of the Common Fund and the statements of intent to that end made during UNCTAD V constitutes a step towards the setting up of the Second Window.

The Conference urges those countries and organizations that made statements of intent at UNCTAD V, and those that have not yet done so, to indicate their voluntary contributions before the fourth session of the Negotiating Conference on the Common Fund.

The Heads of State or Government also called upon Governments to work effectively for the early conclusion of negotiations on ICA and commencing negotiations of ICAs on other commodities. They called upon States members of existing ICAs to initiate the process of re-negotiation of ICAs with a view to associating themselves with the Common Fund.

They also called upon the developed countries to establish a framework for international co-operation in the context of the Integrated Programme for Commodities, for expanding in developing countries the processing of primary commodities and the export of processed goods and for increasing the participation of developing countries in marketing and distribution of their commodity exports.

OTHER TRADE PROBLEMS

46. The Heads of State or Government condemned the intensification of traditional restrictive measures and the appearance of new forms of protectionism, imposed by some developed countries, that are detrimental to trade in primary products from the developing countries, which further aggravates their difficulties of access to markets.

47. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the importance of producers' associations as one of the means for the developing countries to exercise their legitimate and inalienable sovereign right to determine the prices of their raw materials and primary commodities in order to obtain just and remunerative prices and to protect and improve the real purchasing power of their exports. They stated that the adoption of firm and concerted measures by the developing countries' producers' associations, the strengthening of these associations and the creation of new bodies of this type would be a decisive contribution to achieving these ends. They recognized the need for close co-operation among developing countries to facilitate the adoption and implementation of concerted commodity policies. They also urged governments, members of producers' associations, to initiate urgent action within the framework of these associations for them to accede to the Statute of the Council of Developing Countries Producers and Exporters of Raw Materials Associations in order to strengthen the co-ordinating role of the Council.

48. The Conference welcomed the Fifth UNCTAD's adoption of a resolution concerning the need for the Secretariat to make a study of complementary facilities for compensatory financing additional to those of the International Monetary Fund, and it condemned the inflexible positions taken in this respect by many market economy developed countries.

49. The Heads of State or Government condemned the increased use by certain developed countries of domestic production subsidies for products of interest to the developing countries, which has a considerable effect on these countries' access to markets. They also considered the urgent need to take individual and collective action to counteract the increase in the protectionist phenomenon, including measures to restrict imports from countries that use protectionist devices in dealing with the developing countries.

50. The Conference expressed deep concern in particular at the breakdown of negotiations of the evolution of a code on multilateral safeguards system on account of the intransigence of a few developed countries. It called upon the developed countries to resume the negotiations on a multilateral safeguards system which would be in the interest of the international community in general and the developing countries in particular.

51. The Conference condemns the escalating protectionist policies and measures of the developed countries directed at the manufactured and semi-manufactured exports of developing countries on a discriminatory basis. The Conference denounced and rejected the application of such concepts as graduation, organized free trade, selectivity and voluntary restraints.

52. The Heads of State or Government deplored the shortcomings in the scope and operation of GSP and expressed the need to give it a legal character and that its operation date be extended beyond 1981. It reiterated that the system should be generalized, non-reciprocal and non-discriminatory and should cease being used as an instrument for political and economic coercion or retaliation. They called upon the preference-giving countries to effect substantial improvements in the scheme by including, inter alia, greater coverage for products of export interest to developing countries; the amount of tariff reductions ; and a radical elimination of such non-tarfff measures as quotas, ceilings and exclusions because of competition requirements, which limit and adversely affect the scheme. In this context, they condemned the discriminatory restrictions contained in the United States Foreign Trade Act. They condemned the inflexible positions adopted by the developed countries with regard to the legal nature of the GSP, which prevented the adoption of agreements on this issue at the Fifth UNCTAD. The product coverage of GSP should be expanded so as to take care of the legitimate interest of those countries whose main exports are agricultural products.

53. The Heads of State or Government underlined the importance of the developed countries taking positive measures for improving the access of manufactured and semi-manufactured exports of developing countries. They urged the developed countries to establish a separate classification in their tariff regime for products of the developing countries with a view to granting them more favourable treatment vis-à-vis similar products from developed countries. They called upon the developed countries to accord special treatment inter alia to handicraft products of developing countries, including handloom products, through duty-free and quota-free entry.

54. The Conference also noted that the margins of preference that favoured the developing countries were narrowing; the codes drawn up to establish new rules for international trade responded basically to the interests of the developed participating countries, and tended o institutionalize their policies on tariff restrictions and to facilitate their application; measures had been introduced that injured the developing countries, such as provisions on graduation and selectivity, which would permit discrimination among developing countries, and the unilateral application of safeguards; and agricultural sectors and tropical products had been dealt with only marginally.

55. Likewise, the Heads of State or Government stressed that it was important for the forthcoming United Nations Conference on Restrictive Trade Practices, convened on the basis of General Assembly resolution 33/153, to arrive at satisfactory results in the negotiation of a number of principles and standards to control restrictive trade practices, particularly those of transnational corporations, which had a negative influence on the trade and development of the developing countries. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government emphasized the necessity to maintain a close link between the results to be obtained at this Conference and those of work being carried out within the United Nations framework on the policies and practices of transnational corporations, and they rejected all attempts to divorce the two questions.

56. The Conference noted that, in the sphere of maritime transportation, even though there were good possibilities that the Convention on a Code of Conduct for Maritime Conferences would come into force soon, the developed countries had maintained a negative position regarding such important aspects as the increased participation of developing countries in world maritime transportation and the development of their merchant fleets. The Conference also reiterated the developing countries' right to equal participation in the transportation of their cargoes, especially those in bulk.

INDUSTRIALIZATION

57. The Heads of State or Government noted once more that the developing countries accounted for a little over 8 per cent of the world's manufacturing output and that, if the present trend and pattern of growth were to continue, the Lima target of 25 per cent by the year 2000 would be far beyond reach.

In this context, the Heads of State or Government noted with concern the drawbacks of the present international economic relations in achieving this goal, including the difficulty being faced by developing countries in gaining access for their manufactured and semi-manufactured products, to the markets of the developed countries and to technologies of developed countries. This is also hampering the increased participation of developing countries in the international trade of manufactured goods.

58. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the role of redeployment of industries as a form of international industrial co-operation including resource transfers aimed at establishing productive capacities in developing countries with a view to increasing their share in the total world industrial production based on their natural resources, development objectives and other socio-economic considerations. They further stressed that redeployment should not be used solely as a pretext for either obtaining access to the abundant and cheap labour in developing countries, or for the transfer of obsolete and polluting industries. Redeployment should be carried out in accordance with over all national objectives, priorities and aspirations of developing countries and should not be associated with the expansion of transnational corporations in developing countries. It should be seen as part of a process designed to promote the transfer of technology to developing countries. The consultation mechanism at present underway in UNIDO should be strengthened and all countries must participate in order to achieve the redeployment of industrial capacities on a dynamic basis to developing countries and the creation of new industrial capacities in these countries.

59. The Heads of State or Government were of the view that the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade should contain concrete goals and policy measures aimed at achieving the Lima target.

60. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the public sector and planning are important tools for the implementation of industrial policies within the national framework of industrialization programmes of developing countries. They stressed that the public sector should be looked upon not only as a producer of imporant and strategic basic goods but also as an effective and stabilizing force for maintaining essential supplies for consumers, for building up essential infrastructural facilities, and for facilitating capital formation having a potential growth of decentralized sectors by making available to it its expertise in technology and management.

61. The Heads of State or Government were strongly of the view that there was a close link between industrialization of developing countries and their access to technology under just and equitable conditions.

62. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the outcome of the negotiations on the transformation of UNIDO into a specialized agency and called upon all countries to take appropriate steps to ratify the agreement to convert UNIDO into a specialized agency with a view to the early start of its operations in that capacity.

They underlined the importance of strengthening the role of UNIDO within the United Nations as the central organ for negotiation, promotion and co-ordination in the area of industrialization, in particular as regards the implementation of the objectives and measures set out in the Lima Declaration and Programme of Action.

63. The Heads of State or Government noted in this connexion the importance of the Third General Conference of UNIDO to be held in New Delhi in January 1980 and the necessity for the non-aligned and other developing countries to formulate a common position for negotiations at the conference aimed at accelerating their industrialization. In this context, they also stressed the need for the conference to take special measures in favour of the least developed countries with a view to helping them overcome the obstacles preventing their rapid industrialization.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

64. The Heads of State or Government, after reviewing the results of the United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for Development and noting with regret that on some substantive issues no decisions were taken at the Conference, emphasized the need for expediting the negotiations on those issues with a view to reaching satisfactory conclusions in accordance with the recommendations of the Vienna Conference in this regard.

The Heads of State or Government welcomed the agreements reached at the Vienna Conference on a number of issues, in particular the institutional and financial issues.

They called on all countries, in particular the developed countries, to contribute effectively to the setting up of the financing system for science and technology for development as agreed by the Conference. They, in particular, call on the developed countries to take part in the pledging conference to be convened before the end of 1979 in order to reach the agreed target of not less than $250 million for the Interim Fund.

65. The Conference emphasized the role of Governments as the main executors of the action programme and as promoters of the implementation of scientific and technological development programmes which should be closely linked to and dependent on the national development programmes; it also emphasized the pressing need to effect profound structural changes of an economic and social nature as one of the important means of guaranteeing the implementation of harmonious and balanced scientific-technical programmes whose results would benefit the whole population.

The Conference also emphasized that the developed countries have a vital role to play in this regard by implementing adequate and effective measures in favour of developing countries with a view to restructuring the existing pattern of international, scientific and technological relations as well as contributing to strengthening the role of the United Nations in the field of science and technology for development.

66. The Heads of State or Government denounced the dramatic effects produced by the brain drain on some non-aligned and other developing countries, mainly on their possibilities for scientific and technological development, and reiterated that this drain really constitutes a gratuitous and inverse transfer of technology. In the light of this, they considered that this question should be studied in all its aspects with a view to taking appropriate action. Thus, the Heads of State or Government consider that, bearing in mind the results of the United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for Development that took place in Vienna in 1979, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries should present a draft resolution to the thirty-fourth United Nations General Assembly proposing follow-up action on the lines of the decision or resolution of the Conference and taking into account the resolution adopted by the Fifth UNCTAD in this regard.

67. The Conference expressed its concern over the state of the negotiations for drawing up a Code of Conduct for the Transfer of Technology and condemned the inflexible positions systematically taken by the market economy developed countries during the UNCTAD Negotiating Conference - which have resulted in the stagnation of the negotiations now in progress. The results of the Fifth UNCTAD on this subject have shown that the positions of those countries continue to be negative. In this context, it reaffirmed the necessity to adopt a universally applicable Code of Conduct in the form of a legally binding document. The Conference recommended that the non-aligned and other developing countries hold a meeting of experts before the Conference of Ministers Plenipotentiary, scheduled for the last quarter of 1979, is resumed in order to concert their positions.

LAW OF THE SEA

68. The Conference reviewed the outcome of the recently concluded 8th Session of the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea, and expressed its concern over the slow progress in the negotiations which effects the rights of all developing countries including the non-aligned countries and which was intended to redress the imbalance in the Law of the Sea which has favoured the developed countries particularly in the context of the establishment of the New International Economic Order. In this connexion the Conference also stressed the need to provide for the legitimate interests of landlocked and geographically disadvantaged States and others with special problems imposed by geographical and geological factors and to ensure that no developing country would be deprived of a greater proportion of their economic potential and entitlement under existing international law. The Conference deplored the threats by some countries to take unilateral action contrary to international law for undertaking deep-sea mining operations and expressed the view that a spirit of understanding and accommodation on the part of these countries would better serve to achieve a just and durable convention which will truly serve "The Common Heritage" principle according to Resolution 2749 of the United Nations General Assembly for the benefit of mankind as a whole. The Conference expressed the hope that the 9th Session of the Conference scheduled to be held in February 1980 would be able to resolve satisfactorily the outstanding issues coming in the way of the adoption of a comprehensive Convention on the Law of the Sea in 1980.

They therefore reaffirm their will to work together towards a successful outcome for this Conference. To that end the member countries of the Movement, members of the Group of 77, must seek to harmonize their viewpoints by taking into account the specific nature of the regional interests.

TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS AND SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATURAL RESOURCES AND ECONOMIC ACTIVITIES

69. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the functioning of transnational corporations in non-aligned and other developing countries and once again denounced the unacceptable policies and practices of transnational corporations which, motivated by exploitative profits, exhaust the resources, distort the economies and infringe the sovereignty of developing countries; violate the principles of non-interference in the affairs of States; infringe the right of peoples to self-determination; and frequently resort to bribery, corruption and other undesirable practices and subordinate the developing countries to the industrialized countries.

70. The Heads of State or Government again reaffirmed the inalienable right of all countries to exercise full permanent sovereignty and control over their natural and other resources and their economic activities including possession, use and disposal of such resources and their right to nationalization. They also reaffirmed the inalienable right of developing countries to exercise supervision, authority, regulation and nationalization of transnational corporations within their national jurisdiction in conformity with their laws and regulations, and their development objectives and principles. They further reaffirmed their willingness to lend rapid, efficient and unreserved support to all other developing countries in their struggle for political and economic independence, exercising effective and concrete solidarity in the face of such economic aggression as blockades, discrimination, boycott, pressure and threats or any other form of aggression that may be adopted by imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, racism including apartheid and Zionism.

71. The Heads of State or Government examined the work carried out within the United Nations to draw up a Code of Conduct to regulate the activities of transnational corporations, and, in this context, they expressed their concern at the inadequate progress in formulating the Code, especially in areas of particular concern to the developing countries, on which developed countries were holding up progress. The Conference reaffirmed the urgency of early completion of the work on the Code in order to provide the international community with a legal instrument to control and regulate the activities of the transnational corporations in accordance with the objectives and aspirations of the developing countries. At the same time, the Heads of State or Government considered it necessary for the non-aligned countries to co-ordinate their positions regarding the Code, particularly with a view to the negotiations on this matter in New York.

72. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their support for the countries whose territories are victims of aggression or still under colonial domination and are subjected to foreign domination, occupation, racism including Zionism and other forms of racial discrimination, apartheid and other exploitive practices; and reaffirmed their inalienable right to full sovereignty over their national resources and economic activities; they also reiterated the duty of all States and peoples to work individually and collectively to eliminate those practices and to extend effective support and assistance to the peoples, countries and territories subject to them, so as to put an immediate end to those major obstacles to their freedom and legitimate aspirations, and in order to promote development and international co-operation, peace and security. They also reaffirmed that no State may promote investments that obstruct or affect the right to political and economic sovereignty and independence of peoples, countries and territories subjected to colonialism, foreign occupation or domination. They also emphasized the right of the countries victims of aggression and the front-line countries in southern Africa and of the Arab peoples and countries subject to Zionist aggressions to be duly compensated for the losses sustained in their struggles.

MONETARY AND FINANCIAL ISSUES

73. The Heads of State or Government examined the international monetary situation and expressed with concern that the present international monetary system is not responsive to the development needs of the non-aligned and other developing countries and has resulted in many cases in the increase of their dependency, continuous deterioriation and weakness of their economies. They also pointed out that, in the present monetary crisis, which is a part of the world economic crisis, the disorderly creation of international liquidity mainly through United States dollars and other reserve currencies was not supportive of orderly and rapid economic development of the world and did not meet the requirements of a stable international monetary system.

74. They strongly emphasized that the international financial situation was increasingly characterized by, inter alia, factors such as unstable exchange rates, generalized inflation, disorderly creation of liquidity in the international money markets and inadequate creation and inequitable distribution of liquidity by international multilateral agencies, the prevalence of the main developed countries which control the monetary system in the decision-making process and, in general, its lack of responsiveness to the needs of the developing countries.

75. The Conference noted that much of the disequilibrium in the developing countries' balance of payments was due to factors external to the developing countries arising from fundamental maladjustments and inequities prevailing in the present world economic structures. However, owing to the structure of the international monetary system, the burden of adjustment has fallen disproportionately on the developing countries with grave repercussions on their development programmes. These negative effects have been underscored and perpetuated by the strict conditionality and the rules as applied by the International Monetary Fund and other financial institutions which use these practices towards developing countries having a deficit in their balance of payments.

76. The Heads of State or Government also reiterated their concern over the failure in the attempts to reform the existing international monetary system controlled by a small group of developed countries that exert an unjustified influence at the decision-making level and use the existing mechanisms as a means of political and economic pressure to the detriment of the developing countries, which constitute the vast majority.

77. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the urgent need to create a new, rational, equitable and universal monetary system that would completely eradicate these phenomena and, in additional, would eliminate the predominant role of some reserve currencies, assure democratic participation of the developing countries in the decision-making process, insure monetary and financial discipline in developed countries and a preferential treatment of developing countries.

78. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their concern that the existing financial mechanisms and institutions have not satisfactorily responded to the objectives and interests of the developing countries. They expressed their conviction that a new, rational, equitable and universal international monetary system would require, in its elaboration and in the negotiationg stages, the full participation of all countries, on an equal footing. The new system should be consistent with the liquidity and development needs of developing countries, including the establishment of a link between the creation of SDRs and the provision of additional development finance.

The Conference agreed on the need for developing countries members of those financial mechanisms and institutions to act in a common and co-ordinated manner, so as to try to correct the policies and practices of these organizations that damage the interests of developing countries.

79. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the external debt had become one of the most pressing problems facing the developing countries. In this regard, they recognized with appreciation the efforts of some developed countries in taking steps to alleviate the ODA debts of some developing countries and urged other developed countries, which had not done so, to take as early as possible the necessary steps to fully implement resolution 165 (S-OX) of the Trade and Development Board to benefit all the poorer developing countries covered by the resolution without discrimination and the completion of negotiations on detailed features of future debt operations in the light of the basic concepts contained in the Resolution.

80. The Conference expressed its concern over the conditions of external financing, strongly condemned the practice of using the debt problems and development assistance to exert pressures or coercion of any kind on the developing countries, including the act of unilaterally interrupting aid and bringing pressure to bear on other countries and international organizations to act in such manner. In this regard the Conference pledged the Movement's solidarity to all those non-aligned and other developing countries subjected to actions of this nature.

81. The Conference took note, with deep concern, of the drop to a mere 0.3 per cent in the net flow of real resources to the developing countries and of the conditions of the transfers of resources from the developed to the developing countries, and urged those developed countries that had not reached the goal of 0.7 per cent in the flow of official development assistance to do so within the stipulated time frame. The Conference emphasized the need for further improvement in the terms of aid with greater provision for programme aid and local cost financing and by fully untying it. The Conference also emphasized that the transfer of resources should be placed on an increasingly assured, continuous and automatic basis and achieve a rational and equitable distribution among developing countries.

82. The Heads of State or Government rejected the unacceptable tendencies of some developed countries and international institutions under their control to make the provision of development resources conditional on the imposition of externally fixed priorities in the national plans and programmes of the recipient countries.

83. The Heads of State or Government urged the Secretary-General of UNCTAD to establish, at an early date, a high level intergovernmental group of experts to examine fundamental issues in the area of international monetary reform, as required in implementation of resolution 128(V) of UNCTAD V held in Manila im May 1979.

AGRICULTURE AND FOOD

84. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern that in spite of recent improvements, the food and agricultural situation faced by the food-deficient developing countries continued to be critical. They regretted ~~the~~ almost total lack of implementation of the provisions in the Declaration and Programme of Action of the World Food Conference, particulary the target for food aid and its forward planning institutions of a system of international food security. They were particularly concerned at the inadequate response from the international community to the fulfillment of the achievement of the twin objectives of rapid agricultural development in developing countries and the progressive liberalization of trade in agricultural products of interest to the developing countries. They underlined the fundamental importance of a substantial increase in the rate of growth of food and agricultural production in the developing countries to a minimum level of 4 per cent per annum. The achievement of this target requires large-scale mobilization of financial and technological resources, a substantial part of which ought to be made available by developed countries. They called upon these countries to take urgent steps to ensure that additional financial and technological resources are earmarked on a priority basis for agricultural development in the developing countries. They condemned the threat of some developed countries to use food as a weapon against developing countries as well as a measure by them to limit food production in order to utilize food as an instrument of pressure.

85. The Conference noted with serious concern that the dependence of non-aligned and other developing countries on imports of food is steadily growing. In this connexion, the Conference emphasized the need for co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in order to fully utilize their complementarities for food and agricultural production to reduce their dependence on developed countries.

86. The Heads of State or Government support the commitment entered into by the African Heads of State or Government at their Summit Conference held in Monrovia in July 1979 to achieve self-sufficiency in food production and supply, and in this respect, seek the support of the FAO to co-ordinate their efforts towards the achievement of immediate and concrete results in food sufficiency in the developing countries.

87. The per capita food production of the developing countries has been stagnant in the past four years while that in the least developed and most seriously affected countries had either stagnated or declined during the past two years. This situation was compounded by the fact that the per capita supplies of dietary energy in the developing countries had declined and the number of under-nourished people had risen substantially. In this context, they noted that increased food production would not by itself solve the problem of under-nourishment, since this problem was intimately tied to the question of poverty and to situations of distributive inequalities and therefore to the over-all policies and priorities of economic and social development. The Conference urged all non-aligned countries and other developing countries to take urgent steps within their national economies to bring about a more rational and equitable distribution of essential food grains.

88. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the deadlock in negotiations on two issues of vital concern to the developing countries, i.e. the new International Wheat Agreement and the proposal for the establishment of a system of world food security. The Heads of State or Government strongly urged the developed countries to summon the necessary political will and display greater vision and adopt a time-bound programme for concluding the negotiations on the above issues, keeping in view the vital interest of the developing countries.

89. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for urgent agreement on the new International Food Aid Convention and called for the delinking of this Convention from the new International Wheat Agreement with a view to bringing it into operation this year itself at increased levels of food aid. They recalled that the 10 million tons target envisaged for the existing Food Air Convention was inadequate in comparison with the present and emerging needs of the developing countries and in the light of the estimates that food aid needs would be to the tune of 15 to 16 million tons by 1985.

90. Considering the urgency of instituting the system of world food security in view of the critical situation faced by a number of food deficit countries and any possible emergency that may arise, and in the absence of agreement at the international level, the Heads of State or Government decided to explore the possibilities of establishing a system of food security of the non-aligned and other developing countries.

91. The Heads of State or Government took note of the Declaration of Principles and the Action Programme adopted by the World Conference on Agrarian Reform and Rural Development, held in Rome in June 1979. They underlined the importance of the non-aligned countries taking concerted action in the vital area of agrarian reforms and integrated rural development as an essential means for eliminating poverty, ensuring participation by the masses in the process of development and as a basis for rapid economic development.

THE NEW INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

92. The Heads of State or Government assessed the progress made in the fulfilment of the goals and objectives and the implementation of the policy measures of the Strategy for the Second United Nations Development Decade. They were of the view that in spite of the likely fulfilment at the global level of some of the quantitative targets of goals made possible mainly due to the domestic and collective self-reliance efforts of the developing countries, most of the objectives of the Strategy had remained unfulfilled and policy measures addressed to the developed and the developing countries had widened instead of being reduced and the position of the developing countries in the world economy had become precarious and their prospects of development uncertain. The grave situation facing the least developed countries had become all the more precarious and progress in combatting poverty, disease, malnutrition and illiteracy remained inadequate. This was due to the nature of the present world economic crisis, the persistent refusal of most of the developed countries to accept the imperative of restructuring the present world economic order and their inflexible policies concerning the legitimate demands of the non-aligned and other developing countries and persistent efforts of imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism, racism, including apartheid and Zionism, exploit and dominate developing countries.

93. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the validity of the guidelines for the formulation of the International Development Strategy for the 1980s given at the Ministerial Meeting at Havana and endorsed by the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries in Belgrade and noted that they had been broadly reflected in the resolution adopted by the General Assembly at its thirty-third session on the preparation for a New International Development Strategy. They called upon the non-aligned and other developing countries represented in the Preparatory Committee for the New International Development Strategy to make every effort to see that these guidelines were fully reflected during the process of the detailed formulation of the Strategy.

94. The Heads of State or Government expressed their grave concern at the total lack of progress so far in the formulation of the Strategy and the inability of the Preparatory Committee to submit a preliminary draft of the New International Development Strategy to the General Assembly at its forthcoming session, as envisaged in General Assembly resolution 33/193. They noted that the stalemate reached in the formulation of the Strategy was primarily due to the attempt of the developed countries to go back on the agreement reached on the principles and objectives of the Strategy, their reluctance to accept quantitative targets of goals and means and to negotiate commitments on adoption of policy measures, and their attempt to impose upon developing countries patterns of development and concepts of interdependence which are designed to perpetuate dependence and domination.

95. The Heads of State or Government warned that there was a real danger of the international community giving up a planned and strategic approach to organizing international development co-operation and reverting to the ad hoc basis of such co-operation which prevailed during the decades of the 1950s and 1960s and placing it on the basis of an ad hoc approach where the developed countries will always have the upper hand.

96. They, therefore, called upon the non-aligned and other developing countries to devote the time available between now and the forthcoming special session of the General Assembly to complete the formulation of the Strategy in time for its adoption by the special session and take into account in the formulation of this Strategy ongoing and future negotiations.

97. The Heads of State or Government considered that, as a vast undertaking involving the entire international community and as a tool for achieving the objectives of the New International Economic Order, the new Strategy inter alia should:

- within the framework of viable, consistent, specific and both qualitative and quantitative goals and objectives, define the role and agreed commitment of all countries expressed in quantified terms and in an agreed time-frame for the adoption and implementation of policy measures to achieve the goals and objectives of the Strategy;

- establish an average rate of growth for developing countries as a group during the Decade at a level commensurate with the need to reduce substantially the present income gap between developed and developing countries by the end of the century, which will warrant the establishment of a target for over-all growth of developing countries at a level higher than that for the Second United Nations Development Decade;

- seek to achieve a breakthrough in the resolution of major issues which are subjects of negotiation in the context of the efforts for the establishment of the New International Economic Order;

- incorporate the comprehensive new programme for the least developed among developing countries adopted at UNCTAD V and as improved upon in the light of experience.

98. The Heads of State or Government considered it basic that the New International Development Strategy should contribute to the developing countries' exercise of sovereignty and control over their natural resources and economic activities, as well as to creating conditions for efficient national exploitation of their resources, with a view to accelerating their development efforts.

99. The Conference stressed that the New International Development Strategy should fully take into account the fact that imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, racism, including Zionism, foreign aggression and domination, the occupation of territories by force, and all other manifestations of exploitation constitute basic obstacles to the emancipation and development of the developing countries and peoples and should therefore be eliminated without delay.

1980 SPECIAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

100. The Heads of State or Government considered that the special session of the General Assembly of the United Nations in 1980 should review the implementation of the New International Economic Order and take effective measures to promote its establishment. It should in particular conclude the negotiations, resolve the outstanding issues relating to the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade, so as it could be adopted at the session.

101. The Heads of State or Government considered it necessary for the special session to produce results commensurate to both the graveness of the moment and the significance of the problems.

102. The Heads of State or Government called on the Governments of the developed countries to re-examine, bearing in mind the need to establish the New International Economic Order, their political positions on most important international economic problems, so as to enable the special session of the General Assembly to adopt effective guidelines.

103. The Heads of State or Government considered that the world economic crisis and the difficult economic situation faced by the developing countries, the limited advances in the negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order, fully justify that the special session should be held at a political level appropriate to the gravity of these problems.

104. The Conference also endorsed the recommendation of the Belgrade Ministerial Conference of Non-Aligned Countries and the Colombo Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau that a ministerial meeting of the Group of 77 should be held prior to the special session of the General Assembly with a view to preparing common positions and platforms of the non-aligned and other developing countries.

LEAST DEVELOPED, LAND-LOCKED AND ISLAND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

105. The Conference

(a) Noted with appreciation the decision taken at UNCTAD V to launch a comprehensive and substantially expanded programme in the form of an immediate action programme (1979-1981) and a substantial new programme of action for the 1980s in favour of the least developed countries including the convening of a United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries, urged the immediate implementation of these programmes and called upon all developed countries who entered reservations thereon to withdraw them;

(b) Urged the immediate and effective implementation of the measures already adopted by Non-Aligned Conferences, the United Nations and other international fora in favour of the least developed countries;

(c) Called upon the non-aligned and other developing countries, in elaborating their programme for greater collective self-reliance and economic and technical co-operation among themselves, to pay particular attention to the special difficulties of the least developed countries.

106. The Conference

(a) Stressed the need for the developed countries, international organizations and financial institutions as well as non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so to provide financial and technical assistance including generous contributions to the United Nations Special Fund for Land-Locked Developing Countries so as to enable them to overcome their transit and transportation problems;

(b) Calls for urgent implementation of special measures adopted in favour of land-locked developing countries by the United Nations and other international fora. Where any programme or action is to be undertaken in or in relation to any transit country, such programme or action will be undertaken with the approval and consent of that transit country;

(c) Recalled subparagraph (g) of paragraph 33 of the Economic Declaration of the Fifth Conference of Heads of State or Government relating to the right of land-locked developing countries to free access to and from the sea.

107. The Conference

(a) Recognized the enduring structural constraints faced by island developing countries in their development process, in particular those constraints arising from smallness, remoteness, great distances from market centres, highly limited internal markets, lack of natural resources, shortage of administrative personnel and heavy financial burdens;

(b) Urged that the specific measures of assistance in favour of island developing countries agreed upon in various General Assembly and UNCTAD resolutions, particularly UNCTAD resolution III (V) on Special Action Related to the Particular Needs and Problems of Island Developing Countries, be implemented by the international community as a matter of urgency. It stressed the need for the competent organs of the United Nations system, in particular, UNCTAD, UNIDO, and UNDP, to enhance their capacity to respond positively to the specific needs of island developing countries at the national, regional and interregional levels, and called on the international community to review the criteria for granting economic and technical assistance with a view to ensuring that the particular circumstances of island developing countries are taken into account;

(c) Also agreed that, in the context of ECDC, the special needs and problems of island developing countries be fully taken into account in the elaboration of specific programmes for collective self-reliance. It urged those developing countries which are elaborating programmes of assistance in favour of other developing countries to give particular attention to requests for assistance from island developing countries.

MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED COUNTRIES

108. The Heads of State or Government expressed their serious concern at the mounting economic difficulties of the countries of the Non-Aligned Movement falling in the category of the Most Seriously Affected Countries. Their difficult economic conditions have been compounded by the disorderly international economic situation over which they have had no control. Their economic progress has been slowed down by the intolerable burden cast on them by a disorderly international economic situation. The Conference therefore urges the international community to assist these countries in every possible way, particularly through urgent concrete measures to help them withstand the adverse effects of world economic crisis and enable them to sustain their development programmes. Such measures should include, inter alia, additional development assistance on grant or grant-like terms, suited to their socio-economic conditions and priorities and thus alleviate their suffering as well as provide adequate debt relief measures and accelerate the implementation of assistance projects in these countries.

/...

COUNTRIES SUFFERING FROM DROUGHT AND OTHER DISASTERS

109. The Conference, deeply concerned by the persistence and harmful impact of national disasters on the fragile economies of certain member countries of the Movement, and especially of African countries, requests the specialized financial and economic institutions of the non-aligned countries, the developed countries, the competent United Nations institutions, and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations to intensify their technical and financial aid to these countries, for example by:

- increasing the real volume of such aid;
- improving the methods and procedures used up to the present time;
- the progressive replacement of foreign experts by nationals of the countries concerned so as to reduce to a minimum the over-all costs of such aid.

Such measures are calculated to assist these countries to implement national and subregional plans for combating natural disaster and, in particular, drought, desertification, hurricanes, excess of water and all types of pests.

ASSISTANCE TO NEWLY INDEPENDENT COUNTRIES

110. The Heads of State or Government recognized and took into account the special difficulties facing the newly independent countries, especially the acute lack of infrastructure necessary for their economic development. The Heads of State or Government noted that many of these countries have attained their independence after a long liberation struggle. In that context they expressed the necessity for the members of the international community to implement the relevant resolutions adopted by the United Nations General Assembly and the Security Council and to provide every possible assistance to the nowly independent countries to enable them to implement their programmes of economic development.

ASSISTANCE TO THE FRONT-LINE STATES

111. The Conference expressed its concern with regard to the situation prevailing in the Front-Line States, constantly subject to attacks emanating from the minority racist régimes of southern Africa and Israel. It appealed to all States to strengthen, both nationally and internationally, all forms of assistance to the Front-Line States, particularly in the economic, financial, material and humanitarian fields, taking into account the ever-increasing influx of hundreds of thousands of refugees driven from their homes by the oppressive racist régimes.

THE ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

112. The Conference stressed that full participation by women in social, political, economic and cultural life was an important index of progress and development and pointed out that the goals that have been fixed, the strategies that have been outlined and the measures that have been drawn up to promote the social status of women and their role in development should be an integral part of the national development plans in each of the member and other developing countries and of the measures for the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

In this respect the recommendations of the Conference of non-aligned and other developing countries on the Role of Women in Development which was held in Baghdad in May 1979 serves as a useful tool for achieving these goals.

113. The Heads of State or Government call upon the non-aligned and other developing countries to participate effectively in the United Nations Conference on the Women's Decade and to adequately contribute to its preparations at the national, regional and interregional levels, bearing in mind the interrelationship between enhancing the role of women in social and economic development and progress in the areas of health, education and employment in the non-aligned and other developing countries.

PROMOTION OF CULTURE AND CULTURAL CO-OPERATION AMONG NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

114. The Heads of State or Government consider development as a process which integrates indivisibly all manifestations of social creativity and implies the active participation of all sections of the population, and therefore reaffirm that man, with all his material, intellectual, spiritual, aesthetic and other aspirations, is the goal of development.

They therefore consider development to be closely linked to the simultaneous promotion, not only of the economy, education, science and technology, but also of culture. The affirmation of cultural identity, in fact, underlies the will to establish a new international economic order in which the appreciation of the values of different civilizations could contribute towards defining original models of endogenous development.

The Heads of State or Government request UNESCO to pursue its consideration of this field so as to ensure that the cultural dimension of development is duly taken into account in the work of the Preparatory Committee for the New International Development Strategy.

TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS DECADE

115. The Heads of State or Government, taking into consideration the difficulties and backwardness experienced in Africa in the field of transport and communications, stressed the urgent need to improve substantially the transport and communications infrastructures on the continent. They took note of the efforts made by the OAU and ECA Secretariats in the preparation of the Pledging Conference on the Transport and Communications Decade (1978-1988) scheduled for 19 November 1979 in New York for the implementation of the Decade Programme and urged the United Nations Secretary-General to take necessary measures to ensure the success of the Pledging Conference.

In this connexion, they appealed to the international community and financial institutions to take into consideration the serious problems that the continent of Africa is facing in improving its transport and communications system.

ECONOMIC AND TECHNICAL CO-OPERATION AMONG THE NON-ALIGNED AND OTHER DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

116. In view of the limited results of negotiations between developed and developing countries since the Sixth Special Session of the General Assembly, the Heads of State or Government stressed the need for the non-aligned countries to continue to take the initiatives in international economic co-operation for development; and in this regard reaffirmed that the non-aligned countries continue to play the central and catalytic role within the Group of 77 in elaborating, adopting and implementing policy decisions concerning international co-operation for development.

The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for due co-ordination in implementing the measures to be adopted under the Action Programme of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and those projected by the Group of 77 in the programme adopted in Arusha in February this year.

117. The Heads of State or Government considered it opportune for the Group of 77 at its coming meeting at the level of Ministers for Foreign Affairs to take a decision on the necessity or otherwise of setting up a technical support unit for the Group, taking into account, inter alia, the report of the Group of 21, the requirements of ongoing and coming negotiations on the establishment of the New International Economic Order and the need to strengthen the co-ordination among developing countries for this purpose.

Economic Resolutions

RESOLUTION NO. 1 ON LAND-LOCKED DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Reiterating the special measures in favour of the land-locked developing countries adopted by the United Nations and other international fora, particularly resolutions 63 (III), 98 (IV), Part IV as agreed and 123 (V) of UNCTAD,

Recognizing that most of the land-locked developing countries are among the least developed among the developing countries; that their lack of territorial access to the sea, aggravated by great distances to seaports, by remoteness and isolation from world markets, and by the greater difficulties and costs of their international transport services, acts as a major impediment to their further economic and social development; that their difficulties often include inadequacy of physical facilities along the transit routes and in the seaports; delays and uncertainties in transit-transport operations, complications relating to the commercial aspects of transiting a foreign territory, as well as very high real costs of access to world markets,

Recognizing further the need to restructure the economies of the land-locked countries to overcome their geographical handicaps,

Reaffirming the right of free access of the land-locked countries to and from the sea,

Concerned at the meagre resources available to the United Nations Special Fund for Land-Locked Developing Countries,

Calls upon developed countries, international institutions, non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so, to take immediate steps for the full implementation of the special measures and specific actions related to the particular needs and problems of the land-locked developing countries,

Urges the international community and international financial institutions to continue to provide and increase their assistance to land-locked developing countries at concessional rates,

/...

Further urges developed countries, non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so, to contribute generously to the United Nations Special Fund for Land-Locked Developing Countries, Recommends intensified activities relating to conducting necessary studies; implementation of the special measures and action programmes, including those under economic co-operation among developing countries, as well as those under UNCTAD, and at regional and subregional levels, in co-operation with regional commissions.

RESOLUTION NO. 2 ON SPECIAL MEASURES IN FAVOUR OF THE LEAST DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Expressing deep concern at the gravity of the economic and social situation of the least developed countries,

Taking into account the need for greatly expanded assistance for the least developed countries, aimed at providing an immediate boost to their economies,

Emphasizing the need for a greatly expanded transfer of official development assistance to the least developed countries,

Emphasizing further the particular importance of the contribution that economic co-operation among developing countries can make to the development of the least developed among them,

Underlining that external support should be forthcoming from developed countries, non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so, multilateral development institutions and other sources,

Recalling various resolutions and decisions adopted by the United Nations and other international fora, particularly resolutions 63 (III), 98 (IV) and 122 (V) of UNCTAD, in favour of the least developed countries,

Calls upon developed countries, international institutions, non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so, to take urgent steps for the implementation of special measures in favour of the least developed countries,

Takes note with satisfaction of a comprehensive new programme of action for the least developed countries as contained in resolution 122 (V) of UNCTAD, and calls for its immediate implementation,

Urges developed countries, international institutions, non-aligned and other developing countries in a position to do so, to commit substantial additional resources to the least developed countries,

/...

Calls upon each developed country to at least double the quantum of its official development assistance in real terms currently being made available to the least developed countries in accordance with resolution 122 (V) of UNCTAD.

/...

RESOLUTION NO. 3 (VENUE FOR UNCTAD VI)

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Recalling that the Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77, held at Arusha, United Republic of Tanzania from 6-16 February 1979, took note with satisfaction of the offer made by the Government of the Republic of Cuba to act as host to the sixth session of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development in Havana,

Recalling likewise that the Trade and Development Board was informed at its tenth special session of this wish expressed by the Government of Cuba,

Recalling furthermore that the Fifth United Nations Conference of Trade and Development adopted by consensus Resolution 107 requesting the Trade and Development Board to recommend to the General Assembly that it should take a decision concerning the site for the Sixth Conference, bearing in mind the offer made by the Government of Cuba,

Aware that the resolution concerning the offer made by the Republic of Cuba came from the Latin American Group and was supported by the Group of 77,

1. Earnestly supports the offer made by Cuba to hold the sixth period of sessions of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development in Havana;

2. Recommends to the Trade and Development Board and the General Assembly that they should give favourable consideration to that offer.

RESOLUTION NO. 4 ON AID AND SOLIDARITY
FOR RECONSTRUCTING NICARAGUA

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Bearing in mind the heroic victory won by the Nicaraguan people under the leadership of the Sandinist National Liberation Front (FSLN) as representative and common force of the Nicaraguan people's exploit against the Somoza dictatorship and as heir of the 150-year struggle against colonial and imperialist domination,

Recognizing that a Government of National Reconstruction has been installed in the country and has adopted an independent, progressive and democratic policy destined to build up a new Nicaragua,

Profoundly concerned by the barbarous, savage and genocidal acts perpetrated by the Somoza regime in its vain attempt to crush the will of the people,

Noting in particular the disastrous economic situation in which the country has been left as a result of the indiscriminate destruction caused by the dictatorship and the plundering of the country's finances,

Convinced of the urgent need for a global programme of international measures for co-ordinating the efforts of governments and international organizations aimed at rescuing the country from its acute economic crisis,

Welcoming with satisfaction the decisions of the Fifth Council of the Latin American Economic System (SELA) held in Caracas from 30 July to 2 August 1979 to set up in Managua an Action Committee for the Reconstruction of Nicaragua, established by the Government of National Reconstruction,

Rejoicing at the non-aligned policy adopted by the new Nicaraguan Government and its admission to the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries,

1. Urges the international community to offer support to relieve the pressing needs of the Nicaraguan people;

/...

2. Calls on Governments and international organizations to consider the reconstruction and economic recuperation of the country;

3. Points out the urgent need for material help, and financial and technical co-operation for the revolutionary Government;

4. Points out that the aid so given should be offered with absolute respect for areas and priorities decided upon by the Government of National Reconstruction;

5. Calls on international financial organizations and the Governments involved therein to pay due attention to the unavoidable need of the country to restructure and renegotiate its important external debt;

6. Urges all member countries of the Movement to give their support to the International Solidarity Fund for the Reconstruction of Nicaragua, recently established by the Government of National Reconstruction, to collaborate with the Action Committee of SELA in the reconstruction of Nicaragua;

7. Warns against any attempt to tie foreign aid with political decisions which threaten national sovereignty and the right to self determination;

8. Denounces the international campaign carried out by reactionary elements to undermine the prestige of and international confidence in the new Nicaraguan Government and obstruct its efforts towards reconstruction and economic recuperation;

9. Condemns all attempts at foreign interference in the internal affairs of Nicaragua.

RESOLUTION NO. 5 ON ASSISTANCE TO THE REPUBLIC OF EQUATORIAL GUINEA FOR RECONSTRUCTION OF THE COUNTRY

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Considering the changes that have taken place in the Republic of Equatorial Guinea since the defeat of the bloody and destructive regime which controlled that country,

Conscious of the state of devastation, misery, ruin and economic chaos into which the Macias regime had plunged the country during its 11 years in office, with the consequent paralysis of all state and administrative activity,

Noting the declaration made at the Summit Conference by the First Vice-President of the Supreme Military Council of Equatorial Guinea, Convinced of the urgent need to render economic, technical, financial, humanitarian and other assistance to the Republic of Equatorial Guinea with a view to restoring the normal functioning of its institutions and ensuring the execution of its global plan for economic and social development,

1. Welcomes the changes which have taken place in Equatorial Guinea favouring a regime which ensures the liberty of the people, the exercise of democracy and respect for the individual, and guarantees the options for future socio-economic and cultural development;

2. Urges all Governments and international organizations to provide the Republic of Equatorial Guinea with the necessary aid so as to relieve its most pressing needs and contribute to its reconstruction and economic growth.

RESOLUTION NO. 6 ON PERMANENT SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATIONAL RESOURCES IN THE OCCUPIED ARAB TERRITORIES

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979

Recalling resolution 29 of the Fifth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, Colombo, August 1976, entitled "Permanent sovereignty over national resources in the occupied Arab territories",

Recalling also General Assembly resolution 32/161 of 19 December 1977, with the same title,

1. Emphasizes the right of the Arab States and peoples whose territories are under Israeli occupation to full and effective permanent sovereignty and control over their natural and all other resources, wealth and economic activities;

2. Reaffirms that all measures undertaken by Israel to exploit the human, natural and all other resources, wealth and economic activities in the occupied Palestinian and other Arab territories are illegal, and strongly condemns Israel for its exploitation of these resources;

3. Further reaffirms the right of the Arab States and peoples subjected to Israeli aggression and occupation to the restitution of and full compensation for the exploitation, depletion, loss and damages to their natural, human and all other resources, wealth and economic activities and holds Israel responsible to meet their claims thereof;

4. Calls upon all States to support and assist the Arab States and peoples and the Palestine Liberation Organization in the exercise of their above-mentioned rights;

5. Urges all States, international organizations, specialized agencies, investment corporations and all other institutions not to recognize or co-operate with or assist in any manner any measures undertaken by Israel to exploit the resources of the occupied territories or to effect any changes in the demographic composition or geographic character or institutional structure of these territories;

6. Condemns Israeli measures aiming at usurping and diverting Arab water resources in Palestine and in other occupied Arab territories; thus depriving the Arab people under occupation of the adequate water resources essential for their livelihood and economic development;

7. _Condemns again_ the activities of foreign economic and other interests in the occupied Palestinian and other Arab territories and calls upon all Governments to take legislative, administrative and other measures in respect of their nationals and the oil companies and other institutions and corporate bodies under their jurisdiction who own or operate enterprises in the occupied Arab territories in order to put an end to the activities of such enterprises and to prevent any such operations in these territories, and to refrain from any co-operation with the occupying power;

8. _Condemns also_ all countries or regimes which provide the Israeli occupation authorities with strategic materials, especially oil, thereby strengthening Israeli grip over Arab territories and assisting its persistent expansionist policy, in violation of the numerous resolutions of the Non-Aligned Movement and those of the United Nations;

9. _Recommends_ that all member States of the United Nations should take joint action in the General Assembly to request the Secretary-General to undertake through the Office of Public Information of the Secretariat and any other channels available, a sustained and wide campaign with a view to informing world public opinion of the facts concerning the pillaging of natural resources and the exploitation of the indigenous Arab populations in the occupied territories, particularly the Palestinian people and its labour force, by Israel and by other foreign economic interests.

RESOLUTION NO. 7 ON POLICY GUIDELINES ON THE REINFORCEMENT OF COLLECTIVE SELF-RELIANCE BETWEEN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Having in view the present instability of the world economy characterized inter alia by generalized double-digit inflation, monetary disorder and the persistence of reverse transfers of resources specially through transnational corporations, which adversely affect the economies of the developing countries,

Decides to adopt the following policy guidelines addressed to the competent authorities in the countries members of the Non-Aligned Movement in the broader context of the reinforcement of their collective self-reliance;

a) Non-aligned countries should, without prejudice to their national interests or to their existing commitments, grant one another priority of supply for their exportable primary products and commodities on an annual or pluri-annual basis to meet their respective minimum needs on a planned and assured basis and, to the extent possible, their emergency needs in case of temporary dislocation of supplies;

b) Where priority of supply is given it should be effected through direct contract between the governments of the exporting and of the importing country;

c) Non-aligned countries should participate in joint projects relating to the creation of production and processing capacities drawing on inputs available in non-aligned countries in the field inter alia of petro-chemicals, fertilizers, agricultural production, pharmaceuticals, transport, communications, shipping and insurance within the framework of generally accepted statutory rules to be elaborated at an early date for such joint enterprises;

d) Organization of research and development of non-aligned countries on a collective basis with shared financing and participation in the results thereof and focusing on priority areas such as new and renewable sources of energy and food production;

e) There should be, when appropriate, an improvement in efficiency and a fuller utilization of resources of intergovernmental development financing institutions of non-aligned and other developing countries, increasing concentration in areas of priority concern to recipients, with due regard to financing in areas not traditionally covered by existing international financial institutions controlled by developed countries, taking increasingly into account in the distribution of funds the urgent needs of the least developed countries in particular, as well as of the most seriously affected countries;

f) All non-aligned countries in a position to do so should take measures to increase their financial assistance to other non-aligned countries in need, giving particular attention to the special difficulties of the least developed countries and taking into account the special problems facing the most seriously affected countries;

g) All non-aligned countries investing funds abroad are urged to channel an increasing part of those funds to other non-aligned countries. Within the framework of their national policies the non-aligned recipient countries are urged to take steps in order to ensure the security of investments of other non-aligned countries and to grant specially favourable treatment to those investments.

Other developing countries not members of the Non-Aligned Movement are invited to adhere to these policy guidelines.

RESOLUTION NO. 8 ON ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES IN THE FIELD OF PHARMACEUTICALS

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Reoalling the Non-Aligned Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at the Fifth Summit hold in Colombo in August 1976,

Recalling also resolution 25 on Co-operation Among Developing Countries in the Production, Procurement and Distribution of Pharmaceuticals adopted at the same Summit,

Recognizing the importance of pharmaceuticals in promoting the health and well-being of the people of the developing countries,

Bearing in mind the need for increased co-operation among developing countries in ensuring the rationalization of production and distribution of pharmaceuticals in the context of the identification of the essential drug requirements of those countries,

1. Endorses the recommendations contained in the report entitled "Phaumaceuticals in the Developing World - Policies on Drugs, Trade and Production" presented by the Government of Guyana in its capacity as Co-ordinator of the Trade, Transport and Industry sector of the Non-Aligned Action Programme for Economic Co-operation, which propose among other things:

(a) The establishment during the next two years of at least three - but probably as many as six - regional co-ordinating institutions (such as Regional Co-operative, Pharmaceutical Production and Technology Centres (COPPTECS) or Regional Pharmaceutical Centres), appropriately distributed in each developing region, to serve as the main links between national organizations in the region and to perform some of the following functions:

(i) elaboration of drug lists and formulas;

(ii) pooled procurement, inventory control and forecasting systems at the regional level;

/...

(iii) elaboration of legal principles relating to industrial property;

(iv) elaboration of tenders and master contracts for drug imports;

(v) provision of information on sources of supply and technology;

(vi) assisting in the screening and evaluation of drug imports;

(vii) price monitoring, control of transfer pricing and technology import mechanisms;

(viii) promoting industrial co-operation among member countries;

(ix) assisting in securing equipment imports on the most economic terms;

(x) organizing training of government officials in health policy, procurement, production, etc.;

(xi) the production of pharmaceuticals and intermediates for several countries;

(xii) research in laboratory, pilot plant, semi-industrial and industrial processes for the introduction of new products and the adaptation of imported technologies;

(xiii) the preparation of feasibility reports on pharmaceutical development projects;

(xiv) ensuring quality control in respect of raw materials, intermediates and finished goods.

(b) The deployment of efforts to secure the establishment or expansion during the next two years of at least three formulation plants, but probably as many as six, appropriately distributed in each developing region;

(c) the production of medical plants for export or further processing and the establishment of national herbaria;

(d) production of apotherapeutics and active substances from gland and other abattoir by-products;

2. Expresses its appreciation to UNDP for financing the initial Project on Co-operation Among Developing Countries in the Field of Pharmaceuticals and also to UNCTAD, UNIDO, WHO and the United Nations Department of Technical Co-operation for Development (UNDTCD) for the effective support provided to the Government of Guyana, in its capacity as Executing Agency, in the implementation of the Project;

3. Invites the Governments of the developing countries and the relevant international organizations such as UNDP, UNCTAD, UNIDO and WHO to assist in the achievement of the objectives outlined in operative paragraph 1 above;

4. Decides that the Co-ordinator of the Trade, Transport and Industry sector of the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation should take the necessary action, in consultation with the Co-ordinator of the Health Sector of the Action Programme, to ensure the early implementation of the provisions of this resolution.

RESOLUTION NO. 9 ON GLOBAL NEGOTIATIONS RELATING TO INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Recalling the appeal launched at its Fourth Conference held in Algiers, to the international community to establish a new system of world economic relations based on equality and common interest of all countries and the ensuing Declaration and Programme of Action for the Establishment of the New International Economic Order adopted by the Sixth Special Session of the General Assembly of the United Nations,

Recalling also that at its Fifth Conference held in Colombo, the Heads of State or Government stressed that the establishment of the New International Economic Order calls for bold initiatives, demands new, concrete and global solutions and cannot be brought about by piecemeal reforms and improvisations intended to resolve the present economic difficulties,

Having examined the views and recommendations contained in the Declaration, in particular Paragraphs 29-32 thereof relating to global negotiations on international economic co-operation for development, adopted by the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of Non-Aligned Countries at Colombo from 4-9 June 1979,

Noting with deep concern that despite a large number of international conferences aimed at the establishment of the New International Economic Order, no real progress has been achieved because of the absence of genuine political will on the part of a large majority of developed countries to engage in meaningful negotiations,

Condemning in this context the resort by some developed countries to tactics intended to divide the developing countries and the resort to dilatory manoeuvres and to policies aimed at fragmenting global issues of international concern in order to relieve themselves from their obligations in the field of international economic co-operation for development,

Reaffirming their commitment to the solidarity of the developing countries which make it possible to harmonize diversity of interests, adopt unified positions and strengthen the collective bargaining power of developing countries,

/...

Reaffirming also their constant commitment to seek to achieve through negotiations the restructuring of the world economy on the basis of the principles of justice and equality,

Emphasizing that negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order must take place within the United Nations system,

Reaffirming in this context the central role of the General Assembly of the United Nations,

1. Endorses the proposal made at the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Countries held in Colombo on the launching of a round of global and sustained negotiations on international economic co-operation for development, such negotiations being action-oriented, allowing for an integrated approach to the main issues involved, proceeding simultaneously on different planes and being open to universal participation;

2. Considers that such negotiations should:

- take place within the United Nations system with the full participation of all States and within a specified timeframe;
- include major issues in the field of raw materials, energy, trade, development, money and finance;
- make a significant contribution to the implementation of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade.

3. Further considers that these negotiations should not involve any interruption of the negotiations in other United Nations fora but should reinforce and draw upon them;

4. Calls on the developed countries to respond positively to such a proposal, the prospects of which will be conditional upon a change in the attitude of these countries and on a clear commitment on their part to engage in good faith in genuine negotiations in the context of the establishment of the New International Economic Order;

5. Emphasizes that the Group of 77 should, after having adopted the proposal concerning the global negotiations on international economic co-operation for development, introduce it formally at the forthcoming session of the Committee of the Whole created under Resolution 32/174 of the General Assembly;

6. Considers that the Committee of the Whole should act as the preparatory committee for these negotiations and submit to the Special Session of the General Assembly in 1980 its final report containing its recommendations on the procedures, the timeframe and the detailed agenda for the global negotiations;

7. Emphasizes that these negotiations should be preceded by preparatory ministerial level meetings of the Group of 77 to examine the different components of the negotiations, define the strategy of the developing countries for these negotiations, and ensure that the implications of this strategy will be conducive to the strengthening of their bargaining power and collective self-reliance;

8. Recommends to the forthcoming meeting of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Group of 77 to decide on the arrangements for the preparatory phase of the global negotiations at the level of the developing countries.

RESOLUTION NO. 10 ON ASSISTANCE FOR THE RELIEF AND RECONSTRUCTION OF DOMINICA FOLLOWING THE DEVASTATION OF THAT COUNTRY BY HURRICANE DAVID

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Expressing deep sympathy with the people of Dominica, on the devastation caused by Hurricane David on 29 August 1979,

Considering that practically the entire economy and infrastructure of the country was destroyed,

Considering that that small island had just attained political independence and was therefore just beginning its development efforts after the ravages of colonialism,

Welcoming the very generous responses of non-aligned and other countries to the appeal by the countries of the Commonwealth, Caribbean and Sri Lanka with the support of the President of the Conference for assistance to the people of Dominica,

Urging the international community to offer support to the people of Dominica in the effort to reconstruct the economy and society of Dominica,

Decides on the request of the Government of Dominica that the President of the Movement should establish an ad hoc group, among member countries, to administer the Fund.

RESOLUTION NO. 11 ON MATERIAL ASSISTANCE TO THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

The Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Havana, Cuba, from 3 to 8 September 1979,

Bearing in mind that the Dominican Republic has suffered great losses owing to Hurricane "David",

Considering that thousands of persons have been left homeless,

Recognizing that the present situation in the Dominican Republic is a public calamity,

Considering that an attitude of solidarity with the Dominican people must be demonstrated,

1. Exhorts all the countries of the international community and especially the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to offer effective aid to the Dominican Republic;

2. Notes that without the support and solidarity of the international community the Dominican Republic will not be able to overcome by its own efforts the public calamity which it is now experiencing;

3. Requests that the material aid in question should be made available immediately, in view of the emergency situation which the Dominican people are experiencing.

ACTION PROGRAMME FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

I. INTRODUCTION

The Heads of State or Government recalled that the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted at Colombo was the first effective and comprehensive programme for co-operation and exchanges among the non-aligned countries. They reviewed the implementation of the Programme during the last three years and expressed concern at the insufficient progress made in implementation, which was not commensurate either with the political will or with the potentials of their countries for mutual co-operation. They were convinced that it was essential to strengthen the Action Programme, as it represented a necessary step in the process of achieving collective self-reliance, development of the economies of non-aligned and other developing countries and an important element in the struggle to establish the New International Economic Order.

The Conference emphasized that the Programme for Mutual Economic Co-operation should be further strengthened and its implementation accelerated by adopting more dynamic measures, especially realistic and feasible schemes and proposals of vital concern to developing countries, and undertaking at the national level, as well as through joint efforts, such policy measures as would improve the quality and effectiveness of this Programme.

The Heads of State or Government were convinced of the need for finding effective means to ensure that the human, financial, organizational, technological and natural resources of all non-aligned and other developing countries were mobilized for effective mutual co-operation. In this context, they decided that some of the major projects on which negotiations had already been going on for a considerably long period of time should be rapidly brought to fruition not later than the end of 1980. These should include the Non-Aligned Solidarity Fund for Economic Development, the Project Development Facility, the Council of Developing Countries Producers and Exporters of Raw Materiales Associations, the Non-Aligned Information Centre on Transnational Corporations, and short-term measures aimed at finding speedy solutions to some of the immediate problems faced by some non-aligned countries.

The Heads of State or Government agreed that, where possible, priorities and target dates for the various proposals contained in the Action Programme should be established.

The Heads of State or Government considered that the hiatus prevailing between the Programme for Economic and Technical Co-operation and its actual implementation was in large part due to inadequate or ineffective enforcement. They, therefore, felt that it was important for the implementation of the Programme to be monitored at a high political level and in this connexion felt that the Co-ordinating Bureau at ministerial level should review the implementation of this Programme at regular intervals.

They noted with satisfaction the adoption of the Arusha Programme for Collective Self-reliance and Framework for Negotiations by the Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77, held in February 1979, as a valuable contribution to the promotion of economic co-operation among developing countries.

In this connexion, they took note of the initiative of the Group of 77 during the fifth session of UNCTAD in Manila and of its recommendation to the Meeting of Foreign Ministers of the Group of 77 to be held at the beginning of the thirty-fourth session of the United Nations General Assembly to consider the possibility of establishing an ad hoc committee on multilateral economic co-operation among developing countries within the Group of 77.

The Heads of State or Government reiterated that, in the framework for economic co-operation embodied in the Action Programme of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, other developing countries that so desired might participate and contribute to its effective implementation. In this regard, the Heads of State of Government reiterated the invitation to non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate with the co-ordinating countries and, through consultations with them, to take measures for implementing the decisions that have been adopted.

The Conference expressed its appreciation for the initiative of the delegation of Iraq in submitting a number of proposals on how to improve the implementation of the Action Programme and decided that the Co-ordinating Bureau should meet at expert level with the experts of the co-ordinating countries in various fields of economic and technical co-operation among the non-aligned countries of the Movement to conduct a study in depth on the reasons for not achieving sufficient progress in the implementation of previous decisions and to submit a report to the forthcoming Ministerial Conference of Non-Aligned Countries. This report should provide specific recommendations on how to tackle effectively the situation.

II. AREAS OF ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

A RAW MATERIALS

The Conference

Recommended to the co-ordinating countries in this area that they should meet as soon as possible in order to study, analyse and plan action that will make it possible:

(a) To promote the establishment of new associations of producers-exporters of raw materiales of export interest to developing countries;

(b) To strengthen support to existing associations by, inter alia, the membership in these associations of non-aligned and other developing producer-exporter countries which have not yet joined them;

(c) To underscore the need for close co-operation among producers' associations and, in this connexion, to urge governments members of such associations to initiate within them urgent measures to ensure that they adhere to the statutes of the Council of Producers' Associations approved by the plenipotentiaries of the non-aligned countries and other developing countries;

(d) To ratify their support for the Integrated Programme for Commodities and, accordingly, to invite the countries and international organizations that have not yet done so to make voluntary contributions to the Second Window of the Common Fund; and

(e) To give firm support to the Secretariat of UNCTAD in carrying out the study assigned to it by the Fifth Session of UNCTAD on complementary facilities for compensatory financing and, once this has been done, to hold a meeting of co-ordinating countries in order to consider the implementation of its recommendations.

B. TRADE

The Conference decided

(a) To support and strengthen the work of the trade information nucleus within the APEC/TTI Project in Georgetown and to request the national, subregional and regional organizations to co-operate with APEC/TTI by providing relevant trade-related information to enable it to provide a constant exchange of information among developing countries in order to facilitate increased trade among them;

(b) To recommend that the non-aligned and other developing countries should study, within the time-limits decided at the Arusha Conference, the document prepared by UNCTAD. It also urged that negotiations be initiated to establish a global system of trade preferences among the developing countries with the utmost urgency;

(c) To reiterate the desirability of studying the establishment among non-aligned and other developing countries of multinational marketing enterprises in the public sector;

(d) To take note of the report on the work being undertaken by APEC/TTI on trade flows among developing countries with a view to identifying the possibilities for increased trade among developing countries both in traditional and new products, as well as on patterns of trade; and

(e) To reiterate the need for the convening of a meeting of representatives of State trading organizations and ministries of foreign trade to identify specific action in promoting co-operation among State trading and marketing organizations of the developing countries taking into account the study prepared by the UNCTAD Secretariat on State trading organizations and also the findings of the study on the same subject commissioned by the APEC/TTI Secretariat. In this connexion the Conference recognized that the Centre on Public Enterprises in Ljubljana (Yugoslavia) could make an important contribution in this field and therefore decided that APEC/TTI should establish a close liaison with the Centre in seeking to promote co-operation in this area.

C. TRANSPORT

The Conference

Emphasized the need to adopt concrete measures to facilitate the co-ordination of agreements for improving and extending maritime, air, road and railroad transport among the non-aligned and other developing countries.

Decided also to:

(a) Urge the Member Governments of the Convention on a Code of Conduct for Liner Conferences to adopt all the measures required for its early implementation and invite those Governments that have not already done so to accede to it;

(b) Reiterate the importance of establishing joint liner conferences and maritime services among the non-aligned and other developing countries;

(c) Confirm the need to creat joint enterprises and other national, regional and subregional maritime, air and land transport facilities;

(d) Promote joint action aimed at achieving an increasing and fair share for the developing countries in tonnage and in world maritime trade;

(e) Urge that fair and reasonable freight rates be established so as to promote expansion of trade among the non-aligned and other developing countries;

/...

(f) Promote concerted action within UNCTAD, IMCO and other competent international agencies to induce them to establish and extend their advisory services to the developing countries on all aspects of transport; and

(g) Support this inclusion in the Georgetown APEC/TTI Project of the following studies, provided that it has the necessary means:

- research on transport problems and means of improving the present situation as regards the transport of products of existing producers' associations and of commodities to be produced by new producers' associations;
- a study on trade tariffs, costs and forms of transport on the products identified in the study of trade plans among developing countries; and
- a study on the aspects of transport problems relating to the industrial sectors included in the APEC/TTI Project.

D. INDUSTRIALIZATION

The Conference

Decided to urge that co-operation in this area be supported, especially in the following areas:

(a) By stepping up activities in other industrial branches such as fertilizers and sugar derivatives;

(b) By encouraging the adoption of long-term agreements on product specialization through complementary industrial agreements;

(c) By promoting the harmonization of the economic policies of the transnational corporations and greater co-ordination of industrial complementarities, taking into account economies of scale and specialization;

/...

(d) By continuing to work in the field of pesticides and food processing with a view to the elaboration of a detailed action-oriented programme of co-operation among developing countries. In this connexion, the Conference urged the full co-operation of all developing countries and invited the technical and financial support of appropriate international organizations in promoting co-operation in these fields; and

(e) By promoting closer co-operation in the field of transfer of technology specifically relevant to the programme of industrial complementation.

Noted with appreciation that India, in keeping with the decision of the Colombo Summit Conference, had prepared and distributed a study on the fullest use of complementaries among non-aligned and other developing countries in terms of resources, endowments and industrial and technological capabilities; and

Decided that an expert group should be set up in order to:

(a) Analyse the report with a view to identifying concrete and specific areas of complementarities and disseminate the information derived from that analysis; and

(b) Formulate concrete projects to be presented to the Ministerial Conference in 1981 for adoption and implementation.

E. MONETARY-FINANCIAL CO-OPERATION

The Conference

(a) Took note of the delay in the preparation of studies by the co-ordinating countries in the field of monetary and financial co-operation and requested that they be finalized as soon as possible;

(b) Issued an appeal to the non-aligned countries to volunteer to act as hosts for the proposed meeting of representatives of central banks and finance ministers to determine the reasons for the delay in applying the decisions made in this field and to define the measures that should be taken to implement them;

(c) Decided to urge the adoption of measures:

- To encourage the conclusion of reciprocal credit agreements among the non-aligned and other developing countries;

- To develop the training of personnel from the developing countries in this field;

- To develop the exchange of experience in monetary and financial activities, with special emphasis on the matters discussed at the meeting of the Group of Co-operation among central banks, held in January 1978; and

- To strengthen contacts between the ministers of finance and central banks of developing countries in order to make the necessary studies of the non-aligned countries' financial and trade expansion needs.

(d) Requested the co-ordinating countries to hold their annual meeting to evaluate the status of the work assigned to the working and research group and, among other matters, to define co-operation with respect to personnel training and the exchange of experience in this field; and

(e) Underlined the great importance of the meeting of the Group of 77 at the level of ministers of finance or economic affairs to be held in Belgrade on 29 September 1979, prior to the Annual Meeting of the IBRD and IMF. It invited all non-aligned and other developing countries to participate in the meeting, which should strengthen the role of non-aligned and other developing countries in the negotiations for the fundamental reform of the international monetary system and for the promotion of international financial-co-operation.

F. SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) Expressed its satisfaction at the offer of the Government of India to be the headquarters country for the Non-Aligned Centre for Science and Technology and urged that a Plenipotentiary Conference be held to approve the Statutes of the Centre;

(b) Requested the Co-ordinating Bureau to evaluate the findings of the United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for Development and to take action on aspects which are of benefit to the non-aligned and other developing countries;

(c) Recommended that the non-aligned and other developing countries should hold a prior meeting in order to harmonize positions at the Plenipotentiary Conference for the establishment of the Code of Conduct for the Transfer of Technology; and

(d) Suggested that the links of co-operation and exchange among national and regional centres for the transfer of technology be strengthened.

G. TECHNICAL CO-OPERATION AND CONSULTANCY SERVICES

The Conference

(a) Supported the agreements adopted at the United Nations Conference on Technical Co-operation among developing countries, which reflected the majority of the proposals in this area from the Colombo Summit Conference, and urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to take the necessary measures to implement the recommendations contained in the Plan of Action of the Conference;

(b) Requested the United Nations bodies, especially the United Nations Development Programme, to provide effective support for the implementation of the Plan of Action adopted at the Conference; and

(c) Noted that the Group of Experts from consultancy organizations of non-aligned countries and other developing countries which met in New Delhi in July 1979 had declared that the Project Development Facility was a feasible and viable proposition and had stressed the urgency of establishing the proposed facility at an early date. The Conference endorsed the recommendations of the meeting to establish the Project Development Facility of the non-aligned and other developing countries and approved the constitution of a similar group of experts to elaborate and finalize the Statutes for setting up the facility, including the elaboration of its organizational and financial aspects. The Group should complete its work by mid-1980.

H. FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

The Conference

(a) Expressed its concern at the lack of results in this sector and urged the co-ordinating countries to take the necessary measures to implement those elements dealt with at the Colombo Summit Conference, especially the resolution on food and agricultural production approved at that Conference;

(b) Expressed its serious concern over the critical food situation in many non-aligned and other developing countries and the inability of the international community to speedily conclude the negotiations for setting up an effective system of world food security. In the light of this development and the importance and urgency for establishing an effective system of food security, the Conference decided that the non-aligned and developing countries should expeditiously set up a food security system of their own. For this purpose, the Conference decided that the experts of the co-ordinating countries should undertake a comprehensive study, including institutional arrangements, of the possibility of establishing such a food security system. The experts should submit their report to the next meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau at the ministerial level;

(c) Requested the co-ordinating countries to take into account the findings of the World Conference on Agrarian Reform and Rural Development and the World Food Council to the effect that the necessary measures should be taken to promote the implementation of the relevant recommendations in this sector; and

(d) Underscored the importance of agricultural produce co-operatives, including food co-operatives and co-operatives for such related fields as processing, marketing and transportation, and called on the non-aligned countries and other developing countries to provide the assistance required to develop them.

I. FISHERIES

The Conference decided

(a) To promote the agreements and recommendations adopted at the meetings of experts and of co-ordinating countries, held in Havana and in Tripoli, which approved the following actions:

- To initiate forthwith feasibility studies on the establishment of multinational fishery enterprises among non-aligned and other interested developing countries;

- To press for the continuation and strengthening of support from international organizations, especially FAO and UNDP, in the work related to this sector of co-operation and in drawing up regional, interregional or global projects that technically and economically assist the attainment of the goals set in this field;

- To urge non-aligned and other interested developing countries to communicate as soon as possible to the relevant co-ordinating country their interest in fisheries co-operation and their potential for providing assistance in this sector of co-operation, in accordance with the questionnaire approved for this purpose;

- To develop ideas for economic and scientific and technical co-operation projects in deep-sea fishing, aquaculture and the fishing industry;

- To hold annual meetings of governmental experts in one or another of the co-ordinating countries, or at FAO headquarters in Rome, in order to evaluate and adjust the strategy approved for this sector; and

/...

- To hold the Third Fisheries Co-operation Meeting of non-aligned and other developing countries in one of the co-ordinating countries in November 1980. The delegations attending this Meeting should be headed by representatives of the highest fisheries authority of their respective countries; and

(b) To take note of the offer of some non-aligned countries, Yugoslavia and Cuba in particular, to make available their fishery training schools to provide courses and train technicians at the primary, middle and higher levels.

J. INSURANCE

The Conference

(a) Reaffirmed that in this sector the following elements should be developed:

Training of experts;

Exchange and dissemination of information;

Feasibility of reciprocal exchange of insurance and reinsurance;

Formulation of a stronger bargaining base with reinsurance markets in developed countries;

Strengthening of regional reinsurance organizations; and

Examination of the possibility of establishing joint insurance and reinsurance arrangements among developing countries; and

(b) Reaffirmed the need for the establishment of insurance and reinsurance arrangemets among non-aligned and other developing countries for the purpose of preserving foreign exchange, risk-sharing, reducing dependency on transnational corporations and strengthening bargaining capacity vis-à-vis the insurance markets of developed countries.

K. HEALTH

The Conference

(a) Taking into account the deliberations of the three meetings of the Health Ministers of non-aligned and other developing countries during the World Health Assembly, and considering the satisfactory outcome of the discussions to develop international health policies and practices, aimed at dicisively tackling those countries' health problems, agreed that unified action within the framework of WHO should be continued and that ministerial meetings of this nature should be held annually. These meetings, which should be held during the annual session of the World Health Assembly, would examine the implementation of the Action Programme in the field of health and be responsible, together with the co-ordinating countries, for the preparation of the report on the implementation of this Action Programme to the next Summit Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries;

(b) Decided to apply the following priorities approved by the Third Meeting of Health Ministers, held in May 1979 in Geneva:

- To adopt as the main criterion in assigning priorities that of guaranteeing the population of our countries primary health care, in accordance with the guidelines approved at the Alma Ata Conference;

- To establish adequate organization and monitoring for providing people with comprehensive health care, in accordance with available human and material resources;

- To encourage community participation in health programmes, particularly in activities aimed at disease prevention;

- To promote the exchange of experience and advice in maternal and child health programmes;

/...

- To promote the exchange of experience and advisory services in communicable disease control programmes;

  To define the need for professionals, technicians and skilled workers in the field of health;
  to promote their training and advancement by establishing multilateral co-operation programmes;

- Gradually to subordinate the production, marketing and distribution of medicines to the needs of each country's health system;

- To establish and incorporate nutrition programmes in the health plans of the countries, promoting the exchange of experiences among them;

- To organize and improve statistical information in the health services, on the basis of existing sources, so that it provides the data required for planning, monitoring and evaluating activities; and

- To draw up the appropriate strategies for preservation of the environment;

(c) Decided that, with the aim of contributing to the prompt and efficient implementation of priority aspects in this area of the Action Programme, it is necessary:

- To promote co-operation projects among the developing countries, encouraging programmes of co-operation with respect to priority aspects, and to give them preference in the assignment of the available human, material and financial resources; and

- To promote projects of regional, interregional and global co-operation with international organizations, through the international agencies of the United Nations system and other organizations concerned with health;

(d) Requested the international organizations of the United Nations system and other international organizations concerned with health:

- To pay special attention to co-operation projects submitted by developing countries, whether national, inter-country, regional, interregional or global; and

- To make the existing machinery for facilitating co-operation by the World Health Organization and its regions with the developing countries more widely known. The World Health Organization should co-ordinate through its information system material relating to the possibilities of co-operation of certain developing countries and the needs of others, so as to facilitate co-operation among them; and (e). Invited the non-aligned and other developing countries to promote practical global and bilateral co-operation activities in the field of health, in close collaboration with the national liberation movements, in those countries that are struggling against oppressive racist regimes and against the last remaining hotbeds of colonialism. Invited also those countries to promote such activities within international agencies concerned with health.

L. EMPLOYMENT AND HUMAN RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) Approved and decided to give impetus to the Action Plan adopted by the Ministers of Labour of the non-aligned countries and other developing countries who met at Tunis in April 1978. The Conference stressed in particular the need:

- To undertake specific activities with a view to supporting the implementation, at the national and international levels, of the Declaration of Principles and the Action Programme adopted for the World Tripartite Conference on Employment, Income Distribution, Social Progress and the International Division of Labour, of the resolution adopted at the Sixty-fifth International Labour Conference relating to the form to be taken by the World Employment Conference, and of the relevant decisions of the Fifth Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries, held at Colombo;

- To develop co-operation between the non-aligned countries and other developing countries in vocational training and improvement of workers' qualifications through research, seminars and other forms of exchange;

- To develop vocational guidance services so as to harmonize the interests of job seekers with the needs of the national economies of our countries;

- To promote within the framework of the International Labour Organization the requisite co-ordination between the non-aligned and other developing countries in order to harmonize positions on the various problems taken up in the ILO and secure greater and more effective support by that United Nations agency for the Movement's Action Plan in the area of employment and human resources development; and

- To maintain periodic exchanges between the non-aligned and other developing countries in this area at the level of Ministers of Labour and experts, in order to achieve the objectives set forth in the Action Plan adopted for this area;

(b) Took note of the resolutions and recommendations adopted in this area by the United Nations Conference on Technical Co-operation Among Developing Countries (held in Buenos Aires in 1978);

(c) Supported and decided to give impetus to the recommendations of the Foreign Ministers, adopted at the Ministerial Conference held at Belgrade in July 1978, on the drafting of a plan for co-operation in education and culture that will take into account the serious problems that most of the non-aligned and other developing countries face in terms of general education and the need to disseminate information about our cultures and make them better known; and

(d) Ratified the recommendation of the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Belgrade in July 1978, that conferences of Ministers of Labour should be held periodically with a view to expanding and constantly controlling co-operation in the field of Human resources and employment.

M. TOURISM

The Conference

(a) Urged the co-ordinating and other non-aligned countries to take concrete measures to achieve the following objectives:

- Promote the exchange of information, experience, experts and other services to help develop the potentialities of the non-aligned and other developing countries in this area;

- Foster exchanges in technical and professional training and assistance that will help improve the capacity for tourism and tourist services in the non-aligned and other developing countries;

- Organize activities that will lead to greater awareness of the natural resources, culture, arts, crafts and history of the non-aligned countries;

- Foster the development of machinery for the promotion and exchange of tourist, sports and recreation, arts and crafts groups among the non-aligned and other developing countries; and

- Stimulate co-ordination among the non-aligned and other developing countries in international meetings, especially within the framework of the World Tourism Organization;

(b) Convened a meeting of experts to study the plan of action for this area and begin its work; and

(c) Reaffirmed the importance of this sector as an instrument of understanding among peoples and as one more factor that contributes to the economic and social development of the non-aligned and other developing countries.

/...

N. TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS AND FOREIGN PRIVATE INVESTMENT

The Conference

(a) Reiterated the importance of establishing the Non-Aligned Countries' Information Centre on Transnational Corporations and welcomed the agreement reached by the non-aligned countries in May of this year, in New York, to authorize the Government of Cuba to begin the preliminary work of the Information Centre on Transnational Corporations;

(b) Urged all interested non-aligned countries to ratify or sign the Statutes, which have already been accepted by the required number of countries; and

(c) Requested the Republic of Cuba, as headquarters for the Information Centre, to convene a conference to constitute the organs of the Centre as soon as the necessary requirements are met.

O. SPORTS

The Conference

Supported and decided to encourage implementation of the objectives of the Manifesto and Plan of Action for co-operation in and development of physical education and sports among the non-aligned countries signed in Algiers in 1978, which are as follows:

- To encourage countries to give priority, within their respective means, to the development of national physical education and sports plans that are closely related to existing education, health and recreation plans;

- To stimulate exchanges and various forms of bilateral and multilateral co-operation and assistance among the non-aligned countries in the field of sports;

/...

- To participate actively in the events of the international sports calendar and the activities of specialized governmental and nongovernmental organizations, intensifying the struggle to democratize the decision-making structure and eliminate all forms of racial, political and religious discrimination, especially apartheid and Zionism;

- To give priority, in training, to advanced training and retraining of cadres through seminars, courses and short- long-term scholarships;

- To organize the exchange of experts and forms of co-operation among countries of different geographical areas by taking advantage of the resources of those areas and the opportunities offered by international organizations;

- To hold international meetings for the purpose of evaluating, on a yearly basis, the degree of implementation of the Plan of Action in this field and the status of the ongoing struggle for democratization and against apartheid;

- To promote the broadest possible sports exchange among the non-aligned countries by organizing special competitions and/or extending invitations to national and international events sponsored by members of the Movement; and

- To continue to strengthen the work of the non-aligned countries in the UNESCO Intergovernmental Committee for Physical Education and Sports by ensuring that they are adequately represented and positions are co-ordinated in that forum, as reaffirmed at the Ministerial Meeting of the Bureau held in Colombo in June 1979.

P. RESEARCH AND INFORMATION SYSTEM

The Conference

(a) Reaffirmed the agreements reached at the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau held in New Delhi in April 1977, under which the Co-ordinating Bureau, at its Ministerial Meetings, will select the matters of special interest on which the institutions designated to participate in the System will conduct studies, and the Bureau will then evaluate the results of those studies;

(b) Reaffirmed the agreements adopted at the First Meeting of the Research and Information System held in Belgrade in January 1979, in particular the preparation of analysis and information documents on the following subjects:

- The International Development Strategy for the Third Development Decade and an evaluation of the Second Development Decade ; and

- Important aspects of the New International Economic Order that might help the developing countries in their preparation for the 1980 Special Session of the General Assembly on this topic; and

(c) Accepted India's offer to explore the possibility of hosting the next meeting of the System early in 1980.

Q. THE ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) Expressed its deep appreciation to the Government of Iraq for hosting the conference of non-aligned and other developing countries on the Role of Women in Development which was held in Baghdad on 6-13 May 1979 and, after reviewing the report of the Conference, approved the concrete proposals and decisions made by the Conference;

/...

(b) Endorsed the report as a sound basis for future co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries to further the role of women in development, and decided that the concrete proposals made by the Conference should serve as an essential input for the forthcoming United Nations Conference on Women to be held in Copenhagen in 1980; and

(c) Decided to promote the plan of action in this area approved at the Conference on the Role of Women in Development held in Baghdad in May 1979, in particular the following:

- To foster implementation of the provisions adopted by the United Nations on discrimination against women, especially the decisions of the United Nations Conference held in Mexico in 1975;

- To encourage States to stipulate full equality between men and women, in terms of rights and duties, in their fundamental laws and constitutions;

- To hold seminars to discuss problems that affect the limited participation of women in the development processes of their respective countries; and

- To promote the exchange of experience among the non-aligned countries and other developing countries concerning the main problems that affect women with a view to resolving those problems.

R. PEACEFUL USE OF NUCLEAR ENERGY

The Conference

Noted with satisfaction the work done by the Group of Non-Aligned Co-ordinating Countries on peaceful uses of nuclear energy at their First Preparatory Meeting held in Belgrade in December 1978, and stressed the importance of implementing the decisions taken at that Meeting. The main decisions were as follows:

/...

(a) The non-aligned countries should have a co-ordinated approach in the IAEA which will strengthen the role of the Group of 77 in the Association; and

(b) The necessity to convene an international conference on the use of nuclear energy for economic and social development;

Recommended that all non-aligned countries support the holding of an international conference on peaceful uses of nuclear energy for economic and social development in accordance with General Assembly resolution 32/50, adopted by consensus, and inform the Secretary-General of the United Nations of their support;

Expressed concern at the obstacles imposed by the developed countries on the transfer of technology relating to the peaceful uses of atomic energy by setting terms and conditions incompatible with the national sovereignty of recipient countries and with the criteria of sound financial administration; and

Emphasized the necessity, taking into account all these circumstances, for developing countries to strengthen their co-operation in this field, and decided that the group of co-ordinators on nuclear energy should make concrete proposals on the framework and content of such co-operation.

S. TELECOMMUNICATIONS

The Conference

(a) Took note of the recommendations of the meeting of Telecommunications Administrators of non-aligned countries held in Yaoundé from 7 to 10 May 1979 and endorsed them and

(b) Welcomed in particular the constitution of an ad hoc group of experts to examine in full all the documents in order to evolve a joint stand to be taken by the non-aligned countries at the World Administrative Radio Conference to be held in Geneva in October 1979.

/...

The Conference,

Taking note with satisfaction of the reports on measures to be taken to promote co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the field of telecommunications submitted by the co-ordinators to the meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau at New Delhi (1976), Havana (1978) and Colombo (1979), and

Taking into account the discussions of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau at Colombo,

1. Adopted the programme of action for co-operation among non-aligned countries in postal services and telecommunications submitted to the Co-ordinating Bureau at Colombo;

2. Decided to create a centre for the implementation of this programme; and

3. Requested Cameroon, in conjunction with Burundi and the Central African Empire, to convene a meeting of plenipotentiaries to consider and adopt the draft statutes to be submitted to it.

T. PUBLIC ENTERPRISES

The Conference

(a) Noted with satisfaction the successful activities of the International Centre for Public Enterprises in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia. Assessing its work as a concrete and significant contribution to the promotion of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the implementation of the principle of collective self-reliance, the Conference expressed the hope that, with the active support and participation of non-aligned and other developing countries, the Centre would continue to pursue its very useful activities and

(b) Called upon all non-aligned and other developing countries which have not yet done so to accede to the Centre and, by their active contribution, to make possible its even more successful functioning.

/...

U. SOLIDARITY FUND FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) Reiterated its appeal to those non-aligned countries that had not already done so to ratify or accede to the statute of the Solidarity Fund for Economic and Social Development of Non-Aligned Countries as soon as possible, because of its great economic and political importance for the better functioning and execution of the programme of economic co-operation of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries; and

(b) Requested the Government of Kuwait, as the depositary country of the Agreement, to convene a meeting of plenipotentiaries before December 1979 to review and modify the present Statute, so that the Fund may become operational as soon as possible.

V. REPORT OF THE CONSULTATIVE GROUP, GEORGETOWN

The Heads of State or Government took note of the report of the Meeting of the Consultative Group on Mutual Assistance and Solidarity among non-aligned and other developing countries in the Context of the Principle of Collective Self-Reliance held in Georgetown on 21-23 August 1979.

III. CO-ORDINATION OF THE ACTION PROGRAMME

The Heads of State or Government confirmed that the co-ordinating countries should inform the Co-ordinating Bureau and all the other non-aligned countries of the progress made in their respective areas of co-operation. The implementation of the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation will be considered annually in a meeting of the co-ordinating countries. The report of this meeting will be examined by the Foreign Ministers' Conference, which will indicate such guidelines as may be appropriate, bearing in mind the recommendations that the Co-ordinating Bureau makes in this regard.

The Heads of State or Government, bearing in mind the need to avoid duplication and to carry forward positive initiatives for the promotion of economic co-operation among the developing countries, emphasized that the implementation of the measures that are adopted in virtue of the Action Programme of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and those of other developing countries should be duly co-ordinated.

The Conference took note of the reports presented by the co-ordinating countries of the Action Programme on International Co-operation for Development; Health; Research and Information System; Public Enterprises; Solidarity Fund for Economic and Social Development of Non-Aligned Countries; Peaceful Use of Nuclear Energy; Financial and Monetary Co-operation; Transnational Corporations; Fisheries; Employment and Human Resources Development; and Trade, Transport and Industry.

After considering the work done by the co-ordinating countries of the Action Programme, the Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries decided to extend the mandate of the Co-ordinators who were confirmed at the Fifth Summit Conference and to confirm the membership of those countries that requested it between the Fifth and Sixth Summit Conferences, in accordance with what was agreed to at the Colombo Summit Conference.

The list of co-ordinators in the various areas is as follows:

قرار بشأن وسائل تعزيز الوحدة والتضامن والتعاون فيما بين دول عدم الانحياز

Decision regarding methods of Strengthening Unity, Solidarity and Cooperation among Non-Aligned Countries

DECISION REGARDING METHODS OF STRENGTHENING UNITY, SOLIDARITY AND CO-OPERATION AMONG NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

/...

The Heads of State or Government approved the following recommendations:

I. PREPARATION AND CONDUCT OF MEETINGS

(a) Participating countries at all meetings and conferences of Ministers of Foreign Affairs and of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries should circulate draft documents, resolutions and working papers for adequate joint preparatory considerations in the Bureau and the Group of Non-Aligned Countries. This does not preclude the possibility and does not infringe the right of any country to submit a resolution at the meeting itself if a special situation warrants it;

(b) As far as possible the practice of adopting separate resolutions on subjects which are dealt with in the Final Document should be avoided in the future;

(c) The practice of providing brief annotations, whenever feasible, referring to the positions adopted by previous meetings of Non-Aligned Countries, positions supported by the Non-Aligned Countries in the United Nations General Assembly and other international conferences on different topics under consideration should be adopted;

(d) The meetings of Foreign Ministers immediately preceding Conferences of Heads of State or Government should be authorized to set up Political and Economic Committees, so that they may begin consideration of the draft Final Documents. This would give the additional time needed for consideration of the drafts presented. The same practice should be applied in the preparation of all other meetings and conferences of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries;

(e) The present practice of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of all Non-Aligned Countries meeting approximately eighteen months after each Conference of Heads of State or Government should be continued;

(f) The existing practice of holding meetings of the Heads of delegations of the Group of Non-Aligned Countries as a whole at the beginning of the General Assembly of the United Nations should be continued. These meetings are held in order to determine priorities and set up working groups for action by non-aligned countries during the session of the General Assembly;

(g) Plenary Meetings of the Group of Non-Aligned Countries as a whole should be held in New York at the level of Permanent Representatives to the United Nations at regular intervals,at least once in two months, or frequently whenever necessary;

(h) The Chairman of the Group of Non-Aligned Countries, the Chairman of the Bureau of Conferences of Heads of State or Government, Ministerial Conferences and Ministerial Meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau should play an active role both in conducting the meetings and in initiating and assisting consultations on all the important issues under consideration, especially with regard to controversial issues, with the view to achieving consensus;

(i) At every meeting or conference of non-aligned countries, the Bureau should propose the organization of work and allocate items for consideration in accordance with a tentative timetable;

(j) No proposals for the establishment of new organs, mechanisms or programs should be considered by the Conference of Heads of State or Government unless their feasibility and productivity have been carefully studied at expert level and reviewed by the Co-ordinating Bureau, but enough room should be left for initiatives and actions provided they are within the framework of Summit and ministerial declarations and communiqués;

(k) Conferences convened on behalf or in the name of the Non-Aligned Movement should be firmly based on the framework of existing Non-Aligned Summit/Ministerial decisions/programs and should be agreed upon, following careful consideration, by the Co-ordinating Bureau and/or the Group of the Whole;

(l) The host country should continue to bear responsability for the accuracy of adopted Final Documents of meetings and conferences of Non-Aligned Countries, but all countries should be invited to communicate at the earlies possible time their observations to the host country for correction of accidental ommissions in printing and for the issue of the second corrected edition. In this connection, the proposed Documentation Center in Colombo, Sri Lanka, could fulfill a useful purpose in serving as a depositary for such authenticated texts of Final Documents;

(m) Governments of participating non-aligned and developing countries should consider the feasibility of providing adequate technical and political representation at meetings of the Economic Co-ordinator Groups entrusted with the Implementation of the Action Program for Economic Co-operation;

(n) The host countries of Conferences of Heads of State or Government and of all future Meetings and Conferences of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of Non-Aligned Countries as well as Ministerial Meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau should circulate, about two months in advance, draft declarations, resolutions and final documents for adequate preliminary consultations among the member States of the Bureau and of the Group of Non-Aligned Countries as a whole. Such preliminary consultations, including an exchange of views orally or in writing, could be useful in identifying and reducing possible areas of controversy or disagreement and in facilitating ultimate consensus and agreement at the Conferences and Meetings.

II. THE CO-ORDINATING BUREAU

1. Mandate

The Mandate of the Bureau shall continue to be as indicated in Section I (1) of the Colombo Decision on the Bureau. Additional functions proposed are indicated in I (4).

2. Composition and size of the Bureau

(a) The Bureau continue to be conposed of representatives to be chosen by Conferences of Heads of State or Government, taking into consideration the principles of balanced geographical distribution, continuity and rotation;

(b) The size of the Bureau be increased to

3. Level and frequency of meetings

The Co-ordinating Bureau shall meet:

(a) At the level of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of special Government representatives in the year of and before a Conference of Heads of State or Government, Extraordinary Ministerial Meetings of the Bureau could also be held as necessary;

/...

(b) On a continuing basis, at the level of Permanent Representatives of Non-Aligned Countries at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, once a month as a rule.

4. Functions of the Co-ordinating Bureau

(a) The functions of the Bureau outlined under I (4) of the Colombo Decision, continue to be considered as valid;

(b) The Bureau should review and facilitate the harmonization of the work of the growing number of organs, Economic Co-ordinator Groups, Working Groups, etc.;

(c) The Bureau should consider concrete and practical measures to ensure steady and organized dissemination of information to the public and the media regarding the previously agreed principles, positions and activities of the Non-Aligned;

(d) While the Co-ordinating Bureau functions at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, consideration should be given to ensuing concerted Non-Aligned action in specialized fields by Economic Co-ordinators Groups at International Conferences;

(e) The Bureau should encourage Non-Aligned Countries to co-ordinate their activities and positions within the Group of 77 and UNCTAD, so as to ensure that the Movement exercise the catalytic role envisaged for it since the Algiers Conference of Heads of State or Government;

(f) While the Co-ordinating Bureau functions at the United Nations Headquarters in New York, as a general rule, communiqués should be issued at the level of Permanent Representatives at Plenary Meetings. However, Bureau meetings at the level of Permanent Representatives, may issue communiqués at open-ended meetings in exceptional circumstances where there are practical problems about the urgent issue of the communiqué by a Plenary Meeting. Provision should be made for reservations to communiqués issued by the Plenary or Bureau which could be circulated to all members by the Chairman, although this should not be incorporated in the text of the communiqué;

5. Chairman of the Co-ordinating Bureau

The traditional practice whereby the country that hosted the immediately preceding Summit serves as Chairman until the next Summit should be continued. The functions of the Chairman of the Co-ordinating Bureau shall continue to be as in Section I (5) of the Colombo decision on the Bureau.

6. Convening of meetings

(a) The present practice relating to the convening of meetings, as indicated in Section I (6) of the Colombo decision, should be continued;

(b) The present practice of notifying all members of the Movement individually about the convening of Bureau meetings and their agenda should be continued.

7. Participation and decision-making in meetings of the Bureau

(a) No distinction should be made between members of the Bureau and non-members on the following:

- Taking the floor at meetings;
- Fixing of dates and venues of meetings;
- Participation in Committees, open-ended Working Groups and Drafting Groups, it being understood that the process of drafting is not part of the decision-making process;
- Submission of proposals.

(b) All full members of the Movement could participate on an equal footing at Bureau meetings in the consideration and decision of questions in which, in the opinion of the Bureau, there is no doubt they are directly and specifically involved;

(c) Records should continue to be maintained of all formal meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau as well as Plenary Meetings and these records should be duly approved at subsequent meetings to ensure a proper reflection of proceedings;

(d) All decisions adopted by the Bureau at the level of Permanent Representatives in New York should be tabled at the request of any full member as soon as possible thereafter at a Plenary Meeting.

III. DECISION-MAKING BY CONSENSUS

The practice of adopting decisions of the Non-Aligned Countries by consensus be continued.

Consensus has a certain indefinable quality hard to express in words although we all know instinctively what it means. It presupposes understanding of and respect for different points of view including disagreement and implies mutual accommodation on the basis of which agreement can emerge by a sincere process of adjustment among member nations in the true spirit of Non-Alignment. Consensus is both a process and a final compromise formula, shaped by prior consultations, discussions, and negotiations into a generally agreed position. In other words, consensus is a general convergence and harmonization of views reflecting the broadest consent of the conference or meeting enhancing or at least preserving the unity and strength of the Movement.

1. Reservations

The practice of allowing reservations on decisions adopted at Meetings and Conferences of Non-Aligned Countries is continued. However, reservations should be avoided as far as possible because they tend to weaken the consensus.

The instrument of reservations enables the maintenance of the democratic character of the Movement and sovereignty of everyone of its members. It is also generally agreed that reservations cannot block or veto a consensus.

2. Methods of promoting consensus

The following guidelines will be applied when the extent of disagreement indicates the absence of consensus:

/...

(a) Open confrontations between opposing views threatening to disrupt the Movement should be avoided, but discussion of issues may be necessary in order to overcome differences;

(b) The Chairman and/or the Bureau of the Conference or Meeting concerned, and the Chairman of the Movement and/or other interested delegations should render assistance whenever such assistance would help resolve differences;

(c) Prior informal consultations and negotiations among members should be held on all issues;

(d) Ad hoc open-ended working groups could be set up to assist in the promotion of consensus;

(e) Where there are a number of members who by virtue of their geographical location have a special interest in a particular issue, consultations among these members, open to other delegations, could take place in the effort to find a consensus;

(f) The results of the consultations as indicated in (d) and (e) above, should be submitted together with any recommendations to the Plenary of the meeting or conference concerned for discussion and approval;

(g) The presence of strong opposing views is an indication that the matter under discussion is highly sensitive and hence a special effort should be made to try to accommodate all views to achieve the broadest consent of the Conference/Meeting.

(h) When all the above methods as well as any other efforts at promoting consensus have been exhausted without success, and any further deferment of the decision on a controversial issue is not possible due to the closing of the Conference and the delegation/group of delegations continues to express reservations on any decision, it is recommended that the following method be utilised to reflect the reservation: in the body of the text of the communiqué/declaration, an asterisk would be placed at the head of any paragraph/section on which reservations have been expressed, with the corresponding footnotes indicating the delegation expressing the reservation. The full text of the reservation will be reproduced in an annex. If the delegation should so desire it, a reservation may also be made without it being entered in the records.

IV. IMPLEMENTATION OF DECISIONS

(a) In view of the continuing grave situation prevailing in the Middle East and in Southern Africa and the continued denial of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people, special efforts should be made to implement Non-Aligned decisions on these issues in solidarity with the Palestinian people and Arab States, and the peoples of Namibia, Zimbabwe and South Africa and the Frontline States;

(b) In the context of the struggle against colonialism, it is recommended that the Non-Aligned Countries should continue to support and increase practical assistance to national liberation movements;

(c) Non-Aligned Countries should consider the feasibility of convening Extraordinary Ministerial Meetings of the Bureau or the Plenary such as that held in Maputo, on issues that are of particular interest and concern to the Movement in order to promote Non-Aligned solidarity;

(d) Each Co-ordinator Group should organise meetings in respect of its particular field on a regular basis with appropriate expert and political representation;

(e) Ministerial Meetings of the Bureau and the Plenary should devote sufficient time and attention to the consideration of report of Economic Co-ordinator Groups in order, where necessary, to take effective steps to ensure practical follow-up action in the implementation of the Economic Action Program.

السيد الرئيس،،،

الأخوة رؤساء الدول والحكومات

يسعدني أن استهل كلمتي بتقديم أصدق التهنئة القلبية للسيدة أنديرا غاندي بمناسبة اختيارها بالإجماع رئيسة لهذا المؤتمر التاريخي الهام الذي ينعقد في ظروف بالغة الدقة ويثير اهتمام شعوبنا المناضلة التي تعلق آمالا كبيرة علي مسيرتنا الواحدة وعملنا المشترك ونتجه إلي المستقبل بخطي ثابتة وعزيمة راسخة ونحن علي ثقة من أن السيدة أنديرا غاندي سوف تضيف كثيرا إلي حركة عدم الانحياز طوال الفترة القادمة بما عهدنا فيها من تمسك بالمبدأ وصلابة في الحق وقدرة فائقة علي الرؤية التاريخية الشاملة والنظرة الحكيمة الثاقبة وبما تتمتع به من احترام وتقدير في كافة الأوساط.

والحق أن انعقاد مؤتمرنا السابع في عاصمة الهند له مغزى عميق يثير في نفوسنا جميعا ذكريات حافلة من الماضي القريب الذي شهد مولد حركتنا الفتية بعد جهود مضنية قامت بها نخبة من أبطال حركة التحرير الوطني والتقدم في مقدمتهم جواهر لال نهرو وجوزيف بروزتيتو وجمال عبد الناصر ولابد أن تكون هذه المناسبة المليئة بالمشاعر الجياشة عنصر الهام لنا في الماضي والمستقبل ومصدرا للأمل والرجاء وسط هذه التحديات والمخاطر فنحن ننظر إلى الهند بالاعتزاز والتقدير ليس فقط باعتبارها دولة عريقة ذات رصيد حضاري كبير بل أيضا في ضوء الانجازات الضخمة التي حققتها في مجال العلوم والتكنولوجيا والنهضة الصناعية والزراعية الكبري التي مكنتها من إنتاج احدث آلات العصر وتحقيق الاكتفاء الذاتي في إنتاج الحبوب بأيدي أبنائها وعقولهم ويسرنا أن نتقدم بالشكر والتقدير لشعب الهند الصديق وحكومته للجهد الكبير الذي بذل في الإعداد لهذا المؤتمر وتهيئة المناخ الملائم لتعزيز التضامن والتعاون بين البلدان غير المنحازة وتوفير كافة أسباب النجاح للمؤتمر مؤكدة بذلك أهليتها للعطاء

أيها الأخوة الأعزاء

إن لقاءنا هذا يتيح لنا فرصة طيبة لتبادل الرأي والفكر بكل صراحة وجدية وموضوعية وبكل إيمان بأن مصالحنا مشتركة ومصيرنا واحد وقضايانا متطابقة وبإدراك تام بجسامة التحديات التي تواجهنا والأخطار التي نتعرض لها ويتطلب هذا أن نخرج من هذا المؤتمر وقد تعمقت رؤيتنا للأحداث وتقاربت آراؤنا ومفاهيمنا وازداد تفهم كل منا لظروف الآخرين ومخاوفهم وصدقت نوايانا للتحرك يدا واحدة علي المسرح الدولي بمنأي عن المناورات والمحاور والمزايدات وبعيدا عن أجواء الصراع والاستقطاب ومناطق النفوذ واسمحوا لي أيها الأخوة أن أطرح عليكم بعض القضايا التي اعتبرها جوهرية وأساسية لعلنا نستطيع بالنقاش والحوار الهادف أن نصل بشأنها إلي توافق ايجابي بناء يزيل الشكوك والمخاوف الدفينة ويزرع الثقة والأمل في النفوس.

أولا : أن وحدة حركة عدم الانحياز هي في قوتها وفاعليتها وبدونها تصبح الحركة مجرد تراكم عددي عاجز عن التحول إلي مضمون كيفي وبذلك تنقلب إلي صورة من المنظمات الدولية القائمة في إطار الصراع والمنافسة الحادة ويتناقص تأثيرها ويتقلص دورها وتتآكل قدرتها علي توجيه الأحداث وتذوب شخصيتها المستقلة وهويتها المتميزة.

ثانيا : أن هذه الوحدة ليست مجرد شعار يرفع أو عبارة تردد بل إنها حقيقة تستند إلي تطابق المصلحة والاشتراك في القضية ونحن نؤمن باستحالة قيام تناقض حقيقي بين مصالح دولتين تنتميان إلي العالم الثالث طالما أننا نسلم بأننا جميعا مع التحرر والتقدم وضد الاستعمار والاستغلال والتبعية وأننا ندخل دون استثناء في عداد الدول النامية التي تخوض معركة ضارية ضد التخلف والممارسات الاستغلالية ومحاولات السيطرة وتجاهد في سبيل غد أفضل للبشرية يحل فيه التضامن محل التناقض والتعاون محل الصراع والعدوان.

ثالثا : انه إذا كانت الكتلتان المتصارعتان رغم كل ما بينهما من تناقض قد قبلتا مبدأ التعايش السلمي بصرف النظر عن النظم الاقتصادية والسياسية السائدة في كل منهما فأجدر بنا نحن أصحاب المصلحة الواحدة والمصير المشترك أن نتعاهد علي ألا نجعل العقائد المذهبية حائلا دون التلاحم والترابط بيننا أو سببا في شق صفوفنا وتبديد وحدتنا لان هذه الخلافات الأيديولوجية لا يمكن أن تطمس الحقيقة الموضوعية النابعة عن وحدة المصلحة وعلينا أن نجعل من هذا التنوع والتعدد طاقه ايجابيه خلاقه وعنصر قوة يثري الحوار بيننا ويتيح لنا التعامل مع العالم الخارجي بثقة واقتدار.

رابعا : أن من الضروري أن نتفق علي إعطاء التعاون بين دول الحركة أولوية فائقة علي التعاون بين الدول الأخرى سواء في المجالات السياسية أو في الميادين المتصلة بالتنمية الاقتصادية والاجتماعية الشاملة والجهود المبذولة للتغلب علي المشاكل الاقتصادية المتزايدة.

واسمحوا لي أن اخص بالذكر بعض القضايا الرئيسية التي تستحق أقصي قدر من التعاون والتضامن بيننا وان اطرح عليكم أفكارا محدده بشأنها للحوار والبحث والمناقشة.

- أن الواجب يحتم علينا أن ندرس معا الوضع الدولي الراهن بكل أبعاده وان نضع أيدينا علي مواطن الضعف والخطر فيه مع التركيز علي الجوانب التي تمس الأمن الاستراتيجي للبلدان غير المنحازة بمعناه الشامل وهنا نجد أن دول العالم الثالث معرضة بالفعل لأخطار الغزو الخارجي وتسرب النفوذ الأجنبي والممارسات القائمة علي الضغط والتهديد من جانب القوي الخارجية التي تملك مقومات التأثير والنفوذ في شتي أنحاء العالم.
- ومع حرصنا علي ألا تتحول حركتنا إلي كتلة ثالثة تدخل حلبة الصراع والتوتر العالمي فان الموقف يتطلب قدرا متزايدا من التعاون والتضامن بيننا للوقاية من هذه الأخطار ولابد أن يتحقق ذلك بصورة جماعية منظمة لا تترك للصدفة والتحركات العشوائية المتفرقة.
- نريد نظاما يحمي جميع البلدان غير المنحازة من خطر الغزو العسكري والتخريب الوافد من الخارج بصرف النظر عن القدرات العسكرية والأجنبية لهذه الدول .. نريد نظاما يكفل لنا الاستفادة من الموارد المتاحة لكل منا في مجال الاستعداد لمواجهة العدوان بالتصنيع الحربي ورفع الكفاءة القتالية للقوات المسلحة والتدريب المشترك وتبادل المعلومات والدراسات .. نريد التزاما حقيقيا يتجاوز الشعارات بالوقوف مع أي دولة عضو في حركتنا تتعرض لعدوان حال أو وشيك الوقوع.
- نريد برنامجا محددا يضمن لنا أنتاج ما يلزمنا من الغذاء في فترة زمنيه محددة . لان من لا يملك طعامه لا يملك حريته وقراره وإرادته.
- نريد أسلوبا موحدا لاستيعاب التكنولوجيا الحديثة بما يتلاءم مع ظروفنا البيئية والاقتصادية وبما يقلل اعتمادنا علي القوي الخارجية ذات المصالح الخاصة ولسنا مطالبين باتخاذ قرار شامل في هذا المؤتمر لان القضية معقده ومتشبعة وهي تتطلب مزيدا من البحث والدراسة ولذلك فإنني اقترح عقد مؤتمر علي المستوي الوزاري لمناقشتها من جميع جوانبها والتوصية بنظام متكامل لمواجهتها بما يصون حقوقنا المشروعة ومصالحنا الحيوية ومصر علي استعداد لاستضافة اجتماع تحضيري لهذا المؤتمر الوزاري في اقرب وقت إن أردتم ذلك.

٢-قضية نقل التكنولوجيا الحديثة : باعتبار إنها تمثل واحدا من أهم تحديات العصر وإنها تؤثر إلي حد بعيد علي الجهود التي تبذلها في مجال التنمية الاقتصادية والاجتماعية وهنا نجد بعض البلدان غير المنحازة قد قطعت شوطا طويلا في ميدان التقدم التكنولوجي وطورت نظما تتناسب مع ظروفنا ومواردنا ومن المنطقي أن نستفيد من التقدم الذي حققته هذه الدول الشقيقة قبل أن نلجأ للعالم

الخارجي لان هذا التعاون بين دول الحركة يوفر علينا نسبة كبيرة من التكلفة ويتيح لنا إمكانيات اكبر في تشغيل الآلات وصيانتها ويضمن تلبية الاحتياجات الحقيقية لجماهيرنا التي تعيش في ظروف متقاربة.

خامسا : إن الحد الأدنى للتضامن المطلوب بين دول عدم الانحياز هو منع كافة أشكال الصراع المسلح فيما بينها والتزامها باللجوء إلي الوسائل السلمية وحدها لحل المنازعات وفي هذا الصدد نجد لزاما علينا أن نتخذ خطوات محددة لإنهاء الحرب العراقية الإيرانية التي لا يمكن أن تعود بالنفع علي أي طرف بل أن أضرارها تتجاوز استنزاف موارد الشعبين وزرع بذور الشقاق بينهما وتمتد إلي تهديد منطقة الخليج وسلامتها واستقرارها مما يضعف مسئوليتها جميعا في إنهاء هذه الحرب علي الفور وحقن دماء الشعبين الشقيقين ولذلك أجد لزاما علي أن أقرر انه لابد أن نخرج من هذا المؤتمر بموقف محدد يتضمن اتخاذ الإجراءات الجماعية الكفيلة بوقف الحرب دون إبطاء واري إننا نستطيع أن نعالج المشكلة من المنطلقات الآتية:

- انه لا يوجد تناقض يذكر بين المصالح الحقيقية للشعبين الإيراني والعراقي.
- إن العراق قد أدي واجبه عندما أعلن قبوله غير المشروط لانهاء الحرب والتزامه بالاتفاقية المعقودة بين البلدين بشأن الحدود عام ١٩٧٥ وتأييده لكافة الجهود التي بذلت في إطار عدم الانحياز والأسرة الإسلامية لوضع حد للحرب.

• انه بقي أن تستجيب إيران للموقف الذي أجمعت عليه كافة الدول وأعلنته في تجمعاتها المختلفة ابتداء من قرارات مجلس الأمن والجمعية العامة للأمم المتحدة، إننا جميعا مكترثون بمصالح الشعبين العراقي والإيراني بنفس القدر وليس مطلوبا أن نأخذ موقفا ضد هذا الطرف أو ذاك بل المطلوب هو موقف حاسم مع السلام والمصالحة وضد إراقة الدماء وإهدار الموارد فيما لا يحقق نفعا أو يدفع ضررا، ومصر من جانبها مستعدة لبذل أقصي ما تستطيع من جهد لمساعدة الطرفين علي التوصل إلي صيغة مقبولة لإنهاء القتال وإحلال السلام والاستقرار في ربوع المنطقة ونحن نتخذ هذا الموقف بالنسبة للصراعات الأخرى الدائرة بين دول صديقة تنتمي معنا إلي حركة عدم الانحياز وتشترك في المصلحة والمصير. ولعلي أشير في هذا الصدد إلي النزاع بين إثيوبيا والصومال وضرورة تسويته بالوسائل الودية وبما يتفق مع تطابق المصلحة بين هذين الشعبين الإفريقيين اللذين يواجهان تحديات التنمية وأعبائها الجسيمة.

سادسا : انه ليس معني هذا أن تنعزل الدول غير المنحازة أو تعيش بمنآي عن العالم الخارجي فقد أصبح التواصل والتفاعل بين كافة الأمم والشعوب حتمية تفرضها ظروف العصر والإخطار التي تهدد الجنس البشري كله والمعالجات المتاحة للتعاون الخلاق والتبادل الذي يبشر بحياة أفضل ينعم فيها الإنسان بمزيد من الأمان والرخاء.
وعندما نتحدث عن التعاون الدولي بمعناه الشامل نجد أن هناك ضرورة ملحه لخلق روح جديدة لهذا التعاون لان القوالب القائمة موروثة في عهود سحيقة انعدم فيها التوازن بين مصالح الدول الكبيرة والصغيرة الغنية والفقيرة المتقدمة والنامية ولذلك فان الموقف يتطلب شيئا أعمق من تغيير النظام الدولي وهو بعث روح جديدة تقوم علي فلسفة عادله يكون المعيار فيها الحق المتساوي لكل شعوب العالم في الحياة الآمنة المستقرة وفي استثمار الموارد الطبيعية والاختراعات الحديثة بما يحقق سعادة الإنسان.
ففي المجال السياسي يتعين علينا جميعا أن نضاعف الجهود المبذولة للتوصل إلي ترتيبات فعالة لنزع

السلاح ومنع نشوب حرب ذرية ووقف التجارب النووية وضمان توجيه الطاقة النووية للاستخدامات السلمية وتخفيف حدة التوتر الدولي.

إن مناخ التأزم الذي يسود العالم في هذه الحقبة يعيد إلي الأذهان الوضع الذي كان قائما في نهاية الخمسينيات وهو ما دعا مؤتمر القمة الأول الذي عقد في بلجراد إلي توجيه نداء إلي الدولتين العظميين بوقف الاستعداد للحرب والدخول في مفاوضات من اجل التوصل إلي تسوية سلمية للخلافات القائمة بينهما وتقديري أن الظروف الحالية تدعو إلي تجديد هذا النداء للقوي الكبري بعد أن بلغ حجم الإنفاق العالمي علي السلاح في العام الماضي وحده ٦٥ بليونا من الدولارات في الوقت الذي لقي فيه ملايين البشر حتفهم بسبب الجوع والعطش والمرض في الدول الأقل نموا وخاصة في القارة الإفريقية.

الأخوة رؤساء الدول والحكومات

لعل المجال الاقتصادي يجسد الحاجة الماسة لتلك الروح الجديدة للتعاون الدولي فرغم أن الإنسان حقق طفرة هائلة في التقدم العلمي والتكنولوجي في ربع القرن الأخير فان الحقيقة الماثلة أمامنا هي أن العقد الحالي يشهد أزمة اقتصادية خانقه تهدد بتقويض دعائم هذا التقدم والقضاء علي المكاسب الضخمة التي حققها المجتمع الإنساني بتضحيات جسيمة قدمت الدول النامية الجانب الأكبر منها ولسنا في مجال تحليل هذه الأزمة ودراسة أبعادها وأثارها في الحاضر والمستقبل وإنما يكفي أن نشير إلي مشاكل معينه تحتل أولوية خاصة في تفكيرنا

ثانيا : هبوط معدلات التجارة الدولية في السنوات الأخيرة وتدهور شروط التبادل التجاري وطبيعي أن تعاني الدول النامية من هذه الظاهرة أكثر من غيرها وهو ما يتضح من هبوط معدلات التجارة لد بها بنسبة ٢٠ في المائة خلال الأعوام الخمسة الأخيرة بل أن الهبوط وصل إلي ٤٠ في المائة بالنسبة للدول الفقيرة الأقل نموا ونستطيع أن نقدر النتائج الوخيمة لهذا الوضع إذا أخذنا في اعتقادنا ظاهرة التضخم والتزايد الرهيب في عدد السكان والارتفاع المستمر في أسعار المواد المصنعة وارتفاع سعر الفائدة في مرحلة دقيقة كنا نأمل أن نشهد انطلاقة ملموسة لهذه الدول التي عانت من الاستعمار والاستغلال الكثير وإلي جانب هذا نجد أن أسعار المواد الأولية قد انخفضت بمعدل الثلث تقريبا خلال العامين الماضيين وهو ما يعني باختصار اختلال التوازن بين المصالح المختلفة وتعريض الدول النامية لمصاعب لا مثيل لها بمواجهتها.

ثالثا : هبوط معدلات النمو في الدول النامية غير البترولية من ٥ في المائة في السبعينيات إلي ١,٨ في المائة في العام الماضي وانخفاض مستوي دخل الفرد في كثير من هذه الدول بدلا من ارتفاعه بل أن الدول البترولية نفسها لم تعد محصنة من هذه الظواهر فبعد أن حقق ميزان مدفوعاتها فائضا قدره ٦٢ بليون دولار في ١٩٨١ نجد انه سجل عجزا مقداره ١٨ بليون دولار في ١٩٨٢ وتلك أرقام لها دلالتها ومغزاها ولا بد أن نتحرك معها لعلاج أسبابها وأثارها المدمرة قبل أن يستشري خطرها وأول ما يجب أن يتراضي عليه المجتمع الدولي إزاء هذا الوضع هو أن جميع دول العالم أصبحت في قارب واحد ولم يعد هناك دولة واحدة مهما بلغت من القوة والتقدم تستطيع أن تعتصم من هذه اللازمة لان المصالح أصبحت متشابكة متداخلة ولم يعد احد يجادل في أن الانتعاش الاقتصادي في الشمال يتوقف إلي حد كبير علي تعاونه مع الجنوب في مواجهة المشاكل الطاحنة وفي إعادة التوازن بين مصالح الدول المتقدمة وحقوق البلدان النامية وبين المنتج والمستهلك والدائن والمدين ولا يمكن أن يتحقق هذا إلا في إطار روح جديدة يحل فيها التفاهم والتعاون محل الصراع والتباعد حتي يخرج الحوار بين الشمال والجنوب من الطريق المسدود ويأخذ دفعة جديدة قوية يضمن تحقيق النتائج المرجوة.

واسمحوا لي أن اقترح عليكم أيها الأخوة إعداد ورقة تتضمن الخطوط العريضة للحوار في ثوبه الجديد من وجهة نظر الدول النامية حتي تستأنف الحوار علي أسس قوية راسخة تجمع بين سلامة المنطلقات النظرية وصوانب الاعتبارات الواقعية العملية.

إننا نواجه عددا كبيرا من المشاكل الدولية والمواقف التي تتطلب منا يقظة بالغه وعزيمة قويه وربما كان من المناسب أن أركز في كلمتي علي بعض هذه المشاكل التي تثير اهتمامنا المشترك وتؤثر مباشرة علي نجاح مسيرتنا الواحدة.

هناك أولا مشكلة الاحتلال الاسرائيلي للبنان والمضاعفات التي يفرزها كل يوم فتهدد مسيرة السلام وتخلق سابقة خطيرة للتدخل في شئون الدول الصغيرة والعصف بأمنها وسلامة شعبها ونحن لا نقبل استمرار هذا الاحتلال تحت أي ذريعة ونعلن إصرارنا علي الانسحاب الفوري الشامل من الأراضي اللبنانية ونقف بكل حزم إلي جانب السلطة الشرعية في لبنان في سياستها الساعية إلي رفض الضغوط التي تعكس واقع الاحتلال والتمسك بحقها في ممارسة سياستها كاملة.

ونحن اذ نؤكد ونساند الجهود المبذولة للتوصل إلي تسوية مقبولة لهذه المشكلة نطالب بإتمام هذه المهمة خلال الشهر الحالي حتي يتسنى تنفيذ الانسحاب دون إبطاء وتزول تلك العقبة من طريق السلام الشامل ومن الضروري أن يعقب هذا مباشرة تنشيط الجهود المبذولة لتسوية القضية الفلسطينية التي هي لب الصراع وجوهره وهي النقطة التي لا يكتمل السلام بدونها مهما حسنت النوايا وصدقت العزائم.

ولا يصح أن يغيب عن أذهاننا أن هناك فرصة ذهبية سانحة لبدء عملية التسوية الشاملة علي أساس الأفكار المطروحة التي تبلور حولها الاتفاق في الآونة الأخيرة وتهدف إلي استبدال واقع الاحتلال الإسرائيلي للضفة الغربية وقطاع غزه بسلطة فلسطينية تمارس صلاحياتها ومسئولياتها بالتنسيق مع الدول العربية المعنية وفي مقدمتها الأردن الذي يتصدي بشجاعة لتحمل مسئوليته القومية إلي جانب الشعب الفلسطيني الشقيق علي اعتبار إننا جميعا في خندق واحد وأصحاب قضية مشتركة تمس مصيرنا ومصالحنا الأساسية.

لقد كنتم أول من وقف معنا في مناصرة حق الشعب الفلسطيني في تقرير مصيره وإقامة كيانه الوطني علي أرضه ولا زلتم تشكلون الصخرة الصلبة التي نستند إليها في كفاحنا المرير للوصول إلي هذا الحق بالوسائل السلمية التي لا تقل ضراوة وصعوبة عن الكفاح المسلح.

ويسعدني في هذا السباق أن أوجه إليكم جميعا كلمة وفاء وعرفان باسم الشعب المصري كله لوقوفكم الي جانبه في نضاله المتصل واسترداد حقوقه وقد كنتم في قلوبنا وأفئدتنا جميعا ونحن نحتفل في الخامس والعشرين من أبريل ١٩٨٢ باستكمال التحرير وانتهاء الاحتلال ونستعيد سيطرتنا على هذه البقعة الغالية من ارض سيناء التى هي همزة الوصل بين إفريقيا واسيا وجسر تلتقي عليه الحضارات والثقافات والمصالح.

إننا إذ نقف علي الطرف الشمالي الشرقي من القارة الإفريقية المجيدة ننظر إلي الواقع الإفريقي الأشمل في مختلف أنحاء القارة فنجد لزاما علينا أن نكثف مواجهتنا للعنصرية المتسلطة علي الجنوب الإفريقي وان تتحد كلمتنا حول برنامج محدد لإجبار النظام العنصري علي التسليم بالحقوق الثابتة للأغلبية صاحبة الأرض والحق ولا بد أن نثبت للعالم اجمع أننا لا يمكن أن نسكت علي انتهاك حقوق إخواننا في ناميبيا والاستخفاف بالقرارات التي أصدرها مجلس الأمن لإنهاء السيطرة الاستعمارية عليها .. ولا بد أن نفرض احترام هذه القرارات ونطالب الدول المؤثرة باتخاذ سياسة صريحة واضحة لا تسمح لنظام الأقلية العنصرية بالمماطلة والتسويف.

أيها الأخوة الأعزاء

إن علينا مسئولية كبيرة في السنوات القادمة ونحن لا نملك إلا الوفاء بها كأعظم ما يكون الوفاء وأمامنا فرصه تاريخيه لكي نثبت للعالمين أن بلدان عدم الانحياز ما زالت صوت الحق ونبع العطاء المستمر وفي أعناقنا التزام راسخ للأجيال المتعاقبة من أبنائنا وأحفادنا وان نبني السلام ونصنع المجد ونحقق التقدم فلنمض معا بقلوب مخلصة وأقدام ثابتة ونفوس مطمئنة ولنحيي وحدة حركتنا ولنعل رايات الحرية.

والسلام عليكم ورحمة الله وبركاته

بيان رئيسة الوزراء إنديرا غاندى رئيسة وزراء جمهورية الهند أمام القمة السابعة لحركة عدم الانحياز

Statement by H.E Prime Minister Indira Ghandi, Prime Minister of the Republic of India before the Seventh Summit of the Non-Aligned Movement

KEYNOTE ADDRESS BY SHRIMATI INDIRA GANDHI, PRIME MINISTER OF INDIA

President Castro, Your Majesties, Presidents, Prime Ministers, Excellencies, Distinguished Guests:

I welcome you to Delhi, a city which in its time has seen much history, witnesses of which are strewn among the dwellings of today. But it is a new experience to have such a large and eminent gallaxy of spokesmen of sovereign nations, representing more than half the world all at the same time. I thank you most warmly, Mr. President, for the kind words you have said about my country.

All of you are aware of the circumstances in which the honour of holding this Conference came to us. In spite of the shortage of time and many difficulties, we accepted the unanimous suggestion of our brothers of the non-aligned family, who felt that any further delay in holding the Seventh Summit would only have pleased the critics and opponents of the Movement. Pressure is said to be a good taskmaster. But we seek your indulgence for any shortcomings and discomfort which you may have suffered.

Some of us are from very ancient civilizations and cultures, others from young and dynamic States. India has been through many vicissitudes. Along this tortuous road our guiding polestar has been the philosophy of tolerance. It is this which has held together our vast and diverse nation and enabled it to endure over the millennia. "Truth is one but the wise discern it variously", is an ancient saying. Compassion was the message of the Buddha. The edicts of Emperor Asoka of the third century B.C., teaching that we could not truly revere our own religion if we did not hold in equal reverence the religions of others, are engraved on rocks and are still with us. This also was the policy of the Moghul emperor Akbar, in the sixteenth century. In our own era our great leader Mahatma Gandhi gave new life to these ideas of tolerance and brotherhood and successfully used non-violence as a weapon against a mighty foreign empire.

Only 35 years ago most of our peoples were under foreign thrall, with no say in their own affairs. With independence from colonialism, non-alignment came into being. And anti-imperialism still conditions our outlook. We cannot risk any shadow on our freedom of judgement and action. We have no quarrel with any group of nations. But we speak out against injustice.

When assuming the reins of government in 1946, my father, Jawaharlal Nehru, declared India's determination "to keep away from the power blocs or groups, aligned against one another, which have led in the past to world wars and which may again lead to disasters on an even vaster scale". Later he explained that once "foreign relations go out of your hands into the charge of somebody else, to that extent and in that measure you are not independent ... So our policy will continue to be not only to keep aloof from alignments, but try to make friendly co-operation possible. We approach the whole world on a friendly basis."

As more countries became free, the number of those who believed in peaceful co-existence and wished to keep out of military alliances increased steadily. It was natural for these non-aligned countries to come together, not to form another bloc but to raise the voices of the exploited millions through a moral and political movement.

The very growth in the membership of our movement, twenty-five in Belgrade, a hundred now, proves that non-alignment meets a felt need of vast numbers of people in various continents.

Its significance is not to be measured by the number of divisions or the megatons of destructive power we command, but by the intensity with which we desire peace and freedom, development and international justice.

Other Governments may have conflicting opinions on right and wrong. We the non-aligned have chosen peace, which surely is the right and inevitable choice. We have sought and continue to seek friendship with all, except Governments which are racist or threaten the hard-earned freedom of others. Non-alignment is not vague, not negative, not neutral.

Non-alignment is national independence and freedom. It stands for peace and the avoidance of confrontation. It aims at keeping away from military alliances. It means equality among nations and the democratization of international relations, economic and political. It wants global co-operation for development on the basis of mutual benefit. It is a strategy for the recognition and preservation of the world's diversity.

Before I take up the issues of our present Conference, I should like to express our Movement's gratitude to President Fidel Castro for the burden of chairmanship he has borne with characteristic determination, capability and dignity over the last three and a half years. The time was not easy and was further complicated by world crises. But President Castro thought only of the unity and strength of our Movement and of its contribution to the reduction of international tensions. We also pay tribute to those of our colleagues who are no longer in our midst. In particular we miss the presence of President Tito, a founding father of our Movement, a man of commanding achievement, of vision and wisdom.

Humankind is balancing on the brink of the collapse of the world economic system and annihilation through nuclear war. Should these tragedies occur, can anyone of us, large, small, rich or poor, from North or South, West or East, hope to escape? Let us analyse the economic crisis. We of the developing world have no margin of safety. We shall be the first and worst sufferers in any economic breakdown. In this interdependent world, where you cannot 'stir a flower without troubling a star', even the most affluent are not immune to such disturbances.

Since Havana, there have been four consecutive years of stagnation or decline in the world economy. World production regressed by 1.2 per cent in 1981 and trade stagnated last year. Unemployment in developed countries now exceeds 30 million, or 10 per cent of the labour force on the average, the highest level since the Great Depression. In poorer countries, where unemployment is chronic, the situation is particularly harrowing. Human problems have grown enormously in oil-importing developing countries, especially the low-income ones.

Since 1979, the current balance of payments deficits of the developing countries and their debt burdens have doubled to $US 100 billion and $US 600 billion respectively. Medium and long-term lending to them fell by over $US 10 billion. Concessional assistance has rapidly declined. The reduction in contributions by a major donor to the International Development Association has considerably limited the capacity of the World Bank to assist low-income countries. The export earnings of developing countries have gone down by $US 40 billion over the last two years. Commodity prices, which were declining have collapsed. The levels now are the lowest in the last 50 years. Developing countries get less for what we produce, while we pay more for the industrial goods we import. Interest rates are at an all-time high.

In spite of Ottawa, Cancun and Versailles, the dialogue between the developed and developing has not even begun. Only a few in the North realize that the sustained social and economic development of the South is in its own interest. Thus we ask not for charity or philanthropy but sound economic sense. Such co-operation between North and South will be of mutual benefit.

The Non-Aligned Movement has stood firmly for a thorough-going restructuring of international economic relations. We are against exploitation. We are for each nation's right to its resources and policies. We want an equal voice in the operation of international institutions. We reiterate our commitment to the establishment of a New International Economic Order based on justice and equality. At this meeting, we should also devise a coherent programme of measures to be taken immediately to help developing countries in areas of critical importance. We should outline a strategy for follow-up action at the forthcoming Sixth Session of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and other major international conferences. An International Conference on Money and Finance for Development which is not weighted in favour of the North is an urgent need. Problems of money and finance also burden the countries of the North and have to be solved in a mutually beneficial manner. Such a conference should suggest comprehensive reforms of the international monetary and financial system, which is now recognized as out-of-date, inequitable and inadequate. It should facilitate the mobilization of developmental finance for investment in vital areas such as food, energy and industrial development. A major debt restructuring exercise must be undertaken. The debt problem of developing countries has assumed an unprecedented dimension. Its servicing alone absorbs over a quarter of their total export earnings.

Long-range solutions need time and preparation. Immediate problems brook no delay. Some countries are more critically affected than others. Some are in desperate straits. They cannot wait for action by the world community as a whole. Our Movement has an obligation to them and this is not beyond the human resources, technological skills, industrial capacities, even the finances that we now possess. Self-reliance should start with the weakest amongst us, and assistance be aimed at self-development.

Meanwhile technological change rushes on, giving further advantage to the already affluent. No one has the time to think whether its consequences are benign or malign. To keep up, even societies which can ill afford some of these technical products feel they must acquire them. Non-alignment may shield us from war, but science is important for us to eradicate poverty. However, at present 97 per cent of the world's research is not relevant to us because it is earmarked for the priorities and the induced appetites of technological leaders. Science will work for our basic needs only if we direct our own scientific policies towards these problems, especially those of the smallest and poorest amongst us. Each of our countries must strengthen its domestic base of science and technology and collectively we should devise more effective mechanisms for the pooling of our experiences. Earlier non-aligned gatherings have considered this subject. At this Summit can we move forward to make collective self-reliance a reality?

In the last few years some areas of co-operation have been identified. Effective co-operation in agriculture, irrigation, research in plant varieties, public health, technical training and small industries will reduce our dependence on the high-cost economies of the affluent and on business corporations which profit from us. Lack of communication is a major constriction. We just do not know enough about one another, or what we are capable of giving and receiving. Information is a vital input for development. Our economists and scientists should study and take a holistic view of problems relating to co-operation amongst ourselves in planning, development and economic exchanges. The economic experience and theories of industrialized countries are not necessarily valid in our circumstances.

Some people still consider concern for the environment an expensive and perhaps unnecessary luxury. But the preservation of the environment is an economic consideration since it is closely related to the depletion, restoration and increase of resources. In any policy decision and its implementation we must balance present gains with likely damage in the not too distant future. Human ecology needs a more total and comprehensive approach.

I began with an assertion of independence. The time has come to assess to what extent pressures are building up, how international institutions are being used to make us change our policies to directions which are not only against our own judgment and interest but may even defeat the purposes which these very institutions have in mind.

Development, independence, disarmament and peace are closely related. Can there be peace alongside nuclear weapons? Without peace, my father said, all our dreams of development turn to ashes. It has been pointed out that global military expenditure is twenty times the total official development assistance. Each day, each hour, the size and lethality of nuclear weapons increase. A nuclear aircraft carrier costs $ US 4 billion, which is more than the GNP of 53 countries. The hood of the cobra is spread. Humankind watches in frozen fear, hoping against hope that it will not strike. Never before has our earth faced so much death and danger. The destructive power contained in nuclear stockpiles can kill human life, indeed all life, many times over and might well prevent its reappearance for ages to come. Terrifying is the vividness of such descriptions by scientists. Yet some statesmen and strategists act as though there is not much difference between these and earlier artillery pieces. The arms race continues, because of the pursuit of power and desire for one-upmanship, and also because many industries and interests flourish on it. More recently the notion has been propagated that tactical nuclear weapons are usable in "limited wars". Powerful States propagate the untenable doctrine of deterrence. New areas are being brought into the scope of strategic groupings, military blocs and alliances. New bases and facilities are being established. That is why our responses must be surer, swifter and sharper.

The desire for peace is universal even within countries which themselves produce nuclear weapons and in those where they are deployed. The Non-Aligned Movement is history's biggest peace movement. It welcomes these spontaneous upsurges of peoples. But governments persist in propounding, practising and pursuing the self-same strategic interests, spheres of influence, balance of power and tutelary relations reminiscent of the earlier theory of divine right.

The paradox of our age is that while weapons become increasingly sophisticated, minds remain imprisoned in ideas of simpler times. Technically, the colonial age has ended. But the wish to dominate persists. Neo-colonialism comes wrapped in all types of packages - in technology and communications, commerce and culture. It takes boldness and integrity to resist it. There are intense political and economic pressures. The limited economic viability, indeed the very survival of many of the non-aligned, especially those with small populations, is threatened through artificial barriers in trade, technology transfer and access to resources. It should be within our ability to devise measures to help these small nations to maintain their independence and non-alignment.

Only with co-existence can there be any existence. We regard non-interference and non-intervantion as basic laws of international behaviour. Yet different types of interventions, open or covert, do take place in Asia, in Africa, in Latin America. They are all intolerable and unacceptable. Interference leads to intervention and one intervention often attracts another. No single power or group of powers has the justification or moral authority to so interfere or intervene. You cannot condemn one instance but condone another. Each situation has its own origins. Whatever they be, solutions must be political and peaceful. All States must abide by the principle that force or the threat of force will not be used against the territorial integrity or political independence of another State.

What makes interference possible? Our economic weakness, yes, but also our differences, and the discords within our Movement. At our meetings it is a tradition to avoid discussion on conflicts between member countries. We try to concentrate on matters which unite, and to enlarge such unity rather than get caught in acrimonious internecine conflicts. But so many have approached me and so sincere is our friendship for Iran and Iraq, so strong our desire, that I appeal to Iran and Iraq to end their tragic war. I believe that this is the unanimous view of all their friends, who wish them well. We hope also for early normalcy in Afghanistan.

We are of one mind in our support for the brave, homeless and much harassed Palestinian people. Israel feels free to commit any outrage, unabashed in its aggression, unrepentant about its transgressions of international law and behaviour. But can it forever obstruct the legitimate rights of Palestinians? The other notorious outlaw is the South African regime which defies the international family with impunity. It has been rightly observed that the very existence of the Government of Pretoria, which institutionalizes racism, negates the oneness of the human race. Aggression against its own people, and those of Namibia and other neighbours, is an affront. A third issue on which we stand as one is in opposing the intensive militarization of the Indian Ocean and the nuclearization of the Diego Garcia base. We should redouble our efforts to ensure that the United Nations Conference on the Indian Ocean is convened as earlier decided. The littoral States, the Non-Aligned Movement and the United Nations have declared time and again that the Indian Ocean should be a zone of peace. Can we develop the strength to make this a reality?

How do we gain strength? By all of us striving to become economically and technologically self-reliant. By settling through peaceful discussions whatever differences we have with one another. By resisting the intervention of others in our internal affairs. And by strengthening the United Nations Organization. It would be most useful if the eminent dignitaries gathered here would urge the Heads of State and Government of all members of the United Nations to attend the thirty-eighth General Assembly Session - to spend a week or ten days together to give a fresh collective look at some of the major problems of the world. Similarly 1985 could be designated as the Year of the United Nations and devoted to its strengthening.

Our plans for a better life for each of our peoples depend on world peace and the reversal of the arms race. Only general and complete disarmament can provide credible security. Negotiations confined to a closed circle of nuclear-weapon powers have made little progress. We are non-nuclear States, who want nuclear energy used only for peace. But we too have a right to live and be heard. In the name of humanity and on behalf of us all, I call upon nuclear-weapon powers to give up the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons in any circumstances; suspend all nuclear weapon tests and the production and deployment of nuclear weapons; and resume disarmament negotiations with determination to reach agreement.

The eyes of the world are upon us. People in India and in all our countries have high expectations from our deliberations. Let us decide here:

- to demand more purposeful steps to carry forward the democratization of the international system and to usher in a New International Economic Order;

- to call for an International Conference on Money and Finance for Development, which will devise methods to mobilize finance for investments in the critical areas of food, energy and industrial development; and

- to reassert our commitment to collective self-reliance.

Above all let us proclaim anew our belief that independence, development, disarmament and peace are indivisible and reaffirm our unceasing faith in the Five Principles which are the foundations of non-alignment, namely, sovereignty and territorial integrity, non-aggression, non-interference, equality and mutual benefit, and peaceful co-existence. Let us reiterate our support for the heroic Palestinians and Namibians and to all the victims of the aggressive acts of Israel and South Africa and commit ourselves to the strengthening of the United Nations and designate 1985 for that purpose.

Nationalism does not detach us from our common humanity. What a marvellous opportunity is ours, with immense knowledge and increasing capability. Let us grasp it though it be in the midst of dangers. Faith in the future has brought so many of you across the continents and the oceans to meet here. We are here because we do believe that minds and attitudes can and must be changed and that injustice and suffering can and must be diminished. Our world is small but it has room for all of us to live together in peace and beauty and to improve the quality of the lives of men and women of all races and creeds.

Once again I extend a warm welcome to you all. May your stay in our country be useful, interesting and enjoyable.

And I thank you for the trust you have reposed in India in asking us to hold this Conference.

THE NEW DELHI MESSAGE

1. Our world is increasingly turbulent and insecure. International economic relations continue to be characterized by inequality, domination and exploitation. The gravity of the situation is evident in the intensification of the arms race, in the resistance of the strong to the initiatives for change in favour of the weak, in great power involvement in regional conflicts and in the threat of a worldwide nuclear catastrophe.

2. Peace and peaceful co-existence, independence, disarmament and development are the central issues of our time. But peace must be based on justice and equality because the intolerable inequality and exploitation established by colonialism and imperialism remain the most important causes of tension, conflict and violence in the world.

3. We, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, appeal to the great powers to halt the arms race which is consuming, at an ever-increasing rate, the scarce material resources of our planet, destroying the ecological balance and wasting much of our finest scientific talent in sterile and destructive pursuits. These should be used to revitalize and restructure the world economy. The resources released by measures of disarmament should be diverted to promote the development of developing countries.

4. The non-aligned countries, speaking for the majority of the world community, want an immediate halt to the drift towards nuclear conflict which threatens not only the well-being of humanity in our times but of future generations as well. The nuclear weapon powers must heed this voice of the people of the world. From all indications, 1983 may be a crucial year for nuclear disarmament. We urge the nuclear weapon powers to adopt urgent and practical measures for the prevention of nuclear war. They should agree on an international convention prohibiting the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons in any circumstances and stop further production and deployment of nuclear weapons. It is also essential that they observe existing arms limitation agreements while seeking to negotiate broader and more effective programmes leading to general and complete disarmament, particularly nuclear disarmament, under international supervision.

5. The world economic crisis, which originated in some of the major industrialized countries, has now become truly global in character and scope. In developed countries it has led to economic stagnation and rising unemployment, to which they have reacted by adopting protectionist and other inward-looking policies. In developing countries, whose economies are specially vulnerable, it has led to enormous balance of payments deficits, mounting debt burdens and worsening terms of trade due to the steep fall in their commodity prices and to the sharp rise in the prices of industrial products which they have to import. All this has brought many of these countries to the brink of disaster.

6. Never before have the economic fortunes of the developed and developing nations been so closely linked together. Yet many rich nations of the world are turning in the midst of this common crisis to the catastrophic bilateralism of the 1920s and 1930s rather than to enlightened multilateralism. They still refuse to recognize that the economic revival of the North is simply not possible without the economic survival of the South. Solutions to these problems must necessarily be global.

7. The present crisis has demonstrated the inadequacy of the existing international economic order to deal with the problems of development. A thorough-going restructuring of this order through a process of global negotiations is necessary. All hurdles must now be overcome so that these negotiations can be launched without delay. Non-aligned countries are committed to strive for the establishment of the New International Economic Order based on justice and equity.

8. Concurrently, immediate measures must be taken to start a process of recovery and to bring the world economy back to the path of sustained growth. The activation and stimulation of the growth process in the developing countries must be a key objective of this endeavour. Immediate measures are needed in several areas. Special emphasis must be placed on enabling developing countries, particularly the Least Developed Countries, to solve their acute balance of payments problems without interrupting their development process. At the same time, satisfaction of their basic needs of food and energy, enhanced access to markets and fair prices for commodities must be ensured. Protectionist trends must be reversed and immediate measures to dismantle trade barriers implemented. It is necessary to put an end to unequal exchange between developed and developing countries. Besides, many developing countries are in a tragic situation because of their inability to meet their debt obligations. This serious problem should be urgently addressed.

9. We propose the immediate convening of an international conference on money and finance for development, with universal participation, and a comprehensive restructuring of the international monetary and financial system.

10. We are deeply concerned about the tensions and confrontations between the great powers and their disturbing effects on non-aligned countries. We are determined to resist economic and political pressures that might be exerted by any great power against small and vulnerable States.

11. Urgent political issues, such as the pressing need to restore to the brave Palestinian people, who are waging a heroic struggle against Israeli forces, their inalienable right to establish a national sovereign State of their own in accordance with United Nations resolutions; the withdrawal of Israel from Jerusalem, occupied Palestine and Arab territories and from Lebanon; the independence of Namibia to be achieved by the speedy implementation of Security Council resolution 435; the need to achieve peace in Central America through political negotiations between the parties concerned, as well as the problems in South-East Asia, South-West Asia, the Indian Ocean, the Mediterranean and other areas in the world, call for a sincere effort on the part of all countries of the world to resolve them in accordance with the principles of peace and justice, independence and equality. No less urgent is the common responsibility of all of us to ensure that our fellow human beings everywhere live in dignity and honour. Many wrongs have been perpetrated on the continent of Africa and its long-suffering people. The people of South Africa are bravely struggling against the obnoxious and oppressive system of racism and apartheid. We reaffirm our solidarity with the African people and their noble cause. There are some great powers in a position to help achieve this objective faster and, hopefully, with less suffering all round. We earnestly urge them to do so.

12. We, on our part, are committed to pressing these and other critical issues at the thirty-eighth session of the United Nations General Assembly. We urge the Heads of State or Government of all countries of the world to join us there. We stand ready to co-operate with them in finding equitable, fair, speedy and just solutions to these problems. Our destiny is common.

13. The crisis which confronts our civilization today is unprecedented in history. Great tasks call for wise decisions. We appeal to the great powers to give up mistrust, engage in sincere, forward-looking negotiations in a spirit of shared good faith to reach agreement on various disarmament measures and to find a way out of the deepening economic crisis which threatens all of us. Unitedly, the members of the Non-Aligned Movement are prepared to do everything in their power to assist in this process. The earth belongs to us all - let us cherish it in peace and true brotherhood, based on the dignity and equality of man.

POLITICAL DECLARATION

Her thoughtful and perceptive address was widely acclaimed as a significant contribution to the deliberations and the successful outcome the Conference. The Prime Minister stressed the continuing relevance of the principles and objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement in the contemporary international situation, and emphasized the interrelationship between peace, independence, disarmament and development. The Prime Minister of India also made a strong plea for unity, harmony and collective self-reliance amongst non-aligned countries. The text of the address was included by acclamation as a document of the Conference. President Fidel Castro Ruz of the Republic of Cuba, in his capacity as the Chairman of the Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned countries, delivered a lucid and comprehensive report on the activities of the Non-Aligned Movement since the Havana Summit of 1979.

7. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the admission of Bahamas, Barbados, Colombia and Vanuatu to membership of the Movement, the participation of Antigua and Barbuda as observer and the attendance of the Dominican Republic as a guest.

II. ROLE OF NON-ALIGNMENT

8. Conceived in the context of the struggle against colonialism and the growing polarization of international relations resulting from military blocs, military alliances and the cold war, the Movement has consistently struggled for the all-round emancipation of the peoples of Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean and other parts of the world. Through the years, despite many obstacles, the Movement and the policy of non-alignment have achieved significant successes and have continued to play a decisive role in efforts to promote a new world order based on equality, justice and peace. The recent evolution of the international situation fully justifies the policy of non-alignment, its principles and objectives, as a positive, non-bloc independent, global factor in international relations. This policy continues to contribute to efforts to promote peace, disarmament, the relaxation of international tensions, the just and peaceful solution of international problems and economic development. The Non-Aligned Movement was the inevitable result of the felt need of newly independent countries in all parts of the world to protect and strengthen their national independence. These countries saw in non-alignment a decisive instrument for exercising their full sovereignty in political and economic matters.

9. The strengthening of non-alignment as a broad international movement constitutes an integral part of the profound changes in the structure of contemporary international relations. The non-aligned countries today represent an overwhelming majority of mankind, linked together by a shared world vision and perspective that transcend the differences in their social and economic systems. Their common commitment to world peace, justice and co-operation, to the elimination of imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism, to the eradication of apartheid, racism, including zionism, and all forms of foreign domination, aggression, intervention, occupation and pressures, to the acceleration of the process of self-determination of peoples under colonial and alien domination and the consolidation of the national independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of States and to the social and economic development of their peoples, constitutes an irreversible factor in world history.

10. Non-aligned countries over the years have given expression to the legitimate rights and aspirations of their peoples to be free from relations of subordination and dependence and to shape their own destinies in accordance with their national aims and objectives. In expressing their international concerns they have also striven for the elimination of all forms of domination, discrimination, exploitation and inequality and for the establishment of a new world order based on respect for independence, equality and co-operation and the fulfilment of the aspirations of all peoples for justice, security, development and prosperity in place of the present order, in which wealth continues to be concentrated in the hands of a few powers to the detriment of the peoples of Africa, Asia, Latin America and other regions of the world. They have launched many positive initiatives such as the establishment of the New International Economic Order and the promotion of universal adherence to the policy of active and peaceful co-existence.

11. The quintessence of the policy of non-alignment has always consisted of the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid, racism, including zionism and against all forms of foreign aggression, occupation, domination, interference or hegemony as well as against great power and bloc policies tending to perpetuate the division of the world into blocs. It rejects all forms of subjugation, dependence, interference or intervention, direct or indirect, overt or covert and all pressures - political, diplomatic, economic, military and cultural - in international relations. The Heads of State or Government once again reaffirmed the need for strict adherence to the principles of non-intervention and non-interference in the internal and external affairs of States. They likewise reaffirmed the right of all States to pursue their own economic development without intimidation, hindrance or pressure. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the principled commitment of non-aligned countries not to be parties to, or to take any action which would facilitate, great power confrontation and rivalry or strengthen existing military alliances and interlocking arrangements arising therefrom, particularly through participation in military arrangements or through the provision of military bases and facilities for great power military presence conceived in the context of great power conflicts. Reaffirming the criteria for participation in the Movement, as formulated in Cairo and adopted in Belgrade, in 1961, they called for their strict observance. The Heads of State or Government reaffirm their lasting commitment to and strict observance of the principles and objectives of the policy of non-alignment and of the Movement as defined at their Summit Conferences in Belgrade, Cairo, Lusaka, Algiers, Colombo and Havana. The violation of these principles by any country is unjustifiable under any circumstances and is totally unacceptable.

12. Non-aligned countries have consistently and continuously exerted every effort to bring about a lessening of tensions and to strengthen international understanding. In this context, they have expressed their determination to keep away from power blocs and groupings aligned against one another, the existence of which threaten the world with a major catastrophe. However, current trends in the international situation give cause for grave concern. There is increasing recourse to the use or threat of force, military intervention and interference in violation of the principles and purposes of the United Nations Charter. Forces hostile to the emancipation of peoples continue to infringe the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of countries and to impede the rights of peoples under colonial and alien domination to self-determination and independence. The attempt to erroneously characterize the struggles of peoples for independence and human dignity as falling within the context of East-West confrontation denies them the right to determine their own destiny and realise their legitimate aspirations. The recrudescence of great power confrontations and the revival of the cold war have been accompanied by competition for spheres of influence, domination and exploitation in more and more parts of the world, All of which pose a grave threat to global peace and security. The arms race, particularly in nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction has escalated to new levels of irrationality and in some cases a policy to negotiate from a position of strength is predominant. New doctrines are being advanced to justify the accretion and deployment of armaments, especially nuclear armaments, in various parts of the world. The vast technological resources and research capabilities of certain developed countries are being diverted to increasing the already awesome destructiveness of existing weapons system and to devising new ones.

13. The unwillingness of certain important developed countries to engage in serious and meaningful negotiations with a view to bringing about adequate solutions to world economic crises has further aggravated the inequalities and injustices in international economic relations. The Heads of State or Government stressed that it is time for those developed countries to demonstrate their political will by looking at the world's economic ills in their totality. Powerful lobbies and vested interests of the arms industry have generated an armaments culture, especially in its nuclear manifestation. The pervasive influence of this culture perpetuates old conflicts and gives rise to new ones, preventing the evolution of healthy national societies in a peaceful international environment. In a world of finite resources, the vast expenditures on the development and manufacture of weapons stand in stark contrast to the poverty, deprivation and squalor in which two-thirds of the world's population live. The economic and social consequences of the arms race militate against the bringing about of the New International Economic Order. Durable peace can only be assured through a restructuring of the world economy with a view to establishing the New International Economic Order and bridging the economic gap between developing and developed countries.

14. Reviewing these disturbing trends, the Heads of State or Government reiterated their conviction that only a thorough reshaping of the international order would ensure the realization of lasting peace, security and prosperity for all peoples of the world. Doctrines of strategic balance and deterrence, the concept of limited nuclear war, the accumulation of nuclear arms and the policies of interference, intervention, pressures, destabilization and occupation directed primarily against non-aligned countries must be abandoned in favour of policies of peaceful co-existence and co-operation on the basis of equality.

15. The Heads of State or Government believed that international relations have entered a phase where decision-making on issues of vital concern to all countries of the world can no longer be the prerogative of a small group of countries, howsoever powerful they may be. The democratization of internatioal relations is an imperative necessity of our times which will lead to the realization of the unfettered development and genuine independence of all States. The peoples of the world increasingly recognize the futility of basing national security on theories and doctrines which, if implemented, would result in the annihilation of humankind. It is this anxiety that has prompted people of different persuasions from all sections of society to come forward in ever-larger numbers to advocate alternative strategies for achieving peace as well as economic and political objectives, rejecting the present policies of the great powers based on the pursuit of military power, which encourage the intensification of the arms race. People all over the world, in both the developed and the developing world, who are concerned with questions like employment, economic planning, environment, public health, etc., are mobilizing public opinion on armament-related issues. Peace movements around the world are increasingly challenging the cogency of decisions to intensify the arms race, particularly in the nuclear field. World solidarity on the vital questions of human survival is today not merely a lofty ideal, it is an overriding necessity.

16. The developed countries of the industrialized world, which are responsible for over three-quarters of global expenditure on armaments, are engaged in an arms race which continues to absorb colossal human, material and technological resources. The phenomenal rise in such expenditures in recent years has accelerated inflation, produced high budgetary deficits and a further cutback in the already dwindling scale of economic aid to developing countries. Recessionary conditions in the developed countries have led to increasing protectionism, thus reducing their trade with developing countries and aggravating the latters' debt burden, balance-of-payments and other economic problems. The economic and social consequences of the arms race have reinforced these negative trends and militate against bringing about the New International Economic Order. Instability resulting from these conditions constitutes a threat to the security of developing countries by rendering them more vulnerable to intervention and interference.

17. It is increasingly clear that in the present-day world there is no alternative to a policy of peaceful co-existence, détente and co-operation among States, irrespective of their economic and social systems, size and geographical location. The desire of all States to pursue independent policies is matched today by an awareness of the increased interdependence between nations. As in the political, so also in the economic field the revitalization of the world economy cannot be realized on the basis of autarky at the expense of the developing countries or on the basis of a perpetuation of the present unequal relationships between the North and the South, but rather by recognition of the fact of interdependence, by a sober analysis of complementarities and by negotiations undertaken on the principles of equality, mutual benefit and justice for all. Consequently, the present world economic crisis can be resolved only through measures aimed at achieving the New International Economic Order.

18. The great advances in scientific and technological research and development have opened up virtually unlimited vistas of progress. Yet the fruits of these developments continue to be denied to a large proportion of the world's population, who live in conditions of utter deprivation and backwardness. While the revolution in communications has compressed physical distances around the world, political, economic and racial barriers continue to widen the gulf between the developed and the developing and between the affluent and the poor. The economic gap between the developed and the developing countries is widening and the latter are being denied effective and equitable participation in the benefits of international development.

19. Unity and solidarity among the non-aligned countries are all the more necessary in the present crisis in international relations. They are indispensable to the independence and strength of the Movement and the realisation of its objectives. For over two decades now the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has brought together a growing number of States and national liberation movements bound by certain fundamental principles. These nations have demonstrated their ability to overcome their differences through democratic discussion and to find a common platform for action. At the same time, they have rejected any attempt and all kinds of pressures by outside forces to weaken the unity of the Movement and divert it from its original principles and objectives.

20. The aspirations of peoples and countries to achieve full political, social and economic independence and true equality in international relations are opposed by forces which are seeking to perpetuate unequal relations and privileges. The efforts of the non-aligned countries to promote international peace and security for all, based on justice, disarmament, the universal application of the principles of peaceful co-existence, the completion of the process of decolonization and the democratization of international relations and co-operation on an equal footing are being intensified. The Heads of State or Government consider that problems affecting peace, security, development, freedom and independence require solutions through endeavours on the part of the entire international community. The policy of non-alignment and the efforts of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to find just solutions to these problems are acquiring ever greater importance. The non-aligned and other developing countries, national liberation movements and democratic and peace-and freedom-loving forces throughout the world are playing an active role in the struggle for peace, universal détente and the general progress of the world.

21. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the importance of devoting special attention to, and persevering in, efforts aimed at finding peaceful solutions to the differences and disputes arising among member States of the Movement. They were conscious that many of these differences and disputes were aggravated by former colonial powers or the outcome of conditions of disequilibrium imposed from outside rather than any deliberate intent on the part of fraternal States of the Movement to fuel animosities among themselves. The effort to eliminate such conditions and to establish equitable international relations between States has been one of the principal motivations for the establishment of the Non-Aligned Movement.

22. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that co-operation among non-aligned countries in information and mass communication is successfully contributing to reducing dependency on transnational information agencies, despite obstacles and opposition to the establishment of a new international information and communication order. They also noted with particular satisfaction that an international consensus is emerging on the concept, which had its genesis in the Non-Aligned Movement, of a new, more just and more effective international information and communication order, aimed at correcting inequalities in the flow of information by ensuring, with due respect for constitutional provisions and applicable international instruments and agreements, a free, wider and better balanced dissemination of information. The quest for a new international information and communication order is integral to the struggle for the New International Economic Order.

23. The Heads of State or Government grant especial importance to co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the fields of education and culture and consider that it contributes in a decisive way to development and social progress as a whole and to the consolidation of independence and political equality as well as to the strengthening of world peace and international understanding among nations. They underlined the need for bilateral, international and multilateral co-operation among non-aligned countries in the fields of education and culture.

24. The Heads of State or Government reiterate their commitment to ensure respect for and promotion of human rights of individuals and the rights of peoples in accordance with the United Nations Charter and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which is essential to assure peace and security in the world.

25. The Conference affirmed that achievement of fundamental freedoms and basic human rights are integral to the struggle for the transformation and democratization of international relations and therefore are also linked with the need for change in present international economic relations. Civil and political rights and economic, social and cultural rights are inseparable.

26. The Heads of State or Government confirmed the importance of the right to development as a human right and the fact that equality of opportunity for development is as much a prerogative of nations as of individuals composing them. The right of people under colonial and foreign domination and occupation to self-determination and independence and the freedom of all peoples to choose their own political, economic and social systems as well as their right to permanent sovereignty over their natural resources must be scrupulously respected. The Conference urged the United Nations to continue working for the achievement of human rights of individuals and peoples in this comprehensive perspective. They also called for respect for rights of national, ethnic and religious minorities as well as of those who have emigrated in search of work.

27. The Conference stressed that since the Sixth Summit four extraordinary meetings of the Co-ordinating Bureau had been held - at Algiers in March 1981, in Kuwait in April 1982, in Cyprus in July 1982 and at Managua in January 1983 in order to deal specifically with the questions of Namibia, Palestine and Lebanon and the situation in Latin America and the Caribbean respectively, and that they had been of great importance. It emphasized that they had played an important role in the context of the Non-Aligned Movement's historical support for and solidarity with the just struggle of the people of Namibia, Palestine and Latin America and the Caribbean.

III. DISARMAMENT, SURVIVAL AND CO-EXISTENCE IN THE AGE OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS

28. The Heads of State or Government consider that the greatest peril facing the world today is the threat to the survival of mankind from a nuclear war. Disarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament, is no longer a moral issue; it is an issue of human survival. Yet the renewed escalation in the nuclear arms race, both in its quantitative and qualitative dimensions, as well as reliance on doctrines of nuclear deterrence, has heightened the risk of the outbreak of nuclear war and led to greater insecurity and instability in international relations. Nuclear weapons are more than weapons of war. They are instruments of mass annihilation. The Heads of State or Government therefore find it unacceptable that the security of all States and the very survival of mankind should be held hostage to the security interests of a handful of nuclear-weapon States. Measures for the prevention of nuclear war and of nuclear disarmament must take into account the security interests of nuclear-weapon and non-nuclear-weapon States alike and ensure that the survival of mankind is not endangered. They rejected all theories and concepts pertaining to the possession of nuclear weapons and their use under any circumstances.

29. The qualitative development of conventional weapons adds a new dimension to the arms race, especially among States possessing the largest military arsenals. New generations of nuclear weapons and chemical weapons with increased lethality and greater accuracy are being deployed and there is increasing danger of the extension of the arms race into outer space. All these developments have greatly aggravated the dangers to the survival of human civilization.

30. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their conviction that international peace and security can only be ensured through general and complete disarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament, under effective international control. In order to prevent effectively the horizontal and vertical proliferation of nuclear weapons, nuclear-weapon States should adopt urgent measures for halting and reversing the nuclear arms race. Pending the achievement of nuclear disarmament, the Heads of State or Government, in the name of humanity, demanded an immediate prohibition of the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons by all nuclear-weapon States. They further called for a freeze on the development, production, stockpiling and deployment of nuclear weapons and the speedy finalization of a comprehensive treaty banning the testing of nuclear weapons. They also reiterated that the nuclear-weapon States have an obligation to guarantee that non-nuclear-weapon States will not be threatened or attacked with nuclear weapons. The Heads of State or Government recommended that negotiations should proceed without delay for the conclusion of an agreed international instrument on effective international arrangements to insure all non-nuclear-weapon States, without any discrimination, against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons.

31. The Heads of State or Government affirmed that the establishment of nuclear-weapon-free zones on the basis of arrangements freely arrived at among the States of the region concerned constituted an important disarmament measure. The establishment of such zones in different parts of the world should be encouraged with the ultimate objective of achieving a world entirely free of nuclear weapons.

32. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern that certain nuclear-weapon States have deployed or intend to deploy nuclear weapons in various regions of the world.

33. The Conference emphasized that while nuclear disarmament has the highest priority, efforts should be made to conclude without further delay a treaty banning chemical weapons. Conventional disarmament must also be pursued within the context of progress towards general and complete disarmament. The Heads of State or Government declared once again that outer space should be used exclusively for peaceful purposes.

34. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep disappointment at the failure of the second special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament to achieve meaningful results. Efforts to adopt a comprehensive programme on disarmament and other measures for disarmament, particularly nuclear disarmament, failed due to the inflexible positions adopted by some of the major powers. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the principles and priorities contained in the Final Document of the first special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament retained all their validity and that the objectives and measures contained therein still represent a goal to be achieved, for which the non-aligned countries would continue to work untiringly. In this context, they welcomed and fully supported the World Disarmament Campaign launched during the second special session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to disarmament. They also called for the early elaboration of the comprehensive programme of disarmament so as to ensure its adoption at the thirty-eighth session of the United Nations General Assembly.

35. In order to avoid a further deterioration of the situation, the Heads of State or Government called for urgent consideration by the world community of the proposals advanced by the non-aligned countries.

36. The Heads of State or Government underlined the central role and primary responsibility of the United Nations in the field of disarmament. They called upon the Committee on Disarmament, as the sole multilateral negotiating body in the field of disarmament, to fulfil its mandate and adopt concrete measures of disarmament, in particular nuclear disarmament.

37. The Heads of State or Government urged the major nuclear-weapon States to pursue their negotiations on arms limitation and disarmament with greater vigour. Bearing in mind the vital interest that all States have in disarmament, they urged these States to keep the United Nations informed of the progress achieved in the above-mentioned negotiations.

38. Reviewing the international situation, the Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern over the continuing existence and further aggravation of focal points of aggression and hotbeds of tension in different regions of the world.

IV. SITUATION IN SOUTHERN AFRICA

39. Developments in the southern part of Africa show that apartheid, racial discrimination and colonial tyranny continue to resist the forces of change. The struggle of the peoples of southern Africa for self-determination is an integral part of the wider struggle of the people of the world against all forms of oppression, exploitation, domination, inequality and discrimination. The Heads of State or Government stressed the determination of the non-aligned countries to intensify their joint efforts in support of this struggle.

Namibia

40. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the inalienable rights of the people of Namibia to self-determination and to the national independence of a united Namibia, including Walvis Bay, the Penguin Islands and other adjacent offshore islands in accordance with the resolutions of the United Nations, the non-aligned countries and the Organization of African Unity. They expressed deep concern over the continued illegal occupation of Namibia by the racist South African regime in flagrant violation of United Nations resolutions. The situation arising from the Pretoria regime's repressive policies against the Namibian people as well as its policy of intimidation and terrorism against the neighbouring countries constitutes a grave threat to international peace and security.

41. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their solidarity with the Namibian people and their support for the heroic struggle waged under the leadership of SWAPO, the sole, authentic and legitimate representative of the Namibian people, for the liberation of that Territory and for the establishment of an independent State of Namibia based on the principles of equality, freedom and justice. They commended the activities of SWAPO, in particular of the People's Liberation Army of Namibia, its military wing, in their struggle against the illegal administration in Namibia and the colonial occupation army as well as other paramilitary forces of racist South Africa.

42. The Conference strongly denounced the illegal exploitation of the natural resources of Namibia and stressed that the plundering of these resources by foreign interests under the protection of the occupying administration constitutes a serious violation of the United Nations Charter and an obstacle to the political independence of Namibia. It called on all countries, transnational corporations and other organizations exploring and exploiting these resources, including the marine resources in the territorial waters of Namibia under the Law of the Sea Convention, which has just been signed by the Council for Namibia, to comply with the relevant United Nations resolutions and the relevant paragraphs of the Algiers Declaration adopted in 1981 in consonance with Decree 1 of the United Nations Council for Namibia, and to terminate their activities in the Territory of Namibia, including Walvis Bay, Penguin and other adjacent offshore islands forthwith.

43. The Heads of State or Government renewed their pledge to render increased material, financial, military, political, humanitarian, diplomatic and moral assistance to SWAPO for the intensification of the struggle on all fronts, in particular the armed struggle to secure the total liberation of Namibia. In this connection, they expressed their appreciation for the contributions made to the Non-Aligned Solidarity Fund for Namibia and appealed for increased contributions by all the non-aligned countries.

44. The Conference denounced the detention of SWAPO freedom fighters under the so-called Terrorism Act and demanded the immediate and unconditional release of Toivo Herman Ya Toivo and all other Namibian political prisoners in various South African jails, detention centres and concentration camps.

45. The Conference reiterated the demand that all captured freedom fighters be accorded prisoner of war status under the Geneva Convention of 1949 and the Additional Protocol thereto.

46. The Heads of State or Government recalled that the year 1982 had been proclaimed by the United Nations as International Year of Mobilization for Sanctions against South Africa, which represented a firm commitment by the international community to the struggle against the racist regime. This commitment should be renewed and reinforced in the coming years, specifically in the context of the Namibian question. The Conference welcomed the decision of the United Nations General Assembly to hold an international conference in support of the struggle of the Namibian people for independence in Paris in April 1983. It urged all States to participate in the conference in a constructive manner so as to achieve positive results and to examine practical ways and means of increasing support for the struggle of the Namibian people in order to accelerate the freedom and independence of their country.

47. The Conference expressed its deep concern that the Western Contact Group was unable to detach and disassociate itself from the extraneous issue of linkage between Namibia's independence and the withdrawal of Cuban forces from Angola insisted upon by one of its members. The Conference stressed that the linkage, which was totally incompatible with the letter and spirit of Security Council resolution 435 (1978), constituted an impediment to the implementation of the United Nations Plan for the independence of Namibia.

48. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep concern that Namibia's independence continued to be obstructed by the intransigence and persistent refusal of the racist regime of South Africa to comply with the relevant United Nations resolutions and decisions on Namibia, in particular resolution 435 (1978). They reiterated the strong view of the non-aligned countries that the United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) remained the only basis for the peaceful settlement of the Namibian question. In this connection, the Conference most categorically rejected the linkage or parallelism being drawn by the United States Administration between the independence of Namibia and the withdrawal of Cuban forces from Angola. This continued insistence constitutes an unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of the People's Republic of Angola. The Conference strongly supported the position taken by the Front-Line States in this regard, as contained in the Lusaka Communique of 4 September 1982 and the Harare Communique of 20 February 1983.

49. The Heads of State or Government called upon the United Nations Security Council to meet, as soon as possible, in order to consider further action on the implementation of its Plan for Namibia's independence thereby assuming its primary responsibility for implementation of Security Council resolution 435 (1978). The Summit designated the Foreign Ministers of the following member States of the Movement to participate in the meeting of the Security Council in New York: Algeria, Angola, Bangladesh, Benin, Botswana, Cuba, Egypt, Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Jamaica, Kenya, Kuwait, Liberia, Mozambique, Nicaragua, Niger, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Sri Lanka, Tanzania, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, Yugoslavia, Zaire, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

50. The Conference denounced all so-called constitutional and political schemes through which South Africa has fraudulently attempted to perpetuate its colonial domination in Namibia and urged all States not to recognise any entity installed in Namibia through an "internal" settlement or any other form of direct administration in contravention of United Nations resolutions, in particular Security Council resolutions 435 (1978) and 439 (1978).

51. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their full support for the United Nations Council for Namibia in its role as the sole legal administering authority of Namibia until independence. They called for the further enhancing of the effectiveness of the Council in discharging its mandate and in developing the basic infrastructure of Namibia's nationhood programme and other related activities.

South Africa

52. The Conference strongly condemned the racist regime of Pretoria for its systematic and barbarous acts of oppression and discrimination against the overwhelming majority of the population of South Africa. It drew attention to the sinister schemes aimed at the perpetuation of colonialism under the guise of bantustanization and thus depriving the people of South Africa of their political, economic and social rights and freedoms in order to keep them under the continued subjugation of the white minority.

53. The persistent efforts of the apartheid regime to acquire a nuclear weapons arsenal were yet another indication of its determination to maintain its dominance. The continued collaboration of certain Western countries and Israel with the South African regime in this field as well as the investments and economic assistance being given by them to South Africa have only encouraged that regime in its intransigence. The Conference expressed deep regret that the Security Council has time and again been prevented from imposing comprehensive and mandatory sanctions under Chapter VII of the Charter. It urged all Governments and international organizations to sever contacts with the racist regime of South Africa. The Heads of State or Government called for a cessation of all assistance to South Africa by the International Monetary Fund and other United Nations specialized agencies, as the granting of such assistance and credits has been used by the Pretoria regime to meet its increasing expenditure for military and repressive purposes directed against the majority population.

54. The Heads of State or Government called for the unconditional release of Nelson Mandela and all other political prisoners, six of whom are in the twentieth year of their life imprisonment, as well as for the granting of prisoner of war status to all captured freedom fighters. They strongly condemned the recent confirmation of death sentences imposed by the apartheid regime on six freedom fighters and called for an intensified world campaign to save their lives.

55. The Conference noted with indignation the introduction by the South African regime of so-called constitutional reforms and unreservedly condemned that act as yet another device to divide the oppressed people of South Africa and consolidate and perpetuate apartheid and white minority rule. Whilst congratulating those of the so-called coloureds and peoples of Indian origin for categorically rejecting the so-called constitutional reforms, it warned the unrepresentative elements in the Labour Party and the South African Indian Council against being party to the bogus constitutional arrangements.

56. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Movement expressed their solidarity with and strong support for the struggle of the oppressed people of South Africa led by their authentic representatives - the national liberation movements - using all means at their disposal. At the same time they condemned the brutal suppression and oppression of the African nationalists in South Africa by the racist Pretoria regime. They congratulated the heroic freedom fighters of the African National Congress on the spectacular victories scored and urged member States of the Non-Aligned Movement and the international community to increase their assistance to the liberation movements of South Africa recognized by the Organization of African Unity, to enable them to further intensify the struggle

57. The Conference condemned the United States policy of "constructive engagement" which is aimed at countering the international campaign for the total isolation of apartheid South Africa. The public proclamation of the racist Pretoria regime as friend and ally has encouraged it in its intensified repression of the South African people, its escalating aggression against its neighbours and its determined intransigence over Namibian independence.

58. The Heads of State or Government expressed deep concern about persistent reports of attempts by some Latin American countries to form a so-called South Atlantic Treaty Organization (SATO) in conjunction with the racist regime of South Africa. They warned that such a military alliance with South Africa would threaten the security of Africa and international peace and security and would undermine the efforts of the international community to secure the independence of Namibia and the liberation of South Africa. In this connection, they called on the Latin American countries concerned to renounce all attempts to form a so-called South Atlantic Treaty Organization with South Africa.

59. The Conference viewed with grave concern the growing number of sports persons and entertainers being lured to apartheid South Africa and hailed the principled position taken by some individual entertainers and sportsmen who have turned down lucratice offers by that regime. It also highly commended those Governments and national sports bodies which have taken punitive measures against cricketers and entertainers who have played or performed in South Africa and calls upon all other Governments and national sports bodies to take similar measures.

Destabilization

60. The Conference noted with great concern the increased acts of military, political and economic destabilization perpetrated by the South African racist regime agains the independent neighbouring states of Angola, Mozambique, Zambia, Zimbabwe, Botswana, Lesotho, Swaziland and Seychelles. It condemned the South African regime for creating, arming, financing and utilizing counter-revolutionary groups, bandits and mercenaries as an extension of the South African army to cause instability in the region. The Conference reiterated that the policies and practices of the South African regime constitute a serious threat not only to regional stability but also to international peace and security.

61. The Conference hailed the creation of the Southern African Development Co-ordination Conference (SADCC) designed to liberate the countries of southern African from South African economic hegemony and exploitation. It condemned South African activities aimed at frustrating these efforts.

62. The Conference strongly condemned the continued military occupation of part of Angolan territory by the South African racist troops in violation of the national sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of the People's Republic of Angola. The Conference considered the occupation of Angolan territory as an act of aggression against the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, demanded the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of South African troops from Angolan territory and decided to increase support for and solidarity with the people and Government of Angola in order to consolidate Angola's national independence, and safeguard its sovereignty and territorial integrity.

63. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep concern over the concentration of South African troops along the Mozambican border with and aggression against the People's Republic of Mozambique. They strongly condemned the war of aggression against the People's Republic of Mozambique carried out by the South African racist regime through the use of armed bandits and mercenaries as an extension of the South African army. They reaffirmed that these constant acts of invasion and aggression and sabotage of the economic and social infrastructure of the People's Republic of Mozambique by the South African regime are aimed at undermining the efforts of the Mozambican people to achieve national reconstruction in conditions of peace and security. They therefore expressed their full support for the people and Government of Mozambique in their struggle for the preservation of their independence and sovereignty. They called upon all member States of the Movement as well as other peace-loving countries to render maximum diplomatic, political and material support to the People's Republic of Mozambique in order to enable it to strengthen its defence capability.

64. The Heads of State or Government took note of the continued acts of sabotage and destabilization committed by the racist minority regime of South Africa against the Kingdom of Lesotho and strongly condemned the invasion of Maseru by the racist regime. They expressed their deep sorrow at the loss of innocent lives and denounced the wanton destruction of property which resulted from that barbarous act of aggression. They expressed particular concern at the seriously deteriorating security situation around the borders of Lesotho, particularly the sabotage and destruction of the economic infrastructure, including water systems and fuel depots, as well as the dangerous military situation created by the Pretoria regime on the south-eastern sector of the Lesotho-South African border in the Matatiele area. The Conference held South Africa fully responsible for this situation, which poses a threat to the security, independence and territorial integrity of Lesotho.

65. The Conference commended the Government and people of Lesotho for their steadfast opposition to apartheid, including the Pretoria regime's policy of Bantustans. It also expressed its support for and solidarity with the Kingdom of Lesotho in the face of the premeditated acts of aggression, sabotage and destabilization committed by the racist minority regime of South Africa. It strongly warned the racist regime against any invasion of the Kingdom of Lesotho either directly or through its proxies. The Conference further recalled Security Council resolution 527(1982), took note with appreciation of the measures already taken by the United Nations Secretary-General to implement that resolution and appealed to the international community, particularly the members of the Non-Aligned Movement, to urgently extend to the Kingdom of Lesotho the necessary assistance in order to enhance it capacity to withstand the undue pressures and threats by the racist regime and to fulfil its international obligations towards the South African refugees.

66. The Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Movement expressed their horror over the unprovoked perpetration of acts of subversion, invasion and aggression by the South African racist regime against the Republic of Zimbabwe. They strongly condemned the South African-sponsored acts of sabotage against the social, economic and military infrastructure of Zimbabwe. They equally denounced the South African racist regime for preparing for war against Zimbabwe by training and financing subversive groups and infiltrating them into that country. The Heads of State or Government commended Zimbabwe for having effectively contained and foiled several attempts by South African agents and infiltrated armed bandits aimed at destabilizing its peace. They therefore called upon all member States of the Movement and other peace-loving countries to provide maximum diplomatic, political and material assistance to the Republic of Zimbabwe in order to enable it to defend its independence and sovereignty and to strengthen its defence capability.

67. The Conference condemned the mercenary attack aimed at the overthrow of the Government of Seychelles. It demanded that all countries take effective measures to prevent their nations from joining mercenary forces and not to allow them facilities for their nefarious activities.

68. The Heads of State or Government commended the Front-Line States and other neighbouring States for their courage and determination in the face of brazen intimidation by South Africa and called upon the world community to provide all possible assistance and support to these countries to strengthen their defences as well as to create conditions to avert bloodshed in the whole of southern Africa.

V. WESTERN SAHARA

69. Recalling earlier Declarations of the Movement on the problem of Western Sahara as well as United Nations General Assembly resolution 36/46 and decision 36/406 and resolution 37/28 and decision 37/411, the Conference reiterated support for the Implementation Committee's efforts to resolve the conflict in accordance with the decision of the Eighteenth Summit Meeting of the Organization of African Unity.

70. The Heads of State or Government felt concern over the risks to the peace and stability of the region in any foreign intervention and internationalization of the problem.

71. The Heads of State or Government appeal to the parties to the conflict to initiate immediate negotiations under the auspices of the Implementation Committee of the Organization of African Unity in order to obtain a fair and lasting solution to the conflict in Western Sahara in accordance with the United Nations Charter, United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514(XV), the principles of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the decisions of the United Nations and the Organization of African Unity.

VI. MAYOTTE

72. With regard to the Comorian island of Mayotte, which is still under French occupation, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that it is an integral part of the sovereign territory of the Federal Islamic Republic of the Comoros. They also expressed their active solidarity with the people of Comoros in their legitimate efforts to recover that island and preserve the independence, unity and territorial integrity of Comoros. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the overall results of the referendum carried out on 22 December 1974 in the entire territory of Comoros and rejected all proposals for a new referendum in Mayotte.

VII. MALAGASY ISLANDS

73. In relation to the Malagasy Islands - Glorieuses, Juan De Nova, Europa and Bassas De India - in the Indian Ocean, bearing in mind the various decisions taken by the Organization of African Unity and the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries on this question, the Heads of State or Government urged the French Government to initiate negotiations with the Malagasy Government with a view to settling the question in accordance with the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter.

VIII. THE INDIAN OCEAN AS A ZONE OF PEACE

74. Ever since the Lusaka Summit Conference first called upon all States to consider and respect the Indian Ocean as a zone of peace, non-aligned States have consistently extended their unanimous support to the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in its resolution 2832(XXVI) of 16 December 1971, which sought to protect the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of the States of the region and to bring about the elimination from the Indian Ocean and its natural extensions of foreign bases, military installations, logistical supply facilities and the disposition of nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction and to free the region from any manifestation of rivalries and competition for influence among the great powers, which have led to an increase in their military presence and threatened the peace and stability of the area.

75. The Conference reaffirmed the determination of the non-aligned States to continue their endeavour towards the attainment of the objectives embodied in the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace and as considered at the Meeting of Littoral and Hinterland States of July 1979 as well as at the subsequent meetings of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Indian Ocean. It reiterated its conviction that the presence in the Indian Ocean area of any manifestation of great power military presence, foreign bases, military installations and logistical supply facilities, nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction conceived in the context of great power rivalries, constitute a flagrant violation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of peace.

76. It viewed with disquiet and concern the continuous escalation of great power military presence in the Indian Ocean area, including the expansion of the existing bases, the search for new base facilities and the establishment of the new military command structures of the great powers against the express wishes of the littoral and hinterland States of the Indian Ocean and other non-aligned countries. These activities endangered the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of the States in the area.

77. It noted with concern that the quest for spheres of influence undermined the objective of establishing universal collective security without military alliances and the security interests of the non-aligned countries. It also noted and condemned the development of strategic concepts conceding to the South African racist regime a regional role which it was using as a pretext to maintain the apartheid system by force, to occupy the international territory of Namibia illegally and to destabilize neighbouring independent States.

78. The non-aligned countries are determined to work for the success of the Conference on the Indian Ocean to be held in Sri Lanka in 1984. They urged the United Nations Ad Hoc Committee to complete its preparations for the Conference strictly in accordance with its mandate. They welcome and support the efforts of the non-aligned members of the Ad Hoc Committee to finalize preparations for the said Conference despite unwarranted delays resulting from the attitude of some great powers, which has thus far prevented the completion of the preparations for holding the Conference. They also urged all great powers and other major maritime users to participate in the Conference in a constructive spirit and in the meanwhile to start a process of reducing their military presence in the Indian Ocean area.

79. The Conference called for the resumption of bilateral negotiations between the United States of America and the Union of Societ Socialist Republics which should result in the reduction and the eventual elimination of the military presence of the powers concerned and thereby contribute to the implementation of resolution 2832 (XXVI) on the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

80. The Conference reiterated its satisfaction over the initiative taken by the President of the Democratic Republic of Madagascar in suggesting the convening of a summit conference on the Indian Ocean to be held at Tananarive. The Conference requested the non-aligned countries of the region to hold consultations on the elaboration of an international convention on the Indian Ocean as proposed by Madagascar.

IX. MAURITIAN SOVEREIGNTY OVER THE CHAGOS ARCHIPELAGO, INCLUDING DIEGO GARCIA

81. The Heads of State or Government expressed, in particular, their full support for Mauritian sovereignty over the Chagos archipelago, including Diego Garcia, which was detached from the territory of Mauritius by the former colonial power in 1965 in contravention of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 1514(XV) and 2066(XX). The establishment and strengthening of the military base at Diego Garcia has endangered the sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of Mauritius and other States. They called for the early return of Diego Garcia to Mauritius.

X. QUESTION OF PALESTINE

82. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries as a whole has undertaken to give its support to the Palestinian people for the liberation of their homeland and the recovery of their inalienable national rights.

83. The Conference reaffirmed that the Zionist occupation of Palestine and the usurpation and denial of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people are the core of the Arab-Israeli conflict. The Conference affirmed that a just and durable peace in the Middle East cannot be established without the total and unconditional withdrawal of Israel from all Palestinian and other Arab territories occupied by it since 1967, including Jerusalem, and without the achievement of a just solution of the problem of Palestine on the basis of the attainment and exercise in Palestine of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, including the right of return, self-determination without external interference and the right to national independence and sovereignty, including the right to establish the Palestinian Independent State in its homeland, Palestine.

84. The Conference reaffirmed that the Palestine Liberation Organization is the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people and that it has the right to participate on an independent and equal footing in all endeavours, international conferences, activities and international bodies, organs and agencies on the basis of resolutions of the United Nations relevant to the question of Palestine with a view to ensuring the attainment and exercise in Palestine of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people. Consequently the Conference rejects all plans, arrangements and agreements which are not in conformity with the provisions referred to above.

85. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the resolutions of the sixteenth session of the Palestinian National Council, held in Algeria from 12 to 22 February 1983, which reaffirmed the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people and the unity of the Palestinian people under the leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization, its sole and legitimate representative. The Conference also affirmed its full solidarity with the Palestine Liberation Organization, which has confronted Zionist aggression courageously and come through that ordeal stronger, more resolute and determined to fight until the rights of the Palestinian people are realized.

86. The Conference stressed the urgent need to undertake endeavours to achieve a just and comprehensive peace on the basis of the principles enunciated above in this Declaration. No action should be taken which is inconsistent with these principles or would adversely affect the struggle of the Arab countries for the liberation of their territories and of the Palestinian people for the liberation of their homeland, Palestine, and the exercise of their inalienable rights therein.

87. The Conference strongly condemned Israel for its continued occupation of Palestinian and other Arab territories and for its persistent acts of repression against the Palestinian people, and demanded the United Nations Security Council invoke the powers vested in it with a view to imposing on Israel the relevant sanctions prescribed in the United Nations Charter until Israel withdraws from all occupied Palestinian and Arab territories, demolishes all Israeli settlements established in these territories and complies fully with the relevant decisions of the Security Council.

88. The Conference especially condemned Israel for the acts of genocide perpetrated against the Palestinina people in the Sabra and Shatila camps in Lebanese territory under occupation by Israeli armed forces.

89. The Conference also decided to request the international community to set up a war crimes tribunal in order to try Israel under international law for the crimes committed against the Palestinian people in all the territories which it has occupied since its establishment in 1948.

90. The Conference referred to the responsibility of the Government of the United States of America for violating the commitments it had undertaken to guarantee the safety and security of Palestinian refugees.

91. The Conference reaffirmed its firm opposition to the policy and practices of Israel in the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, including Jerusalem, and sharply condemned them. It condemned in particular and viewed as illegal the establishment of Israeli settlements in these territories since this constitutes a serious obstacle to a just and comprehensive solution to the question of Palestine and the Middle East crisis.

92. The Conference reaffirmed in this context its total rejection of all the Israeli policies designed to modify the geographical characteristics, demographic composition or legal status of the Arab and Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967. The Conference decided not to recognize any change made by Israel in the above territories and called on all States not to recognize such changes and to refrain from any co-operation with Israel that might encourage it to pursue its policies and practices in the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories.

93. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the resolution of the Conference of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Non-Aligned Countries, held in New Delhi in 1981, which had firmly condemned the hostile attitude of the United States of America towards the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people and the Palestine Liberation Organization and towards the total and unconditional withdrawal from all occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, including Jerusalem. That attitude violated the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter and the General Assembly resolutions on the questions of Palestine and the Middle East and was an obstacle to the establishment of a just peace in the region.

94. The Conference condemned the policy which the United States is striving to impose in the region and which is prejudicial to the liberation of the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, including Jerusalem, and to the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people.

95. The Conference also condemned the support given by the United States of America to the Israeli entity in all fields, especially the military and the political fields. The Conference affirmed that the pursuit of this policy harmed the relations and interests which linked the non-aligned countries on the one hand with the United States on the other.

96. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the efforts made by the United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People in the search for a just solution to the question of Palestine. The Conference welcomed the measures taken by the Committee in accordance with General Assembly resolution 37/86 to organize the International Conference on the Question of Palestine to be held in Paris in August 1983. The Conference also declared its conviction that this Conference would make a positive contribution to realizing the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people. The Conference called upon all members to take an active part, and to be represented at a high level, in the International Conference and in the regional preparatory meetings so as to contribute to the success of that Conference.

97. The Conference called upon the Security Council to implement the United Nations General Assembly resolutions on the question of Palestine, and in particular resolution 37/86 (D and E). It called upon the United Nations Secretary-General to implement the provisions of resolution 37/120 (I and J) as soon as possible.

98. The Conference decided to set up a Committee at the level of Heads of State, to co-operate with the seven-member Arab Committee to support the rights of the Arab Palestinian people in accordance with international law and the will of the non-aligned countries and their peoples. The Committee would work with the various forces influential in the Middle East conflict for the achievement of a just, durable and comprehensive peace in the Middle East which would enable the Palestinian people to exercise their rights in freedom and sovereignty in their independent homeland. The Committee would comprise the following members: Algeria, Bangladesh, Cuba, India (Chairman), Palestine Liberation Organization, Senegal, Yugoslavia and Zambia.

XI. QUESTION OF LEBANON

99. Having considered the grave situation confronting Lebanon, which constitutes a threat to international peace and security in the region and the world, the Conference

(a) Declares its solidarity with the Lebanese people and Government;

(b) Reaffirms its support for the safety of Lebanon, for its territorial integrity, independence and right to exercise sovereignty throughout its territory within its internationally recognized boundaries;

(c) Calls upon all States to support Lebanon in the implementation of Security Council resolutions 508(1982) and 509(1982) in order to ensure the withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Lebanese territory;

(d) Calls upon all States to endorse Lebanese efforts to secure the withdrawal of all non-Lebanese forces whose presence in Lebanon does not have the support of the Lebanese legal authority;

(e) Reaffirms its support for Lebanon in its efforts to reconstruct its economy and strengthen its public institutions in order to attain its national aspirations.

XII. SITUATION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

100. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern over the deterioration of the situation in the Middle East caused by Israel's habitually aggressive and expansionist policies in the region. They were of the view that this situation threatened a new Israeli aggression and posed a grave threat to international peace and security. They reaffirmed the solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries with the struggle for the liberation of the occupied Arab territories and the restoration of the usurped rights of the Arab people.

101. The Conference considered it necessary to reaffirm all the principles and resolutions previously adopted by the Non-Aligned Movement in regard to the question of Palestine and the Middle East situation and especially since Israel's aggression of 1967. It reiterated that the question would not be resolved and that peace would not be established in the region unless all the following principles were observed simultaneously:

(a) The question of Palestine is the core of the Middle East problem and the root cause of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

(b) The question of Palestine and the Middle East problem form an indivisible whole and cannot be dealt with or resolved separately. In view of this, a partial solution or a solution confined to some aspects of the conflict to the exclusion of others is not possible. Nor is it possible to establish a partial peace. Peace should be just and comprehensive.

(c) A just peace in the region can only be based on Israel's total and unconditional withdrawal from all occupied Palestinian and Arab territories and the restoration of all the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people, including the right to return to their homes, the right to self-determination without foreign interference and the right to establish their own independent and sovereign State in their national territory on the basis of General Assembly resolution 3236 (XXIX) of 22 November 1974.

(d) West Jerusalem is part of the occupied Palestinian territory and Israel should withdraw completely and unconditionally from it and restore it to Arab sovereignty.

(e) The Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) is the sole and legitimate representative of the Palestinian people and it alone has the full right to represent this people and to participate fully in all international conferences, activities and events relating to the question of Palestine and the Arab-Israeli conflict, in order to secure the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and to solve the Middle East problem. No solution can be considered comprehensive, just or acceptable without the participation of the Palestine Liberation Organization on an independent and equal footing in its elaboration and acceptance.

(f) All the measures taken by Israel in the Arab and Palestinian territories since their occupation covering installations and all changes affecting political, cultural, religious, demographic, physical, geographical and other features are null and void and illegal.

(g) All settlements set up or to be set up by Israel in occupied territories are null and void and illegal and are considered as an obstacle to peace. They should, therefore, be pulled down immediately and no new settlements should be set up and the proliferation of existing settlements should not be allowed.

102. (a) The Conference expressed its support for and adopted the Arab Peace Plan proclaimed at the Twelfth Arab Summit Conference held at Fez, Morocco, and emphasized that this Plan, being based on international legitimacy and on the principles of right and justice, constitutes a framework for establishing a just and durable peace in the Middle East.

(b) The Conference reaffirmed that the Non-Aligned Movement considered that the question of Palestine and of the territories occupied since 1967 is a common cause to all non-aligned countries. The Conference, therefore, resolved that any deviation from the resolutions of the Conferences of non-aligned countries relating to the Middle East problem and the question of Palestine would affect the unity of the Non-Aligned Movement in its struggle against colonialism, foreign occupation, racism and zionism. It would also be considered as swerving from the determination of the non-aligned countries to bring to an end the occupation of Arab-Palestinian territories by Israel and to help the Palestinian people to secure its inalienable national rights.

(c) The Conference condemned any agreement or treaty which violates or infringes the rights of the Arab nation and the Palestinian people as recognized by the Non-Aligned Movement, and in accordance with international law, the United Nations Charter and its relevant resolutions and which prevents the liberation of Jerusalem and the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories and the full exercise of, and attainment by the Palestinian people of its inalienable rights.

103. (a) The Conference reaffirmed its firm opposition to and condemnation of Israeli policies and practices in the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, including Jerusalem. It especially condemned the establishment of Israeli settlements in these territories, considering them to be illegal and to constitute a serious obstacle to the achievement of a just and comprehensive settlement of the question of Palestine and the Middle East problem.

(b) The Conference condemned the Israeli invasion of Lebanese territory and the crimes perpetrated by the Israeli forces, such as killing and destruction, in this non-aligned country.

(c) In this respect, the Conference reaffirmed its categorical rejection of all Israeli policies aimed at changing the geographical features, the demographic character or the legal status of the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories. The Conference resolved not to recognize any changes made by Israel in the aforesaid territories and called upon all States not to recognize them and to refrain from any co-operation with Israel that might encourage it to pursue its policies and practices in the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories.

104. (a) The Conference strongly condemned Israel for its refusal to comply with the resolutions of the United Nations Security Council and General Assembly relating to the occupied Syrian Golan Heights. The Conference affirmed that Israel's decision to annex these Heights and the measures taken to implement its decision are null and void and without any legal validity. They have no legal effect and are not recognized.

(b) The Conference called upon all States members of the United Nations that have not yet taken any measure to implement General Assembly resolution ES-1/9 of 5 February 1982 to do so in order to join in the just struggle of the Syrian nationals in the occupied Syrian Golan Heights. The Conference invited the Security Council to take the necessary action to compel Israel to implement resolution 497(1981).

(c) The Conference expressed the full support of the members of the Non-Aligned Movement for and their solidarity with the just struggle of the Arab nation against Israeli occupation, aggression and threats and for the attainment of the national inalienable rights of the Arab people of Palestine and the liberation of the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories. On this occasion the Conference denounced the attack launched by Israel and the United States of America against the right of Syria to secure the means to defend itself. The Conference noted that that attack could be considered as the prelude to a premeditated assault against Syria and other Arab States.

105. (a) The Conference strongly denounced the exploitation by Israel of the natural resources and wealth of Palestine and the occupied Arab countries in defiance of the Hague and Geneva Conventions and called upon all countries to take the necessary action in order to refrain from any co-operation that would enable Israel to continue to exploit such wealth and resources unlawfully.

(b) The Conference condemned Israel for its intention to cut a canal between the Dead Sea and the Mediterranean Sea. It affirmed that this project constitutes a dangerous activity among the aggressive actions undertaken against the legitimate rights and vital interests of the Palestinian people and the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, as well as a threat to global peace and security. The Conference invited all countries to denounce this project and refrain from providing any support or assistance which might allow Israel to implement it.

(c) The Conference declared that the Geneva Conventions of 1949, and in particular Convention No.4 regarding the protection of civilians in time of war and the Protocols 1 and 2 annexed to the Conventions adopted in 1977, should be applied to all the occupied

Arab territories and Palestine, including Jerusalem. The Conference condemned Israel for its persistent violation of those Conventions and of the basic rights and freedoms of the inhabitants of the territories mentioned in having displaced them, destroyed their homes and confiscated their property. The Conference condemned the refusal of Israel to receive the tripartite committee set up under Security Council resolution 446(1979) to inquire into conditions in settlements in the occupied Arab territories and its refusal to comply with Security Council resolution 452(1979).

(d) The Conference condemned all those policies, and particularly the policy of the United States of America, which help Israel to continue its occupation of the Arab and Palestinian territories and which jeopardize the exercise by the Palestinian people of their inalienable rights. In this connection the Conference noted that the United States of America was continuing to support Israel in several fields.

(e) The Conference also noted that the United States of America, by exercising its right of veto in the Security Council in a manner contrary to the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter, prevents the Security Council from taking steps to implement the principle of the non-admissibility of acquisition of territories by force and to enable the Palestinian people to recover their inalienable rights. The Conference therefore calls on the United States of America to abandon its abuse of the right of veto.

(f) The Conference expressed its profound concern at the establishment of a "strategic alliance" between the United States of America and Israel and affirmed that the alliance strengthened the aggressive role of Israel, which threatens the stability of the countries of the Middle East and global peace and security and encourages Israel to pursue its policy of annexation, aggression and racial discrimination.

(g) The Conference expressed its deep concern at the build-up of conventional and nuclear weapons in Israel, which is designed to reinforce Israel's situation as a base for colonialism and racism in the third world in general and in Africa and Asia in particular. By taking such measures Israel imperils global peace and security. The Conference called for the implementation of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 33/71 of 14 December 1978 on military and nuclear co-operation with Israel and 37/82 of 9 December 1982 on Israeli nuclear armament.

(h) The Conference condemned Israel for pursuing its policy of aggression and annexation against the Arab countries and the Palestinian people and called on all countries, including the United States of America, to put an immediate end to their military, political and economic assistance and to the provision of human resources to Israel. The Conference called on all countries to refrain from providing assistance and facilities for implementing Zionist plans for the immigration of Jews from all over the world to Palestine and the occupied Arab territories. The Conference condemned all imperialist or colonialist forces of military intervention which have constituted or constitute a threat to the security and independence of Arab countries and interference in their internal affairs.

(i) The Conference expressed its deep concern at the increase in collaboration between the Zionist entity in Palestine and the racist regime of South Africa, especially in the military and nuclear fields. It strongly condemned this collaboration and solidarity and called on all countries of the Movement to sever relations with the above two regimes in all fields and to isolate them completely.

106. (a) The Conference called upon the Security Council to recognize the inalienable national rights of the Palestine people, including its right to self-determination and its right to establish an independent Arab state in Palestine, and to facilitate the achievement of these rights. The Conference also called upon the Council to implement the principle of the non-admissibility of the acquisition of territories by force, by taking the necessary measures to achieve the withdrawal of Israel from all Palestinian and Arab territories it has occupied since 1967. The Conference called upon the members of the Security Council to play their role and discharge their responsibilities so that the Council may take appropriate measures in conformity with the United Nations Charter to establish and guarantee peace and security in the Middle East.

(b) After reviewing the history of the Middle East since the establishment of Israel in Palestine in 1948, the Conference considered that Israel's aggressive, expansionist and colonialist policies and practices in the occupied territories against the Arab nation in general and the Arab people of Palestine in particular, its continued violation of the United Nations Charter and the principles of international law and international agreements and treaties and its persistent refusal to implement the United Nations resolutions relating to the Middle East demonstrated that Israel is not a peace-loving member and does not fulfil the requirements of the United Nations Charter and the resolutions of international organizations. The Conference therefore considered that it is high time for the United Nations to take the necessary measures under Chapter VII of the Charter. The Conference called upon the Security Council to convene to take the measures referred to against Israel for not carrying out the resolutions of the Security Council and for imperilling international peace and security by its conduct.

(c) The Conference called upon all countries that support the liberation of occupied countries and the Palestinian cause to take all appropriate measures against the countries that encourage Israel to pursue its policy and practices, especially the United States of America.

(d) The Conference recalled the decision taken by the Heads of State or Government at their meeting in Algiers, urging non-aligned countries to work for a boycott of Israel in the diplomatic, economic, military and cultural fields and in the sphere of maritime and air traffic in accordance with the provisions of Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter. Considering the reasons that led to the adoption of this resolution, the Conference stressed the need to continue to implement it and urged member countries of the Movement to adhere to it and apply it strictly.

107. (a) The Conference affirmed the commitment of the countries of the Non-Aligned Movement to strengthen their support for the confrontation Arab states and the Palestine Liberation Organization, the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people, in order to enable them to fulfil the requirements imposed on them by the liberation struggle and to defend their lands and their independence against Israeli aggression and threats. The Conference urged friendly countries and the organizations that have participated in the national liberation struggle to continue to give it their support.

(b) The Conference expressed appreciation of the effective solidarity offered by all States and powers that support the struggle of the Palestinian people and the Arab nation, especially the countries of the Organization of African Unity, the socialist countries and the Organization of the Islamic Conference. The Conference also praised the advanced European stand on the problem of the Middle East and Palestine. The Conference called upon those countries and powers to intensify their political, diplomatic and material support for the Palestinian people and the Arab countries in their efforts to re-establish all their national rights and recover all the occupied Arab territories.

XIII. ISRAELI AGGRESSION AGAINST THE IRAQI NUCLEAR INSTALLATIONS

108. The Conference categorically condemned the outrageous Israeli aggression against the Iraqi nuclear installations devoted to peaceful purposes as an act of state terrorism and an unprecedented act of aggression whereby a nuclear reactor came under armed attack for the first time in history.

109. The Conference called on the Security Council and all countries as well as international organizations and agencies to take the effective necessary measures to deter Israel from threatening and the repetition of such acts of aggression which gravely endanger international peace and security.

110. Noting that the same attendant effects and consequences would follow from an armed aggression with conventional weapons on a nuclear installation as from the use of a nuclear weapon, the Conference called for the early consideration of the conclusion of an international agreement to prohibit military attacks on nuclear installations.

111. The Conference expressed solidarity with Iraq and all other developing countries in exercising their right to acquire and develop nuclear technology for peaceful purposes and for their development programmes.

XIV. SOUTH-EAST ASIA

112. Reviewing the situation in South-East Asia, the Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern over the continuing conflicts and tensions in the region, particularly as many of the States are members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They reaffirmed their support for the principles of non-interference in the affairs of sovereign States and the inadmissibility of the use of force against sovereign States. They warned that there was a real danger of the tensions in and around Kampuchea escalating over a wider area. They were convinced of the urgent need to de-escalate these tensions through a comprehensive political solution which would provide for the withdrawal of all foreign forces, thus ensuring full respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of all States in the region, including Kampuchea.

113. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the right of the people of Kampuchea to determine their own destiny free from foreign interference, subversion and coercion and expressed the hope that through a process of negotiations and mutual understanding a climate conducive to the exercise of that right would be created. They also agreed that the humanitarian problems resulting from the conflicts in the region required urgent measures which called for the active co-operation of all the parties concerned. They urged all States in the region to undertake a dialogue which would lead to the resolution of differences among themselves and the establishment of durable peace and stability in the area, as well as the elimination of involvement and threats of intervention by outside powers. In this context, they noted with approval the efforts being made for the early establishment of a zone of peace, freedom and neutrality in the region and called upon all States to give those efforts their fullest support.

XV. SOUTH-WEST ASIA

114. The Heads of State or Government noted with great concern the situation in South-West Asia and agreed that it carries dangerous consequences for the peace and stability of the region. They agreed that the continuation of this situation poses serious implications for international peace and security. In this context, they viewed the situation in Afghanistan with particular concern. They reiterated the urgent call made at the Conference of Foreign Ministers held in New Delhi in February 1981 for a political settlement on the basis of the withdrawal of foreign troops and full respect for the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and non-aligned status of Afghanistan and strict observance of the principle of non-intervention and non-interference. They also reaffirmed the right of the Afghan refugees to return to their homes in safety and honour and called for a speedy solution to this vast humanitarian problem. To this end, they urged all concerned to work towards such a settlement, which would ensure that the Afghan people would determine their own destiny free from outside interference and which would enable the Afghan refugees to return to their homes.

115. The Heads of State or Government expressed their appreciation for the sincere efforts made in the search for a political settlement of the situation in Afghanistan and extended their support to the constructive steps taken in this regard by the United Nations Secretary-General. They regarded the discussions through the intermediary of the Secretary-General as a step in the right direction and urged their continuation with a view to promoting an early political settlement of the problem in conformity with the ideals and principles of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They called on all States to exercise restraint to avoid further endangering the peace and security of the region, and to take such steps as would lead to the creation of conditions conducive to stable and harmonious relations among the States of the region based on the non-aligned principles of peaceful co-existance, respect for sovereignty, national independence, territorial integrity and non-intervention and non-interference in the internal affairs of States.

XVI. KOREA

116. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the Korean people's desire to reunify their homeland peacefully and their efforts to achieve this goal free of all foreign interference, in conformity with the three principles of independence, peaceful unification and great national unity, set forth in the joint North-South statement of 4 July 1972.

117. The Conference expressed the hope that the fulfilment of the Korean people's desire for peaceful reunification would be enhanced by the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the area.

XVII. IRAN-IRAQ CONFLICT

118. The Conference took note of the report submitted by the Foreign Ministers of Cuba, India and Zambia and the Head of the Political Department of the Palestine Liberation Organization, who had been mandated by the Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries held in Delhi in February 1981 to exert all possible efforts to contribute to the implementation of the principles of non-alignment with regard to the conflict between Iran and Iraq. They expressed appreciation of the work done by the Group aimed at finding a just and honourable solution to this unfortunate conflict.

XVIII. EUROPE

119. The Heads of State or Government expressed their concern over the intensification of tension in Europe, and the dangerous, growing stockpiling of weapons on the continent, which further aggravates bloc confrontation and endangers international peace and security. They considered that the neutral and non-aligned countries increasingly are becoming positive factors in European relations, complementary to the global efforts of the Non-Aligned Movement.

120. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the contribution of the neutral and non-aligned countries within the process of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe (CSCE) and their efforts to ease international tension in Europe, on the basis of the Final Act of that Conference, including the convening of the conference on confidence-building measures and disarmament in Europe.

121. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the close interconnection between the security problems of Europe and the Mediterranean and supported the view that, with regard to questions relating to security and co-operation in the Mediterranean, non-aligned members in the Mediterranean region should be allowed to participate in the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe.

XIX. MEDITERRANEAN

122. The Heads of State or Government also welcomed the initiative of Malta in the CSCE to convene a meeting to discuss questions relating to security in the Mediterranean, as embodied in the Helsinki Final Act.

123. In this connection, they again stressed the need to strengthen co-operation in the Mediterranean. Accordingly, they called for a meeting of the non-aligned Mediterranean members, to be held as soon as possible, in order to concert views and devise initiatives for co-operation and strengthening security in the Mediterranean region.

124. They noted with concern the increased tensions in the Mediterranean mainly due to Israel's persistent policy of aggression and the further accumulation of arms in the region. They reiterated the positions of the Non-Aligned Movement and supported the United Nations resolution directed towards the reduction of tension and the solution of problems so as to transform the Mediterranean into a region of peace, security and co-operation, free from confrontation and conflict.

125. They urged renewed efforts to find just and lasting solutions to crisis situations in accordance with the United Nations Charter. They stressed the need to reverse the arms race, reduce confrontation and tension, to promote co-operation in all fields of mutual interest and to advance other objectives of non-alignment. They supported the further involvement of the United Nations in the transformation of the Mediterranean into a zone of peace and co-operation.

126. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for Malta's contribution to the establishment of a zone of peace, security and co-operation in the Mediterranean. They considered Malta's assumption of a status of neutrality, strictly founded on the principles of non-alignment, as an effective contribution to peace and stability in the Mediterranean region. They pledged their support for this status, and urged all other countries to do so.

127. They considered the fact that Mediterranean and other States have not only expressed recognition for Malta's status but have also undertaken not to act in any way which would jeopardize it as an effective means of lessening tension and strengthening security in the Mediterranean, which could be further extended in future.

XX. CYPRUS

128. The Conference reiterated its full solidarity and support for the people and Government of the Republic of Cyprus and reaffirmed its respect for that country's independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity, unity and non-alignment.

129. The Heads of State or Government also expressed their deep concern over the fact that part of the Republic of Cyprus continues under foreign occupation and demanded the immediate withdrawal of all occupation forces as an essential basis for the solution of the Cyprus problem. They welcomed the proposal made by the President of the Republic of Cyprus for the total demilitarization of Cyprus.

130. The Conference stressed the urgent need for the voluntary return of the refugees to their homes in safety, respect for the human rights and fundamental freedoms of all Cypriots and the speedy tracing of and accounting for those missing and condemned all efforts or actions aimed at altering the demographic structure of Cyprus. It considers that the de facto situation created by the force of arms and unilateral actions should not in any way affect the solution of the problem.

131. While hailing the intensification of the efforts made by the United Nations Secretary-General and the accelerated continuation of intercommunal talks, the Conference noted with concern the lack of progress in those talks and expressed the hope that they would be carried out meaningfully and constructively so as to lead to a speedy, mutually acceptable solution of the problem, in accordance with the relevant United Nations resolutions, starting with General Assembly resolution 3212 (XXIX), endorsed by Security Council resolution 365(1974), the decisions and declarations of the Non-Aligned Movement, which it reaffirmed, and the High-Level Agreements of 12 February 1977 and of 19 May 1979.

XXI. LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN ISSUES

132. The Heads of State or Government recalled the already long struggle of the peoples of Latin America for their independence and sovereignty and noted with satisfaction their determination to pursue a non-aligned policy and to struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism and all forms of foreign domination, hegemony and interference in the internal affairs of States. In this regard they noted with satisfaction that since the Sixth Summit ten Latin American and Caribbean countries had become members of the Movement. They also expressed satisfaction at the efforts of the States of the region to strengthen their unity, solidarity and co-operation through the various processes of regional integration and supported the aspirations for the creation of a regional organization representative of the interests of all the countries of the region.

133. The Heads of State or Government noted that the Final Communique issued by the Extraordinary Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau in Managua, Nicaragua, from 10 to 14 January 1983 to evaluate the situation in Latin America and the Caribbean once again confirmed the universal applicability of the principles and policies of non-alignment. They further recalled that the Meeting was convened taking into account the grave situation existing in the region, especially in Central America and the Caribbean.

134. The Heads of State or Government took note with great concern of the continuing tension in Central America, the Caribbean and the South Atlantic. Furthermore, having analysed the situation in the region, they considered that Central America faced a serious political, social and economic crisis brought about for the most part by the traditional repressive power structure and by national economic structures that produce poverty, inequality and misery and aggravated by the interference and intervention to which those countries have been subjected since the end of the last century.

135. The Heads of State or Government asserted that the processes of change in Central America could not be attributed to or explained by an East-West ideological confrontation. They also observed that although the crisis situation prevailing in the region could not be viewed in isolation from the adverse developments in the global context characterized by great power confrontation, it has been aggravated by the intensification of imperialist interference in the internal affairs of the States of the region.

136. The Conference denounced the new and increasing threats and acts of intimidation and the growing seriousness and increased number of acts of aggression against Nicaragua, particularly the violation of its air space and territorial waters, utilization of the territory of foreign countries, in and outside the region as bases for aggression and the training of counter-revolutionary forces, the commission of terrorist actions and sabotage, particularly the attacks of armed groups of ex-Somoza guards through its northern border, which had resulted in considerable loss of life and property, as well as measures of economic pressure at the international level. These were considered part of a deliberate plan to harass and destablilize that country, as has been acknowledged by a foreign power.

137. In reviewing the prevailing tense situation in Central America, the Conference commended the peace initiatives presented by Mexico, France, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama; welcomed the positive response of Nicaragua and called on all States concerned to adopt a similar attitude.

138. The Conference requested the Co-ordinating Bureau to closely monitor the events in the subregion and made an appeal for the cessation of all hostile acts against Nicaragua. The Conference called on the Governments of the United States and Honduras to adopt a constructive position in favour of peace and dialogue in conformity with the principles of international law and called on all States to avoid any act or policy that might increase tensions in the region.

139. The Conference expressed the view that the cessation of military manoeuvres or demonstrations of force will reduce tension and facilitate the necessary dialogue for the achievement of political and negotiated solutions of the problems of the region. The right of any State to freely choose its own political, social and economic system was considered to be of paramount importance in this context.

140. The Conference also expressed the view that all States in the region should deploy maximum efforts to resolve their problems themselves, free from all external interference, and help to generate a situation of peace and tranquility.

141. Recalling the resolutions of the Sixth Summit Conference, the Heads of State or Government noted with concern that another dangerous focus of tension exists in the region in Guatemala, whose regime is pursuing a repressive and expansionist policy which is reinforced by the use of its special military ties with the Zionist regime of Israel and with imperialism and which consitutes a threat to other States in the region, especially Belize.

142. The Heads of State or Government expressed their concern that the situation in El Salvador had continued to deteriorate owing to unsolved social and economic problems and to continuing repression and imperialist intervention, which constituted a threat to the peace and security of the region. They therefore called for the immediate unconditional cessation of such intervention. They further expressed their concern at the growing involvement in the conflict of the army of Honduras, which would contribute to the expansion of the conflict. The Heads of State or Government also urged the Government of the United States of America to adopt a constructive position which would contribute to the peaceful solution of the problem. In this context, they recognized the need to promote a negotiated solution, with the participation of all the representative political forces, one of which, the FDR/FMLM has made a welcome proposal for a dialogue without preconditions. They also welcomed the peace initiatives of Mexico and Venezuela and France and Mexico as well as all other initiatives pursuing the same objective. They rejected any attempt to prevent or obstruct such negotiations.

143. The Heads of State or Government noted the recent events in Suriname and the measures taken by certain Governments in response to these events. The Heads of State or Government expressed their support for Suriname's sovereignty and independence. They further expressed the hope that the future development of Suriname will be in accord with the interests and well-being of its people, free from any external interference or pressure.

144. The Conference recalled the solidarity offered to Cuba by the Movement of Non-aligned Countries since its inception and reiterated its appeal to the United States Government for an immediate and unconditional cessation of all acts of aggression and threats and the lifting of the economic blockade, which has been maintained against Cuba for twenty-two years and has recently been intensified with the adoption of the Syms Amendment and by new restrictive measures against Cuba's financial, credit and trade relations. It also urged the cessation of the violation of Cuba's air space and territorial waters and reiterated its full support for the just demand that the United States should return the territory illegally occupied by the Guantanamo Naval Base and pay compensation for the considerable material loss caused to the Cuban people as a result of the blockade and other aggressive measures.

145. The Heads of State or Government urged all States to scrupulously refrain from all acts of aggression, recourse to the use or threat of force, and intervention and interference in the internal affairs of States as well as other forms of pressure, including economic or military blockades. They reaffirmed the right of all peoples of the region to national self-determination, independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, and their right to choose their own political, economic and social systems and pursue their own economic development free from any type of external interference or pressure.

146. The Heads of State or Government were glad to note that since the Sixth Summit Belize, Saint Lucia and Antigua and Barbuda had become independent and are now members or observers of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They also reaffirmed their conviction that colonialism must be eradicated in the region. They urged all States, and especially non-aligned countries, to support the legitimate demands for freedom, peace and independence of those Latin American and Caribbean peoples which are still subject to colonial domination and dependence, and called for the early implementation of United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) in those territories.

147. Recalling the previous decisions of the Movement and reaffirming the need to do away with colonialism in all its forms and manifestations, the Heads of State or Government reiterated their support for the Puerto Rican people's inalienable right to self-determination and independence in conformity with resolution 1514 (XV).

148. The Heads of State or Government recalled the decisions adopted by the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries since its foundation to the effect that the establishment of foreign military bases against the will of the countries in which they are installed consitutes a violation of their national sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity and pointed out the danger represented by the existence of military bases and the conduct of military manoeuvres directed against the countries of the region.

149. The Conference noted with satisfaction the entry into force on 10 October 1979 of the 1977 Panama Canal Treaties, known as the Torrijos - Carter Treaties, between the Republic of Panama and the United States of America, ensuring the effective exercise of Panama's sovereignty over its entire national territory by means of a process of restoring to Panama its jurisdiction over the areas previously designated as the Canal Zone, and of increasing participation by Panama in the administration and defence of the Canal, culminating on 31 December 1999 in the complete elimination of any vestige of colonialism in the Republic of Panama.

150. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that that process had been going through its various stages, but expressed their concern at the persistence of the United States of America in carrying out policies and practices in the Canal area that hindered the strict application of the Panama Canal Treaties and, in particular, at the introduction of discriminatory wage scales and the passing of Public Law 9670 of the United States Congress, which were incompatible with and violated the aforementioned Treaties.

151. The Heads of State or Government expressed their solidarity with the Panamanian people and Government, called upon the United States of America to put an end to all policies and practices that might interfere with the full application of the Treaties and called for absolute respect for the permanent neutrality of the Panama Canal. Furthermore, they decided to reiterate their appeal to all States of the world to accede to the protocol of the Treaty concerning the permanent neutrality of the Panama Canal with due respect for the sovereignty of Panama and for the universal principle of non-intervention in the internal affairs of States.

152. The Heads of State or Government expressed their concern for the continuing colonialist policies and the increasing economic pressures, threats and aggressions in the Caribbean Region. These facts constitute a real threat to the peace, security and development of the region.

153. The Heads of State or Government condemned the covert and overt actions and the political and economic pressures being exerted by imperialist forces against Grenada. Mindful of the adverse effects of such pressures on economic development efforts, they expressed support for the inalienable right of the Government and people of Grenada to pursue their own political, economic and social process free from all forms of external pressures and threats. The Heads of States or Government express support for the Government and people of Grenada and called on all countries to respect Grenada's independence and sovereignty.

154. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their unconditional support for the independence and territorial integrity of Belize and denounced all pressures and threats againsts its sovereignty. In this regard, they supported the right of the Belize Government to take whatever initiatives they consider pertinent consistent with the principles of non-alignment and the United Nations Charter to effectively confront any threat and emphasized that the threat or use of force against Belize is unacceptable. They also urged all States to contribute to the economic development of Belize.

155. Recalling the many initiatives that the countries of the region have taken in their efforts to attain peace, safeguard independence and consolidate development, the Conference supported efforts to declare Central America and the Caribbean a zone of peace.

156. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their firm support for the Republic of Argentina's right to have its sovereignty over the Malvinas Islands restituted through negotiations. They urged that these negotiations between the Governments of Argentina and the United Kingdom be reopened with the participation and good offices of the United Nations Secretary-General and reaffirmed the need for the parties to take due account of the interests of the population of the Islands. This would ensure a speedy, peaceful and just solution to the question in conformity with the principles and decisions of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries on the subject and with United Nations General Assembly resolutions 1514 (XV), 2065 (XX), 3160 (XXVIII), 31/49 and 37/9.

157. The Conference recognized that the Malvinas, South Georgia and the South Sandwich Islands are an integral part of the Latin American region and accordingly expressed its satisfaction with the solidarity and firm support given by the Latin American and other non-aligned countries to the Republic of Argentina in its efforts to settle the sovereignty dispute and prevent the consolidation of the colonial situation existing in these islands.

158. At the same time the Conference considered that the massive military and naval presence and the activities of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Iraland in the Malvinas Islands region are a cause for grave concern to the countries of the region and aversely affect stability in the area.

159. The Conference noted the efforts being made by the Government of Guyana to consolidate its independence and sovereignty. In connection with the claim which Venezuela is advancing to more than two-thirds of the territory of Guyana, they recalled that the Protocol of Port of Spain had expired in June 1982. They called for a peaceful and just settlement of the controversy based on the principles set forth in paragraphs 134 and 135 of the Communique of the Ministerial Meeting of the Bureau held in Havana in June 1982, especially those relating to the inadmissibility of the threat or use of force in the settlement of disputes and respect for independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity and in strict compliance with the Geneva Agreement of 1966.

160. The Conference once more reiterated its categorical support for the Republic of Bolivia's legitimate and rightful claim to recover a direct and useful outlet to the Pacific Ocean, over which it would have full sovereignty. Convinced that the solution of this problem is of interest to the international community and recalling that international peace and security call for such a solution, the Conference urged all States to voice their solidarity with this inalienable right of the Bolivian people. The Conference expressed its hope that an equitable solution to this problem will be found by applying the peaceful procedures set forth in the United Nations Charter and in the framework of the objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

161. Reaffirming their support for the social and economic transformations initiated by the late President Salvador Allende, the Heads of State or Government demanded the implementation of the United Nations General Assembly resolution concerning Chile adopted at the thirty-seventh session. They further affirmed their support for the legitimate aspirations of the Chilean people to restore their fundamental freedoms and basic human rights and the non-aligned course set by President Allende.

162. The Heads of State or Government recalled that Latin American countries have made an important contribution to the process of multilateral negotiations aimed at the establishment of more just economic international relations, that they have promoted initiatives of significance in the field of disarmament and arms control and that they have adopted or strengthened measures oriented toward the full utilization of their natural resources for the benefit of their peoples.

163. The Heads of State or Government noted the existance in Latin America of an area in which nuclear weapons are proscribed by the Treaty of Tlatelolco signed by twenty-two Latin American States, but they considered that it could not be effected until conditions have been created to enable all Latin American States to sign and ratify it, and all nuclear powers to respect it. They appealed to the States that have international responsibility over non-sovereign territories in the region to ratify the additional Protocol of the Treaty of Tlatelolco, so that those territories may receive its benefits.

164. In this connection, the Conference took note of the statements made by the Argentine Republic during the thirty-seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly with regard to the reported introduction of nuclear weapons by the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland in the region of the Malvinas Islands, South Georgia and South Sandwich.

165. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the historic visit of His Holiness Pope John Paul II to Central America and the Caribbean with his message of peace and reconciliation.

XXII. PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY

166. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that full and unrestricted access to nuclear technology for peaceful purposes, under non-discriminatory conditions, is an inalienable right of every State. They stressed the need to respect the options and decisions of each State in this sphere, without jeopardizing or affecting related policies and programmes regarding the nuclear fuel cycle, or international co-operation in the peaceful use of nuclear energy.

167. The Heads of State or Government deplored the pressures and threats directed against the developing countries to prevent them from accomplishing their programmes for developing nuclear energy. In this connection, it was reiterated that non-proliferation should not be made a pretext for preventing States from exercising their full rights to acquire and develop nuclear technology for peaceful purposes geared to economic and social development, in accordance with their priorities, interests and needs.

168. Likewise, they supported the convening of the United Nations Conference for the Promotion of International Co-operation in the Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy, after adequate preparation, with a view to adopting universally acceptable principles of international co-operation in this field on an equitable and non-discriminatory basis.

XXIII. PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

169. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that in recent years, disputes and conflicts among non-aligned countries have been aggravated and that some of them were causing serious human and material loss to the economies of the countries concerned and posing threats to the peace and progress of their peoples, as well as to the cohesion and solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They regarded this development as disturbing since its persistence could adversely effect the efforts of non-aligned countries to strengthen international peace and security.

170. The Conference recalled that the principle of peaceful settlement of disputes remains central to the philosophy of peaceful co-existence advocated by non-aligned countries. They noted the concern expressed by Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries at previous conferences in this regard and considered in particular the working papers presented by Yugoslavia, the working paper on the Commission for the Peaceful Settlement of Border Disputes between non-aligned countries submitted by Sri Lanka and the joint draft resolution on Peaceful Settlement of Disputes presented by Bangladesh, Iraq and Yugoslavia, as well as a number of suggestions and proposals made by other member States of the Movement. The Conference requested the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York to finalize the composition of the Working Group set up at the Ministerial Meeting in Havana in order that all proposals be carefully studied and an appropriate report be made to a subsequent Ministerial Meeting of non-aligned countries.

171. Recognizing the need for preserving the unity of non-aligned countries and for advancing the cause of peaceful settlement of disputes among them, the Conference reiterated the following principles: non-aligned States, in particular, should in their mutual relations be constantly guided by the principles of strict mutual respect for the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of States, the inviolability of legally established international frontiers, non-interference and respect for the right of peoples to free national and social development. All disputes should be resolved exclusively by peaceful means in full conformity with the purposes, principles and provisions of the United Nations Charter and the principles and objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, as well as within the framework and principles of regional organizations such as the Organization of African Unity (OAU) without interference and without recourse to pressure, threat or use of force. Disputes between neighbouring States should be resolved by peaceful means through direct negotiations, mediation or good offices accepted by the parties concerned or other measures embodied in the United Nations Charter without recourse to pressure, threat or use of force and without foreign intervention or interference.

XXIV. NON-INTERVENTION AND NON-INTERFERENCE

172. Recalling the relevant decisions taken at the Sixth Summit in Havana, the Heads of State or Government observed with appreciation that the efforts of the member States of the Non-Aligned Movement had culminated in the adoption by the United Nations General Assembly of the Declaration on the Inadmissibility of Intervention and Interference in the Internal Affairs of States contained in resolution 36/103. They hailed the adoption of this Declaration as a historic contribution by the Non-Aligned Movement to the task of ushering in a regime of inter-State relations based on mutual respect for sovereignty and independence. They noted with concern, however, that policies of intervention and interference, pressure and the threat or use of force continued to be pursued against many non-aligned countries, with dangerous consequences for peace and security. They called upon all States to adhere to the Declaration and observe its principles in their dealings with other States.

XXV. NEW WORLD INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION ORDER

173. (a) The Heads of State or Government expressed their profound sense of satisfaction at the progress recorded by the various agencies that have been established to promote co-operation among non-aligned countries in the field of information and mass media, which is an integral part of their national development process. In particular, they commended the work undertaken by the News Agencies Pool and the Broadcasting Organization of the Non-Aligned Countries and urged these agencies to earnestly implement their respective Programmes of Action so as to further develop and diversify the signal contribution they are making to the decolonization of information and to countering tendentious reporting and mass media campaigns against non-aligned countries and national liberation movements. With a view to assisting them in this endeavour, the Heads of State or Government urged that action be taken:

- to lower communication tariffs, especially in the context of the observance of World Communication Year;
- to advance and accelerate the development of communications infrastructures in accordance with the United Nations General Assembly resolution 36/40 on World Communication Year (1983);
- to establish or strengthen national news agencies and broadcasting organizations and to stimulate more frequent contact and exchanges among their media representatives and Governments;
- and to participate actively in the Second Conference on Strategies and Policies for Informatics (SPIN II) to be held in Havana in 1984.

(b) The Heads of State or Government accepted as a formal document of the Conference the Statutes of the Non-Aligned News Agencies Pool.

(c) The Conference expressed its appreciation of the work of the Intergovernmental Council (IGC) in establishing a framework for co-operation at Georgetown in May 1981, and the practical measures of co-operation set out in the Programme of Action adopted at Valletta in June 1982. They endorsed the recommendation of the IGC that Ministers of Information meet in general conference within a period of six months following every Conference of Heads of State or Government with a view to consolidating and developing mutual co-operation among non-aligned countries in conformity with the objectives and principles of the New International Information and Communication Order, and to assess the impact of technological developments in this field. They also endorsed the recommendation of the IGC that the general conference of Ministers of Information should determine the criteria for, and proceed with the constitution of, the Intergovernmental Council which would serve till the next general conference of Ministers of Information.

(d) They requested the Chairman of the ICC to continue consultations with a view to determining where and when the general conference of Ministers of Information would be held.

(e) Reaffirming the importance of the Non-Aligned Documentation Centre in Colombo, they called upon all members of the Movement to render all possible assistance to the Centre.

(f) The Heads of State or Government called on members of the Movement to give careful consideration to the implications for national sovereignty and the economic development of developing countries of the utilization of the geostationary orbit and the regulation of the electronic magnetic spectrum, which are of critical importance to information dissemination in world trade, commerce and exchange.

(g) The Heads of State or Government recalled the agreement in UNESCO on the need to establish a new equilibrium and greater reciprocity in the flow of information to and from developing countries as also between these countries by strengthening and expanding the mass media and information infrastructures in developing countries. With this in mind, they called upon:

- members of the Movement to continue to co-ordinate their efforts to achieve common objectives in the United Nations, the International Telecommunication Union and the World Administrative Radio Conferences;

- all member States of UNESCO to generate the additional resources required by the United Nations system to fully bring into being the New Information and Communication Order, in particular by making their full contribution, commensurate with their resources, to UNESCO's International Programme for the Development of Communication and other international programmes for the development of communications infrastructures.

XXVI. THE UNITED NATIONS

174. The Heads of State or Government stressed the importance of the United Nations as the most appropriate international forum for finding solutions to major world issues such as the achievement of general and complete disarmament, the realization of the New International Economic Order, the elimination of colonialism and racism and the promotion of human rights. The Conference noted with satisfaction the increase in the membership of the United Nations consequent on the admission of Belize, Zimbabwe, St. Vincent and Grenadines, Antigua and Barbuda, Saint Lucia and Vanuatu, new members belonging to the developing and non-aligned world. It considered these admissions a step in the direction of the Organization's universalization.

175. The Heads of State or Government, reaffirming the need for continued action in support of the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter and recalling the appeal made in the Havana Final Declaration to the permanent members of the Security Council, noted with concern that the Council was still being prevented from discharging its obligations in respect of the maintenance of international peace and security. They expressed concern over the systematic attempts to bypass and disregard the decisions of the United Nations and the Organization's inability to deal with threats to international peace and security. The United Nations role and effectiveness in the maintenance of international peace and security, in the settlement of international disputes and crises by peaceful means, in the strengthening of international co-operation on the basis of the sovereign equality of all nations, in promoting economic and social development and in ensuring observance of human rights are indispensable to today's world. They expected the Security Council to fulfil its primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security by the prompt and effective implementation of the collective security provisions of the Charter. They commended the ideas and concrete suggestions contained in the Secretary-General's report to the thirty-seventh session for the consideration of all Members of the United Nations, especially the permanent members of the Security Council, with a view to adopting new, more effective approaches within the framework of the Charter to prevent and resolve conflicts. They called for the strengthening of the role of the United Nations in the maintenance of international peace and security.

176. The Conference also emphasized the necessity of enhancing the effectiveness of the work of the Special Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and on the Strengthening of the Role of the Organization in promoting the role of the Organization. In this context, it expressed its support for the efforts undertaken with a view to achieving tangible progress in strengthening the role of the United Nations and in making it more representative of the interests and aspirations of the great majority of the countries which are Members of that Organization.

177. The Conference urged all member States of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to intensify their efforts for the immediate conclusion and adoption by the United Nations of the draft convention outlawing the recruitment, financing, utilization and training of mercenaries and the granting of transit facilities to them, currently under consideration by the United Nations General Assembly.

178. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the growing role of the non-aligned countries in the United Nations and stressed the need to continue promoting the purposes and principles of the Charter and the effective operation of the General Assembly and the Security Council.

179. They recalled the positive initiatives of the Movement, such as the holding of emergency special sessions of the General Assembly, and the need to continue using the mechanisms provided for in the United Nations Charter whenever the situation should so require. They noted with satisfaction the progress achieved in recent years in increasing the representation of the non-aligned countries in the main organs of the United Nations, particularly in the Security Council, and emphasized the desirability of maintaining and strengthening such representation in the future.

XXVII. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

180. The Seventh Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries renewed its commitment to the principles and objectives of their Movement.

181. Non-alignment represents a major dynamic force in contemporary history. It has served as a catalyst in the efforts to transform the structure of international relations from that of imperialist subjugation and colonial dominance and exploitation towards an equitable world order based on independence, equality, justice, co-operation and development. Imperialist and colonialist attitudes and policies, however, still persist in parts of the world: the non-aligned countries are determined to oppose, resist and eliminate them.

182. The struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, apartheid and all forms of foreign intervention, interference, aggression, occupation, domination or hegemony, and total detachment from power blocs and alliances and their confrontations remain fundamental elements in the policy of non-alignment. The non-aligned countries renew their pledge to strive unceasingly to eliminate these policies in relations between States and to build a new pattern of international relations in which the inalienable rights of peoples under alien and colonial domination to self-determination and independence and the right to equality of all States, big or small, are fully secured.

183. The very ethos of the Movement involves keeping away from power blocs aligned against one another, promotion of their dissolution and rejection of narrow, out-moded doctrines of deterrence, balance of power and spheres of influence which give rise to tensions and polarization, division and conflict among nations. By strictly adhering to its principles and objectives, the Movement can make a constructive contribution to the resolution of outstanding international issues on the basis of the principles of peaceful co-existence and equitable co-operation among nations.

184. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the increased awareness and interest in the Non-Aligned Movement among peoples, parties and organizations of countries which are not members of the Movement. They urged the promotion of this trend and the encouragement of the adoption of the principles and objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement.

185. The Movement reiterates its support for the heroic peoples of Palestine, Namibia and South Africa and all the victims of the aggressive policies and actions of Israel and South Africa. It condemns all forms of racism, including zionism and apartheid and the policies of countries which support them.

186. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the initiative taken by Colombia, France, Mexico, Panama and Venezuela to seek negotiated political solutions to conflicts in Central America.

187. Non-alignment rejects the obsession with supremacy and the accompanying suspicion and fear as a basis for international relations. The arms race, especially in its nuclear aspect, is a direct result of great power confrontation. This in turn leads to new attempts at strengthening strategic groupings, military blocs and alliances, attempts to secure and build up military bases and facilities and other interlocking arrangements conceived in the context of great power conflict in various regions of the world which only aggravate insecurity in the international environment. The peoples all over the world, on the other hand, seek harmony and peace and peaceful co-operation, and above all, to lift the spectre of a nuclear holocaust, which has hung over humanity far too long. The greatest peril facing mankind today is that to its very survival. The great powers, therefore, must give up the search for power, dominance and supremacy and pursue the policy of peaceful co-existence. They must resume the process of negotiations in earnestness and sincerity for the settlement of their mutual problems. The Heads of State or Government affirm that agreement between the great powers must not be at the expense of members of the Non-Aligned Movement.

188. The Heads of State or Government expressed their determination to strengthen the unity and cohesion of the Movement and to enhance its capacity for action in support of peace and co-operation. They expressed concern over conflicts between members of the Movement and their aggravation or exploitation by outside powers to the detriment of the solidarity of the Movement. They urged that differences between members of the Movement must be resolved exclusively by peaceful means. In the interest of world harmony and peace, they demanded that other powers also respect the independence of the Movement and the integrity of its members and scrupulously refrain from all acts of pressure, intimidation, interference or intervention.

189. The non-aligned countries reaffirm their firm adherence to the purposes and principles of the United Nations Charter and fully recognize the need to support and strengthen the world organization in order to make it an effective instrument for the fulfilment of its central role in the maintenance of international peace and security, in developing and strengthening co-operation among nations, in establishing equitable economic relations between States and in promoting fundamental rights and freedoms in the world.

190. In this context, the Conference urged Heads of State or Government of Member States of the United Nations to use the opportunity offered by the thirty-eighth regular session of the United Nations General Assembly to undertake a collective appraisal with a view to finding speedy and just solutions to some of the major problems of the world. The Conference also called on the international community to observe 1985 as the Year of the United Nations.

191. The Conference welcomed the consideration of the question of the implementation of United Nations resolutions at the forthcoming session of the United Nations General Assembly.

192. It is urgently necessary to rapidly promote the democratization of the international system and to usher in the New International Economic Order and the New International Information and Communication Order. The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries have agreed on certain steps to promote co-operation in economic, information and other fields with the object of strengthening their independence and also of reinforcing the position of developing countries in negotiations with developed countries on the basis of equality and mutual benefit. They have adopted a Declaration on Collective Self-reliance among Non-Aligned Countries and at the same time they urge the world community as a whole to provide adequate financial and other resources for the advancement of developing countries.

193. The Heads of State or Government called upon all States to abide by the principle that force or the threat of force will not be used against the territorial integrity or political and economic independence of States. They called for the negotiation of effective and urgent measures for nuclear disarmament which has been accorded the highest priority in the process towards general and complete disarmament under effective international control. They urged the nuclear weapons powers to agree to an international convention prohibiting the use and threat of use of nuclear weapons under any circumstances.

194. The Conference decided that the next Conference of Foreign Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries would be held in Luanda, People's Republic of Angola, in 1985.

195. The Heads of State or Government recalled that at the Sixth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries held in Havana in 1979, the invitation of Iraq to host the Seventh Summit had been accepted. The Heads of State or Government noted the extensive preparations which Iraq had made for holding the Summit, were glad at Iraq's constructive gesture, for the sake of the unity of the Movement, to defer its invitation to the Eighth Summit. They took note that the overwhelming majority of the member countries had expressed their opinion favouring Iraq as the venue of the Eighth Summit. Iraq, taking into account the interests of the Movement and the fact that the circumstances that made it advisable to transfer the venue of the Seventh Conference still remain, expressed the decision to accept that the final decision would be taken by a Ministerial Meeting to be held not later than 1985. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep satisfaction at this agreed outcome.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN ON THE IRAN-IRAQ CONFLICT

Based on the statements made by the Heads of State or Government assembled in New Delhi for the Seventh Non-Aligned Summit, I should like to make the following statement:

"We express our profound regret at the thirty-month-old Iran-Iraq conflict and the grievous loss of life and destruction of property which it has caused to the two nations and their peoples.

Iran and Iraq are both members of the Non-Aligned Movement, which has amongst its principles that all differences amongst member States should be resolved by peaceful means.

We are convinced that an end to the Iran-Iraq conflict would contribute to strengthening the unity and solidarity of the Movement.

Therefore we appeal to Iran and Iraq to bring an immediate end to the war. It is the universal desire that the fighting must stop at once and the two sides come to an honourable, just and enduring peace through negotiations and peaceful means."

Suggestions and proposals have been offered by many Heads of State or Government. The overwhelming view is that the Non-Aligned Movement should exert every effort to bring about a speedy and peaceful termination of this tragic conflict. This is very much on my mind and, as Chairman, I shall continue consultations and take all possible and appropriate measures towards this objective.

ECONOMIC DECLARATION

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the worsening of the world economic situation since the Sixth Summit Conference. The crisis of international economic relations and the widening gap between developing and developed countries have emerged as the most serious problems and a source of instability threatening world peace and security. For the first time since the Second World War, there has been a decline in the per capita GDP of many developing countries. Commodity prices in real terms were the lowest in the last 50 years. Access to developed countries' markets for their manufactured products were being increasingly curtailed. The earnings of developing countries had shown an ominous decline while interest rates on foreign loans had dramatically increased. Medium-term and long-term lending to developing countries had fallen. Their balance of payments deficits and their debt burden had reached crushing levels. Measures at present contemplated and proposed were totally inadequate to deal with these problems.

2. They reiterated that the international economic crisis was not merely a cyclical phenomenon but rather a symptom of structural maladjustment marked inter alia by increasing imbalances and inequalities to the detriment of the developmental prospects of the developing countries.

3. Under the present unjust world economic system the levers of power are firmly in the hands of a few developed countries and are often used to the detriment of the interests of the developing countries. Developed countries continue to adopt retrogressive policies and practices which run counter to the goals and objectives of the New International Economic Order and of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade. There can be no hope of anything but at best a short-lived revival of the world economy, nor can there be an equitable and viable system of international economic co-operation without a basic and fundamental change in the approaches and policies of the developed countries with respect to the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

4. The Heads of State or Government stressed the interdependent character of the international situation - increasing interrelationship of problems, interconnection of their solutions and growing interdependance among nations as the rationale and incentive for dialogue and co-operation between developing and developed countries. The developing countries were facing extremely bleak prospects. In particular, the situation of the least developed countries was desperate and their prospects for development were even bleaker. The developed countries too were facing the problem of record idle productive capacity and mounting unemployment. In addition to the necessity of greater equity in international relations, there were compelling reasons for organizing interdependence on the basis of equality, justice, mutual interests and benefits. While some of the developed countries favoured the strengthening of international economic co-operation, others resisted it. Indeed a few economically powerful countries have impeded progress towards the restructuring of international economic relations. The developed countries as a whole can no longer, under any pretext, shy away from their share of responsibility for international economic co-operation, nor can they afford to ignore the fundamentally indivisible nature of global prosperity. The Heads of State or Government decided to act in unison in order to influence the course of international economic co-operation decisively and in the right direction, focussing on points of substance with a view to tackling the immediate and structural problems facing the world economy and to promote the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

5. The Heads of State or Government affirmed that all countries should be committed in a real sense to peaceful progress world-wide. Progress in the developing countries would help rejuvenate the stagnating economies of developed countries. An improvement in the economies of developed countries would create better development prospects for developing countries. In an increasingly interdependent world, the economic fortunes and political stability of both groups of countries were more and more intertwined.

6. Peace and development are interrelated and the international community cannot be assured of durable peace so long as the economic disparities between nations are widening. Stable global development and viable international order require the halting of the arms race, followed by urgent disarmament measures that will release sorely needed resources for development. Orderly development and progress can take place only in an atmosphere of peace, harmony and co-operation. Political freedom and economic progress are inseparable.

7. The non-aligned countries are committed to promoting a major restructuring of the world economy through the establishment of the New International Economic Order. The Heads of State or Government regard their efforts in this direction as an integral part of the general struggle of their peoples for political, economic, cultural and social liberation. In this context, they stressed that imperialism, colonialism, neo-colonialism, expansionism, apartheid, racism, zionism, exploitation, policy of force and all forms or manifestations of foreign occupation, domination and hegemony had given rise in the past to the evils, the effects of which continue to afflict many developing countries and were now hindering their present struggle for development. In fact, these factors constituted major obstacles to the economic and social progress of these countries and a threat to world peace and security. They were convinced that their eradication was a prerequisite for achieving development of their economies and effective international economic co-operation. They emphasized that the prevailing international system, which ran counter to the basic interests of the developing countries, was profoundly unjust and incompatible with the accelerated development of the non-aligned and other developing countries and warned that failure to establish the New International Economic Order based on equality and justice would have serious adverse economic and political consequences for all.

8. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has played and will continue to play an important role in the struggle for the political and economic independence of all of the developing countries and their peoples; for the attainment of full and permanent sovereignty and control over all types of natural resources and economic activities; and for the promotion of a fundamental restructuring by the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

9. The non-aligned countries have been playing a pivotal and catalytic role in the field of international economic relations. UNCTAD I was convened in 1964, following the Belgrade Declaration of 1961. A programme of Peace and International Co-operation was adopted at the Cairo Summit in 1964. The concept of self-reliance received fresh impetus at the Lusaka Summit in 1970. The Algiers Summit in 1973 appealed for the establishment of the New International Economic Order and the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order was subsequently adopted at the Sixth Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly in 1974. Important initiatives in the field of international economic relations were taken at the Colombo Summit in 1976. The Havana Summit in 1979 called for the launching of global negotiations and adopted policy guidelines on the reinforcement of collective self-reliance among developing countries.

10. At the present time of serious crisis in international economic co-operation, the Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries stressed their determination to continue to work for strengthening and promoting international co-operation. Special importance was attached to vastly enhanced co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries* as an essential part of the New International Economic Order and as an instrument for building it. The Heads of State or Government decided to remain seized individually and collectively of all these important tasks.

II. WORLD ECONOMIC SITUATION

11. The structural imbalances and inequalities of the present global economic system which are an important cause of the current world economic crisis, in particular that facing the developing countries, give cause for grave concern. The economic crisis has deepened since the Sixth Summit and now threatens to engulf the whole world in a major depression worse than the Great Depression of the 1930s. There is, therefore, the urgency to promote new actions and strategies and at the same time to reaffirm the validity of the relevant decisions adopted during the Sixth Summit Conference in Havana and previous Summit Conferences.

* Throughout this document in the phrase "non-aligned and other developing countries", the expression "other developing countries" refers to the States members of the Group of 77.

12. The current crisis affects all countries but it has particularly grave consequences for the developing countries. World production declined by 1.2 per cent in 1981 and a further fall took place in 1982. The recession in developed countries has led to unemployment in excess of 10 per cent of the labour force, a proportion that is without precedent since the Great Depression. World trade stagnated for two years in succession and this stagnation has intensified because of the defensive protectionist policies and short-sighted monetary policies practised by developed countries to curb inflation. There were also disconcerting trends towards economic nationalism in some major developed countries which were contributing to an alarming deterioration in international relations and compounding the difficulties of the management of the economic crisis.

13. These developments have had particularly adverse consequences for the developing countries as a whole. In the past two years, they have suffered a loss of foreign exchange availability on the following counts:

(i) export earnings have fallen by $ 150 billion, partly as a result of a catastrophic decline in commodity prices. Prices in real terms for most commodities are now almost as low as during the Great Depression;

(ii) debt service payments have risen by $ 37 billion partly as a result of high interest rates; and

(iii) the annual rate of private bank lending to developing countries has fallen by $ 25 billion.

Allowing for off-setting factors, the net foreign exchange loss suffered by developing countries during this period is estimated at about $ 200 billion. This massive decline in foreign exchange availability has led to a corresponding decline in the import capacity of developing countries, thereby reducing the exports of developed countries and threatening a major and cumulative contraction in world economic activity. This alarming process has already begun.

14. The devastating impact and debilitating effects of the crisis on the economies of the developing countries as a whole, and the least developed countries in particular, have added to their vulnerability. Their past achievements are being undermined and their growth jeopardized. The growth in the output of developing countries was only 2.9 per cent in 1980 and 0.6 per cent in 1981. The per capita incomes of many developing countries, especially of the least developed countries, have suffered a decline. By the end of 1981 the reserves of the developing countries were only a little above $ 100 billion, which could finance barely two and a half months' imports. The debt burden of the developing countries has shot up to $ 540 billion and the burden of servicing the debt is as high as $ 106 billion per annum. The balance of payments deficit of developing countries amounted to $ 62 billion in 1982 and is expected to increase in 1983. All this has forced a number of developing countries to defer repayments of loans and seek rescheduling of their debts. This rescheduling has been made even more difficult by the imposition of conditions and restrictions.

15. The Heads of State or Government identified the following as among the most important factors which have contributed towards aggravating the international economic crisis particularly affecting the developing countries:

(i) squandering of vast human and material resources in an unproductive and wasteful arms race;

(ii) inward-looking policies followed by leading developed countries;

(iii) a financial and monetary crisis confronting the developing countries characterized by: (a) a decline in global liquidity coupled with dwindling reserves, (b) a mounting debt burden, the servicing of which has become increasingly onerous, coupled with high interest rates, (c) a substantial decline in concessional flows for development, (d) a hardening in the conditionality of financial assistance, and (e) increasing obstacles imposed by developed countries on access to international capital markets;

(iv) adverse trading conditions characterized by: (a) protectionist barriers imposed by developed countries against imports from developing countries and the consequent decline in the latters' exports, (b) the steady deterioration in the terms of trade of developing countries, in particular the least developed countries and especially the non-oil-exporting ones, (c) the contraction of commodity markets, the collapse of commodity prices and the organized manipulation of the prices of raw materials;

(v) the insecurity and insufficiency of food supplies; and

(vi) a variety of other factors with increasing adverse impact including (a) the obstacles and limitations imposed by developed countries on access to technology along with rigid and unfavourable terms for the transfer of technology, and (b) the cumulative effects of continuing brain drain.

16. Interdependence is asymmetrical as a result of the present iniquitous economic system. The crisis has been deepening over the years. As the international economic system has become more interdependent, this interdependence has become still more asymmetrical. The failure of the international community to respond appropriately, due largely to the negative attitude of some developed countries which have neither allowed nor facilitated the adoption of an integrated approach to the solution of interrelated economic problems, has further accentuated the impact of the crisis on developing countries.

17. The Heads of State or Government viewed with grave concern the extremely slow and in some cases negative rate of growth of the majority of developing countries, particularly in most African countries, during the first two years of the Third United Nations Development Decade, as against the growth target of 7 per cent envisaged in the International Development Strategy. The 36 countries designated as least developed, 26 of which were African, recorded no growth at all over their level in 1980. The situation of those in the Sahel region was desperate. Other developing countries, particularly the low-income ones among them faced a harsh - even hostile - external environment in their efforts to eliminate extreme poverty and to provide appropriate standards of living for their populations. The situation of the majority of African countries was so serious as to require urgent corrective measures and that fact should be borne in mind in any further multilateral negotiations.

18. An important feature of the current world economic situation is the manifest inadequacy of the Bretton Woods system, which was established at a time when economic and political conditions were vastly different and only a few developing countries were sovereign, independent nations. The developing countries had an inadequate share of decision making and the system operated asymmetrically to the detriment of developing countries. Among other difficulties they, as deficit and disadvantaged countries within the system, had to face the main burden of adjustment while developed countries with economic and political influence escaped international surveillance and were not subject to any discipline. The system today is characterized by wide and erratic fluctuations in exchange rates, excessive dependence on a few key reserve currencies, failure to increase international liquidity in line with the growth of world trade and increasing inadequacies in the resources of the international financial institutions. These limitations have pushed some countries into greater dependence on private banking flows leading to an accummulation of high interest and relatively short-term debt, precipitating serious debt crises. As a result private bank lending to developing countries has declined sharply. Strengthening of the role of multilateral financing in the system would create a more stable basis for the private banking system also to play a continuing financing role on the scale required.

In the face of the massive shortfall in foreign exchange available to the developing countries, the partial halting and limited steps taken in the Interim and Development Committees since the Sixth Summit, and especially at the recent meeting of the IMF Interim Committee are totally inadequate.

19. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need to create a new, equitable and universal international monetary system which would put an end to the dominance of certain reserve currencies, guarantee developing countries a role in decision-making, while ensuring monetary and financial discipline in the developed countries and preferential treatment for developing countries.

20. The potential efficiency of multilateral co-operation and its role in optimizing the functioning of the international economic system from the point of view of both developed and developing countries has been amply demonstrated. Even the limited multilateral policies which had emerged as a result of negotiations by the international community over many years and which were designed to allow the trade, financial and monetary system to be more supportive of development were now being called into question by certain developed countries. The Heads of State or Government regretted that those policies were now being subordinated to political considerations and that some developed countries were retreating from multilateralism into bilateralism in matters of financial co-operation. They deplored the fact that despite the obvious limitations of the present international monetary and financial system, in which the private banking system played a dominant role in capital flows, attempts were being made to bring about its increasing privatization.

21. The Heads of State or Government noted that only some developed countries had adopted a positive attitude in response to the call for the establishment of the New International Economic Order. They hoped for a larger measure of political understanding in the developed countries of the connection between the problems of development of developing countries and the maintenance of international peace and security. Noting that the present global economic crisis, which has serious political ramifications, was a consequence of various political and economic factors developing in an interrelated manner, they regretted that the search for mutually reinforcing measures in various areas had not begun in any serious manner.

22. The Heads of State or Government were, however, encouraged by the dynamic complementarity in the economies of developing countries, especially in the fields of raw materials, energy and technological and financial resources, and by the many opportunities which were consequently available for autonomous economic expansion particularly through the strengthening of trade linkages and related co-operation among themselves. They were convinced that the present world economic situation required, more than ever before, the resolute pursuit of appropriate national policies by developing countries, the utilization of the full potential of their mutual co-operation through their own institutions or mechanisms, and greatly strengthened international economic co-operation.

III. NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER

A. Assessment

23. Following the adoption of resolution 3201 (S-VI) and 3202 (S-VI) of the United Nations General Assembly relating to the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of a New International Economic Order and the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, numerous international conferences have taken place which have scrutinized practically every dimension of the international economic system. The negotiations in these conferences have not yielded significant results.

Limited forward movement in certain fields has been offset by subsequent retrogression in those fields and by regression in other fields. As a result, there has been hardly any progress towards the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

24. The major conferences and meetings on international economic co-operation held since the Sixth Summit Conference have yielded insignificant results. Decisions on issues of major concern to developing countries could not be adopted unanimously at UNIDO III early in 1980 because of the intransigence of many developed countries.

The eleventh special session of the United Nations General Assembly held in August-September 1980, failed to agree on the procedures and agenda for global negotiations and subsequent regular sessions failed to break the deadlock. The consensus reached at the eleventh special session on the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade was limited to an utterly inadequate minimum package of policy measures and even they were undermined by interpretative statements amounting to reservations made at the time of the Strategy's adoption.

Following the successful conclusion of negotiations on the Agreement establishing the Common Fund in 1980, progress in its ratification has been slow and related negotiations under the UNCTAD Integrated Programme of Commodities have not made any significant headway.

While the United Nations Conference on New and Renewable Sources of Energy of July 1981 had resulted in the adoption of the Nairobi Programme of Action (NPA), there was little progress in the implementation of this Programme, beyong the establishment at the thirty-seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly of institutional machinery.

Progress in the implementation of the Substantial New Programme of Action adopted by the United Nations Conference on Least Developed Countries of September 1981 had been tardy and inadequate.

25. In reviewing the results of the October 1981 Cancun Summit Meeting of leaders of 22 developed and developing countries on "Co-operation and Development", the Heads of State or Government noted with profound regret that the limited consensus that had emerged there on global negotiations, food and energy had not so far resulted in any significant positive action by developed countries.

26. Following their adoption of Policy Guidelines on the Reinforcement of Collective Self-Reliance between Developing Countries when they met at Havana, the countries of the Group of 77 had held a series of meetings leading to the adoption of the Caracas Programme of Action, covering co-operation in major areas and including mechanisms for co-ordination, monitoring, follow-up action and evaluation.

B. Strategies for forthcoming International Economic Negotiations

27. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries should fashion its strategies for forthcoming international economic negotiations on the basis of a thorough analysis of the world economic situation, appraisal of the prevailing state of international economic relations and evaluation of the meagre progress made so far in implementing the Programme of Action for the Establishment of the New International Economic Order. Future negotiations should be guided by a new concept of international security which recognizes the interest of all nations and all peoples in survival and world development. Effective co-operation and development should be the leitmotiv of those negotiations.

28. Given the relationship between disarmament and development, the relaxation of tensions in the world and the halting of the arms race, which would release resources for development, are vital necessities for the developing countries and indispensable factors for global progress.

29. Bearing in mind the importance of working out appropriate and viable approaches to the current world economic crisis, the Heads of State or Government stressed the importance of constructive interaction between steps to promote world economic recovery and the restructuring of existing international economic relations. They called for simultaneous action in this regard. Stable recovery of the world economy will only take place through the revival of the economies of the developing countries and their accelerated development. The first task is, therefore, the adoption of immediate measures by the international community in favour of developing countries for bringing about prompt world economic recovery and accelerated development of the economies of developing countries.

30. The international community has a common interest in and a joint responsibility for stimulating the process of international economic negotiations. For their part, developing countries should work out a concerted and realistic strategy for international economic negotiations within the United Nations system. Such a strategy should accommodate the diverse interests of developing countries as well as promote their agreed policy objectives.

31. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the principles and objectives on international economic relations approved by the non-aligned countries and in that context they reaffirmed their commitment to stimulate the process of international economic negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

32. The Heads of State or Government were convinced of the futility of any one country or group of countries attempting in isolation to find solutions to contemporary global economic problems between developing and developed countries. The macro-management of the world economy and the promotion of development should be on the basis of effective international economic co-operation through global consultations and negotiations in the fields of trade, raw materials, development, money and finance so that policies consistent and supportive of the development process are followed and internally consistent rules of the game are developed with a precise definition of rights and responsibilities. The short-term policies of developed countries should further the movement towards restructuring international economic relations. There should be a coherent, co-ordinated and integrated treatment of all important issues. They called for effective evaluation and monitoring by existing intergovernmental organizations, on a continuous basis, of the policies of developed countries having major international repercussions so that their adverse effects are identified and remedial action is taken.

33. The Heads of State or Government urged that the problems of the developed countries, particularly in the areas of trade, money and finance, should not be solved at the expense of developing countries. Any attempt by the developed countries to do so would not aid world economic recovery and would greatly undermine international economic co-operation. The developed countries should consider this carefully and devote greater attention to the question of relations between developing and developed countries. A continuing process of consultation and dialogue between the two groups of countries could facilitate better perception by the developed countries of the interests and concerns of developing countries and contribute to the success of negotiations on issues of development.

34. They stated that any negotiations between developed and developing countries aimed at solving existing problems in international economic relations should be universal in character and should be held within the United Nations system.

IV. GLOBAL NEGOTIATIONS RELATING TO INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT

35. The Heads of State or Government recalled the very important initiative taken by them at the Sixth Non-Aligned Summit in Havana for the launching of a new round of Global Negotiations on International Economic Co-operation for Development which was subsequently enshrined in resolution 34/138 of the United Nations General Assembly. They expressed their firm conviction that Global Negotiations remained the most important and comprehensive endeavour of the international community for the restructuring of international economic relations, the accelerated development of the economies of developing countries and for strengthening multilateral economic co-operation on the basis of mutual benefit.

36. In assessing the lack of progress towards the launching of Global Negotiations, the Heads of State or Government noted that the developing countries had made consistent and constructive efforts towards reaching agreement for their early launching. They noted the fact that the major developed countries had at their Summit Conference in Versailles approved the launching of Global Negotiations as a major political objective. They regretted that the flexibility shown by the Group of 77 to the proposals made by the Versailles Summit did not elicit any positive response from the major developed countries which had since remained rigid in their position.

37. The Heads of State or Government assessed the developments at the thirty-seventh United Nations General Assembly, particularly the extensive consultations carried out in the General Assembly, and noted that these consultations had also proved unproductive. The responsibility for the failure to launch the Global Negotiations is due to the refusal of a few developed countries, in particular one major industrial country, to respond positively to the constructive suggestions made by the Group of 77 in July 1982.

38. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their commitment to the early launching of the Global Negotiations and reiterated their belief in the basic approach of the Negotiations, namely a simultaneous, coherent and integrated treatment of the major issues confronting the global economy. They continued to be of the view that the successful conclusion of Global Negotiations would greatly assist in the realization of the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade and make a significant stride towards the establishment of the New International Economic Order. The current global economic crisis, which has exposed the fundamental weaknesses of the international economic system and institutions, has made it imperative and urgent for the major issues of the world economy to be considered in an interrelated manner within the framework of Global Negotiations. They therefore urged the developed countries to respond positively and constructively to the efforts of the developing countries for the early launching of Global Negotiations.

39. As a demonstration of their resolve to impart a fresh political impetus to Global Negotiations, the Heads of State or Government decided to propose the convening of a conference within the United Nations to launch Global Negotiations in early 1984 by taking up in the first phase those issues on the formulation and allocation of which agreement would have been reached. During this first phase, parallel efforts should be made through a working group of the conference to expand the Global Negotiations to include in the second phase other issues, particularly those affecting the structure of the international economic system and institutions.

V. PROGRAMME OF IMMEDIATE MEASURES IN AREAS OF CRITICAL IMPORTANCE TO DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

40. In the meantime, the solution of the immediate problems of developing countries brooks no delay. The prevailing world economic crisis calls for bold and imaginative approaches. At the initiative of the Group of 77, the thirty-seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly called upon the international community to take immediate, effective and concrete measures in areas of critical importance to developing countries - such as food, assistance in the development of the energy resources of developing countries by the World Bank and balance-of-payments support by IMF, financial flows, trade and raw materials - at the forthcoming conferences and meetings of the United Nations system. The Heads of State or Government decided that all possible efforts should be made to ensure the initiation of negotiations for the adoption and effective implementation of a Programme of Immediate Measures in favour of developing countries which contains inter alia the measures outlined below.

41. In view of the critical situation of the global economy and the disastrous effect the crisis is having on the economies of non-aligned and other developing countries, some of these measures needed to be taken on an emergency basis. To this end, the Heads of State or Government called on the relevant institutions, particularly the IMF and the World Bank, to give urgent consideration to the application of measures which can have the effect of quickly stimulating the economies of the developing countries and for which mechanisms are immediately available.

42. They resolved to pursue vigorously these measures as appropriate at forthcoming conferences within the United Nations system, particularly at UNCTAD VI, and through their continuing machineries. To this end, the non-aligned and other developing countries will formulate specific resolutions and proposals in their relevant negotiating forums to facilitate their urgent adoption and implementation. They recognized that some of these Immediate Measures have implications for medium-term and long-term action as well as for structural changes in the existing international economic system and that such negotiations would be continued within the framework of Global Negotiations when launched.

A. Monetary and financial issues and transfer of resources

Official development assistance (ODA)

(i) Attainment of 0.7 per cent of GNP as ODA by 1985. Transfer of resources should be placed on an increasingly assured, continuous and predictable basis and there should be rational and equitable distribution among developing countries. Within the context of general increases of ODA to developing countries as a whole, the target of 0.15 per cent of GNP as ODA for the least developed countries should be achieved by 1985. Aid should preferably be in the form of grants and should be untied;

(ii) Significant increase in programme lending in ODA flows. Improvement in modality, composition and quality of aid;

Indebtedness

(iii) Exchange of information between the developing countries on their negotiations with regard to their external debt and, where desirable, collaboration between them in such negotiations. Development of a comprehensive, equitable, multilateral framework for the restructuring of the debt burden of developing countries in order to provide an orderly international response to the possible emergence of serious debt crisas;

(iv) Expeditious and full implementation of Trade and Development Board Resolution 165 (S-IX) and conversion of all outstanding bilateral official development assistance loans into grants for the least developed countries.

International Monetary Fund

(v) Increase of IMF quotas beyond that agreed in the recent Interim Committee meeting to a level of SDR 125 billion. This increase to be effected while maintaining the present limits on access in terms of multiples of quota;

(vi) A sizeable allocation of SDRs sufficient to provide much needed liquidity over and above the requirement for paying the 25 per cent reserve tranche component of the recent quota increase. Mechanisms should be found for developed countries to give up a portion of their share of SDR allocations to the developing countries;

(vii) Pending the replenishment of Fund resources to the extent necessary through the further increase of Fund quotas, the GAB resources should be effectively available to the Fund to meet members' needs and in addition the Fund should resort to additional borrowing from surplus countries or capital markets as necessary;

(viii) Replenishment of the IMF Trust Fund by further sale of IMF gold and the use of these resources for subsidized lending to eligible developing countries;

(ix) Immediate review of IMF conditionality with a view to ensuring consistency with the kind of adjustment process which developing countries can adopt, keeping in mind when prescribing certain policy changes their economic situation, the structural nature of their imbalances and the need to encourage expansion in production as an integral part of structural adjustment. It is essential to avoid adjustment processes which jeopardize the development process;

(x) Liberalization of the Compensatory Financing Facility commensurate with the greatly increased requirements in the light of the decline in commodity prices.

World Bank

(xi) Substantial expansion of the current lending programme of IBRD;

(xii) Facilitating an enlargement of World Bank programme lending, under conditionality that would not be detrimental to the development process, including lending for structural adjustment by changing its present limit on such lending from 10 per cent to at least 30 per cent of total lending;

(xiii) Further augmentation of the Bank's capital resources through an additional capital increase at an early date while also taking steps to increase the gearing ratio of the Bank from the present 1:1 to 2:1;

(xiv) Substantial increase in the Seventh IDA replenishment so as to enable it to provide a real increase in flows to all recipients, particularly the low-income and least developed countries. The terms of IDA lending should not be hardened;

(xv) Take appropriate action to activate sections of the Articles of Agreement that have never been made operative, but which are potentially capable of improving significantly the position of developing countries within the Bank.

B. Trade and raw materials

Access

(xvi) Substantially increased market access in developed countries for exports from developing countries;

(xvii) Special emphasis on special and preferential treatment for the exports of developing countries; further, developed countries must refrain from any restrictive, conditional, selective or discriminatory treatment to the detriment of developing countries;

(xviii) The developed countries should :

(a) refrain from imposing new restrictions on trade in commodities, including agricultural commodities, and manufactured and semi-finished products, originating from the developing countries;

(b) eliminate forthwith restrictive measures incompatible with their international commitments or aimed at evading those commitments;

(c) draw up a programme for the elimination of protectionist measures, including subsidies on uncompetitive products, which adversely affect the trade prospects of the developing countries;

(xix) Retaining the generalized and non-discriminatory character of the Generalized System of Preferences and improvements in the GSP in terms of both product coverage and tariff reductions;

(xx) Commitment by the developed countries to refrain from unilateral action adversely affecting the trade of developing countries;

(xxi) Developed countries should refrain from using economic measures as a form of political coercion.

Adjustment policies

(xxii) Structural adjustment measures in the policies of developed countries with a view to increasing imports from developing countries and the strengthening of the relevant mechanism in UNCTAD for consultation and co-ordination on trade and adjustment policies so as to ensure inter alia the transparency of national actions and multilateral surveillance.

Commodities

xxiii) Speedy conclusion of agreements on commodities listed in UNCTAD resolution 93 (IV).

(xxiv) The conclusion, where possible, of arrangements on particular commodities to prevent any fall in price;

(xxv) Urge developed countries in selling their strategic reserves to engage in prior consultation with the developing countries which are producers and exporters of the commodities concerned in order to avoid depressing the prices of those commodities;

(xxvi) Early ratification of the Common Fund Agreement so as to bring it into operation by 1 January 1984;

.xxvii) Early announcement of pledges of contributions to the Second Account of the Common Fund with a view to meeting the agreed target;

(xxviii) Improvements in existing International Commodity Agreements (ICAs) to provide for appropriate pricing arrangements to secure remunerative prices for producers;

(xxix) Liberalization of the IMF Buffer Stock Financing Facility to enable ICAs to meet their financial requirements;

(xxx) Improvement and enlargement of facilities for the stabilization of the commodity export earnings of developing countries;

(xxxi) Establishment of frameworks of co-operation with a view to increasing the participation of developing countries in the processing, marketing, distribution and transport of their commodities.

C. Energy

(xxxii) A net expansion in World Bank lending in the energy sector within the context of an overall expansion in its lending programme;

(xxxiii) Early establishment of an appropriate multilateral financing facility for the development of indigenous energy resources of developing countries, within the existing international institutions such as an Energy Affiliate of the World Bank;

(xxxiv) Support within the framework of the United Nations system and other relevant institutions for energy research in developing countries and promotion and transfer of energy-related technologies.

D. Food and agriculture

(xxxv) Expansion and enlargement of the Food Financing Facility of IMF to cover other essential food items.

(xxxvi) Increase in the targets of the International Emergency Food Reserves from 500,000 to 750,000 tonnes and of the Food Aid Convention from 10 to 18 million tonnes;

(xxxvii) Establishment of a food security system, inter alia, through a system of developing-country-owned food reserves;

(xxxviii) Adoption as a matter of urgent priority of a special international programme of food aid and financial assistance to relieve the hard-hit countries of Africa;

(xxxix) Increased flow of resources for investment in food and agricultural production, as well as for the development of indigenous research capacity.

E. International conference on money and finance for development

(xi) The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for a comprehensive reform of the existing inequitable and outdated international monetary and financial system. To this end, they called for the convening of an international conference on money and finance for development, with universal participation, aimed at meeting effectively the development and other financing requirements of the international economy, particularly those of the developing countries, and the need for growth-oriented structural adjustments. This conference should not be regarded as a pre-condition for the launching of the Global Negotiations and would become an integral part of these negotiations when they are launched. They called upon the developing countries to pursue this objective as a matter of urgency in all relevant forums for the early convening of the conference.

VI. MODALITIES

43. The Heads of State or Government were convinced that the adoption of the above measures would facilitate the accelerated development of developing countries, strengthen multilateral economic co-operation, reactivate the world economy and bring immediate relief to the non-aligned and other developing countries. In this regard, they issued to the world community a Declaration on Collective Action for Global Prosperity.*

44. The Heads of State or Government decided that the Co-ordinating Bureau at the Ministerial Level should meet before the thirty-eighth session of the United Nations General Assembly and review the situation.

45. They called upon the Group of 77 to decide the further course of action at its annual Ministerial Meeting during the thirty-eighth session of the United Nations General Assembly.

46. The Heads of State or Government took note of a proposal to organize the necessary political support for the successful negotiation of global economic issues through, inter alia, high-level meetings on economic affairs and regular contact between the developed and developing countries at the highest possible political level, respecting the principle of universality and in accordance with the principles and objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

47. The delegation of Algeria proposed that a committee should be set up, consisting of Ministers for Foreign Affairs of a number of non-aligned countries, under the leadership of the Chairman of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries (or her Minister for Foreign Affairs), which would explain the substance of the New Delhi Declarations in selected capital cities of developed countries.

* See the Declaration on Collective Action for Global Prosperity on pages 113 to 114.

48. The President of Sri Lanka proposed that the Prime Minister of India, as Chairman of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, should take the initiative in mobilizing a representative group of Heads of State or Government of a few countries to talk to the Heads of Government of major developed countries to act swiftly in the face of the grave international economic crisis by adopting a programme of immediate measures in areas of critical importance to developing countries.

49. The Heads of State or Government welcomed these proposals and requested the Chairman of the Non-Aligned Movement to take such action as was deemed appropriate. They further requested the Chairman to invite a group of Heads of State or Government to hold discussions with other world leaders on the substance of the New Delhi Declarations and Message. The Chairman had, in her inaugural address, given a call for a meeting of Heads of State or Government at the thirty-eighth Session of the United Nations General Assembly. This will also provide an early opportunity to hold such discussions at the highest level.

VII. INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

50. The Heads of State or Government noted that possibilities of adopting an integrated approach to global economic problems had emerged as envisaged in the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade. They reaffirmed the goals and objectives defined in the Strategy, particularly the 7 per cent target for overall growth in GNP and related objectives in the trade, agricultural and industrial sectors, as well as the need for the developed countries' official development assistance to reach 0.7 per cent of their GNP. They expressed regret that, due to the crisis in the world economy and international economic relations, whereby some developed countries follow policies which have negative trends, the efforts of developing countries to attain the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy have been considerably hindered.

51. It was noted with deep regret that the Global Negotiations, which are intended to be one of the principal instruments for facilitating the implementation of the International Development Strategy, have not been launched. The developed and developing countries should reflect appropriately at the national level, in accordance with their national priorities and plans, the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy in their policy formulations.

52. The Heads of State or Government noted the establishment of a committee of universal membership to carry out the review and appraisal of the implementation of the Strategy in 1984 and called upon the international community to participate actively and constructively in all phases of this exercise. In this respect, the Heads of State or Government considered it very important that the non-aligned and other developing countries should conceive the process of examination and evaluation not as a way of effecting simple quantitative adjustments of the goals and objectives contained in the International Development Strategy, but of proposing the necessary emendatory measures which contribute to the future accomplishment of the Strategy's dispositions and thus the development of the developing countries.

VIII. CHARTER OF ECONOMIC RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF STATES

53. The Heads of State or Government expressed their concern at the inadequate implementation of the provisions of the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States and called upon those developed countries which had not accepted the Charter to re-examine their position and to abide by its principles and provisions. The thirty-seventh session of the General Assembly had decided to conduct a comprehensive review of its implementation at its thirty-ninth session on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the adoption of the Charter. All nations should co-operate in an active and constructive manner in this respect, ensuring the adoption of corrective measures aimed at making this instrument an effective guide for international relations.

IX. UNCTAD VI

54. UNCTAD VI offers a major opportunity for a comprehensive and interrelated review of the international economic situation and its impact on the trade and development of developing countries. It should consider the ramifications of the current global economic crisis, which is a manifestation of the structural imbalances in the system, and should focus attention on the need for an urgent recovery in the world economy, with emphasis on the reactivation of the process of development in developing countries. It should concentrate on key international economic issues, especially interrelationship of commodities, trade, money and finance, and development, and in that context decide on measures for launching a programme for world economic recovery and sustained growth and development, comprising urgent measures to remedy the immediate situation and measures for structural reform of the world economy. In addition, UNCTAD VI should, inter alia:

(a) make proposals to ensure management of the world economy so that the principles and policies applied are effective and consistent with the requirements of growth, employment and development objectives of the world economy, in particular those of developing countries;

(b) specially review the implementation of the Substantial New Programme of Action (SNPA) for the 1980s for the Least Developed Countries; and authorize the Trade and Development Board to:

(a) review and hold consultations on the world economic situation;

(b) pay particular attention to the impact on trade and development of developing countries of the principles, policies and practices in the interrelated areas of international trade, money and finance and development.

55. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the need for the Trade and Development Board to meet regularly at the ministerial level, at least once in two years, to enable consultations in the fields of trade, development, money and finance, so that policies followed are mutually consistent and supportive of the development process in developing countries.

56. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the Declaration and Programme of Action adopted by the three recent regional ministerial meetings held in Baghdad, Libreville and Cartagena in preparation for the Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 which is to take place at Buenos Aires in March-April 1983 and urged all participants in UNCTAD VI, especially developed countries, to avail themselves to the utmost of the opportunity offered by the Belgrade meeting to display a new and effective spirit of multilateral co-operation through significant political decisions.

57. The Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that all countries would participate in UNCTAD VI in a constructive manner and co-operate fully towards the achievement of meaningful results in all areas of concern to the international community.

X. MONETARY AND FINANCIAL ISSUES AND TRANSFER OF RESOURCES

58. The area of money and finance is undoubtedly one of the most important for improved and expanded international co-operation. Many of the economic problems facing developing countries result from the financial constraints which they suffer. This underlines the need for restructuring the monetary and financial system, so that it can assist developing countries effectively as they adjust to the difficult balance-of-payments problems facing them and provide adequate transfers of resources to the developing countries to finance development.

59. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at the structural deficiencies of the international monetary and financial system and noted that the system had not been responding on the scale required for world economic recovery and for regaining the pace of development in developing countries, as the result, inter alia, of short-sighted and inward-looking policies by certain developed countries that have drastically reduced international financial liquidity. Control over the current international monetary and financial system continued to be the preserve of a few dominant developed countries. There is inadequate representation of the developing countries in the decision-making processes of international financial institutions, nor have all the developed countries, whether market or centrally-directed and planned economies, taken part so as to universalize those processes and this has the effect of making the response of the international financial system inadequate to the needs of the developing countries.

60. At a time when developing countries direly require large flows of concessional assistance there is a decline in these flows. The net disbursements of official development assistance (ODA) by DAC members as a whole amounted to only 0.35 per cent of their gross national product (GNP) in 1981, as against 0.51 per cent in 1960. After two decades, the achievement is barely half the United Nations target of 0.7 per cent of the GNP of the developed countries. The International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade stressed that "developed countries which had not yet reached the target (0.7 per cent of GNP) should exert their best efforts to reach it by 1985, and in any case not later than the second half of the Decade. The target of 1 per cent should be reached as soon as possible thereafter". The Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s for the Least Developed Countries, adopted in 1981, also included the commitment of the developed countries that, in coming years, 0.15 per cent of their GNP would be provided to the least developed countries as official development assistance within the framework of the general increase of ODA flows to all developing countries. The Heads of State or Government urged that developed countries which had not yet reached the target should endeavour to do so within the period indicated. They emphasized that the transfer of resources to the developing countries should be placed on an increasingly assured, continuous and predictable basis and should result in rational and equitable distribution among developing countries.

61. The Heads of State or Government called upon all developed countries to adjust the terms and conditions of their ODA in a significantly improved fashion in conformity with the International Development Strategy for the Third Development Decade. Hence, the current overall average rate of ODA concessionality should be further increased. Official development assistance to the least developed countries should, as a general rule, be in the form of grants, and should be at high concessionality to other developing countries, particularly those in the special categories, i.e. the most seriously affected land-locked and island developing countries, which depend primarily on concessional flows. Official development assistance should be untied.

62. The Heads of State or Government considered that, in the present international situation, it is essential to secure a massive increase in the flow of financial and material resources to the developing countries as well as the cancellation of the external debt owed to developed countries by the least developed countries. In this context they recalled the proposals made by the Chairman of the Non-Aligned Movement in his reports to the thirty-fourth session of the General Assembly of the United Nations and to the Seventh Summit Conference.

63. IDA has been a major source of concessional finance for low-income developing countries. Experience in the mobilization of resources for IDA-VI has been most unhappy. The Heads of State or Government stressed that this situation should be avoided in the future. They called for a substantially enlarged IDA-VII, in real terms, taking into account the increased requirements of developing countries in an international environment of exceptional strain. Negotiations should be concluded early so that IDA-VII could become operational by 1985 at the latest. They warned against the consequences of moves to dilute the quality of IDA, either by hardening terms or by proposing differentiation among countries, as such action would militate against its basic philosophy. They also stressed the need for IDA-VII to be substantially larger in real terms to enable it to give due attention to the needs of low-income developing countries, particularly by least developed countries in sub-Saharan Africa and certain regions of Asia.

64. In view of the urgent need to expand the availability of multilateral finance to developing countries, the lending operations of the World Bank and regional development banks should be substantially enlarged in real terms beyond the levels currently contemplated. To enable the Bank to expand its operations effectively in future, consideration will have to be given to augmenting its capital resources at an early date. It is also desirable to increase the gearing ratio to 2:1 from the present 1:1. Parallel action should be taken by the regional banks in this regard. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that financial resources made available by the World Bank and IDA to regional development banks should constitute additional resources and should not be at the expense of the World Bank's national programmes and indicative allocation of funds made directly to individual countries. Rather, such resources through regional development banks should represent additional inflows of development assistance to the countries concerned on terms substantially different from and more flexible than those normally required in direct World Bank operations.

65. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at the policy of graduation in IBRD and other multilateral financial institutions, which restricts the role of these institutions at a time when more rather than less needs to be done by such institutions to assist developing countries.

66. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern the growing pressures by certain developed countries on the multilateral institutions, especially the World Bank and IMF, to adopt a politically motivated approach to conditionality and the granting of loans which is inconsistent with the requirements of development and structural adjustment. They warned against simplistic prescriptions for economic problems based on particular ideological approaches which do not recognize the diversity of economic and social systems.

67. They also noted that while there was a role for commercial borrowing there should be no tendency to substitute commercial borrowing for multilateral flows or to make multilateral flows contingent upon co-financing.

68. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the International Monetary Fund could play an important role in helping developing countries to adjust in the face of large externally-induced current account deficits, provided it was properly structured and its policies reoriented to the needs of developing countries. They expressed deep disappointment that the Interim Committee of IMF, at its meeting in February 1983, had recommended an increase of Fund quotas to only SDR 90 billion in the Eighth General Review. They reiterated that a doubling of Fund quotas to about SDR 125 billion was still essential if the Fund's resources were to be adequately replenished in the present situation. This increase in quotas should in no way affect the present limits on access in terms of multiples of quotas. They supported the proposal endorsed by the Group of 24 at its recent meeting for the reintroduction of minimum quotas for States with very small quotas and urged that this proposal be adopted by the IMF.

69. They strongly opposed the view being canvassed in some quarters that the International Monetary Fund should be viewed as a "lender of last resort". They urged that, because of the prolonged nature of the adjustment process facing most countries and the paucity of appropriate financing, there should be no deviation from the accepted preference of IMF that countries should be encouraged to approach it at earlier stages of need. They welcomed the decision to enlarge the General Agreement to Borrow (GAB) and to expand it to include non-participants. They stated, however, that, while this could provide additional resources to the Fund under certain circumstances, it was not an effective substitute for a straightforward increase in Fund quotas because of the discretionary element in its activation. They affirmed that adequate mechanisms must be devised and firm assurances given that the expanded GAB will not jeopardize further the independence and decision-making authority of the Fund and reduce even more the role of developing countries in such decision-making.

70. The Heads of State or Government also emphasized the urgent requirement for a sizeable allocation of SDRs sufficient to provide much-needed liquidity. Furthermore, since SDRs allocated to surplus developed countries do not effectively add to world liquidity, particularly to that of developing countries, and as there is no reason why drawing rights of members should be determined by the same criteria as those governing voting rights, special weightage should be given to deficit countries in the allocation of SDRs. The Heads of State or Government therefore urged consideration of a direct or indirect link between SDR allocation and development finance. They also called for a major initiative in the form of another Trust Fund, financed by sale of IMF gold, to meet the developing countries' need for additional finance.

71. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that effective use of the resources provided for IMF depends upon the appropriateness of IMF conditionality. In this connection, they noted the prolonged nature of the adjustment process facing most developing countries and the need to tackle this adjustment through adequate supply responses. This calls for a different framework of conditionality from the traditional approach of the Fund, which emphasizes short-term adjustment through demand management. They noted that a policy change by the IMF in 1981 towards supply-side-oriented adjustment programmes was short-lived, and that demand-management policies were today more entrenched than ever before. They emphasized that adjustment programmes should be consistent with the political and social arrangements in each country, as well as with the kind of adjustment process which developing countries can adopt in order to stimulate their own development process. The Heads of State or Government also emphasized the need for greater symmetry in the Fund's surveillance and for focussing greater attention on the international repercussions of the policies of the major developed countries.

72. In the light of the disproportionate power wielded by these institutions vis-a-vis developing countries, there is a need for a process of mediation when relationships become frozen or when negotiations become dead-locked on the issue of conditionality and other factors. While developing countries have so far had ad hoc resort to panels of independent experts to deal with this situation, there is provision within the articles of these institutions to accomplish this objective on a more systematic basis which has not yet been fully exploited. The Heads of State or Government urged that consideration be given to activating the provisions of these articles. In addition, developing countries should constitute a panel of independent experts whose judgement can be invoked in cases where disputes arise between the international financial organizations and developing countries. Such a panel would endeavour to ensure that like situations are treated alike and that relevant technical norms are fully observed.

73. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep concern at the critical situation of the developing countries regarding their external debt. They recalled Trade and Development Board resolution 165 (S-IX) of 11 March 1978, calling upon developed donor countries to adopt measures to adjust the terms of past bilateral ODA to poorer countries, in particular the least developed countries, in order to bring these terms into line with the currently prevailing softer terms, or to take equivalent measures. They noted that progress to this end had been inadequate and called for full implementation of resolution 165 (S-IX). Official debt is a small part of the outstanding debt of developing countries and, in recent years, the non-official component had increased very considerably, imposing a heavy burden of debt-servicing, thus jeopardizing development programmes because of heavy debt-service obligations. The Heads of State or Government called for the development of a comprehensive, equitable, multilateral framework for the restructuring of the debt burden of developing countries in order to provide an orderly international response to the possible emergence of a serious debt crisis. They also urged consideration of the setting-up of an international debt-restructuring facility to help refinance the existing debts of the developing countries for a long-term period on appropriate terms.

74. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for a comprehensive reform of the existing inequitable and outdated international monetary and financial system. To this end, they called for the convening of an International Conference on Money and Finance for Development, with universal participation, aimed at meeting effectively the development and other financing requirements of the international economy, particularly those of the developing countries, and the need for growth-oriented structural adjustment. This conference should not be regarded as a pre-condition for the launching of the Global Negotiations and would become an integral part of these negotiations when they are launched. They called upon the developing countries to pursue this objective as a matter of urgency in all relevant forums for the early convening of the conference.

XI. TRADE

75. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep concern at the critical situation faced by developing countries in their trade with developed countries. The continuing recession and the stagnation of world trade during 1981 and 1982 had engendered a series of short-term protectionist responses by the developed countries which proved disruptive of the international trade system. With access to markets in developed countries becoming increasingly uncertain and progressively limited, unprecedented trade imbalances and balance-of-payments difficulties for developing countries have surfaced. The situation of developing countries, particularly non-oil-exporting countries, was serious because of the accumulated neglect of their problems and the rapid increase in the price of industrial and other products imported by them, leading to alarming deterioration in their terms of trade.

76. Prices of commodities, on which the majority of developing countries depend for the bulk of their export earnings, had declined. The manufactured exports of developing countries had also suffered a setback, giving cause for anxiety. On the one hand, traditional forms of protectionism had continued unabated, while on the other new and more sophisticated manifestations of protectionism had emerged to further restrict the market access of developing countries. The intensification in certain developed countries of the use of domestic subsidies for particular commodities, to the detriment of products of interest to the developing countries, had an adverse effect on the world prices of these products and depressed them, thus worsening the terms of trade of the developing countries.

77. The Heads of State or Government rejected all forms of economic aggression and the use of commercial threats or sanctions and of any other form of blockade or measures of coercion or blackmail by developed countries against the non-aligned and other developing countries as a means of exerting political pressure in order to interfere with or influence their sovereign decisions. They affirmed the right of all States to the full exercise of national sovereignty and to the adoption of the economic and social systems that they considered most appropriate for the promotion of their development. They also rejected the use of unilateral measures which affect the development of world trade.

78. Despite their commitment not to raise new barriers against the exports of developing countries, expanding and increasingly sophisticated protectionist policies and measures by developed countries had greatly accentuated the trade problems of the developing countries. The proliferation of so-called voluntary restraints and orderly marketing arrangements and resort to arbitrary and unfair application of countervailing duty action were increasingly affecting production and export prospects in sectors where developing countries were acquiring comparative advantage. The emergence of a restrictive international trading regime in the all-important textile sector could only be deplored as a derogation from the accepted rules of international trade.

79. Attempts were being made to introduce discriminatory and selective regimes restricting imports from developing countries in other sectors as well. In many cases, restrictions on imports from developing countries violated international obligations and commitments undertaken by the developed countries to refrain from increasing the incidence of tariff and non-tariff barriers, to give special and preferential treatment to exports from developing countries, and to accord high priority to reducing and eliminating barriers to products of export interest to those countries. The non-aligned countries are opposed to the application of the concept of graduation, differentiation and selectivity, under which endeavours are made to suspend special preferential treatment when the developed countries unilaterally and arbitrarily consider that a developing country does not meet the requirements for the granting of preferences.

80. The Heads of State or Government pointed out that even the continuation of existing levels of imports by developing countries depended crucially on a significant increase in their market access in developed countries. It was totally unjustifiable to expect developing countries to liberalize their imports further. There should be no question of any reciprocal concession from developing countries under any circumstances.

81. The GATT Ministerial Meeting held in November 1982 had yielded meagre results. The developing countries had exercised commendable vigilance and caution in countering the tendency to introduce subjects outside GATT's competence. The failure of the Meeting to secure a clear and unambiguous commitment by the developed countries to avoid protectionism is a matter for the most profound regret.

82. The Heads of State or Government recommended that UNCTAD should undertake an examination of the issues related to services, bearing in mind the need to safeguard the present and future interests of non-aligned and other developing countries.

83. In order to help the revival of world trade and promote the trade and development of developing countries, the Heads of State or Government called for the urgent adoption of the following measures:

(i) Developed countries should:

(a) refrain from imposing new restrictions on trade originating from the developing countries;

(b) eliminate forthwith restrictive, conditional, selective and discriminatory measures incompatible with their international commitments or aimed at evading those commitments;

(c) draw up a programme for the elimination of protectionist measures, including subsidies on uncompetitive products as well as artificially inflated pricing of imported commodities and products which adversely affect the trade prospects of the developing countries;

(ii) There should be speedy structural adjustment in the developed countries in sectors where developing countries have dynamic comparative advantage and their Governments should make conscious and urgent efforts towards this end. UNCTAD VI should result in significant measures in this regard;

(iii) Developed countries should provide significant increases in market access to developing countries, taking into account the principle of special and preferential treatment for the exports of developing countries;

(iv) The rules and principles governing the functioning of the present iniquitous international trading system should be reviewed with the aim of restructuring it to respond adequately and effectively to the present requirements of all nations and particularly of the developing ones;

(v) The Generalized System of Preferences should be improved further in terms of product coverage and tariff reductions and should be simplified in operation. GSP should be given greater stability and concessions under it should not be subject to unilateral withdrawal. All restrictive or discriminatory elements, such as those contained in the foreign trade law of a developed country, should be gradually eliminated or abolished. The System should be used neither as an instrument of political and economic pressure nor for reprisals;

(vi) An effort should be made to return to the normal trading rules of GATT in the textile sector as soon as possible, and, in the interim period, bilateral textile agreements should conform strictly to the Multi-Fibre Arrangement as extended by the Protocol of 22 December 1981;

(vii) The Contracting Parties should take appropriate action for implementation of the special measures for promotion of trade of the least developed countries as contained in the declaration of the GATT Ministerial Meeting held in November, 1982.

XII. RAW MATERIALS

84. The Heads of State or Government noted with alarm the serious deterioration in commodity prices. In many instances, real prices in 1982 were even lower than their levels in the 1930s. Over a long period, developing countries had been facing serious problems due to substantial fluctuations in commodity prices. For many of them, sharp increases in the prices of manufactured goods and other essential imports had led to a steep decline in their terms of trade.

85. The Heads of State or Government condemned the increasingly prejudicial role played by transnational corporations with regard to the increased participation by developing countries in the processing, marketing, transport and distribution of raw materials. The efforts of the developing countries to increase their participation are being continually obstructed by the protectionist barriers imposed by developed countries on exports of manufactured and semi-manufactured products by developing countries and by the lack of capital and technical know-how. They firmly insisted that the national measures along these lines provided for in the resolution of UNCTAD V should be made effective. They expressed the hope that UNCTAD VI would give serious attention to this matter and that agreement would quickly be reached on the establishment of a general framework of international co-operation to deal with problems in this field.

86. The Common Fund, for which the developing countries had struggled hard, was one of the first institutions to be established within the framework of the New International Economic Order. The developing countries should expedite the process of signature and ratification of the Agreement preferably before UNCTAD VI. Those developed countries which had not yet done so should ratify the Agreement at an early date. The Heads of State or Government agreed that the headquarters of the Common Fund should be located in a developing country. In this context, they welcomed with appreciation the offer of the Philippines to host the headquarters of the Fund.

87. The Heads of State or Government noted with profound regret that, despite the commitment, undertaken at the time of the adoption of the Integrated Programme, to negotiate and conclude a wide range of commodity agreements, only two additional commodity agreements had been negotiated during the last six years. They highlighted the need: (i) to secure remunerative prices for producers in commodity agreements; (ii) for renewed efforts to conclude comprehensive and meaningful agreements on commodities of export interest to developing countries and the exercise of the requisite political will on the part of the developed countries in this matter; (iii) for improvement and enlargement of facilities for the stabilization of the export earnings of developing countries in the field of commodities.

88. The Heads of State or Government underlined the need for increased producers' co-operation to improve the negotiating power of developing countries and to protect their legitimate rights. In this regard, they recognized the importance of producers' associations as one of the means for developing countries to effectively secure fair and remunerative prices for their exports and to increase their export earnings. They stated that the adoption of firm and concerted measures by producers' associations, the strengthening of these associations and the establishment of new ones would be a decisive contribution towards this end.

89. They called for the establishment of a new compensatory financing facility for commodity-related shortfalls in export earnings of developing countries, with special arrangements for the least developed countries.

XIII. FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

90. The Heads of State or Government noted with great concern the deteriorating situation of food and agriculture in developing countries, reflected in falling grain production and mounting imports which cause severe strains on their scarce foreign exchange resources. They recalled that the World Food Conference in 1974 had solemnly resolved to eradicate hunger and malnutrition within a decade. The International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade, however, took the deadline to the end of the century. The achievement of this objective is the common responsibility of all mankind and sustained and concerted efforts are required in this regard.

91. The Heads of State or Government affirmed that food is a fundamental and universal human right and they underscored the urgent need for the eradication of hunger within the shortest possible time. They expressed the firm commitment and determination of their governments to continue endeavours to guarantee that right to their peoples. They strongly condemned the use of food as an instrument of political pressure and cautioned against any kind of conditionality for supply of food aid.

92. While they appreciated that food and agricultural developments were being accorded priority attention by the international community and the concerned international institutions, they regretted that adequate assistance to the developing countries to enable them to attain the annual growth rate of 4 per cent for agricultural production envisaged for the Second Development Decade and reiterated in the International Development Strategy for the Third Development Decade was not forthcoming. They urged the developed countries, international institutions and other donors to increase substantially development assistance to the food and agriculture sector in developing countries and to liberalize the terms of such assistance. Developing countries were according overriding importance to increasing their food and agricultural production and to achieving self-reliance through national and collective action taken by themselves. Some developing countries had achieved a degree of self-reliance in food through the determined application of policies, resources and technology. Such efforts should be continued and the experience acquired should be made available to food-deficit developing countries to support their efforts aimed at achieving and propagating collective self-reliance in the food sector.

93. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern that, over the last decade, the food imports of developing countries had doubled in volume and quadrupled in value, while their exports were increasingly affected by the protectionist policies of developed countries. Their terms of trade had deteriorated and the unfavourable international environment had slowed down their efforts to achieve self-sufficiency in food. Most of the developing countries, particularly the least developed countries, faced a critical situation, reflected in widespread hunger and malnutrition and the diversion of their scare resources towards food imports. The continuing deterioration in the food situation in Africa was assuming alarming proportions.

94. The Heads of State or Government noted some positive developments, such as the IMF facility for cereal imports and the target of 500,000 tonnes for the International Emergency Food Reserve having been exceeded for the first time in 1981. The overall situation, however, continues to be unsatisfactory. They called for renewed efforts to reach agreement on a new International Grains Arrangement.

XIV. ENERGY

96. The Heads of State or Government recognized the crucial role of energy for the economic growth of developing countries. While stressing the need for the adequate availability of energy for the developing countries in order to accelerate their socio-economic development, without prejudice to the national interests and standing commitments of the energy-exporting developing countries, they considered that all countries, particularly the developed ones, should take immediate measures for the rationalization of energy consumption. The international energy situation requires very careful consideration.

97. Many developing countries are currently facing serious problems connected with the development of energy resources, while others may have to face similar problems in the medium-term and long-term. The United Nations General Assembly resolution on development of energy resources in developing countries, and the United Nations medium-term plan for 1984-1989, have for the first time attempted to deal with several policy matters relating to energy. The completion of a comprehensive study to be undertaken in the United Nations on constraints on energy development and possible mechanisms to fill existing gaps, and the preparation of effective programmes and activities in the energy sector beneficial to all, particularly the energy-deficient developing countries, are tasks of the utmost urgency. All countries should co-operate actively and unreservedly in the follow-up action on that resolution.

98. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the decisions taken at the fifty-fifth OPEC meeting, held in Caracas, to accord priority to the other developing countries in securing the supply of oil for their domestic requirements on the basis of member countries' official prices.

99. The present level of resources for energy lending by the World Bank is utterly inadequate. The Heads of State or Government urged enlargement of those resources through raising the overall levels of lending. They attached the highest importance to the undertaking of appropriate measures to achieve this objective.

100. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the seriousness of the balance-of-payments problems which many energy-deficient developing countries face. They urged the early adoption of immediate and effective measures to overcome those problems, inter alia through the International Monetary Fund, and the establishment of appropriate global arrangements. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government took note with great appreciation of the efforts of the OPEC countries and the assistance provided by the OPEC Fund for International Development in alleviating balance-of-payments problems. They underlined the importance of promoting collective self-reliance among developing countries in the field of energy by way of appropriate bilateral, sub-regional, regional and interregional arrangements among them.

101. The Nairobi Programme of Action (NPA) adopted in 1981 by the United Nations Conference on New and Renewable Sources of Energy provides an important framework among other things for international action to develop and promote the utilization of new and renewable sources of energy in developing countries. The setting up of an intergovernmental committee and a secretariat unit in the United Nations to deal specifically with new and renewable sources of energy are welcome developments which will facilitate the convening of consultative meetings by appropriate entities in the United Nations system or by interested developing countries, with the participation of multilateral and bilateral donors, for the purpose of mobilizing additional resources for programmes related to new and renewable sources of energy and for the implementation of the NPA. The developed countries must participate actively and co-operate meaningfully in the implementation of the NPA. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that in the short-term and medium-term alternative sources of energy could not replace traditional energy resources in economic and social development.

102. There is a pressing and obvious need for the urgent development and transfer of energy-related technologies to developing countries on terms suited to their needs. The developed countries have made efforts for energy conservation and those efforts should be stepped up to conserve scarce sources of energy.

XV. SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

103. The Heads of State or Government underscored the importance of strengthening the scientific and technological capacities of the developing countries as an important means of promoting their development. The implementation of the recommendations adopted by the 1979 Vienna Conference on Science and Technology for Development had regrettably been slow and inadequate, so that there was clearly an urgent need for the forthcoming multilateral negotiations under UNCTAD, UNIDO, the Intergovernmental Committee on Science and Technology for Development and WIPO on subjects relating to science and technology to achieve positive and meaningful results. The regional commissions should give adequate attention to those matters and work out action-oriented programmes of co-operation in those fields. The development of technologies adapted to the specific conditions and needs of the developing countries also require special attention.

104. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the recent agreement on the United Nations Financing System for Science and Technology for Development, which was designed to mobilize additional resources of not less than US$ 600 million for 1983-1985 in its core and non-core sectors. In this regard, they expressed their appreciation to the goodwill mission of developing countries and called on it to continue its effort to mobilize adequate resources for the system. The forthcoming special session of the Intergovernmental Committee on Science and Technology should work out a satisfactory basis for a financing plan that would enable mobilization of core resources of at least US$ 300 million, based on a progressive build-up of resources for 1983-85. They urged those developed countries which were wavering in their support of the financing plan to review their position and make a commensurate contribution to those resources. They also reaffirmed the readiness of the developing countries to contribute to the Financing System.

105. The deliberations in the meetings of the Interim Committee of the United Nations Conference on the International Code of Conduct on Transfer of Technology had led to some narrowing of differences. However, protracted negotiations had not resulted in the finalization of the Code. The resumed Conference must exert itself to achieve that result quickly.

106. They noted that the Versailles Summit pointed to the need to remove barriers and to promote the development of trade in new technologies in both the public and private sectors. Effective practical measures and meaningful co-operation should be undertaken by developed countries with a view to improving the current situation in international scientific and technological relations on the basis of sustained dialogue on this all-important field in the Intergovernmental Committee on Science and Technology and other concerned organizations in the United Nations system. They urged the establishment of a framework for co-operation in this sphere so as to revitalize the world economy and promote development and social welfare. They particularly recalled the proposal for setting up an International Centre for Genetic Engineering and Biotechnology and expressed the hope that aid would be available to establish it in a developing country.

107. The United Nations General Assembly and UNCTAD should continue to keep the different facets of problems relating to reverse transfer of technology under close review.

108. The Heads of State or Government stressed the great importance of initiating practical measures to ensure co-operation among developing countries themselves in the fields of science and technology. As one step in this direction, they welcomed the decision of the Non-Aligned Movement to establish a Centre for Science and Technology for Development, and requested its immediate setting up to become operational as soon as feasible.

XVI. INDUSTRIALIZATION

109. The lack of progress in the attainment of the Lima target of 25 per cent for the share of developing countries in world industrial production, and of 30 per cent for their share in world trade in manufactures, by the year 2000 was disquieting. In 1981, their share in world industrial production and in exports of manufactures amounted to only 10.3 per cent and 10.4 per cent respectively, which highlights the importance of the speedy implementation of the decisions of the Third General Conference of UNIDO.

110. The need for the growth of investment in the manufacturing sector in order to achieve the Lima target is paramount. A UNIDO study has projected requirements to grow to the level of US$ 157 billion in 1990 and US$ 427 billion in the year 2000 (at 1975 prices), with external finance component figures of US$ 55 billion in the year 1990 and about US$ 140 billion in the year 2000. All possible efforts must be made to promote investment in the industrial sector by examining possible new mechanisms for this purpose, and developed countries should augment financial flows to developing countries for their industrialization programmes on affordable terms.

111. The redeployment of industry and the creation of new industrial capacities in developing countries in keeping with their dynamic comparative advantage should be sought systematically through the system of consultations in UNIDO.

112. The Heads of State or Government stressed the importance of full and timely implementation of the United Nations resolutions concerning the Industrial Development Decade for Africa. They recalled the resolution on popular participation in development adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its thirty-seventh session, stressing the important role of public enterprises in the implementation and advancement of popular participation schemes as a means of mobilizing human resources in national development strategies. The training of adequate cadres of the appropriate skilled industrial manpower should be sought through the incorporation of clauses for training in the contracts negotiated for the sale of plant and equipment.

113. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the ratification of the UNIDO Statute by the number of States required to ensure its conversion into a specialized agency of the United Nations. All countries that had yet to ratify the UNIDO constitution were urged to do so as soon as possible. Noting the consensus that had emerged on that question, they urged all countries to enter into consultations for the purpose of facilitating the conversion of UNIDO into a specialized agency at an early date. They emphasized the importance of UNIDO IV in the context of the overall importance of the rapid industrialization of developing countries that would enable them to make faster progress towards the attainment of the Lima target.

XVII. OPERATIONAL ACTIVITIES FOR DEVELOPMENT OF THE UNITED NATIONS SYSTEM AND ITS RESOURCES CRISIS

114. The United Nations development system was set up to assist developing countries in meeting the challenges of economic and social development and the organs and organization of the United Nations system have made a significant contribution to that end. The inadequate support lent to the operational activities of the United Nations by some developed countries is to be regretted. Bilateral assistance cannot replace support measures through multilateral activities. The programmes of the United Nations have been designed to have a catalytic effect on the national economic efforts of developing countries. The resource crisis affecting the operational system, particularly UNDP, and its serious and disruptive impact on the development plans and programmes of developing countries, are matters of serious concern. For that reason the Heads of State or Government reiterated the need for the developed countries to implement, in the same way as a large number of developing countries, the resolutions of the General Assembly and the Governing Council of UNDP calling for an annual increase of 14 per cent in the voluntary contribution, which is needed if the aims of the Programme are to be achieved. It is necessary to meet targets, or fix them where this has not been done, for various funds and programmes of the United Nations system and to explore ways and means of assuring that resources accrue to those funds and programmes on an assured, predictable and continuous basis.

XVIII. SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATURAL RESOURCES

115. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the inalienable right of all countries and peoples to exercise permanent, total and full sovereignty and control over their natural and other resources and their economic activities. Some developed countries and their transnationals which were using economic coercion, pressure and blackmail undermined the sovereignty and fundamental right of the developing countries to pursue their own independent economic policies and programmes.

116. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their support for peoples still under colonial domination and foreign occupation and reaffirmed the inalienable right of those peoples to full sovereignty over their natural resources and economic activities and particularly the Palestinian and Namibian peoples whose natural resources were illegally plundered and exploited. They called upon all States and peoples to work individually and collectively to eliminate the obstacles to the freedom and legitimate aspirations of such peoples, and called for effective action in that regard.

XIX. LAW OF THE SEA

117. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the successful conclusion of the work of the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and its historic achievement in the progressive development of the law of the sea.

118. The United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea has been adopted by an overwhelming majority of 130 States and has already been signed by 122 States including Namibia and the Cook Islands. The Convention has established a new legal order for the rational use of the seas and oceans as an instrument of justice, peace, development and international co-operation. Through the application of the procedure of consensus in reaching decisions, the material interests of all sections of the world community have been accommodated equitably.

119. The Heads of State or Government expressed their firm conviction that the resources of the international area of the sea-bed and ocean floor, constituting the common heritage of mankind, can only be lawfully explored and exploited in accordance with the international regime and machinery established by the Convention. In their opinion, no unilateral action by any State or group of States through a mini-convention or a parallel regime inconsistent with the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea would have any validity. In fact, such action would invite universal condemnation and lead to appropriate measures in defence of the interests of all States in the utilization of the international sea-bed as the common heritage of mankind.

120. The Heads of State or Government appealed to all States which have signed the Convention to expedite the process of its ratification so as to enable it to enter into force as soon as possible. They also appealed to all those States that had not yet signed the Convention to do so. They noted that the first meeting of the Preparatory Commission was being convened in Kingston on 15 March 1983, and urged all States to participate actively in its work.

121. Recalling the resolution on the development of marine, scientific and technological infrastructures of developing countries adopted by the United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and endorsed by the United Nations General Assembly, they emphasized that the realization of the benefits of the Law of the Sea for developing countries can come only through the development of appropriate capabilities, particularly on marine science and technology. Heads of State or Government, recognizing the importance of regional and national marine and scientific and technical centres as a vital input for the development of such infrastructures, called upon all countries and competent international organizations to assist the establishment and strengthening of such centres.

XX. ANTARCTICA

122. The Heads of State or Government noted that the continent of Antarctica has considerable environmental, climatic, scientific and potential economic significance to the world. They expressed their conviction that, in the interest of all mankind, Antarctica should continue forever to be used exclusively for peaceful purposes, should not become the scene or object of international discord and should be accessible to all nations. They agreed that the exploration of the area and the exploitation of its resources shall be carried out for the benefit of all mankind, and in a manner consistent with the protection of the environment of Antarctica.

123. The Heads of State or Government, while noting that relevant provisions of the Antarctic Treaty of 1959 related to international co-operation in the area, considered that in view of increasing international interest in Antarctic, the United Nations, at the thirty-eighth session of the General Assembly, should undertake a comprehensive study on Antarctica, taking into account all relevant factors, including the Antarctic Treaty, with a view to widening international co-operation in the area.

XXI. TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS

124. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the operations of transnational corporations, particularly in the non-aligned and other developing countries.

125. They expressed grave concern with respect to transnational corporations which carry out illegal and undesirable policies and engage in corrupt practices in developing countries, and when their motivation to maximize profits leads to distortion in the economies of those countries. They condemned the activities of transnational corporations in South Africa which strengthen the oppressive machinery of the apartheid regime of that country.

126. They drew attention to the urgent need for an early conclusion of the work relating to the foundation of a Code of Conduct on Transnational Corporations and expressed the hope that the Commission on Transnational Corporations will adopt the code at its forthcoming ninth session. They agreed that all non-aligned and other developing countries should participate actively in the Special Session of the Commission scheduled to take place in March/May 1983.

127. They called upon the developed countries to participate constructively in the deliberations of the Special Session so that an effective legal instrument may be finalized to govern the activities of transnational corporations.

128. They agreed that an effective code would strengthen the negotiating capacity of the developing countries vis-a-vis the transnational corporations and stressed that the code should be formulated in accordance with the objectives and aspirations of the developing countries.

XXII. HOUSING

129. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the designation by the United Nations General Assembly of 1987 as the International Year of Shelter for the Homeless, on the initiative of Sri Lanka, and expressed appreciation of the valuable and useful work done by the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (Habitat). They endorsed the decision that the objectives of activities in this connection will be to improve the shelter and neighbourhoods of the poor and disadvantaged by the year 2000. The Heads of State or Government urged all countries and concerned international organizations to participate actively and provide full support, including financial support, for the human settlements programmes and activities planned, including the implementation of shelter demonstration projects in the countries.

XXIII. HUMAN RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

130. The development of human resources was of special significance to developing countries and was a major component of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries. In that context, the alleviation and elimination of poverty, the education and advancement of man and the achievement of full employment, particularly among young people, by the year 2000 should be regarded as the priority goals guiding the activities of the developing countries in that regard. The developed countries and competent regional and international organizations should provide the necessary assistance and support to developing countries to help them to achieve those goals. UNCTAD VI for its part should reach agreement on time-bound proposals to ascertain the adverse effects of reverse transfer of technology in developing countries, and on specific measures to monitor the evolution of harmful elements in this field.

131. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the need to implement the decisions and programmes adopted at various meetings of the developing countries concerning employment and the promotion of human resources, in particular the Tunis meeting of April 1978. They welcomed the adoption by the Second Conference of Ministers of Labour of Non-Aligned and other Developing Countries (Baghdad, December 1981) of a declaration and a plan of action, and of a three-year (1982-84) programme of technical co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in this field, and affirmed that they should be carried out as a matter of urgency according to the agreed timetable.

XXIV. ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

132. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the importance of the effective mobilization and integration of women in overall development and emphasized that the full and meaningful participation of women in social, political, economic and cultural life is an important indication of progress and development. They pointed out that the objectives, strategies and measures to improve the socio-economic condition of woman and her role in development should be an integral part of the national plans of development of the non-aligned and other developing countries and of the efforts for the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

133. Non-aligned and other developing countries played an important role in the United Nations Conference on Women held in 1980 in Copenhagen. It is important that all Members should co-operate in implementing the Programme of Action adopted by the Copenhagen Conference so that obstacles in the way of mobilizing fully the role of women in the development process and their equal participation in it are removed. The unanimous recommendation of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women asking the United Nations system to have a special component for women's development programmes in its existing budgets should receive active universal support. The United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women should be signed and ratified by all countries. The Heads of State or Government urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to participate effectively in the preparatory work for the 1985 World Conference on Women to be held in Nairobi, Kenya and closely co-ordinate their activities and positions before and during the Conference in order to achieve the common objectives.

134 The Heads of State or Government called for international support and assistance for the implementation of programmes aimed at enhancing the role of women in the development process of the developing countries. Full support was extended to the valuable activities of the International Institute for the Advancement of Women, and its importance in this field was emphasized.

XXV. DESERTIFICATION AND AID TO VICTIMS OF DROUGHT

135. The rapid encroachment of the desert in Africa and other parts of the developing world affects the development efforts of several countries and the socio-economic condition of their peoples, particularly their food production, and has serious negative implications for the future of the international community as a whole. The prevailing climatic vicissitudes experienced by several regions in the world, particularly the countries of the Sudano-Sahel region, have contributed to the critical food situation in those areas. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction in this connection the tireless efforts and programmes undertaken by the countries members of the Inter-State Committee on Drought Control in the Sahel (ICDCS) with the help of the international community. They welcomed in this context the substantial assistance recently given to the ICDCS countries in order to deal with the continuous geophysical degradation of the region and the food shortages still prevailing in those countries in the current year and the establishment of a Committee for Solidarity with the Peoples of the African Sahel by the Organization of the Islamic Conference. The Heads of State or Government urged the international community, particularly the developed countries, to intensify their efforts and to adopt urgent measures for the alleviation of the desertification problem and for the provision of increased assistance to the countries affected in the Sudano-Sahelian region and other developing countries victims of drought.

XXVI. DISASTER-PRONE COUNTRIES

136. The Heads of State or Government expressed their profound concern over the difficult situation facing those developing countries that have been afflicted with natural disasters. This is particularly so in the case of the least developed countries and other developing countries which are least equipped to face the enormous losses of such disasters. The Heads of State or Government called upon all countries, regional and international institutions to express their solidarity, implement relevant United Nations and other resolutions and provide all possible material, economic, technical, financial and humanitarian assistance to help those disaster-stricken countries to mitigate the damage suffered and implement their reconstruction and development plans.

137. The Heads of State or Government took note of the damage resulting from the earthquake which had struck some parts of the Yemen Arab Republic and of the expenditure required for the reconstruction of the areas concerned. Recalling General Assembly resolution 37/166 of 17 December 1982 in this respect, they consider it necessary to help the Yemen Arab Republic in its efforts to reconstruct the affected areas and overcome the consequences of this disaster, and appeal to States and international bodies and organizations to contribute generously to these efforts.

XXVII. SITUATION OF REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PERSONS IN AFRICA

138. The Heads of State or Government expressed their grave concern at the present influx of refugees in Africa and, cognizant of the economic and social burden imposed on African countries of asylum and the fact that the results of the first International Conference on Assistance to Refugees in Africa (ICARA I) in terms of financial and material assistance have failed short of the expectations of the African countries, reaffirmed their support of United Nations General Assembly resolution No.37/197 adopted at the thirty-seventh session, to convene in 1984 another International Conference on Assistance to Refugees in Africa (ICARA II). They expressed their confidence that Members of the Non-Aligned Movement would participate effectively in that conference and contribute substantially to the programme designed to help those refugees.

139. They urged the international community, all States, the United Nations specialized agencies, and regional and intergovernmental organizations to provide the utmost support for the Conference with a view to offering maximum financial and material assistance to refugees in Africa and to providing the necessary assistance to the countries of asylum to enable them to strengthen their capacity to provide the necessary facilities and services essential to the care and well-being of the refugees and to assist the countries of origin in the rehabilitation of genuine voluntary returnees.

140. The Heads of State or Government were also deeply concerned at the magnitude and plight of displaced persons in Africa and urged the international community, all Member States of the United Nations as well as those of the Non-Aligned Movement, and United Nations organs and organizations to provide the utmost assistance to those countries which have such problems.

XXVIII. ENVIRONMENT

141. The decade since the 1972 Stockholm Conference on the Human Environment has witnessed a marked deterioration in the quality of the environment on this planet. In the absence of timely remedial measures, there is a distinct possibility of exponential worsening and irreversible destruction of the global environment. There is a great need for ecologically balanced development planning, the pooling of information on resource-conserving technologies, action to maintain critical biological diversity, and the generation of full awareness of the vital importance of ecological and environmental problems. The commendable efforts exerted by UNEP were recognized. The existing framework for international co-operation in these areas should be strengthened. Conservation of the non-renewable resources of the planet and avoidance of wasteful life styles and of profligate use of global resources by a few privileged developed countries which consume a disproportionately large share of material resources are indispensable for environmental protection. This is an area in which the entire international community must work together in a spirit of constructive co-operation for the well-being of all humanity.

142. The Conference affirms its support for United Nations General Assembly resolution 37/215 of 20 December 1982 concerning the problem of remnants of war and appeals to all States responsible for such remnants to co-operate with the Secretary-General of the United Nations in order to enable him to prepare the study requested in paragraph 4 of resolution 37/215, and to support the just demand of the States affected by the presence of remnants of war, particularly mines, on their lands.

XXIX.PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY

143. It is the inalienable right of all States to develop their programmes for the peaceful uses of nuclear energy for the economic and social development of their peoples and in conformity with their developmental needs. International co-operation has a crucial role in this field. The policies of certain nuclear-supplier countries aimed at denying the legitimate requirements of developing countries for their own programmes for peaceful uses of nuclear energy deserve condemnation from the entire international community.

144. The Heads of State or Government expressed their concern that the preparatory work required before holding the United Nations Conference for the Promotion of International Co-operation in the Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy, as envisaged in United Nations General Assembly Resolution 32/50, continued to be obstructed. International co-operation in this field would be to the advantage of both developed and developing countries. They urged that serious, detailed and in-depth preparatory work must be done before the Conference is held. All non-aligned and other developing countries should take an active part in the preparatory work with a view to obtaining positive results, including those relating to unhindered access to technology, equipment, material and services required for the development of the peaceful uses of nuclear energy on an equitable and non-discriminatory basis.

XXX. PEACEFUL USES OF OUTER SPACE

145. The Heads of State or Government stressed that outer space should be used only for peaceful purposes. They expressed grave concern about the intensified militarization of outer space and called for the undertaking of urgent measures for the termination of the arms race in outer space. They noted that noteworthy developments have taken place in space science, space technology and their applications. The effective and peaceful use of these developments is likely to yield great benefits for mankind. The distribution of benefits from space amongst countries of the world has been uneven. The principle of guaranteed and equitable access should be the essence of any new regulatory mechanism and should take into account the particular needs of the developing countries including those of equatorial countries. Co-operation amongst the non-aligned and other developing countries could change the present state of affairs and the Heads of State or Government are determined to forge such co-operation. The developed countries for their part must also extend their full co-operation with a view to ensuring that the benefits resulting from the peaceful uses of outer space are shared evenly for the benefit of mankind as a whole.

XXXI.TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS DECADE IN AFRICA

146. The Heads of State or Government expressed their disappointment at the level of financial and technical assistance mobilized so far by the international community for the realization of the programmes of the Transport and Communications Decade in Africa. While taking note of the efforts already made, they again called on the international community, and in particular the developed countries, to make a more significant contribution to the rapid implementation of the objectives of the Decade.

XXXII.LEAST DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

147. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the adoption of the Substantial New Programme of Action (SNPA) for the 1980s for the Least Developed Countries at the United Nations Conference held in Paris in September 1981, and emphasized the need for special measures and large-scale and continued support of the international community for the development of the least developed countries in view of their desperate socio-economic plight and the most formidable structural problems. They expressed their serious disappointment, however, at the slow pace of implementation of the SNPA and stressed the urgent need for its full and timely implementation and called upon the donor countries, and on multilateral and financial and technical assistance institutions to take immediate concrete and adequate steps to implement the programme to promote a self-sustained process of socio-economic development of the least developed countries in line with the relevant resolutions of the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh sessions of the United Nations General Assembly. They called for a major increase in the transfer of resources to these countries taking into account the need for improvement in aid modalities, practices and composition and their responsiveness to the requirements of these countries. They also were of the view that UNCTAD VI should give urgent and appropriate consideration to the question of implementation of the Substantial New Programme of action.

XXXIII.LAND-LOCKED COUNTRIES

148. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern the grave situation of the land-locked developing countries, especially as this relates to transport, communications, and infrastructural facilities, and recommended that the appropriate decisions of the Non-Aligned Movement, as adopted, in favour of these countries be implemented urgently in order to ensure their right of free access to and from the sea and freedom of transit as provided for in Article 125 of the Law of the Sea Convention and to provide for necessary international assistance to meet their special needs. They recognized that any programme or action in respect of such transit facilities should be undertaken in consultation with, and with the approval of, the transit country concerned.

149. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at the extremely meagre resources available to the United Nations Special Fund for Land-Locked Developing Countries and urged the international community, in particular the developed countries, to contribute generously to the fund.

XXXIV. ISLAND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

150. The Heads of State or Government expressed the opinion that the island developing countries, especially the smallest ones, required the urgent attention of the international community, due to their particular problems and special needs. They identified the following factors as those particularly affecting these countries:-

limited population, markets and financial resources;

heavy dependency on mono-crop and mono-enterprise economies;

rudimentary institutional development conditioned by small size;

geographic remoteness and its economic consequences;

extremely high per capita costs incumbent on the provision of economic and social infrastructure for small habitable islets over vast expanses of water; extreme nature of economic openness;

inability to tap capital markets, and inappropriate concepts of conditionality and performance criteria used by multilateral financial institutions for use of resources in such countries in programmes of financial stabilization and structural adjustment.

151. The Heads of State or Government urged the international community to implement fully the specific measures of assistance in favour of island developing countries in accordance with the various United Nations General Assembly and UNCTAD resolutions. They called on the international community, international financial and credit institutions and bilateral donors to review the criteria used in assessing and granting economic and technical assistance to island developing countries with a view to ensuring that these criteria relate to the specific needs and problems of island developing countries.

152. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for the competent organs of the United Nations system, in particular UNDP, UNIDO, IMF and IBRD to enhance their capacity to respond positively to the specific needs of island developing countries at the national, regional and interregional levels.

153. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the initiative by Grenada to convene the Conference on Small Island States in September 1983; its specific objectives include the setting of the stage for in-depth studies of the problems of small island developing countries, the elaboration of definitive proposals for a regime of special international measures to alleviate the desperate economic plight of small island developing countries, and the setting up of an Emergency Relief Fund. They urged international organizations concerned to give the fullest support to this Conference and its follow-up activities.

XXXV. MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED COUNTRIES

154. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the relevant paragraph of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade pertaining to the most seriously affected countries calling for concrete measures in favour of these countries to be considered by the international community. They urged that the international community proceed to take the necessary decisions as envisaged in the International Development Strategy and implement them at an early date.

XXXVI. ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

A. Overview

155. Economic co-operation among developing countries is an important means for building up their collective self-reliance and for increasing their countervailing power in negotiations with the developed countries. The development of their collective self-reliance would contribute immeasurably to their own economic and political stability and is a key element in the establishment of the New International Economic Order. Co-operation among developing countries is also an important instrument for the restructuring of international economic relations. Economic co-operation among developing countries could be a valuable instrument for promoting the rational and efficient use of human, material, financial and technological resources available in developing countries for their individual and collective welfare.

156. Over the years, co-operation among developing countries has acquired considerable momentum. Bilateral, sub-regional and regional co-operation among developing countries have been considerably strengthened. Economic co-operation among developing countries has been at the forefront of the preoccupations of the Non-Aligned Movement since its First Summit. Since the Havana Summit, ECDC activities have been further intensified, the concept of ECDC being increasingly elaborated and its contents enriched. A series of consultations and meetings has taken place among the developing countries to translate these ideas into action. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the adoption of the Caracas Programme of Action in May 1981.

157. Together, developing countries command vast markets. They produce practically all commodities and have a large reservoir of human resources, technical skills, manufacturing capacities and financial resources. The vast potentialities of ECDC should be fully explored, and realistic and expeditious action should be taken on proposals and schemes which are under consideration within the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the Group of 77.

158. In the present situation, in which the developed countries are not displaying adequate political will for undertaking an effective and meaningful programme of international economic co-operation, the need to accelerate the pace of ECDC is even greater. This would reduce the vulnerability of the non-aligned and other developing countries to economic and other pressures from developed countries. The Action Programme for Economic Co-operation and the Caracas Programme should now be implemented expeditiously. The Heads of State or Government commended a pragmatic and realistic approach, with emphasis on those programmes and priorities which would result in benefits from mutual co-operation in a relatively short period and reduce the vulnerability of developing countries to the current economic crisis. They also urged that all efforts should be made and joint time-bound action taken to implement the programmes and ensure a comprehensive, coherent and integrated approach, bearing in mind the close interlinkages that exist between different sectors of activity.

159. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries does not consider co-operation among developing countries as a substitute for co-operation between developed and developing countries and co-operation among them is not directed against any country or group of countries. The developed countries have consistently professed their support for strengthening and enhancing the effectiveness of co-operation among developing countries. This support was expressed in the Consensus Resolution adopted by the Seventh Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly on Development and International Economic Co-operation. At the Cancun Summit, co-operation among developing countries was seen as an element of growing significance in international economic relations. The Heads of State or Government hoped that developed countries would take, at the level of implementation, an enlightened view of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries. They therefore called on developed countries and on international organizations to support and assist the promoting of such co-operation in the interests of all-round stability and progress.

B. Action Programmes for co-operation among developing countries

(i) Action Programme for Economic Co-operation (Non-aligned)

160. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the implementation of the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation of non-aligned countries. They took note of the report of the fourth meeting of the Co-ordinating Countries held in Havana in March 1982 and noted with satisfaction the efforts made towards promoting economic co-operation among developing countries. They adopted guidelines for future action.* They recommended that a meeting of experts of the Co-ordinating Countries in all areas of the Action Programme should be held before 1985.

161. The Heads of State or Government recalled the decision by the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Havana, 31 May to 4 June 1982, concerning the proposal by the President of the Democratic Republic of Madagascar. They accordingly requested the Co-ordinating Countries in the monetary and financial fields to formulate recommendations in this regard and present a detailed report for the consideration of the next Conference of Foreign Ministers, having in mind the need to strengthen and consolidate the existing financial institutions among the non-aligned countries.

162. The Heads of State or Government welcomed and endorsed the proposal made by His Excellency Mr. Yasser Arafat, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Palestine Liberation Organization that, in the light of the fact that a number of non-aligned funds have been set up and new ones proposed, the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York should examine the functioning of the existing funds and the new proposals in order to rationalize the functioning of these funds and to make them more effective and to submit recommendations to the Ministerial Conference in 1985.

163. The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation the successful continuation of work and expanded activities of the International Centre for Public Enterprises (ICPE) in Ljubljana (Yugoslavia) of the non-aligned and other developing countries. They regarded its work as an important contribution to the promotion of technical and economic co-operation activities among developing countries in the area of public enterprise operations and invited those countries which are not yet members to become members of the Centre and actively participate in its joint programme activities in order to enable it to function even more successfully.

164. The institutional infrastructure for future co-operation among developing countries is of the utmost importance and the Heads of State or Government recommended early completion of the following major projects:

(a) Setting up of the Centre for Information on Transnational Corporations in Havana;

(b) Setting up of the Centre for Science and Technology in New Delhi;

(c) Putting into operation the Non-Aligned Solidarity Fund for economic and social development;

(d) Establishment of a Project Development Facility;

(e) Constitution of the Council of Producers' Associations.

165. The Heads of State or Government were of the view that the co-ordinating countries in various spheres of co-operation in the Action Programme should identify, through the process of examination by and consultations among their experts at high level - scientists, economists and planners - possible areas of projectization through a matrix approach based on need, potential and resources that are available in developing countries. In the first instance, priority should be given to preparing multilateral ECDC programmes for augmenting food production in developing countries and for the processing in developing countries of indigenous raw materials produced by them.

(ii) Caracas Programme of Action (Group of 77)

166. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that the Ministers of the Group of 77 had endorsed in their meetings of October 1982 the "Manila Follow-up Action" for ECDC and recognized the need for sustained and vigorous effort to implement ECDC programmes. In this connection, they emphasized the importance of subregional, regional and interregional co-operation among developing countries and accordingly called upon non-aligned and other developing countries further to promote and intensify it. They endorsed in this regard the decision taken by the Sixth Annual Meeting of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Group of 77, held in October 1982, to carry out an in-depth review of the subject every two years at Ministerial level. They further welcomed the decision contained in the Caracas Programme of Action to the effect that such meetings should concentrate on a thorough review and appraisal of activities within the ECDC programme and provide for the necessary guidance with respect to policy issues and operational matters and for the further strengthening of ECDC.

167. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the Declaration adopted by the Sixth Annual Meeting of the Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Group of 77 in October 1982 on the launching of negotiations on a Global System of Trade Preferences among Developing Countries and called for their successful and speedy conclusion in accordance with the principles, rules and time-table laid down in the afore-mentioned Declaration.

168. Further progress in ECDC would be promoted by undertaking the technical preparation and execution of joint projects and by providing requisite financing arrangements for the implementation of multilateral ECDC projects. The Heads of State or Government:

(i) Considered that non-aligned and other developing countries should expedite consideration of the proposal on the "Project Development Mechanism for Techno-economic Co-operation" with a view to its finalization by the Group of 77;

(ii) Took note with particular interest of the fact that the Group of 77 had undertaken a study on the feasibility of a "bank for developing countries" and stressed the importance of financial co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and the need to strengthen existing financial institutions of non-aligned and other developing countries.

169. The Heads of State or Government called for full support of the Group of 77 and of its role in ECDC activities. In this connection, they welcomed the fact that an ECDC account of the Group of 77 in New York was now operational to finance the nucleus of activities of the Group of 77 in New York. They considered this to be a valuable precedent.

C. Harmonization and co-ordination of Action Programmes

170. The Heads of State or Government:

(a) Welcomed the efforts made by the Chairmen of the Non-Aligned Movement and of the Group of 77 in New York to consider ways and means of harmonizing and co-ordinating the Non-Aligned Action Programme and the Caracas Programme of Action in compliance with the mandate they received from the Ministerial Meetings of the two Groups in October 1982 and took note with interest of their recommendations thereon;*

(b) Reiterated their conviction that the Action Programme of the non-aligned countries and the Caracas Programme of Action of the Group of 77 should be harmonized and co-ordinated so that they reinforce one another;

(c) Decided that the efforts towards harmonization and co-ordination of the two Programmes of Action should be pursued by the Co-ordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Movement with the assistance of the co-ordinators in different spheres of co-operation to the extent possible and by the Group of 77 in New York, with a view to ensuring that the two Programmes are implemented in such a way as to take full advantage of the operational instruments available to the Non-Aligned Movement and the Group of 77, keeping in mind the need for avoiding duplication, the objectives mentioned in subparagraph (b) above and the catalytic and pivotal role of the Non-Aligned Movement. A joint report of the Chairmen of the Non-Aligned Movement and the Group of 77 should be presented on this matter to the Fifth Meeting of the Co-ordinating Countries of the Non-Aligned Movement to be held before 1985, taking into account the recommendations mentioned in (a) above;

(d) Decided that the Fifth Meeting of the Co-ordinating Countries of the Non-Aligned Action Programme should consider the recommendations as mentioned in (a) above in the light of paragraph (c) above and should submit its report to the subsequent Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Non-Aligned Movement for decisions.

D. Future directions

171. The Heads of State or Government were of the view that co-operation among developing countries should be seen as the expression of the political will of these countries to achieve economic liberation and to promote their self-reliance. This implies an active involvement of all segments of the population in the non-aligned and other developing countries. They understood the need to generate a proper awareness and understanding of the close interrelationship between co-operation, development, disarmament and peace. They resolved to do their utmost to arrest and minimize the opposite and contradictory trends in these areas and to endeavour to secure optimal results for development through interrelated and integrated measures in all these areas.

172. The Heads of State or Government attached the highest importance to the need for building up a self-reliant pattern of economic relations among developing countries based on the needs, the potential and the resources of these countries.

173. Subregional, regional and interregional co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries should be promoted as an essential element in the restructuring of international economic relations. Resolution 7 on Policy Guidelines on the Reinforcement of Collective Self-Reliance among Developing Countries adopted at the Sixth Summit at Havana provides the guidelines according to which such co-operation should be directed. At their Seventh Summit the Heads of State or Government adopted the Declaration on Collective Self-Reliance among Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries.*

174. The Heads of State or Government took note with appreciation of the proposal made at the Seventh Summit to establish a panel of eminent persons from non-aligned countries renowned for their knowledge in economic, scientific, social and cultural fields to be set up to undertake a study on the promotion of the development of non-aligned countries through the strengthening of co-operation among themselves. They decided that the Research and Information System of the Non-Aligned Movement should submit a detailed report on this proposal, including practical measures of implementation to the forthcoming Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Countries which will in turn submit its recommendations on this proposal to the subsequent Conference of Foreign Ministers of the Non-Aligned Movement for decision and action.

175. The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation that the New Delhi Consultations held in February 1982 had made a positive and constructive contribution to the strengthening of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries.

176. Non-aligned and other developing countries should give special attention to the least developed countries so that they could increasingly participate and benefit from the programme of economic co-operation among developing countries in all fields of co-operation, bearing in mind the Substantial New Programme of Action (SNPA) as adopted at the United Nations Conference on Least Developed Countries held in September 1981.

177. The Heads of State or Government welcomed with appreciation the offer of the Government of Yugoslavia to make Brioni Island, where a great number of outstanding statesmen of the Non-Aligned Movement used to meet, a place of continuous fostering of non-aligned ideas and aims among politicians scholars and other figures of public life. It invited the Co-ordinating Bureau to consider, as required, appropriate modalities for the utilization of this opportunity.

178. With respect to the proposal submitted by several members of the Non-Aligned Movement to hold a Summit Meeting of non-aligned and other developing countries on co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries the Conference endorsed the recommendations of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of Non-Aligned Countries held in Havana in May/June 1982 requesting the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York to examine the proposal in depth to enable eventual consideration by the Heads of State or Government.

XXXVII. CONCLUSION

179. Co-ordination at national levels on all aspects of co-operation between developing countries should be strengthened. Continued and concerted efforts on the issue identified and along the lines of the suggestions made above are necessary for meeting the challenges before the developing countries. The Heads of State or Government decided to consult one another informally from time to time with a view to intensifying further the magnitude and momentum of this co-operation. They invited other developing countries to join them in this task.

180. The Heads of State or Government decided to transmit the relevant decisions and documents of their Seventh Summit Conference to the Group of 77 for appropriate follow-up action.

Declaration on Collective Action for Global Prosperity

DECLARATION ON COLLECTIVE ACTION FOR GLOBAL PROSPERITY

The growing interdependence of nations and the close inter-relationship of world economic problems are the distinguishing feature of international reality today. Disregard for them in practice has drawn the international community at large into a crisis threatening to assume unmanageable proportions and to become irreversible.

The world economy today is engulfed in a deepening crisis which of late has displayed all the symptoms of a slide into a protracted world-wide depression. The present crisis is truly global in character, threatening the stability and growth of both developed and developing countries. As the crisis deepens further, the danger of political instability and social tensions grows proportionally.

In developed economies, production is stagnant or declining. Unemployment has reached the highest level since the Great Depression. This has led to a further intensification of protectionism and an imminent threat of trade wars between major trading partners. For the first time in the post-war years, world trade turnover is stagnating.

The crisis has had a particularly severe impact on the non-aligned and other developing countries. There has been a decline in per capita GDP of many developing countries and commodity prices in real terms have reached the lowest level in the last 50 years. Access to developed countries' markets for their manufactured products is being increasingly curtailed. The earnings of developing countries have shown an ominous decline while interest rates of foreign loans have dramatically increased. Medium and long-term lending to developing countries has fallen. Their balance-of-payments deficits and their debt burden have reached crushing levels. Almost all of them have had to curtail vital development activities and many of them are on the brink of economic collapse.

The net foreign exchange loss suffered by developing countries during the period since 1980 is estimated at about $US 200 billion. This massive decline in foreign exchange availability translates itself into a corresponding decline in import capacity of developing countries, thereby reducing the exports of developed countries and threatening a major and cumulative contraction in world economic activity. This alarming process has already begun.

Hence, while in the developed countries the effects of the crisis are serious in themselves, the situation in the developing countries, where close to a billion people live in absolute poverty, is infinitely worse. For many of these countries, therefore, in particular the least developed among them, the prime concern is mere survival rather than increased well-being.

The present economic crisis has dramatically demonstrated the inadequacy of the existing international economic system to deal with the problem of development. This has created a grave crisis in multilateral economic co-operation.

Prosperity like peace on which it hinges is indivisible. The threat mankind faces today makes it necessary therefore to launch a concerted, resolute and sustained effort by the entire international community aimed at world economic recovery and accelerated growth on a sustained basis in developing countries; in brief, the ushering-in of an era of prosperity for all.

Indeed, the greatest challenge to statesmanship and the most critical test of mankind's sagacity and wisdom today is to take advantage of the phenomenon of interdependence and the growing perception of mutual interest; and thereby to turn the current global crisis into an opportunity to transform the structure of international economic relations and institutions and establish the New International Economic Order on the basis of equality and justice.

World economic recovery and growth on a lasting basis, and particularly the accelerated development of developing countries, will require determined efforts by the entire international community. In the face of the global nature of the challenge confronting mankind, an equally global response is called for. The approach of Global Negotiations remains the most appropriate instrument for dealing with current economic problems in a comprehensive and effective manner. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, therefore, decided to make every effort to overcome the remaining hurdles to the launching of Global Negotiations with a view to commencing these negotiations without further delay.

In the meantime, the solution of the immediate problems of the developing countries brooks no delay. The Heads of State or Government, therefore, adopted a Programme of Immediate Measures in favour of developing countries and called for the effective implementation of this Programme by the international community as a whole. Some of these measures will require to be taken on an emergency basis. These immediate measures should be pursued by the international community at the forthcoming and planned conferences within the United Nations system, including UNCTAD VI, and through their continuing machineries.

It is against this background that the Heads of State or Government are issuing this Declaration on Collective Action for Global Prosperity. The New Delhi Declaration contains their proposals for giving a political impetus to launching Global Negotiations and implementing their Programme of Immediate Measures.

It is their expectation that this reasoned statement of their case for recovery and for the restructuring of the world economy would encourage the developed countries to join with them in a genuine dialogue in the mutual interest.

Declaration on Collective Self-Reliance among Non-Aligned and Other Developing countries

DECLARATION ON COLLECTIVE SELF-RELIANCE AMONG NON-ALIGNED AND OTHER DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

We, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, having met at the Seventh Non-Aligned Summit at New Delhi India, Recognising that strengthening of economic co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries has been at the forefront of the concerns of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries since its inception and reaffirming in that context Resolution No.7 of the Sixth Non-Aligned Summit at Havana on Policy Guidelines on the Reinforcement of Collective Self-reliance between developing countries,

Conscious of the imperative need to promote self-reliant development of our economies and the rapid social and economic transformation of our societies in order to ensure genuine independence and to provide each individual with the opportunity to live in dignity and to realize his full potential,

Determined to strengthen our economic independence and sustain a process of growth and development generated and centred in our own countries as an integral part of our efforts to achieve the goal of economic, social and cultural decolonization and to reduce the vulnerability of our economies to effects of adverse international economic trends and to outside pressures,

Renewing our commitment to the solidarity of the non-aligned and other developing countries which makes it possible to harmonize the diversity of interests and achieve unified positions,

Convinced of the role that collective self-reliance can play in attaining these objectives,

Recognizing that all non-aligned and other developing countries have an effective contribution to make to the promotion of collective self-reliance through resources, capital, skills, technologies and market opportunities.

Convinced that collective self-reliance is an integral part of our efforts to restructure international economic relations with a view to establishing the New International Economic Order,

Reaffirming that collective self-reliance will enhance the negotiating strength and the countervailing power of the developing countries,

Emphasizing that collective self-reliance is not a substitute for co-operation between developed and developing countries nor does it in any way relieve the developed countries of their responsibilities and commitments in support of the development efforts of developing countries on the basis of equity and mutual interest,

Hereby pledge to:

1. Impart fresh impetus to collective self-reliance based on the principles of equality, justice, mutual benefit and full respect for each other's independence and sovereignty;

2. Mobilize all necessary resources and deploy the requisite means in support of subregional, regional and interregional co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries, and to this end:

(i) rely increasingly on our own resources, skills and technologies and strategies of development based on our own socio-economic realities and factor endowments,

(ii) assist each other in building and strengthening indigenous capacities, infrastructures and skills in vital economic sectors as well as in the social and cultural spheres,

(iii) strengthen existing arrangements and devise new arrangements to accord favourable and where possible preferential treatment to each other, in conformity with national legislation and policies in trade, technology, supply of commodities and raw materials including energy as well as investments,

(iv) undertake programmes of co-operation on a wide basis to provide opportunities for the participants to derive mutual benefits in various spheres of economic activity,

(v) undertake the formulation of programmes and projects, including joint ventures, for collective self-reliance within the context of national development plans,

(vi) strengthen and more fully exploit the potentialities of the existing institutional framework and, where necessary, provide financial and technical support and effective mechanisms to give such programmes and projects a concrete shape,

(vii) ensure the effective implementation of programmes of economic co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries, and to accord priority to the harmonization of these programmes in our national policies and programmes,

(viii) collectively express our solidarity and political support to all non-aligned and other developing countries or groups of such countries in the exercise of their sovereign rights over their natural resources including their exploitation, processing, pricing and marketing, and further reaffirm our solidarity to one another in the face of external pressures.

ACTION PROGRAMME FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

INTRODUCTION

The first economic Action Programme of the non-aligned countries was adopted at the Cairo Summit Conference and developed at the Summit Conferences in Lusaka, Algiers, Colombo and Havana. Over the years the Action Programme has been considerably widened and strengthened to cover the activities of the non-aligned and other developing countries* in twenty-three diverse spheres. Forty-six meetings covering different spheres of co-operation were held since the Sixth Summit Conference, and these and earlier meetings have made it possible to identify viable areas and determine priorities for co-operation.

Important progress has thus been achieved in economic co-operation among developing countries both at the bilateral and multilateral level in spite of the traditional and predominantly exogenous obstacles lying on this path.

It was noted with appreciation that several countries, members of the Non-Aligned Movement had made substantial financial contributions to the reinforcement of ECDC in particular in the course of the last decade. They were at present facing an entirely different situation from that which prevailed in the seventies due to adverse factors including the sharp drop in their export income resulting from unfavourable international market conditions. Other non-aligned countries had also contributed in various ways in support of ECDC and these countries too had been adversely affected by the current crisis. Nevertheless, in this period of crisis, a sense of solidarity was manifested by the non-aligned countries which found expression in the present Action Programme.

The development of collective self-reliance which is the purpose of this Programme will help non-aligned and other developing countries to overcome the present crisis and thus open up new avenues of co-operation as the international economic environment improves.

As envisaged by the Sixth Summit in 1979, the fourth meeting of the co-ordinating countries of the Action Programme was held in Havana in March 1982. The recommendations of that meeting were approved by the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau, also held in Havana in May 1982. In accordance with the recommendations made in these meetings, activities under the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation of the non-aligned countries and the Caracas Programme of Action of the Group of 77* should be harmonized and co-ordinated so that they reinforce one another. Furthermore, all programmes for economic co-operation should, as recommended, be implemented on a time-bound basis, especially those in which the benefits for mutual co-operation can be realized in a relatively short period. The importance of financial co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and the need to strengthen the existing financial institutions of non-aligned and other developing countries should also be stressed.

* Throughout this document, in the phrase "non-aligned and other developing countries", the expression "other developing countries" refers to States members of the Group of 77.

The activities in different spheres covered by the Action Programme were reviewed in the light of the above. Guidelines for future action in individual spheres are given below, followed by the list of co-ordinating countries.

A. RAW MATERIALS

The Conference,

(a) emphasized that co-operation among producers of raw materials was extremely important if the problems in the commodity sector were to be tackled effectively. In this regard, the importance of producers' associations, the strengthening of these associations and the establishment of new ones was reiterated;

(b) urged that policy measures should be taken for early bringing into force of the statutes of the Council of Producers' Associations;

(c) recommended that the non-aligned and other developing countries should intensify their consultations and co-ordination within the framework of the Integrated Programme for Commodities;

(d) endorsed the decision of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Movement held in Havana (31 May - 5 June 1982) that the headquarters of the Common Fund for Commodities should be located in a developing country, and welcomed with appreciation the offer of the Philippines to provide the permonent headquarters of the Common Fund;

(e) welcomed the positive initiative taken by the OPEC countries to provide grants to the least developed countries so as to enable them to finance their share of the directly contributed capital of the Common Fund;

(f) called upon developing countries who have not yet done so to ratify the agreement on the establishment of the Common Fund as soon as possible and preferably before UNCTAD VI;

(g) endorsed the recommendations of the Caracas Programme of Action regarding priority of raw materials supplies to developing countries.

(h) directed that the Co-ordinating Countries call a meeting of the high-level experts mentioned in paragraph 113 of Section XXXII relating to co-operation among developing countries in the Economic Declaration of the present Summit.

(i) urged the developing countries to become parties to international commodity agreements.

B. TRADE, TRANSPORT AND INDUSTRY

The Conference

(a) welcomed the analytic and pivotal role played by the non-aligned Action Programme in the sectors of trade, transport and industry and particularly the efforts made by the APEC/TTI;

(b) noted that Phase I of the APEC/TTI has now been completed and that further substantive work under the project would be dependent upon the mobilization of resources;

(c) recommended that non-aligned and other developing countries support efforts towards the speedy realization of the programmes of the Transport and Communications Decade in Africa;

(d) emphasized the importance of exchange of information in the promotion of trade among developing countries and invited non-aligned and other developing countries to compile information available in the subregional, regional and interregional institutions;

(e) noted the work done in the Caribbean subregion under the CARICOM/ITC programme on trade information and invited other regions and subregions to consider similar forms of compilation of trade information;

(f) welcomed the Ministerial Declarations of the Group of 77 of October 1982 launching the negotiations aimed at establishing a GSTP among developing countries, stressed the necessity for non-aligned and other developing countries to participate actively in these negotiations to ensure their successful and early completion and urged that UNCTAD and the United Nations Regional Economic Commissions should extend the necessary administrative and technical support for the conduct and implementation of these negotiations;

(g) took note of the progress made in the pharmaceutical project under APEC/TTI and recommended that further steps be taken to ensure its implementation;

(h) welcomed the results of the Symposium on State Trading Organizations (STOs) held in Ljubljana, recommended preparation of the draft statutes of the Association of STOs and stressed that co-ordinating countries should monitor the progress made in this sector.

C. MONETARY AND FINANCIAL CO-OPERATION

The Conference

(a) endorsed the views expressed at the fourth meeting of co-ordinating countries of the Action Programme held in Havana in March 1982 that the Caracas Programme provided a good opportunity to co-ordinate the efforts made by the non-aligned and other developing countries to implement programmes in the sphere of monetary and financial co-operation;

(b) recommended that the non-aligned countries, while support. relevant provisions of the Caracas Programme, should make their contribution to co-operation in this sector by elaborating and indicating those questions in which the non-aligned countries are especially interested, by pointing out the priorities in their implementation, by identifying the problems slowing down their realization, and by taking new initiatives. To this end, they urged the convening of meetings of co-ordinators and other meetings as required by the programme of work;

(c) took note with particular interest of the fact that the Group of 77 had undertaken a study on the feasibility of a "bank for developing countries" and stressed the importance of financial co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and the need to strengthen existing financial institutions of non-aligned and other developing countries;

(d) emphasized the importance of the improvement of the conditions prevailing among developing countries to ensure greater awareness of the investment opportunities and to study ways and means of promoting investment flows between them by maintaining a favourable economic environment in conformity with their national legislations, policies and economic systems. It welcomed the proposed studies in this regard to be undertaken by a technical group of experts under the Caracas Programme of Action;

(e) emphasized the need for full implementation of the decisions of the Fifth and Sixth Summit Conferences, and in particular the need to organize a meeting of representatives of central banks and finance ministries in order to promote financial co-operation among the non-aligned and other developing countries.

D. INSURANCE *

The Conference stressed the importance of the co-operative activities of developing countries in the field of insurance and reinsurance. It

* It was recommended that co-ordinating countries for the spheres of Monetary and Financial Co-operation and Insurance should arrange meetings in consultation with each other.

noted the initiative of Algeria and Cuba to act as co-ordinators in this sphere, and invited other interested countries to join the group of co-ordinators. It suggested that the first meeting of co-ordinators should be held at an early date to elaborate concrete programmes of co-operation in this sector, including the establishment of insurance and reinsurance arrangements among non-aligned and other developing countries for the purpose of preserving foreign exchange, widening the pool of national insurance markets, reducing their dependency on transnational corporations and strengthening their bargaining capacity vis-a-vis the insurance markets of developed countries.

E. SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) expressed its satisfaction at progress made in carrying out the recommendations of the earlier Summit Conferences in the field of science and technology;

(b) decided that the non-aligned centre for science and technology to which reference was made at the Sixth Summit Conference would henceforth be referred to as the Centre for Science and Technology of the Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries;

(c) took note of the progress made in the preparation of the draft Statute of the Centre as presented in the Report of the Chairman of the Non-Aligned Movement to the Senior Officials Meeting of the Non-Aligned Movement in New Delhi on 1 March 1983 and decided that the non-aligned countries should examine and study the draft Statute as contained in the Report and convey their comments to the Chairman of the Non-Aligned Movement in New York as early as possible, and that thereafter a meeting of the non-aligned countries should be called in New York to consider the matter;

(d) expressed its appreciation of the efforts made by the Government of India regarding the establishment of the Centre;

(e) welcomed the specific and detailed recommendations made by the meeting of the heads of science and technology agencies and endorsed by the Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 in October 1982;

(f) recommended that the activities envisaged under the Caracas Programme of Action take into account, wherever possible, the progress already made in the Action Programme and utilize the instrumentality of the Centre for Science and Technology of the Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries;

(g) called upon non-aligned and other developing countries to continue their efforts in the context of the United Nations Conference on the Adoption of a Code of Conduct for the Transfer of Technology to enable the Conference to conclude expeditiously an effective and Universal Code of Conduct for the Transfer of Technology;

(h) urged the effective participation of non-aligned and other developing countries to secure the early operationalization of the Financing System for Science and Technology for Development in the United Nations system and, in addition to the essential contributions to be made by the developed countries, invited the non-aligned and other developing countries to contribute equitably to the core resources of the financing system;

(i) called upon non-aligned and other developing countries to take inter alia the following specific action to strengthen co-operation in the field of science and technology:

(1) to ensure the participation of scientists and technologists in all international conferences in this field hosted by non-aligned and other developing countries,

(2) to support exchange visits of scientists and technologists from non-aligned and other developing countries,

(3) to give priority to employment of scientists and technologists from non-aligned and other developing countries in their local institutions.

F. TECHNICAL CO-OPERATION AND CONSULTANCY SERVICES

The Conference

(a) called upon all non-aligned and other developing countries to expedite consideration of the proposal on the "Project Development Mechanism for Techno-Economic Co-operation" with a view to its finalization by the Group of 77;

(b) called upon non-aligned countries to take an active part with regard to TCDC activities undertaken within the framework of the Caracas Programme of Action.

G. FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

The Conference

(a) took note of the recommendations of the first meeting of co-ordinating countries on food and agriculture held in Belgrade in July 1980, and the second meeting of co-ordinating countries on food and agriculture held in Pyongyang in June 1981, of those contained in the Pyongyang Declaration adopted at the Symposium of the Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries on Increasing Food and Agricultural Production held in Pyongyang in August 1981 as well as of those of the Co-ordinating Group of Experts on Agriculture held in New Delhi in February 1983;

(b) decided that the non-aligned countries should continue consultations and examination of the proposals concerning food security issues and the details of different schemes in this regard through existing non-aligned mechanisms, the Group of 77 and other appropriate subregional, regional and interregional mechanisms of developing countries, with the objective of establishing a food security system of non-aligned and other developing countries. As a viable system of food security for developing countries can be greatly facilitated through adequate augmentation of food production in these countries, the Conference recommended that the report of the meeting of the Co-ordinating Group of Experts, held in New Delhi in February 1983 to elaborate a matrix based on need, potential, technology and capital for working out specific programmes of co-operation in this sector, be studied in national capitals for appropriate follow-up action;

(c) noted the low level of trade in food products among non-aligned and other developing countries, recognized its largely untapped potential as a means of reinforcing their collective self-sufficiency in food and decided to convene a meeting of experts to examine ways and means to make full use of this potential;

(d) recommended implementation of measures aimed at collective self-reliance in the field of food and agriculture, particularly mutual co-operation in irrigation projects, establishment of joint agricultural production and trade projects, dissemination of information, field visits and exchange and training of experts;

(e) decided that a meeting of experts in irrigation should be convened urgently in order to promote technical co-operation in the design, construction and management of large, medium and small-scale projects as well as to consider the possibilities of establishing joint ventures for the production of a complete range of irrigation equipment. In this regard it welcomed the effort of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to host this meeting in June 1984;

(f) stressed the importance of the intensive exchange of experience gained by the non-aligned and other developing countries in the food and agricultural sector and, in that context, endorsed the other recommendations contained in the report of the fourth meeting of co-ordinators of the Action Programme, held in Havana in March 1982, including areas of co-operation in agro-scientific research, exchange of teachers and specialists, organization of seminars, feasibility studies on the establishment of joint ventures for the production of fertilizers, farm machinery and implements, joint research on seeds, etc;

(g) requested the co-ordinating countries to call a meeting of the high-level experts mentioned in paragraph 113 of section XXXII relating to co-operation among developing countries in the Economic Declaration of the present Summit.

(h) welcomed the offer of the Government of the People's Revolutionary Republic of Guinea to host the third meeting of co-ordinating countries on food and agriculture in 1983.

H. FISHERIES

The Conference

(a) noted the progress made in identifying areas of co-operation and welcomed in particular the decisions reached in the Third Ministerial Meeting on Fisheries Co-operation, held in Havana in April 1981, as well as those taken by the Meeting of Experts on the establishment of multinational fisheries enterprises held in Colombo, Sri Lanka, in July 1982 and the first meeting of the Consultative Group of the Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries on small-scale fisheries and associated fishing vessels held in Havana in February 1983;

(b) stressed in particular the need to implement the decisions adopted at those meetings as well as to continue to convene meetings of experts on various subjects of interest identified in the Third Ministerial Meeting on Fisheries;

(c) recommended that the Group of Experts should draw upon the technical services of the Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and other international agencies;

(d) welcomed the offer of the Government of Yugoslavia regarding personnel training facilities in the field of fisheries;

(e) recognized that significant momentum has been generated in this sector under the Action Programme, and recommended that future activities in this sector under the Caracas Programme of Action take into account the activities undertaken under the Action Programme with a view to avoiding duplication.

I. HEALTH

The Conference

(a) emphasized the need for full implementation of the agreed goals and objectives as contained in the Action Programme in the field of health as well as in the documents adopted on the basis of this Programme and recommendations adopted at the meetings of health ministers of non-aligned and other developing countries, and invited the co-ordinators to take practical steps in this regard;

(b) endorsed the recommendations contained in the report of the fourth meeting of co-ordinating countries, held in Havana in March 1982, particularly requesting the World Health Organization:

(i) to initiate a process of strengthening exchanges of information and promoting co-operation projects among the non-aligned and other developing countries so as to reduce quickly the infant mortality rate, reduce the rates of mortality and morbidity caused by the main communicable diseases, improve conditions for children's growth and development, improve the environment and develop the human resources needed to provide health care;

(ii) to promote the developed and developing countries' interest and co-operation in these programmes and projects and to mobilize and channel financial resources for this purpose; and

(iii) to offer support for the periodic meetings of health ministers and experts of the non-aligned and other developing countries;

(c) decided that the opportunity offered by the annual meeting of health ministers during the World Health Assembly may be utilized to evaluate the progress made by non-aligned countries towards the goal of health for all by the year 2000 and to continue to co-ordinate their positions at the World Health Assemblies of the World Health Organization.

J. EMPLOYMENT AND HUMAN RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) endorsed the Declaration of Principles and the Action Plan on Employment and Human Resources adopted by the Baghdad Conference of Labour Ministers held in December 1981;

(b) endorsed the three-year programmes (1982-84) for technical co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the sectors of vocational training, employment and protection of workers adopted by the Baghdad Conference;

(c) welcomed the offer by the Government of Peru to host the third Conference of Labour Ministers of Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries;

(d) recommended that the areas of co-operation already identified in the Tunis Programme of Action and the Baghdad Action Plan should be implemented speedily. The non-aligned and other developing countries should in particular consider:

- organizing seminars and meetings of experts at the subregional. regional and interregional level to promote an exchange of information on their respective experiences in the fields of employment and training;

- drawing up within the framework of their national institutions regional training and retraining programmes designed to meet the most urgent needs of the developing countries;

(e) invited the ILO and other competent international organizations to provide the aid and support needed to start activities set out under (d);

(f) welcomed the Tunisian Government's offer to host a seminar in 1983 on employment strategies in the developing countries;

(g) recognized with satisfaction that significant momentum had been generated for co-operation in this sector under the Action Programme and recommended that future activities in this sector under the Caracas Programme of Action take into account the activities undertaken under the Action Programme with a view to avoiding duplication.

K. TOURISM

The Conference

(a) requested the co-ordinating countries to pursue their efforts to ensure that the first meeting of experts in the sphere of tourism will take place as soon as possible in order to review progress regarding the implementation of the Action Programme and to work out future guidelines;

(b) urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to co-ordinate their policies in intergovernmental organizations pertaining to this sphere, particularly the World Tourism Organization.

L. TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS

The Conference

(a) reiterated the importance of the early establishment of the Non-Aligned Countries Information Centre on Transnational Corporations in Havana;

(b) urged all interested non-aligned countries to accede to or ratify the statutes at an early date so that swift implementation of this project is made possible;

(c) recommended that all non-aligned and other developing countries should participate actively in the special session of the Commission on Transnational Corporations in March and May 1983 with a view to finalizing an effective international Code of Conduct on Transnational Corporations thus strengthening the negotiating capacity of the developing countries in this regard.

M. SPORTS

The Conference

(a) noted with satisfaction that the first Conference on Physical Education and Sports of Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries, held at ministerial and senior official level in Libya from 23-26 August 1981, had adopted a draft Plan of Action for the period 1981-85 and a Final Act comprising guidelines, decisions and recommendations concerning scientific and technical co-operation, specialized agencies for sport and international sports federations;

(b) approved the draft Plan of Action for the period 1981-85 and called upon non-aligned and other developing countries to strengthen bilateral and multilateral co-operation within its framework;

(c) called upon non-aligned and other developing countries to continue to fight for the elimination of racial discrimination in all its forms, particularly apartheid and Zionism;

(d) invited non-aligned and other developing countries to uphold and promote the ideals and spirit of the Olympic Movement and Olympic Games as a means for enhancing and strengthening friendship among all peoples and nations irrespective of their economic and social systems on the basis of full equality and precluding all mercantile considerations;

(e) decided to encourage exchange among member countries of the Movement in the field of sports including, inter alia, the organization of sports events at the national, regional and interregional levels;

(f) agreed to hold meetings at the ministerial or senior official level every three years to devise and ratify common plans, programmes and guidelines and to examine the progress made in the intervening period;

(g) asked the co-ordinating countries to meet periodically to review the progress achieved in implementing the Plan of Action for the period 1981-85;

(h) welcomed the offer of the Government of India to hold an international seminar of non-aligned countries on Training of Sports Cadres in 1983.

N. RESEARCH AND INFORMATION SYSTEM

The Conference

(a) emphasized the importance of the Research and Information System (RIS) designed to forge effective links between the research institutions of non-aligned and other developing countries;

(b) welcomed the offer of the Government of India to host the second meeting of the institutions participating in the Research and Information System in the last quarter of 1983;

(c) recommended that the Research and Information System should pursue work relating to global issues in the field of international economic relations, as well as issues related to the development of economic and technical co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries;

(d) decided that the programme of work of the Research and Information System should also be instrumental in fulfilling the objectives contained in Resolution 7 on Policy Guidelines on the Reinforcement of Collective Self-reliance between Developing Countries adopted by the Sixth Summit Conference at Havana in 1979, while keeping in mind the relevant actions taken by the Group of 77 in the implementation of the Caracas Programme of Action, in particular the multisectoral information system.

O. ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) urged non-aligned and other developing countries to strive to implement the measures identified in the Programme of Action adopted by the Meeting of high-level experts of the non-aligned and other developing countries on the role of women in development in Havana in 1981;

(b) recommended that non-aligned countries consider the establishment of legal assistance committees, in accordance with the legislative conditions and needs of each country, on all juridical and legislative aspects which concern women;

(c) recommended also that non-aligned countries should take effective steps to initiate and develop training programmes for women in various sectors in order to integrate women in development and devise projects aimed at increasing employment and income for women in urban and rural areas;

(d) endorsed the request of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau, held in Havana from 31 May to 4 June 1982, addressed to the International Centre for Public Enterprises in Ljubljana to prepare a study on the role of women in developing countries and on areas of co-operation, exchange of information and sharing of experience in this field which may be used as a reference in the preparations for the World Conference on Women scheduled for 1985;

(e) recommended that non-aligned and other developing countries hold a meeting prior to the 1985 United Nations World Conference on Women to consider aspects of common interest and co-ordinate positions.

P. PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY

The Conference

(a) decided to continue to co-ordinate efforts with a view to promoting the interests of non-aligned and other developing countries in the various international fora, including IAEA, in which, in particular, they should work towards the implementation of the resolutions of its twenty-fifth General Conference;

(b) recommended that non-aligned and other developing countries co-ordinate their positions in the preparations for the United Nations Conference for the Promotion of International Co-operation in the Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy in accordance with resolution 32/50 of the United Nations General Assembly;

(c) took note with satisfaction of the invitation of Cuba to convene the second regular meeting of co-ordinators on the peaceful uses of nuclear energy, which will take place in Havana in 1983.

Q. TELECOMMUNICATIONS

The Conference

(a) took note of the recommendations adopted by the meeting of co-ordinating countries held in Belgrade in December 1981 in the field of telecommunications and invited non-aligned and other developing countries to take individual and collective measures for their implementation;

(b) recognized the importance of the forthcoming séries of ITU conferences, particularly those dealing with High Frequency Broadcasting and Space Services and directed all the non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate closely among themselves and with other developing countries with a view to evolving well-harmonized and co-ordinated approaches to the issues at these conferences so as to achieve maximum long-term benefits for all the developing countries;

(c) reaffirmed its decision to establish a Centre for Co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the sphere of postal services and telecommunications to promote the implementation of the Action Programme and noted with satisfaction that the co-ordinators have prepared draft statutes for the Centre and forwarded them to all members;

(d) invited the non-aligned and other developing countries to communicate their comments to the co-ordinators in order to permit the convening as soon as possible of a conference of administrators of postal services and telecommunications to adopt the statutes of the Centre;

(e) invited the interested non-aligned countries to participate in the co-ordinating group to promote wider geographical distribution of participants.

R. PUBLIC ENTERPRISES

The Conference

(a) assessed the valuable work of the International Centre for Public Enterprises in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, as a concrete and significant contribution to the promotion of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and encouraged the Centre to continue to pursue and further expand its activities;

(b) decided to invite non-aligned and other developing countries which had not yet done so to join the Centre as early as possible and to take an active part in the joint activities organized within the framework of the Centre;

(c) emphasized the important role which public enterprises have to play in industrialization and overall development of developing countries and in the strengthening of technical and economic co-operation between developing countries.

S. SOLIDARITY FUND OF THE NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) regretted the delay in making operational the Fund for Economic and Social Development, the Agreement of which was approved by the Conference of Foreign Ministers in Lima in 1975;

(b) endorsed the decisions of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau held in Havana in May 1982 which urged that "urgent steps should be taken, inter alia, to put the Fund for Economic and Social Development into operation";

(c) called upon all members of the Non-Aligned Movement that had not done so to fulfil, as a matter of priority, the requisite legal dispositions to adhere to the Fund before the end of 1983, so that the Fund becomes operational in 1984;

(d) recommended that proposals regarding the creation of any other fund under the Action Programme should be considered in the light of the failure so far to put into effect the Fund for Economic and Social Development.

T. INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION FOR DEVELOPMENT

The Conference

(a) took note of the report of the co-ordinating countries in this area;

(b) stressed the need for maintaining unity and solidarity of non-aligned countries in international negotiations in order to strengthen their bargaining position vis-à-vis the developed countries;

(c) underlined the importance of resolution 7 of the Sixth Non-Aligned Summit at Havana and urged compliance with the Policy Guidelines on the Reinforcement of Collective Self-Reliance between developing countries;

(d) welcomed the adoption of the Caracas Programme of Action of May 1981 as a step forward in achieving the objective of collective self-reliance of developing countries;

(e) expressed particular satisfaction at the results already achieved in different fields of co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries and called for its continuation and intensification;

(f) invited the co-ordinators in this field to decide, if necessary, on the holding of further meetings on the subject of international co-operation for development.

U. HOUSING

The Conference

(a) endorsed the objectives in this sector contained in the recommendations made by the fourth meeting of the co-ordinating countries of the Action Programme held in Havana in March 1982;

(b) called upon the co-ordinating countries to meet to identify and promote areas of co-operation in this field;

(c) welcomed the offer of Sri Lanka to host a meeting of the Co-ordinating Group on Housing in 1983 or early 1984 in Colombo;

(d) recommended that non-aligned and other developing countries should draw up an effective action programme on exchange of experience of mutual co-operation at bilateral and multilateral levels for technical development programmes in the field of low-cost housing, shelter infrastructure and services;

(e) urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate with the United Nations Commission on Human Settlements and the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (HABITAT) in supporting and promoting measures related to the International Year of Shelter for the Homeless which is now designated for 1987.

V. EDUCATION AND CULTURE

The Conference

(a) took note with appreciation of the progress made by the co-ordinators in this field;

(b) decided to hold the first Education and Culture Ministers' Conference of Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries;

(c) welcomed in this context the offer of the Democratic Peoples' Republic of Korea to host this Conference in Pyongyang in 1983 in order to devise steps for co-operation in this field, following the Plan of Action in the field of education and culture;

(d) welcomed the adoption of the Plan of Action in the field of education and culture by the first meeting of experts and other high-ranking officials in education and culture of the non-aligned and other developing countries held in Havana from 26 to 29 April 1982;

(e) emphasized the importance of co-ordinating the position of non-aligned and other developing countries in international conferences and in UNESCO;

(f) recommended that non-aligned and other developing countries should consider signing bilateral and multilateral agreements among themselves to promote co-operation in this sphere;

(g) recommended that the non-aligned countries should actively collaborate in enriching the content and enlarging the scope of the Gallery of Arts of all non-aligned countries, established by the City Assembly of Titograd, Yugoslavia, and invited the co-ordinating countries to consider concrete measures in this regard.

W. STANDARDIZATION, MEASUREMENT AND QUALITY CONTROL

The Conference

(a) endorsed the final report of the first meeting of experts of non-aligned and other developing countries on standardization, measurement and quality control held in Havana in September 1981 and urged the speedy and time-bound implementation of the Action Programme for co-operation in this field;

(b) took note of the fact that the second meeting of the co-ordinating countries was held in New Delhi in May 1982.

Recommendation on the harmonization and coordination of the Non-Aligned Action Programme and Caracas Programme of Action

RECOMMENDATION OF THE CHAIRMEN OF THE GROUP OF 77 IN NEW YORK (BANGLADESH) AND THE MOVEMENT OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES (CUBA) ON THE HARMONIZATION AND CO-ORDINATION OF THE NON-ALIGNED ACTION PROGRAMME AND THE CARACAS PROGRAMME OF ACTION

The Ministerial Declarations of the Non-Aligned Countries and the Group of 77 adopted in October 1982 mandated the Chairmen of the Group of 77 and the Non-Aligned Movement to undertake consultations regarding harmonization of the Non-Aligned Action Programme and the Caracas Programme of Action. Subsequent to consultations between the two Chairmen the following is recommended to the Seventh Summit Conference for consideration.

Taking into account the 21 areas of co-operation incorporated in the Non-Aligned Action Programme and the eight priority sectors of the Caracas Programme of Action, the two programmes should concentrate on certain priority areas to avoid duplication. The Non-Aligned Movement will concentrate on the areas of transport, technology, fisheries, health, insurance, sport, housing, standardization of weights and measures, education and culture, tourism, transnational corporations, research and information systems, industrialization, women, employment and telecommunications and peaceful uses of nuclear energy. The Group of 77 will deal with the question of trade, industry, food and agriculture, raw materials, energy and financial and monetary co-operation. These areas should be handled by respective Action Programmes with support from the other as and when necessary and keeping in mind that the Non-Aligned Movement, as in the past, should play the catalytic role for initiatives in the field of economic co-operation among developing countries which could be given a concrete shape in operational terms by the Group of 77 particularly in the context of multilateral economic negotiations. The two Action Programmes should complement each other to fill in the gaps in their Programmes through effective co-ordination and harmonization. Specific proposals in this regard are reflected in the Action Programme on different areas of co-operation.

Institutional co-ordination:

(a) Meetings:

(i) The Action Programme of the Non-Aligned Countries should incorporate a calendar of meetings in various areas of co-operation taking into account the calendar of meetings of the Caracas Programme of Action.

(ii) The follow-up meetings to be held under the Non-Aligned Action Programme and the Caracas Programme of Action should be complementary towards the implementation of each other.

(iii) In scheduling the follow-up meetings the Chairmen of the two groups should be in close touch with each other in New York to avoid conflict of days.

(iv) In preparing for the follow-up meetings the Chairmen of the two groups may undertake consultations to receive relevant inputs to achieve and improve outcome.

(v) The Chairmen of the Group of 77 and the Non-Aligned Movement should consult regarding representation of each other in their respective follow-up meetings so as to ensure continuous co-ordination.

(vi) The Chairman of the Group of 77 in New York should keep the focal points for ECDC appropriately informed of the results of the follow-up meetings.

(b) Focal points:

(i) In order to ensure a co-ordinated national approach regarding implementation of the Non-Aligned Action Programme and the Caracas Programme of Action, the non-aligned countries which have not yet done so should as soon as possible designate their focal points for ECDC, as called for in the Caracas Programme, as focal points for the implementation of the Non-Aligned Action Programme. The two Chairmen should co-ordinate appropriate action in this regard.

(ii) The Summit should request the Chairmen of the two groups to prepare in New York a study of the tasks at the national level that would be carried out in the co-ordinated implementation of the Caracas Programme of Action and the Non-Aligned Action Programme, and circulate this information to the focal points of States members of both groups. The Chairman of the Group of 77 in New York would decide whether this study would need to be sent to other members of his Group.

(c) Action Committees:

(i) The non-aligned countries may consider forming action committees in appropriate sectors of the Action Programme, modalities of which could be designed according to the recommendation of the Manila Meeting for the implementation of the Caracas programme.

(ii) The two Chairmen should exchange information available with them regarding regional experience on the formation of Action Committees.

(d) Operational Projects:

While continuing its catalytic role for ECDC the Non-Aligned Action Programme should incorporate the following specific projects for immediate launching: APEC/TTI Project on pharmaceuticals; purchasers' association on fertilizers and the project on pesticides. The two Chairmen should carry out close consultation regarding launching and conclusion of the projects and draw up necessary modalities for their effective execution.

(e) Information :

(i) In order to make the optimum use of existing resources, the two groups should use the information channels available to the other.

(ii) The Chairmen of the two groups in New York should study the possibility of feeding a steady flow of current ECDC information to the Non-Aligned Press Pool.

(iii) The non-aligned countries will also request the Chairman of the Group of 77 in New York to carry ECDC information in the Non-Aligned Movement context in the Group's Bulletin, and give it wider currency among non-governmental organizations and other institutions with which he is mandated to be in touch by the Caracas Programme of Action.

MESSAGE OF SUPPORT FOR AND SOLIDARITY WITH NATIONAL LIBERATION MOVEMENTS

On opening the Seventh Summit Conference of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries at a time when peace is seriously threatened or totally non-existent for many who are struggling for their sacred rights to independence and to build a better future, the Heads of State or Government meeting in New Delhi, India, pay a heartfelt tribute to the Palestine Liberation Organization, the South West Africa People's Organization and the South African Liberation Movement for the indefatigable and heroic struggles waged by their leaders and members during the three years which have elapsed since the Sixth Summit Conference and salute the important victories scored by these freedom-fighters during this period.

The Heads of State or Government solemnly renew their staunchest support for and solidarity with their struggle and the commitment of the non-aligned countries to the attainment of Namibia's independence, the elimination of the opprobrious apartheid regime in South Africa and the realization of the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people, including the right to establish their own sovereign State.

The Heads of State or Government commend these national liberation movements for their valuable contribution to the realization of the common objectives of the non-aligned countries, first and foremost the attainment of independence, peace, security and the right to economic and social development for all peoples.

MESSAGE OF SOLIDARITY WITH THE PALESTINIAN PEOPLE

The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries meeting in New Delhi, India, strongly condemn Israel for the repression continuously being perpetrated, and even currently intensified, in an attempt to quell legitimate opposition by the Palestinians in the occupied territories.

These brutal and illegal acts by the occupying power in its policy of establishing new settlements continue to pose grave threats and constitute serious obstacles to a peaceful settlement.

The Heads of State or Government urge the international community to put an immediate halt to these policies. They call on the Security Council to exercise its powers and to put an end to Israeli policies of settlement, aggression and occupation.

The Heads of State or Government join in sympathy and solidarity with the Palestinian people in their just struggle and assure them of unstinting support.

خطاب

الرئيس محمد حسني مبارك

في مؤتمر رؤساء دول وحكومات حركة عدم الانحياز

هراري – سبتمبر ١٩٨٦

ألقاه نيابة عن سيادته

الدكتور بطرس بطرس غالي وزير الدولة للشئون الخارجية

السيد الرئيس..

للمرة الرابعة في تاريخ حركة عدم الانحياز التي احتفلنا هذا الاسبوع بعيدها الخامس والعشرين. تتولي دولة افريقية رئاسة الحركة وتتحمل مسئولية قيادتها . وإنه لمن دواعي الفخر لي كمصري وأفريقي أن أقف اليوم فوق هذا المنبر في هراري عاصمة زيمبابوي تلك الدولة الافريقية الفتية لألقي كلمة مصر أمام القمة الثامنة للحركة. أن تسلم زيمبابوي مسئولية رئاسة القمة الثامنة بكل ما تمثلة من مبادئ ومواقف وفي مرحلة تاريخية من مراحل نضال الشعوب ضد بقايا الاستعمار والقلاع المتبقية في الترسانة العنصرية ..ضد السيطرة الاجنبية سياسيا واقتصاديا وعسكريا . إنما هو دليل علي صمود شعوبنا في أفريقيا وأسيا وأمريكا اللاتينية .. وغيرها من مناطق العالم الثالث ..وعلي اصرارنا علي الكفاح حتي النصر علي قوي الظلم والطغيان .. مهما كانت الصعوبات والعقبات مثلما أدي ك فاح شعب زممبابوي العظيم بقيادة زعيمه روبرت موجابي إلي انتزاع الحرية واستعادة الكرامة وإعلان الاستقلال.

وأود أن أنتهز هذ ه المناسبة لأقدم تح ية خالصة باسم مصر شعبنا وحكومة لشعب زيمبابوي العظيم وقيادته الشجاعة . كما أتوجه بالتهنئة للرئيس روبرت موجابي بمناس بة تولي رئاسة حركة عدم الانحياز وأتمنى له باسم مصر كل توفيق ونجاح في تحمله مسئوليات القيادة خلال هذه المرحلة الدقيقة التي تمر بها العلاقات الدولية . ونحن واثقون من أن صلابة نضال شعب زيمبابوي وخصوبة تجربته ودقة احساسه بالمسئولية سوف يكون سنده ومنطلقه في تناوله قضايا العصر . قضايا التحرر السياسي والاقتصادي . قضايا حقوق الانسان وكرامته في كل مكان ، قضايا التنمية والبناء

..قضايا السلام والعدل وتحقيق الرخاء. ولا شك أن زيمبابوي من واقع نضالها وتاريخها . سوف تظل الحارس الامين والمدافع الذي لا يلين عن مبادئ الحر كة واستقلاليتها ودورها . وتوازنها . وسوف تضفي علي هذا الدور المزيد من الحيوية واليقظة وتدفع الحركة إلي مزيد من التضامن والقوة.

وأود في الوقت نفسه أن أحيي الهند الصديقة تحت. علمة رئيس وزرائها الفتي راجيف غاندي بمناسبة انتهاء رئاسة الهند للحركة بعد أكثر م ن سنوات ثلاث أدارت الهند خلالها حركتنا بكل اقتدار وإخلاص للمبادئ الأصيلة لحركة عدم الانحياز.

السيد الرئيس..

إن حركة عدم الانحياز تمثل قوة معنوية هائلة غير مسبوقة في التاريخ . تستهدف الوقوف بحزم ضد تقسيم العالم إلي كتل وأحلاق تتربص كل منها بالاخري . كما انها تعبر عن آمال شعوب العالم الثالث في الحرية والتقدم ونساهم في إضفاء صبغة ديمقراطية علي العلاقات الدولية.

ولقد كان نجاح حر كة عدم الانحياز وفاعليتها دائما رهنا بوحدتها وتضامنها وديمقراطيتها مع احترام التعدد والتنوع في صفوفها . ولعل تحقيق الانسجام والتآلف بين مصالح دولها علي اختلافها هو من أعظم انجازات الحركة.

وبكل صراحة فانه لن يكون لحركة عدم الانحياز معني أو قوة بل إن و جودها نفسه سوف يتهدد لو انحازت لو تحالفت مع أحد المعسكرات علي حساب الآخر. أن حركة عدم الانحياز التي تؤمن بها ونتمسك بمبادئها هي التي تسلك طريق الحوار والتفاوض قبل المواجهة والتصادم . هي التي تنادي بحل الازمات والمنازعات الدولية بالطرق السلمية وفقا لم يثاق الامم المتحدة وبمبادئ القانون الدولي . ولكنها في كل الاحوال تمارس الصلابة والاصرار إزاء ممارسات القه ر والسيطرة والاستعمار والعنصرية.

إن التزام مصر بفلسفة عدم الانحياز الاصيلة واهتدائها بمبادئها وروحها قد تبلور في اطاره الرسمي بدور ها التاريخي كعنصر مؤسس في هذه الحركة منذ أن كانت فكرة نبتت أثر ، مؤتمر باندونج وأعد لها في القاهرة . حتي كان اجتماع القمة الاولي في بلجراد عام ١٩٦١ ولكن الاصول التاريخية لموقف مصر والتزامها بمبادئ الحياد ثم عدم الانحياز تعود إلي ما قبل ذلك بكثير .. لقد بد أت مصر تحركها الثابت نحو سياسة عدم الانحياز بعد الحرب العالمية الثانية مباشرة حين خاضت مصر معركة إستقلالها الوطني ورفضت في اكتوبر ١٩٥١ المقترحات الهادفة إلي تأسيس منظمات دفاعية وتحالفات عسكرية في الشرق الاوسط وواصلت مصر مسيرتها إثر حركة التأميم التاريخية لقناة السويس عام ١٩٥٦ لتدافع عن استقلالها الإقتصادي والسياسي ولتفتح صفحة ناصعة من صفحات النضال الذي خاضته وتخوضها شعوب إفريقيا و سيا وأمريكا اللاتينية.

لقد كانت معركة السويس التي احتفلت مصر بذكراها الثلاثين منذ اسابيع قليلة مدخلا طبيعيا نحو تدشين س ياسية عدم الانحياز في الستينات . امتدت اصداؤها إلي شتي ربع العالم واصبحت السويس رمز للنضال الجرئ.. رمزا للكرامة الوطنية ولصلابة الكفاح الوطني من أجل الاستقلال السياسي والاقتصادي ونموذجا رائعا للتضامن شعوب العالم الثالث في هذا الوقت المبكر من نشأة الحركة . كما كانت بمثابة الطلقة الاولي في المعركة الساخنة التي خاضتها علي مر الثلاثين عاما الماضية شعوب عدم الانحياز ، إذا انها في حقيقة الأمر تمثل رمزين أساسيين : رمز التحرر الاقتصادي من خلال تأميم قناة السويس . ورمز التحرير السياسي من خلال وقوف مصر ضد العدوان الا نجليزي الفرنسي الإسرائيلي ، ولهذا أصبحت معركة السويس كبري العلامات علي طريق النضال في سبيل الحرية والاستقلال والتنمية تغيري بها الخريطة السياسية للمجتمع الدولي كما تغير بها نسيج العلاقات الدولية بلا رجعة . حيث تسير حركة الشعوب إلي الإمام ولا نستطيع قوة – أي قوة – أن توقف مسيرة الزمن أو تعترض حركة التاريخ.

وانه ليطيب لنا أن نستذكر بالاعزاز أن القاهرة استضافت علم ١٩٦٢ أول تجمع للدول النامية لبحث مشكلة التنمية ولم يقتصر إنجاز ذلك علي صدور إعلان القاهرة الذي تضمن لأول مرة موقفا مودا للجنوب تجاه المشاكل الاقتصادية الدولية ومشاكل التنمية بل أنه في الواقع كان نواة انشاء مجموعة الـ ٧٧ أكبر واقوي تجمع اقتصادي يضم جميع دول العالم الثالث.
ومنذ أيم قليلة استضافت مصر مرة في اجتماع مجموعة الـ ٧٧ العالي المستوي للتعاون الاقتصادي فيما بين الدول النامية لوضع إستراتيجية العمل المستقبلية لهذا التعاون طبقا لإعلان القاهرة الثاني الذي افره الاجتماع في ٢٣ أغسطس الماضي ، والذي يشكل علامة بارزة علي طريق تعزيز التعاون الاقتصادي فيما بين الدول . وإرساله علي أسس واقعية فعالة قائمة علي المنفعة المتبادلة.

وهكذا تحرص مصر دائما – بالمشارك والتنسيق مع أشقائها في الدول النامية – علي حيوية مصالح العالم الانامي والدفاع عن قضاياه العادلة في المجالات السياسية والاقتصادية والاجتماعية.

إن قمة هراري تنعقد في مرحلة تواجه فيها جميعا ا لعديد من الأزمات والمخاطر. فهنا في جنوب أفريقا تواجه مخاطر العنصرية الفاشية، وهناك علي التخوم الشمالية الشرقية لإفريقيا تحاك المؤامرات ضد شعب فلسطين المناضل، وعلي اتساع قارات العالم ومحيطاته وبحادة يشتد الصراع الدولي ويتعاظم . وتشتعل الحروب وتتزايد ممارسات الاحتلال الاجنبي والتدخل الحارجي، وتواجه بتزايد التسلح كما وكيفا وتزداد الموقف الاقتصادي الدولي سواء وكل هذا تدفع شعوبنا في العالم الثالث ثمنه وتكون أول من تقاسي من أثاره.

ولقد مرت ثلاثة أعوام منذ اجتماعنا في نيودلهي في القمة السابعة في علم ١٩٨٣ . عندما شهد الاقتصاد العالمي بوادر انتعاش في العالم المتقدم ، بعد أزمة اقتصادية عالمية أعادت إلي الأذهان

شبح كساد الثلاثينات الكبير ولقد رحبت الدول النامية آنذاك بتلك البوادر رغم محدوديتها . ولكنها ولكنها حرصت في الوقت نفسه علي التنمية والتحذير بأن هذا الانتعاش طالما لم ينتشر إلي بقية اقتصاديات العالم وخاصة الدول النامية . فانه سيظل انتعاشا منقوصا انتعاشا هشا، لا يمكن أن يتحقق معه للاقتصاد العالمي ما نبتغيه من نمو مستقر وعادل ومتوازيا.

كما أكدت الدول النامية انه في عالم اليوم الذي تتشابك فيه العلاقات والمصالح الاقتصادية بين مختلف دول العالم ، لابد من إتباع المنهج الشامل في معالجة مشاكل الاقتصاد العالمي، حتي يمكن تجنب نكسة قد تقودنا إلي فوضي اقتصادية عالمية لا قبل لنا بتكلفتها الاقتصادية والاجتماعية.

وطبقا لتقديرات واحصاءات المنظمات و الهيئات والمؤسسات الدولية .. فإنه في الوقت الذي انخفضت فيه أسعار السلع الاساسية للدول النامية بنسبة ٣٠ % خلال الفترة ما بين ١٩٨٠ و١٩٨٣ . وحققت خسائر بلغت حوالي ٥.١٣ مليار دولار في حصيلة صادرتها . حققت الدول المتقدمة من انخفاض أسعار البترول وحدها فوائض بلغت حوالي ١٢٠ مليار دولار!!

وأود في هذه المناسبة أن أشير بالتقدير غلي اقتراحات الصديق الرئيس راتسيراكا رئيس جمهورية مدغشقر الديمقراطية بإنشاء ثلاثة صناديق في إطار حركة عدم الانحياز .. أولها لتحقيق استقرار السلع الأساسية ، والثاني للتعاون النقدي والمالي ، والثالث للتنمية ، وتأمل أن يتم الإسراع بإجراء دراسات الجدوى الخاصة بالصناد يق الثلاثة التي أوصي بها الاجتماع الخامس للدول المنسقة لبرنامج التعاون الاقتصادي فيما بين دول عدم الانحياز وغيرها من الدول النامية في نيودلهي في شهر إبريل الماضي في ضوء الدراسات التي قامت بها الدول المنسقة في مجال التعاون النقدي والمالي في اجتماعها الهام في تناناريف في شهر مارس الماضي.

ومن المفارقات المثيرة للاهتمام أن ديون الدول النامية التي واصلت التراك م عبر السنوات الأخيرة ساعدت الدول الصناعية المتقدمة علي بعث الانتعاش في اقتصادياتها. ومع ذلك ونتيجة لغياب المنهج الشامل في معالجة القضايا الاقتصادية الدولية . أصبح تضخم حجم مديونية الدول النامية

مهددا لاستقرار النظام النقدي العالمي، والانتعاش الهامشي الذي بدأ في عدد محدود من الدول المتقدمة .. ومعمقا للاختلالات الهيكلية في النظام الاقتصادي الدولي. ومعوقا للجهود الدولية لإقامته علي أسس العدالة والإنصاف والمساواة.

وأود هنا أن أشيد بالموقف المسئول الذي اتخذه مكتب تنسيق حركة عدم الانحياز في معالجته لمشكلة الديون في الاجتماع الوزاري في نيودلهي في أبريل الماضي. حيث أكد احترام الدول المدينة لتعهداتها التي ارتضتها لنفسها . في نفس الوقت الذي وضع فيه إطار واقعي لهذا الالتزام . وهو المسئولية المشتركة التي تتطلب تعاون الدول الدائنة ومؤسسات النقد والتمويل الدولية مع الدول النامية المدينة في حل هذه المشكلة التي تهدد الاقتصاد العالمي جميعه

إن المسئولية المشتركة من وجهة نظرنا تتطلب من شركائنا الدائنين من الدول المتقدمة وكذلك مؤسسات النقد والتمويل الدولية . إدراكا واضحا لأبعاد مشكلة مديونية الدول النامية بجوانبها الاق تصادية والاجتماعية والسياسية . وأن أي حلول أو إجراءات لعلاج هذه المشكلة دون أن تأخذ في اعتبارها متطلبات التنمية الاقتصادية والاجتماعية للدول النامية وتطلع شعوبها إلي مستقبل أفضل هي حلول قصيرة النظر لا يترتب عليها إلا مزيد من الانتكاسات مما يهدد النمو المتو ازن للاقتصاد العالمي ككل . ويعرض النسيج الاجتماعي لدولنا بل والسلام الاجتماعي في العالم ككل للخطر.

ونحن نطلب اليوم بالمصادقة علي المنهج الذي تبناه مكتب التنس يق في نيودلهي . ونؤكد مطالبتنا بضرورة إجراء حوار دولي لمناقشة مشكلة المديونية بهدف التوصل إلي قواعد إرشادية تحكم المعالجة العامة للمشكلة عن طريق قواعد دولية عامة تتكامل معا وتدعم الجهود الفردية التي تبذلها الدول المدينة لتخفيف أعباء مديونيتها بالطرق الثنائية . وفي اعتقادنا أن منهجا يقوم علي هذا التوفيق والتنسيق ثنائيا وجماعيا . إنما يأتي في إطار دعوتنا إلي الحوار مع الشمال في مناخ تسوده الثقة والتفاهم والتكافل.

كذلك فإننا علي قناعة بأن هذا الحوار يتطابق مع تمسكنا بضرورة إقامة النظام النقدي والمالي الدولي علي أساس أكثر إنصافا واستقرارا بالجهود المشتركة للدول المتقدمة والنامية تحقيقا للصالح المشترك.

ولقد كان هذا هو الاعتبار الأساسي وراء دعوة القمة السابعة لعدم الانحياز لعقد مؤتمر دولي للنقد والتمويل من أجل التنمية ونحن نطالب اليوم بتأكيد هذه الدعوة وتبني هذا المطلب بجهد قوي ومنسق من جانب مجموع الدول النامية في مختلف المحتفل الدولية.

أصحاب السعادة..

في إطار الأزمة الاقتصادية العالمية الراهنة تتخذ الأوضاع الاقتصادية للقارة الإفريقية إبعادا جديدة ويترتب عليها بالنسبة للقارة نتائج خطيرة بجدرنا بنا أن نخصها بالذكر. وليس من شك في أن الوضع الاقتصادي الحرج في إفريقيا يعد تجسيدا لمشاكل الدول النامية .ذلك أن تراكم الاختلالات الهيكلية في الاقتصاديات الإفريقية وتضخم مديونيتها الخارجية في ظل استمرار الأزمة العالمية . قد ضاعف من أثارها جميعا الجفاف والتصحر والكوارث مواطنينا وأبنائنا في إفريقيا ومازالت ملايين أخري مهددة بالجوع والتشرد مع أشقائهم في إفريقيا فلقد بادرت حركة عدم الانحياز منذ عام ١٩٨٥ بإنشاء برنامج العمل للتعاون الاقتصادي مع الدول الإفريقية مؤكدة بذلك الترابط العضوي بين أعضاء الحركة. وتضامنهم جميعا مع الدول الإفريقية في مواجهة الظروف الاقتصادية الصعبة التي تمر بها القارة.

كما تضامن كافة أعضاء حركة ع دم الانحياز في مساعيهم المشتركة إثناء الدورة الخاصة للجمعية العامة للأمم المتحدة في مايو الماضي لإقرار برنامج للأولويات للإنعاش الاقتصادي ١٩٩٠ . ورغم أن نتائج الدورة / لدول القارة الإفريقية خلال الأعوام الخمس القادمة ١٩٨٦ الخاصة لم ترق إلي مستوي التوقعات ال تي كانت تأمل إفريقيا في تحقيقها . إلا أن الدورة نجحت علي الأقل في تعميق الإدراك العالمي بأبعاد الأزمة الاقتصادية الراهنة في إفريقيا، مما يمكن أن يصبح – إذا صدقت النوايا وعقد ألعزام – أساسا لتكاتف جهود المجتمع الدولي في دفع وتأبيد الجهود الحيازة التي تبذلها الدول الإفريقية لتخطي أزمتها الطاحنة.

لقد تعمدت أن أطيل في حديثي عن الوضع الاقتصادي العالمي وأثاره التي نعانيها حيث إنني علي اقتناع كامل بأن الأوضاع الاقتصادية الحرجة لو استمرت فسوف تؤثر علي تحركنا وعلي كفاحنا السياسي تأثيرا مدمرا . وكذلك فان الرأي مجمع علي استحالة الفصل بين المعركة الاقتصادية التي سوف تحقق لنا نتائجها المرجوة قوة ذاتية وقدرة علي التحرك وبين المعركة السياسية التي أنفقنا فيها من التضحيات ما سجلته وتسجله صفحات تاريخنا بكل فخار.

وحين أتحدث عن النضال . ترفع علي الفور هامات أفريقا التي كافحت وتكافح . وناضلت وتناضل ضد قوة عاتية هي قوة الامبريالية والعنصرية التي أبقت علي بعض حصونها بل أخر قلاعها علي أرضنا الطاهرة .. ونحن في مصر شعب ذو التزام افريقي أصيل .. التزام مبدئي تاريخي التزام نضالي يقوم علي انتماء للقارة وإيمان وطيد بأن كرامة الإنسان وحريته وحقوقه الطبيعية .. هي بؤرة الحياة كلها وبغيرها يكون الاستقلال بلا مضمون والحرية بلا محتوي . كما يقوم علي إدراكنا الواعي بوحدة النضال بين جميع شعوب العالم الثالث.

ومن هذا المنطق منطلق النضال المشترك والمصير الواحد مع أشقائنا الذين تحرروا من الاستعمار وأشقائنا الذين مازالوا يناضلون من أجل حرياتهم السياسية والاقتصادية تؤكد التزامنا الثابت بالكفاح حتى النصر ضد التفرقة العنصرية وضد بقايا الاستعمار في جنوب القارة وضد الاستغلال والإرهاب إن الأزمة التي يعاني منها الجنوب الإفريقي تتخذ في رأ ينا مظاهر أساسية ثلاثة : فهناك أولا سياسة التفرقة العنصرية البغيضة التي يطبقها نظام الأقلية البيضاء في بريتوريا، وهناك ثانيا مشكلة تشبث الاستعمار في ناميبيا ورفضه المثول للقانون ولحكم المجتمع الدولي الذي يطالب باستقلال ناميبيا وهناك ثالثا مشكلة السياسة الع دوانية التى يتبعها نظام بريتوريا العنصرى ضد دول المواجهة والتى تهدف بالعدوان السافر تارة وبالمؤامرات والتدخلات والاجراءات الاقتصادية لسيطرة الاستعمار العنصرى. مظاهر ثلاثة ولكنها جميعا ترد الى مصدر واحد ألا وهو فلسفة التفرقة العنصرية التى ليست الا قناعا لفرض السيطرة الاستعمارية على دول المنطقة.

ومصر تؤيد بلا تحفظ فرض العقوبات الشاملة والجبرية على جنوب أفريقيا ح يث قد وضح جليا ان هذا هو السبيل الوحيد لتغيير طبيعة النظام العنصرى قبل ان ينتهى الأمر الى حمامات دم ومذابح وحشية وبعد ان اتضح جليًا أن المبادىء والمنطق أو العمل أو الحوار لا يجدى فى اقناع الأقلية البيضاء بحقوق الأغلبية الأفريقية وبضرورة اقامة مجتمع ديمقراط ى يقوم على العدل للجميع واحترام كرامة الانسان وحقوقه ووقف تصدير العدوان والإرهاب الى دول المواجهة.

وكأن ما تعانيه القارة الأفريقية من أزمة اقتصادية ومن وباء التفرقة العنصرية لا يكفى، حتى نعانى عقود على ذلك العديد من المواجهات والنزاعات.

ومثلما تؤثر القضايا والمنازعات الأفريقية على استقرار القارة وجهود التنمية فيها فإن استمرار التوتر والمواجهات والأزمات فى العالم العربى يؤثر على فرص السلام وعلى تطلعنا للرخاء والتقدم.

فمن ناحية فإن استمرار النزاع والمواجهة العربية – الإسرائيلية وانكار الحقوق المشروعة للشعب الفلسطينى يؤثر على استقرار المنطقة ويشغل طاقات كل العرب. وأن الأوضاع السائدة فى الشرق الأوسط سواء فى المشرق أو المغرب تشير إلى التفرقة والتنافر والتمزق ولم يعد هناك من يعجز عن رؤية الأخطار والتحديات التى تحيط بنا من كل جانب ولا يمكن ان يختلف اثنان على أن حل المشاكل الرئيسية التى يعانى منها العالم العربى يكمن فى التوصل الى صيغة مشتركة للتضامن العربى الحقيقى الذى يتجاوز اطلاق الشعارات والنظريات وخير لنا جميعا ان نتفق على قاسم مشترك للعمل المنسق تأخذه بكل جدية ودون خداع للنفس .. حيث لن نخدع غير نا باطلاق الشعارات والاسترسال فى المزايدات الخاوية.

الانسحاب من الأراضى المحتلة هى مدخل صحيح لإقامة السلام المبنى على العدل والمتلازم مع الأمن المتبادل لكافة الدول والشعوب.

لسنا هنا نتحدث باسم أحد أو بتفويض من أحد ولكننا نسجل للتاريخ ان منظمة التحرير الفلسطينية برئاسة المناضل ياسر عرفات قد قالت كلمتها واضحة ومسئولة أمام المؤتمر الدولى لفلسطين الذى عقد فى جنيف عام ١٩٨٣ حيث دعت المنظمة الى ضرورة عقد مؤتمر دولى للسلام تشارك فيه كل الأطراف المعنية بالصراع بما فيها منظمة التحرير الفلسطينية الممثل الشرعى والوحيد لشعب فلسطينى على قدم المساواة والذى خلع مسئولية دوروا متميزا على مجلس الأمن للتحضير والتمهيد لعقد هذا المؤتمر طبقا لقرارات الأمم المتحدة ذات الصلة بما فى ذلك قرار مجلس الأمن ٢٤٢ لعام ١٩٦٧ ، ولقد قالت منظمة التحرير الفلسطينية كلمتها مجد ذا وبوضوح فى اعلان القاهرة فى السابع من نوفمبر ١٩٨٥ الذى أكد صدق عزيمتها ومصداقية قيادتها فى نبذ أعمال العنف خارج الأراضي المحتلة حفاظًا على حقها فى المقاومة المشروعة من ناحية والمكفولة بكل الشرائع والمواثيق، واستعدادًا راسخا للمضي فى طريق السلام القائم على العدل من ناحية أخرى.

إن مصر تؤمن بأن أى حديث عن دور جدى لأى طرف من الأطراف فى المؤتمر الدولى للسلام يجب أن يرتكز على الاسهام فى الاتفاق على عقد هذا المؤتمر الذى تشارك فيه كافة الأطراف المعنية بما فى ذلك منظمة التحرير الفلسطينية وعندما تتكلم مصر عن المؤتمر الدولى للسلام فى الشرق الأوسط فهى تعنى مؤتمرا حقيقيا يدور فيه التفاوض بين الأطراف المعنية مباشرة بالنزاع وتلعب فيه الأطراف الخارجية دورا توفيقيا يؤدى إلى تضييق شقة الخلاف وتيسير التواصل الى اتفاق.

كما ترحب مصر باقتراح الزعيم السوفيتى ميخائيل جورباتش وف خلال مباحثاته مع الرئيس الفرنسى ميتران فى يوليو الماضى حول اشتراك الدول الخمس الكبرى الدائمة العضوية فى مجلس الأمن فى مؤتمر تحضيرى للسلام فى الشرق الأوسط. وعلى مقربة من أرض فلسطين المحتلة نجد مأساة أخرى فى لبنان حيث أدى الاحتلال العسكرى والتدخلات الأجن بية والصراعات الدولية الى

خلق أوضاع أليمة وقتال مستمر وتطاحن بين أبناء الشعب الواحد حيث يقتل الأخ أخاه وأصبحت وحدة وسلامة أراضى واستقلال دولة لبنان فى خطر.

ان مصر تساند لبنان وحكومة لبنان الشرعية وتسعى لإنهاء هذه الأوضاع التى فرضت عليه وتدعو جميع اللبنانيين على اختلاف طوائفهم وعقائدهم وانتماءاتهم ان يتفقوا على كلمة سواء حتى يغلقوا الباب أمام فرص التدخل الأجنبى ونرد لهم حرية القرار واستقلال الارادة ويسدون اللبنانى صفوفه ويسد الثغرات التى تسلل منها المزيد والطامع فإنه لا أمل فى الخلاص ، ولذلك فإننا نطالب بالانسحاب الإسرائيلى الكامل من لبنان ونطالب باحترام استقلال وسيادة ووحدة أراضى لبنان. وفى الشرق الأوسط أيضًا حرب طاحنة تستمر منذ يزيد ما عن خمس سنوات بين دولتين من دول عدم الانحياز بين ايران والعراق ، تلك الحرب التى لا تمتد آثارها الى أمن الخليج واستقراره فحسب بل الى معدلات نمو كل دول المنطقة بل دول العالم الثالث.

ان التصاعد المستمر فى الحرب لم يعد يقتصر على جبهات القتال بل ان امتداد واتساع مسرح العمليات أضحى يهدد الأمن الاستراتيجى للأمة العربية وكل دول المنطقة بل انه يهدد مصالح الشعب الإيرانى نفسه فى الحاضر والمستقبل.

وتقف مصر مع كل الجهود الرامية لإنهاء هذه الحرب الطاحنة واحتواء آثارها وإعادة الاستقرار الى منطقة تجتنب كثيرًا من الأطماع والشرور كما تقف مصر مع سائر شعوب ودول الخليج وهى تدفع عن نفسها مضاعفات هذه الحروب وموجات القلق وعدم الاستقرار التى تولدها وذ لك كله من منطلق أساسى هو إيمان مصر بأن أمن الأمة العربية كل لا يتجزأ وأن أمن الخليج مرتبط بالأمن الاستراتيجى لمصر ، وسلامة دول الخليج الشقيقة وأمنها عنصر أساسى فى رسم سياسة مصر على المستوى القومى والإقليمى.

ان مصر تدعو بكل قوة وإلحاح إلى وقف القتال وبدء المفاوضات وانسحاب كافة القوات الى ما وراء الخطوط الدولية والسعى لتسوية سياسية مشرفة تحفظ الحقوق العادلة للطرفين وتحافظ على الحقوق البشرية والمالية المهدرة لهذين الشعبين المسلمين غير المنحازين واننا نطالب إيران

بالاستجابة لمساعى التسوية ونداءات السلام وعدم الإصرار على مواصلة قتال لا يمكن ان ينتج عنه خير لأى من الشعبين الإيرانى والعراقى ، وتطالب مصر المؤتمر بإصدار قرار واضح بوقف القتال والانسحاب الى الحدود الدولية وبدأ المفاوضات بغية تسوية المشاكل بالحوار الجاد .. وبإحساس من المسئولية عن السلم والأمن الإقليمى والدولى.

كما أوجه نداء الى رئيس حركة عدم الانحياز لكى يبذل الجهود ويقوم بكافة الاتصالات للمساهمة فى وقف الحرب.

اذا كان الوضع فى منطقة الخليج قد أصبح متفجرًا يهدد باتساع نطاق الخطر الذى تمتد آثارها لتشمل شعوب وثرواته امنه واستقراره فإن بقع ة أخرى من بقاع التور والأزمات لازالت متفجرة على أرض أفغانستان.

واننا إذ نتابع ونرحب بكل المبادرات المعلنة عن الاستعداد للانسحاب فى القريب من أرض أفغانستان، لندعو إلى ان يكون الانسحاب كام لا ومبكرًا من خلال تسوية سياسية مشرفة، تحفظ لشعب أفغانستان إرادته الحرة وهويته الإسلامية وغير المنحازة ، وإننا لواثقون ان جهود الأمم المتحدة برعاية أمينها العام قد قطعت أشواطًا فى الطريق الصحيح نرجو ان تكلل بالنجاح دونما ابطاء أو تسويف.

ان دعوتنا لانسحاب كافة القوات الأجنبية من أراضى الدول غير المنحازة لا يقتصر فقط على أفغانستان بل وتصدق من نفس المنطلق على ضرورة انسحاب كافة القوات الأجنبية من كمبوتشيا فى إطار من التسوية السياسية العادلة من خلال المفاوضات والحوار الجاد البناء ليعود السلام والأمن الى هذه المنطقة من العالم التى أسهمت فى مولد الحضارات والثقافات وعرفت معانى المحبة والتسامح.

ومن ناحية أخرى لاتزال منطقتنا فى البحر المتوسط ميدانيا لمواجهات مسلحة وصراعات وتنافسات حادة بين مختلف القوى مما يهدد استقرارها وأمنها ويؤثر على احتمالات التعاون بين دولها ورؤية مصر لقضايا الأمن والسلام والتعاون فى البحر المتوسط رؤية مترابطة متكاملة فهى تمثل فى تقدير مصر مسئولية جماعية مشتركة نحو تحقيق الأهداف الثلاثة الأمن والسلام والتعاون .. مما يحتاج فى تقدير مصر الى تقريب مستويات التنمية والتطور واقرار الحوار البناء بين الدول المطلة على البحر المتوسط برغم اختلاف توجهاتها الداخلية والخارجية واحترام مبدأ عدم التدخل فى الشئون الداخلية والسعى المضطرد نحو خلق جسور من المصالح والمنافع المتبادلة بين دول حوض البحر بدلا من بقائه ساحة للمواجهات الساخنة والدامية.

ان رؤية مصر لأمن البحر المتوسط فى شرق أو وسطه .. شماله أو جنوبه تنطلق من اقتناعها بأن الأمن ذاته مفهوم متكامل ومتبادل وليس أمن دولة على حساب دولة أخرى.. هو أمن الجميع الذى يجب ان يستظل بظله الجميع فى سباق من التو ازن الدقيق بين الحقوق والواجبات ..فى اطار من احترام قواعد القانون الدولى ومراعاته مبادىء حسن الجوار والابتعاد عن التلويح بالقوة والتدخلات غير المشروعة أو التذرع بادعاءات اقليمية هنا وهناك.

إن ما نشهده الآن من توتر فى منطقة الكاريبى وأمريكا الوسطى يشكل مصدرًا للقلق والخطر واننا نأمل ان تتوافر الإرادة السياسية والنوايا لدى دول هذه ا لمنطقة وشعوبها وقادتها للتوصل إلى

صيغة للتعايش السلمى بين أنظمتها الاجتماعية والاقتصادية والسياسية المختلفة على اساس الاحترام المتبادل والالتزام بمبادىء القانون الدولى وميثاق الأمم المتحدة.

وفى هذا الصدد أود ان أشير إلى جهود مجموعة دول كونتادورا الدؤوبة من أجل السلام والاستقرار والحل السلمى للنزاع وجهود مجموعة دول ليما المساندة لتلك الجهود .. ان كل هذه الجهود التى ترمى إلى احلال الحوار محل المواجهة والعقل محل الانفعال تحظى على التأييد الكامل للدبلوماسية المصرية .. ولقد قمت شخصيا بتكليف من حكومتي منذ عام ١٩٨٥ بزيارة رسمية لغالبية دول الكونتادورا لكى أؤكد تأييد مصر لجهود هذه الدول وحثها على مواصلة حلها وجهدها ولقد سجلنا تأييدنا للجهود السلمية فى بيانات مشتركة صدرت عقب هذه الزيارات بين مصر وكولومبيا ومصر وفنزويلا واننى أود هنا من هذا المنبر ان أكرر اننا نؤمن ب الحوار والحل السلمي ونطالب به في أمريكا الوسطى مثلما نطالب به فى بقية أنحاء العالم وأن يكون حلا سلميا يستند إلى احترام وسيادة واستقلال ووحدة أراضى كل دول المنطقة بما فى ذلك نيكاراجوا.

ولقد كان لى فى يناير ١٩٨٣ شرف رئاسة وفد بلادى الى الاجتماع الاستثنائى لدول عدم الانحياز فى ماناجوا وقد أعلنت فى ماناجوا حينذاك نفس ما أعلنه فى هرارى اليوم.

لا يسعنى ونحن فى هذا المحفل الا ان نشير الى ظاهرة بالغة الخطورة أصبحت تهدد كيان حركتنا ألا وهى ظاهرة الالتجاء الى العنف وما تعارفنا على وصفه بالارهاب الدولى. لقد عانى المجتمع الدولى أفراد وجماعات ودولا من هذه الآفة التى تشكل تهديدا سافرا لحقوق الانسان فأدرك أهمية تضافر جهوده للتصدى لها وردعها لكفالة الأمن الشخصى والاقتصادى لكافة الدول ومواطنيها.

وايمانا من مصر بأهمية تبنى سياسة فعالة تقوم على أسس قانونية، فقد اقترحت مصر عقد مؤتمر دولى تحت رعاية الأمم المتحدة للتصدى لظاهرة الإرهاب الدولى ونحن مازلنا على رأينا فى ان هذه الآفة تتطلب معالجة جماعية .. معالجة دولية تتدارك جوانب النقص القائمة فى الاتفاقيات الدولية ذات الصلة لمواجهة ما يتعرض له المجتمع الدولى من تهديدات مستمرة وصور جديدة لهذه الظاهرة.

ان عالم اليوم شديد التشابك والتعقيد بعد ان ناهزت دوله ووحداته السياسية مائة وستين دولة بين كبير ومتوسط وصغير بين غنى وفقير .. تتفاوت أدوارها وتختلف إسهاماتها فى الحياة الدولية المعاصرة ولكنها جميعا تتمتع بقاعدة ومبدأ المساواة فى السيادة المتكافئة فى ظل ميثاق الأمم المتحدة والتنظيم الدولى المعاصر.

ان صياغة الدبلوماسية متعددة الأطراف التى تكفل هذه المبادىء وتمد قنوات التعاون لاشك هى أفضل الصيغ التى توصلت إليها الإنسانية بعد تجارب مستمرة فى التنظيم الدولي والإقليمى، الأمر الذى يدفعنا الى ضرورة إثراء هذه التجربة التاريخية وتقويتها كلما احتاج الأمر دونما رجوع عنها أو انتكاس لها حتى تظل المسئولية مشتركة وجماعية بين الدول والشعوب فى هذا العصر الذى قصرت فيه المسافات وتلاشت فيه نقاط التباعد وامتزجت الأفكار والحضارات بفضل الثروة الهائلة فى وسائل الإتصالات نقل المعلومات والأنباء.

إن الأمم المتحدة كانت ولاتزال تجسيد لحلم من الأحلام الانسانية فى خلق نوع من الحكومة أو الحكم العالمى يحكم بميثاق واحد ويستند إلى شرعية واحدة من أجل الحفاظ على بقاء البشرية والحيلولة دون فنائها واندثار حضارتها . ان الأمم المتحدة مهما كانت ثغراتها تستحق منا كل الدعم والتأييد حفاظًا على قيمة انسانية كبرى هى التكافل والتعاون من أجل السلام والنمو والتقدم.

قبل ان اختم حديثى اود ان اشير الى قضية التعاون الاقتصادى بين دول عدم الانحياز وغيرها من الدجول النامية والتى اشرت اليها فى بداية كلمتى وتستحق من مؤتمرنا الموقر كل عناية واهتمام. ان التجربة التى مرت بها عجلة هذا التعاون الاقتصادى خلال العشرين عامًا الماضية تشير الى ضالة ما تحقق بالنسبة لما عقدناه على هذا التعاون من امال وما حددناه من اهداف ، مما اثار شعورا بالقلق لدى العديد من اعضاء عدم الانحياز ودعاهم الى المطالبة بمضاعفة قوة الدفع السياسية اللازمة لترجمة الاهداف المرجوة الى حقائق ملموسة وواقع عملى.

وبالرغم من ضآلة التنفيذ : فلقد كان الانجاز الهام الذى تحقق نتيجة للحوار ا لمكثف والمتواصل فى المؤتمرات والاجتماعات العديدة لدول عدم الانحياز ومجموعة ال ٧٧ هو بلورة مفاهيم جديدة للتعاون الاقتصادى فيما بين الدول النامية ترتكز على فلسفة الاعتماد الجماعى على الذات .اصبح لدينا حاليا رصيد هائل من الافكار الخلاقة المبتكرة التى تبلورت في اهداف محددة وترجمت الى برامج العمل التعاون فيما بين دول عدم الانحياز ومجموعة الـ ٧٧ نستطيع القول بارتياح ان الدول النامية قد استطاعت بعد هذه التجربة الطويلة ان نضع جهودها على الطريق الصحيح الكفيل بدفع التعاون الاقتصادى فيما بين الدول النامية الى آفاق ارحب وارضا اكثر صلابة.

ولقد كان اجتماع القاهرة رفيع المستوى للتعاون الاقتصادى فيما بين الدول النامية الذى اختتم اعماله فى القاهرة منذ ايام قليلة فرصة مواتية لتقييم تجربة التعاون الاقتصادى فيما بين الدول النامية .. ووضع برنامج لاستيراتيجية العمل المقبلة ع لى اساس واقعي يكفل استخدام الامثل للموارد وتنفيذ ١ مشروعات ذات جدوى اقصادية للدول المشاركة فيها على اساس المنفعة المتباد لة والاستفادة القصوى من التكافل فى اقتصاديات الدول النامية والخبرات المتاحة. وصدر اعلان القاهرة للتعاون الاقتصادى فيما بين الدول النامية مؤكدًا من جديد الالتزام السياسي لدولنا النامية بالتعاون الاقتصادى فيما بينها واعطائه دفعة قوية للأمام ، وحرص اعلان القاهرة على ابراز اهمية تكثيف دعم التعاون والتنسيق القائمين بين مجموعة الـ ٧٧ وحركة عدم الانحياز، كما قرر مؤتمر القاهرة ارسال الوثائق الختامية للمؤتمر الى اجتماع القمة الثامن لدول عدم الانحياز لتكون ماثلة امامكم اثناء مناقشتها لهذا الموضوع الهام الذى يحتل مركز اولوية على جدول اعمال القمة ، ولاشك ان نتائج اجتماع القاهرة جاءت معبرة عن نفس الوعى والادراك لأولوية قضية التعاون الاقتصادي فيما بين الدو ل النامية الذي تجلس واضحا اثناء مناقشات الدول المنسقة لبرنامج التعاون الاقتصادى لعدم الانحياز الذي عقد فى نيودلهي فى ابريل الماضي قبيل انعقاد مؤتمر خارجية الدول المنسقة مباشرو . كما اعطى اجتماع دلهي الذي اقر نتائجه مؤتمر وزراء خارجية التنسيق القوة الدافعة لدولنا لكى تواصل معالجتها لهذا الموضوع الحيوي بأسلوب عملي وواقعي. ولعل ذلك يبرز الأهمية الكبرى التى تعلقها على استمرار ودعم تقليد المواءمة والتنسيق بين حركة عدم الانحياز ومجموعة ال ٧٧ من خلال اتخاذ إجراءات محددة تكفل الاستفادة من جهودنا المتكاملة فى الحركتين بأقصى قدر من الفاعلية.

لتتضافر جهودنا لدفع مسيرة عدم الانحياز التاريخية نحو افق جديدة ومستقبل اكثر إشراقا لنعمل على المستوى الاقتصادي لإعطاء دفعة جديدة للتعاون بين دولنا بين العالم الثالث. بين دول الجنوب النامى لان الحوار وال تعاون بين هذه الدول فيما بينها وحده هو الزى يعزز موقعها ويعضده فى مواجهة دول الشمال الصناعية المتقدمة الفتية. لنعمل على المستوى السياسي لرفع دور حركة عدم الانحياز فى تحرير ناميبيا وتحرير الانسان الافريقى .. بل كل انسان من وصمة التفرقة العنصرية .. ولنعمل على وقف العدوان والاحتلال الاجنبى فى افريقيا وفى الشرق الاوسط وفى اسيا وفى مختلف مناطق العالم. ولنعمل على حل المتنازعات سلميا وعلى بناء عالم جديد لابنائنا يقوم على العدل والامن واستقرار والمحبة والمساواة.

ولنعمل معا لكى ترتفع رايات الحرية والسلام فى جميع انحاء العالم

ولكم جزيل الشكر.

بيان رئيس الوزراء موجابى رئيس وزراء جمهورية زيمبابوى أمام القمة الثامنة لحركة عدم الانحياز
Statement by H.E Prime Minister Mugabe, Prime Minister of Republic of Zimbabwi before the Eighth Summit of the Non-Aligned Movement

Keynote address by the Honourable Robert Gabriel Mugabe, Prime Minister of the Republic of Zimbabwe, on the occasion of the inaugural ceremony of the Eighth Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries

/...

The Right Honourable Shri Rajiv Gandhi, Chairman of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries;

Your Majesties;

Your Excellencies, Presidents, Prime Ministers, Vice Presidents, Deputy Prime Ministers and Distinguished Ministers, Heads of Delegations of Member Countries of our Movement;

The Representative of the Secretary-General of the United Nations;

Honourable Ministers;

Your Excellencies, Delegates, Observers and Guests attending this Eighth Summit Conference of our Movement;

Comrades and Friends;

Ladies and Gentlemen;

I invite you all to rise and observe one minute of silence in memory of the late Chairperson of our Movement, our friend, Shrimati Indira Gandhi, a devoted champion of non-alignment and dedicated daughter of India.

We also pay homage to other leaders of our Movement who have passed away since New Delhi, including Linden Forbes Burnham, late President of Guyana; Le Duan, General Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Viet Nam; Maurice Bishop, late Prime Minister of Grenada and Sekou Touré, late President of Guinea.

Majesties, Excellencies, Comrades and Friends, I welcome you to Harare, the "city that does not sleep" and capital of Zimbabwe. Your distinguished presence amongst us bestows great honour on our young nation. You are amongst friends, amongst brothers and sisters and, above all, amongst allies in the common and arduous struggle to make our world a better place for all who live in it and for future generations. We welcome you because your firm solidarity and invaluable assistance most assuredly lightened the heavy burdens we had to bear in liberating this land from a vicious colonialism six and a half years ago.

I thank you most sincerely, Mr. Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, for the generous and warm words you have said about my country.

Zimbabwe is a young and developing country. Hence when the Movement asked us to host the Eighth Summit Conference, just about a year ago, it came both as a great surprise and an enormous challenge to the people and Government of Zimbabwe. We were acutely conscious of the limitation of time and of our relative inexperience in organizing such a momentous event. But fortified by your faith in us and conscious of our duty to the Movement and the suffering people of southern Africa, we took up the gauntlet. The rest is now history. All we now crave for is your indulgence for any limitations, shortfalls and discomfort you may have experienced since your arrival in our country.

The Republic of Zimbabwe may be a new independent State, but its people and their culture are neither new nor young. Scattered all over Zimbabwe and some of the neighbouring countries are nearly two hundred mainly medieval stone-built cities, towns, palaces and courts or "dzimbabwes", as we call them. It is after this stone-building civilization, whose revival is seen in the Shona stone sculpture of the twentieth century, that our country is named. Our forebears used stones to construct their dwellings and preferred rock outcrops for foundations. Today we are determined to build a new Zimbabwe on the rock of national reconciliation with the stone bricks of unity, equity, tranquillity, justice, peace and above all the brotherhood of man.

Mr. Chairman, Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, I know I am expressing the deep sentiments of gratitude of the whole Movement when I thank you most sincerely for the dynamic and prudent manner in which you steered the Movement in the last two years. In spite of the tragic circumstances under which you assumed the mantle of Chairman of the Movement, you have carried out your duties with characteristic dedication, dignity, skill and sensitivity for which your people are justifiably renowned. Zimbabwe is indeed most fortunate to receive the torch from the healing hand of India.

I also wish to thank the many countries, bodies and individuals who have assisted us in various ways in the preparations for the Summit, including the supply of furnishings, transport, medicaments, stationery supplies, cash donations and various types of electronic equipment. Without the generosity of the many who came to our assistance, the burden of organizing this conference might have been unbearable.

Our world is faced with many challenges: the quest for economic development, for human rights, for justice and for human dignity. But all these are predicated on the assumption of the continued existence of human life. The one question therefore that today precedes all others, in that without an answer to it answers to all other questions become pointless, is the question of disarmament. Preventing the annihilation of mankind consequent upon nuclear war is the pre-condition of all our endeavours.

This fundamental fact was recognized as early as 1978 when the international community, in adopting the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly, the first devoted to disarmament, stated unequivocally that: "We must halt the arms race and proceed to disarmament or face annihilation".

Yet in the eight years that have intervened since, we have seen more, not less, expenditure on nuclear weapons; more, not less, nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction; greater, not less, insecurity. Global military expenditures are now in the order of US$1 trillion per year.

Indeed the statistics are as gloomy as they are familiar: global military outlays currently run at two million dollars per minute. For every 100,000 people in the world there are 556 soldiers, but only 85 doctors. For every soldier the average world military expenditure is US$20,000 while for every school-age child the average public education expenditure is a paltry US$380. Developed countries spend twenty times as much on military expenditures as they do on economic aid. Only one-fifth of arms expenditure, in just one year, could wipe out the scourge of world hunger by the year 2000. All these facts illustrate the central theme of our time - the conspicuous misuse and abuse of scarce resources in the midst of poverty, hunger and disease. Surely the time has come to call mankind back to sanity: to reorder his priorities in favour of life and development, as against death and destruction.

We welcome the joint statement by the two Super-Powers that a nuclear war cannot be won and therefore must never be fought. Consequently we urge them to follow through the logic of that reasoning by abolishing from the face of the earth the means for waging such a war. It is our conviction that an essential step in this direction would be the conclusion of a comprehensive test-ban treaty; prohibiting all nuclear-weapon tests by States in all environments, for all time.

Pending the conclusion of such a treaty, it is essential that there be a moratorium on all nuclear tests by all nuclear-weapon powers. In this regard the world lauds the unilateral moratorium by the Soviet Union which ran for a year from August 1985 to August 1986 and has recently been extended till January next year. We urge the Soviet side to continue its self-imposed restraint and call on all other nuclear-weapon States, in particular the United States which, together with the Soviet Union, accounts for the bulk of such tests, to join in the moratorium. It is also essential that all nuclear-weapon States enter into internationally binding agreements on a nuclear weapon freeze. In this connection we commend the efforts of the Six-Nation Five-Continent Initiative whose proposals on these and other disarmament issues are in line with the positions espoused by our Movement. In particular we call upon the nuclear-weapon powers to seriously consider the constructive proposals on verification presented by the Six.

Confidence-building measures in disarmament in and of themselves, however, will not lead to long-lasting peace and security unless they are accompanied by similar measures in international economic relations. The current state of the world economy, especially as it relates to prospects for development in non-aligned and other developing countries is a cause for grave concern to us. The development crisis of the early 1980s is by all account far from over. If anything, it has escalated. Over a third of developing countries experienced zero or negative growth rates of real gross national product per head in 1985 and in many cases the situation shows no sign of improvement this year. Commodity markets, particularly those of primary commodities, of which developing countries are major exporters, remained depressed and unstable in 1985 as they were throughout most of the 1980s.

Between 1980 and 1985, the price of primary commodities produced by developing countries declined by an average of 7.4 per cent per annum, that is over double that of manufactured goods. This, coupled by a rise in protectionism in developed markets, a general worsening in the terms of trade of developing countries, high interest rates and a decline in the flows of official development assistance in real terms to developing countries has resulted in an unprecedented "bleeding" of the developing countries.

The truth is that the economies of the developing South are subsidizing those of the developed North. As a result, we have seen a deepening of the economic crisis. For example, the United Nations 1986 World Economic Survey estimates that the decline in commodity prices, including oil, has resulted in substantial gains for the developed countries of over $US 100 billion. At the same time, the net interest paid in external debt servicing by developing countries amounted to $US 54 billion in 1985 and the net income outflow on foreign direct investment amounted to $US 13 billion during the same year. Meanwhile the transfers of resources from developed to developing countries continue to decline and amounted to only $US 13 billion in loans and credit facilities, $US 14 billion in Official Development Assistance and $US 9 billion in direct investment. Such heavy financial haemorrhage coupled with severe economic undernourishment has robbed many developing countries of the capacity to service their external debts.

The debt crisis, in particular the debt service burden it imposes on economies of the debtor countries concerned, has reached grotesque proportions. The World Bank estimates that the accumulated debt of the developing world has risen to $812.4 billion and that the debt service payments alone account for 61.2 per cent of the overall payments of debt. This is a cause for serious concern, not only for the debtor countries concerned, but also for all of humanity interested in the survival of the world economy. The debt crisis evokes the imagery of a voracious primordial beast, of gargantuan appetite, gobbling up all the export earnings of the developing countries. The monster must be neutralized before it devours not only our earnings, but our very independence of action and sovereignty over our natural resources and economic activities. We must develop co-ordinated plans, initiatives and schemes to tackle the problem. To do nothing is suicidal. To allow the monster to deal with us on a "case by case basis" is a recipe for disaster.

The direct relationship existing between money, trade, debt, development and stability in the international monetary and financial system cannot be over-emphasized. The persistent instability in the financial markets, the prevailing high interest rates and exchange rate misalignments militate against the expansion of the world economy. Sustained and equitable economic growth, beneficial to all, can only be possible in a world economic régime free from the imbalances, inequalities and inadequacies of the present international economic system. In the light of the current situation, the establishment of the the New International Economic Order, based on justice, equity and sovereign equality, remains an absolute necessity of our time. The forces ranged against us may be many, but we should not be deterred. We should continue to vigorously pursue all options available with the view to creating a new and better world.

The revival of growth in the world economy demands that dialogue between the developed and developing countries be resumed without further delay. The current stalemate in global negotiations does not augur well for the future. In this context the forthcoming meeting of UNCTAD, therefore, provides an opportune moment for both the developing and developed countries to take joint action with a view to launching a programme for world economic recovery and the reactivation of balanced and sustained growth and development.

Increased South-South co-operation and collective self-reliance, particularly in view of the present adverse world economic environment and the continuing deadlock in the negotiations for the restructuring of international economic relations, is an indispensable and integral part of our efforts to restructure the current unjust and inequitable world economic system.

Besides reducing the vulnerability of the developing countries' economies, such co-operation further enhances our collective bargaining strength in global negotiations. It is high time that we face up to the fact that so long as the impressively long list of areas of mutual assistance and co-operation in our Action Programme for Economic Co-operation remains largely a series of blueprints, so long will our partners in the developed North remain sceptical of our resolve to bring about changes in the present world economy. Let our solidarity and mutual assistance be truly action-oriented. We should resolve, here and now, to reaffirm our commitment to action-oriented solidarity, mutual co-operation and assistance among non-aligned and other developing nations. There is much we can do to help each other. We must do it. And the time is now.

It is only through the promotion of co-operative relations, not only among the developing countries, but also between the North and South that we can arrest and reverse the present retreat from multilateralism to unilateralism and bilateralism. In the world of today, interdependence is a fact of life, and hence the promotion of international co-operation and multilateralism should be the concern of every nation.

Forces opposed to the freedom of peoples continue to frustrate the realization of the rights of peoples still under colonial domination to self-determination and independence and violate the sovereignty and territorial integrity of non-aligned countries. One such evil force is the system of _apartheid_ in South Africa: a system that denies our common humanity; assails our sense of human decency, violates all norms of morality and dehumanizes both its victims and its perpetrators. It is a system which the United Nations has rightly declared to be a crime against humanity. The _apartheid_ régime kills defenceless demonstrators as a matter of routine; violently uproots and relegates millions of its black citizens to wretched dust bowls and tortures and murders those whom it holds in detention. It has incarcerated Nelson Mandela, that heroic and legendary symbol of the struggling masses of South Africa, for nearly a quarter of a century just because he dared to demand the freedom of his people. In addition, it holds thousands of its opponents in jail, without trial.

The defence of _apartheid_ requires not only internal repression and genocide at home but constant aggression against neighbouring States. Pretoria follows a policy of State terrorism directed at the neighbouring independent States. Against these States South Africa has devised an integrated and comprehensive regional policy of hegemony that combines the use of economic sanctions with the fomenting of political unrest in neighbouring countries through the agency of armed bandits, recruited, armed, financed and directed by it. Through these activities of State-sponsored terrorism the régime has truly become a threat, both to regional and international peace and security.

It is common knowledge that the régime has also extended its abhorrent system to Namibia which it has continued to subject to colonial bondage two decades after the United Nations had terminated its mandate over that territory. The plight of the people of illegally occupied Namibia differs little from that of the majority of the people of South Africa. They too are oppressed, brutalized and denied the most elementary human and other rights. Furthermore, the racist régime presides over the plunder of Namibia's natural resources by transnational corporations and uses the territory of Namibia as a springboard to commit aggression against its neighbours.

Much of this analysis of the nature and character of the apartheid régime is well known. What is needed now is action: action to eradicate the evil system of apartheid; action to resist Pretoria's aggression against the neighbouring independent States; and action to stop South Africa's illegal colonial occupation of Namibia. In this context, I welcome and commend for your consideration, adoption and implementation the recommendations of the World Conference on Sanctions against South Africa, held in Paris from 16 to 20 June 1986 and those of the International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia, held at Vienna from 7 to 11 July this year. Both conferences endorsed the position long held by our Movement that comprehensive mandatory sanctions are the only effective peaceful means left to force South Africa to dismantle apartheid; stop its naked acts of aggression; and terminate its illegal occupation of Namibia. I earnestly urge that, pending the adoption of comprehensive mandatory sanctions under chapter VII of the United Nations Charter by the Security Council, members of this Movement should agree to adopt and implement for a start the voluntary selective sanctions against South Africa outlined in the declarations adopted in Paris and Vienna.

We should continue to press the key industrial countries, in particular the Government of the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, Japan and the present United States Administration, to agree to the imposition of comprehensive mandatory sanctions against South Africa. Our actions must be co-ordinated and concerted. In this context, we may wish to consider the sending of a team of Foreign Ministers from our Movement to visit capitals of key industrial countries to canvass for the adoption and implementation of mandatory sanctions. Secondly, we could further decide to designate a team of Foreign Ministers to represent the Movement at the forthcoming special session of the United Nations General Assembly on Namibia in September this year. Finally, we shoul endeavour to increase the nature and amount of concrete material assistance we render to the liberation movements of South Africa and Namibia. In this regard, support for the front-line and other independent States in the region is critical so that they may become dependable bulwarks against apartheid.

Our Movement's commitment to justice, freedom and equality obliges us to fully support all struggles for these cherished values not only in Africa but also in the Middle East, Central America, Asia and the Mediterranean where people are struggling to free themselves from imperialism, external interference, intervention, hegemonism, destabilization and other forms of domination.

In relation to Africa, we are appalled that in Angola naked interference with the sovereignty of that country has, beginning with the demand for the withdrawal of the Cuban forces as a condition for Namibia's independence, proceeded to assume a more dangerous dimension, that of affording military assistance to the counter-revolutionary and reactionary forces of UNITA bent on overthrowing a legitimate Government; so that UNITA now enjoys the full support of both apartheid South Africa and the Reagan Administration. Perhaps an even more shocking event was the recent undiscriminating bomb-attack upon Tripoli. Surely, such international "bullyism" serves only to exacerbate rather than ameliorate tense bilateral relations and constitutes a grave threat not only to regional but also to international peace and security.

In the Middle East, Israel's continued bellicose conduct poses a serious threat to international peace and security. We support the call for an urgent international conference on the Middle East at which all the parties involved in the dispute, including the PLO, would participate. There can be no lasting solution to the Middle East problem until the Palestinian question, which is the heart of the problem, is resolved and the occupied Palestinian and other Arab lands are returned to their rightful owners.

It is most disturbing that the largest number of international hotbeds of tensions today exist mainly on the soil of non-aligned countries. This sad state of affairs is primarily due to the intensification of bloc power politics and general interference in the internal affairs of small States. We are deeply saddened by the initiation and continuation of the war between the two sister-non-aligned countries, the Islamic Republic of Iran and Iraq. Use or threat of use of force in the settlement of international disputes is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations and the principles of the Movement of Non-Alignment. We earnestly appeal to our brothers of Iran and Iraq to put an end to the carnage and to respect international humanitarian law. We urge them to see their way clear to a peaceful resolution of this cruel and tragic conflict.

The situation in Cyprus continues to threaten the sovereignty of that country and peace in the entire Mediterranean region. We call upon all external powers to cease forthwith all interference in the internal affairs of Cyprus and withdraw their troops from the island State so as to facilitate negotiations between the two Cypriot communities.

There will neither be peace nor security on the Korean Peninsula for as long as foreign intervention continues to perpetuate the idea of "Two Koreas". Foreign interference must stop so as to enable both the North and the South to engage in the intercommunal talks aimed at the peaceful reunification of that country. It is important that all foreign troops are withdrawn from the Peninsula immediately in order to set the stage for the process of peaceful reunification.

Tension in the Central American, the Caribbean and South Atlantic regions has persisted largely due to foreign intervention aimed at destabilizing and undermining progressive Governments there. In Nicaragua we are witnessing the use of military force against the territorial integrity and political independence of that country, all because it has dared to choose a political and socio-economic system which is at variance with that of the dominant power in the region. The United States Government openly finances, trains, equips, deploys and directs contras against Nicaragua. The contras have inflicted indescribable human and material damage against the peace-loving people of that country. We call on the United States to promote international law by respecting and abiding by the recent decision of the International Court of Justice. We ask that Nicaragua be allowed to pursue its chosen course of socio-economic development. We are convinced that the Contadora Peace Process is a rational route to a comprehensive regional peace plan that will satisfy the concerns of all parties in the Central American conflict.

We would similarly urge that foreign intervention, especially as expressed through the presence of foreign forces, in such countries as Afghanistan and Kampuchea should be speedily terminated and the people of these lands left to determine their own destiny.

Your Excellencies, our Movement stands for very little if it does not stand for the freedom and self-determination of colonized and oppressed people. In New Caledonia, Saharawi, Mayotte and other territories, the peoples yearn for their freedom and they must be allowed to enjoy it. Colonialism is thoroughly discredited in our day and age. It should thus be rooted out of these lands so that their people might shape their own destiny in the same manner and to the same degree as other free people.

Distinguished Heads of Delegations, Honoured Delegates, Observers and Guests, once again, I welcome you to Zimbabwe. May your stay here be the most comfortable and happiest possible. May our deliberations be attended with the positive spirit that inspired Tito, Nehru, Nasser, Sukharno, Nkrumah and others to launch our Movement a quarter of a century ago today. We cannot and should not fail them. The struggle continues.

Thank you.

10. Aware of the significance and appropriateness of their meeting in southern Africa, at a critical juncture in the history of the subregion, and convinced that apartheid was not only a crime against humanity but also a threat to international peace and security, the Heads of State or Government stressed the urgent need to intensify the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neocolonialism, apartheid, racism, zionism and all forms of destabilization, expansionism, foreign occupation, domination and hegemonism.

11. In this context, the Heads of State or Government pledged the full and active solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries with the oppressed peoples of South Africa and Namibia as well as the Governments and peoples of the front-line and other independent southern African States.

II. ROLE OF NON-ALIGNMENT

12. The Movement of Non-Aligned Countries was conceived in the context of the struggle against colonialism and the polarization of international relations resulting from military blocs, military alliances and the cold war. It was the most logical answer to the felt need of all the newly-independent countries of Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean and other parts of the world to safeguard and strengthen their national independence and promote their full sovereignty in the political and economic spheres. For the last quarter of a century, many obstac s notwithstanding, the Movement and policy of non-alignment have scored significant victories; they have been key elements in the promotion of and support for peace and peaceful coexistence, independence, disarmament, the accelerated economic development of developing countries and the struggle for a new world order based on equality, justice and peace. The Heads of State or Government expressed their satisfaction that throughout its existence, the Movement has proved its abiding appeal and continuing relevance and vitality.

13. The policy of non-alignment, based on its original principles and character, as set out and elaborated in successive Summit Conferences in Belgrade, Cairo, Algiers, Lusaka, Colombo, Havana and New Delhi, involves the struggle against imperialism, colonialism, neocolonialism, hegemonism, foreign aggression, occupation and domination, as well as against apartheid, racism, zionism, and all forms of dependence, intervention, interference and pressure as well as against great Power and bloc politics. The recent evolution of the international situation has amply testified to the efficacy of the policy of non-alignment, and its principles and objectives, as a non-bloc, independent global force in international relations, which rejects all forms of subjugation, overt or covert and all pressures - political, economic, military, diplomatic and cultural.

14. As the foremost movement for peace in the world, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries has consistently striven for the relaxation of tensions and the promotion of peace and peaceful coexistence. In this context, the Heads of State or Government committed the Movement to work for the halting and reversal of present dangerous trends in the international situation and the promotion of conditions conducive to co-operation and peaceful coexistence among States. They stressed the importance of working for the elimination of hotbeds of tension, aggression and conflict, the promotion of just and peaceful settlement of international disputes, and working for general and complete disarmament, the maintenance of peace based on justice, as well as the removal of all structures of domination, discrimination, exploitation and inequality. They called for the free expression of the authentic national traditions and cultures of peoples and for the establishment of a system of international relations based on the principle of respect for independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity, equality, justice and co-operation among all States.

15. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that non-intervention and non-interference in the internal and external affairs of States are fundamental principles of non-alignment that must be strictly adhered to. They reaffirmed that violation of these principles is unjustifiable and unacceptable under any circumstances, and asserted the right of all States to pursue their own political, social and economic development without intimidation, hindrance or pressure. They were dismayed to note that the security and independence of non-aligned countries were being increasingly threatened by colonialist policies, by great Power and bloc rivalries, by imperialist policies of domination and by the quest for spheres of influence, as well as by the persisting unjust economic system, all of which had led to military, political and economic pressures and foreign interventions against non-aligned countries. They noted with concern that an increasing number of non-aligned countries are being subjected to all kinds of pressures aimed at weakening the unity of the Movement and diverting it from its quintessential principles and objectives. In this context, they appealed for greater unity, solidarity and co-ordinated action on the part of non-aligned countries to resist such pressures. They stressed the importance of strictly observing the principles and goals of non-alignment, especially in the present period of crisis in international relations.

16. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their unwavering support for the complete emancipation of the peoples of Africa, Asia, Latin America, and other parts of the world, and stressed their total rejection of all attempts to distort the struggles of peoples for independence and human dignity by placing them in the context of East-West confrontation. Such erroneous attempts deny the struggling peoples their inalienable right to self-determination and impede the realization of their legitimate aspirations. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government recalled the criteria for membership of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries as agreed upon at Belgrade in 1961 and renewed their commitment not to be parties to, nor take action leading to, great Power confrontation and rivalry or the strengthening of existing military alliances and interlocking arrangements arising therefrom, particularly through participation in military arrangements or through the provision of military bases and facilities for great Power military presence conceived in the context of great Power conflicts, or between one of these Powers and countries members of the Non-Aligned Movement.

17. The Heads of State or Government expressed their determination to make every effort to strengthen further the Movement's capacity for action and to develop concrete measures to enhance the influence and impact of its decisions on international affairs. They emphasized that the effectiveness of the Non-Aligned Movement was directly related to the fidelity of its Members to the principles and spirit of non-alignment, as well as their consistency in opposing injustice, regardless of its source. Bearing this in mind, they reaffirmed their commitment to adhere scrupulously to the principles and spirit of the Movement.

18. The policy and the Movement of non-alignment have been a positive and influential force in the evolution of international political and economic relations by expressing the need for peace, freedom, independence, equality, development and prosperity for all. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the increasing interest in the policy of non-alignment as an authentic factor in seeking solutions to the critical problems in international affairs They welcomed the growing recognition among other countries of the need for co-operation based on the principles and objectives of non-alignment.

19. The Heads of State or Government, reaffirming their faith in the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations, stressed the necessity for strengthening further the important role played by the non-aligned countries within the United Nations.

III. ASSESSMENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION

20. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the deteriorating world political and economic situation. Conflicts, disputes and instability persist in many parts of the world. Many non-aligned and other developing countries face an increasingly critical economic situation and the gap between developed and developing countries continues to widen. great Power policies and practices of domination and intervention, as well as the increased resort to the threat or use of force, aggression, occupation, pressure, economic coercion and interference in flagrant violation of the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations, have aggravated the international situation. Forces inimical to the freedom of peoples continue to frustrate the realization of the rights of peoples under colonial and alien domination to self-determination and independence, and to violate the sovereignty and territorial integrity of non-aligned and other developing countries. The resurgence of great Power rivalries and policies aimed at the extension of spheres of influence have resulted in the escalation of the arms race, in particular the nuclear arms race, to unprecedented qualitative and quantitative dimensions. These negative developments seriously endanger international peace and security. In spite of the several practical proposals made thus far, including the proposals for the phased and total elimination of nuclear weapons, no appreciable progress has been made in arresting and reversing the nuclear arms race and in preventing the extension of the arms race to outer space. Policies of negotiating from a position of strength continue to be pursued. New and dangerous doctrines are being propagated and public opinion mobilized to justify the development, accumulation and deployment of sophisticated armaments, in particular nuclear armaments, in various parts of the world. This has led some developed countries to divert vast amounts of human, material and technological resources from economic and social development towards the creation of new weapons of mass destruction and the perfection of existing ones.

21. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern that the world continues to be confronted with increasingly difficult problems stemming from deep-rooted and interrelated contradictions in international economic relations. This deepening crisis is manifested in the drastic widening of the gap between developed and developing countries, many of which are unable to meet even the most basic needs of their people or realize their development priorities. Prospects for the establishment of the New International Economic Order based on justice and sovereign equality continue to diminish. The North-South dialogue is in a state of paralysis and international co-operation for economic and social development through the multilateral process embodied in the United Nations system is threatened. Besides endangering the very existence of humanity, the arms race compounds the crisis by diverting massive amounts of human, material and technological resources away from development, thus further worsening the crisis. Problems confronting the world economic system, in particular increasing protectionism, the continued deterioration in terms of trade, persistent high interest rates and the mounting external debt crisis, which has reached unprecedented political dimensions, imperil the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, as well as the unhindered economic development of the non-aligned and other developing countries.

22. The Heads of State or Government noted that during the Special Session of the General Assembly on the Critical Economic Situation in Africa, a United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development was adopted. In this context, they appealed to the international community and financial institutions to make available sufficient resources for the full and effective implementation of the programme.

23. The extension of the East-West confrontation to local and regional disputes complicates them further, renders their resolution difficult and endangers world peace. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the military presence, activities and manoeuvres of great Powers in the territories, airspace and waters, or in the vicinity of non-aligned and other developing countries, within the context of such confrontation, threaten the sovereignty and independence of these countries. They stressed that these activities endanger world peace and security and demanded that they cease.

24. The Heads of State or Government affirmed that the particular security perceptions and policies of the major Powers and their alliance systems, which are often inconsistent with the concept of collective security enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, heighten their military and political competition, threaten the security of non-aligned and other States, and pose an increasing risk of nuclear war.

25. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that dialogue, particularly within the framework of the United Nations system, is the key to a solution of the global crisis that has affected all areas of contemporary international relations. They emphasized that a comprehensive solution to the pressing international problems such as peace and security, disarmament and development, can only be assured through such negotiations, based on the principles of the Charter of the United Nations, in which all countries participate on an equal footing.

26. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at attempts to erode multilateralism and to cripple the United Nations. They reaffirmed their adherence to the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations and reiterated their resolve to work energetically for the strengthening of the world organization, and multilateralism in general.

27. The Heads of State or Government recalled with satisfaction the Summit Meeting of November 1985 between the leaders of the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. However, they expressed regret that the Summit did not generate the follow-up efforts necessary for progress in disarmament negotiations. They called upon the two Powers to surmount their mutual distrust and confrontation and to engage in serious negotiations, in a spirit of goodwill, bearing in mind the interests of all humanity.

28. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that there is no viable alternative to co-operation and peaceful coexistence among States, regardless of their political, economic and social systems, or their size or geographical location. Détente, in order to be durable, must be universal and comprehensive and open to universal participation, in the interest of all States. Such détente alone can lead to equitable and meaningful solutions to key problems and provide the basis for lasting peace. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that non-aligned countries should play an active and positive role in this process and participate in it on an equal footing, continuing to make a constructive contribution to it in the interest of the entire international community.

29. The Heads of State or Government recalled with satisfaction that 1986 had been declared an International Year of Peace by the United Nations. In this regard, they called on the international community to observe the Year by adopting positive measures for the promotion and strengthening of peace throughout the world.

IV. DISARMAMENT AND INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

30. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that disarmament, the relaxation of international tension, respect for the right to self-determination and national independence, the peaceful settlement of disputes in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and the strengthening of international peace and security are closely related to each other. They stressed that progress in any of these spheres has a beneficial effect on all of them; in turn, failure in one sphere has a negative effect on others.

31. Historically, States have considered that they could achieve security through the possession of arms. The advent of nuclear weapons, has, however, radically changed this situation. Nuclear weapons are more than weapons of war; they are instruments of mass annihilation. The accumulation of weapons, in particular nuclear weapons, constitutes a threat to the continued survival of mankind. It has therefore become imperative that States abandon the dangerous goal of unilateral security through armament and embrace the objective of common security through disarmament.

32. The Heads of State or Government therefore noted with grave concern the continuing escalation in the arms race, especially in nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, despite the fact that this increases the risk of nuclear war and endangers the survival of humanity. They reiterated their view that the greatest peril facing the world is the threat to the survival of humanity posed by the existence of nuclear weapons Since annihilation needs to happen only once, removing the threat of nuclear catastrophe is not one issue among many, but the most acute and urgent task of the present day. The Heads of State or Government therefore emphasized the extreme urgency of adopting immediate measures for the prevention of nuclear war and for nuclear disarmament.

33. For approximately 40 years, the survival of mankind has been held hostage to the perceived security interests of a few nuclear-weapon States, in particular the super Powers and their allies. To rely on nuclear leverage is to accept a perpetual community of fear that contradicts the Charter of the United Nations, and the approach and principles of the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly (resolution S-10/2), the first special session devoted to disarmament and those contained in the declarations of the conferences of Heads of State or Government of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. The idea that world peace can be maintained through nuclear deterrence, a doctrine that lies at the root of the continuing escalation in the quantity and quality of nuclear weapons and which has, in fact, led to greater insecurity and instability in international relations than ever before, is the most dangerous myth in existence.

34. The Heads of State or Government expressed deep concern at the rapid acceleration of the arms race, in particular with regard to nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction. They were especially concerned that newly-emerging technologies were producing a new generation of weapons of mass destruction, both nuclear and non-nuclear whose effects were so similar as to obscure the distinction between nuclear and conventional weapons and thus legitimize the possession of nuclear and other weapons of mass destruction. In the same vein, new technologies are being applied in preparation for the development of new weapons and weapons systems in outer space, adding a new dimension of grave import to the arms race.

35. The Heads of State or Government were greatly perturbed by the announcement by the Government of the United States of America that it no longer considers itself bound by the provisions of the Second Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II) of 1979. They urged the Government of the United States of America to reconsider its position.

36. The Heads of State or Government expressed deep concern at the preparations under way for the extension of the arms race in all its aspects into outer space. They strongly reaffirmed the principle that outer space, which is the common heritage of mankind, should be used exclusively for peaceful purposes and for the benefit and in the interest of all countries, regardless of their level of economic or scientific development, and that it should be open to all States.

37. They recalled the obligation of all States to refrain from the threat or use of force in their outer space activities. They reiterated their view that the universally accepted objective of general and complete disarmament under effective international control demands that outer space should not be transformed into an arena for pursuing the arms race. They therefore called on the Conference on Disarmament to commence negotiations urgently to conclude an agreement or agreements, as appropriate, to prevent the extension of the arms race in all its aspects into outer space and thus enhance the prospects of co-operation in the peaceful uses of outer space. In particular, they stressed the urgency of halting the development of anti-satellite weapons, the dismantling of the existing systems, the prohibition of the introduction of new weapon systems into outer space and of ensuring that the existing treaties safeguarding the peaceful uses of outer space, as well as the 1972 Treaty on the Limitation of Antiballistic Miss Systems are fully honoured, strengthened and extended as necessary in the light of recent technological advances. The Heads of State or Government invited the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the Conference on Disarmament to explore the ways and means of bringing satellites for military purposes under international control, particularly when it puts at stake the security of non-aligned countries.

38. The Heads of State or Government called upon all States, in particular those with major space capabilities, to adhere strictly to the existing legal restrictions and limitations on space weapons, including those contained in the Treaty on Principles Governing the Activities of States in the Exploration and Use of Outer Space, including the Moon and Other Celestial Bodies (General Assembly resolution 2222 (XXI), annex) and the 1972 Soviet Union-United States Treaty on Antiballistic Missiles, and to refrain from taking any measures aimed at developing, testing or deploying weapons and weapons systems in outer space. Simultaneously, negotiations should be undertaken urgently with a view to concluding an agreement or agreements preventing the extension of the arms race into this area. Measures aimed at developing, testing or deploying weapons and weapons systems in outer space could, through a constant chain of action and reaction, lead to an escalation of the arms race in both "offensive" and "defensive" weapons, thus making the outbreak of nuclear conflict more likely. Such a situation would not only result in a quantum leap in the level of resources expended on armaments, but would also frustrate the efforts currently under way to achieve disarmament.

39. The Heads of State or Government noted that in their joint statement issued in Geneva in November 1985, the General Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and the President of the United States of America agreed to speed up bilateral United States-Soviet negotiations on arms limitations with the declared objective of working out "effective agreements aimed at preventing an arms race in space and terminating it on Earth with the ultimate goal of achieving the complete elimination of nuclear arms everywhere". In this regard, the Heads of State or Government called upon the leaders of the two countries to pursue without delay and in a spirit of goodwill the objectives they set themselves at Geneva, and urged that an early agreement be reached in these negotiations to refrain from extending the arms race to outer space and simultaneously to effect drastic reductions in their existing nuclear arsenals.

40. Noting in particular the statement that "a nuclear war cannot be won and must never be fought", and its corollary, that neither side would ever wage such a war, the Heads of State or Government hoped that, as a demonstration of the sincerity of their declaration, the United States and the Soviet Union, together with the other nuclear-weapon States, would agree to sign a binding instrument foreswearing the use of nuclear weapons.

41. The Heads of State or Government urged the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, in their negotiations, constantly to take into account not only their own national interests but also the vital interests of all peoples of the world. They should keep the United Nations General Assembly and the Conference on Disarmament, as the sole multilateral negotiating forum on disarmament issues, duly informed of the progress and state of their negotiations.

42. The Heads of State or Government recalled the consensual decision of the international community contained in the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly of 1978 for the adoption of a Comprehensive Programme for Disarmament. They regretted that the Conference on Disarmament has been prevented from making progress on this important subject primarily because certain nuclear-weapon States and their allies have refused to agree to specific measures as well as to a time-frame for the prevention of nuclear war and for nuclear disarmament. They called upon the Conference on Disarmament to resume its work in this regard at the beginning of its 1987 session and make all efforts to conclude it during the first part of this session, with a view to submitting a complete draft of a Comprehensive Programme for Disarmament to the General Assembly at that time.

43. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government welcomed the comprehensive and timely programme for nuclear disarmament in a phased, time-bound framework recently put forward by the Soviet Union. The objectives and priorities of this programme, which aimed at the complete elimination of nuclear weapons from the face of the earth by all nuclear-weapon States by the end of this century, were largely in line with the stance which the non-aligned countries have consistently taken on these matters.

44. A comprehensive test ban, which has been pursued for the past 25 years, is a matter of the highest priority for non-aligned countries. A ban on all nuclear-weapon tests would de-escalate the nuclear arms race and greatly reduce the risk of nuclear war. The continuance of nuclear-weapon testing fuels the nuclear arms race and increases the danger of nuclear war. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government emphasized the pressing need to negotiate and conclude a comprehensive multilateral nuclear test-ban treaty prohibiting all nuclear-weapon tests by all States in all environments for all time. The existing means of verification are adequate to ensure compliance with a nuclear test ban. Assertions about the absence of means of verification should not be used as an excuse for the further development and refinement of nuclear weapons. The Heads of State or Government deplored the fact that, owing to the persistent obstruction of a few States, the Conference on Disarmament had been unable to embark upon the multilateral negotiations for a Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban, the cessation of the nuclear arms race, and nuclear disarmament.

45. While negotiations are under way for such a treaty, there should be a moratorium on all nuclear testing and the production and deployment of nuclear weapons. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government noted the appeal made by the leaders of Argentina, Greece, India, Mexico, Sweden and the United Republic of Tanzania to the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in October 1985 and reiterated in February, April and August 1986, to put an end to all nuclear testing, as well as their concrete offer of assistance to achieve adequate verification arrangements to monitor such a moratorium. They welcomed the unilateral moratorium on nuclear testing declared by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in August 1985 and extended by it a number of times since then, including the most recent extension until 1 January 1987. They called upon the United States of America as one of the two super Powers which, together, are responsible for the bulk of nuclear-weapon tests, to join the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in the moratorium and upon the Soviet Union to continue it.

46. The Heads of State or Government rejected the view that the negotiation of a Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty should wait until issues relating to verification had been resolved. They stressed that the formulation and modalities of a verification system depended on the purposes, scope and nature of the corresponding agreement and, therefore, the requirements of a verification system acceptable to all parties should be considered in the context of negotiations. They were deeply concerned with the view taken by a nuclear-weapon State that a nuclear-weapon-test ban was a long-term objective for it.

47. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that the use of nuclear weapons, besides being a violation of the Charter of the United Nations, would also be a crime against humanity. In this regard, they urged nuclear-weapon States to agree, pending the achievement of nuclear disarmament, to the conclusion of an international treaty on the prohibition of the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons. They considered an important step in this direction to be the early entry of all nuclear-weapon States into an internationally-binding commitment not to be the first to use or threaten to use nuclear weapons. They called for a freeze on the development, production, stock-piling and deployment of nuclear weapons. The freeze of nuclear weapons should, inter alia, provide for the simultaneous stoppage and discontinuance of any further production of nuclear weapons and for a complete cut-off of the production of fissionable material for weapons purposes.

48. The Movement noted with satisfaction the initiative taken by the Heads of State or Government of Argentina, Greece, India, Mexico, Sweden and the United Republic of Tanzania in their joint declarations of 22 May 1984, 28 January 1985 and 7 August 1986, in which they called upon the nuclear-weapon States to halt all testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons and their delivery systems, to be followed by substantial reductions in their nuclear forces. The six leaders had further urged that this reduction be followed by a continuing programme of reduction of armaments leading to general and complete disarmament and should be accompanied by measures to strengthen the United Nations system and to effect the urgently needed transfer of substantial resources from the arms race to social and economic development. The Delhi Declaration of 28 January 1985 had specified two steps which required special and urgent attention: the prevention of an arms race in outer space and the early conclusion of a comprehensive test-ban treaty. The Mexico Declaration of 7 August 1986 reiterated the need to adopt these measures. In addition, it urged the leaders of the United States of America and the Soviet Union to continue and re-invigorate the dialogue which they started last year, to set a firm date for a new meeting between them, and by an approach of mutual compromise and conciliation to ensure that such dialogue leads to practical results in the field of disarmament. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that these actions were in conformity with the basic approach of the non-aligned countries and showed the relevance of the principles of non-alignment and the positions of non-aligned countries for the international community at large.

49. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their view that the only credible guarantee for non-nuclear-weapon States against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons lies in the complete elimination of nuclear weapons. Pending the achievement of total nuclear disarmament, however, it is essential that non-nuclear States be insured against being threatened or attacked with nuclear weapons. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government stressed the obligation of nuclear-weapon States to guarantee non-nuclear-weapon States against attack, or threat of attack, with nuclear weapons by any nuclear Power, including themselves. Consequently, they urged that negotiations should proceed without delay for the early conclusion of a binding international instrument on effective international arrangements to assure non-nuclear-weapon States against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons.

50. The Heads of State or Government affirmed that the establishment of nuclear-weapon-free zones, on the basis of arrangements freely arrived at among the States of the region concerned, and taking into account the characteristics of each region, constituted an important disarmament measure. They expressed support for all individual and regional initiatives or proposals which envisage the establishment of nuclear-weapon-free zones in such a manner. The establishment of such zones in different parts of the world should be encouraged, with the ultimate objective of achieving a world entirely free of nuclear weapons.

51. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the implementation of the Declaration on the Denuclearization of Africa, adopted in 1964 by the Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity (OAU), would constitute an important measure for the prevention of the proliferation of nuclear weapons and the preservation of international peace and security. In this regard, they strongly condemned the racist South African régime for the acquisition of a nuclear-weapon capability and roundly deplored the collaboration of certain North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) member States and Israel with the racist régime, which had given that country its nuclear capability. They noted with grave concern that collaboration with the racist South African régime violates many resolutions of the United Nations, including the consensual view of the international community, expressed in paragraph 12 of the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly that "the massive accumulation of armaments and the acquisition of armaments technology by racist régimes, as well as their possible acquisition of nuclear weapons, present a challenging and increasingly dangerous obstacle to a world community faced with the urgent need to disarm. It is, therefore, essential for purposes of disarmament to prevent any further acquisition of arms or arms technology by such régimes, especially through strict adherence by all States to relevant decisions of the Security Council". This collaboration also undermines the objectives of the Declaration on the Denuclearization of Africa and sabotages the efforts undertaken in the interests of disarmament, peace and security of the region, as well as international peace and security. The Heads of State or Government therefore called upon the Security Council, in the discharge of its responsibilities as the primary organ of the United Nations responsible for the maintenance of international peace and security, to take effective and concrete measures to meet the danger posed by the acquisition of nuclear capability by the South African racist régime.

52. The Heads of State or Government stressed that, although nuclear disarmament has the highest priority, sustained efforts should be made in order to conclude without delay a treaty banning the development, production, stockpiling and use of all chemical weapons. They expressed their profound concern at the increased production and use of chemical weapons and the development of new chemical weapons including binary weapons. They condemned the use of chemical weapons by any State and under any circumstances and considered it as a grave violation of international law and human norms. Though the use of chemical weapons is already proscribed by the 1925 Geneva Protocol, it was their conviction that possession of such weapons leads inevitably to their use. The Heads of State or Government urged all States to undertake negotiations in good faith and to abstain from any action that could impede the early conclusion of a chemical weapons convention. Pending this, they called for strict observance of the 1925 Geneva Protocol.

53. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern that the qualitative development of conventional weapons adds a new dimension to the arms race, especially among States possessing the largest conventional arsenals. They urged these States to restrain such development. They emphasized that, together with negotiations on nuclear disarmament, measures for the limitation and gradual reduction of armed forces and conventional weapons should be pursued resolutely within the framework of progress towards general and complete disarmament. States with the largest military arsenals have a special responsibility in this regard. The adoption of such disarmament measures should take place in an equitable and balanced manner in order to ensure the right of each State to security, and that no individual State or group of States may obtain advantages over others at any stage. At each stage, the objective should be undiminished security at the lowest level of armaments and armed forces. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the adoption of disarmament measures should be based on full respect for the principles of non-intervention, non-interference in the internal affairs of other States and the peaceful solution of disputes in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations.

54. In accordance with the criteria cited above, where the regional situation so permits at the initiative of any or all of the States so concerned and with their concurrence, States should consider and adopt measures at the regional level with a view to strengthening peace and security at a lower level of forces through the limitation and reduction of armed forces and conventional weapons. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the unilateral, as well as recent regional and subregional, initiatives taken by some non-aligned countries to limit the acquisition of conventional arms and reduce military expenditures with a view to allocating the resources so released for the socio-economic development of their peoples.

55. The Heads of State or Government called upon other States, in particular the major arms suppliers, to facilitate progress towards regional disarmament by refraining from any action, including the threat or use of force, that could impede the achievement of the objectives of such initiatives and by taking measures of positive co-operation for the attainment of this goal.

56. The Heads of State or Government expressed their conviction that the limitation and reduction of the military activities and rivalry of great Powers and blocs beyond their boundaries would significantly contribute to the strengthening of the security of non-aligned and other countries. They therefore called for the military withdrawal and disengagement of the great Powers and their military alliances from positions beyond their frontiers and the elimination of their military bases and facilities from the territories of the non-aligned countries.

57. The Heads of State or Government underlined the central role and primary responsibility of the United Nations in the field of disarmament. They stressed that all the peoples of the world have a vital interest in disarmament negotiations, the right to participate on an equal footing in disarmament negotiations affecting national security, and an inherent right to contribute to their success. Bilateral and multilateral negotiations on disarmament should mutually facilitate and complement, and not hinder or preclude, each other. The Conference on Disarmament should therefore be kept informed of all st : in bilateral negotiations, and it should be enabled to fulfil its mandate as the sole, multilateral negotiating body in the field of disarmament and to adopt concrete measures of disarmament, in particular measures for nuclear disarmament and for the prevention of an arms race in outer space.

58. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the present world-wide campaign against the nuclear arms race. They expressed their conviction that such movements can play an influential role in promoting nuclear disarmament and preventing nuclear catastrophe. They emphasized the extreme importance of encouraging and rendering all possible assistance to that process. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the three objectives of the World Disarmament Campaign, namely, to inform, to educate and to develop public understanding of the support for United Nations objectives in the field of disarmament. They reaffirmed the need to strengthen the role of regional bodies in mobilizing support for this campaign and the realization of its objectives. In this context, the Heads of State or Government welcomed the establishment at Lome, Togo, of the United Nations Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa. They further welcomed the offer of the Government of Peru to establish in Lima a Regional Centre for Disarmament, Security, Peace and Development with the responsibility of disseminating in Latin America the objectives of the United Nations in the field of disarmament.

59. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the urgent need to decide upon the date for, and convene, the Third Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly devoted to Disarmament.

60. The Heads of State or Government regretted that it had not been possible to convene an International Conference on the Relationship between Disarmament and Development in Paris in July 1986. They emphasized the importance of the Conference as marking the beginning of an intensive consideration of these problems by the entire international community and expressed the hope that the forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly would take a decision on the dates and venue of the Conference in accordance with the decision of the resumed fortieth session of the General Assembly to convene it in 1987. They considered the Conference an urgent necessity for the appropriate and timely examination of the adverse consequences of steadily increasing arms expenditure on the global economy. They urged all States to participate in it at a high level and contribute to its success. It was essential that a remedy be found for the existing situation, in which hundreds of billions of dollars are spent annually on weapons while two-thirds of the world's population lives in poverty and in some cases, misery. They attached particular importance to the Conference coming out with specific recommendations on the ways and means of releasing additional resources through disarmament measures for development purposes, in particular for the benefit of the developing countries. Expressing the conviction that the economic and social consequences of the arms race militate against the creation of the new international economic order, the Heads of State or Government declared that lasting peace could only be assured through a restructuring of the world economy with the objective of establishing the New Order and bridging the economic gap between developing and developed countries. The Heads of State or Government called for a demonstration of greater political will by the developed countries for the attainment of this end.

V. PEACEFUL USES OF NUCLEAR ENERGY

61. The Heads of State or Government, recalling the decisions of the non-aligned countries, stressed the exceptional importance of international co-operation among the non-aligned and other developing countries in the field of peaceful uses of nuclear energy. This co-operation is of special significance in fields ere their countries can achieve a greater degree of self-sufficiency.

62. The Heads of State or Government affirmed the inalienable right of all States to apply and develop their programmes for peaceful uses of nuclear energy for economic and social development in conformity with their priorities, interests and needs. All States should have unhindered access to, and be free to acquire, technology, equipment and materials on a non-discriminatory basis for peaceful uses of nuclear energy, taking into account the particular needs of the developing countries. They deplored the pressures and threats directed against developing countries and aimed at preventing them from pursuing their programmes for the development of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

63. They also expressed their concern in this respect with regard to the obstacles which the developed countries place in the way of transfer of technologies related to the peaceful uses of atomic energy by fixing conditions which are incompatible with the sovereignty of the developing countries. Each country's choices and decisions in the peaceful uses of nuclear energy should be respected without jeopardizing fuel cycle policies or international agreements and contracts for the peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

64. The Heads of State or Government also emphasized the need for observance of the principles of non-discrimination and free access to nuclear technology and reaffirmed the right of each country to develop programmes for the use of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes in conformity with its own freely determined priorities and needs.

65. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government reiterated that non-proliferation should not be made a pretext for preventing States from exercising their full rights to acquire and develop nuclear technology for peaceful purposes geared to economic and social development in accordance with their priorities, interests and needs, determined in a sovereign manner.

66. Having considered the preparations for the United Nations Conference for the Promotion of International Co-operation in the Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy (23 March to 10 April 1987), the Heads of State or Government were convinced that the Conference would contribute to the realization of the inalienable right of all countries to free and unhampered access to nuclear technology, equipment and material, on a non-discriminatory basis, with a view to developing their national programmes of peaceful uses of nuclear energy, which is of particular importance for the realization of social and economic development programmes of developing countries in accordance with their priorities, interests and needs.

67. Proceeding from the positions adopted by the Seventh Summit Conference of Non-Aligned Countries and the Luanda Ministerial Conference, the Heads of State or Government expressed their conviction that non-aligned and other developing countries should contribute, through their active participation in the preparations, to the successful outcome of the Conference on the Promotion of Co-operation in Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy.

VI. SITUATION IN SOUTHERN AFRICA

68. The Heads of State or Government were greatly perturbed by the continuing state of war in southern Africa. They reaffirmed their view that apartheid is the root cause of conflict in the region which has already jeopardized the peace and security of the sub-continent, and which poses a grave threat to international peace and security. The perpetration of genocide at home and the practice of aggression and terrorism abroad are inherent in the system of apartheid. The Heads of State or Government therefore reiterated that there could be no peace, stability or security in southern Africa until the obnoxious system was completely eradicated.

69. Rightly declared a crime against humanity and an affront to the universal conscience, apartheid emanates from the same racist and bellicose ideology which provoked the Second World War and caused immense destruction and bloodshed. Considering that apartheid constituted a threat not only to the peace and security of southern Africa but also to international peace and security, the Heads of State or Government expressed their indignation and dismay that certain Western nations, themselves former victims of fascist aggression, continued to aid and abet apartheid economically, financially, politically, diplomatically and militarily.

70. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the Pretoria régime for conducting State terrorism against the front-line and other neighbouring independent States. In particular, they condemned the recruiting, training, financing, directing and infiltrating of bandits and mercenaries by the racist régime for the purpose of destabilizing neighbouring independent States and of overthrowing their governments.

71. The Heads of State or Government condemned the policy of "constructive engagement" pursued by the Government of the United States of America which they saw as giving succour and comfort to the racist régime, thus emboldening it in its brazen acts of aggression against neighbouring independent States and encouraging it in its defiance of international public opinion. Noting that the increased acts of genocide against the defenceless majority of that country by the racist South African régime were ... the result of the increased arrogance of the régime which is encouraged by the policy of "constructive engagement", the Heads of State or Government welcomed the increasing rejection of that policy, in particular within the United States itself, and called upon the Government of that country to abandon its policy whose disastrous consequences for the region have become so manifest.

72. The Heads of State or Government undertook to support the current Chairman of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) in his efforts on behalf of the peoples of southern Africa, in accordance with the general mandate to speed up the liberation process in that subregion that was given to him by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the OAU, at its twenty-second ordinary session. They declared their readiness to support these efforts and to participate in any initiative undertaken within the framework of the Statement on the critical situation in southern Africa adopted by that Assembly.

Destabilization

73. The Heads of State or Government expressed support for the communiqué issued at the Meeting of the Heads of State or Government of the front-line States, held at Harare, Zimbabwe, on 18 July 1986, at which South Africa's increasing acts of aggression against, and destabilization of, the neighbouring independent States, as well as other developments affecting the explosive situation in the region, were considered, and a call for the immediate imposition of comprehensive mandatory sanctions against racist South Africa was made.

74. They strongly condemned Pretoria's policies and acts of State terrorism perpetuated against the front-line and other neighbouring independent States. In this context, they agreed with the analysis of the World Conference on Sanctions against Racist South Africa, which was held in Paris from 16 to 20 June 1986, that racist South Africa's numerous acts of aggression, subversion, destabilization and terrorism against independent African States, including deliberate massacres of refugees, causing enormous human and material damage, as well as against the ships, aircraft and nationals of other countries, its instigation and support for subversive groups engaged in terrorism in those States, and its defiance of United Nations resolutions calling for an immediate cessation of such actions and the payment of compensation to the States concerned constituted "a clear illustration of the policies of State terrorism." They therefore vehemently condemned the destabilization policies and acts of State terrorism pursued by the racist Pretoria régime against the front-line and other neighbouring independent States which endangered not only the peace and security of the region, but also international peace and security. In this context, they called on the international community to exert pressure upon the racist régime in Pretoria to make it stop forthwith its acts of State terrorism and destabilization against the neighbouring independent States.

75. The Heads of State or Government condemned the racist Pretoria régime for its continued military occupation of parts of the territory of the People's Republic of Angola and called for the immediate, complete and unconditional withdrawal of South African troops from the territory. They also condemned the racist Pretoria régime for its repeated acts of armed aggression against the People's Republic of Angola, including those perpetrated against the commercial port of Namib, and demanded immediate payment of full and adequate compensation to the Government of the People's Republic of Angola for the loss of life and damage to property resulting from these acts of aggression, in accordance with the relevant

Security Council decisions and resolutions. They called upon all Members of the Non-Aligned Movement and the international community to extend increased material support to the Government of the People's Republic of Angola in order to enable it to consolidate its national independence and safeguard its sovereignty and territorial integrity.

76. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their view that the occupation of southern Angola by the racist Pretoria régime was in large part facilitated by the policies pursued by the United States Administration in the region, especially its support for the UNITA armed criminal bandits and its policies of "constructive engagement" and "linkage".

77. In this context, the Heads of State or Government recalled that the Conference of Ministers of Non-Aligned Countries held in Luanda from 4 to 8 September 1985 had condemned the repeal of the Clark Amendment by the United States Congress, and endorsed the Summit Declaration of the Organization of African Unity on the involvement of the United States Administration in the internal affairs of the People's Republic of Angola, AHG/Decl.1(XXII), which, inter alia, states:

(a) "The 1986 public announcement by the United States Administration that the bandits in Angola would be supplied with United States-made 'Stinger missiles' and the subsequent delivery of these missiles is an affront and a challenge to the OAU and constitutes a contemptuous act of undeclared war by the United States Administration against the sovereign People's Republic of Angola.

(b) The financial and military support that the present United States Administration is giving to the bandits in Angola constitutes a serious violation of the 1970 United Nations Declaration on friendly relations among States and also a violation of the principles contained in the Charter of the United Nations.

(c) The deliberate and overt involvement of the United States Administration in the internal affairs of the People's Republic of Angola constitutes a hostile act against the Organization of African Unity."

78. The Heads of State or Government therefore firmly condemned the United States Government for its blatant disregard for the solemn calls of the Organization of African Unity and the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and for its continued sponsorship of terrorism in southern Africa by supplying material assistance to the UNITA criminal bandits who are in Pretoria's service to destabilize the People's Republic of Angola. In particular, they were indignant that the United States Government had granted an official welcome to the UNITA criminal bandit leader Jonas Savimbi, and had supplied him with further aid, including Stinger missiles and other lethal weapons. These actions by the United States Administration constituted not only a gross and unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of the People's Republic of Angola, in contravention of established principles of international law regarding acceptable conduct in the relations between States, but also an act of aggression against the OAU and the entire Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. By its disregard of the calls of the OAU and the Movement, by its gross interference in the internal affairs of Angola and by its open collaboration with the racist Pretoria régime in maintaining apartheid at home and aiding bandits abroad, the United States Government has become an obstacle to be removed rather than a mediator and honest broker in the negotiating process leading to the speedy implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978).

79. The Heads of State or Government commended the Government of the People's Republic of Angola for its political will and diplomatic flexibility in the search for a peaceful and negotiated solution to the problems of southern Africa, mainly through the submission to Mr. Javier Pérez de Cuéllar, Secretary-General of the United Nations, on 17 November 1984, of a platform for comprehensive negotiations. They welcomed and fully supported this initiative of the Angolan Government, which constitutes an equitable basis for the re-establishment of peace and international security in the region.

80. The Heads of State or Government commended the Government of the People's Republic of Angola for its efforts, in accordance with the Lusaka communiqué of 16 February 1984 and the platform for global negotiations, contained in the United Nations General Assembly-Security Council document A/39/688-S/16838 of 26 November 1984, aimed at the creation of an atmosphere of peaceful coexistence and understanding conducive to the search for a lasting and just peace in southern Africa. The political will manifested by the Government of the People's Republic of Angola and its diplomatic flexibility in the search for viable, equitable and durable solutions to the problems of southern Africa stood in marked contrast to the pugnacity, duplicity and irresponsibility displayed by the racist Pretoria régime in its approach to the region's problems. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the constructive attitude of the Government of the People's Republic of Angola and strongly condemned the racist Pretoria régime for its intransigence and bad faith.

81. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep concern over the acts of political, economic and military destabilization committed by the racist régime of South Africa against the People's Republic of Mozambique. In this regard, they reaffirmed their strong condemnation of the continued recruitment training, arming, transportation and infiltration of armed bandits into Mozambican territory by South Africa to kill the defenceless population and cause massive destruction to the economic and social infrastructure in that country. They expressed their firm rejection of this policy of State terrorism, intimidation, blackmail, economic blockade and the systematic use of armed bandits which is contrary to the most elementary norms of international law.

82. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their total support for the people and government of Mozambique and for the preservation of that country's peace, independence and State or Government were convinced that in order to avoid a further escalation of the conflict, with disastrous consequences for the whole region and for international peace and security, it was necessary that the international community immediately impose comprehensive and mandatory sanctions against the racist Pretoria régime, and they urged the Security Council of the United Nations to proceed to adopt and impose such sanctions, under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, without delay.

85. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the right of the front-line and other independent States neighbouring South Africa to give sanctuary to victims of apartheid, minority rule and foreign occupation in accordance with their international obligations and humanitarian principles. They appealed to all members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the international community as a whole to give the front-line and other independent States neighbouring South Africa diplomatic, political, financial and material assistance in order to enable them the better to meet these obligations and to strengthen their defence capabilities.

86. In this context, they called upon member States of the Non-Aligned Movement to begin in earnest the stockpiling of relief materials for appropriate use in support of front-line and other States in southern Africa to assist them to withstand reprisals by racist South Africa as a consequence of the imposition of sanctions by the international community.

87. The Heads of State or Government expressed solidarity with the objectives underlying the creation of the

Southern African Development Co-ordination Conference (SADCC) as an expression of the felt need of front-line and other independent southern African States to lessen their economic dependence on South Africa, and to achieve economic growth and collective self-reliance, and as the primary vehicle for the achievement of those objectives. They reiterated their support for these objectives of the SADCC and welcomed the important steps the body has taken in the last six years in initiating programmes in key economic sectors aimed at ensuring economic growth, achieving collective self-reliance and reducing the economic dependence of the concerned countries on South Africa, whose economic and military power is systematically used to destabilize its independent neighbours and cripple their national development efforts.

Namibia

88. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the racist South African régime for its continued illegal, colonial and brutal occupation of Namibia in flagrant violation of the resolutions of the United Nations Security Council, the United Nations General Assembly, the Organization of African Unity, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and other international forums. They declared that the continued illegal occupation of Namibia is an act of aggression against the Namibian people in defiance of numerous United Nations resolutions, in particular United Nations General Assembly resolution 3314 (XXIX) of 14 December 1974.

89. They emphasized the legitimacy of the Namibian people's struggle for self-determination by all available means, including armed struggle, and reaffirmed their abiding support for the just and heroic struggle of the people of Namibia under its sole, authentic and legitimate representative, the South West Africa People's Organization (SWAPO). In this connection, they commended SWAPO for the outstanding manner in which it has led the Namibian people since its founding, the constructive manner in which it has responded to diplomatic initiatives, and the co-operation it has shown the United Nations in the search for a just, peaceful and negotiated resolution of the Namibian question. This positive attitude stands in marked contrast to the intransigence, duplicity and bad faith displayed by the racist Pretoria régime.

90. The Heads of State or Government expressed support for the efforts of the Secretary-General of the United Nations regarding the settlement of the Namibian question and urged him to commence implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) without delay.

91. They condemned the activities of foreign economic interests which impede the implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples with regard to Namibia, and stressed the incompatibility of these activities with the relevant resolutions of the United Nations, the advisory opinion of the International Court of Justice of 1971 and Decree No. 1 of the United Nations Council for Namibia adopted in 1974 for the protection of the natural resources of Namibia.

92. The Heads of State or Government urged all States to refrain from rendering any type of assistance to South Africa that might encourage it to continue pursuing its policy of State terrorism and systematic acts of aggression and destabilization against the neighbouring independent countries and prolonging its illegal occupation of Namibia. In particular, they requested all States to cease forthwith all political, economic, diplomatic, military, nuclear, cultural, sporting and other relations with the racist Pretoria régime, in conformity with Security Council resolution 283 (1977), so as to hasten the termination of its illegal and colonial occupation of Namibia.

93. They also strongly condemned racist South Africa for its massive militarization of Namibia and its arrogant use of that territory as a springboard for committing acts of State terrorism, including subversion, aggression and destabilization against neighbouring independent States, particularly Angola.

94. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that the right of the Namibian people to independence must not be made hostage to East-West confrontation and categorically rejected all machinations aimed at diverting attention from the central issue which is the realization of the Namibian people's aspirations to self-determination, freedom and national independence.

95. They endorsed the Declaration and Programme of Action adopted by the Extraordinary Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of the Non-Aligned Countries on Namibia, held in New Delhi, India, from 19 to 21 April 1985.

96. They welcomed the Vienna Final Document adopted by the Extraordinary Plenary Meeting of the United Nations Council for Namibia in June 1983, which they fully supported, and reaffirmed their firm support for the United Nations Council for Namibia in its role as the Legal Administering Authority of Namibia until its independence.

97. The Heads of State or Government demanded once again that all Namibian political prisoners held in racist prisons be released immediately and unconditionally and that captured freedom fighters be accorded prisoner-of-war status in accordance with the Geneva Convention and Article 44 of its Additional Protocol.

98. In view of the intransigence of the racist South African régime regarding the implementation of the United Nations Plan for Namibian independence, and recalling the urgent appeal by the forty-first session of the Co-ordinating Committee for the Liberation of Africa in February 1984 for increased material assistance to the national liberation movements, the Heads of State or Government appealed to the international community to render increased political, diplomatic, military, financial and material support to the legitimate and heroic armed struggle waged by the Namibian people under the leadership of SWAPO, their sole, authentic and legitimate representative.

99. They also called upon member States, especially those which have not yet done so, to contribute to the Solidarity Fund for Namibia in order to enhance SWAPO's capability to wage the national liberation struggle.

100. On the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the launching of the armed struggle by SWAPO, the Heads of State or Government commended SWAPO and in particular its military wing, the People's Liberation Army of Namibia (PLAN), for successes scored in the battlefield against racist South Africa and its occupationist troops in Namibia.

101. The Heads of State or Government, in acknowledging the efficacy of SWAPO's directive which declared 1986 Year of General Mobilization and Decisive Action for Final Victory, welcomed the stepped-up mobilization of the Namibian people and further intensification of the armed struggle as evidenced by the recent mass rallies, demonstrations and strikes, and the successful shooting down of racist South Africa's warplanes, helicopter gunships and armed attacks on its military bases in Namibia.

102. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the convening of the Second Brussels International Conference on Namibia by non-governmental organizations from 5 to 7 May 1986. They expressed their satisfaction that the Conference constituted a useful vehicle for sensitizing international opinion, particularly in the western countries, on the issues concerning the continued racist South African occupation of Namibia.

103. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the convening in Vienna of an International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia from 7 to 11 July 1986. They expressed their total support for the Declaration and Programme of Action adopted by the Conference. In particular, the Heads of

State or Government noted with appreciation that the Conference urged all States to refrain from rendering any type of assistance to South Africa that might encourage it to continue its policy of State terrorism and systematic acts of aggression and destabilization against the neighbouring independent countries, called on the Security Council immediately to adopt and impose comprehensive mandatory sanctions, under Chapter VII of the Charter, against South Africa, and appealed to the United States of America and the United Kingdom, permanent members of the Security Council, which have thus far prevented the Council from acting effectively, to reconsider their positions in the light of the grave situation in southern Africa and the accumulated evidence of the past 20 years, which irrefutably points to comprehensive mandatory sanctions as the most effective peaceful means of forcing South Africa to terminate its illegal occupation in Namibia.

104. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the appeal made by the Eminent Persons at the Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia for comprehensive sanctions against racist South Africa and for assistance to the front-line States and, in particular, agreed with the analysis of the Eminent Persons that those who refuse to impose comprehensive economic sanctions against racist South Africa become a party to that country's defiance of the United Nations, as well as to its suppression and repression in Namibia, and utter disregard for basic human rights.

105. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the inalienable right of the Namibian people to self-determination and independence within an untruncated territory, including Walvis Bay, the Penguin Islands and all adjacent offshore islands in accordance with the relevant United Nations resolutions. In this regard, they urged the Security Council in conformity with the request made by the International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia, held in Vienna from 7 to 11 July 1986, solemnly to reiterate that Walvis Bay and the offshore islands are an integral part of Namibia and should not be the subject of negotiation between South Africa and an independent Namibia.

106. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the racist South African régime for its intransigence which is the major obstacle to the implementation of the United Nations Plan for Namibian independence in accordance with Security Council resolution 435 (1978). They were indignant that the racist régime's proposal of 1 August 1986, for beginning the implementation of the settlement Plan, was only a propaganda gimmick since it was linked to the extraneous issue of the withdrawal of the Cuban internationalist forces from the People's Republic of Angola, which they totally rejected as being incompatible with Security Council resolution 435. They firmly condemned any such obstructionist tactics aimed at prolonging its illegal and colonial occupation of Namibia, and reaffirmed their total support for and commitment to the United Nations Plan. In this context, the Heads of State or Government endorsed the call, by the recent International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia, on all States "to oppose resolutely, in every available forum, the universally and categorically rejected persistent attempt by the United States Administration and racist South Africa to link the implementation of the United Nations Plan with irrelevant and extraneous issues, such as the presence of Cuban troops in Angola".

107. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the racist Pretoria régime for the installation in Namibia of a so-called interim government in violation of Security Council resolution 435 (1978) and reiterated their unqualified support for Security Council resolution 566 (1985) of 19 June 1985, which declared that action to be not only illegal, but also null and void. They urged all States not to accord any form of recognition to the illegal act by the racist South African régime or to any representative or organ of the puppet régime it purports to have established. They endorsed the call by the International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia demanding the immediate closure of the so-called Namibia information offices which the racist régime has established in the capitals of certain Western countries to legitimize its puppet institutions in Namibia.

108. The Heads of State or Government also welcomed the decision to convene a special session of the General Assembly on Namibia in 1986 during the first week of the forty-first regular session of the Assembly. They decided to delegate the following Ministers for Foreign Affairs of member States of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to participate in the debate of the special session in order to ensure its success: Argentina, Congo, Cyprus, Democratic Yemen, Egypt, Ghana, India, Jamaica, Nicaragua, Sao Tome and Principe, Sri Lanka, United Republic of Tanzania, Yugoslavia, Zambia and Zimbabwe ex officio. In this regard, they urged all States, in particular the Western States, to contribute to the success of the special session by refraining from introducing extraneous issues that would impede the implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) on Namibian independence.

South Africa

109. The Heads of State or Government were greatly perturbed by the rapidly worsening situation inside South Africa which was now claiming a daily toll of innocent lives reaching genocidal proportions. With regard to this, they were outraged by the racist Pretoria régime's continued intransigence in the face of international calls for a negotiated resolution of the scourge of apartheid, and noted that the duplicity, bad faith and arrogance of the racist régime had brought South Africa to the brink of a racial conflagration that now threatened to engulf the entire subregion.

110. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the racist South African régime for its obnoxious policy and practice of apartheid which is the root cause of all violence and instability in southern Africa. They further condemned the racist Pretoria régime for the policy of bantustanization that serves to perpetuate the colonial situation existing in South Africa.

111. Only the complete elimination of the abominable and criminal system of apartheid and the establishment of a non-racial democratic society in a unitary South Africa can constitute a sound basis for a just, lasting and universally acceptable solution to the problem. The Heads of State or Government therefore called on the international community to take concrete and substantive steps to compel the racist South African régime to abandon forthwith its reprehensible policy of apartheid.

112. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their call for the immediate and unconditional release of all political prisoners and detainees, including Nelson Mandela and Zephania Mothopeng, the lifting of the ban on the African National Congress of South Africa (ANC), the Pan-Africanist Congress of Azania (PAC) and all other political parties, the repeal of the Internal Security Act and all other draconian measures, the removal of the racist troops from townships and the unimpeded return of all political exiles and freedom fighters, in order to establish a climate conducive to a meaningful dialoque between the régime and the authentic leaders of the oppressed people, and enter into negotiations with the genuine representatives of the oppressed people for the purpose of establishing a democratic basis for the governance of the country.

113. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their solidarity with and support for the oppressed people of South Africa in their legitimate struggle for self-determination, freedom and justice. They strongly condemned the racist Pretoria régime for the acts of oppression, repression and discrimination it perpetrates against the vast majority of the population and the arbitrary arrests, imprisonment and detention to which it subjects those who oppose its abhorrent and indefensible apartheid policies and practices.

114. Convinced that apartheid cannot be reformed but must be totally eliminated and replaced by a non-racial democratic society based on a universal franchise, the Heads of State or Government categorically rejected manoeuvres by the racist Pretoria régime, such as the so-called "Natal Option", aimed at hoodwinking the international community and derailing the liberation struggle in order to prolong the oppression of the voteless majority.

115. They welcomed the intensification of the armed struggle by the heroic people of South Africa and urged all States to go beyond mere expressions of support and render effective assistance to the liberation movements recognized by the Organization of African Unity. In this regard, they appealed for greater moral, political and material support to be given to the ANC and the PAC for their legitimate struggle and for the intensification of the political mobilization of the masses within the country.

116. The Heads of State or Government asserted that the growing militarization of the racist South African régime, especially in the nuclear field, would not have occurred without the connivance and tacit support of certain Western States and Israel. They were outraged that some of these States have violated the arms embargo imposed against the racist South African régime by the United Nations Security Council, the primary organ for the maintenance of international peace and security, of which they are permanent members. They were further outraged that these same States gave the racist régime a nuclear capability in violation of paragraph 12 of the Declaration of the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly, the first special session devoted to disarmament (1978), which warned of the danger of nuclear armaments in the hands of racist régimes and, furthermore, that these States are frustrating the efforts of the United Nations Committee on Disarmament in fulfilling its mandate of making recommendations to the General Assembly on how to combat the nuclear capability of the racist South African régime. They emphasized that these actions reinforced the racist régime's arrogance and intransigence, impeded the advent of freedom for the tormented and oppressed people of South Africa, and increased the threat to the peace and security of the region and of the whole world posed by the Pretoria régime.

117. They therefore vehemently condemned the continued military and nuclear collaboration between the racist South African régime and certain NATO member States and Israel and called upon all States and international organizations to stop such collaboration with the criminal and repugnant apartheid régime. They called on the principal trading partners of South Africa - Western Europe, the United States of America and Japan - not to hinder the struggle of the oppressed people of South Africa for freedom, and to assist in bringing about genuine change and democracy to South Africa.

118. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the increasing co-operation between the racist régimes of South Africa and Israel. They noted the similarity of repressive measures such as the policy of the iron fist and hot pursuit practised by both régimes against the peoples of South Africa, Namibia, Palestine, southern Lebanon and the Arab lands occupied by Israel. The Heads of State or Government called upon all States to refrain from co-operation with the régimes of Pretoria and Tel Aviv in the nuclear field, since such co-operation constitutes a threat to international peace and security. They also recalled the resolutions adopted by the fortieth session of the United Nations General Assembly which reaffirmed its condemnation of the continuing nuclear collaboration between Israel and South Africa and expressed its awareness of the grave consequences for international peace and security of Israel's collaboration with South Africa in the development of nuclear weapons and their delivery systems.

119. Noting that in spite of the increased brutality of the racist Pretoria régime and the intensification of its reign of terror, the heroic freedom fighters of South Africa have remained steadfast in their struggle for freedom and justice in their country, the Heads of State or Government hailed the courage and fortitude of the South African people and expressed support for the intensification of the campaign through mass united action for the complete elimination of apartheid by rendering it unworkable and making South Africa ungovernable.

120. The Heads of State or Government fully supported the countrywide consumer boycott carried out by the oppressed people of South Africa as a weapon in their campaign for the withdrawal of racist troops from the townships, and welcomed the stand taken by the people of South Africa in calling for comprehensive and mandatory sanctions against the racist Pretoria régime.

121. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the growing sentiment and movement against apartheid in Western Europe, North America and the South Pacific, and noted with satisfaction the imposition of selective sanctions against South Africa by several governments in these regions.

122. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the holding in Paris, France, from 16 to 20 June 1986, of the World Conference on Sanctions Against Racist South Africa and supported the view of the Conference that governments and peoples of the world held that comprehensive mandatory sanctions are the most appropriate and effective peaceful means available to the international community for the elimination of apartheid, the liberation of Namibia and the maintenance of peace in southern Africa, and the proposal for a comprehensive programme of action in which mandatory sanctions against South Africa, under Chapter VII of the Charter, must be the central element and which should also include additional actions by governments and the public to isolate the racist régime, and the rendering of all appropriate assistance to those striving for freedom and peace in southern Africa.

123. The Heads of State or Government recalled that in 1981, the International Conference on Sanctions against South Africa had made a series of recommendations for international action to avert the growing menace to peace in southern Africa posed by the racist Pretoria régime, but that since then the United Nations Security Council had been prevented from taking the requisite mandatory action recommended by the negative votes of the United Kingdom and the United States of America. They now demanded that the United Kingdom and the United States desist from collaborating with the racist Pretoria regime by impeding the Security Council from fulfilling its role as the primary organ for the maintenance of international peace and security through the abuse of their veto power against the wishes of the overwhelming majority of States and the world's peoples.

124. The Heads of State or Government decided to mandate the following Foreign Ministers of the Non-Aligned Movement to visit the key industrial countries, in particular the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, Japan and the United States of America, to press them to agree to the imposition of comprehensive mandatory sanctions against South Africa: Algeria, Argentina, Congo, India, Nigeria, Peru, Yugoslavia and Zimbabwe ex officio.

125. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that at the London Summit of Commonwealth Leaders from seven countries held in August 1986, six countries, including three from the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, agreed to impose or have already imposed a number of economic measures against South Africa. They also noted the significant contribution which the report of the Eminent Persons Group, set up by the Commonwealth Heads of State or Government at their meeting in Nassau in October 1985, has made in stimulating a world-wid , informed discussion on the intolerable situation in South Africa.

126. The Heads of State or Government expressed their satisfaction at the recently concluded International Convention against Apartheid in Sports and commended the United Nations Ad Hoc Committee on the Drafting of an International Convention Against Apartheid in Sports for their efforts in this regard. They urged the member States of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries which have not yet done so to sign and ratify the International Convention as soon as possible so as to bring it into force as early as possible.

VII. WESTERN SAHARA*

127. The Heads of State or Government were deeply concerned over the continuing conflict in Western Sahara. They considered that the existing situation in that territory posed a serious threat to peace, security and stability in the entire region. They reaffirmed that the question of Western Sahara constituted a problem of decolonization and could only be solved when the people of Western Sahara exercised their inalienable right to self-determination and independence.

*Reservation: Morocco

128. The Heads of State or Government were convinced that the solution of the question of Western Sahara lay in the implementation of resolution AHG/104 adopted by the Nineteenth Conference of Heads of States and Government of the Organization of African Unity, and resolution 40/50 of the United Nations General Assembly which established the ways and means to reach a just and definite solution to the conflict in Western Sahara.

129. They deplored the fact that all the efforts made to find a peaceful settlement to the conflict in Western Sahara had achieved no success and strongly urged the parties to the conflict, the Kingdom of Morocco and the Polisario Front, to hold direct negotiations with a view to reaching a cease-fire and creating the necessary conditions for a just and peaceful referendum free from any administrative or military pressure and conducted under the auspices of the Organization of African Unity and the United Nations.

130. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government expressed their satisfaction at the efforts by the Chairman of the OAU and the United Nations Secretary-General to promote the implementation of these resolutions and urged them to persevere in their efforts to reach a just and lasting solution to the problem of Western Sahara.

131. Noting with satisfaction the process of joint mediation begun by the Chairman of the OAU and the United Nations Secretary-General on 9 April 1986 in New York with a view to implementing the resolution mentioned above, the Heads of State or Government called upon Morocco and the Polisario Front to show the necessary political will to achieve the implementation of those resolutions.

VIII. MAYOTTE

132. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the Comorian Island of Mayotte, which is still under French occupation, is an integral part of the sovereign territory of the Islamic Federal Republic of Comoros. They regretted that the French Government, despite its repeated promises, had thus far not taken a single step or initiative that could lead to an acceptable solution to the problem of the Comorian Island of Mayotte.

133. They took note of the resumption of dialogue with the French authorities aimed at inducing France promptly to restore the Comorian Island of Mayotte to the Islamic Federal Republic of Comoros in accordance with OAU resolution CM/PLEN/RES 1(XLIV).

134. The Heads of State or Government expressed their active solidarity with the people of the Comoros in their legitimate efforts to recover the Comorian Island of Mayotte and preserve the independence, unity and territorial integrity of the Comoros.

135. They called on the Government of France to respect the just claim of the Islamic Federal Republic of the Comoros to the Comorian Island of Mayotte, in accordance with its undertaking given on the eve of the archipelago's independence, and they categorically rejected any new form of consultation which might be held by France in the Comorian territory of Mayotte concerning the international juridical status of the island, as the self-determination referendum held on 22 December 1974 remains the only valid consultation applicable to the entire archipelago.

IX. MALAGASY ISLANDS

136. Regarding the Malagasy Islands - Glorieuses, Juan de Nova, Europa and Bassas da India - the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the vital need to preserve the unity and territorial integrity of the Democratic Republic of Madagascar. In this connection, they strongly urged all the parties concerned to begin negotiations without delay in accordance with the pertinent resolutions and decisions of the United Nations, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the Organization of African Unity, in particular United Nations General Assembly resolution 34/91 and resolution 784 of the thirty-fifth Ministerial Conference of the Organization of African Unity.

X. MAURITIAN SOVEREIGNTY OVER THE CHAGOS ARCHIPELAGO, INCLUDING DIEGO GARCIA

137. The Heads of State or Government fully supported Mauritian sovereignty over the Chagos Archipelago, including Diego Garcia, which was detached from the territory of Mauritius by the former colonial power in 1965 in violation of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 1514 (XV) and 2066 (XX). The establishment and strengthening of the military base at Diego Garcia has endangered the sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of Mauritius and other States. They called for the early return of Diego Garcia to Mauritius.

XI. CHAD

138. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the previous decisions of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and those of the Organization of African Unity relating to the question of Chad. They gave their full support to the endeavours of the Organization of African Unity and the efforts of some countries to achieve national reconciliation and the establishment of a lasting peace which respects the independence and territorial integrity of Chad without foreign interference. They urged the international community to contribute to the national reconstruction of Chad.

XII. SOUTH-EAST ASIA

139. Reviewing the situation in South-East Asia, the Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern over the continuing conflicts and tensions in the region, particularly as many of the States are members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They reaffirmed their support for the principles of non-interference in the affairs of sovereign States and the inadmissibility of the use of force against sovereign States. They warned that there was a real danger of the tensions in and around Kampuchea escalating over a wider area. They were convinced of the urgent need to de-escalate these tensions through a comprehensive political solution which would provide for the withdrawal of all foreign forces, thus ensuring full respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of all States in the region, including Kampuchea.

140. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the right of the people of Kampuchea to determine their own destiny free from foreign interference, subversion and coercion and expressed the hope that through a process of negotiations and mutual understanding a climate conducive to the exercise of that right would be created. They also agreed that the humanitarian problems resulting from the conflicts in the region required urgent measures which called for the active co-operation of all the parties concerned. They urged all States in the region to undertake a dialogue which would lead to the resolution of differences among themselves and the establishment of durable peace and stability in the area, as well as the elimination of involvement and threats of intervention by outside powers. In this context, they noted with approval efforts being made for the early establishment of a zone of peace, freedom and neutrality in the region and called upon all States to give those efforts their fullest support.

XIII. KOREA

141. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that, in spite of the Korean people's aspirations for the peaceful reunification of their homeland, Korea remains divided; this poses a potential threat to peace.

142. They welcomed with satisfaction the attitude of the Korean people in their efforts to reunify their homeland peacefully and to bring this about without any foreign interference, by means of dialogue and consultation between the North and South, in conformity with the three principles of independence, peaceful reunification and great national unity set forth in the joint North-South statement of 4 July 1972.

143. They expressed the hope that the fulfilment of the Korean people's desire for peaceful reunification would be enhanced by the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the area.

XIV. SOUTH-WEST ASIA

144. The Heads of State or Government noted with great concern the situation in South-West Asia and agreed that it carried dangerous consequences for the peace and stability of the region. They agreed that the continuation of this situation has serious implications for international peace and security. In this context, they viewed the situation in Afghanistan with particular concern. They reiterated the urgent call made at the Conference of Foreign Ministers held in New Delhi in February 1981 for a political settlement on the basis of the withdrawal of foreign troops and full respect for the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and non-aligned status of Afghanistan and strict observance of the principles of non-intervention and non-interference. They also reaffirmed the right of the Afghan refugees to return to their homes in safety and honour and called for a speedy solution to this vast humanitarian problem. To this end, they urged all concerned to work towards such a settlement, which would ensure that the Afghan people would determine their own destiny free from outside interference and would enable the Afghan refugees to return to their homes.

145. The Heads of State or Government expressed their appreciation for the sincere efforts made in the search for a political settlement of the situation in Afghanistan and extended their support to the constructive steps taken in this regard by the Secretary-General of the United Nations. They regarded the discussions through the intermediary of the Secretary-General as a step in the right direction and urged their continuation, with a view to promoting an early political settlement of the problem in conformity with the ideals and principles of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They called on all States to exercise restraint to avoid further endangering the peace and security of the region, and to take such steps as would lead to the creation of conditions conducive to stable and harmonious relations among the States of the region based on the non-aligned principles of peaceful coexistence, respect for sovereignty, national independence, territorial integrity and non-intervention and non-interference in the internal affairs of States.

XV. IRAN-IRAQ CONFLICT

146. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the applicability of the principle of non-use of force in international relations with regard to the conflict between the Islamic Republic of Iran and Iraq.

147. In this context, they expressed profound regret at the initiation and continuation of hostilities between the two countries which are important members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

148. The Heads of State or Government therefore appealed once again to the Islamic Republic of Iran and to Iraq to cease hostilities forthwith in order to avoid further loss of life and damage to property. They once again pledged themselves to exert every effort to facilitate a speedy end to this tragic conflict.

XVI. NEW CALEDONIA

149. The Heads of State or Government recognized that the South Pacific is a region of the world which contains many of the remaining non-self-governing territories, and they reaffirmed the right of all peoples, regardless of the size of their populations or of their territories, to determine their own destinies, free from any form of foreign interference.

150. In this context, the Heads of State or Government expressed their support for self-determination and the early transition to an independent New Caledonia in accordance with the rights and aspirations of the indigenous people and in a manner which guarantees the rights and interests of all its inhabitants. To this end, they welcomed and supported the decision by the members of the South Pacific Forum, made during their meeting at Suva, Fiji, from 8 to 11 August 1986, to seek the reinscription of New Caledonia on the United Nations list of non-self-governing territories.

151. Recognizing that New Caledonia is non-self-governing in terms of United Nations precedents and practice, and bearing in mind the duties and responsibilities of the United Nations under the Charter and the positive role which it has played in the process of decolonization, the Heads of State or Government stated that New Caledonia's inclusion in the list of non-self-governing territories would ensure that the United Nations regularly reviews the territory's progress towards self-government and independence. Consequently, they strongly urged the forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly to reinscribe New Caledonia on the list of non-self-governing territories.

152. The Heads of State or Government agreed to act together in pursuing the objective of reinscription and to use their influence to bring about a just and lasting solution to New Caledonia's present problems. In this regard, they urged the administering power and the Front de Libération Nationale Kanak et Socialiste (FLNKS) to renew their dialogue and to commence a speedy and peaceful evolution to independence with due regard being given to electoral reform.

XVII. SITUATION IN THE MIDDLE EAST

153. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern over the deterioration of the situation in the Middle East as a result of the continued Zionist occupation of Palestine and the other Arab territories, and the Israeli policy and practices clearly manifested by Israel's expansionist acts of aggression in the region which pose a dangerous threat to international peace and security.

154. They reaffirmed the active solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries with the Arab countries which are victims of Israeli aggression and with the just struggle of the Palestinian people, under the leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), its sole and legitimate representative, for the restoration of its usurped national rights and the recovery of the occupied territories.

155. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their Governments' commitment to supporting the Arab front-line States and the PLO in the face of Israeli threats and Zionist aggression, as well as their struggle to liberate their territories.

156. They reaffirmed that the question of Palestine is at the heart of the Middle East crisis and the root cause of the Arab-Israeli conflict, that partial solutions confined to some aspects of the conflict and excluding others can only lead to further complications and a deterioration of the situation in the Middle East, and that a just and comprehensive peace in the region can only be based on Israel's total and unconditional withdrawal from all the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, including Jerusalem, and the restoration of all the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, including their right to return to their homeland, the right to self-determination without foreign intervention and the right to establish their own independent and sovereign State on their national territory on the basis of United Nations General Assembly resolution 3236 (XXIX) of 22 November 1974, and its relevant resolutions.

157. The Heads of State or Government condemned any accord or treaty that violates or infringes the rights of the Arab nation and the Palestinian people as recognized by the Non-Aligned Movement, in accordance with international law, the Charter of the United Nations and relevant resolutions, thereby obstructing the liberation of Jerusalem and of the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories and preventing the Palestinian Arab people from exercising their inalienable rights. They condemned unilateral and partial solutions.

158. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the establishment of Israeli settlements in the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories, the judaization of Jerusalem and its proclamation as the capital of the Zionist State and reaffirmed that all measures carried out by Israel with a view to altering the political, cultural, religious, demographic and other features of the occupied Arab and Palestinian territories are illegal and null and void.

159. The Heads of State or Government requested the United Nations to take effective steps, including imposition of the sanctions stipulated in Chapter VII of the Charter, against Israel with a view to enforcing immediate and total withdrawal and ending the Israeli occupation of all the Palestinian territory as well as other Arab territories, including the city of Al Quds (Jerusalem) occupied since 1967 by Israel.

160. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that Israel's decision taken on 14 December 1981 to impose its laws, jurisdiction and administration on the Syrian Arab Golan Heights is null and void and is invalid. It is also considered an act of aggression under the provisions of Article 39 of the Charter of the United Nations.

161. The Heads of State or Government condemned anew Israel's insistence on its continuing occupation of the Golan Heights and its non-implementation of the relevant United Nations resolutions, in flagrant violation of the provisions of the

Hague Convention of 1907 and the 1949 Geneva Convention on the Protection of Civilians in Time of War.

162. The Heads of State or Government called upon the Security Council to take effective measures, including the imposition on Israel of sanctions provided for in Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, in order to achieve the immediate withdrawal of the Israeli forces from the Syrian Arab territories. They reiterated their total support for the struggle of the Syrian Arab Republic to liberate its occupied lands. The Heads of State or Government hailed the movement of revolt of the Syrian Arab inhabitants of the Golan Heights against Israeli occupation.

163. The Heads of State or Government condemned the "strategic alliance" between the United States of America and Israel and emphasized that such an alliance strengthened the aggressive role of the expansionist régime of Tel Aviv that seeks to destabilize the region, and encourages that régime to pursue and escalate its aggression, all of which constitutes a dangerous threat to international stability and to peace and security in the Middle East. They also condemned the policy of the United States of America aimed at developing military industries in Israel, including the military aircraft industry, and securing its participation in the so-called "Star Wars" programme.

164. The Heads of State or Government endorsed the conclusions and agreements reached by the Seventh Summit Conference condemning all such policies, and in particular the United States policy that assists Israel to pursue its occupation of Palestinian and other Arab territories, including Jerusalem, and prevents the Palestinian people from exercising its inalienable rights". In this regard, the Heads of State or Government observed that the United States continues to support Israel in many areas, particularly by establishing a free zone agreement for mutual co-operation within the framework of their "strategic alliance" which threatens the security of the region, and the world, and confirms the total bias of the United States in favour of Israel.

165. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned Israel's exploitation of the natural resources and wealth of the occupied Palestinian and other Arab territories, in defiance of the Hague and Geneva Conventions and the principle of permanent sovereignty of States over their natural resources and wealth, and called upon all States and international bodies to abstain from recognizing Israel's authority and to refrain from any co-operation with it.

166. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their adherence to the resolution adopted at their Seventh Summit Conference held at New Delhi from 7 to 12 March 1983, urging non-aligned countries to work for a boycott of Israel in the diplomatic, economic, military and cultural fields and in the sphere of maritime and air transport, and called upon the Security Council to enforce the provisions of Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations in order to oblige Israel to put an end to its occupation of Arab and Palestinian territories and to enable the Palestinian people to recover their national rights, in conformity with the relevant resolutions of the United Nations and other international forums and the recommendations of the United Nations Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People adopted by the General Assembly.

167. The Heads of State or Government stressed the urgent need to organize the International Peace Conference on the Middle East, in conformity with paragraph 6 of the Geneva Declaration and United Nations General Assembly resolution 38/58C of 13 December 1983, in order to achieve a just and comprehensive solution to the Middle East problem, based essentially on the right of the Palestinian people to self-determination and the right to establish an independent and sovereign Palestinian State in its national homeland, Palestine, in conformity with the United Nations General Assembly resolutions 3236 (XXIX) of 22 November 1974 and ES-7/2 of 29 June 1980. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the participation in the Conference of all parties directly concerned in the Arab-Israeli conflict, including the PLO and the Permanent Members of the United Nations Security Council, will be a sine qua non for the attainment of the objectives sought by the Conference.

168. The Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries call on the United Nations Security Council to consider setting up a Preparatory Committee with the participation of the Council's permanent members to examine effective ways and means of holding the International Conference sponsored by the United Nations General Assembly in its resolution 38/58 C concerning the Middle East crisis, in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations and United Nations resolutions pertaining to the Arab-Israeli conflict.

169. The Heads of State or Government stressed the Security Council's responsibilities in providing an adequate institutional framework for guaranteeing compliance with agreements stemming from this Conference, and condemned the negative United States and Israeli attitudes towards it.

170. The Heads of State or Government expressed their full support for the establishment of a nuclear-free zone in the Middle East aimed at reducing tensions and increasing security in the region, in conformity with the relevant resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly, in particular resolution S-10/12. In view of this, they appealed to the Secretary-General of the United Nations to adopt concrete measures in order to establish favourable conditions for the establishment of a nuclear-weapon-free zone in the Middle East.

171. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned Israel's barbaric armed aggression and terrorist attack on 1 October 1985 against the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Tunisia in flagrant violation of the Charter of the United Nations and international law. They expressed deep distress at the heavy loss of life among Tunisian and Palestinian civilians and the damage to property resulting from the attack on the premises of the PLO, designed to destroy the heroic Palestinian resistance. Recalling Security Council resolution 573 (1985), the Heads of State or Government urged that immediate measures be taken to compel

Israel not to resort to such acts and to pay adequate compensation to Tunisia for the damage it had suffered. The Heads of State or Government affirmed their sympathy, solidarity and support for the Government of Tunisia in the face of this aggression.

172. The Heads of State or Government condemned the act of piracy by Israel on 4 February 1986 in intercepting and forcibly diverting a Libyan civilian aircraft in international airspace and its declared intention of persisting in committing such acts. The Heads of State or Government urged the international community to take urgent and effective measures to prevent Israel from repeating such terrorist and provocative acts which jeopardized the lives and safety of passengers and crew and violated provisions of international conventions safeguarding civil aviation. They viewed the United States of America's use of the right of veto at the Security Council to prevent the latter from condemning Israel as support for Israeli terrorism and piracy.

173. The Heads of State or Government stressed the urgent need to adopt appropriate measures to counter the threat posed to Africa's regional security by Israel, taking into account its close co-operation with the apartheid régime of South Africa in the military, economic and nuclear fields, and the contribution of these to the perpetuation of the illegal occupation of Namibia and the strengthening of the aggressive and repressive apparatus of the criminal apartheid régime against the peoples of South Africa and the neighbouring States. They urged the member States in particular to take all necessary measures to face the danger arising from the implementation of the joint economic plan of the two racist régimes to cancel out the effects of any measures designed to impose global and mandatory sanctions.

XVIII. ISRAELI AGGRESSION AGAINST IRAQI NUCLEAR INSTALLATIONS

174. The Heads of State or Government condemned Israel for its armed aggression against Iraqi nuclear installations, which are subject to the safeguards of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), as a violation of the IAEA system of safeguards and the inalienable right of peoples to use atomic energy for peaceful purposes. The Heads of State or Government requested the Security Council to take effective measures to ensure the implementation by Israel of Security Council resolution 487 (1981). The Heads of State or Government observed that Israel has not committed itself as yet not to strike or threaten nuclear installations in Iraq or elsewhere, including installations subject to the safeguards of IAEA. The Heads of State or Government, therefore, requested IAEA to seek additional measures effectively to ensure that Israel undertakes not to strike or threaten peaceful nuclear installations in Iraq or elsewhere in contravention of the Charter of the United Nations nd in violation of the IAEA safeguards system. The Heads of State or Government also stressed their rejection of the attempts made by some States to delete the item "The armed Israeli aggression on the peaceful Iraqi nuclear installations" from the agenda of the United Nations General Assembly, unless Israel complies with Security Council resolution 487(1981).

XIX. QUESTION OF PALESTINE

175. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries as a whole had undertaken to give its support to the Palestinian people in their just struggle for the liberation of their homeland and the recovery of their inalienable national rights.

176. The Heads of State or Government stressed that a comprehensive, just and durable solution to the situation in the Middle East cannot be achieved without the total and unconditional withdrawal of Israel from all Palestinian and other Arab territories it has occupied since 1967, including Jerusalem, and the regaining and exercise in Palestine of the legitimate and inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, including the right to return to their homes, the right to self-determination without external interference and the right to national independence as well as the right to establish a sovereign independent State in Palestine, in conformity with the principles of the Charter of the United Nations and relevant resolutions.

177. The Heads of State or Government affirm that the persistence of Israeli occupation of the Palestinian Arab territories, including Jerusalem, will prevent the Palestinian people from achieving their political, social and economic development; impeding the improvement of their living conditions. They also condemn the United States-supported Israeli policy aiming at linking the economy of the occupied Palestinian territories to that of Israel, thereby impeding the Palestinian people in pursuing their struggle for liberation, independence and in asserting their Palestinian identity.

178. The Heads of States or Government reaffirmed their firm support for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the sole and legitimate representative of the Palestinian people, and emphasized that the PLO alone has the full right to represent the Palestinian people. They affirmed the right of the PLO to participate on an independent and equal footing, in accordance with international law, in all endeavours, international conferences and activities whose objectives are to ensure respect for, and attainment of the exercise of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people.

179. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the resolutions of the Palestinian National Council, including those of the seventeenth session, held in Amman from 22 to 29 November 1984, which reaffirmed its strict adherence to the inalienable national rights of the Palestinian people and the legitimacy of the struggle waged under the leadership of the PLO. They made an appeal for additional support for this struggle and towards the escalation and intensification of armed struggle against the forces of Zionist occupation.

180. They further reaffirmed their strict adherence to the principles of non-interference and non-intervention in the internal and external affairs of the Palestinian people and the right of the PLO to free and independent decision-making.

181. The Heads of States or Government condemned the United States and Israeli campaign to destroy the infrastructure of the PLO and to "eliminate" the Palestinian freedom-fighters. They equally condemned the armed aggression perpetrated by Israel and supported by the Government of the United States of America against the PLO and the host Arab States, as well as its insidious campaigns aimed at distorting the truth about the Palestinian people's liberation struggle and calling into question the policy pursued by the PLO.

182. The Conference considered that the attainment and exercise of the inalienable rights of the Palestinian people, as defined in United Nations General Assembly resolutions 3236 (XXIX) and ES-7/2 of 22 November 1974 and 29 June 1980, respectively, and Israel's total, immediate and unconditional withdrawal from all the Palestinian and other Arab territories occupied since 1967, including Jerusalem, would contribute to the re-establishment of legality in international relations and the strengthening of the process of democratization, and to the establishment of peace and stability in the Middle East. To this effect, the Heads of State or Government reiterated their call for a speedy implementation of General Assembly resolution 38/58 C of 13 December 1983 and stressed anew the necessity for the early convening of the International Peace Conference on the Middle East, emphasizing the major responsibility shouldered by the Security Council in facilitating the convening of the Conference and providing the appropriate institutional arrangements to guarantee the implementation of the expected agreements of the Conference. The Heads of State or Government condemned the negative attitude of Israel and the United States towards the holding of that conference and expressed the hope that the United States would reconsider this negative attitude. They stressed the need to give full encouragement and support to the United Nations Secretary-General to enable him to continue his consultations and endeavours for the holding of the conference.

183. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the situation in the Palestinian refugee camps in the areas of armed conflict resulting from the Israeli invasion and occupation of Lebanese territories. They reiterated the need to provide guarantees to protect the safety of the Palestinian refugees and called upon the Secretary-General of the United Nations to provide guarantees for such protection in implementation of Security Council resolution 581 (1982), and in compliance with the responsibilities of the United Nations.

184. The Heads of State or Government condemned Israel for its denial of the inalienable right of the Palestinians to return to their homes and properties in Palestine and for preventing them from exercising this inalienable right.

185. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern over the fact that the Palestinians and other Arabs living in the Israeli-occupied territories lacked all forms of legal protection and were victims of repressive legislation, the "iron-fist" policy, arbitrary mass arrests, torture, displacement of persons, expulsion and the destruction of homes, in flagrant violation of their human rights and of the provisions of the Fourth Geneva Convention.

186.* The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their rejection of all Israeli policies and practices aimed at altering the geographic features of the occupied Palestinian and other Arab territories, including Jerusalem, or altering the demographic structure therein, particularly Israel's plans to displace and transfer Palestinian refugee camps to new sites. They reiterated their demand to all nations not to recognize such alterations and to cease and sever any co-operation with Israel that might encourage it to pursue its policies and practices in violation of Security Council resolution 465 (1980).

187. Heads of State or Government condemned Israeli policies aimed at bringing the influx of new Jewish immigrants to settle in occupied Palestine which takes place at the expense of the indigenous Arab population who suffer the yoke of Israeli occupation, explusion and the usurpation of their lands on the one hand, and at the expense of the Palestinians' right to return to their homes and property on the other. They further urged all States to refrain in this context from offering Israel or world zionism facilities or encouragement under any form whatsoever as may enable it to persist in pursuing its colonization and expansionist policies.

188.* The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their adherence to the resolutions adopted by the Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries convened from 7 to 12 March 1983 at New Delhi on urgent action by the non-aligned countries for the boycott of Israel in the diplomatic, economic, military and cultural fields and the area of sea and air traffic and also urging the Security Council to apply the provisions of Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations against Israel. They further urged all States to refrain from any co-operation with the Zionist régime that might encourage it to continue pursuing its policy of State terrorism and the commission of terrorist and expansionist acts against neighbouring countries.

189. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the aggression committed against the holy places in the Palestinian and other occupied Arab territories. In this context, they expressed full support for the relevant resolutions adopted by the Organization of the Islamic Conference.

190. The Heads of State or Government expressed anew their support of the Arab Peace Plan adopted by the Twelfth Arab Summit Conference held at Fez from 6 to 12 September 1982, as reaffirmed by the Extraordinary Arab Summit Conference held in Casablanca from 7 to 9 August 1985. They further affirmed their support for the resolutions adopted in support of the Peace Plan by Arab and other international conferences.

191. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the efforts of the Committee of Eight Non-Aligned Countries on Palestine, established at the Seventh Summit in New Delhi, at the level of Heads of State, comprising Algeria, Bangladesh, Cuba, India, the Palestine Liberation Organization, Senegal, Yugoslavia and Zambia. They pointed out that this Committee has played an important role in the efforts to resolve the Palestinian issue, which is the core of the Middle East crisis. Therefore, they decided that the Committee should continue its work with a view to contributing to the convening of the International Peace Conference on the Middle East under the auspices of the United Nations, actively approaching the members of the United Nations Security Council and, in other appropriate ways, initiating and directing the efforts of non-aligned countries to resolve the Question of Palestine in a manner conducive to a comprehensive, lasting and just solution to the Middle East crisis. They also decided that Zimbabwe, as current Chairman of the Movement, become an additional member of the Committee and its Chairman.

XX. LEBANON

192. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the dangerous situation that continues to confront Lebanon. They reaffirmed previous resolutions adopted in this respect by the non-aligned countries, particularly those adopted by the Seventh Summit Conference. They demanded the full implementation of Security Council resolutions 425 and 426 (1978), 508 (1982) and 509 (1982) calling for the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Israeli forces from all Lebanese territories and for the deployment of UNIFIL and the Lebanese army up to the internationally-recognized boundaries of Lebanon. They also declared their solidarity with the Lebanese people and Government and reaffirmed their full support for Lebanon's safety, for its territorial integrity, and for its right to exercise sovereignty throughout its territories within its internationally-recognized boundaries.

193. The Heads of State or Government condemned the Israeli aggression against Lebanon and the continued Israeli occupation of parts of South Lebanon, as well as the inhuman practices of the occupation forces in these territories in flagrant violation of the provisions of the Fourth Geneva Convention of 1949 and they expressed their appreciation and full support for the National Lebanese Resistance aiming at the liberation of Southern Lebanon from the Israeli occupation. The Heads of State or Government urged the United Nations to ensure the protection of the civilian population, including the Palestinian refugees who live under Israeli occupation.

XXI. INDIAN OCEAN AS A ZONE OF PEACE

194. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the determination of Non-Aligned States to continue their efforts to achieve the goals contained in the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace and as considered at the Meeting of the Littoral and Hinterland States of the Indian Ocean in July 1979, as well as at the subsequent meetings of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Indian Ocean. They reiterated their conviction that the presence in the Indian Ocean area of any manifestation of great Power military presence, foreign bases, military installations, logistical supply facilities, nuclear weapons and weapons of mass destruction conceived in the context of great Power rivalries constitutes a flagrant violation of the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace.

195. The Heads of State or Government viewed with alarm and great concern the continuous escalation of great Power military presence in the Indian Ocean area, including the expansion and upgrading of existing bases and the search for new base facilities, as well as the establishment of the new military command structures of the great Powers against the express wishes of the Littoral and Hinterland States of the Indian Ocean and other non-aligned countries. They emphasized that these activities endangered the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and peaceful development of the States in the region.

196. The Heads of State or Government expressed their full support for the Declaration of the Indian Ocean as a Zone of Peace adopted by the United Nations General Assembly in resolution 2832 (XXVI) of 16 December 1971, and urged its early implementation. They also noted that, notwithstanding the efforts of the non-aligned States, the convening of the Conference on the Indian Ocean at Colombo, Sri Lanka, had been inordinately delayed because of the obstructionist attitude adopted by some States. They urged the United Nations Ad Hoc Committee to complete its preparation for the Conference strictly in accordance with its mandate.

197. The Heads of State or Government resolved to continue their endeavours to ensure that the Conference on the Indian Ocean would · held at Colombo at the earliest possible date, but not later than 1988. In this context, they called for full and active participation in the Conference by all the permanent members of the Security Council and the major maritime users, as well as co-operation by those States with the Littoral and Hinterland States, which was essential for the success of the Conference.

XXII. ANTARCTICA

198. Recalling the relevant provisions of the Declaration of the Seventh Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, held at New Delhi from 7 to 12 March 1983, the Heads of State or Government noted the increasing international interest in the continent of Antarctica, as evidenced by the deliberations which took place during the subsequent sessions of the General Assembly, the meetings of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the OAU Summit, as well as by the growing membership of the Antarctic Treaty. In this context, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their conviction that, in the interests of all mankind. Antarctica should be used forever exclusively for peaceful purposes, should not become the scene or object of international discord and should be accessible to all nations.

199. The Heads of State or Government noted the various resolutions adopted by the United Nations General Assembly and expressed the hope that the updated and expanded study by the Secretary-General called for by General Assembly resolution 40/156 would contribute towards a more comprehensive examination of this question at the forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly with a view to appropriate action, taking into account the concerns of members of the Movement. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their conviction that the interest of the international community in the continent can be enhanced by keeping the United Nations fully informed of developments in Antarctica and they noted that the United Nations should remain seized of the question.

200. The Heads of State or Government affirmed their conviction that any exploitation of the resources of Antarctica should ensure the maintenance of international peace and security in Antarctica and the protection of its environment, and should be for the benefit of all mankind. In this context, they also affirmed that all States Members of the United Nations have a valid interest in such exploitation.

201. The Heads of State or Government noted with regret that the racist apartheid régime of South Africa is a Consultative Party to the Antarctica Treaty, and in the light of United Nations General Assembly resolution 40/156C urged the Consultative Parties to exclude that régime from participation in their meeting forthwith.

202. The Heads of State or Government called upon all States to resume co-operation with the purpose of coming to an understanding on all aspects concerning Antarctica within the framework of the United Nations General Assembly.

XXIII. CYPRUS

203. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their full solidarity with and support for the people and Government of the Republic of Cyprus and reaffirmed their support for the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity, unity and non-aligned status of the Republic. They deplored the unilateral declaration of independence of 15 November 1983, made by the Turkish Cypriot leadership, as legally invalid and called for its withdrawal. Likewise, they deplored all subsequent separatist actions and other illegal acts, including the so-called "referendum" of May 1985 and the so-called "presidential" and "parliamentary elections" held in June 1985, in defiance of pertinent resolutions.

204. The Heads of State or Government also expressed their deep concern over the fact that part of the Republic of Cyprus continues to be under foreign occupation and demanded the immediate withdrawal of all occupation forces as an essential basis for the solution of the Cyprus problem. They welcomed the proposal made by the President of the Republic of Cyprus for the total demilitarization of Cyprus.

205. The Heads of State or Government stressed the urgent need for the voluntary return of the refugees to their homes in safety, respect for the human rights and the fundamental freedoms of all Cypriots and the speedy tracing of and accounting for those missing. and condemned all efforts or actions aimed at altering the demographic structure of Cyprus which recently acquired alarming proportions.

206. The Heads of State or Government considered that the de facto situation created by force of arms and unilateral actions should not in any way affect the solution of the problem.

207. The Heads of State or Government supported the continuation of the mission of good offices of the United Nations Secretary-General entrusted to him by the Security Council for the finding of a just and viable solution of the Cyprus problem based on the Charter of the United Nations and resolutions on Cyprus.

208. Finally, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed all previous declarations and communiqués of the Non-Aligned Movement and demanded the immediate and unconditional implementation of the resolutions and decisions of the Security Council and the United Nations General Assembly.

XXIV. THE MEDITERRANEAN

209. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern over the escalation and aggravation of the situation in the Mediterranean, the exertion of military and other forms of pressure on the non-aligned countries in the area, continuous bloc confrontation, increased military presence and concentration of military effectives and arsenals of weapons, including nuclear weapons of great Powers, foreign bases and fleets, as well as over the continued existence of hotbeds of crisis, occupation and aggression in this region.

210. They condemned the military exercises and other demonstrations of military power near the territorial water and airspace of littoral States which lead to the outbreak of very serious incidents and endanger the sovereignty and independence of non-aligned countries of the region and that such a situation is fraught with the danger of uncontrolled developments which may have far-reaching consequences for peace and stability in the Mediterranean, Europe and the world at large. They emphasized that no motive or pretext can justify the threat or use of force, interference in the internal affairs of Mediterranean countries and the creation of situations that can have such consequences.

211. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the transformation of the Mediterranean area into a region of peace, security, and co-operation, free from conflict and confrontation, and expressed firm support for the objective of strengthening security and co-operation in the Mediterranean Basin in accordance with earlier statements by the Movement and the relevant resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly.

212. The Heads of State or Government, recalling the decision of the Seventh Summit in New Delhi, which called upon the Mediterranean members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to hold a meeting with a view to harmonizing positions and launching initiatives for co-operation and the strengthening of security in the Mediterranean, welcomed the agreement embodied in the Declaration for Mediterranean Peace adopted at the meeting in Valletta in September 1984.

213. Supporting the orientation of the Mediterranean members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries towards making continuous efforts to lessen and overcome tensions and to strengthen all-round co-operation in the interest of all, the Heads of State or Government welcomed the decision of the Mediterranean non-aligned members to hold meetings when they deem necessary at the level of Foreign Ministers, the next one to be held in Yugoslavia, and encouraged ministerial meetings of Mediterranean non-aligned members to take place whenever necessary in order further to contribute in a concrete manner both to the stability of the region as well as to the promotion in the region of functional co-operation among the non-aligned Mediterranean members and between them and European countries in various fields.

214. The Heads of State or Government called on all States and in particular other Mediterranean European States to respect the provisions of the Valletta Declaration, especially the need to adhere strictly to the principle of non-use of force or threat of use of force and urged them not to use their armaments, forces, bases and other military facilities against non-aligned Mediterranean States and not to permit foreign forces to use their territory, waters or air to launch aggressions against non-aligned countries.

XXV. THE UNITED STATES AGGRESSION AGAINST LIBYA*

215. The Heads of State or Government were deeply perturbed by the recent developments in the Mediterranean area resulting from repeated United States aggressions and provocations against the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, which seriously endangered peace and security in the region and in the whole world. In this context, the Heads of State or Government recalled the communiqués issued by the Co-ordinating Bureau on this subject at its meetings in New York on 6 February 1986 and 26 March 1986, as well as the Communiqué issued by the Emergency Meeting of Ministers and Heads of Delegation of the Co-ordinating Bureau of Non-Aligned Countries held in New Delhi on 15 April 1986, following the United States aggression against the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya with the support and collaboration of the United Kingdom. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned this unprovoked aggression, which constitutes an act of State terrorism and a violation of international law and the Charter of the United Nations, and called on the United States to desist forthwith from undertaking such aggressive acts, including military manoeuvres in the Gulf of Sidra, which are considered a violation of the sovereignty and territorial integrity of the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, and which endangered peace and security in the Mediterranean region and hindered the efforts designed to make that region a zone of peace, security and co-operation, and called on the United States of America to provide full and immediate compensation to the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya for the human and material losses it has suffered. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their full support for and solidarity with the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya in its defence of its independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

216. The Heads of State or Government declared that the air attack on the house of the leader of the Libyan revolution with the purpose of eliminating him and his family is considered a grave precedent in international relations and a crime that is devoid of any political or moral value.

217.* Bearing in mind the responsibilities of the Security Council for the maintenance of international peace and security, the Heads of State or Government regretted that the body had been prevented from adopting a resolution condemning this blatant act of aggression by the United States against the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya by the misuse of veto power by some of its permanent members. In this context, the Heads of State or Government of non-aligned countries decided to support as appropriate the request for the inclusion of the question of the United States aggression against the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya in the agenda of the forty-first session of the General Assembly of the United Nations in view of the gravity of the subject and its negative and dangerous implications for regional and international peace and security.

XXVI. EUROPE

218. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the efforts for the relaxation of tension in Europe, the continent with the highest concentrations of military arsenals and the most marked division of States into rival blocs. They welcomed the resumption of the discussions between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the United States of America on the reduction or elimination of medium-range nuclear missiles deployed on the European continent. They assessed that, if successful, these negotiations could constitute a historical turn in arresting the nuclear arms race and possibly reversing it.

219. The Heads of State or Government also expressed the hope that the forthcoming Vienna session of the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe (CSCE) would reaffirm and strengthen the positive trends initiated by the Helsinki Conference. They noted that the non-aligned and neutral countries of Europe are an important and constructive factor in the relaxation of East-West tensions. The role played by these countries in the Stockholm Conference on Confidence-and

...

Security-Building Measures and Disarmament in Europe, as in the CSCE process as a whole, is complementary to the global efforts of the Non-Aligned Movement and constitutes concrete implementation of the principles and policies of non-alignment in Europe.

220. The Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the results of the Stockholm Conference would contribute towards the strengthening of confidence and security in Europe and in the Mediterranean and to the establishment of conditions conducive to the opening of a broader and more substantial process of negotiations on disarmament in Europe.

221. They stressed the close interdependence between the security of Europe and the security of the Mediterranean and the fact that confidence-building measures in Europe should be extended to cover the Mediterranean region. They emphasized that the Mediterranean non-aligned countries and the European countries should discuss, on the basis of full equality, all questions affecting security and co-operation in the Mediterranean.

222. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that many European countries were taking an increasing interest in the activities of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, as well as in co-operation with non-aligned countries.

XXVII. LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN

223. The Heads of State or Government recognized that the Latin American and Caribbean region is among those which have been more directly affected by the acts of aggression of colonial powers and imperialism. Latin America and the Caribbean suffers the worst economic crisis since the Second World War, and is the most indebted region in the world, facing a growing deterioration of the living conditions of its peoples. In this respect, they referred to the profound historical significance of the anti-imperialist and democratic struggle of the peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean to consolidate their national independence and full exercise of their sovereignty, in accordance with the principles and objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and with their inalienable right to choose their political, economic and social systems free from outside interference. They further expressed their satisfaction with the efforts made by the States of the region to strengthen their unity, solidarity and co-operation through various regional integration efforts. They noted the emergence of a common Latin American consciousness of the need to find solutions to the grave political and economic problems of the region, in particular, the Central American conflict and the enormous external debt.

224. The Heads of State or Government pointed out with deep concern that the prevailing situation in Central America constitutes one of the major focal points of tension at the international level. They further noted that, in spite of the constant appeals of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, the overwhelming majority of States and the efforts of the Contadora Group of countries in the search for a diplomatic solution, the crisis has worsened because of imperialist policies of interference and intervention which, along with the condition of poverty and oppression from which the region traditionally suffers, represent a real threat to international peace and security. They reiterated that the process of change in Central America is of a socio-economic nature and therefore could not be explained in terms of ideological confrontation between the military blocs and further observed that the danger of direct United States intervention in Nicaragua and other countries in the region had increased alarmingly.

225. The Heads of State or Government condemned the escalation of aggression, military attacks and other actions against Nicaragua's sovereignty, political independence, territorial integrity, stability and self-determination. In this context, they particularly condemned the violation of its airspace and territorial waters, the launching of military manoeuvres and the commission of other intimidating acts; threats of seizure and occupation and selective bombing of Nicaraguan territory; the use of neighbouring countries as bases for aggression and the training of mercenary groups; acts of sabotage, air and naval attacks, the mining of the country's main ports; and the imposition of coercive economic measures, including the trade embargo. Such terrorist practices have caused the deaths of thousands of Nicaraguans, resulted in heavy economic losses and hindered Nicaragua's normal development.

226. The Heads of State or Government considered that these acts of political and economic pressure, in addition to the military actions, should be discussed within the framework of the wider plan to destabilize and overthrow the Government of Nicaragua; and that they increase the risk of a regional war and hinder the necessary dialogue being promoted by the Contadora Group for the purpose of securing a negotiated and political solution to the region's problems.

227. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government expressed outrage that the United States Congress had approved the allocation of further funds totalling US$100 million to its mercenary contra army, authorizing the open participation of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in its direction and control as well as the participation of military advisers, members of the Special Forces of the United States Armed Forces in the training of the mercenary forces for the purpose of overthrowing the legitimately-constituted Government of Nicaragua. They strongly condemned this immoral and illegal act which violates accepted norms of international behaviour and law. They emphasized that this blatant act of aggression against the Republic of Nicaragua not only violates the sovereignty, political independence and self-determination of that country, a Member of the Non-Aligned Movement, but also constitutes an affront to the principles and objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and of the Charter of the United Nations.

228. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their firm solidarity with Nicaragua and demanded the immediate cessation of all threats and hostile acts against Nicaragua including attacks, the financing of mercenary groups by the United States Government and coercive economic measures taken against the people and Government of that country, all of which are aimed at overthrowing the legitimately-constituted Government of Nicaragua and which increase the risk of a generalized conflict. They appealed to all members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, as well as the international community, to give solidarity and all such assistance as Nicaragua may require in order to preserve its right of self-determination, national independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

229. The Heads of State or Government urged the United States to comply with the ruling of 10 May 1984 on Provisional Measures of Protection and the Judgement of 2 November 1984 on the jurisdiction and admissibility of the demand of 9 April 1984 presented by Nicaragua. They further called upon the United States to comply with the decision of the International Court of Justice delivered on 27 June 1986, especially the findings of the Court that the United States, by its many hostile acts against Nicaragua, violated international law, that it is under a duty immediately to cease and to refrain from all such acts; that it is under an obligation to make reparations to the Republic of Nicaragua; and that the form and amount of such reparations, failing agreement between the parties, will be settled by the Court.

230. The Heads of State or Government welcomed and fully supported the diplomatic efforts of the Contadora Group of Countries - Colombia, Mexico, Panama and Venezuela - aimed at securing a negotiated solution to the crisis in Central America. They reiterated their conviction that the Group represents an authentic regional initiative for solving the Central American problem by peaceful means and urged all States concerned to increase their efforts in order to bring the peace process spearheaded by the Contadora Group to fruition.

231. They also welcomed the formation of the Lima Support Group for the Contadora Group, composed of Argentina, Brazil, Peru and Uruguay, and were confident that this initiative would contribute significantly to strengthening the efforts for peace in the region.

232. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the Message of Caraballeda, issued by the Contadora Group and the Support Group on 12 January 1986, which was endorsed by the Foreign Ministers of the Central American States in January 1986 and was reaffirmed at Punta del Este, Uruguay. They expressed the hope that these efforts and the implementation of the simultaneous action envisaged in the Message will lead to the resumption of the process of negotiation and dialogue essential for the peaceful solution of the Central American crisis. They reiterated that the steps referred to must be taken simultaneously in order to strengthen the reciprocal confidence needed to secure peace, it being unacceptable to select some of them to the detriment of others. It should be stressed that each step is valid in itself. Consequently, none of them can be made conditional upon others, since they represent a political and legal duty for each State.

233. If an atmosphere conducive to peace and co-operation in Central America is to be achieved, it is necessary that concrete actions are taken for the purpose of ensuring the security of the Central American States. Observing that the cessation of all acts of aggression against Nicaragua would constitute a fundamental step in the process of achieving that goal, the Heads of State or Government reiterated their call on the United States Administration to resume negotiations with the Government of Nicaragua with the object of normalizing bilateral relations and for the purpose of securing a peaceful settlement of the conflict in Central America guided by the principles of mutual respect, sovereignty and self-determination of peoples.

234. The Heads of State or Government commended the Government of Nicaragua for the constructive steps it has taken in the quest for a peaceful settlement of the Central American crisis within the Contadora process.

235. The Heads of State or Government appealed to all parties concerned to facilitate the establishment of an atmosphere of mutual trust necessary for achieving a just and durable settlement of the crisis in the region, based on ensuring the security of all States and respect for their sovereignty, national independence and self-determination, by adopting a constructive attitude regarding the simultaneous implementation of the Caraballeda Plan approved by the Central American countries in the Guatemala Declaration.

236. The Heads of State or Government were of the view that the dismantling of foreign military bases, the withdrawal of foreign military advisers, the halting of military manoeuvres and scrupulous adherence to the principle of non-use or threat of force in the relations between States would substantially reduce tension and contribute to the search for a political and negotiated solution to the problems of Central America.

237. The Heads of State or Government deplored the fact that the United States of America was still preventing the adoption of a negotiated political solution. They called on that country to help in establishing the climate of confidence that was needed in order to achieve a just and lasting solution to the conflict affecting the region, and to respect the principles of international law so as to avoid increasing tensions and thus help to create the conditions for peace.

238. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the agreements between Nicaragua and Costa Rica to establish the political basis for the formation of a commission of supervision and control of the border area, and they urged the Government of Costa Rica to implement those agreements. They welcomed the willingness of the Government of Nicaragua to establish a similar commission for the border between that country and Honduras and urged the Government of Honduras to respond favourably to this initiative as it would help create an effective mechanism to prevent border incidents and generate increased mutual confidence.

239. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the creation of an institutional framework which will help greatly to strengthen the political and economic dialogue between Europe and Central America. In this connection they expressed confidence that the Ministerial Conferences of States Members of the European Economic Community, countries of Central America and countries members of the Contadora Group, which began with the Conference held in San Jose, Costa Rica, in 1984, which was followed by the Conference held in Luxembourg in November 1985, as well as the next Conference which it is planned to hold in September 1986 in Guatemala, will continue to help in the search for peace and co-operation for Central America.

240. The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation the role of the informal Group of Friends of the Chairman of the Co-ordinating Bureau in helping the Chairman of the Bureau monitor the evolving situation in Central America and asked it to follow closely events in the region.

241. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their profound concern at the continued deterioration of the situation in El Salvador due to the deepening economic, political and social problems and the increased imperialist intervention that has intensified the armed conflict throughout the country. They recalled that through its resolution 39/119 of 1984, the General Assembly of the United Nations requested "all States to refrain from intervening in the internal situation in El Salvador and, instead of supplying arms or helping in any way to prolong and intensify the war, encourage the continuation of the dialogue until a just and lasting peace is achieved". Accordingly, they called upon the Government of the United States to adopt a constructive attitude conducive to the attainment of a political solution that will put an end to the suffering of the Salvadorian people.

242. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at the serious violations of human rights that continue to be committed in El Salvador. They expressed their particular concern at the harm being caused to the civilian population throughout the country by the armed conflict, particularly the attacks, bombings and forced removals that the government forces are carrying out against the civilian population in the zone controlled by the insurgents. These violations, in addition to causing innumerable civilian victims, are increasing the already high number of refugees and internally displaced persons, with serious social and economic consequences for the country.

243. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the agreement by the Government of El Salvador to resume dialogue with the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front-Democratic Revolutionary Front (FMLN/FDR). They noted that the Fronts had presented a peace proposal for a negotiated political solution which should be in conformity with the fundamental principles of non-alignment. In this regard, they reminded both parties of the request to them made by the General Assembly through its resolution 40/139 "as agreed in the meeting of La Palma, to establish as soon as possible appropriate mechanisms to study the plans and proposals submitted by both parties and to include all sectors of national life in the search for peace". Finally, they reiterated that only through direct negotiations between the parties can a lasting negotiated comprehensive political solution to this crisis be achieved and urged the Government of El Salvador and the revolutionary forces, the FMLN/FDR, to renew immediately their talks and continue them until they achieve the peace based on justice that the Salvadorian people long for.

244. The Heads of State or Government took note with satisfaction that elections had been held in Guatemala and that a new government had been installed in that country. They likewise welcomed with satisfaction the process of democratization initiated by this constitutional Government. They expressed concern at the continued violence affecting the country and their hope that the Government would continue taking the necessary steps to halt that violence and guarantee the broadest possible participation of all sections of the population in the search for a political solution to the conflict which that country has been experiencing in recent years as well as the full exercise of human rights.

245. The Heads of State or Government expressed their deep satisfaction at the holding of the historic meeting of the five Central American Presidents in Esquipulas, Guatemala, on 25 May 1986, at which they stated that peace in Central America can result only from a democratic, pluralist and participatory process involving promotion of social justice, respect for human rights, sovereignty and territorial integrity of States and the right of all nations to choose, freely and without external interference of any kind, their own economic, political and social system, it being understood that this choice will be the result of the freely expressed will of the peoples.

246. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the need to do away with colonialism in all its forms and manifestations in Latin America and the Caribbean, and they reiterated the non-aligned countries' full solidarity with the peoples of the region which are still in a colonial situation. As a result, they demanded that the colonial Powers immediately implement United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514(XV) in those territories. They also expressed serious concern over the fact that the colonial Powers are using territories in the region as bases or ports of call for ships carrying nuclear weapons and for the storage of such weapons.

247. The Heads of State or Government condemned the transit of vessels equipped with nuclear weapons and the maintenance of military bases and troops foreign to the region in Latin America and the Caribbean, such as those existing in Cuba and Puerto Rico and on the Malvinas Islands, and they observed with concern the intention to install new ones, such as the one planned for Easter Island, which constitutes a threat to peace and security in the region.

248. The Heads of State or Government demanded the immediate and unconditional lifting of the economic blockade and the cessation of all other forms of pressure against Cuba by the United States. They strongly condemned the recent escalation of threats of aggression and violation of Cuba's territorial waters and airspace, especially by espionage vehicles, as well as the blockade in the spheres of finance, credit and trade. They reaffirmed the Movement's solidarity with Cuba and its full support for Cuba's just demand that the United States return the area illegally occupied by the Guantanamo Naval Base and compensate the Cuban people for the material damage suffered.

249. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the need to eradicate colonialism in all its forms and manifestations in conformity with United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) and, in this regard, they reiterated their support for the Puerto Rican people's inalienable right to self-determination and independence in accordance with the above resolution and taking full account of the resolution adopted on 14 August 1985 by the United Nations Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples.

250. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at reports pertaining to the imprisonment of Puerto Rican patriots in the United States and urged that country to respect the civil rights of all Puerto Rican patriots.

251. The Heads of State or Government expressed their solidarity with and full support for the people of Haiti in relation to their struggle for the full restoration of civil liberties and human, political and economic rights in that country. They expressed their respect for the self-determination of the Haitian people and their concern at, and strong condemnation of all manifestations of interference in the internal affairs of Haiti which might impede the free exercise by the people of their right to choose their political and economic system. In this regard, they supported the struggle of the Haitian people for the full realization of their human rights.

252. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their solidarity with the people of Grenada and exhorted all States to respect their right to independence and sovereignty and to determine freely their political, economic and social systems. They noted that, in spite of United Nations General Assembly resolution 38/7, foreign military personnel are still in Grenada, and they urged that they be withdrawn forthwith in accordance with that resolution.

253. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their support for and solidarity with the people and the Government of the Republic of Suriname in their efforts aimed at preserving their independence and sovereignty. They welcomed the latest developments in Suriname with regard to the process of democratization through national dialogue which resulted in the formation of an interim Government based on the widest representation ever brought together in the country's history.

254. The Heads of State or Government observed that foreign interventionist circles aided by contracted foreign mercenaries and local criminal elements were putting dangerous obstacles in Suriname's way through counter-revolutionary activities and that mercenary activities had taken place in the eastern border area resulting in the loss of lives of Surinamese civilians and soldiers. They condemned these acts and appealed to the Governments concerned to take all steps to avoid their territory being used for the activities of mercenary groups which hindered development, stability and peace in the country and which promoted unrest in the region. The Heads of State or Government also expressed their deep concern at measures taken and continuing attempts by certain governments to exert pressures, which had an adverse effect on the political, economic and social development of Suriname.

They urged them to stop these measures and expressed the hope that the Governments concerned would engage in a frank, fair and meaningful dialogue, without coercion or any other form of interference in order to arrive at a solution on the basis of mutual respect and in the interest and well-being of the people of Suriname.

255. The Heads of State or Government expressed their total solidarity with the people and Government of Panama in their efforts to secure that the United States fully comply with the Panama Canal treaties and the neutrality of that inter-oceanic waterway. They expressed concern over certain administrative and accounting policies and practices implemented by the United States in the management of the Panama Canal Commission which are contrary to what was agreed upon by both countries in the said treaties, and in particular over the application of Law 96/70 of the United States Congress which is incompatible with those treaties and violates their letter and spirit.

256. The Heads of State or Government condemned the campaign of defamation against the Republic of Panama and high-ranking authorities of that country orchestrated by ultra-conservative sectors of the United States in alliance with reactionary opposition elements, with the aim of destabilizing the country, blocking the full reversion of the Panama Canal to Panamanian property and control in 1999, neutralizing the non-aligned foreign policy of the Republic of Panama and its participation in the Contadora Group, as well as discrediting its international banking centre.

257. The Heads of State or Government renewed their appeal to all countries to adhere to the Protocol to the Permanent Neutrality Treaty for the Panama Canal and to respect the neutrality of that inter-oceanic waterway.

258. The Heads of State or Government noted the efforts being made by the Government of Guyana to consolidate its independence and sovereignty and to ensure a safe future for its people. In connection with the territorial claim advanced by Venezuela, they noted that both countries had submitted the means for settlement of the dispute for consideration by the United Nations Secretary-General, in strict compliance with the Geneva Agreement of 1966. They welcomed the recent improvement in Guyana/Venezuela relations and expressed the hope that this would lead to increased friendship and co-operation between them.

259. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their firm support for the Republic of Argentina's right to have its sovereignty over the Malvinas Islands restored through negotiations. They reiterated their call for the resumption of negotiations between the Governments of Argentina and the United Kingdom with the participation and good offices of the United Nations Secretary-General. They reaffirmed the need that the said solution should duly take into account the interests of the population of the islands and took note with satisfaction of the will expressed by the Argentine Government to respect and guarantee the maintenance of the way of life of the islanders, their traditions and cultural identity, including the use of safeguards and guarantees and statutes that might be negotiated. This would ensure a speedy, peaceful and just solution to the question in conformity with the principles and decisions of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries on the subject and with United Nations General Assembly resolutions 1514(XV), 2065(XX), 3160(XXVIII), 31/49, 37/9, 38/12, 39/6 and 40/21.

260. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the adoption of General Assembly resolution 40/21 and commended the Argentine Government for its substantial contributions to the peaceful and lasting solution to the problems pending between Argentina and the United Kingdom. They noted with satisfaction that, after the adoption of resolution 40/21, the Government of Argentina had confirmed its readiness to resume the negotiations requested by the General Assembly, and they urged the Government of the United Kingdom also to agree to their resumption and to refrain from taking decisions that would imply introducing unilateral modifications in the situation while the sovereignty dispute remains unsettled.

261. The Heads of State or Government also reaffirmed that the massive British military and naval presence in the area of the Malvinas, South Georgias and South Sandwich Islands, which include a strategic airport, are a cause for great concern to the countries of the Latin American region, endanger the peace and adversely affect stability in the area.

262. The Heads of State or Government recalled that the establishment of bases and other military installations on dependent territories obstructs the application of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial

Countries and Peoples (United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514(XV)) and is incompatible with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and with the aforementioned resolution.

263. The Heads of State or Government once more reiterated their categorical support for the Republic of Bolivia's legitimate and rightful claim to recover a direct and useful outlet to the Pacific Ocean, with full sovereignty. Convinced that the solution of this problem is of interest to the international community by applying the peaceful procedures set forth in the United Nations Charter and in the framework of the objectives of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, the Heads of State or Government took note with great interest, of the auspicious opening initiated between the Governments of Bolivia and Chile and expressed their hope that through this process the Bolivian maritime problem would be solved, thus expressing the spirit of Latin American brotherhood and contributing to a better understanding among the nations of the region.

264. The Heads of State or Government, noting the high level of unity achieved by the democratic forces in Chile and the intensification of the Chilean peoples' struggle for civil, political and social rights denied them by the military régime in power, reaffirmed their solidarity with them and demanded that the military junta put an end to all human rights violations and the repression and crimes that have provoked worldwide repudiation. They reiterated their total support for the legitimate aspirations of the Chilean people to recover their freedom, democracy and their basic human rights and to re-establish the policy of non-alignment followed by the late President Salvador Allende.

265. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their unconditional support for the independence and territorial integrity of Belize and their respect for the right of Belize to determine its future as a free and sovereign nation within its land and maritime boundaries. They emphasized that any threat or use of force against Belize is unacceptable and also reiterated their commitment to the solution of disputes by negotiations and other peaceful means.

266. The Heads of State or Government observed that the Treaty of Tlatelolco establishes a zone in which the development, manufacture, deployment or stockpiling of nuclear weapons are proscribed. For the proper functioning of the Treaty, it is imperative that conditions be created that are conducive to the accession by all States of the region to the Treaty and this is best achieved through respect for the purposes and provisions of the Treaty on the part of nuclear-weapon States. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government urged all nuclear-weapon States to abide by the provisions of the Additional Protocols to the Treaty, and strongly condemned the introduction of nuclear weapons into the region by any nuclear-weapon State.

267. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the establishment of new democracies in Latin America consequent upon the decline in military tyrannies in the region, which enable their respective peoples fully to realize their inalienable right to determine their own destinies freely. In this regard, they recognized that it was advisable to find political solutions and to make efforts to consolidate the democratic processes whose stability was seriously and directly undermined by the problem of external indebtedness because of the far-reaching political, economic and social effects of that problem.

268. The Heads of State or Government noted that the defence of human rights and full and effective exercise of political ideological pluralism constitute important factors in the p ogress of the peoples of the region.

XXVIII. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE DECLARATION ON THE GRANTING OF INDEPENDENCE TO COLONIAL COUNTRIES AND PEOPLES

269. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the activities, especially within the United Nations, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the historic Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples contained in United Nations General Assembly resolution 1514 (XV) of 14 December 1960.

270. Although they welcomed the gains made in implementing the Declaration, the Heads of State or Government were disturbed that the colonial Powers continued to obstruct and impede the struggle for the complete elimination of colonialism in all its forms and manifestations.

271. They therefore firmly condemned the increasing exploitation of the human and natural resources of those territories by colonial Powers and transnational corporations, as well as the use of some of them for military purposes, including the stockpiling and/or deployment of nuclear weapons, which not only represents a serious impediment to the exercise of their inalienable right to self-determination and independence, but also constitutes a threat to their security and that of independent neighbouring States.

272. The Heads of State or Government were convinced that, as long as cases of colonialism such as Namibia, New Caledonia, Puerto Rico, the Malvinas Islands, Micronesia and other dependent territories continued, the notorious system of colonialism would not be overcome. They demanded the immediate implementation of resolution 1514 (XV) and other relevant United Nations resolutions in these cases.

273. They called on the colonial Powers to desist forthwith from exploiting these territories or misusing them for military purposes, especially as regards nuclear weaponry, and to facilitate the exercise by their respective peoples of their right to self-determination and independence in conformity with the relevant United Nations resolutions.

274. The Heads of Státe or Government reiterated their conviction that the struggle for national independence is a legitimate means of eliminating colonialism in its many forms and manifestations and urged all States to increase their moral, political, diplomatic and material support to movements of national liberation which are struggling for self-determination and independence in conformity with the relevant resolutions of the United Nations, in particular resolution 2525 (XXV) of the General Assembly.

275. The Heads of State or Government expressed their satisfaction at the work of the United Nations Special Committee on the Situation with regard to the Implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples and its effective contribution to the implementation of the Declaration on the Granting of Independence to Colonial Countries and Peoples.

XXIX. RIGHT TO DEVELOPMENT

276. The Heads of State or Government stressed the importance for the non-aligned and other developing countries of the item entitled "Right to development", which is being examined in the relevant bodies of the United Nations, and urged all members of the Movement to pay their utmost attention to this item.

277. The Heads of State or Government, bearing in mind the recommendation of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau, held at New Delhi in April 1986, instructed the Co-ordinating Bureau in New York to carry out the relevant consultations with a view to promoting the adoption, by the non-aligned countries, of a declaration on the right to development during the forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly.

XXX. INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM

278. The Heads of State or Government were deeply perturbed by the world-wide escalation of acts of terrorism, including State terrorism, in all its forms, which endanger or take innocent human lives, jeopardize fundamental freedoms, have an increasingly deleterious effect on international relations and may endanger the very territorial integrity and security of States. They condemned all terrorist activities, whether committed by individuals, groups or States, and resolved to counter them by every legal means possible. They called upon all States to fulfil their obligations under international law to refrain from organizing, instigating, assisting or participating in terrorist acts in other States or acquiescing in activities within their territories towards the commission of such acts.

279. The Heads of State or Government however emphasized that the legitimate struggle of peoples under colonial and racist régimes and all forms of foreign domination and occupation, and of their national liberation movements, against their oppressors, and in particular that of the peoples of South Africa, Namibia and Palestine, for self-determination and independence in accordance with the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and the principles of non-alignment can in no way be considered or equated with terrorism.

280. Mercenarism or the activities of soldiers of fortune are a key element of international terrorism, and thus constitute an international crime. In the light of the harmful effects which the activities of mercenaries have had on a number of non-aligned member States, particularly African countries, and which have prejudiced the peace, sovereignty and stability of such countries, the Heads of State or Government condemned unreservedly the recent intended mercenary attack on Ghana.

281. They recalled in this regard the various resolutions of the Organization of African Unity, as well as the United Nations draft on an international convention against the recruitment, use, financing and training of mercenaries, and reminded all member States of the international community, particularly Western countries, to fulfil their obligations under the various international conventions by forbidding the recruitment, use, financing, training, transit and directing of mercenaries and by severely punishing them when apprehended.

XXXI. NON-AGGRESSION AND NON-THREAT OR USE OF FORCE IN INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

282. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern that in recent years the use of force and acts of aggression have been exacerbated and that many of them were causing serious human and material loss to the economies of the countries concerned and have posed threats to international peace and security, to the progress of their people, and to the cohesion, effectiveness and solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They recalled the principles of the Charter of the United Nations outlawing aggression and any threat or use of force in international relations and the obligation to resort to peaceful settlement of disputes, which remain central to the philosophy of peaceful coexistence advocated by non-aligned countries.

283. They recalled the definition of aggression embodied in General Assembly resolution 3314 (XXIX) and the Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Co-operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, embo ed in General Assembly resolution 2526 (XXV), and maintained that a war of aggression in international relations is considered to be the most serious breach of international law and non-aligned principles, 35 well as a crime against humanity which gives rise to international responsibility. They also maintained that execution of international collective punitive measures adopted in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations vis-à-vis acts of aggression will result in enhancement and respect for the observance of international law.

284. They expressed their full support for adoption of a universal declaration on non-use of force in international relations and pledged themselves to work towards that end in the United Nations Special Committee on Enhancing the Effectiveness of the Principle of Non-Use of Force in International Relations. To this effect they pledged themselves to work during the forty-first session of the General Assembly of the United Nations in order to expedite the work of the Special Committee along the aforementioned lines.

XXXII. PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

285. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that, in recent years, disputes and conflicts among non-aligned countries have been exacerbated and that some of them were causing serious human and material loss to the economies of the countries concerned and posing threats to the peace and progress of their peoples, as well as to the cohesion, effectiveness and solidarity of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. They regarded the persistence of this negative phenomenon as undermining the role and the efforts of non-aligned countries to strengthen international peace and security. They reiterated the need to abide strictly by the principles of the Charter of the United Nations and of peaceful coexistence, especially those regarding respect for the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of States, non-interference in their internal affairs and refraining from the threat or use of force in international relations and respect for the obligations arising out of treaties and other sources of international law. They recalled that the principles of avoidance of threat or use of force and of peaceful settlement of disputes remain central to the philosophy of peaceful coexistence advocated by non-aligned countries.

286. The Heads of State or Government urged that all non-aligned countries should adhere to and implement the decisions of the United Nations Security Council and General Assembly and fully utilize the procedures for the amicable settlement of disputes envisaged in the Charter of the United Nations, including negotiation, inquiry, mediation, conciliation, arbitration, judicial settlement, resort to regional agencies or arrangements, or other peaceful means of their own choice.

287. In this context, they recalled the request made by the Seventh Summit Conference of Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, in paragraph 170 of its Political Declaration, to the Non-Aligned Co-ordinating Bureau in New York to finalize the composition of the Working Group set up at the Ministerial Meeting in Havana to study proposals and working papers submitted on the subject of peaceful settlement of disputes, as well as any others to be submitted in future, with a view to the preparation of an appropriate comprehensive report and recommendations on the subject for consideration at the Ministerial Conference in 1988. The Working Group would be open-ended.

XXXIII. NON-INTERVENTION AND NON-INTERFERENCE

288. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the Declaration on the Inadmissibility of Intervention and Interference in the Internal Affairs of States, contained in United Nations General Assembly resolution 36/103 and for the Declaration on Principles of International Law concerning Friendly Relations and Co-operation among States in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, as embodied in General Assembly resolution 2625 (XXV). They reiterated that violation of the principles of non-intervention and non-interference in the internal and external affairs of States is unjustifiable and unacceptable under any circumstances. They noted with grave concern that policies of intervention and interference, pressure and the threat or use of force continue to be pursued against many non-aligned and developing countries, with dangerous consequences for peace and security. They asserted the right of all States to pursue their own economic or political development without intimidation, hindrance or pressure and called upon all States to adhere to the Declaration on non-intervention and non-interference and to observe its principles in their dealings with other States.

XXXIV. UNESCO

289. The Heads of State or Government emphatically reaffirmed the full support of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries for the goals and objectives of UNESCO and its role as the predominant and most appropriate universal forum for international co-operation in the fields of education, science, culture and information. They reiterated that programmes and activities under UNESCO's mandate should reflect the interests, aspirations, and socio-cultural values of all countries.

290. They deeply regretted the action taken against UNESCO by certain countries. This action constituted a withdrawal from multilateral co-operation nd democratic functioning within the framework of international organizations and thus posed a threat to the entire United Nations system. They addressed an urgent call to States that have withdrawn from UNESCO to reconsider their decision.

291. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the results of the Twenty-third General Conference of UNESCO, held at Sofia in October and November 1985, and expressed their full support and determination to work for the implementation of all the programmes and activities decided upon at the Conference.

XXXV. RIGHT OF NATIONS TO PRESERVE THEIR CULTURE AND NATIONAL HERITAGE

292. The Heads of State or Government affirmed the right of non-aligned countries to protect their culture and safeguard their national heritage, which are the cornerstone for upholding their cultural identity. They rejected all attempts at intervention or interference which hamper the free and full exercise of this right. The Heads of State or Government therefore decided to pay more attention to this issue at the

/...

United Nations, UNESCO and other related organs as an extension of the process of decolonization.

293. They reaffirmed the right of the non-aligned countries to the restitution of cultural property, including archaelogical objects and archives, belonging to their national heritage, which have been misappropriated.

XXXVI. NEW INTERNATIONAL INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION ORDER

294. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the need further to intensify co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries in the field of information and the mass media so as to establish the New International Information and Communication Order on the basis of the free and balanced flow of information and speedily to remove disparities in communication capabilities which in the era of rapid technological advances create new imbalances and place new and complex obstacles to democratization of the global information and communication process. They noted with satisfaction the progress achieved in this field, and in particular the significant contribution made by the Non-Aligned News Agencies Pool established among non-aligned countries towards the decolonization of information and towards countering tendentious reporting and mass media campaigns against non-aligned countries and national liberation movements.

295. The Heads of State or Government recognized the importance of the Non-Aligned News Agencies Pool and their outstanding role in the struggle for the decolonization of information and the establishment of the New International Information and Communication Order, as a means of exchange and co-operation among non-aligned countries.

296. The Heads of State or Government took note with satisfaction of the results of the Fourth Conference of the Non-Aligned News Agencies Pool, held in Havana from 17 to 22 March 1986, and endorsed its resolutions and the Havana Programme of Action.

297. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the decisions of the Conference of Ministers of Information of Non-Aligned Countries, held in Jakarta from 26 to 30 January 1984, on the development of co-operation among non-aligned countries in the field of information and in furnishing a broad basis for future activities. They noted with satisfaction the finalization at the Jakarta meeting of the constitution and criteria of the Intergovernmental Council called for by the Seventh Summit Conference.

298. The Heads of State or Government expressed satisfaction at the activities of the Intergovernmental Council in the implementation of the decisions of the General Conference of Ministers of Information of Non-Aligned Countries. In this context, they took particular note of the Ministerial Meeting of the Intergovernmental Council, held in Daker from 9 to 15 January 1986, which undertook a review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme of Action adopted by the Jakarta Conference, including its recommendations on the non-aligned countries.

299. The Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries noted with satisfaction the COMINAC's decision adopted in Jakarta in 1984 that the next General Conference of Ministers of Information of the Non-Aligned Countries is to be held in Harare in 1987 and invited the governments of the non-aligned countries to contribute actively to the success of the Conference whose task is to identify future strategies for the development of co-operation in all information-related activities.

300. The Heads of State or Government affirmed the important contribution of the Non-Aligned News Agencies Pool to the flow of information among non-aligned countries and called for further efforts to accelerate this process. They also expressed support for the Pool's new project of economic information (ECOPOOL) which corresponds to the non-aligned countries' need for the exchange of economic, trade and financial information.

301. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need to give fresh impetus to the activities of the broadcasting organization of non-aligned countries and underlined the importance of furthering co-operation and programme exchanges among the electronic media organizations in non-aligned countries.

302. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that the reduction of telecommunication tariffs envisaged at the Seventh Summit Conference in New Delhi had been effected by a number of countries; they urged all non-aligned countries to give effect to this significant decision in order to enable information to flow more freely between the non-aligned countries.

303. The Heads of State or Government considered it highly useful and necessary for non-aligned countries through existing institutions like PANA, BONAC and IGC, to secure effective exchange of information among themselves on developments in technology affecting information and communication and to work out means of sharing know-how and expertise in information and communication-related technologies in the spirit of mutual assistance and self-reliance.

304. The Heads of State or Government congratulated the Pan African News Agency (PANA) for its invaluable contribution to the struggle against misinformation and in favour of the decolonization and restructuring of information, with the objective of establishing the New International Information and Communication Order, based on peaceful and just relations, and encouraged PANA to continue working in this direction.

305. The Heads of State or Government took note with satisfaction of the results of the Meeting of Ministers of Information of the Organization of African Unity held in Cairo in November 1985.

306. The Heads of State or Government also noted with satisfaction the fruitful development of co-operation between the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and UNESCO, particularly in the spheres of information, education, science and culture, and congratulated UNESCO for its systematic activities and efforts undertaken in favour of the establishment of the New International Information and Communication Order.

307. The Heads of State or Government expressed appreciation for the co-operation extended by UNESCO to non-aligned countries, particularly with respect to the studies on information and communication problems, including those relating to the attainment of a much more balanced flow of information between the developing and developed countries. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern the recent moves by certain countries to weaken UNESCO. They urged all States to take all the necessary steps in order to strengthen the role of UNESCO.

308. The Heads of State or Government agreed on the need to strengthen co-ordination within the United Nations system, with a view to applying the principles of the New International Information and Communication Order and agreed to support the United Nations Department of Public Information so that it could increase printed and audio-visual information, enhance public awareness of the issues of interest to non-aligned countries and ensure more coherent coverage and better knowledge in areas which have priority, such as international peace and security, disarmament, peace-keeping and peace-making operations, decolonization, Palestine, Namibia, the promotion of human rights, the right of people to self-determination, apartheid, and racial discrimination, economic and social development issues, the integration of women in the struggle for peace and development, the establishment of the New International Economic Order and the New International Information and Communication Order. They commended with deep appreciation the positive role played by the United Nations and UNESCO in fostering co-operation among the non-aligned countries in this sphere.

309. The Heads of State or Government condemned the use of radio as an instrument of hostile propaganda by one State against another, be it a member of the Non-Aligned Movement or not, because it is an act that is contrary to the fundamental principles of the Movement and the New International Information and Communication Order, and because it violates international rules and standards in the field of radio broadcasting as provided for by the Charter of the United Nations and international law.

310. They also demanded the immediate cessation of all hostile broadcasting aimed at non-aligned countries.

311. The Heads of State or Government renewed the call to members of the Movement to forward complete sets of authenticated documents of all future non-aligned meetings held in their respective countries to the Non-Aligned Documentation Centre in Colombo as the repository of documents relating to the Conference and Meetings of the Non-Aligned Movement.

312. The Heads of State or Government urged that there should be continuous and regular interaction and exchange of experience among the media and training personnel of the non-aligned countries.

XXXVII. INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF PEACE

313. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the proclamation by the United Nations General Assembly, in resolution 40/3, of 1986 as the International Year of Peace, providing a timely impetus for initiating renewed thought and action for the promotion of peace and offering an opportunity to governments, inter-governmental and non-governmental organizations and others to express in practical terms the common aspiration of all peoples for peace. They reiterated the view expressed by the United Nations General Assembly during its fortieth session that the International Year of Peace is not only a celebration or commemoration, but an opportunity to reflect and act creatively and systematically in fulfilling the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations and, in this regard, pledged themselves to continue to promote, on the basis of the principles and policy of non-alignment, positive action by States and peoples aimed at the prevention of war and the removal of various threats to peace.

XXXVIII. THE UNITED NATIONS

314. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that faith in the United Nations was central to the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries. Even as the United Nations gave impetus to the process of decolonization, the newly-emergent States, the vast majority of which are members of the Movement, brought greater richness and diversity to the Organization. They helped transform it into a truly universal body representing the free association of States on the basis of sovereign equality and reflecting the hopes and aspirations of people all over the world. They reiterated their resolve to play an active role in the forums of the United Nations system for the attainment of the goals and objectives of the Movement itself.

315. The Heads of State or Government stressed that the United Nations represented the most appropriate international forum with the central role in the maintenance of international peace and security and peaceful settlement of international disputes and crises; in the achievement of the exercise of the right of self-determination of peoples under colonial domination and foreign occupation; in the strengthening of international co-operation in all fields on the basis of sovereign equality of States; and in the establishment of equitable and just economic relations as well as the strengthening of peaceful coexistence, universal détente, disarmament and development. They acknowledged that the United Nations and the specialized agencies had achieved significant results in many areas of international relations and had contributed to the economic and social progress of all countries and peoples. The members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, who constitute almost two-thirds of the membership of the United Nations and are firmly wedded to its principles, are determined to preserve and build upon the achievements of the world Organization. The capacity of the United Nations to identify and respond to potential and emerging problems in the political as well as economic, social and humanitarian fields should be developed on a systematic basis.

316. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the fact that an unprecedently large number of Heads of State or Government of member States, particularly from the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries, participated personally in the commemorative activities to mark the Fortieth Anniversary of the United Nations held at New York. This was a testimony to the faith and confidence reposed in the United Nations by the international community and its desire to strengthen multilateralism. The Heads of State or Government, however, regretted that, despite the flexibility displayed by the non-aligned countries and others, n declaration could be adopted on that occasion owing to the intransigent attitude of some States.

317. The Heads of State or Government expressed deep concern at the increasingly frequent attempts to weaken and curtail the role of the United Nations system and to erode the principles of sovereign equality and democratic functioning on which it was based. They considered that the present crisis has its origins in the erosion of the commitment to the principles and purposes of the Charter of the United Nations. The democratization of international relations, sought by the non-aligned countries in their active involvement with the United Nations, has been resisted by some who seek to preserve privileged positions of power. The failure to accept this natural process lies at the heart of the crisis of multilateralism, and more specifically the concerted attack from these quarters on the United Nations and its specialized agencies. At the same time, decisions and resolutions of these organizations have been increasingly ignored, thus weakening the role of the United Nations as a forum for deliberation and negotiation of important political and economic issues. The Heads of State or Government noted that this process has been exacerbated by the use of financial power to impair the functioning of the Organization. The non-aligned countries were firmly of the view that any withholding from assessed contributions to the United Nations represented a deliberate violation of obligations under the Charter, which was a universal Treaty freely entered into, and therefore undermined the basis of international order. In particular, they condemned the withholding of assessed contributions aimed at altering the basic character and purposes of the United Nations.

318. The Heads of State or Government rejected any and all attempts to introduce decision-making methods which are incompatible with the purposes and principles of the Charter, and specially that of the sovereign equality of States. They emphasized that the current financial crisis of the United Nations should be dealt with politically in a comprehensive and integrated manner. They called upon all Member States responsible for the situation to show the necessary political will and exert all efforts to find a long-term solution.

319. The Heads of State or Government of the non-aligned countries pledged to continue to abide strictly by the Charter of the United Nations and appealed to all States to respect the resolutions and decisions of the United Nations.

320. The Heads of State or Government noted that the Group of High-level Intergovernmental Experts to Review the Efficiency of the Administrative and Financial Functioning of the United Nations, established by the General Assembly through resolution 40/237 of 18 December 1985, had concluded its work and urged all Members of the United Nations to give due consideration to its report and recommendations and to work constructively during the forty-first session of the General Assembly in search of the common goal of improving the overall administrative and financial efficiency of the Organization.

321. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the necessity of enhancing the effectiveness of the work of the Special Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and on the Strengthening of the Role of the Organization for the purpose of promoting the role of the United Nations and recommended, in this respect, that the Committee undertake a study of the veto record of the permanent members of the Security Council.

322. The Heads of State or Government paid a warm tribute to the Secretary-General of the United Nations for his wholehearted endeavours in promoting the role and efficiency of the United Nations.

XXXIX. STRENGTHENING OF COLLECTIVE ACTION

323. The Heads of State or Government noted the serious deterioration of the international situation, reaffirming the historic responsibility of the policy of non-alignment for countering this negative trend and strengthening peace, détente, collective security and the democratization of international relations. They decided to strengthen the measures for collective action in order to increase the influence and role of non-alignment in world affairs, especially with reference to upholding full observance of the principles of the Charter of the United Nations and international law as the foundations of peaceful coexistence between States. They also stressed the need to make utmost efforts to ensure that the commitments made in the present

Declaration are duly implemented within the framework of the United Nations and other international forums.

324. The Heads of State or Government again stressed the usefulness and validity of the measures approved, in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations, and non-aligned policies at the Algiers Summit Conference and at the Lima, Peru, Ministerial Conference in order to strengthen solidarity and mutual assistance among the non-aligned countries faced with threats of aggression against their sovereignty, independence, development and security.

325. They also reaffirmed the usefulness of the measures for collective action established by resolution no. 3 adopted by the Conference of Heads of State or Government held in Algiers.

326. The Heads of State or Government invited the Co-ordinating Bureau to intensify action to strengthen co-ordination and mutual co-operation among non-aligned countries, including unified action in the United Nations and other international forums, as well as the most appropriate form of consultations for defining the manner in which the present Declaration should be implemented and the adoption of the necessary measures for promoting and co-ordinating joint action that will safeguard the active and effective role of non-aligned policies.

XI.. FURTHER GATHERINGS OF NON-ALIGNED COUNTRIES

327. The Heads of State or Government, recalling that at the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau held in New Delhi, the Ministers had taken note of the offer by the Government of Nicaragua to host the Ninth Summit Conference, received the offer with satisfaction. They expressed the solidarity of the Movement with Nicaragua in her defence of her sovereignty, territorial integrity and the right of her people to decide their own destiny in the face of foreign aggression. They condemned the United States contempt of the judgement of The Hague International Court of Justice which constitutes defiance of International Law.

328. The Heads of State or Government further took note with appreciation of the offer by the Government of the Republic of Indonesia to host the Ninth Summit.

329. The Heads of State or Government agreed that the final decision on the date and venue of the Ninth Summit Conference of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries be taken by a Ministerial Conference to be held not later than 1988 in Cyprus.

330. The Heads of State or Government decided that an extraordinary ministerial meeting on South-South co-operation would be held in Pyongyang, Democratic People's Republic of Korea, in 1987.

XLI. COMPOSITION OF THE CO-ORDINATING BUREAU

331. The Heads of State or Government decided that the Co-ordinating Bureau would be open-ended and noted that the candidatures would be submitted in New York.

SPECIAL DECLARATION ON SOUTHERN AFRICA

We, the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries meeting in our Eighth Ordinary Session in Harare, Zimbabwe, from 1 to 6 September 1986, and having examined the explosive situation in southern Africa, express our grave concern over the further deterioration of the situation since our last meeting in New Delhi. The primary cause for the aggravation of the situation is the continued existence of apartheid which has been declared by the international community as a crime against humanity.

We have also taken into account all the initiatives taken by many States and organizations to have the problem resolved through negotiations but which have been rejected by the racist régime in Pretoria. Instead of heeding the call of the international community to eradicate apartheid, the racist Pretoria régime has stepped up its oppression and subjugation of the disenfranchised and dispossessed people of South Africa through the imposition of a state of emergency and otherrepressive measures. We have also noted with grave concern that several thousand people have been murdered in cold blood by the racist security police and thousands more have been hurled into jails without trial in a blind fury to stem the tide of the popular uprising of the oppressed.

In an effort to subject the front-line and the other neighbouring States to its domination, the racist régime has also intensified its campaign of intimidation, blackmail, economic sanctions and naked acts of aggression against the independent States in the region. We recall in particular the repeated acts of aggression against the People's Republic of Angola, the support for the armed bandits in Mozambique and Angola and the armed raids into Botswana, Zambia and Zimbabwe, causing considerable damage to both life and property.

Taking into account all these factors and also bearing in mind the inescapable responsibility of the international community to combat apartheid, which is the root cause of violence and instability in the region, we, the Heads of State or Government, have agreed and commit ourselves to the measures specified under each of the following sub-headings:

Namibia

We, the Heads of State or Government, having noted with grave concern the lack of progress towards the implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) as a result of the continuing occupation of Namibia by South Africa, and the insistence by the Reagan Admin stration and the racist Pretoria régime on linking the independence of Namibia to the irrelevant and extraneous issue of the withdrawal of Cuban internationalist forces from Angola, a linkage which has already been rejected by the United Nations Security Council, and bearing in mind the anguish and yearnings of the oppressed people of Namibia for their inalienable right to freedom and independence, have resolved and committed ourselves individually and collectively to the effective pursuit of the following measures to hasten the independence of Namibia.

We:

(a) reaffirm once again that United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) is the only acceptable basis for the peaceful settlement of the Namibian question. In this connection, we vehemently reject and condemn the so-called linkage as an attempt designed to perpetuate the illegal rule of South Africa over Namibia;

(b) reaffirm the unshirkable responsibility of the United Nations to bring independence to Namibia without further delay;

(c) request the United Nations Secretary-General to continue his efforts towards the speedy implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978);

(d) call upon all member countries of the Non-Aligned Movement and urge the international community to exert maximum pressure, including the imposition of sanctions towards the removal of all obstacles to the implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978);

(e) call upon all member countries to step up bilateral assistance to SWAPO, the sole and authentic representative of the people of Namibia, and to contribute to the Non-Aligned Solidarity Fund for Namibia;

(f) appeal to all support groups and anti-apartheid movements in the United States and in the western world to intensify their activities for the immediate independence of Namibia;

(g) condemn once again the so-called provisional government in Namibia and urge the international community to continue to reject it and not to accord it any form of recognition;

(h) renew our call to the United Nations Security Council to impose comprehensive and mandatory sanctions against the racist South African régime in order to compel it to co-operate in the implementation of Security Council resolution 435 (1978);

(i) call upon all the member States of the Movement to participate actively in the United Nations General Assembly Special Session on Namibia, scheduled to be held from 17 to 20 September 1986. To demonstrate the importance we attach to the issue, we mandate the Chairman of the Movement to convey personally our concerns and determination to the Special Session.

South Africa

Having reviewed the events and developments in South Africa, we, the Heads of State or Government, hereby renew our abiding commitment to the eradication of the evil system of apartheid through the adoption of special measures designed to hasten its total elimination.

We have also taken note, with deep appreciation, of the rising tide of resistance and defiance by the South African masses. The escalation of the armed struggle both in Namibia and South Africa is a clear indication of the determination of the people of Namibia and South Africa to make the supreme sacrifice in their efforts to secure freedom and independence and to achieve the enshrined objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement as well as those of the Charters of the Organization of African Unity and the United Nations.

We have further noted with satisfaction that at the London Summit of Commonwealth Leaders from seven countries held in August 1986, six countries, including three from our Movement, have agreed to impose or have already imposed, a number of economic measures against South Africa, and hope that other members of the Commonwealth would enforce similar sanctions against the apartheid régime. We have also noted the significant contribution which the report of the Eminent Persons Group, set up by the Commonwealth Heads of State or Government at their meeting in Nassau in October 1985, has made in stimulating a worldwide, informed discussion on the intolerable situation in South Africa.

We, the Heads of State or Government, reaffirm our decision and conviction that the imposition of comprehensive and mandatory sanctions against South Africa in accordance with Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations, remains the only peaceful option to compel the racist Pretoria régime to abandon apartheid. Consequently, we endorse the call of the Organization of African Unity for the early convening of the United Nations Security Council to impose comprehensive and mandatory sanctions against South Africa under Chapter VII of the Charter of the United Nations (CM/Res.1952/XL of the OAU). Pending the adoption of comprehensive and mandatory sanctions we, the Heads of State or Government, endorse the following measures that have been adopted by certain countries and organizations and commend them to the wider international community for urgent adoption and implementation:

(a) prohibition of transfer of technology to South Africa;

(b) cessation of export, sale or transport of oil and oil products to South Africa, and of any co-operation with South Africa's oil industry;

(c) cessation of further investments in and financial loans to South Africa or Namibia and of any governmental insurance guarantee of credits to the racist régime;

(d) an end to all promotion of or support for trade with South Africa, including governmental assistance to trade missions;

(e) prohibition of the sale of krugerrands and any other coins minted in South Africa;

(f) prohibition of imports from South Africa of agricultural products, coal, uranium, iron and steel etc.;

(g) enactment of legislation or adoption of other measures to comply with United Nations Decree No. 1 for the Protection of the Natural Resources of Namibia enacted by the United Nations Council for Namibia in 1974;

(h) termination of any visa-free entry privileges and the promotion of tourism to South Africa;

(i) termination of air and shipping links with South Africa;

(j) cessation of all academic, cultural, scientific and sports relations with South Africa, and of relations with individuals, institutions and other bodies endorsing or based on apartheid;

(k) suspension or abrogation of agreements with South Africa, such as agreements on cultural and scientific co-operation;

(l) the termination of Double Taxation Agreements with South Africa;

(m) a ban on government contracts with majority-owned South African companies.

Moreover, we urge all non-governmental organizations to participate actively in the information campaign to sensitize international public opinion on the realities of apartheid.

We also urge all States to increase material and financial assistance to the oppressed and struggling people of South Africa through their national liberation movements to enable them to step up their struggle against apartheid and for the establishment of a non-racial and representative government in South Africa.

W also take note of the resolution of the twenty-second Assembly of the Organization of African Unity which recommends to all governments and educational institutions to devote the first lesson of the 1986/87 academic year to apartheid, and to write on this occasion on the blackboards and comment on the theme, "Apartheid is a crime against humanity". We recommend that this resolution, aimed at sensitizing the youth on the question of apartheid, be seriously considered, during the 1986/87 academic year, by all our States and the world at large.

Front-line and other neighbouring States

We, the Heads of State or Government, have reviewed and noted with grave concern the exceedingly serious and volatile situation in southern Africa resulting from the policies of State terrorism, military occupation, blackmail, and the use of armed bandits by the apartheid régime to destabilize, sabotage and destroy the economic and social infrastructure of the front-line States and other countries neighbouring it with the aim of weakening and subjugating them. Consequently, we recognize more than ever before, the urgent need for concerted international action, both short-term and long-term, to provide relief to the front-line and other States in the region, to enable them to withstand the effects of retaliatory sanctions by the racist Pretoria régime.

We reject the policy of "constructive engagement" and any attempt from whatever quarters to engage in any dialogue with the racist régime outside the framework of a categorical and irreversible process designed totally to eradicate apartheid and to accomplish the implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 (1978) on Namibia.

We fully endorse the statement by the twenty-second Assembly of the Organization of African Unity of Heads of

/...

State and Government (AHG/ST5)(XXII) on the critical situation in southern Africa as well as the measures contained therein, in particular the following:

"(g) provision of necessary resources to front-line States to enhance their defence capacity;

(h) mobilization of assistance for the front-line and other neighbouring States to enhance their capacity to withstand the effects of sabotage, economic blackmail and economic aggression by the racist régime;

(i) mobilization of assistance for the front-line and other neighbouring States to enhance their capacity to withstand the effects of sanctions."

In this connection, we decide to establish a Solidarity Fund for Southern Africa to which we shall contribute generously. The Fund shall be used to provide emergency assistance as well as long-term assistance for infrastructural development in order to lessen their dependence on South Africa. The Fund shall be administered by a Committee consisting of Zambia and Zimbabwe from southern Africa and Algeria, Argentina, Congo, India, Nigeria, Peru and Yugoslavia, Members of the Non-Aligned Movement.

We appeal to the wider international community to contribute generously to the Fund.

Action for resisting invasion, colonialism and apartheid fund

ACTION FOR RESISTING INVASION, COLONIALISM AND APARTHEID FUND

1. The objectives of which are:

   (a) to strengthen the economic and financial capability of the front-line States to fight the apartheid régime of Pretoria and to support the liberation movements in South Africa and Namibia in their unrelenting struggle against racist and colonialist oppression;

   (b) to assist the front-line States to enforce sanctions against South Africa and to cope with any retaliatory economic action by the racist régime.

2. To achieve these objectives, the following measures will be taken.

   (i) to relieve shortages of essential commodities consequent upon enforcement of sanctions against South Africa, including establishment of a strategic relief reserve;

   (ii) to strengthen transport and communications affected by the struggle against racism;

   (iii) to respond effectively to the negative trade effects of action against the South African regime;

   (iv) to assure continued availability of oil and other forms of energy;

   (v) to assist in ensuring safe functioning of vital economic installations and networks;

/...

(vi) to develop human skills for effective management of national economies;

(vii) to mobilise international public opinion and financial resources for fulfilling the objectives of the Fund.

3. The FUND Committee will consist of the following member States:

نداء خاص من أجل الاستقلال الفوري لناميبيا

Special Appeal for the Immediate Independence of Namibia

SPECIAL APPEAL BY THE EIGHTH SUMMIT CONFERENCE OF THE NON-ALIGNED MOVEMENT FOR THE IMMEDIATE INDEPENDENCE OF NAMIBIA

We, the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Harare, Zimbabwe, from 1 to 6 September 1986, having reviewed the present situation in Namibia and having considered the urgent appeal addressed to this Summit Conference by the International Conference for the Immediate Independence of Namibia held in Vienna from 7 to 11 July 1986, express our indignation over the continued illegal occupation of that territory and the brutalization of its people by racist South Africa.

Two decades ago, the United Nations terminated South Africa's mandate to administer Namibia and assumed direct responsibility over the Territory. A United Nations Plan to grant independence to the inhabitants of the Territory adopted in 1978 as Security Council resolution 435 was accepted by the concerned parties and subsequently by the international community. To date, however, efforts to implement it have been frustrated by the obduracy of the racist Pretoria régime and the ill-conceived policy of "linkage" pursued by the United States of America.

Conscious of the persisting scandalous situation, we do hereby urgently call upon:

(i) the present United States administration to abandon the linking of Namibian independence to a withdrawal of Cuban internationalist forces from Angola;

(ii) all States members of the non-aligned movement and other countries as a matter of urgency to take up the issue of Namibia in all international forums as well as in their bilateral relations with the United States administration in order to impress upon it the need to abandon its "linkage" policy and to co-operate fully forthwith with the United Nations Secretary-General in the implementation of United Nations Security Council resolution 435 of 1978;

(iii) the United States of America and the United Kingdom, as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council not to use the veto to prevent the Security Council from imposing comprehensive mandatory sanctions against apartheid South Africa as the most effective peaceful means of forcing that régime to terminate its illegal occupation of Namibia;

(iv) the United Nations Secretary-General to proceed with the implementation of the United Nations Plan for Namibian Independence now that all outstanding matters have been settled;

(v) the world mass media to expose the plight of the Namibian people and to explain their struggle in an effort to break the news and information blackout imposed by the occupying régime in Namibia; and

(vi) the international community to render all-round material, political and diplomatic support for the struggle being waged by SWAPO.

/...

The time for Namibian independence is long past. To delay it any longer is immoral. We therefore appeal to all men and women of goodwill firmly to oppose any delay, for any reason and under any circumstance, of Namibian independence.

/...

HARARE APPEAL ON DISARMAMENT

We, the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting in Harare, Zimbabwe, from 1 to 6 September, 1986 wish to convey to Your Excellency on behalf of our Governments and peoples, our profound concern and anxiety about the continuing nuclear arms race. Never before has humanity been so near self-destruction. In fact, the alternative today is not between war or peace, but between li and death. This makes the struggle for peace and for the prevention of nuclear war the principal task of our times.

This state of affairs, if allowed to continue, heightens the risk of a nuclear holocaust and the real possibility of the destruction of civilization. We are most preoccupied by this grave peril and would wish to see it averted for the sake of all mankind.

Exactly twenty-five years ago, the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries at their First Summit Conference in Belgrade felt compelled to make an appeal to His Excellency the President of the United States of America and His Excellency the President of the Council of Ministers of the Union of Soviet of Socialist Republics to undertake negotiations so as to remove the danger of war in the world and enable mankind to embark upon the road to peace.

Two and a half decades have passed, and the deterioration of the international situation from the economic, political and security points of view has placed humanity in a situation as serious as, if not worse than, the one which inspired the Heads of State or Government of the Non-Aligned Countries to take action in 1961.

The prospect of war represented by the appearance of ever more sophisticated and destructive weapons makes the political and strategic environment much more dangerous than ever before.

We have therefore been moved, out of continuing concern for the avoidance of war and the promotion of peace, detente and peaceful coexistence to address this appeal to Your Excellency, urging you to use your best efforts to reduce the prevailing tension and to promote a climate of confidence in the world, in order to facilitate the settlement of major international issues by peaceful means.

We urge the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, as well as all other nuclear-weapon states, to take immediate steps to prevent the outbreak of nuclear war.

As the leader of one of the two most powerful nations on earth, it is within your grasp, we believe, to arrest the trend toward confrontation and conflict. We therefore urge you to co-operate fully with your counterpart in the pursuit of the dialogue which has been initiated to put an end to the arms race with a view to reaching substantive agreements in the field of disarmament, including an early agreement on the prevention of an arms race in outer space.

It is our hope that at your next Summit meeting, both parties will agree on a moratorium as a first step towards a Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty. Such a step would be greatly welcomed by the peoples of the world and would make a major contribution to halting the nuclear arms race and encourage progress in other areas of disarmament.

Convinced that you share both our fear and aspiration, we ask that you give earnest consideration to this appeal so that the possible drift to nuclear warfare may be averted and the prospects for peace and co-operation enhanced.

The Non-Aligned Movement is committed to the search for global stability and the development of equitable international co-operation in solving the main political and economic problems affecting the world today. We, its members, are prepared to continue to play an active part in the task of creating a secure international environment.

A letter, in identical terms, has been sent to His Excellency, Mikhail Gorbachev, General Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

We hope that this Appeal will encourage your own efforts to go forward to the meeting and reach conclusions which will take into account the best interests of the States and peoples of our planet. Humanity must be saved from the scourge of war. We must recognize our common destiny, and strive with determination for a future of peace, dignity, development and progress for all.

Harare Declaration on the Strengthening of collective Action

HARARE DECLARATION ON THE STRENGTHENING OF COLLECTIVE ACTION

We the Heads of State or Government of Non-Aligned Countries, meeting at the Eighth Non-Aligned Summit in Harare, Zimbabwe.

- Recognizing the special vulnerability of all developing non-aligned countries to political and economic policies of pressure and coercion arising from structural constraints and in some cases capricious environments, particularly in the case of land-locked developing countries, island developing countries, least developed countries, the front-line States and other independent States in southern Africa;
- Determined to preserve the non-aligned member countries' independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity, the right of all States to equality and effectively to participate in international affairs and to abide by the principles and policies of non-alignment with a view to enhancing the role of the Movement as an authentic and independent factor in international relations.
- Reiterating our commitment to strengthen our capacity for collective action established by the Lima Programme of Mutual Assistance and Solidarity of August 1975, spelled out and approved in the document on collective action of resolution No. 3 of the Economic Declaration adopted by the Conference of Heads of State or Government held in Algiers in 1973.

Resolve to empower the Co-ordinating Bureau to intensify action to strengthen the measures for co-ordination and mutual co-operation, including unified action in the United Nations and other international forums, as well as the most appropriate form of consultations for defining the manner in which the present Declaration should be implemented and the adoption of the necessary measures for promoting and co-ordinating joint action that will safeguard the active and effective role of non-aligned policies; and also declare that,

(i) any threat of use of force and aggression against a non-aligned country will be regarded as directed against the Movement as a whole;

(ii) any measure against a non-aligned country which impedes the effective exercise of its full and free sovereign rights will be regarded as directed against the Movement as a whole;

(iii) non-aligned countries will thereupon be ready to lend mutual assistance to the threatened country upon request.

ECONOMIC DECLARATION

I. INTRODUCTION

1. The Heads of State or Government assessed the evolution of the international economic situation and expressed grave concern that since the Seventh Summit Conference held in New Delhi in March 1983, the world economic crisis has continued to escalate, characterized inter alia by the accentuation of structural imbalances and inequities resulting from the inadequacy of the present international division of labour for the balanced and equitable development of the world economy as well as in the breakdown of the international payments system. The widening gap between the developed and developing countries and the persistence of the unjust and inequitable international economic system constitute a major impediment to the development process of non-aligned and other developing countries*/ and pose a serious threat to international peace and security. In this regard, they reiterated the commitment of the Movement to continue to work for a restructuring of the international economic system with a view to establishing the New International Economic Order based on justice, equity, equality and mutual benefit.

2. The Heads of State or Government recalled the many important initiatives taken by the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries over the last quarter of a century for the restructuring of the world economic order on the basis of sovereign equality, justice, equity, mutual interest and benefit. In this context, they noted with particular regret the lack of progress in the implementation of the constructive, practical and well-balanced proposals put forward during the Seventh Summit for the re-launching of a genuine, effective and positive dialogue between developed and developing countries in the areas vital for the promotion of durable development in the international economy, especially in the economies of the developing countries. The present erosion of multilateralism and the growing resort to bilateralism by some developed countries for political ends to the detriment of the interests of the developing countries, as well as the stalemate in negotiations between developed and developing countries reflect a lack of political will on the part of some developed countries to tackle the pressing and deep-rooted problems of the world economy as a whole and of all its constituent parts. They noted the manifest reality of interdependence in the world economy and stressed that a sustained and lasting growth of the international economy demands the urgent stimulation of the development process in the developing countries as well as an integrated approach to the increasingly interdependent issues of money, finance, debt, trade and development.

3. The Heads of State or Government deplored the tendency on the part of some developed countries, in their search for solutions to global economic problems, to ignore the fact that the development problems of the developing countries are an integral part of an interdependent world economy. In this regard, they expressed their deep conviction that as long as the macro-economic policies of developed countries are incompatible with the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy, the goal of a sustained and durable growth of the world economy will remain illusory. In this context, they called upon developed countries to enter into serious negotiations with the developing countries inorder to achieve the objectives of the international consensus for development as embodied inter alia in the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of the New International Economic Order and the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade.

4. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their full commitment to the principles and objectives of the Charter of the United Nations as well as the role of the United Nations as the central forum for dialogue and negotiations on issues relating to international co-operation for development and called on all States to respect the democratic principles and all norms and practices governing the United Nations system and to assist it to overcome the present funding difficulties. They commended some of those international institutions that have contributed to economic progress in developing countries. In this connection, they expressed profound concern at the recent attempts to subvert and weaken multilateralism in general and the United Nations and its specialized agencies in particular. They expressed their determination to work towards the strengthening of the international institutions and to ensure that their role is not eroded.

5. The Heads of State or Government strongly deplored the increasing tendency on the part of some developed countries to resort to unilateral, coercive and discriminatory economic policies and practices as a means of exerting economic and political pressure on the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and other developing countries in flagrant violation of the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations and the Charter on the Economic Rights and Duties of States. They urged those developed countries concerned to desist from implementing or threatening to implement trade restrictions, blockades, embargoes, sanctions or any other coercive measures or threats or use of force incompatible with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations. They expressed their full solidarity with those non-aligned and other developing countries, victims of this aggression in their endeavours to consolidate their independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity. The Heads of State or overnment decided to intensify their individual and collective efforts in combating these aggressive acts.

6. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the direct relationship between peace, disarmament and development. They noted that the arms race, especially the nuclear arms race, creates global instability. They called for an end to the arms race, especially the nuclear arms race, and the taking of measures for disarmament, in particular by the major nuclear powers in order to bring about a viable international order. They stressed that orderly development can only be realized in an atmosphere of peace and co-operation, and in this context reiterated their call for the immediate halting of the arms race, followed by urgent disarmament measures that would release the human, financial, material and technological resources sorely needed for development.

7. The Heads of State or Government reiterated that colonialism, imperialism, neo-colonialism, interference in internal affairs, apartheid, zionism, racism and all forms of racial discrimination, foreign aggression, occupation, domination, hegemony, expansionism, exploitation and destabilization constitute fundamental obstacles to the economic liberation of developing countries and reaffirmed their commitment to take effective measures individually and collectively to put an end to these practices.

8. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern the critical economic situation facing the countries of Africa, where per capita incomes continue to decline, with the growth process in many countries having come to a halt, reducing their economies to a subsistence level. The efforts of the international community to assist the concerned African States to overcome their emergency needs are commendable. It is even more important for the international community to continue generously to assist the African States in their efforts to overcome the emergency and to revive the development of their economies including the rehabilitation and restructuring of their severely damaged infrastructure for growth. They further noted with satisfaction that during the Special Session of the General Assembly on the Critical

Economic Situation in Africa, the international community recognized the need to provide the additional external resources necessary for Africa's economic recovery. They appeal to the international community and regional and international financial and monetary institutions to mobilize urgently the necessary funds and take appropriate measures for the total and effective implementation of the United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990.

9. The Heads of State or Government, aware of the present world economic situation and the prevailing state of international economic relationships, particularly the stalemate in the global negotiations for the establishment of the New International Economic Order and its grave consequences on the economies and the development prospects of non-aligned and other developing countries, emphasized the importance of collective self-reliance as an essential part of the efforts of non-aligned countries to restructure international relations. They reiterated that greater economic co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries would not only improve their prospects for development but also enhance their negotiating strength vis-à-vis the developed countries. They stressed that economic co-operation among developing countries is both an integral part of and a vehicle for the establishment of the New International Economic Order. In this regard, they affirmed their determination to work urgently and energetically to this end.

II. WORLD ECONOMIC SITUATION

10. The Heads of State or Government assessed the world economic situation and expressed deep concern at the worsening crisis in the international economic system. They stressed that the crisis in the international economic system is not merely of a cyclic nature but is a symptom of deep-rooted structural maladjustment characterized by increasing imbalances and inequities that operate inexorably to the detriment of developing countries. They also noted that this situation has been further aggravated by the short-sighted and inward looking macro-economic policies pursued by some developed countries which favour neither the growth of the world economy as a whole nor structural reforms in the system of international economic relations. These policies have in many cases resulted in the transfer of the burden of adjustment to the more vulnerable States members of the international community principally the developing countries. They further expressed concern at the fact that in many cases, these policies reflect a deliberate desire on the part of some developed countries to use economic power for political ends.

11. The Heads of State or Government, conscious of the effects of prolonged instability in the world economy and of the linkage between trade, money, finance and development, expressed concern over the sharply declining commodity prices, leading to a further deterioration in the terms of trade of developing countries, the upsurge in protectionist tendencies, and the general proliferation of discriminatory practices in disregard of GATT principles and practices and other trade restrictions with particular severity against exports of developing countries; monetary and financial instability, high interest rates, misalignment of exchange rates, unbearable and mounting external debt repayment burdens; reverse transfer of resources from developing to developed countries and the lack of effective multilateral surveillance on policies of major industrialised countries. They noted with profound concern that these factors prevailing in the global economic environment have impaired the growth process in the world economy in general and in the economies of the developing countries in particular.

12. The Heads of State or Government noted the sharp and continuing fall in the price of oil and the resultant massive shift in income from the oil-exporting developing countries to the developed countries, and they expressed concern at the adverse impact this will have on the economies of oil-exporting developing countries and their ability to sustain development. The severe impairment of the ability of these countries to import and continue financial assistance will have further adverse consequences on some other developing countries.

13. The Heads of State or Government also noted that the divergent trends in the economic prospects of developing and developed countries had accentuated the existing asymmetries in the international economic order thus further widening the gap between the developed and developing countries, a situation which poses a serious threat to international peace and security.

14. The Heads of State or Government noted with regret that most developing countries had experienced either stagnant or declining rates of growth during the first half of the Third United Nations Development Decade in contrast to the 7 per cent growth rate projected in the International Development Strategy and the goals and objectives of the United Nations Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s for the Least Developed Countries. They further expressed concern over the fact that the present trends in the world economy point to a danger of further contraction and stagnation entailing extensive human suffering as well as widespread poverty, hunger, malnutrition and disease which threaten the social fabric of developing countries and have come to constitute an added source of danger to peace and security. They also noted that the limited economic recovery in some developed countries had not significantly improved the adverse economic environment facing the developing countries or their prospects for development. The Heads of State or Government expressed serious concern that such economic recovery was based on economic activities that do not stimulate the growth of demand for commodities produced by developing countries.

15 In the light of the economic uncertainties and the extremely harsh conditions confronting the developing countries, the decline in official development assistance (ODA) to developing countries in general and to the least developed countries in particular is most disturbing. The Heads of State or Government deplored the decline in concessional flows to developing countries and regretted that the ODA target of

0.7 per cent of the gross national product (GNP) called for in the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade and the ODA targets of the Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s for the Least Developed Countries remain unfulfilled. They stressed that the acute development problems faced by developing countries were due in substantial measure to the inadequate transfer of resources for development.

16. The Heads of State or Government recognized that the external debt problem of developing countries was a manifestation of the malfunctioning of the international economic system. They expressed profound concern over the effects of the debt crisis which has now assumed serious international political dimensions. They also noted that the enormous burden of servicing their growing external debt has been exacerbated by the restrictive adjustment process imposed by the international financial and credit institutions, as well as by the lack of access to financial markets and the stagnation in ODA. These problems are threatening the very stability of most developing countries.

17. The Heads of State or Government observed in particular that the economic situation of most countries on the African continent was a cause for grave concern because, in addition to the repercussions of the economic crisis, they had to face the devastating effects of a prolonged drought. In this context, they endorsed the United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990.

adopted by the thirteenth special session of the United Nations General Assembly on the Critical Economic Situation in Africa, held in New York from 24-31 May 1986; congratulated the African countries on their efforts to stimulate their economies and resume lasting development; and exhorted the members of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to make positive contributions towards the implementation of this programme.

18. The Heads of State or Government stressed that the increasingly interdependent character of the world economy, increasing interrelationship of problems, interconnection of their solutions makes it all the more urgent that both the developed and developing countries engage in a serious dialogue aimed at finding common solutions to the problems currently confronting the international economy including the reform of the international monetary, financial and trading systems in the interest of both the developed and developing countries. An integrated approach would be necessary in the interrelated areas of money, finance, external debt, trade and development. They expressed the hope that the forthcoming Forty-First Regular Session of the United Nations General Assembly and the seventh session of UNCTAD will provide important opportunities for both the developed and developing countries to work constructively towards finding a common approach to the problems regarding the interrelated areas of money, finance, external debt, trade and development.

III. NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ORDER

19. The Heads of State or Government were of the view that the persistence of the world economic crisis underlined the importance of pursuing fundamental structural adjustments in international economic relations in order to create a just and equitable economic system which would promote rapid and sustained world economic growth and development, especially in the developing countries. In this context, they reaffirmed their commitment to and reiterated the continuing validity and relevance of the Declaration and Programme of Action on the Establishment of the New International Economic Order General Assembly resolutions 3201 (S-VI) and 3202 (S-VI) of 1 May 1974 and the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States General Assembly resolution 3281 (XXIX) of 12 December 1974.

20. The Heads of State or Government deeply regretted the lack of progress in the implementation of the above-mentioned resolutions in spite of the flexible and constructive attitude taken by the developing countries. They commended the Group of 77 for its tremendous efforts aimed at stimulating the process of international negotiation through the implementation of the proposals of the Seventh Conference of Non-Aligned Countries which included the launching of global negotiations in two phases and a Programme of Immediate Measures in areas of critical importance to developing countries including the International Conference on Money and Finance for Development, for a comprehensive reform of the existing inadequate, inequitable and outdated international monetary and financial system. They regretted that because of the negative attitude of some developed countries no progress had been made in the implementation of those proposals. They once again stressed the urgent need for the implementation of the Programme of Immediate Measures for the reactivation of the world economy.

21. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the Global Negotiations proposed by the Sixth Summit Conference and embodied in the framework of the United Nations General Assembly resolution 34/138 remained the most important and comprehensive endeavour of the international community for the restructuring of international economic relations, the accelerated development of the economies of the developing countries and the strengthening of multilateral economic co-operation. They requested the Group of 77 in New York to continue its efforts to reactivate negotiations for the launching of Global Negotiations as soon as possible and urged the developed countries to demonstrate the necessary political will to enable the Negotiations to be launched.

22. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that any negotiations between the developed and the developing countries with a view to solving problems connected to the establishment of the New International Economic Order should be of a universal character and should be conducted within the framework of the United Nations.

23. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the implementation of the Charter on Economic Rights and Duties of States as embodied in General Assembly resolution 3281 (XXIX).

They reaffirmed its status as an essential element in the achievement of the New International Economic Order and expressed dismay at the slow progress in its implementation. In this context, they urged those developed countries that are not yet party to the Charter to consider their positions and to uphold its principles and provisions.

24. The Heads of State or Government condemned the use by some developed countries of coercive measures against some developing countries, such as imposing an embargo or economic sanctions and freezing assets, and reaffirmed that the international community should adopt urgent and effective means in order to eliminate such practices which have been on the increase and have taken new forms. They fully supported United Nations resolution 40/185 of 17 December 1985, and urged non-aligned and other developing countries which had been subjected to economic coercion to furnish the Secretary-General of the United Nations with information needed for the preparation of the comprehensive study referred to in that United Nations resolution.

IV. INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

25. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the continuing validity of the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade, as contained in the annex to United Nations General Assembly resolution 35/56 of 5 December 1980, and emphasized that the Strategy constituted a key element for the realization of the objectives of the New International Economic Order.

26. The Heads of State or Government expressed disappointment that the objectives of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade remain largely unfulfilled. They took note of the Agreed Conclusions of the Committee on Review and Appraisal of the International Development Strategy, during the negotiations of which the developing countries had demonstrated a constructive and flexible attitude. They regretted that even the limited results achieved by the Committee were further eroded by the reservations expressed by some developed countries. They called for the requisite political will and greater commitment on the part of developed countries to implement the policy measures in the Strategy.

V. STRATEGY FOR INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC NEGOTIATIONS

27. It is in the common interest of all States to reactivate international economic negotiations and broaden co-operation in the economic field for the benefit of all countries. An early reactivation of dialogue and the intensification of efforts within the multilateral context of the United Nations and other international organizations is essential if the international consensus for development as embodied, inter alia, in United Nations General Assembly resolutions 3201 (S-VI) and 3202 (S-VI) on the establishment of the New International Economic Order and in the annex to General Assembly resolution 35/56 on the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade, and is to be restored. In an increasingly interdependent world, the search for unilateral solutions whereby some countries seek economic prosperity at the expense of others is counter-productive. The interrelated problems of the world economy, especially those pertaining to money, finance, trade and development, require an integrated coherent and mutually supportive set of policies and measures.

28. The Seventh Summit Conference had put forward a set of cohesive and balanced proposals to stimulate the North-South dialogue with a view to the reactivation of growth and recovery in the world economy and the restructuring of international economic relations on the basis of equity and mutual benefit. These consisted of Global negotiations and a Programme of Immediate Measures, including an International Conference on Money and Finance for Development. While the proposals were widely welcomed as constructive, even by the developed countries, unfortunately no substantial progress had been made in implementing them because of the absence of a positive response from the major industrialised countries. The Heads of State or Government called upon the developed countries to reverse such negative trends and reiterated the need for simultaneous action to promote a sustained recovery of the world economy, as well as its restructuring with a view to the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

29. The Heads of State or Government regretted that, despite the widespread concern expressed by Heads of State or Government and Foreign Ministers during the commemorative fortieth session of the United Nations General Assembly, little progress was made on substantive areas of co-operation and in particular economic co-operation; instead, there was evidence of retrogression in some areas. The search for lasting solutions to the interrelated problems of the world economy, require the joint actions of both the developing and the developed countries. They called for appropriate action and initiatives to be taken in the Economic and Social Council, the United Nations General Assembly, UNCTAD and other international organizations on issues of vital concern to the world economy and in particular to developing countries. In this context, the Heads of State or Government observed that the forthcoming seventh session of UNCTAD presented an opportune moment for the international community to make progress on the interrelated issues of money, finance, external debt, trade and development.

30. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that on issues relating to trade in the framework of the proposed new round of multilateral trade negotiations, it was essential to formulate a parallel and integrated approach covering inter alia, matters relating to money and finance including external debt. They stressed the need for a constructive attitude on the part of the developed countries to respond positively to this approach.

31. The Heads of State or Government recalled that the High-Level Group of Five Experts of non-aligned and other developing countries set up by the late Prime Minister of India, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, in her capacity as Chairperson of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries had made a valuable contribution in its comprehensive examination of the substantive and procedural issues and its recommendations relating to the reform of the international monetary and financial system.

32. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for non-aligned and other developing countries to review and harmonize their policies and programmes with respect to international economic co-operation in response to the changing world economic situation, especially in regard to the key interrelated issues of money, finance, debt, trade and development. They also emphasized the need for strengthening and broadening the position of non-aligned and other developing countries in regard to multilateral economic co-operation, and for formulating strategies and enriching the negotiating platform of non-aligned and other developing countries for future negotiations in the light of trends and developments in the world economy and in international economic relations.

33. Having considered the recommendation of the Ministerial Meeting of the Co-ordinating Bureau of non-aligned countries held in New Delhi in April 1986 to set up a Standing Ministerial Committee for Economic Co-operation, and having examined the report submitted by the Bureau in this connection, the Heads of State or Government approved the establishment of the Standing Ministerial Committee for Economic Co-operation. They further decided that a review of the functioning of the Standing Ministerial Committee for Economic Co-operation be made at the Ninth Non-Aligned Movement Summit Conference.

34. The Heads of State or Government noted the growing interdependence among countries as well as between the various sectors of the world economy particularly in the interrelated areas of money, finance, trade, external debt and development. While supporting the ongoing endeavours to resolve economic issues in the relevant specialized agencies and organizations, they reiterated the need for a comprehensive and high-level dialogue to redress the present imbalances and to promote sustained and balanced growth in the world economy. In this context, they noted with interest the idea that such a dialogue should proceed in an appropriate multilateral forum within the United Nations system, with the full participation of the developing countries. They therefore decided to undertake further consultations in this regard, including consultations within the Group of 77, in order to assess the current state of international economic co-operation for development and determine the arrangements for such a dialogue, with a view to providing the requisite stimulus to the stalemated North-South negotiations.

35. In this context, the Heads of State or Government believed that in view of the changed conditions of the world economy, it was necessary to continue and intensify efforts to revive the dialogue with the developed countries and to reinvigorate international economic co-operation. There was, therefore, an urgent need for developed and developing countries to work together and examine the various options available for the revival of the North-South dialogue for sustained global economic development and growth, especially in the developing countries. They were of the view that this initiative would provide a good basis for agreements at the political level between the developed and developing countries regarding actions, and mechanisms, which would advance the North-South dialogue and promote balanced and sustained world economic growth and development.

36. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need to intensify the efforts of the non-aligned and other developing countries to attain collective self-reliance which would not only enhance the negotiating strength of the developing countries but also increase opportunities for their development. The Heads of State or Government recalled the Declaration on Collective Self-Reliance among non-aligned and other developing countries adopted by the Seventh Summit Conference in order to impart fresh impetus to South-South co-operation by mobilizing all necessary resources and means towards this end. They stressed that concrete and action-oriented steps were required for the effective implementation of the programme of co-operation in this sphere.

37. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the important role the Group of 77 plays in dialogue and negotiations with developed countries on the issue of development and urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to maintain their unity and solidarity in the face of adverse circumstances and work collectively for solutions to common problems.

38. The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation the information provided by the Honourable Dato' Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad, the Prime Minister of

Malaysia, regarding the establishment of the Non-Governmental and Independent Commission of the South for development issues with H.E. Julius Nyerere, the former President of the United Republic of Tanzania, as its Chairman. They further noted that the Commission would be made up of personages of high standing and expertise who would provide independent opinions and recommendations of concrete measures and strategies on important economic issues of concern to non-aligned and other developing countries for the attainment of their economic objectives.

VI. MONETARY AND FINANCIAL ISSUES AND TRANSFER OF RESOURCES

39. The Heads of State or Government were deeply concerned by the lack of progress in on-going efforts to effect meaningful reform and to restructure the international monetary and financial system. They stressed that a viable monetary and financial system is a pre-requisite for improved and expanded international co-operation. In this connection, they reaffirmed the urgent need for the restructuring of the present international monetary and financial system and for the early establishment of a system fully responsive to the diverse and constantly changing requirements of the world economy, especially to the needs of the developing countries.

40. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government reiterated the need for the early convening of the International Conference on Money and Finance for Development proposed by the Seventh Summit Conference. They commended the Group of 77 in New York for the efforts it made during the fortieth session of the United Nations General Assembly to this end and urged it to continue its endeavours to initiate the preparatory process during the forthcoming forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly. They urged the developed countries to participate fully in a positive and constructive manner in the establishment of the preparatory process necessary for the convening of such a conference with universal participation. In this context, they recalled that the report of the high-level group of experts convened by the late Prime Minister of India in her capacity as Chairperson of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries clarified the issues and provided important inputs for future discussions on the substantive and procedural aspects of the proposed conference.

41. The Heads of State or Government noted the consideration by the Board of the International Monetary Fund of the reports of the Group of 24 and the Group of 10 on the functioning of the international monetary system. In this context, they welcomed the initiatives taken by the Group of 24 and called for urgent action to reform the international monetary and financial system, including the adoption of appropriate measures and mechanisms which would promote world economic growth and development and facilitate an equitable and symmetric adjustment process. They expressed concern that recommendations made by the Group of 24 in regard to these issues had yet to receive sufficient attention by the developed countries in the appropriate forum. They urged the developed countries to take immediate action in that regard.

42. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the urgent need to increase substantially the voting share and level of participation of developing countries in the decision-making process of international monetary and financial institutions through the restructuring of the present systems with a view to achieving a more equitable and effective functioning of those institutions.

43. The Heads of State or Government were convinced of the need to ensure, on a continuing basis, increased co-ordination between the Group of 77 and the Group of 24 including, inter alia, in the preparatory work for the convening of the International Conference on Money and Finance for Development. In this context they urged early consultations among all concerned.

44. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the existing international monetary and financial system, particularly its institutional machinery, had proved insufficient to support the efforts of the developing countries to deal with the problems arising from their disproportionately large, externally-induced current account deficits. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the urgent need for action, inter alia in the following areas:

(a) the establishment of a stable and responsive international monetary system which would ensure exchange rate stability, non-inflationa., growth and appropriate levels of liquidity through macro-economic policy co-ordination by major developed countries in a multilateral framework involving the complementary use of monetary, fiscal and other essential policy instruments;

(b) effective multilateral surveillance to ensure equitable and symmetric international adjustment and to influence the adoption by developed countries of policies supportive of growth, and particularly that of developing countries;

(c) concerted action for the supply of adequate international liquidity on an increasingly assured, continuous and predictable basis consistent with the growth requirements of the world economy and meeting in particular the needs of the developing countries. This would include inter alia:

(i) implementation of the decision to make Special Drawing Rights (SDRs) the principal reserve asset of the international monetary system and, in this regard, to issue SDRs on a regular annual basis to ensure that their proportion in reserves rises progressively;

(ii) linking all allocation of SDRs to the development needs of developing countries;

(iii) an allocation of SDRs before the end of the fourth basic period totalling no less than SDR 15 billion, with special allocations of SDRs over the next two years. The amount for the first year could be SDR 25 to 30 billion and the second-year requirement should be determined in the light of circumstances;

(iv) ensuring the unconditional nature of SDRs and their more efficient distribution;

(d) substantial changes in the International Monetary Fund's conditionality criteria from demand deflation to growth-oriented structural adjustments that require lengthened programme periods and increased levels of financing. There should be greater flexibility in the application of the conditionality criteria, with due account being taken of the causes which gave rise to the imbalances;

(e) the substantial expansion of the Compensatory Financing Facility, avoiding the trend towards a hardening of its conditionality, restoration of access limits and the extension of the Facility to cover not only export shortfalls but also deterioration in terms of trade which is quantifiable; in so far as this facility is assigned to compensate for temporary shortfalls in export earnings, conditionality has little relevance, and credits under this facility should be provided on a virtually automatic basis;

(f) the drastic reduction in formal access limits to Fund resources in recent years was a retrograde step. It is therefore essential to continue with the enlarged access policy, necessitated inter alia by the inadequacy of quotas;

(g) the advancement of the ninth review of quotas, in view of the fact that the eighth review fell far short of requirements. Quotas as a proportion of world trade should be restored at least to the level of 10 per cent which existed up to the early 1970s. Pending adequate increase of quotas, the option of borrowing by the International Monetary Fund from other official sources should be kept open.

45. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern the alarming levels reached in the net transfer of financial resources from developing to developed countries (31 billion dollars in 1985, United Nations World Economic Survey). Thus, interest payments from developing countries in 1985 alone amounted to 54 billion dollars, while financial flows including ODA, have continued to decline in absolute and real terms. These difficulties on the financial front have been exacerbated by serious decline in terms of trade of commodities, including oil, exported by these countries (approaching 100 billion dollars in a single year, IMF, UNCTAD). They reiterated their deep concern at this anomalous trend which impairs the ability of developing countries to provide for their basic needs or fulfil their essential development requirements. In this connection they requested that international measures be taken to reverse the net transfer of resources to developed countries. Furthermore, they expressed their support to those developing countries which are subject to foreign pressure or threats for undertaking economic policy measures to redress the imbalance of the net transfer of resources to the developed countries.

46. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the economic crisis confronting the developing countries has been to a great extent a result of decreasing and inadequate transfer of resources for development. They noted with deep concern the decline in concessional flows in recent years and that the ODA target of 0.7 per cent of gross national product (GNP) as called for in the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade remains largely unfulfilled. They regretted the continuing and substantial fall in multilateral flows, private bank lending and credits. The Heads of State or Government recalled that the Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s for the least developed countries, adopted in 1981, also included the commitment by the developed countries to provide 0.15 per cent of their GNP as ODA to the less developed countries within the context of the general increase of ODA flows to all developing countries. They urged all developing countries to take the necessary steps for the implementation of the provisions of the International Development Strategy and the Substantial New Programme of Action concerning ODA for the least developed countries and that the transfer of resources to developing countries should be placed on an increasingly assured, continuous and predictable basis.

47. They expressed their concern at the introduction of a new form of conditionality in Official Development Assistance by the governments of the developed countries and their official agencies along the lines of subordinating the disbursement of concessional resources to the settlement of outstanding financial obligations.

48. The Heads of State or Government appealed to the developed donor countries to redouble their efforts to increase ODA as a matter of urgency through action on the following fronts:

(a) the attainment of the ODA target of 0.7 per cent of GNP as quickly as possible, and in any event not later than the end of the present decade. Further, the target of 0.15 per cent of GNP as ODA for the least developed countries should be achieved at the earliest possible date, within the framework of a general increase of official development assistance flows to all developing countries. Development assistance should also be placed on an increasingly assured, continuous and predictable basis and should result in a rational and equitable distribution among developing countries, as expressed in the Substantial New Programme of Action for the least developed countries;

(b) strengthening the role of the World Bank in the face of new challenges to fulfil its commitments in respect of development, growth and poverty alleviation, as enshrined in its Articles of Agreement, urgently effecting a general capital increase of the World Bank, whose volume as a minimum should double the current authorized capital, the importance of achieving a lending growth rate of at least 6.5 per cent per annum in real terms. In this regard, the Heads of State or

Government expressed grave concern over the shortfall in the Bank's lending programme and expressed strong opposition to any policy-based lending or to linking its assistance to increasing conditionality based on political considerations;

(c) reversing the decline in International Development Association (IDA) resources, taking into account the increased requirement of the poorer developing countries and the inadequacy of the IDA's Seventh Replenishment, through:

(i) an early conclusion of negotiations for the IDA's Eighth Replenishment, which should be substantially larger in real terms than the IDA's Seventh Replenishment - and at least at the level of 12 billion United States dollars;

(ii) the immediate reversal of any trend towards diluting the quality of IDA assistance, either through hardening of terms or through differentiation among countries;

(d) increasing the size of the Special Facility for Sub-Saharan Africa, with additional resource commitments from donor countries. The application of access to and terms and conditions of lending for the Special Facility should be on a par with those governing ODA;

(e) substantive strengthening of existing regional development banks which have been playing a significant role in the development of their member countries. There is an urgent need to increase their capital base so that they can increase their lending on an assured, continuous and predictable basis;

(f) maintaining the basic characteristics of the regional development banks and their regional nature, which should not be altered to the detriment of the interests of member developing countries; the Heads of State or Government called upon the developed countries members of those banks to refrain from linking negotiations for an increase in or a replenishment of the capital bases of those banks to proposals for any such changes.

49. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern the sharp decline in private capital flows to the developing countries and called for the urgent reversal of this trend and the improvement of the access of developing countries to private financial markets. They reiterated their view that foreign private investment could play an effective role in promoting growth and development in developing countries, in accordance with their respective policies. They emphasized the urgent need for the early conclusion of effective codes of conduct on transfer of technology and transnational corporations.

50. The Heads of State or Government underlined the continuing need for the intensification of the commitments to multilateralism and to increase multilateral financial, technical and other assistance to developing countries.

51. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern the growing pressures by some developed countries on international monetary and financial institutions, especially the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, as well as on certain regional Development Banks to adopt a politically motivated approach to conditionality and in the granting of loans in a manner inconsistent with the requirements of development and structural adjustments. They warned against simplistic prescriptions for the solution of economic problems on the basis of particular ideological approaches which do not recognize the diversity of economic and social systems and expressed their total rejection of any attempt to introduce into the lending policy of these institutions conditionality criteria based on political considerations as well as the increase of any kind of conditionality.

VII. EXTERNAL DEBT AND DEVELOPMENT

52. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the Non-Aligned Movement's deep concern regarding the very serious consequences which the external debt crisis was having for the development process of the non-aligned countries and other developing countries. They recognized that the problem of external indebtedness is a direct result of the deterioration of the world economic situation which reflects the existing inequalities and the unjust international economic order.

53. The Heads of State or Government noted that the problem of developing countries' external indebtedness has assumed serious political and social dimensions accentuated by the drastic impact of the imbalances in the international monetary, financial and trading system. They therefore emphasized that a parochial approach to its solution which only took account of its economic characteristics or technical aspects, e.g. restricting the measures that need to be adopted with regard to the external debt and development crisis merely to financing payments abroad instead of addressing the underlying structural problem, was inadequate. In this context, the Heads of State or Government underlined the need for a political and a global approach in which the debtor developing countries and the creditor developed countries, as well as international financial and banking institutions which shared responsibility for solving the problem of developing countries' indebtedness should take part. They expressed their concern that despite the international recognition of the seriousness of the external debt crisis faced by the developing countries and its negative consequences for the world economy, the international community had not yet taken the necessary steps to promote, through a political commitment, a lasting solution to this problem.

54. While recognizing the international obligations contracted by debtor countries in relation to debt, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that under the present circumstances the financial obligations undertaken by developing countries with creditors from developed countries and multilateral financial institutions had become intolerable; moreover, unless urgent, just and durable solutions were found by the international community, for some of them those obligations would become beyond the capacities of their economies.

55. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their view that the policies of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for solving debt issues had proved inadequate because they failed to take into consideration the long-term and social development prospects of the developing countries. Accordingly, they stressed that IMF policy should take into account the requirements for growth in production and employment and should respect the capacity of individual countries to set up and execute their adjustment plans.

56. The Heads of State or Government agreed that the external debt problem did not concern only the financial situation of their countries but that, due to the renegotiation practices imposed by the International Monetary Fund and other multilateral financial institutions, it is also a serious matter related to the sovereignty of the State over its natural resources and economic activities. In this regard, they stated that under no circumstances should the renegotiation processes involve conditions which remove from the purview of the State the capacity to define its own economic policy and the allocation of resources for investment and consumption, which are indispensable to the exercise of their rights to development and to prevent the lowering of the already impoverished standard of living of their peoples. The Heads of State or Government thus reasserted the inalienable right of all States to choose their economic systems freely, regulate their economic activities and make their own decisions regarding the policies which they consider suitable to face the crisis and foster their development, including debt servicing.

57. The Heads of State or Government emphasised that the developing debtor countries had undertaken strenuous adjustment efforts in response to their external environment and that this was having serious social and political consequences for them. They however regretted that the adjustment process remains largely asymmetrical and unjust because developed countries are not making parallel efforts to adopt and implement appropriate economic policies in a co-ordinated manner, to eliminate trade restrictions and subsidies to exports, or to reduce effectively the fiscal imbalances that lead to high real interest rates which at present are well above historical level. They reaffirmed the need to deal with the debt problem on the basis of growth and adjustment. They noted that although this had come to be recognized by the major developed countries, the steps so far proposed were inadequate.

58. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the direct relationship existing between the effective and durable solution of the serious external debt problems of developing countries and the implementation of the new International Economic Order. They reaffirmed their view that the complete restructuring of international economic relations through the establishment of the New International Economic Order was essential for the development and growth of the developing countries.

59. The Heads of State or Government called upon the Governments of debtor developing countries, creditor developed countries and international financial and banking institutions to engage in political dialogue with the developing countries in order to find jointly genuine solutions to the external debt problems of developing countries. They emphasized that, to that end, the international community should adopt a series of measures, inter alia the following:

(i) recognition of shared responsibilities between debtors, creditors, international financial and banking institutions;

(ii) bringing down real interest rates not relying on the market mechanism and stretching out payments, grace and consolidation periods;

(iii) establishing with additional resources a new credit facility in the IMF to expand the Compensatory Financing Facility to alleviate the debt service burden caused by high real interest rates; substantially changing the conditionality criteria of the international financial institutions; and ensuring that any co-ordination between the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank and the other multilateral financial institutions does not lead to cross-conditionality;

(iv) limiting debt service payments to a percentage of export earnings which would be compatible with the development needs and economic and social requirements of each country; developing new mechanisms to help the debtor developing countries which on account of adverse exogenous factors are unable to repay their obligations to the multilateral monetary and financial institutions according to fixed schedules; and reinitiating the financial flows for development;

(v) differentiating, for countries heavily indebted to the international banking system, existing debt from new credit flows, for the purpose of determining interest rates, in order to provide incentives for new flows of funds to debtor countries; and giving special treatment to the poorer and least developed countries in the solution of their external debt problems;

(vi) substantially increasing the market access of developing countries' exports in developed countries; the immediate implementation of developed countries' commitments on standstill and rollback of protectionism; reversing the trend towards disruptive market practices, discrimination and managed trade; and strengthening of commodity markets in order to ensure fair and remunerative prices to producers.

60. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their call for the immediate and full implementation of resolution 165 (S-IX) of the Trade and Development Board of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and the recommendations of the Mid-Term Global Review of the Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s (SNPA) held in 1985.

61. The H... of State or Government welcomed the offer by the Government of Peru to host in Lima the Expert Consultative Meeting for the exchange of information related to national experiences on the external debt issue. In this context, they urged non-aligned and other developing countries to participate in the above-mentioned meeting at a high and expert level. They recommended that the report of the expert meeting be presented to the forthcoming Conference of Ministers of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries.

6 . The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation the efforts made and action taken by the Group of 77 in the United Nations in keeping the problem of external debt crisis and development of developing countries under constant review. Given the importance of this issue, the Heads of State or Government decided that full consideration should be given to the External debt crisis and development" at the forthcoming regular session of the General Assembly They noted with satisfaction that the Group of 77 in New York had taken the necessary steps to have the issue of "External debt crisis and development" inscribed as a specific item on the agenda of the forty-first session of the United Nations General Assembly. They expressed their support for further actions in this regard by the Group of 77 in New York.

63. The Heads of State or Government also noted with satisfaction the recent conclusions and proposals of the recent thirty-third meeting of the Ministers of the Group of 24 for International Monetary Affairs, inter alia, in the field of debt, transfer of resources and international monetary reform. They invited the Group to continue with its efforts in searching for the solution of the pressing problems besetting the international monetary and financial relations.

VIII. TRADE AND RAW MATERIALS

64. The Heads of State or Government expressed profound concern at the world economic crisis which has adversely affected the capacity of the developing countries to participate in international trade. They noted with concern that world trade with regard to products exported by developing countries continued to be characterized by market instability, an excessive and continuous decline in the prices of their products, lack of access to the markets of the developed countries, the upsurge of protectionism, unfair competition due to subsidized exports by developed countries and the decisive influence of transnational corporations of some developed countries as regards price setting by virtue of their control of the main markets of these products.

65. The Heads of State or Government stressed the importance of expansion of trade for the world economy as a whole. They noted with concern that the share of developing countries in world exports had risen from 20.6 per cent to only 26.1 per cent in the 20-year period 1962-1982. Their share in trade in manufactures was only 10.9 per cent. During this period, a directional change in trade had taken place and exports from developing countries to other developing countries had increased from 22 per cent to 31.5 per cent, while there had been a decline in the share of their exports to developed market economy countries. On the other hand, in the field of manufactures, exports by the developed countries to developing countries had increased by 54.4 per cent to US $751.2 billion i.e. 28 per cent of their total exports. While therefore, the developing countries were gradually beginning to export more processed and manufactured goods the share of their products which they exported was still small and they depended heavily on exports of commodities and raw materials. At the same time they provided valuable markets for developed country exports.

66. The Heads of State or Government noted that the increases registered in the price of crude oil during the last decade had been used by the developed countries as a pretext for sharp increases in the prices of their manufactures exports. They expressed their concern that in spite of the recent declines in the oil prices there had been no corresponding decline in the price of manufacture exports of the industrialized countries.

67. The Heads of State or Government further expressed deep concern at the excessive and continuous downward trend in the prices of commodities exported by the developing countries and the worsening of their terms of trade, which had accentuated their balance-of-payments difficulties and led to a reverse transfer of resources. Several commodity markets have become highly unstable and chaotic. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that no serious attempt at the international level to reverse this trend was evident and stressed that urgent consideration should be given to measures for resolving these problems.In this context, the Heads of

State or Government called for the intensification of efforts, at all appropriate forums, to strike a balance between the prices of exports of raw materials and commodities of the developing countries and the prices of imports from the industrialized countries.

68. The threat to the international trading system remains grave. In spite of repeated and eloquent appeals to halt protectionism, sectoral arrangements and the so-called 'voluntary export restraint arrangements' and other action devised to circumvent GATT rules are on the rise. The limited success of the Ministerial Session of 1982 has hardly been followed up and the Work Programme adopted by that Session remains unimplemented due to the position taken by some industrialized countries. GATT's surveillance of restrictive practices and harassment of exports remained deficient. Further, the GATT system suffered from inadequate and ineffective dispute settlement and enforcement mechanism, consequently, developing countries' rights could not be protected or enforced. The lack of a comprehensive understanding on safeguards had led to the creation of barriers against exports of developing countries, especially in the very areas in which they had established advantage. Moreover, action to restrict trade was being taken on a discriminatory basis against developing countries and was being perpetuated by developed countries, instead of their adopting appropriate adjustment measures. Nearly a third of the exports of developing countries to the developed countries continues to face barriers of one kind or another as well as intensified protectionist measures.

69. There was also an increasing tendency on the part of some developed countries to institute unjustified investigations on antidumping and countervailing grounds and these disrupted the developing countries' exports. Action was often attempted, through unjustified trade policy measures, to deal with problems caused by national policies followed by certain developed countries in the areas of money, finance, exchange rates and budgets, and that fuelled the forces of protectionism. It was therefore necessary that co-ordinated macro-economic measures be taken in those areas with the full participation of developing countries.

70. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern that little or no progress has been made in major areas of international trade and related development matters. Even the agreements which had emerged were neither effective nor meaningful. The Common Fund for Commodities, agreed on in June 1980, remains inoperational. Very few international commodity agreements have been negotiated: most of them lacked effective mechanism and some had collapsed. No effective code had emerged on restrictive business practices or in the area of transfer of technology. Developing countries' efforts to make the Set of Principles and Rules on Restrictive Business Practices a legally binding code had been unsuccessful, while a Code of Conduct on the Transfer of Technology could not be concluded because of the persistent negative attitude of some developed countries towards the chapters on restrictive business practices and applicable law and settlement of disputes. The Heads of State or Government expressed disappointment at the extension and enlargement of the discriminatory régime directed against developing countries on international trade in textiles and clothing. They regretted the lack of substantial progress in the agricultural sector and in the area of tropical products. Extraneous elements had been built into the generalised system of preferences schemes of some countries and these too discriminated between developing countries. Differential and more favourable treatment for developing countries was being diluted or even neglected.

71. Conscious of the need to promote the trade and development of the developing countries, the Heads of State or Government called for, inter alia, result-oriented discussions to be held in UNCTAD on the inter-related issues of money, finance, trade and development. Bearing in mind the linkage between trade, money, finance and development, they called on the developed countries to undertake co-ordinated action in the field of money and finance and to take the necessary adjustment measures which would be conducive to the expansion of the trade of developing countries and contribute to a transfer of real resources to them. All necessary measures should be taken to strengthen UNCTAD with a view to attaining these objectives. In this context, the UNCTAD secretariat should provide the necessary analytical studies to support intensive and purposeful negotiations on international economic co-operation.

72. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the Integrated Programme for Commodities as contained in

UNCTAD resolution 93(IV). In this context, they called for the conclusion of further international commodity agreements, the strengthening of existing ones and the ratification of the agreement establishing the common fund for commodities so as to make it operational as early as possible. In this regard the Heads of State or Government called on the non-aligned countries which have not yet ratified the agreement to do so without delay. Furthermore they called especially on the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, as well as on the other developed countries which have not ratified the agreement, to do so without delay.

73. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the imperative for IMF to ensure a substantial expansion and liberalization of the Buffer Stock Financing Facility in order to grant the developing countries a rapid, full and automatic compensation of their deficit without imposition of conditions. They also called for the establishment of a globalized STABEX scheme with a view to stabilizing commodity export earnings of developing countries.

74. The Heads of State or Government stressed the importance of producers' associations as one of the means for improving the negotiating strength of developing countries to secure fair and remunerative prices for their exports as well as increase their export earnings. They further stressed that international co-operation should be enhanced to bring about greater participation by developing countries in the processing, marketing and distribution of commodities.

75. They further stressed the need to strengthen commodity agreements through co-operation between producing and consuming countries to incorporate in the agreements effective mechanisms for achieving the objectives of market stability and prices which are remunerative for the producer and fair to the consumer.

76. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the need to improve the generalised scheme of preferences particularly with regard to its functioning and the number of products covered. They stressed further that existing schemes should be extended to all developing countries. Developed countries should eliminate all forms of discrimination as well as the graduation of developing countries, including progressive tariffs dependent on the level of processing.

77. The major objectives of any new round of multilateral trade negotiations must be the preservation and strengthening of the multilateral trading system in a manner which would promote rapid growth and diversification of developing countries' trade, an improvement in the real earnings of developing countries from their exports and full protection of the interests and rights of developing countries, while allowing an effective differential and more favourable treatment for the developing countries. The prevailing situation, characterized by a multitude of derogation and deviations from the GATT principles by the developed countries, was unacceptable as a basis to build upon in any future negotiations. Accordingly, developed countries should, within the framework of GATT, rectify the damage done to the

GATT system, and in particular to the interests of the developing countries.

(i) As a prerequisite for a meaningful new round in GATT it is necessary that :

(a) a firm and credible commitment should be undertaken by the developed countries at the commencement of the new round on the question of standstill, which should take effect on the launching of the new round. This commitment should be subject to multilateral surveillance;

(b) developed countries should undertake a commitment to roll back, in a short and definite period not exceeding three years, measures in all sectors inconsistent with or outside the framework of GATT;

(c) a commitment should be undertaken by all participants to negotiate on a priority basis a comprehensive agreement on safeguards which is based on the principles of GATT, especially non-discrimination, and which contains, inter alia, the elements enumerated in the GATT Ministers Work gramme of 1982.

(ii) To inspire confidence and lend credibility to the preparatory process for the new round of negotiations it is necessary to achieve rapid progress in the implementation of the commitments made in the Ministerial Declaration of November 1982. In this regard, liberalization of trade in textiles should be translated into specific modalities for ensuring that trade in textiles returns to normal GATT rules within a short period.

(iii) During the new round the following areas should receive priority attention:

(a) the GATT provisions and decisions on differential and more favourable treatment should be implemented meaningfully and effectively, with special attention being given to the particular situation and problems of the Least Developed Countries in order to accelerate their development through an equitable share in trade benefits;

(b) the long-standing demand of the developing countries for duty-free unrestricted access of tropical products, in primary and processed forms, to the markets of developed countries should be fulfilled within a short and specific period;

(c) in dealing with the agricultural sector, negotiations should be aimed at the liberalization of trade in agriculture and the elimination of exports of subsidized agricultural products which compete with the exports of developing countries. Tariff escalation and intensification of non-tariff measures at highest stages of processing of agricultural and agro-based pro ts should be eliminated so as to encourage the development and expansion of higher value-added production in and exports from developing countries;

(d) negotiations should be carried out for reducing and eliminating quantitative restrictions and measures having similar effects;

(e) ways and means of effectively curtailing the trade-inhibiting effect of restrictive business practices, particularly those of transnational corporations, should be devised, so as to ensure that those practices do not affect international trade by restraining competition, limiting access to markets and fostering monopolistic control.

(f) the dispute settlement and enforcement mechanism of GATT should be improved and strengthened with a view to protecting the rights of developing countries;

(g) elimination of tariff escalation in the markets of developed countries;

The Heads of State or Government recognized that GATT did not have jurisdiction in the area of services, intellectual property and investment. They felt that services covered a wide range of economic activities, very heterogeneous in character. Some of them involved the establishment or movement of people or were closely interlinked with the socio-economic structure of a country. Furthermore, international agencies already existed for dealing with certain specific services. In the light of this, the questions whether and what international action was necessary or feasible with regard to any service sectors, and their implications for developing countries, therefore needed to be fully examined. The Heads of State or Government declared emphatically that no linkage should be established between access for goods of developing countries and concessions by them in the areas of services, as inter alia this would accentuate the existing asymmetries in the international economic order.

78. The Heads of State or Government requested the Contracting Parties of GATT to take a decision at their Ministerial Session at Punta del Este to exclude the racist regime of South Africa from participation in the forthcoming round of Multilateral Trade Negotiations.

79. The Heads of State or Government recognized the growing importance of trade and economic co-operation among developing countries, particularly in the context of a general deterioration of the world trading environment and the protectionist measures which developing countries' exports faced in the developed countries. Co-operation among developing countries was not a substitute for co-operation between developed and developing countries. Strengthening the collective self-reliance of developing countries would, however, reduce their dependence on the developed countries and enable them to play a more dynamic role in sustaining world growth and development. They noted with satisfaction the conclusions of the Conference of Trade Ministers held in New Delhi in July 1985 at the invitation of the Government of India, which had imparted momentum to the efforts for evolving the Global System of Trade Preferences (GSTP), one of the key elements of economic co-operation among developing countries. They urged the non-aligned and other members of the Group of 77 to participate effectively in the negotiations on the GSTP launched in Brasilia in May 1986 in order to promote their early and successful conclusion not later than 1 May 1987.

80. The Heads of State or Government expressed concern at the fact that the complete trade embargo imposed against Nicaragua by the United States in May 1985 was extended in November of the same year, in violation of Nicaragua's rights of sovereignty and self-determination. They rejected most emphatically the extension of the embargo against Nicaragua and called for its removal, in accordance with the provisions of United Nations General Assembly resolution 40/188.

81. The Heads of State or Government, taking into account the Co-ordinating Bureau's communiqué of 28 July 1986, demanded the immediate implementation of the judgement given by the International Court of Justice on 27 June 1986, which declares that the United States of America, by imposing a trade embargo and taking other coercive economic measures against Nicaragua, has violated its obligations under the Treaty of Friendship, Trade and Navigation signed between the two countries, and that the United States of America is obliged to compensate the Republic of Nicaragua for the damage caused by the violation of the above-mentioned Treaty.

82. The Heads of State or Government examined the measures taken by the United States Administration against the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, namely, the imposition of an economic boycott and the freezing of its assets in the United States. They condemned these measures as a form of economic coercion for political ends, and called on the United States Administration to rescind them forthwith. They expressed their solidarity with the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya in countering those measures which are aimed at undermining its economic and social development plans, and infringing on the sovereignty and independence of its people. They called on all countries to make appropriate and concrete arrangements to assist the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya in overcoming these arbitrary measures.

IX. UNCTAD

83. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the important role played by UNCTAD since its formation in the area of international economic co-operation in trade and development and in this context stressed the need to preserve the spirit and objectives of that organization as embodied in United Nations General Assembly resolution 1995(XIX) and subsequent relevant resolutions and decisions aimed at enhancing the integrity of UNCTAD in fulfilling its mandate. They recalled that UNCTAD was the principal instrument of the United Nations General Assembly for international economic negotiations on trade and development issues.

84. The Heads of State or Government considered the seventh session of UNCTAD as an opportunity for a comprehensive and interrelated review of the world economic situation and its consequences on the trade and development of developing countries. In this context they stressed that the seventh session of UNCTAD should, inter alia, take effective steps for the launching of a programme for world economic recovery and the reactivation of even and sustained growth and development. The seventh session of UNCTAD should, in the light of the current economic crisis, consider key international economic issues, inter alia, in the field of commodities, trade, money, and finance, external debt and development and their interrelationships. They called for the adoption of action-oriented measures and strategies of international co-operation to alleviate the problems of developing countries in these areas. In this context, special attention should be given to the problems of the least developed countries. The Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the seventh session of UNCTAD would restore constructive, sustainable and result-oriented negotiation between developed and developing countries, and invited all States to undertake adequate preparations for, and to be represented at the ministerial level at, UNCTAD VII.

X. FOOD AND AGRICULTURE

85. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the continuing and serious deterioration in the food and agricultural situation in many developing countries, particularly in Africa, and reaffirmed the imperative need to keep food and agricultural issues at the centre of global attention. They reaffirmed that international action to deal with food and agricultural problems in developing countries should be considered in a comprehensive manner in accordance with the different dimensions of the problems and immediate, short-term and long-term perspectives. In this context, they called for sustained and adequate international support for the attainment of self-sufficiency in food production in developing countries.

86. They noted with concern the stagnation in the commitment of external resources to the agricultural sector, and particularly the decline in concessional flows. They also noted with regret that multilateral assistance to the Agriculture Sector fell by about 5 per cent in 1985 (FAO Report),and urged the developed countries to take determined action to reverse this trend, inter alia, by increasing their contributions to the multilateral agencies, bearing in mind the difficult financial situation faced by agencies, such as the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD) which use their resources for agricultural development. They considered it essential that immediate steps should be taken to reverse the flow of financial resources from developing countries to the developed countries. They proposed the adoption of a special international programme of food aid and financial assistance to relieve the situation in those developing countries, particularly in Africa, suffering from a chronic food deficit.

87. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that the right to food was a basic and universal human right which should be guaranteed to all peoples. They strongly condemned the use of food as an instrument of political pressure and cautioned against any kind of conditionality in the supply of food aid. They also reaffirmed that the strengthening of international co-operation in regard to food and agriculture was important for improved economic conditions and enhanced food security. In this context they stressed the need for the timely delivery of food to those requiring it, especially in African and least developed countries, and the need to assist recipient countries in developing and strengthening their logistical and administrative capacities as well as their internal distribution systems. They urged the strengthening of the global information and early warning system in food and agriculture of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and emphasized the importance of establishing and improving national and regional early warning systems. They also welcomed the measures undertaken by the World Food Programme to ensure speedy and timely delivery of food aid as well as the development of an information system for dissemination on a regular basis of all relevant information on food aid to facilitate planning and operational co-ordination.

88. The Heads of State or Government emphasized the need for strengthening subregional, regional and interregional co-operation for the promotion of food security and agricultural development. They called upon the relevant bodies of the United Nations system to accord priority to supporting economic and technical co-operation among developing countries in food and agriculture.

89. In this regard they reiterated the call made at the Seventh Summit Conference for the early establishment of a food security system of the non-aligned and other developing countries.

90. The Heads of State of Government expressed their support for the food security project adopted at the twenty-third session of the Conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

91. They appealed urgently to the international community to give its full support to IFAD in order to ensure a firm financial basis for the Fund. In this context, they appealed urgently to the developed and developing countries in a position to do so to make a further effort by increasing their relative share in the Third Replenishment of IFAD, having regard to the critical economic situation prevailing in the developing countries.

92. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their deep concern regarding the food and agriculture situation faced by many developing countries, particularly the deterioration of the situation in Africa because of the prolonged drought and the acceleration of the process of desertification. They reiterated their support for the Harare Declaration on the food crisis in Africa, adopted during the thirteenth Food and Agriculture Organization Regional Conference for Africa, as well as the relevant United Nations resolutions of 1983 and 1984 and urged the international community to contribute to their immediate and effective implementation, taking into account the Strategy for the Economic Development of Africa, adopted at Monrovia, and the Lagos Plan of Action. On this basis, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their support for the African Priority Programme for Economic Recovery (APPER) to improve the food situation and rehabilitate agriculture in Africa, adopted by the Assembly of Heads of State or Government of the Organization of African Unity at its twenty-first ordinary session.

93. They welcomed with satisfaction the IFAD Special Programme for African countries affected by drought and desertification established to help these countries in their recovery, rehabilitation and long-term development process. Noting that some of the major industrialized countries had not pledged their contribution to this programme, even though the latter had been adopted unanimously, they appealed urgently to those countries to act promptly so that the objective of $US 300 million could be attained in the shortest possible time. They would thus give further evidence of their support for the United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990.

XI. ENERGY

94. The Heads of State or Government underlined the crucial role of energy for the economic growth and well-being of developing countries. They stressed that efforts to develop and expand all energy resources in the world should continue in order to ensure an orderly transition from the present pattern of energy production and consumption to one that will be based increasingly on new and renewable sources of energy and the rational utilization of all forms of energy.

/...

95. The Heads of State or Government noted that many developing countries continued to face serious problems in the development of energy resources. They reaffirmed the provisions of United Nations General Assembly resolutions 39/176 and 40/208 on the development of energy resources and expressed the hope that all member States, in co-operation with the appropriate organizations, bodies and organs of the United Nations system, would continue to explore ways and means to support the efforts of the developing countries in the exploration and development of their energy resources.

96. They further noted that the level of energy lending by the international financial institutions was still inadequate and they urged the enlargement of these resources through an increase in the overall level of lending, including structural adjustment lending through the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank to finance balance-of-payment deficits.

97. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the international community should devote serious attention to the effective implementation of the Nairobi Plan of Action for the Development and Utilization of New and Renewable Sources of Energy (NPA). They expressed their concern that few of the consultative meetings envisaged in the NPA had been held. The global consultative meeting, while useful in identifying projects, had not led to the mobilization of the necessary financial resources. The Heads of State or Government urged further energetic action in this regard.

98. While reiterating that the developed countries should give the freest possible access to all energy technologies, the Heads of State or Government also stressed the importance of co-operation in the sphere of energy among the non-aligned and other developing countries for promoting the expansion of collective self-reliance, and urged them to strengthen their technical and economic co-operation programmes in this field.

XII. SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

99. The Heads of State or Government stressed the important role of science and technology for promoting the development of the developing countries. Sadly, the implementation of the Vienna Programme of Action had been very slow and inadequate. They expressed their growing concern at the effects of the world economic crisis on scientific and technological development in developing countries, and particularly on their ability to absorb and adapt new technologies, and at the increasing difficulties faced in the transfer of technology to the developing countries on acceptable terms and conditions which ensure their independent development. Several developing countries had formulated science and technology policies and were making vigorous efforts to strengthen their scientific and technological capabilities. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the area of science and technology was extremely important for multilateral co-operation at both the global and the regional levels and stressed the role of the United Nations system in this regard. They also welcomed the regional steps taken for rehabilitation of the field of science and particularly the decision of the Twenty-Second

Summit Conference of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) to convene the first Congress of Scientists in Africa in Brazzaville (People's Republic of the Congo) in June 1987 and appealed to all member States of the Non-Aligned Movement to provide appropriate support for the Congress.

100. The Heads of State or Government, in accordance with the objectives laid down at the 1979 Vienna Conference on Science and Technology for Development, urged the developed countries to demonstrate political will in this vital sector for development by allocating 0.05 per cent of their GNP annually to solving certain scientific and technological problems of developing countries and 10 per cent of their research and development expenditure to studying questions of particular interest for the developing countries, in order to enable them to attain their objectives of conducting 20 per cent of world research and development activities by the year 2000.

101. The Heads of State or Government noted the deliberations in the meetings of the Intergovernmental Committee on Science and Technology for Development. In the light of the Committee's decision to focus attention on a few selected themes at each of its sessions, the Heads of State or Government expressed the hope that the discussions on specific themes would result in concrete recommendations in related areas and promote follow-up action that would further enhance scientific and technological co-operation. They also emphasized that the themes to be chosen by the Committee for its future sessions should be ones of particular importance for the developmental concerns of all developing countries.

The Heads of State or Government emphasized, however, that in addition to focusing attention on selected themes, the Committee, in its sessions, should take up for consideration the unresolved issues of the United National Conference on Science and Technology for Development, particularly those relating to transfer of technology.

102. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that efforts had not yet been successful to effect the long-term financial and institutional arrangements for the United Nations Financing System for Science and Technology for Development which had been agreed upon by consensus in the General Assembly. They invited all non-aligned countries and other developing countries to continue their efforts to bring into effect the long-term arrangements of the United Nations financing system on science and technology for development in accordance with General Assembly resolution 37/244.

103. They noted with regret that, despite some narrowing of differences, the negotiations on an international code of conduct on the transfer of technology had not resulted in the finalization of the code. They noted that developed countries were unwilling to continue negotiations for the finalization of the code. They took note of United Nations General Assembly resolution 40/184 and expressed their readiness to co-operate with the Secretary-General of UNCTAD in finding ways and means of identifying appropriate solutions to issues outstanding in connection with the code.

104. The Heads of State or Government considered that the development process in developing countries increasingly required the transfer of technologies to them on preferential terms in order to enable them to overcome the obstacles they faced in their development process in a manner consistent with their national socio-economic policies and programmes. The acquisition of high technologies in appropriate areas had become especially important in this context. Strengthening the capacities of developing countries to absorb such technologies also required urgent and concerted effort. They urged interested non-aligned and other developing countries to share their experiences in and evolve a co-operative approach towards the acquisition, transfer and absorption of technologies, especially high technologies, particularly from the North.

105. The Heads of State or Government called upon developed countries to improve considerably their mechanism for the transfer of technology to developing countries, particularly by making the conditions more flexible and by eliminating restrictive and discriminatory practices and policies.

106. The Heads of Stat or Government stressed the importance of initiating practical measures to ensure co-operation among developed countries in the field of science and technology and welcomed the finalization of the Statute of the Centre for Science and Tecnnology for non-aligned and other developing countries. They urged all member countries to expedite the process of ratification so that the Centre could become operational very soon.

107. The Heads of State or Government recognized the important role played by technical co-operation among developing countries and stressed that the resources allocated to such activities, particularly by the United Nations system, needed to be augmented substantially.

XIII.INDUSTRIALIZATION

108. The Heads of State or Government noted that the potential contribution of the industrial sector as a dynamic instrument for national development had not been realized. In fact, the prospects for industrial growth were worse at present than 10 years ago on account of the crisis in the world economy, scarcity of financial resources, lack of skilled human resources, rising protectionism and the serious debt problem, all of which had a negative impact on industrial growth and jeopardized the progress achieved so far. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed that balanced economic development required that both the agricultural and industrial sectors should grow in tandem, each reinforcing the other.

109. The Heads of State or Government observed that very little progress had been made towards realizing the objectives laid down by the Second and Third General Conferences of the United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO), or towards increasing the share of developing countries in world industrial production and world trade in manufactures. By comparison with the Lima target of 25 per cent, the share of developing countries in 1985 amounted to less that 12 per cent.

110. The Heads of State or Government expressed satisfaction at the conversion of UNIDO into a specialized agency of the United Nations system. They emphasized that the period of transition should be smooth and called upon the States members of the new UNIDO to ensure the financial viability of the organization and to provide it with adequate resources to enable it to fulfil its mandates.

111. The Heads of State or Government stressed the need for immediate and full implementation of United Nations General Assembly resolution 39/233 regarding the Industrial Development Decade for Africa and, to that end, invited UNIDO to make a considerable increase in its contribution to the Decade.

112. The Heads of State or Government urged Governments to expand and diversify the exchange of information and human resources in technical, scientific, financial, energy and other fields.

XIV. TELECOMMUNICATIONS

113. The Heads of State or Government recognized the importance of the Conference of the International Telecommunications Union, particularly those dealing with high-frequency broadcasting and space services, and emphasized the need for all non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate closely with a view to evolving well-harmonized and co-ordinated approaches that could promote long-term benefits for all developing countries.

114. They called upon the international community, and in particular the developed countries, to provide the necessary financial and technical assistance to the developing countries, taking into consideration their national priorities, objectives and developmental plans, in order to enable them to overcome the difficulties which they faced in respect of the expansion of their telecommunication networks and the improvement and modernization of their telecommunication systems. They also called on the international community, and in particular all the developed countries, to make a more significant contribution so that the African countries could successfully implement their programme for the second phase of the Transport and Communication Decade in Africa, adopted by the African Ministers of Transport and Communications in 1984.

115. The Heads of State or Government recalled that important advances had been achieved in science, technology and space applications. The effective and peaceful utilization of these advances should bring great benefits to humanity. They noted that the advantages resulting from the utilization of outer space had not been fairly distributed among the countries of the world. The principle of equitable and guaranteed access should constitute the essence of any new regulatory mechanism and the particular needs of the developing countries, including those of the equatorial countries, should be taken into consideration. Co-operation between the non-aligned countries and other developing countries could change the present situation and the Heads of State or Government reiterated their willingness to lay the basis for such co-operation. For their part, the developed countries should also increase their total co-operation in order to ensure that the benefits resulting from the peaceful utilization of outer space would be equitably shared by all humanity.

XV. SOVEREIGNTY OVER NATURAL RESOURCES

116. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the inalienable right of all countries and peoples to exercise permanent, total and effective full sovereignty and control over their natural and all other resources and economic activities. They further reaffirmed the cardinal importance of consolidating the political independence of the non-aligned and other developing countries through economic emancipation. In addition, they stressed that, in order to fulfil its historic mission, the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries should continue to promote and protect the political and economic independence of the developing countries and peoples. They deplored the fact that some developed countries and some of their transnational corporations were using economic coercion, pressure and other measures to undermine the sovereignty of developing countries and the fundamental right of their peoples to pursue their own independent economic policies and programmes.

117. The Heads of State or Government reiterated their support for peoples still under colonial domination and foreign occupation and reaffirmed the inalienable national rights of those peoples, including self-determination, freedom, independence and full sovereignty over their natural and other resources and economic activities, particularly those of the Palestinian and Namibian peoples, whose resources were illegally plundered and exploited by the racist regimes of Israel and South Africa. They called upon all States and peoples to work individually and collectively to eliminate the obstacles to the realization of the national rights of those peoples, including freedom and independence, and urged effective action in that regard. All States, international organizations, specialized agencies, investment corporations and all other institutions were urged not to recognize or co-operate with, or assist in any manner, any measures undertaken to exploit Palestinian and Namibian resources.

118. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the right of all countries and peoples subjected to foreign aggression, occupation, colonial and zionist domination or apartheid to restitution and full compensation for the exploitation and depletion of and loss and damage to natural and all other resources.

XVI. LAW OF THE SEA

119. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction that since the adoption of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea in 1982, 159 signatures and 26 ratifications have already been received. They also noted with satisfaction the progress made thus far by the Preparatory Commission for the International Sea Bed Authority and the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea towards completing its work, with a view to ensuring the early entry into operation of the Authority and the Tribunal. They appealed to all States that had not done so to consider ratifying or acceding to the Convention at the earliest possible date to enable the effective entry into force of the new legal régime.

120. The Heads of State or Government recalled that General Assembly resolution 2749 (XXV) of 17 December 1970, the Convention of the Law of the Sea of 1982 and subsequent related resolutions and decisions, in proclaiming that the sea-bed and ocean floor, the subsoil thereof, beyond the limits of national jurisdiction, as well as the resources of the area were the common heritage of mankind had stressed inter alia that:

(a) resources which are the common heritage of mankind cannot be appropriated by any State, company or individual;

(b) such resources must be managed through appropriate international machinery for the benefit of mankind as a whole, particular consideration being given to the needs of developing countries;

(c) the benefits derived from the common heritage must be shared and must include not only financial benefits but also managerial prerogatives and technology transfer.

They further recalled that the Convention had established the International Sea Bed Authority as the sole competent body for the management of that area and its resources for the benefit of humanity as a whole.

121. In that context the Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the recent actions of some developed countries aimed at undermining and circumventing the Convention and its related resolutions. They declared that any unilateral action by any state or group of states through a mini-convention or parallel regime inconsistent with the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea would have no validity.

122. The Heads of State or Government strongly condemned the "Provisional Agreement on Matters Concerning the Great Ocean Deeps" signed by Belgium, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the United States of America, which aims at usurping the common heritage of mankind. They reaffirmed that the agreement was nullius jurius and that it could not serve to create legitimate rights since it is incompatible with contemporary international law in general and with the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea in particular.

123. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the firm position adopted by the preparatory Commission, in its declaration of 30 August 1985, in rejecting any claim, agreement or action regarding the international area and its resources, undertaken outside the Preparatory Commission and incompatible with the Convention and its related resolutions, as forming a basis for creating legal rights. They declared any such claim, agreement or action as wholly illegal.

124. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the legislative and other measures taken in particular by the United States of America, the Federal Republic of Germany and the United Kingdom for the exploration of the sea-bed and rejected them as illegal under the Convention of the Law of the Sea and the pertinent resolutions.

XVII. TRANSNATIONAL CORPORATIONS

125. The Heads of State or Government regretted that obstacles still remained in the way of the early conclusion of a code of conduct to regulate the activities of transnational corporations with a view to eliminating the negative aspects of their activities and maximizing their contribution to progress in developing countries. They stressed that the activities of transnational corporations should be undertaken within the framework of the national priorities and development plans of developing countries. The Heads of State or Government expressed disappointment at the lack of progress in the finalization of the code despite the constructive and flexible attitude adopted by the developing countries and some developed countries. In this regard they called upon other developed countries to adopt a positive and constructive approach towards the negotiations on an effective and meaningful code. They emphasized that the adoption of the code was a necessary element for the establishment of just and equitable relations among countries.

126. The Heads of State or Government deplored the illegal and inadmissible policies and practices of some transnational corporations whose motivation to maximize profits leads them to distort the economies and undermine the sovereignty of developing countries. They condemned the continued collaboration by some transnational corporations with the minority régime of South Africa and stressed that this collaboration has only served to entrench apartheid and to prolong Pretoria's illegal occupation of the territory of Namibia. They called upon these transnational corporations to comply strictly with all United Nations Security Council decisions on this matter and to desist from obstructing efforts aimed at the eradication of apartheid.

127. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the report of the Panel of Eminent Persons set up to conduct public hearings on the activities of transnational corporations in South Africa and Namibia. They called upon the Commission on Transnational Corporations and the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations to propose concrete actions aimed at halting the activities of transnational corporations in South Africa which strengthen apartheid and urged non-aligned and other developing countries to co-operate in pursuing the necessary actions in the relevant forums of the United Nations system in order to achieve this purpose.

XVIII. ENVIRONMENT AND OTHER QUALITATIVE ASPECTS OF DEVELOPMENT

A. ENVIRONMENT

128. The Heads of States or Government expressed concern over the continued deterioration in the quality of the world's environment. They noted that, in the absence of timely measures, there was a distinct possibility of exponential worsening and irreversible destruction of the global environment. In this context, they stressed inter alia the need for ecologically balanced and rational development planning, the pooling of information on resource-conserving technologies, and conservation and assessment of the ecological resources of the environment.

/...

129. They stressed that the protection of the marine environment is a common responsibility of all States and called on all States strictly to refrain from any actions and activities that endanger the quality of the marine environment and ecological conditions and jeopardize marine life.

130. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the measures taken by the United Nations Environment Programme to prepare the Environment Perspective to the year 2000 and Beyond and urged the non-aligned and other developing countries to co-ordinate their contribution to the preparation of this Perspective. They also welcomed the establishment of the Special Commission on the Environment Perspective to the Year 2000 and Beyond, which had adopted the name "World Commission on Environment and Development". They expressed the hope that the Commission's report and the Environment Perspective document would focus global attention on the interrelated issues of environment and development, and that it would assist in the mobilization of large resources to enable developing countries to pursue long-term policies which harmonized environment and development objectives.

131. The Heads of State or Government expressed their full support for United Nations General Assembly resolutions 37/215, 38/163, 39/167 and 40/197 regarding problems related to remnants of war in the territories of the developing countries. They appealed to all countries responsible for such remnants to co-operate with the United Nations Secretary-General, organizations and specialized agencies in supporting the legitimate demands of the countries affected by the existence of war remnants, particularly mines, as the continued presence of these in their territories seriously jeopardized their development efforts.

132. The Heads of State or Government noted with appreciation the resolutions adopted by the African Ministerial Conference on the Environment, held in Cairo in December 1985, and urged the United Nations Environment Programme and other specialized agencies to increase their assistance to the African countries in order to alleviate the effects of drought and desertification.

133. They expressed their support for the resolutions adopted by the United Nations to protect the environment and urged all States to adhere to the appropriate international legal instruments related to environmental protection so as to ensure their comprehensive application.

B. QUALITATIVE ASPECTS OF DEVELOPMENT

134. The Heads of State or Government, aware of the importance of the qualitative aspects of development and convinced of the need to preserve the global balance among the interrelated issues of resources, environment, population and development, taking into account scientific and technological developments, reaffirmed their support for resolution 40/179 entitled "Patterns of consumption: qualitative aspects of development" adopted by the United Nations General Assembly at its fortieth session, and reiterated the need f a reliable measuring instrument to evaluate accurately the improvements achieved in living standards. In this regard, they emphasized the importance of identifying indicative patterns of consumption that adequately met fundamental socio-economic needs and adapting them to specific local and national conditions, taking into account national experience, plans and strategies. They therefore invited the members of the Non-Aligned Movement and other developing countries to pay special attention to this matter and to transmit their views and comments on the subject to the United Nations Secretary-General, who has been requested by the General Assembly to prepare a report on patterns of consumption and related socio-economic indicators.

XIX. INTERNAT NAL YEAR OF SHELTER FOR THE HOMELESS

135. The Heads of State or Government commended the Government of Sri Lanka for taking the initiative to focus international attention on the needs of the homeless through its proposal to have 1987 accepted by the United Nations as the International Year of Shelter for the Homeless. They recognized the continuing need for efforts to improve the shelter and neighbourhood of poor and disadvantaged people throughout the world and urged non-aligned and other developing countries to support and join in the specific plans and tasks of co-operation that resulted from the housing objectives proposed by the Group of Co-ordinating Countries on Housing. They reaffirmed their determination to strengthen and expand co-operation with the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements (HABITAT) to support and implement measures related to the International Year of Shelter for the Homeless, which is to be observed in 1987.

XX. ROLE OF WOMEN IN DEVELOPMENT

136. The Conference emphasized that full participation by women in social, political, economic and cultural development should remain an integral part of national development plans of non-aligned and other developing countries and of overall efforts aimed at the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

137. In this respect, they expressed their full conviction that the recommendations of the Conference of non-aligned and other developing countries which was held in New Delhi in March 1985 and the World Conference on Women held in Nairobi, Kenya, form a comprehensive and constructive basis for achieving these goals.

138. The Heads of State or Government fully committed themselves to the speedy implementation of the recommendations of the World Conference and called upon the international community to increase support to programmes aimed at enhancing the role of women in the development process.

139. The Heads of State or Government called on the entire international community to use all means at its disposal to intensify the struggle against apartheid in order to enable the women of Namibia and of South Africa to participate actively in the implementation of the forward-looking strategies for achievement of the objectives of the United Nations D cade for Women: Equality, Development and Peace.

140. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the convening of the Pan-African Women's Congress in Luanda in September 1986 and considered that that meeting would be an important event for the effective participation of women in the economic and social development of their respective countries.

XXI. DESERTIFICATION AND AID TO VICTIMS OF DROUGHT

141. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that the rapid encroachment of the desert in Africa and the persistent drought there and in other parts of the developing world had seriously affected the development efforts of several countries and the socio-economic conditions of their peoples, particularly their food production and economic activity thus engendering emergency situations resulting in a desperate struggle for survival.

142. The Heads of State or Government emphasized that the realization of the objectives of the struggle against desertification and drought demands human, technical and financial resources that are beyond the means of the affected countries. In this regard, they urged the international community, especially the developed countries, to give full support to the efforts undertaken by the affected countries. They stressed that assistance from the international community should not be aimed solely at relieving the emergency situation, but rather should be oriented towards the infrastructural improvement of these countries.

143. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the results yielded in formulating a concerted policy in the struggle against drought and desertification by the countries members of the Inter-State Committee on Drought Control in the Sahel (ICDS), the Western African Economic Community, the Maghreb countries, as well as Egypt and Sudan, during a Ministerial Conference held in Dakar from 18 to 25 July, 1984 and the subsequent second conference, also convened in Dakar, in November, 1985. The Heads of State or Government appealed to the United Nations Sudano-Sahelian Office (UNSO) to increase its assistance to the member countries of the ICDS considering the continued geographical degradation and the increasing shortage in foodstuffs.

144. The Heads of State or Government noted with satisfaction the establishment by the East-African subregional countries of Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Somalia, Sudan and Uganda of an Inter-governmental Authority on Drought and Development (IGADD) and welcomed the convening of a summit meeting in this regard in Djibouti from 15 to 17 January 1986. The Heads of State or Government fully supported the efforts of these countries and called upon the international community to give them the necessary financial and technical assistance.

145. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the consideration, for the first time, of the item entitled "Countries stricken by desertification and drought" at the thirty-ninth session of the United Nations General Assembly and subsequently at the fortieth session. They appealed to the international community to implement urgently United Nations General Assembly resolutions 39/208 and 40/175 on the subject.

146. The Heads of State or Government also welcomed the establishment, during the twentieth ordinary session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity, of the Special Fund for urgent assistance to African countries affected by drought and hunger and appealed to the international community, particularly the developed countries, to contribute generously to this Fund.

XXII. SITUATION OF REFUGEES AND DISPLACED PEOPLE IN AFRICA

147. The Heads of State or Government expressed grave concern at the present influx of refugees in Africa, together with the adverse effects which the refugee burden continues to impose on the frail economies of the countries of asylum.

148. In this regard, the Heads of State or Government welcomed the convening of the Second International Conference on Assistance to Refugees in Africa (ICARA II) in 1984, whose objective had been to search for lasting solutions to the problems of the refugees. They called on the international community, the United Nations and its specialized agencies to provide the necessary co-operation for the implementation of the projects adopted by the Conference on assistance to refugees in Africa and urged all countries to assist in the relief and rehabilitation of all African refugees and returnees.

149. The Heads of State or Government were also deeply concerned at the magnitude and the plight of displaced persons in Africa and in this context urged all States Members of the United Nations and its organs, organizations and specialized agencies to provide the utmost assistance to affected countries in dealing with such problems.

150. With regard to the refugee situation in southern Africa, the Heads of State or Government reiterated that the apartheid régime of South Africa and its policies of military aggression and economic destabilization against the States and peoples of the region is the root cause of the increased number of refugees and displaced persons in that subregion. In this context, they reaffirmed the right of the front-line States and other independent African States in the region to receive and give shelter to the victims of apartheid. The Heads of State or Government expressed their full support for the measures taken at the twenty-first ordinary session of the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity with a view to granting financial and material assistance to the southern African States and to the national liberation movements, so as to enable them to resist South Africa's acts of destabilization.

XXIII. LIVING CONDITIONS OF THE PALESTINIAN PEOPLE IN THE OCCUPIED PALESTINIAN TERRITORIES

151. The Heads of State or Government noted with grave concern the continued deterioration, as a result of the Israeli occupation, in the living conditions of the Palestinian people in the occupied Palestinian territories. They noted in particular that the occupying Power, Israel, had expropriated more than 60 per cent of these territories for expansionist purposes, including the construction of colonial settlements,and had confiscated 90 per cent of the annual supply of Palestinian water resources. They also noted that the Israeli siege of the Palestinian national economy disrupted activities in its various sectors and rendered it highly dependent on the Israeli economy, including its inflationary trends, thus preventing the development of a sound independent national economy that could serve as a solid base for a Palestinian State.

152. The Heads of State or Government affirmed the provisions of the Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States and stressed in particular that the elimination of foreign occupation and its economic and social consequences is a prerequisite for development. They recognized that the United States of America, through its unlimited material and moral support for Israel, shares the responsibility for the continued occupation of the Palestinian territories and the sufferings of the Palestinian people. They called upon all States to help enable the Palestinian people to eliminate the Zionist occupation and to develop their national economy freely. The Heads of State or Government urged the international community to sustain and increase its assistance to the Palestinian people in co-operation with tho Palestine Liberation Organization. They also urged the international community and United Nations bodies not to use the occupying Power, Israel, as a conduit for aid or any other form of assistance intended for the Palestinian people in the occupied Palestinian territories, as such action would serve to prolong the Israeli occupation.

153. The Heads of State or Government decided to oppose any attempt to give the occupying Power, Israel, membership of any United Nations regional economic commission.

XXIV. CRITICAL ECONOMIC SITUATION IN AFRICA*

154. The Heads of State or Government noted with concern that the acute economic crisis facing the African countries had persisted in most of the affected countries. Negative trends in the per capita incomes have not shown any signs of recovery while growth rates have stagnated. Furthermore, the adverse international economic environment characterized, inter alia, by high interest rates, falling commodity prices, rising protectionist barriers, deteriorating crushing debt service burdens and low levels of external concessional assistance, and in addition the devastating effects of persistent drought and the inexorable encroachment of the desert, have continued seriously to debilitate the concerned economies, making their recovery even more difficult. A paradoxical situation has indeed arisen, characterized by a net outflow of financial resources from Africa to the developed countries.

155. The Heads of State or Government recognized that the development of the African continent was the prime responsibility of the African Governments and peoples, who have and continue to take painful measures of readjustment which are not without their political and social consequences. They also recognized that, according to all projections, recovery, growth and development prospects would remain extremely remote, unless the present efforts of the African countries are fully supported by the international community to assist them to meet their emergency needs and noted that during the Special Session of the United Nations General Assembly on the Critical Economic Situation in Africa, the international community recognized the need to provide the additional external resources for Africa's economic recovery. They stressed that the international community, while continuing to address the African emergency, should give greater attention to supporting the medium-term and long-term development action without which no lasting solution to the emergency situation can be found. They therefore appealed to the international community and financial institutions urgently to make available sufficient resources for the full and effective implementation of the United Nations Programme of Action for African Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990.

. The Heads of State or Government recalled the seriousness of the debt and resource constraints facing African countries. They invited the creditor develope countries and the multilateral financial, monetary and banking institutions to adopt urgently concrete measures in order to solve Africa's external debt problem; these measures should focus in particular on the conditions of the present external debt and the granting of additional financial resources on favourable conditions in order to help the African debtor countries to continue on the path of growth and economic development. In this context, they backed the decision of the Twenty-second Summit Conference of the Heads of State and Government of the Organization of African Unity with regard to the holding of an international conference on Africa's external debt.

157. The Heads of State or Government considered the economic consequences of the destabilization policies of the racist régime of South Africa against the countries of southern Africa and reaffirmed their full support and solidarity with these countries as well as the liberation movements in overcoming the devastating effects of destabilization. In this regard, they commended the Southern African Development Co-ordination Conference (SADCC) for the significant progress it has made in initiating programmes in important economic sectors vital for economic growth and collective self-reliance and in lessening the dependence on South Africa of the economies of the member countries. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the results of the recent Annual Consultative Conference on SADCC, held in Harare in January 1986, which had discussed the sectoral strategies to be adopted for the next five years, and they called upon the international community to provide all possible financial and other assistance for the programmes of SADCC. They also urged the non-aligned countries to provide greater support for SADCC programmes and projects in order to give concrete content to their solidarity with front-line States.

158. In reviewing the progress made in the implementation of the provisions of the Plan of Action of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries to meet the Critical Economic Situation of Africa adopted in New Delhi in April 1985, the Heads of State or Government welcomed the offers of assistance received from Algeria, Argentina, Bangladesh, Cuba, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Egypt, India, Indonesia, the Libyan Arab Jamahiriya, Morocco, Nigeria, Pakistan, Peru and Yugoslavia, as well as the efforts made by India in co-ordinating assistance in overcoming the emergency needs of Sub-Saharan African countries. They urged the non-aligned countries and other developing countries to continue the efforts to extend all possible assistance with a view to meeting the identical priority needs of the African countries as spelled out in the plan of action of the Movement of Non-Aligned Countries and the United Nations Programme of Action for Africa's Economic Recovery and Development 1986-1990.

XXV. TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS DECADE IN AFRICA

159. The Heads of State or Government reviewed the implementation of the programmes of the Transport and Communication Decade in Africa and noted with regret that the financial and technical resources for the realization of these programmes have been by all accounts inadequate. They urged the international community to provide the requisite economic and logistical support to the African countries in order to enable them to accelerate the realization of the programme of the Transport and Communications Decade in Africa (1978-1988).

XXVI. TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS DECADE IN ASIA AND THE PACIFIC

160. The Heads of State or Government recalled General Assembly resolution 39/227 concerning the Transport and Communications Decade for Asia and the Pacific (1985-1994) and urged the international community to provide necessary support for realization of the objectives of this decade.

XXVII. LEAST DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

161. The Heads of State or Government were gravely concerned at the continued deterioration in the socio-economic conditions in the least developed countries which, because of structural constraints, were least able to withstand external shocks. Shortfalls in export earnings and the deterioration in the terms of trade, coupled with the decreasing flow of external resources, had severely reduced both their import capacity and consumption and investment. The crushing debt service burden constituted a major constraint on their development process. Their difficulties were further compounded by natural disasters. The severity of their socio-economic plight and their formidable structural problems required an urgent response from the international community for both short-term recovery and long-term development.

162. The Heads of State or Government noted with disappointment that the implementation of the Substantial New Programme of Action for the 1980s in favour of the least developed countries (SNPA) had been extremely slow. Reaffirming the full validity of the SNPA, the Heads of State or Government endorsed the conclusions and recommendations of the Inter-governmental Group on the Least Developed Countries on the mid-term review of the SNPA. They further called upon the international community to take urgent, concrete and adequate measures to implement the SNPA in the remainder of this decade so as to enable the least developed countries to overcome their structural difficulties, meet the basic needs of their people at the earliest date and achieve self-reliant development. The Heads of State or Government, with reference to General Assembly resolution 40/205, supported the call for a United Nations Conference for review and appraisal of implementation of the SNPA in 1990 with a view to determining the future course of action. They affirmed their full support for the holding of such a review conference and recommended participation in it at an appropriate level.

XXVIII. LAND-LOCKED COUNTRIES

163. The Heads of State or Government recalled earlier appropriate decisions of the Non-aligned Movement with regard to land-locked developing countries and recommended that an assessment of implementation of these decisior be made through appropriate international agencies including UNCTAD before UNCTAD VII in order to ensure their right of free access to and from the sea and freedom of transit, as provided for in article 125 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, and in order to provide for necessary international assis ice to meet their special needs. They further recognized that the right of access to and from the sea and freedom of transit should be realized in compliance with sub-articles 2 and 3 of article 125 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea so that any programme of action in respect of such transit facilities should be undertaken in consultation with, and with the approval of, the transit country concerned.

164. In this connection, the Heads of State or Government strongly condemned South Africa's measures recently adopted to delay the free transit of Zambia's and Zimbabwe's goods and persons from and to the sea, in order to disrupt and weaken the economies of both countries, openly challenging the principles of international law set forth in the United Nations Law of the Sea Convention, the United Nations Convention on Transit Trade of Land-Locked Countries as well as fair trade practices.

XXIX. ISLAND DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

165. The Heads of State or Government recognized the particular problems faced by island developing countries, which were due in particular to the limitations arising from their smallness, remoteness and proneness to natural disasters, constraints in transport and communications, great distances from market centres, extremely limited internal markets, scarcity of natural resources, heavy dependence on a few commodities, on depletable and non-renewable resources or services for their foreign exchange earnings, fragility of the environment and heavy financial burdens. They further recognized that such limitations inherently constituted major constraints on the development process, particularly, in small-island economies, often frustrating and inhibiting the efforts of the countries concerned to effect the structural transformation necessary to attain self-sustaining growth.

166. The Heads of State or Government, also bearing in mind the goals and objectives of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade, stressed the need for the competent organs of the United Nations system, particularly the United Nations Development Programme and other financial institutions, to respond urgently to the specific needs of island developing countries at the national, regional and interregional levels. They called for the full implementation of the specific measures of assistance in favour of island developing countries outlined in the relevant resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly and the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, taking into account, inter alia, geographical factors, traditional island life and institutions, the physical environment, development priorities and the problems of island developing countries in the international economy.

167. The Heads of State or Government also welcomed the decision of the United Nations General Assembly, contained in its resolution 39/212 of 18 December 1984, to request the United Nations Secretary-General, in co-operation with the organs, organizations and bodies of the United Nations system, to explore the possibility of organizing an interregional follow-up meeting with the participation of representatives of island developing countries and other interested countries. They reiterated their support for the holding of this meeting and proposed that it should preferably take place in 1986. The Heads of State or Government urged all developing member countries of the Movement to work towards making this meeting a success.

168. In this context, the Heads of State or Government emphasized that the criteria, terms and conditions governing the flow of bilateral and multilateral financial and technical assistance to island developing countries should be geared to the special needs and problems of each of the countries concerned and that a major proportion of such aid should be made on a grant basis.

XXX. MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED COUNTRIES

169. The Heads of State or Government noted with deep concern the deterioration in the economic and financial position of the most seriously affected countries since the Seventh Summit

/...

Conference. They expressed their support for the most seriously affected countries and, in this context, reaffirmed the relevant paragraphs of the International Development Strategy for the Third United Nations Development Decade pertaining to those countries and called for concrete measures in their favour. The Heads of State or Government urged the international community to take the necessary decisions, as envisaged in the International Development Strategy, and implement it without further delay.

XXXI. DRUG ABUSE AND ILLICIT TRAFFICKING

170. The Heads of State or Government viewed with grave concern the growing problem of drug abuse and the increase in illicit trafficking in narcotic drugs. They stressed that, apart from their deleterious effects on people, which jeopardized the health of the population and community life in every State, drug abuse and illicit trafficking weakened the social fabric of nations, represented direct and indirect economic costs to Governments and entailed criminal activities at the national and international levels which could threaten the stability of States. In this regard the Heads of State or Government emphasized that the elimination of this scourge called for determined political will and coherent action to tackle simultaneously the problems of reduction and control of demand, production distribution and illicit consumption of drugs.

171. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the concerted and determined efforts being taken by the international community to combat the menace of drug abuse and illicit trafficking. They committed their full support to the success of the United Nations sponsored ministerial-level International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking, to be held in Vienna in June 1987, and called for both developed and developing countries to undertake all necessary preparatory work in this regard. In this context, they also welcomed the eight-point recommendation adopted by the first meeting of the Preparatory Body for the International Conference on Drug Abuse and Illicit Trafficking held in Vienna from 17 to 21 February 1986, which provided guidelines for the Conference secretariat in preparing for the second meeting of the Preparatory Body as well as for the International Conference itself.

172. The Heads of State or Government further urged the early conclusion of a Convention against Traffic in Narcotic and Psychotropic Substances and Related Activities. They also stressed the need to extend specific technical and economic co-operation programmes to assist those countries most affected by drug abuse and the illicit production of and traffic in drugs and they urged the industrialized countries to increase their financial contributions to those programmes through the United Nations Fund for Drug Abuse Control and to step up their efforts to reduce the demand for illicit drugs.

XXXII. ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

A. OVERVIEW

173. The Heads of State or Government stressed that, over the years, ECDC has become a tangible reality that has evolved into innovative concepts based on the principle of collective self-reliance. These concepts were crystallized into precise objectives and translated into detailed programmes and projects in several sectors of economic co-operation. They expressed their conviction that the Fifth Meeting of the Co-ordinating Countries of the Action Programme of ECDC of Non-Aligned Countries, held at New Delhi in April 1986, and the hign-level meeting of the Group of 77 held at Cairo in August 1986, constituted an important phase in the evolution of ECDC, characterized by a viable, realistic and pragmatic approach. In this context, they stressed the indispensable role of member States of the Non-Aligned Movement and the Group of 77 in the follow-up and the implementation of the recommendations of the two meetings. They expressed their satisfaction at the progress made in furthering economic co-operation among developing countries since the adoption at the Seventh Summit Conference of the Declaration on Collective Self-Reliance Among Non-Aligned Countries. They reaffirmed the commitment of the non-aligned countries to further promoting self-reliant development as an indispensable and integral part of the effort of developing countries to restructure international economic relations and for the establishment of the New International Economic Order.

174. The Heads of State or Government welcomed the fact that bilateral, sub-regional and regional co-operation among developing countries had been considerably strengthened in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Mediterranean. In this regard they welcomed the establishment of the South Asian Association for Regional Co-operation (SAARC) at the Dhaka

Summit held in December 1985 as well as the similar efforts of the non-aligned and other developing countries to establish meaningful co-operation among themselves.

175. The Heads of State or Government stressed the pressing and urgent need for accelerating the pace of economic co-operation among developing countries (ECDC) particularly in view of the present adverse world economic environment and the continuing deadlock in the restructuring of international economic relations. They urged that the vast potential of ECDC be fully explored, in order to reduce the developing countries' vulnerability and enhance their capacity for negotiation with the developed countries. They reaffirmed their view that co-operation among developing countries is neither a substitute for nor an alternative to co-operation between developing and developed countries. They recognized the need for the optimum use of the existing complementarities in the human, natural, financial and technological resources of the non-aligned and other developing countries and, in this regard, urged these countries to consider according preferential treatment for the procurement of expertise, equipment and supplies from each other.

176. The Heads of State or Government also stressed that the economic co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries should proceed from perceived economic and social benefits so that subsequent implementation and follow-up might be, to the extent possible, a self-generating, self-sustaining and self-financing process.

177. The Heads of State or Government, with a view to expanding economic co-operation among developing countries, underlined that focal points for ECDC or other appropriate agencies should play a greater role in compiling and disseminating information on the possibilities of economic co-operation and on direct contacts among participants in the co-operation. They recommended that the focal points advise governments and other governmental institutions of the need to adopt appropriate measures, including legislative ones, to facilitate economic co-operation among developing countries.

178. The Heads of State or Government called on the United Nations system to take more effective and concrete measures to promote ECDC and technical co-operation among developing countries (TCDC) in the course of the implementation of its programmes and projects. In this regard, they expressed concern over the tendency in the United Nations system to utilize consultants and procure equipment from developed countries. They stressed the need for a substantial increase to be effected in the procurement of equipment from developing countries and suggested that a representative group of non-aligned and other developing countries should hold meetings with all executing agencies within the United Nation system in order to ensure the adoption of effective measures to achieve the objectives of ECDC and TCDC.

179. The Heads of State or Government reiterated the importance of the global system of trade preferences (GSTP) for the expansion of trade among developing countries. They welcomed the decisions taken by the Ministerial Meeting on the

GSTP in New Delhi in July 1985, which had provided significant political impetus for the launching of GSTP negotiations which took place at Brasilia in May 1986.

B. ACTION PROGRAMMES FOR ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION

180. The Heads of State or Government reaffirmed their deep commitment to providing political support for strengthening co-operation among non-aligned and other developing countries. They called for the accelerated implementation of the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation of the Non-Aligned Movement and the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation adopted by the Group of 77 at Caracas in May 1981.

181. The Heads of State or Government recalled the recommendations of the Seventh Summit Conference on the harmonization and co-ordination of the two action programmes and expressed their satisfaction with the steps taken to that end in order to make them mutually complementary. In this context, they took note of the joint report submitted in New York by the Chairman of the Co-ordinating Bureau and the Chairman of the Group of 77 and called upon the two Chairmen to continue their efforts to ensure that the implementation of both programmes was mutually supportive and achieved the necessary complementarities. They expressed their conviction that these Action Programmes constituted a decisive step towards the realization of collective self-reliance and the strengthening of economic complementarities among developing countries.

(a) Action Programme for Economic Co-operation (Non-Aligned)

182. The Heads of State or Government assessed the implementat of the Action Programme for Economic Co-operation of Non-Aligned Countries. They considered the report of the Fifth Meeting of Co-ordinating Countries held in New Delhi in April 1986 and noted with satisfaction that appreciable progress had been made in the implementation of the Action Programme in several spheres of co-operation. They however recognized the need to accelerate the implementation of recommendations given in some of the other sectors. In this context, the Heads of State or Government reaffirmed the existence of a arge potential for mutual co-operation in the various spheres identified by the Seventh Summit and called on co-ordinating countries to make further forts in this direction so that the overall progress would measure up to the political will of the non-aligned countries to forge greater co-operation.
